

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GLOSSARY TO CHAUCER'S WORKS	I
GLOSSARY TO FRAGMENTS B AND C OF THE ROMAUNT OF THE ROSE	133

INTRODUCTION.

LIFE OF CHAUCER.

GEOFFREY CHAUCER was born in London, about 1340 (not 1328, as was formerly said). His father was John Chaucer, citizen and vintner of London, and his mother's name was Agnes. His grandfather was Robert Chaucer, of Ipswich and London, who married a widow named Marla Heyroun, with a son Thomas Heyroun. John Chaucer's house stood in Upper Thames Street, beside Walbrook, just where that street is now crossed by the South-Eastern Railway from Cannon-street Station. Here it was that the poet spent his earliest days, and in an interesting passage in his Pardoner's Tale (lines 549-572), he incidentally displays his knowledge of various wines and the ways of mixing them together.

John Chaucer, the poet's father, was in attendance on Edward III. in 1338, and this connexion with the court led to his son's employment there, some years afterwards, as a page in the household of Elizabeth, wife of Lionel, duke of Clarence, the third son of Edward III. In the household accounts of this princess, mention is made of various articles of clothing and other necessaries purchased for 'Geoffrey Chaucer' in April, May, and December, 1357, when he was about seventeen years old. In 1359 he joined the army of Edward III. when that king invaded France, and was there taken prisoner. In May, 1360, the peace of Bretigny (near Chartres) was concluded between the French and English kings. Chaucer had been set at liberty in March, when Edward paid 16*l.* towards his ransom.

1367. We can only conjecture the manner in which he spent his life from hints given us in his own works, and from various notices of him in official records. To consider the latter first, we find, from the Issue Rolls of the Exchequer, that a life-pension of 20 marks was granted by the king to Chaucer in 1367, in consideration of his services, as being one of the valets of the king's household. During 1368 and part of 1369 he was in London, and received his pension in person. In October, 1368, his patron, Prince Lionel, died, and it appears that Chaucer's services were consequently transferred to the next brother, John of Gaunt, duke of Lancaster.

1369. In the autumn of 1369, the year of the third great pestilence of Edward's reign, Blanche, the first wife of John of Gaunt, died at the early age of twenty-nine. Chaucer did honour to her memory in one of his earliest poems, entitled 'The Deth of Blanche the Duchesse.'

1370-1378. From 1370 to 1386, Chaucer was attached to the court, and employed in frequent diplomatic services.

In December, 1372, being employed in the king's service, he left England for Genoa, Pisa, and Florence, and remained in Italy for nearly eleven months, but we again find him in London on November 22, 1373. This visit of his to Italy is of great importance, as it exercised a marked influence on his writings, and enables us to understand the development of his genius.

1374. His conduct during this mission to Italy met with the full approval of the king, who, on the celebration of the great festival at Windsor on St. George's day (April 23) in 1374, granted our poet a pitcher of wine daily, to be received from the king's butler. On May 10 of the same year, Chaucer took a lease of a house in Aldgate, for the term of his life, from the Corporation of London; but he afterwards gave it up to a friend in October, 1386; and it is probable that he had ceased to reside in it for a year or more previously. On June 8, 1374, he was appointed to the important office of Comptroller of the Customs and Subsidy of Wools, Skins, and Leather, for the port of London; and a few days later (June 13) received a life-pension of 10*l.* from the duke of Lancaster for the good service rendered by him and his wife Philippa to the said Duke, to his consort, and to his mother the Queen. This is the first mention of Philippa Chaucer as Geoffrey's wife, though a Philippa Chaucer is mentioned as one of the Ladies of the Chamber to Queen Philippa, on September 12, 1366, and subsequently. It has been conjectured that Chaucer was not married till 1374, and that he married a relative, or at least some one bearing the same name as himself; but this supposition is needless and improbable; there is no reason why the Philippa Chaucer mentioned in 1366 may not have been already married to the poet, who was then at least 26 years of age.

1375. In 1375 his income was increased by receiving from the Crown (November 8) the custody of the lands and person of one Edmond Staplegate, of Kent. This he retained for three years, during which he received 104*l.*; together with some smaller sums from another source.

1376. On July 12, 1376, the king granted Chaucer the sum of 71*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*, being the value of a fine paid by one John Kent for shipping wool without paying the duty thereon. Towards the end of this year, Sir John Burley and Geoffrey Chaucer were employed upon some secret service, for which the latter received 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

1377. In February, 1377, Chaucer was employed on a secret mission to Flanders, and received for it, in all, the sum of 30*l.* In April he was sent to France, to treat for peace with king Charles V.; for this service he received, in all, the sum of 48*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* On June 21, king Edward III. died, and was succeeded by his grandson, Richard II.

1378. In January, Chaucer seems to have been employed in France. Soon afterwards, he was again sent to Italy, from May 28 to September 19, being employed on a mission to Lombardy, to treat with Bernabo Visconti, duke of Milan; to whose death (in 1385) the poet alludes in his Monkes Tale (ll. 3589-3596), where he describes him as —

'Of Melan grete Barnabo Viscounte,
God of delyt, and scourge of Lumbardye.'

Before leaving England on this business, Chaucer appointed his friend John Gower, the poet, as one of his agents to represent him in his absence.

1380. By deed of May 1, 1380, one Cecilia Chaumpayne released Chaucer from a charge which she had brought against him, 'de raptu meo.' We have no means of ascertaining either the nature of the charge, or the circumstances of the case.

1382. We have seen that Chaucer had been appointed Comptroller of the Wool Customs in 1374. Whilst still retaining this office, he was now also appointed Comptroller of the Petty Customs (May 8, 1382).

1385. In February, 1385, he was allowed the great privilege of nominating a permanent deputy to perform his duties as Comptroller. It is highly probable that he owed this favour to 'the good queen Anne,' first wife of king Richard II.; for, in the Prologue to the Legend of Good Women, probably written during this period of his newly-acquired freedom from irksome duties, he expresses himself most gratefully towards her.

If we may trust the description of his house and garden in the Prologue to the Legend of Good Women, probably composed in the spring of 1385, it would appear that he was then living in the country, and had already given up his house over the city gate at Aldgate to Richard Forster, who obtained a formal lease of it from the Corporation of London in October, 1386. We learn incidentally, from a note to the Envoy to Scogan, l. 45, that he was living at Greenwich at the time when he wrote that poem (probably in 1393). And it is highly probable that Chaucer's residence at Greenwich extended from 1385 to the end of 1399, when he took a new house at Westminster. This supposition agrees well with various hints that we obtain from other notices. Thus, in 1390, he was appointed (with five others) to superintend the repairing of the banks of the Thames between Woolwich and Greenwich. In the same year he was robbed at Hatcham (as we shall see below), which is near Deptford and Greenwich. And we find the singular reference in the Canterbury Tales (A 3907), where the Host suddenly exclaims—'Lo! Grenewich, ther many a shrewe is inne'; which looks like a sly insinuation, on the Host's part, that Greenwich at that time contained many 'shrews' or rascals. Few places would serve better than Greenwich for frequent observation of Canterbury pilgrims.

1386. In this year Chaucer was elected a knight of the shire for Kent, in the Parliament held at Westminster. In August, his patron John of Gaunt went to Spain; and during his absence, his brother Thomas, duke of Gloucester, contrived to deprive the king of all power, by appointing a regency of eleven persons, himself being at the head of them. As the duke of Gloucester was ill disposed towards his brother John, it is probable that we can thus account for the fact that, in December of this year, Chaucer was dismissed from both his offices, of Comptroller of Wool and Comptroller of Petty Customs, others being appointed in his place. This sudden and great loss reduced the poet from comparative wealth to poverty; he was compelled to raise money upon his pensions, which were assigned to John Scalby on May 1, 1388.

In October of this year (1386), there was a famous trial between Richard Lord Scrope and Sir Thomas Grosvenor, during which Chaucer deposed that he was 'forty years of age and upwards, and had borne arms for twenty-seven years.' He was, in fact, about forty-six years old, having been born, as said above, about 1340. Moreover, it is probable that he first bore arms in 1359, when he went with the invading army to France. This exactly tallies with his own statement.

1387. In this year died Chaucer's wife, Philippa; to this loss he alludes in his Envoy to Bukton. It must have been about this time that he was composing portions of his greatest poem, the Canterbury Tales.

1389. On May 3, Richard II. suddenly took the government into his own hands. John of Gaunt returned to England soon afterwards, and effected an outward reconciliation between the king and the duke of Gloucester. The Lancastrian party was now once more in power, and Chaucer was appointed Clerk of the King's Works at Westminster on July 12, at a salary of 2s. a day (more than 1l. of our present money, at the least).

1390. In this year, Chaucer was also appointed Clerk of the Works at St. George's Chapel at Windsor, and was put on a Commission to repair the banks of the Thames between Woolwich and Greenwich. In a writ, dated July 1 in this year, he was allowed the costs of putting up Scaffolds in Smithfield for the King and Queen to view the tournament which had taken place there in May. This helps to explain the minute account of the method of conducting a tournament which we meet with in the Knight's Tale. In the preceding month he had been appointed, by the Earl of March, joint Forester (with Richard Brittle) of North Petherton Park in Somerset. In September, he was twice robbed of some of the king's money; once, at Westminster, of 10l.; and again, near the 'foule ok' (foul oak) at Hatcham, Surrey, of 9l. 3s. 8d.; but the repayment of these sums was forgiven him.

1391. This is the date given by Chaucer to his prose Treatise on the Astrolabe, which he compiled for the use of his 'little son' Lewis, of whom nothing more is known; and it is supposed that he died at an early age. At this time, for some unknown reason, the poet unfortunately lost his appointment as Clerk of the Works.

1394. In February of this year, Chaucer received a grant from the king of 20l. a year for life; nevertheless, he seems to have been in want of money, as we find him making applications for the advancement of money from his pension.

1398. In this year or the preceding, Chaucer was made sole Forester of North Petherton Park, instead of joint Forester, as in 1390. In the Easter Term, he was sued for a debt of 14l. 1s. 11d. In October, the king granted him a tun of wine yearly, for his life-time.

1399. On September 30, Henry IV. became king of England, and Chaucer addressed to him a complaint regarding his poverty, called a 'Compleynt to his Purs,' in response to which, only four days afterwards, Henry granted that the poet's pension of twenty marks (13l. 6s. 8d.) should be doubled, in addition to the 20l. a year which had been granted to him in 1394.

On Christmas eve of this year, Chaucer took a long lease of a house in the garden of the Chapel of St. Mary, Westminster; this house stood near the spot now occupied by King Henry the Seventh's Chapel. The lease is in the Muniment Room of Westminster Abbey (Historical MSS. Commission, i. 95).

1400. The traditional date of Chaucer's death is October 25, 1400; in the second year of Henry IV. His death doubtless took place in his newly-acquired house at Westminster; and he attained to the age of about sixty years. Of his family, nothing is known. His 'little son' Lewis probably died young; and there is no evidence earlier than the reign of Henry VI. that the Thomas Chaucer whose great-grandson, John de la Pole, Earl of Lincoln, was declared heir to the throne by his uncle, Richard III., in 1484, was Chaucer's son. As Thomas Chaucer was a man of great wealth, and of some mark, we should have expected to find early and undoubted evidence as to his parentage. We find, however, that Thomas Gascoigne, who wrote a Theological Dictionary, and died in 1458, refers to the poet in these words:—'Fuit idem Chawserus pater Thomae Chawserus, armigeri, qui Thomas sepelitur in Nuhelm iuxta Oxoniam.' Gascoigne was in a position to know the truth, since he was Chancellor of Oxford, and Thomas Chaucer had held the manor of Ewelme, at no great distance, till his death in 1434. If this information be correct, it then becomes highly probable that Chaucer's wife Philippa was Philippa Roet, sister of the Katharine de Roet of Hainault, who married Sir John Swynford, and afterwards became the mistress, and in 1396 the third wife of John of Gaunt. This has been inferred from the fact that Thomas Chaucer's arms contain three wheels, supposed to represent the name of Roet; since the Old French roet means 'a little wheel.' Those who accept this inference see good reasons for explaining the favours extended to Chaucer both by John of Gaunt himself and his son King Henry IV.

CHARACTER OF CHAUCER.

There is no space here for exhibiting fully the revelation of Chaucer's character as expressed by numerous passages in his works. We easily recognise in them a man of cheerful and genial nature, with great powers of originality, full of freshness and humour, a keen observer of men, and at the same time an enthusiastic and untiring student of books. He tells a story excellently and sets his characters before us with dramatic clearness; and he has also an exquisite ear for music and pays great attention to the melodious flow of his verse. Except in his prose tales, he frequently affects, in his Canterbury Tales, an air of simplicity which sits upon him gracefully enough. In his Prologue to Sir Thopas, he describes himself as a 'large,' i. e. a somewhat corpulent man, and no 'poppet' to embrace, that is, not slender in the waist; as having an 'elvish' or abstracted look, often staring on the ground 'as if he would find a hare,' and 'doing no dalliance' to any man, i. e. not entering briskly into casual conversation. His numerous references and quotations show that he was deeply read in all medieval learning, and well acquainted with Latin, French (both of England and of the continent), and Italian, besides being a master of the East-midland dialect of English. A passage in the Reves Tale imitates some of the peculiarities of the Northumbrian dialect with much fidelity. On the other hand, he occasionally introduces forms into his poems that are peculiarly Kentish; owing, as I am inclined to suggest, to his residence for some years at Greenwich. In his Hous of Fame, he tells us how he had 'set his wit to make books, songs, and ditties in rime,' and often 'made his head ache at night with writing in his study.' For, when he had done his official work for the day, and 'made his reckonings,' he used to go home and become wholly absorbed in his books, 'hearing neither this nor that'; and, 'in stead of rest and new things' (recreation), he used 'to sit at a book, as dumb as a stone, till his look was dased'; and thus did he 'live as a hermit, though (unlike a hermit) his abstinence was but little.' So great (as he tells us in the Prologue to The Legend of Good Women) was his love of nature, that, 'when the month of May is come, and I hear the birds sing, and see the flowers springing up, farewell then to my book and to my devotion' to reading. In many passages he insists on the value of the purity of womanhood and the nobility of manhood, taking the latter to be dependent upon good feeling and courtesy. As he says in The Wife of Bath's Tale, 'the man who is always the most virtuous, and most endeavours to be constant in the performance of gentle deeds, is to be taken to be the greatest gentleman. Christ desires that we should derive our gentleness from Him, and not from our ancestors, however rich.'

WRITINGS OF CHAUCER.

Other notices of Chaucer must be gathered from his writings and from what we know about them. It is advisable to date his various works, where possible, as well as we can, and to consider the result.

Chaucer's works fall (as shewn by Ten Brink) into three periods. During the first of these, he imitated French models, particularly the famous and very long poem entitled Le Roman de la Rose, of which, as he himself tells us, he made a translation. It so happens that there exist what are apparently two, but are really three fragments of translations of two different parts of this poem; they are found in a MS. at Glasgow, written out about A.D. 1430-40, and in the early printed editions. These three fragments, marked A, B, C in the present volume, appear to be by different hands; and only the first of them can be reconciled with Chaucer's usual diction and grammar. We must regretfully infer that the major part of Chaucer's own translation is irrecoverably lost. The poems of this First Period were written before he set out on his Italian travels in 1372, and there is no trace in them of any Italian influence.

The poems of the Second Period (1373-1384) clearly shew the influence of Italian literature, especially of Dante's Divina Commedia, and of Boccaccio's poems entitled Il Teseide and Il Filostrato. Curiously enough, there is nothing to shew that Chaucer was acquainted, at first-hand, with Boccaccio's Decamerone.

The poems of the Third Period are chiefly remarkable for a larger share of originality, and are considered as beginning with the Legend of Good Women, the first poem in which the poet employed what is now known as the 'heroic' couplet, which he adapted from Guillaume de Machault.

The following list is arranged, conjecturally, in chronological order.

Origenes upon the Maudeleyne (lost).

Book of the Leoun (lost).

Ceys and Alcioun; afterwards (probably) partly preserved in the Book of the Duchesse.

The Romaunt of the Rose. (Fragment A (ll. 1-1705) is all that can fairly be claimed as Chaucer's work. Fragment B is written in a dialect approximating to that of Lincolnshire. The author of Fragment C, like that of B, remains unknown.)

A. B. C. — Minor Poems, I.

1369. Book of the Duchesse. — M. P. III.

Lyf of St. Cecyle (afterwards adapted to become the Second Nonnes Tale).

Monkes Tale (parts of); lines 3365-3652 clearly belong to a later period.

About 1372-3. Clerkes Tale; except E 995-1008, and the Envoy.

Palamon and Arcite; of which some scraps are preserved in other poems. It was also used as the basis of the Knights Tale.

Compleint to his Lady. — M. P. VI.

An Amorous Compleint, made at Windsor. — M. P. XXII.

Womanly Noblesse. — M. P. XXIV.

Compleint unto Pitè. — M. P. II.

Anelida and Arcite (containing ten stanzas from Palamon). — M. P. VII.

The Tale of Melibeus (in its original form); partly translated from Albertano of Brescia.

The Persones Tale (in its original form); partly translated from Frère Lorens.

Of the Wretched Engending of Mankind; mentioned in the Legend, Text A, l. 414; and partly preserved in scraps occurring in the Man of Lawes Tale, B 99-121, 421-7, 771-7, 925-931, 1135-41.

Man of Lawes Tale (in its original form); partly translated from Nicholas Trivet.

1377-81. Translation of Boethius.

1379? Complaint of Mars. — M. P. IV.

1379-83. Troilus and Criseyde; (partly from Boccaccio's Il Filostrato and Guido delle Colonne's Historia Troiae; containing three stanzas from Palamon).

Wordes to Adam (concerning Boethius and Troilus). — M. P. VIII.

The Former Age; chiefly from Boethius, Book II. met. V. — M. P. IX.

Fortune; containing hints from Boethius. — M. P. X.

1382. Parlement of Foules (containing six stanzas from Palamon). — M. P. V.

1383-4. House of Fame; containing hints from Dante; unfinished.

1385-6. Legend of Good Women; unfinished.

1386. Canterbury Tales begun.

1387-8. Central period of the Canterbury Tales.

1391. Treatise on the Astrolabe; chiefly from Messahala; unfinished.

1393? Compleint of Venus. — M. P. XVIII.

1393. Lenvoy to Scogan. — M. P. XVI.

1396. Lenvoy to Bukton. — M. P. XVII.

1399. Envoy to Compleint to his Purse. — M. P. XIX.

The following occasional triple roundel and balades may have been composed between 1380 and 1396: — Merciless Beautè. — M. P. XI. Balade to Rosemounde. — M. P. XII. Against Women Unconstaunt. — M. P. XXI. Compleint to his Purse (except the Envoy). — M. P. XIX. Lak of Stedfastnesse. — M. P. XV. Gentillesse. — M. P. XIV. Truth. — M. P. XIII. Proverbes of Chaucer. — M. P. XX.

EDITIONS OF CHAUCER.

Several of Chaucer's Poems were printed at various times by Caxton and others, but the first collected edition of his works was that edited by W. Thynne in 1532. This was reprinted, with the addition of the spurious Plowman's Tale, in 1542; and again, about 1550. Later editions appeared in 1561 (with large additions by John Stowe); in 1598 (re-edited by Thomas Speght), second edition, 1602, and reprinted in 1687. Still later editions were the very bad one by Urry, in 1721, and the excellent one by Tyrwhitt, of the Canterbury Tales only, in 1775-8. These editions, excepting Tyrwhitt's, have done much to confuse the public as to the genuine works of Chaucer, because in them a large number of poems, some known (even by the editors) to be by Lydgate, Gower, Hoccleve, and Scogan, together with others obviously spurious, were carelessly added to works by Chaucer himself; and many erroneous notions have been deduced from the study of this incongruous mixture.

It must suffice to say here that most of the later editions, since the publication of Tyrwhitt's remarks on the subject, reject many of these additional pieces, but still unadvisedly admit the poems entitled The Court of Love, The Complaint of the Black Knight, Chaucer's Dream, The Flower and the Leaf, and The Cuckoo and the Nightingale. Of these, The Complaint of the Black Knight is now known to be by Lydgate; The Flower and the Leaf cannot be earlier than 1450, and was probably written, as it purports to be, by a lady; whilst The Court of Love can hardly be earlier than 1500, and Chaucer's Dream (so called) is of still later date. Nothing but a complete ignorance of the history of the English language can connect these fifteenth-century and sixteenth-century poems with Chaucer. The only poem, in the above set, which can possibly be as old as the fourteenth century, is The Cuckoo and the Nightingale. There is no evidence of any kind to connect it with Chaucer; and Professor Lounsbury decisively rejects it, on the internal evidence. It admits a few rimes (see p. xxii) such as Chaucer nowhere employs.

GRAMMATICAL HINTS.

The following brief hints contain but a minimum of information, and include nothing that should not be extremely familiar to the student.

Observe that, in Chaucer's English, the final syllables -e, -ed, -en, -es, almost always form a distinct and separate syllable, so that a large number of words had then a syllable more than they have now. Unless this rule be observed, no progress in the study is possible. In particular, always sound this final -e (like the a in China) at the end of a line.

Final -e is elided, or slurred over, when the next word begins with a vowel, or is one of certain words beginning with h, viz. (1) a pronoun, as he; (2) part of the verb have; (3) the adverbs heer, how; (4) mute h in honour, houre. In a similar position, final -er, -en, -el, -y are slurred over likewise; thus get-en is really get'n in l. 291¹.

Final -e is sometimes dropped in a few common words, such as were, were, hadde, had, wolde, would.

Middle -e is also sometimes dropped, as in havesen, pronounced (haavnez), l. 407. But trew-e-ly (481) is trisyllabic.

The reasons for sounding the final -e, -en, -es, as distinct syllables, are grammatical. These endings represent older inflexions, mostly Anglo-Saxon; and were once, in fact, essential. But, in Chaucer's time, they were beginning to disappear, and many are now lost altogether.

Final -e. The various sources of the M.E. (i. e. Middle-English) final -e are, chiefly, these following.

1. The A.S. (Anglo-Saxon) sb. ended in a vowel. Thus A.S. har-a, a hare, became M.E. har-e (191).

2. The A.F. (Anglo-French) sb. ended in a vowel which was formerly sounded. Thus A.F. mélodi-ē (four syllables) is M.E. melody-ē (four syllables, 9).

3. The dative case often ends in -e, especially after the prepositions at, by, for, in, of, on, to. Thus rôt-e (2) is the dative case of root, a root. We even find the form of an oblique case used as a nom. case, owing to confusion. Thus A.S. hwelp, a whelp, makes the dat. hwelp-e; Chaucer has whelp-e as a nominative (257).

4. The forms hell-e (so in A.S.), sonn-e (A.S. sunn-an) are genitives; see Book Duch. 171; A 1051. Similarly -y represents a genitive suffix in lad-y, 88, 695.

5. The definite form of the adjective (i. e. the form used when the def. art. the or a possessive or demonstrative pronoun precedes it) ends in -e. Ex.: the yong-e, 7.

6. The adj. pl. ends in -e; as smal-e, 9.

¹ The numbers refer to the lines of The Prologue to the Canterbury Tales; see p. 419.

7. Even the adj. sing. may end in -e; as swēt-e (5), from A.S. swēte, sweet, in which the final -e is essential. So also trewe, from A.S. trēowe; 531.

8. Verbs: the infinitive and gerund (with to) end in -en or -e; as biginn-e, 42; for to rj̄s-e, 33.

9. Strong verbs: the pp. (past participle) ends in -en or -e; as y-ronn-e, 8.

10. Weak verbs: the pt. t. (past tense) ends in -ede, -de, -te, -e; as say-de, 70. Sometimes in -ed, as prov-ed, 547. Observe lakk-e-de, 756; low-de, 97; wet-te, 129; went-e, 78.

11. Verbs: various other inflexions in -en or -e. Thus slēp-en, 3 p. pr. pl., 10; wēr-en, 1 p. pt. pl., 29; gess-e, 1 p. pr. s., 82; smert-e, 3 p. pr. s. subj., 230, &c.

12. Adverbs and prepositions may end in -en or -e; as abov-en, 53; about-e, prep. 158, adv. 488.

Final -en. The suffix -en usually denotes either (1) the pl. sb., as hos-en, 456; (2) the infin. or gerundial infin. of a verb, as to wend-en, 21; (3) the pp. of a strong verb, as holp-en, 18; (4) the pl. of any tense of a verb, as wēr-en, 1 p. pt. pl., 29; (5) a prep. or adverb, as abov-en, 53.

Final -es. The final -es denotes either (1) the gen. sing., as lord-es, 47; (2) the pl. sb., as shour-es, 1; or (3) an adverb, as thrj̄-es, 562. But the gen. of lady is lady; and of fader is fader. And the plural may end in -s, as in palmer-s, 13.

The student should endeavour to make out, in every case, the reason for the use of final -e, -en, or -es. He will thus acquire the grammar. The above hints explain most cases that can arise.

Further notes. Some neuter sbs. do not change in the plural, as hors; pl. hors, 74. So also neet, sheep, swj̄n, year.

Comparatives end in -er, as grett-er, adj., 197; or -re, as fer-re, adv., 48. Superlatives, in -est, occasional def. form -est-e, as best-e, 252. Pronouns: tho, those; this, pl. thise, these; thilke, that; ilke, same. Atte, for at the. Ye, nom.; yow, dat. and acc., you. Hir, their (also her); hem, them. His, his, its. Whicke, what sort of, 40; what, i. e. 'why', 184; That . . . he, who, 44, 45; wōh sō, whoever, 741. Men, one, with a sing. verb, as men smoot, one smote, 149.

Verbs. Verbs are distinguished as being weak or strong. In the former, the pp. ends in -ed, -d, or -t; in the latter, in -en, or -e.

A simple rule is this. In weak verbs, the pt. t. ends in -ede (rarely -ed), -de, -te, -e, so that the final -e is here extremely common, but it does not appear in the pp.; conversely, in strong verbs, it is the pp. that ends in -en or -e, which never appears in the first or third person singular of the past tense. Ex. went-e, 3 p. pt. s., 78, is a weak past tense; cla-d, 103, is a weak pp. Conversely, y-ronn-e, 8, is a strong pp.; sleep, 98, is a strong pt. t. The prefix y- (A.S. ge-) can be prefixed to any pp., and makes no difference.

Strong verbs usually shew vowel-change; thus bigan (44) is the pt. t. of biginnen. But note that this is not a sure guide; for raugh-te (136) is the pt. t. of rech-en, to reach, and is weak. Slēp-en, to sleep, pt. t. sleep, is strong.

In strong verbs, the vowel of the past tense is changed, sometimes, in the plural. Thus the pt. t. sing. of rj̄d-en, to ride, is rood, 169; but the pl. is rid-en, 825. The pp. is also rid-en, 48.

The usual formulæ for the conjugation of verbs are as follows.

Present tense. Sing. -e, -est, -eth (-th); pl. -en or -e.

Past tense; weak verbs. Sing. -ede (-de or -ed), -de, -te, -e (in persons 1 and 3); -edest, -dest, -test, -est (2 person). Plural, -eden, -ede, -de, -den, -ten, -te, -e (all persons).

Past tense; strong verbs. Sing. indic. no suffix (in persons 1 and 3); -e, occasionally (2 person). Sing. subj. -e (all persons). Plural of both moods: -en, -e.

Imperative. Sing. 2 person: no suffix (usually); -e (in some weak verbs). Plural, 2 person: -eth, -th; (sometimes -e).

Infinitive: -en, -e. The gerundial infinitive has to or for to prefixed, and often denotes purpose.

Participles. Present: -ing, often -inge at the end of a line. Pp. of weak verbs: -ed, -d, -t. Pp. of strong verbs: -en, -e.

N.B. We find the contracted form bit, for biddeth, in the 3 p. pr. s. indicative, 187.

Similar contractions are common; hence hit means 'hideth'; rit means 'rideth'; sit, 'sitteth'; let, 'leadeth,' B 1496; &c.

Formation of Past Tenses. The form of the pt. t. of a weak verb depends on the form of its stem. There are three classes of such verbs.

1. Infin. -ien; pt. -ede (-de), or -ed. Thus lov-ien, to love; pt. t. lov-ede (pronounced lurde), or lov-ed (lured). Compare lakk-e-de, 756; though the infin. is lakk-en.

2. Infin. -en; pt. t. -de, -te, or sometimes (after d or t) -e; without vowel-change, except such as is due to contraction. Ex. hër-en, to hear, pt. t. her-de; kép-en, to keep, pt. t. kep-te; lîd-en, to lead, pt. t. lad-de (short for lgyd-de). Cf. went-e, went.

3. Infin. -en, with a modified vowel in the infinitive, the root-vowel appearing in the pt. t. and pp. Thus the root SÖK (cf. Gothic sōkjan, to seek) appears in the A.S. pt. t. sōh-te, pp. sōh-t, M.E. soght-e, sogh-t; but the ō becomes ē (as in A.S. fōt, foot, pl. fēt, feet) in the infin. sēc-an, M.E. sēk-en, E. seek. Cf. tell-en, pt. t. tol-de; tech-en, pt. t. laugh-te.

N.B. The pp. of a weak verb results from the pt. t. by dropping -e (unless it has been dropped already); thus pt. t. tol-de gives pp. tol-d.

Strong verbs. The seven conjugations of strong verbs are given in my Principles of Etymology. I take as representative verbs the following: fall, shake, bear, give, drink, drive, choose. A more usual order (though it makes no real difference) is 1. drive, 2. choose, 3. drink, 4. bear, 5. give, 6. shake, 7. fall.

The 'principal parts' are: (a) the infinitive; (b) the past tense, singular; (c) the pt. t. pl.; (d) the pp.

1. 'Drive.' Here Chaucer has: (a) rȳd-en, to ride; (b) rood; (c) rid-en; (d) rid-en. So also byt-en, bite, rys-en, rise, shyn-en, shine, shryu-en, shrive, smyt-en, smite, wryt-en, write¹. I here write y to denote long i.

2. 'Choose.' As: (a) sēth-en, to seethe; (b) seeth; (c, d) sod-en.

3. 'Drink.' As: (a) biginn-en; (b) bigan; (c) bigonnen; (d) bigonnen. So also drinken, ginnen, rinnen, to run, singen, springen, swimben, to toil, winnen, delven, figten (pt. t. s. faught), helpen, herven, thresshen.

4. 'Bear.' As: (a) ber-en; (b) bar; (c) bēr-en; (d) bor-en. So also breken, sheren, stelen. Comen has: (b) cōm; (c) cōm-en; (d) cōm-en.

5. 'Give.' As: (a) yev-en, yiv-en; (b) yaf; (c) yēu-en; (d) yiv-en. So also geten (pp. geten); speken (pp. spoken).

6. 'Shake.' As: (a) bak-en; (b) book; (c) bōk-en; (d) bak-en. So also drawen, shaken, shaven, stonden (pt. t. stood), taken, sweren (pp. swor-e).

7. 'Fall.' As: (a) fall-en; (b) fl; (c) fill-en; (d) fall-en. So holden, pt. t. hæld; lēt-en, pt. t. leet; slēp-en, pt. t. sleep; blōwen, grōwen, knōw-en, pt. t. blew, &c.; wēp-en, pt. t. weep; goon, pp. y-goon, y-go, 286. Compare the complete list of strong M.E. verbs, in Specimens of English, ed. Morris and Skeat, pt. 1.

Anomalous Verbs. Among these note the following. Been, ben, are. Imper. pl. beeth, beth, be ye. Pp. been, ben, been.

Can, I know; pl. connen; pt. t. coude, knew, could; pp. couth, known. Dar, I dare; pt. t. dorste. May, I may; pl. mowen; subjunctive mowe, pl. mowen. Moot, I must, I may, he must, he may; pl. mōten, mōte; pt. t. mōste. Oghte, ought. Shal, pl. skullen, skul; pt. t. sholde. Witen, to know; woot, wōt, I know, he knows; pl. witen (correctly; but Chaucer also has ye woot); pt. t. wiste, knew; pp. wist. Wil, wol, wole, will; pl. wolen, wilen; pt. t. wolde. Thar, needs; pt. t. thurte.

Negatives. Nan, for ne am, am not; nis, for ne is, is not; nas, was not; nēre, were not; nadde, had not; nil, will not; nolde, would not; noot, I know not, he knows not; niste, knew not; ne . . . ne, neither . . . nor, 603. Double negatives, 70, 71, &c.

Adverbs. End in -e, as dēp-e, deeply; or -ly, as subtil-ly; or -e-ly, as traw-e-ly, truly; or -en, -e, as bifor-en, bifor-e; or in -es, as thry-es, thrice. Ther, where, 547; ther as, where that, 34.

Prepositions. End in -en, -e, -es; &c. Til, for to, before a vowel. With adjoins its verb; 791.

METRE.

Chaucer was our first great metrist, and enriched our literature with several forms of metre which had not been previously employed in English. These he borrowed chiefly from Guillaume de Machault, who made use of stanzas of seven, eight, and nine lines, and even wrote at least one Complaint in the 'heroic' couplet.

The metre of four accents, in rimed couplets, had been in use in English long before Chaucer's time; and he adopted it in translating Le Roman de la Rose (the original being in the same metre), in the Book of the Duchesse, and in the House of Fame.

The ballad-metre, as employed in the Tale of Sir Thopas, is also older than his time. In fact, this Tale is a burlesque imitation of some of the old Romances.

The four-line stanza, in the Proverbes, was likewise nothing new.

But he employed the following metres, in English, for the first time.

1. The 8-line stanza, with the rimes arranged in the order ababbcc; i. e. with the first line (a) riming with the third (a), and so on. Exx. A.B.C.; The Monkes Tale; The Former Age; Lenvoy to Bukton.

1 b. The same, thrice repeated, with a refrain. Ex. (part of) Fortune; Complaint to Venus; Balade to Rosemounde.

2. The 7-line stanza, with the rimes ababbcc; a favourite metre. Exx. Lyf of Saint Cecyle; Clerkes Tale; Palamon and Arcite; (part of) Complaint to his Lady; An Amorous Complaint; Complaint to Pitè; (part of) Anelida; The Wretched Engending of Mankind; The Man of Lawes Tale; (part of) The Complaint of Mars; Troilus and Criseyde; Words to Adam; (part of) The Parlement of Foules; (parts of) The Canterbury Tales; Lenvoy to Scogan.

2 b. The same 7-line stanza, thrice repeated, with a refrain. Exx. Against Women

Unconstaunt; Compleint to his Purse; Lak of Stedfastnesse; Gentillesse; Truth. Also in the Legend of Good Women, 249-269.

- 2 c. The 7-line stanza, with the rimes ababbab. Ex. (part of) Fortune.
 3. Terza Rima. Only a few lines; in the Compleint to his Lady.
 4. The 10-line stanza, aabaabcddc. In the Compleint to his Lady.
 5. The 9-line stanza, aabaabbab. Only in Anelida.
 - 5 b. The same, with internal rimes. Only in Anelida.
 - 5 c. The same as 5, but thrice repeated. Only in Womanly Noblesse.
 6. Two stanzas of 16 lines each; with the rimes aaabaaab · bbbabbba. Only in Anelida.
 7. The 9-line stanza, aabaabbbc. Only in the latter part of the Compleint of Mars.
 8. The roundel. In the Parlement of Foules; and Merciless Beauté.
 9. The heroic couplet. In the Legend of Good Women and parts of the Canterbury Tales.
 10. A 6-line stanza, repeated six times; with the rimes ababcb. Only in the Envoy to the Clerkes Tale.
 11. A 10-line stanza, aabaabbaab. Only in the Envoy to the Compleint of Venus.
 12. A 6-line stanza, ababaa. Only in the Envoy to Womanly Noblesse.
 13. A 5-line stanza, aabba. Only in the Envoy to Compleint to his Purse.
- The following pieces are in prose. The Tale of Melibeus. The Persones Tale. The translation of Boethius, De Consolatione Philosophiae. The Treatise on the Astrolabe.

VERSIFICATION.

Some lines drop the first syllable, and the first foot contains one syllable only; as: Ging | len in, &c. 170.

Many rimes are double, as cloistre, oistre, 181; Rom-e, to me, 671; nom-es, noon is, 523. Always sound final -e at the end of a line. Rimes may be treble, as apothec-dr-i-es, letw-dr-i-es, 425; so at ll. 207, 513, 709. Compare the Grammatical Hints.

Caesura. The caesura, or middle pause, allows extra syllables to be preserved. Thus, at l. 293, we have:—

For him was léver—hav' át his béddes héed.

The pause gives time for the -er, of lév-er. Similarly, we may preserve the -er of deliv-er, 84; -e in mor-e, 98; -e in curteisy-e, 132; -ie (=y) in car-ie, 130.

Compare also:—

With-út-e bak-e met-e—was nev'r his hous; 343.
Thát | no dróp-e—ne fill' upon hir brest; 131.

The syllables -er, -en, -el, -ed, before a vowel, or h (in he, &c.), are light, and do not always count in scansion; see ll. 84, 291, 296, 334, &c. Cf. ma | ny a breem |; 350. Read the lines deliberately, and remember the old pronunciation.

Accent. Variable, in some words; cf. miller, 545, with the archaic trisyllabic mil-lér-e, 541. Also, in French words, we have hónour, 582; but the archaic honour, 46. Cf. licúr, 3; vertú, 4.

PRONUNCIATION.

The M.E. pronunciation was widely different from the present, especially in the vowel-sounds. The sounds of the vowels were nearly as in French and Italian.

They can be denoted by phonetic invariable symbols, enclosed within marks of parenthesis. Convenient phonetic symbols are these following.

Vowels. (aa), as a in father; (a) short, as a in aha! (ae), open long e, as a in Mary; (e), open short e, as e in bed; (ee), close long e, as e in veil; (i) short, as F. i in fini, or (nearly) as E. i in in; (ii), as ee in deep; (ao), open long o, as aw in saw; (o) open short o, as o in not; (oo), close long o, as o in note, or o in German 'so'; (u), as u in full; (uu), as oo in fool; (ü), as F. u in F. 'écu'; (û), as long G. ù in G. 'grün.' Also (ə), as final a in China.

Diphthongs. (ai), as y in fly; (au), as ow in now; (ei), as ei in veil; (oi), as oi in boil.

Consonants (special). (k), as c in cat; (s), as c in city; (ch), as in church; (tch), as in catch; (th), as th in thin; (dh), as th in then. Also (h), when not initial, to denote a guttural sound, like G. ch in Nacht, Licht, but weaker, and varying with the preceding vowel.

An accent is denoted by (˘), as in M.E. name (naa˘mə).

By help of these symbols, it is possible to explain the meaning of the M.E. symbols employed by the scribes in Chaucer's Tales. The following is a list of the sounds they denote. The letters in thick type are the letters actually employed; the letters within parenthesis denote the sounds, as above.

Observe that long 'g,' also written 'ð,' means the same as (ao); and long 'g,' also written 'è,' means the same as (ae).

a short, (a). Ex. ai (ai); as (az). N.B. The modern a in cat (kæt) is denoted by (æ), and does not occur in Chaucer.

a long, (aa). (1) at the end of a syllable; as age (aa˘jə); (2) before s or ce; as cas (kaas), face (faa˘sə).

ai, ay (ei), originally perhaps (ai); but ai and ei, both being pronounced as (ei), had already been confused, and invariably rime together in Chaucer. Cf. E. gay, prep.

au, aw (au). Ex. avaunt (avaunt); awe (auə).

c, as (k), except before e and i; as (s), before e and i.

ch (ch); och (tch).

e short, (e). Ex. fetheres (fedh˘rez); middle e dropped.

e final, (ə); and often dropped or elided or very lightly touched.

e long and open, (ae). Sometimes denoted by 'g' or 'gg.' Ex. clene (klae˘nə).

e long and close, (ee). Ex. swete (swæe˘tə); weep (weep).

ei, ey (ei). Ex. streit (streit); wey (wei).

g hard, i. e. (g), except before e and i; (j), before e and i. Ex. go (gao); age (aa˘jə).

gh (h), G. ch. Ex. light (liiht). The vowel was at first short, then half-long (as probably in Chaucer), then wholly long, when the (h) dropped out. Later, (ii) became (ei) and is now (ai).

gn (n), with long preceding vowel; as digne (di˘nə).

i short, (i). As F. i in fini; but often as E. i in in; the latter is near enough. So also y, when short, as in many (man˘i).

i, y long, (ii). Ex. I (ii); melodye (mél˘odi˘ə).

ie (ee), the same as ee. Ex. mischief (mischeef).

I consonantal, (j). Ex. Iay (jei); Iuge (jū˘jə). So in the MSS.; but here printed 'j,' as in Iay (jei).

le, often vocalic (l), as in E. temple (temp˘l). But note stables (staa˘blez).

ng (ngg); always as in E. linger. Ex. thing (thingg).

o short, (o), as in of (ov). But as (ɔ) before gh. And note particularly, that it is always (u), i. e. as u in full, wherever it has a sound like u in mod. E., as in company, son, monk, cousin, &c. Ex. sonne (sun·nə), monk (mungk), moche (muchə).

o long and open, (ao). Sometimes denoted by 'g' or 'gg.' Ex. go (gao); stoon (staon).

o long and close, (oo). Ex. sole (soo'tə); hood (hood).

oi, oy (oi).

ou, ow (uu); as in four (fluur); now (nuu). Rarely (ɔ), as in soule (spuła).

ogh (puh), with open o, as in E. not, followed by short (u).

ough (uuh); with u as in E. fool (fuul); or as ogh.

r is always strongly trilled. ssh (shsh), as in fresshe (fresh'shə).

u short, (ü); French; as in just (jüst). Rarely (u), as in cut (kut); English.

u long, (ü'), as in nature (natü'ra); French.

wə final, (wə), but often merely (u). Ex. arwes (arwez); bowe (baou'ə, bəu'ə); morwe (moru); so blew (blee'u).

N.B. Open long e (ae) often arises from A.S. æ, ēa, or lengthening of e. Ex. węre (waerə), A.S. wāron; ęk (æk), A.S. ēac; spęken (spaekən), A.S. sprecan. Open long o (ao) often arises from A.S. ā, or lengthening of o. Ex. fę (fao), A.S. fā; ępen, A.S. open. Chaucer refrains from riming open long e (ae), when arising from A.S. ēa, or lengthening of e, with the close e arising from A.S. ē or ēo. But there is some uncertainty about the quality of the e arising from A.S. æ, or from mutation.

The occurrence of rimes such as Chaucer never employs furnishes an easy test for poems which have been supposed to be his on insufficient grounds. Thus, in 'The Cuckoo and the Nightingale, stanza 13, green rimes with been; whereas the form green never occurs in Chaucer, who always employs grēn-e (grē'nə) as a dissyllable, in accordance with its etymology from A.S. grēne. In the same poem, upon rimes with mon, a man (stanza 17); but Chaucer knows nothing of such a form as mon.

Non-Chaucerian rimes occur in large numbers in Fragment B of the Romaunt of the Rose.

THE ROMAUNT OF THE ROSE.

Words and syllables enclosed within square brackets are supplied by the Editor. Readings marked with an obelus (†) are doubtful, and are accounted for in the Appendix.

[Only three Fragments of this translation have come down to us. Of these, Fragment A is by Chaucer; Fragment B is by a Northerner, and has many corrupt readings; whilst Fragment C is of doubtful origin, and I do not feel sure that it is Chaucer's.]

FRAGMENT A.

MAY men seyn that in sweveninges
Ther nis but fables and lesinges ;
But men may somme †swevenes seen,
Which hardely †ne false been,
But afterward ben apparaunte. 5
This may I drawe to waraunte
An authour, that hight Macrobes,
That halt not dremes false ne lees,
But undoth us the avisoun
That whylom mette king Cipioun. 10

And who-so sayth, or weneth it be
A jape, or elles [a] nyctee
To wene that dremes after falle,
Let who-so liste a fool me calle.
For this trowe I, and say for me, 15
That dremes signifaunce be
Of good and harme to many wightes,
That dremen in her slepe a-nightes
Ful many thinges covertly,
That fallen after al openly. 20

The Dream.

Within my twenty yere of age,
Whan that Love taketh his corage
Of yonge folk, I wente sone
To bedde, as I was wont to done,
And fast I †asleep ; and in sleping, 25
Me mette swiche a swevening,

That lykede me wonders wel ;
But in that sweven is never a del
That it nis afterward befallē,
Right as this drem wol telle us alle. 30
Now this drem wol I ryme aright,
To make your hertes gaye and light ;
For Love it prayeth, and also Commaundeth me that it be so.
And if ther any aske me, 35
Whether that it be he or she,
How [that] this book [the] which is here
Shall †hote, that I rede you here ;
It is the Romance of the Rose,
In which al the art of love I close. 40
The mater fair is of to make ;
God graunte in gree that she it take
For whom that it begonnen is !
And that is she that hath, y-wis,
So mochel prys ; and ther-to she 45
So worthy is bilowed be,
That she wel oughte, of prys and right,
Be cleped Rose of every wight.
That it was May me thoughte tho,
It is fyve yere or more ago ; 50
That it was May, thus dremed me,
In tyme of love and jolitee,
That al thing ginneth waxen gay,

For ther is neither busk nor hay In May, that it nil shrouded been,	55	Aloon I wente in my playing,	105
And it with newe lewes wreen. These wodes eek recoveren grene, That drye in winter been to sene ; And th' erthe wexeth proud withalle,		The smale foules song harking ; That peyned hem ful many a payre To singe on bowes bloomed fayre. Jolif and gay, ful of gladnesse, Toward a river † I gan me dresse,	110
For swote dewes that on it falle,	60	That I herde renne faste by ; For fairer playing non saugh I Than playen me by that riveer, For from an hille that stood ther neer Cam donn the streem ful stif and bold.	115
And [al] the pore estat forget In which that winter hadde it set ; And than bicometh the ground so proud That it wol have a newe shroud, And maketh so queynt his robe and fayr	65	Cleer was the water, and as cold As any welle is, sooth to seyne ; And somdel lasse it was than Seine, But it was straighter wel away. And never saugh I, er that day,	120
That it † hath hewes an hundred payr Of gras and floures, inde and pers, And many hewes ful dyvers : That is the robe I mene, y-wis, Through which the ground to preisen is.	70	The water that so wel lyked me ; And wonder glad was I to see That lusty place, and that riveer ; And with that water that ran so cleer My face I wish. Tho saugh I wel	125
The briddes, that han left hir song, Why! they han suffred cold so strong In wedres grille, and derk to sighte, Ben in May, for the sonne brighte,	75	The botme paved everydel With gravel, ful of stones shene. The medewe softe, swote, and grene, Beet right on the water-syde. Ful cleer was than the morow-tyde,	130
So glade, that they shewe in singing, That in hir herte is swich lyking, That they mote singen and be light. Than doth the nightingale hir might To make noyse, and singen blythe.		And ful attempre, out of drede. Tho gan I walke through the mede, Dounward ay in my pleying, The river-syde costeyng.	135
Than is blisful, many a sythe, The chelaundre and the papingay. Than yonge folk entenden ay For to ben gay and amorous, The tyme is than so savorous.	80	The Garden. And whan I had a whyle goon,	135
Hard is his herte that loveth nought In May, whan al this mirth is wrought ; Whan he may on these braunches here The smale briddes singen clere Hir blisful swete song pitous ;	85	I saugh a GARDIN right anoydel, Ful long and brood, and everydel † Enclos it was, and walled wel, With hye walles embatailled, Portrayed without, and wel entailed	140
And in this sesoun delitous, Whan love affrayeth alle thing, Me thoughte a-night, in my sleping, Right in my bed, ful redily, That it was by the morowe erly, And up I roos, and gan me clothe ;	90	With many riche portraitures ; And bothe images and peynatures Gan I biholde bisily. And I wol telle you, redily, Of thilke images the semblaunce,	145
Anoon I wish myn hondes bothe ; A sylvre nedle forth I drogh Out of an aquiler queynt y-nogh, And gan this nedle threde anon ; For out of toun me list to gon	95	As fer as I have remembraunce.
The sowne of briddes for to here, That on thise † bushes singen clere. And in the swete sesoun that leef is, With a threde basting my slevis,	100	Hate. A-midde saugh I Hartz stonde, That for hir wrathe, ire, and onde, Semed to been a † moveresse, An angry wight, a chideresse ; And ful of gyle, and fel corage, By semblaunt was that ilke image. And she was no-thing wel arrayed,	150

- But lyk a wood womman afrayed ;
Y-frounced foule was hir visage, 155
And grenning for dispitous rage ;
Hir nose snorted up for tene.
Ful hidous was she for to sene,
Ful foul and rusty was she, this.
Hir heed y-writhen was, y-wis, 160
Ful grimly with a greet towayle.
Felonye.
An image of another entayle,
A lift half, was hir faste by :
Hir name above hir heed saugh I,
And she was called FELONYE. 165
Vilanye.
Another image, that VILANYE
Y-cleped was, saugh I and fond Upon the walle on hir right hond.
Vilanye was lyk somdel
That other image ; and, trusteth wel, 170
She semed a wikked creature.
By countenance, in portrayture,
She semed be ful despitous,
And eek ful proud and outrageous.
Wel coude he peynte, I undertake, 175
That swiche image coude make.
Ful foul and cherlish semed she,
And eek vilaynous for to be,
And litel coude of norture,
To worshipe any creature. 180
Coveityse.
And next was peynted COVEITYSE,
That eggeth folk, in many gyse,
To take and yeve right nought ageyn,
And grete tresours up to leyn.
And that is she that for usure 185
Leneth to many a creature
The lasse for the more winning,
So coveitous is her brenning.
And that is she, for penyes fele,
That techeth for to robbe and stele 190
These theves, and these smale harlotes ;
And that is rounthe, for by hir throtes
Ful many oon hangeth at the laste.
She maketh folk compass and caste 195
To taken other folkes thing,
Through robberie, or †miscounting.
And that is she that maketh trechoures ;
And she [that] maketh false pledoures,
That with hir termes and hir domes
Doon maydens, children, and eek gromes
Hir heritage to forgo. 201
- Ful croked were hir hondes two ;
For Coveityse is ever wood
To grypen other folkes good. 205
Coveityse, for hir winning,
Ful leef hath other mennes thing.
Avarice.
Another image set saugh I Next Coveityse faste by,
And she was cleped AVARICE.
Ful foul in peyntyng was that vice ; 210
Ful sad and caytif was she eek,
And al-so grene as any leek.
So yvel hewed was hir colour,
Hir semed have lived in langour.
She was lyk thing for hungre deed, 215
That ladde hir lyf only by breed
Kneden with eisel strong and egre ;
And therto she was lene and megre.
And she was clad ful povrely,
Al in an old torn †courtepy,
As she were al with dogges torn ; 220
And bothe bihinde and eek biforn
Clouted was she beggarly.
A mantel heng hir faste by,
Upon a perche, weyke and smalle ; 225
A burnet cote heng therwithalle,
Furred with no menivere,
But with a furre rough of here,
Of lambe-skinnes hevvy and blake ;
It was ful old, I undertake. 230
For Avarice to clothe hir wel
Ne hasteth hir, never a del ;
For certeynly it were hir loth
To weren ofte that ilke cloth ;
And if it were forwered, she 235
Wolde have ful greet necessitee
Of clothing, er she boughte hir newe,
Al were it bad of wolle and here.
This Avarice held in hir hande
A purs, that heng [down] by a bande ; 240
And that she hidde and bond so stronge,
Men must abyde wonder longe
Out of that purs er ther come ought,
For that ne cometh not in hir thought ;
It was not, certain, hir entente 245
That fro that purs a peny wente.
Envye.
And by that image, nygh y-nough,
Was †peynt ENVYE, that never lough,
Nor never wel in herte ferde
But-if she onther saugh or herde 250

Som greet mischaunce, or greet disease.
No-thing may so moch hir plese
As mischef and misaventure ;
Or whan she seeth discomfiture
†On any worthy man [to] falle,	255
Than lyketh hir [ful] wel withalle.
She is ful glad in hir corage,
If she see any greet linage
Be brought to nought in shamful wyse.
And if a man in honour ryse,	260
Or by his witte, or by prowesse,
Of that hath she gret hevynesse ;
For, trusteth wel, she goth nigh wood
When any chaunce happeth good.
Envye is of swich crueltee,	265
That feith ne trouthe holdeth she
To freend ne folawe, had or good.
Ne she hath kin noon of hir blood,
That she nis ful hir enemy ;
She nolde, I dar seyn hardely,	270
Hir owne fader ferde wel.
And sore abyeth she everydel
Hir malice, and hir maltalent :
For she is in so greet turment
And hath such [wo], whan folk doth
good,	275
That nigh she melteth for pure wood ;
Hir herte kerveth and †to-breketh
That god the peple wel awreketh.
Envye, y-wis, shal never lette
Som blame upon the folk to sette.	280
I trowe that if Envye, y-wis,
Knewe the beste man that is
On this syde or beyond the see,
Yit somewhat lakken him wolde she.
And if he were so hende and wys,	285
That she ne mighte al abate his prys,
Yit wolde she blame his worthynesse,
Or by hir wordes make it lesse.
I saugh Envye, in that peynting,
Hadde a wonderful loking ;	290
For she ne loked but awry,
Or overthwart, al baggingly.
And she hadde [eek] a foul usage ;
She mighte loke in no visage
Of man or womman forth-right pleyn,	295
But shette oon y8 for disdeyn ;
So for envye brenned she Whan she mighte any man [y]-see,
That fair, or worthy were, or wys,
Or elles stood in folkes prys.	300
		Sorowe.
		Sorowe was peynted next Envye
		Upon that walle of masonrye.
		But wel was seen in hir colour
		That she hadde lived in langour ;
		Hir semed hav8 the Jaunyce.	305
		Nought half so pale was Avaryce,
		Nor no-thing lyk, [as] of lenesse ;
		For sorowe, thought, and greet distresse.
		That she hadde suffred day and night
		Made hir ful yelwe, and no-thing bright,
		Ful fade, pale, and megre also.	311
		Was never wight yit half so wo
		As that hir semed for to be,
		Nor so fulfilled of ire as she.
		I trowe that no wight mighte hir plese,	315
		Nor do that thing that mighte hir ese ;
		Nor she ne wolde hir sorowe slake,
		Nor comfort noon unto hir take ;
		So depe was hir wo bigonnen,
		And eek hir herte in angre ronnen,	320
		A sorowful thing wel semed she.
		Nor she hadde no-thing slowe be
		For to forcracchen al hir face,
		And for to †rende in many place
		Hir clothes, and for to tere hir swire,	325
		As she that was fulfilled of ire ;
		And al to-torn lay eek hir here
		Aboute hir shuldres, here and there,
		As she that hadde it al to-rent
		For angre and for maltalent.	330
		And eek I telle you certeynly
		How that she weep ful tenderly.
		In world nis wight so hard of herte
		That hadde seen hir sorowes smerte,
		That nolde have had of hir pitee,	335
		So wo-bigoon a thing was she.
		She al to-dasshte hir-self for wo,
		And smoot togider hir handes two.
		To sorwe was she ful ententyf,
		That woful reccheles caityf ;	340
		Hir rougte litel of playng,
		Or of clipping or [of] kissing ;
		For who-so sorweful is in herte
		Him liste not to pleye ne sterte,
		Nor for to daunseen, ne to singe,	345
		Ne may his herte in temper bringe
		To make joye on even or morowe ;
		For joye is contraire unto sorowe.
		Elde.
		ELDE was peynted after this,

- That shorter was a foot, y-wis, 350
 Than she was wont in her yonghede.
 Unnethe hir-self she mighte fede ;
 So feble and eek so old was she
 That faded was al hir beautee.
 Ful salowe was waxen hir colour, 355
 Hir heed for-hoor was, whyt as flour.
 Y-wis, gret qualm ne were it noon,
 Ne sinne, although hir lyf were gon.
 Al woxen was hir body unwelde,
 And drye, and dwyned al for elde. 360
 A foul forwelked thing was she
 That whylom round and softe had be.
 Hir eres shoken fast withalle,
 As from her heed they wolde falle.
 Hir face frounced and forpyned, 365
 And bothe hir hondes lorn, fordwyned.
 So old she was that she ne wente
 A foot, but it were by potente.
- Time.
- The Tyme, that passeth night and day,
 And resteles travayleth ay, 370
 And steleth from us so prively,
 That to us semeth sikerly
 That it in oon point dwelleth ever,
 And certes, it ne resteth never,
 But goth so faste, and passeth ay, 375
 That ther nis man that thinke may What tyme that now present is :
 Asketh at these clerkes this ;
 For [er] men thinke it redily,
 Three tymes been y-passed by. 380
 The tyme, that may not sojourne,
 But goth, and †never may retourne,
 As water that down renneth ay,
 But never drope retourne may ;
 Ther may no-thing as tyme endure, 385
 Metal, nor erthely creature ;
 For alle thing it fret, and shal :
 The tyme eek, that chaungeth al,
 And al doth waxe and fostred be,
 And alle thing distroyeth he : 390
 The tyme, that eldeth our auncessours
 And eldeth kinges and emperours,
 And that us alle shal overcomen
 Er that deeth us shal have nomen :
 The tyme, that hath al in welde 395
 To elden folk, had maad hir elde
 So inly, that, to my witing,
 She mighte helpe hir-self no-thing,
 But turned ageyn unto childhede ;
- She had no-thing hir-self to lede, 400
 Ne wit ne pith in[with] hir holde
 More than a child of two yeer olde.
 But natheles, I trowe that she Was fair sumtyme, and fresh to see,
 Whan she was in hir rightful age : 405
 But she was past al that passage
 And was a doted thing bicomen.
 A furred cope on had she nomen ;
 Wel had she clad hir-self and warm,
 For cold mighte elles doon hir harm. 410
 These olde folk have alwey colde, Hir kind is swiche, whan they ben
 olde.
- Pope-holy.
- Another thing was doon ther write,
 That semede lyk an ipocrite,
 And it was cleped POPPE-HOLY. 415
 That ilke is she that prively
 Ne spareth never a wikked dede,
 Whan men of hir taken non hede ;
 And maketh hir outward precious,
 With pale visage and pitous, 420
 And semeth a-simple creature ;
 But ther nis no misaventure
 That she ne thanketh in hir corage.
 Ful lyk to hir was that image,
 That maked was lyk hir semblaunce. 425
 She was ful simple of countenance,
 And she was clothed and eek shod,
 As she were, for the love of god,
 Yolden to religioun,
 Swich semed hir devocioun. 430
 A sauter held she faste in honde,
 And bisily she gan to fonde
 To make many a feynt prayere
 To god, and to his seyntes dera.
 Ne she was gay, fresh, ne jolyf, 435
 But samed be ful ententyf
 To gode werkes, and to faire,
 And therto she had on an haire.
 Ne certes, she was fat no-thing,
 But samed wery for fasting ; 440
 Of colour pale and deed was she.
 From hir the gate †shal warned be
 Of paradys, that blisful place ;
 For swich folk maketh lene hir †face,
 As Crist seith in his evangyle, 445
 To gete hem prys in toun a whyle ;
 And for a litel glorie veine
 They lesen god and eek his reine.

Povert.

And alderlast of everichoon,
 Was peynted Poverr al aloon, 450
 That not a peny hadde in wolde,
 Al-though [that] she hir clothes solde,
 And though she shulde anohnged be,
 For naked as a worm was she.
 And if the weder stormy were, 455
 For colde she shulde have deyed there.
 She naddo on but a streit old sak,
 And many a clout on it ther stak ;
 This was hir cote and hir mantel,
 No more was there, never a del, 460
 To clothe her with ; I undertake,
 Gret leyser hadde she to quake.
 And she was pnt, that I of talke,
 Fer fro these other, up in an halke ;
 There lurked and there coured she ; 465
 For povre thing, wher-so it be,
 Is shamfast, and deysped ay.
 Acursed may wel be that day,
 That povre man conceived is ;
 For god wot, al to selde, y-wis, 470
 Is any povre man wel fed,
 Or wel arayed or y-cled,
 Or wel biloved, in swich wyse
 In honour that he may aryse. 475
 Alle these thinges, wel avysed,
 As I have you er this devysed,
 With gold and asure over alle
 Depeynted were upon the walle.
 Squar was the wal, and high somdel ;
 Enclosed, and y-barred wel, 480
 In stede of hegge, was that gardin ;
 Com never shepherde therin.
 Into that gardyn, wel [y-]wrought,
 Who-so that me coude have brought,
 By †laddre, or elles by degree, 485
 It wolde wel have lyked me.
 For swich solace, swich joye, and play,
 I trowe that never man ne say,
 As in that place delitous.
 The gardin was not daungerous 490
 To herberwe briddes many oon.
 So riche a †yerd was never noon
 Of briddes songe, and braunches grene.
 Therin were briddes mo, I wene,
 Than been in alle the rewme of Fraunce.
 Ful blisful was the accordaunce 496
 Of swete and pitous songe they made,
 For al this world it oughte glada.

And I my-self so mery ferde,
 Whan I hir blisful songes herde, 500
 That for an hundred pound †nolde I,—
 If that the passage openly Hadde been unto me free—
 That I nolde entren for to see Thassemblee, god †it kepe and were! 505
 Of briddes, whiche therinne were,
 That songen, through hir mery throtes,
 Daunces of love, and mery notes.

Whan I thus herde foules singe,
 I fel faste in a weymentinge, 510
 By which art, or by what engyn
 I mighte come in that gardyn ;
 But way I couthe finde noon
 Into that gardin for to goon.
 Ne nought wiste I if that ther were 515
 Eyther hole or place [o]-where,
 By which I mighte have entree ;
 Ne ther was noon to teche me ;
 For I was al aloon, y-wis,
 †Ful wo and anguissons of this. 520
 Til atte last bithoughte I me,
 That by no weye ne mighte it be ;
 That ther nas laddre or wey to passe,
 Or hole, into so fair a place.

Tho gan I go a ful gret pas 525
 Envyroning even in compas
 The closing of the square wal,
 Til that I fond a wiket smal
 So shet, that I ne mighte in goon,
 And other entree was ther noon. 530

The Door.

Upon this dore I gan to smyte,
 That was [so] fetys and so lyte ;
 For other wey conde I not seke.
 Ful long I shoof, and knocked eke,
 And stood ful long and off[t] herkning 535
 If that I herde †a wight coming ;
 Til that the dore of thilke entree
 A mayden curtays opened me.

Ydelnesse.

Hir heer was as yelowe of hewe
 As any basin scoured newe. 540
 Hir flesh [as] tendre as is a chike,
 With bente browes, smothe and slike ;
 And by mesure large were
 The opening of hir yën clere.
 Hir nose of good proporcioun, 545
 Hir yën greye as a faucoun,
 With swete breeth and wel savoured.

Hir face whyt and wel coloured, With litel mouth, and round to see ; A clove chin eek hadde she. 550 Hir nekke was of good fasoun In lengthe and gretnesse, by resoun, Withoute bleyne, scabbe, or royne. Fro Jerusalem unto Burgoyne Ther nis a fairer nekke, y-wis, 555 To fele how smothe and softe it is. Hir throte, al-so whyt of hewe As snow on branche snowed newe. Of body ful wel wrought was she ; Men neded not, in no cuntree, 560 A fairer body for to seke. And of fyn orfrays had she eke A chapelet : so semly oon Ne wered never mayde upon ; And faire above that chapelet 565 A rose gerland had she set. She hadde [in honde] a gay mirour, And with a riche gold tressour Hir heed was tressed queyntely ; Hir sleeves sewed fetially. 570 And for to kepe hir hondes faire Of gloves whyte she hadde a paire. And she hadde on a cote of grene Of cloth of Gaunt ; withouten wene, Wel semed by hir apparayle 575 She was not wont to greet travayle. For whan she kempt was fetially, And wel arayed and richely, Thanne had she doon al hir journee ; For mery and wel bigoon was she. 580 She ladde a lusty lyf in May, She hadde no thought, by night ne day, Of no-thing, but it were oonly To graythe hir wel and uncouthly. Whan that this dore hadde opened me This †mayden, semely for to see, 586 I thanked hir as I best mighte, And axede hir how that she highte, And what she was, I axede eke. And she to me was nought unmeke, 590 Ne of hir answer daungerous, But faire answerde, and seide thus :— ‘ Lo, sir, my name is Ydelnesse ; So clepe men me, more and lesse. Ful mighty and ful riche am I, 595 And that of oon thing, namely ; For I entende to no-thing But to my joye, and my pleying,	And for to kembe and tresse me. Aqueynted am I, and privee 600 With Mirthe, lord of this gardyn, That fro the lande †Alexandryn Made the trees †be hider fet, That in this gardin been y-set. 604 And when the trees were woxen on highte, This wal, that stant here in thy sighte, Dide Mirthe enclosen al aboute ; And these images, al withoute, He dide hem bothe entaile and peynte, That neither ben jolyf ne queynte, 610 But they ben ful of sorowe and wo, As thou hast seen a whyle ago. ‘ And ofte tyme, him to solace, Sir Mirthe cometh into this place, And eek with him cometh his meynee, That liven in lust and jolitee. 616 And now is Mirthe therin, to here The briddes, how they singen clere, The mavis and the nightingale, And other joly briddes smale. 620 And thus he walketh to solace Him and his folk ; for swetter place To pleyen in he may not finde, Although he soughte oon in-til Inde. The alther-fairest folk to see 625 That in this world may founde be Hath Mirthe with him in his route, That folowen him alwayes aboute.’ When Ydelnesse had told al this, And I hadde herkned wel, y-wis, 630 Than seide I to dame Ydelnesse, ‘ Now al-so wisly god me blesse, Sith Mirthe, that is so fair and free, Is in this yerde with his meynee, Fro thilke assemblee, if I may, 635 Shal no man werne me to-day, That I this night ne mote it see. For, wel wene I, ther with him be A fair and joly companye Fulfilled of alle curtesye.’ 640 And forth, without wordes mo, In at the wicket wente I tho, That Ydelnesse hadde opened me, Into that gardin fair to see. The Garden. And whan I was [ther]in, y-wis, 645 Myn herte was ful glad of this. For wel wende I ful sikerly Have been in paradys erth[e]ly ;
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

- So fair it was, that, trusteth wel,
It semed a place espirituel. 650
For certes, as at my devys,
Ther is no place in paradys
So good in for to dwelle or be
As in that GARDIN, thoughte me ;
For there was many a brid singing, 655
Throughout the yerde al thringing.
In many places were nightingales,
Alpes, finches, and wodewales,
That in her swete song delysten
In thilke †place as they habytten. 660
Ther mighte men see many flokkes
Of turtles and [of] laverokkes.
Chalaundes fele saw I there,
That wery, nigh forsongen were.
And thurstles, terins, and mavys, 665
That songen for to winne hem pry,
And eek to sormounte in hir song
†These other briddes hem among.
By note made fair servyse
These briddes, that I you devyse ; 670
They songe hir song as faire and wel
As angels doon espirituel.
And, trusteth wel, when I hem herde, Full lustily and wel I ferde ;
For never yit swich melodye 675
Was herd of man that mighte dye.
Swich swete song was hem among,
That me thoughte it no briddes song,
But it was wonder lyk to be
Song of mermaidens of the see ; 680
That, for her singing is so clere,
Though we mermaidens clepe hem here
In English, as in our usauunce,
Men clepe[n] hem sereyns in Fraunce.
Ententif weren for to singe 685
These briddes that nought unkunninge
Were of hir craft, and apprentys,
But of [hir] song sotyl and wys.
And certes, when I herde hir song,
And saw the grene place among, 690
In herte I wex so wonder gay,
That I was never erst, or that day,
So jolyf, nor so wel bigo,
Ne mery in herte, as I was tho.
And than wiste I, and saw ful wel, 695
That Ydelnesse me served wel,
That me putte in swich jolitee.
Hir freend wel oughte I for to be,
Sith she the dore of that gardyn
Hadde opened, and me leten in. 700
From hennesforth how that I wroughte,
I shal you tellen, as me thoughte.
First, whereof Mirthe served there,
And eek what folk ther with him were,
Without[e] fable I wol descryva. 705
And of that gardin eek as blyve
I wol you tellen after this.
The faire fasoun al, y-wis,
That wel [y-]wrought was for the nones,
I may not telle you al at ones : 710
But as I may and can, I shal
By ordre tellen you it al.
Ful fair servyse and eek ful swete
These briddes maden as they sete.
Layes of love, ful wel sowning 715
They songen in hir jargoning ;
Summe highe and summe eek lowe songe
Upon the braunches grene y-spronga.
The sweetnesse of hir melodye
Made al myn herte in †reverdye. 720
And whan that I hadde herd, I trowe,
These briddes singing on a rowe,
Than mighte I not withholde me
That I ne wente in for to see
Sir Mirthe ; for my desiring 725
Was him to seen, over alle thing,
His countenaunce and his manere :
That sighte was to me ful dere.
Sir Mirthe.
Tho wente I forth on my right hond
Down by a lital path I fond 730
Of mentes ful, and fenel grene ;
And faste by, withoute wene,
SIR MIRTHE I fond ; and right anon
Unto sir Mirthe gan I goon,
Ther-as he was, him to solace. 735
And with him, in that lusty place,
So fair folk and so fresh hadde he,
That whan I saw, I wondred me
Fro whennes swich folk mighte come,
So faire they weren, alle and some ; 740
For they were lyk, as to my sighte,
To angels, that ben fethered brighte.
Gladnesse.
This folk, of which I telle you so,
Upon a carole wenten tho.
A lady caroled hem, that highte 745
GLADNESSE, [the] blisful, the lighte ;
Wel coude she singe and lustily,
Non half so wel and semely.

And make in song swich refrainings,
 It sat hir wonder wel to singe. 750
 Hir vois ful clear was and ful swete.
 She was nought rude ne unmete,
 But couthe y-now of swich doing
 As longeth unto caroling :
 For she was wont in every place 755
 To singen first, folk to solace ;
 For singing most she gaf hir to ;
 No craft had she so leef to do.

The mightest thou caroles seen,
 And folk [ther] daunce and mery been, 760
 And †make many a fair tounring
 Upon the grene gras springing.
 Ther mightest thou see these floutours,
 Minstrales, and eek jogelours,
 That wel to singe dide hir peyne. 765
 Somme songe songes of Loreyne ;
 For in Loreyne hir notes be Ful swetter than in this contree.
 Ther was many a timbestere,
 And saylours, that I dar wel swere 770
 Couthe hir craft ful parfitly.
 The timbres up ful sotilly
 They caste, and hente[n hem] ful ofte
 Upon a finger faire and softe,
 That they [ne] fayled never-mo. 775
 Ful fetis damiselles two,
 Right yonge, and fulle of semlihede,
 In kirtles, and non other wede,
 And faire tressed every tresse,
 Had Mirthe doon, for his noblesse, 780
 Amidde the carole for to daunce ;
 But her-of lyth no remembrance,
 How that they daunced queyntely.
 That oon wolde come al prively Agayn that other : and whan they were Togidre almost, they threwe y-fere 786
 Hir mouthes so, that through hir play
 It semed as they kiste alway ;
 To dauncen wel coude they the gyse ;
 What shulde I more to you devyse ? 790
 Ne †bede I never thennes go,
 Whyles that I saw hem daunce so.

Curtesye.

Upon the carole wonder faste
 I gan biholde ; til atte laste
 A lady gan me for to espye, 795
 And she was cleped CURTESYE,
 The worshipful, the dcbonaire ;
 I pray god ever falle hir faire !

Ful curteisly she called me,
 'What do ye there, beau sire ?' quod
 she, 800
 'Come [neer], and if it lyke yow
 To dauncen, daunceth with us now.'
 And I, withoute taryng, Wente into the caroling.
 I was abashed never a del, 805
 But it me lykede right wel
 That Curtesye me cleped so,
 And bad me on the daunce go.
 For if I hadde durst, certeyn
 I wolde have caroled right fayn, 810
 As man that was to daunce blythe.
 Than gan I loken ofte sythe
 The shap, the bodies, and the cheres,
 The countenance and the maneres
 Of alle the folk that daunced there, 815
 And I shal telle what they were.

Mirthe.

Ful fair was Mirthe, ful ong and high ;
 A fairer man I never sigh.
 As round as appel was his face,
 Ful roly and whyt in every place. 820
 Fetys he was and wel boseye,
 With metely mouth and yën greye ;
 His nose by mesure wrought ful right ;
 Crisp was his heer, and eek ful bright.
 His shuldres of a large brede, 825
 And smalish in the girdilstede.
 He semed lyk a portreiture,
 So noble he was of his stature,
 So fair, so joly, and so fetys,
 With limes wrought at poynt devys, 830
 Deliver, smert, and of gret might ;
 Ne sawe thou never man so light.
 Of berde unnethe hadde he no-thing,
 For it was in the firste spring.
 Ful yong he was, and mery of thought,
 And in samyt, with briddes wrought* 836
 And with gold beten fetisly,
 His body was clad ful richely.
 Wrought was his robe in straunge gyse,
 And al to-alitered for queyntyse 840
 In many a place, lowe and hye.
 And shod he was with greet maistrye,
 With shoon decoped, and with laas.
 By druerye, and by solas,
 His leef a rosen chapelet 845
 Had maad, and on his heed it set.
 And wite ye who was his leef ?

Gladnesse.

Dame GLADNES ther was him so leef,
 That singeth so wel with glad corage,
 That from she was twelve yeer of age, 850
 She of hir love graunt him made.
 Sir Mirthe hir by the finger hadde
 [In] daunsing, and she him also;
 Gret love was atwixe hem two.
 Bothe were they faire and brighte of hewe;
 She semede hir a rose newe 856
 Of colour, and hir flesh so tendre,
 That with a brere smale and splendre
 Men mighte it cleve, I dar wel †sayn. 860
 Hir forheed, frounceles al †playn.
 Bente were hir browes two,
 Hir yēn greye, and gladde also,
 That laughede ay in hir semblaunt,
 First or the mouth, by covenaut.
 I †noot what of hir nose descryve; 865
 So fair hath no womman alyve . . .
 Hir heer was yelowe, and cleer shyning,
 I wot no lady so lyking.
 Of orfrays fresh was hir gerland;
 I, whiche seen have a thousand, 870
 Saugh never, y-wis, no gerlond yit,
 So wel [y]-wrought of silk as it.
 And in an over-gilt samyt
 Clad she was, by gret delyt.
 Of which hir leef a robe werde, 875
 The myrier she in herte ferde.

Cupide.

And next hir wente, on hir other syde,
 The god of Love, that can devyde
 Love, †as him lyketh it [to] be.
 But he can cherles daunten, he, 880
 And maken folkes pryde fallen.
 And he can wel these lordes thrallen,
 And ladies putte at lowe degree,
 Whan he may hem to proude see.
 This God of Love of his fasoun 885
 Was lyk no knave, ne quistroun;
 His beautes gretly was to pryse.
 But of his robe to devyse
 I drede encomberd for to be.
 For nought y-clad in silk was he, 890
 But al in floures and flourettes,
 Y-painted al with amorettes;
 And with losenges and soochouns,
 With briddes, libardes, and lyouns,
 And other beestes wrought ful wel. 895
 His garnement was everydel

Y-portreyd and y-wrought with floures,
 By dyvers medling of coloures.
 Floures ther were of many gyse
 Y-set by compas in assye; 900
 Ther lakked no flour, to my dome,
 Ne nought so muche as flour of brome,
 Ne violete, no eek pervenke,
 Ne flour non, that man can on thanke;
 And many a rose-leef ful long 905
 Was entremedled ther-among:
 And also on his heed was set
 Of roses rede a chapelet,
 But nightingales, a ful gret route,
 That flyen over his heed aboute, 910
 The leves falden as they flyen;
 And he was al with briddes wryen,
 With popinjay, with nightingale,
 With chalaundre, and with wodewale,
 With finch, with lark, and with archaungel.
 He semede as he were an sungel 916
 That douw were comen fro hevenc clere.

Swete-Loking.

Love hadde with him a bachelere,
 That he made alweyes with him be;
 Swete-Loking cleped was he. 920
 This bachelere stood biholding
 The daunce, and in his honde holding †Turke bowes two hadde he.
 That oon of hem was of a tree
 That bereth a fruyt of savour wikke; 925
 Ful croked was that foule stikke,
 And knotty here and there also,
 And blak as bery, or any slo.
 That other bowe was of a plante
 Without wem, I dar warante, 930
 Ful even, and by proporcioun
 Tretys and long, of good fasoun.
 And it was peynted wel and thwiten,
 And over-al diapred and writen
 With ladies and with bacheleres, 935
 Ful lightsom and [ful] glad of cheres.
 These bowes two held Swete-Loking,
 That semed lyk no gadeling.
 And ten brode arrows held he there,
 Of which five in his right hond were. 940
 But they were shaven wel and dight,
 Nokked and fethered a-right;
 And al they were with gold bigoon,
 And stronge poyned everichoon,
 And sharpe for to kerven weel. 945
 But iren was ther noon ne steel;

- For al was gold, men mighte it see,
Out-take the fetheres and the tree.
Beautee.
The swiftest of these arowes fyve
Out of a bowe for to dryve, 950
And best [y]-fethered for to flee,
And fairest eek, was cleped BEAUTEE, Simplese.
That other arowe, that hurteth lesse,
Was cleped, as I trowe, SIMPLESE.
Fraunchyse.
The thridde cleped was FRAUNCHYSE, 955
That fethered was, in noble wyse,
With valour and with curtesya, Companye.
The fourthe was cleped COMPANYE,
That hevyr for to †sheten is ;
But who-so sheteth right, y-wis, 960
May therewith doon gret harm and wo.
Fair-Semblaunt.
The fyfte of these, and laste also,
FAIR-SEMBLAUNT men that arowe calle,
The leeste grevous of hem alle ;
Yit can it make a ful gret wounde, 965
But he may hope his sores sounde,
That hurt is with that arowe, y-wis ;
His wo the bet bistorwed is.
For he may soner have gladnesse,
His langour oughte be the lesse. 970
Fyve arowes were of other gyse,
That been ful foule to devyse ;
For shaft and ende, sooth to telle,
Were al-so blak as feend in helle.
Pryde.
The first of hem is called PRYDE ; 975
Vilanye.
That other arowe next him bisyde,
It was [y]-cleped VILANYE ;
That arowe was as with felonye
Envenimed, and with spitous blame.
Shame.
The thridde of hem was cleped SHAME. 980 Wanhope.
The fourthe, WANHOPE cleped is,
Newe-Thought.
The fyfte, the NEW-THOUGHT, y-wis.
These arowes that I speke of here,
Were alle fyve †of oon manere,
And alle were they resemblable. 985
To hem was wel sitting and able
The foule croked bowe hidous,
That knotty was, and al roynous.
That bowe semede wel to shete
These arowes fyve, that been unmete, 990
Contrarie to that other fyve.
But though I telle not as blyve
Of hir power, ne of hir might,
Her-after shal I tellen right
The sothe, and eek signifaunce, 995
As fer as I have remembraunce :
Al shal he seid, I undertake,
Er of this boke an ende I make.
Now come I to my tale ageyn.
But alderfirst, I wol you seyn 1000
The fasoun and the countenaunce
Of al the folk that on the daunce is.
The God of Love, jolyf and light,
Ladde on his honde a lady bright,
Of high prys, and of gret degree. 1005
Beautee.
This lady called was BEAUTEE,
† As was an arowe, of which I tolde.
Ful wel [y]-thewed was she holde ;
Ne she was derk ne broun, but bright,
And clear as [is] the mone-light, 1010
Ageyn whom alle the sterres semen
But smale candels, as we demen.
Hir flesh was tendre as dewe of flour,
Hir chere was simple as byrde in bour ;
As whyt as lillie or rose in rys 1015
Hir face, gentil and tretys.
Fetys she was, and smal to see ;
No †windred browes hadde she,
Ne popped hir, for it neded nought
To windre hir, or to peynte hir ought. 1020
Hir tresses yelow and longe straughten,
Unto hir heles down they raughten :
Hir nose, hir mouth, and eye and cheke
Wel wrought, and al the remenaunt eke.
A ful gret savour and a swote 1025
Me †thinketh in myn herte rote,
As helpe me god, whan I remembre
Of the fasoun of every membre !
In world is noon so fair a wight ;
For yong she was, and hewed bright, 1030
† Wys, plessunt, and fetys withalle,
Gente, and in hir middel smalla.
Richesse.
Bisyde Beaute yede RICHESSE,
† An high lady of gret noblesse,
And gret of prys in every place. 1035
But who-so durste to hir trespace,

Or til hir folk, in †worde or dede,
 He were ful hardy, out of drede;
 For bothe she helpe and hindre may:
 And that is nought of ysterday 1040
 That riche folk have ful gret might
 To helpe, and eek to greve a wight.
 The beste and grettest of valour
 Diden Richesse ful gret honour,
 And besy weren hir to serve; 1045
 For that they wolde hir love deserve,
 They cleped hir 'Lady,' grete and smalle;
 This wyde world hir dredeth alle;
 This world is al in hir daungere.
 Hir court hath many a losengere, 1050
 And many a traytour envious,
 That been ful besy and curious
 For to dispreisen, and to blame
 That best deserven love and name.
 Bifore the folk, hem to bigylen, 1055
 These losengeres hem preyse, and smylen,
 And thus the world with word anoynthen;
 But afterward they †prikke and poynten
 The folk right to the bare boon,
 Bihinde her bak when they ben goon,
 And foule abate the folkes prys. 1061
 Ful many a worthy man and wys,
 An hundred, have [they] don to dye,
 These losengeres, through flaterye;
 And maketh folk ful straunge be, 1065
 Ther-as hem oughte be prive.
 Wel yvel mote they thryve and thee,
 And yvel aryved mote they be,
 These losengeres, ful of envye!
 No good man loveth hir companye. 1070
 Richesse a robe of purple on hadde,
 Ne trowe not that I lye or madde;
 For in this world is noon it liche,
 Ne by a thousand deel so riche,
 Ne noon so fair; for it ful wel 1075
 With orfrays leyd was everydel,
 And portrayed in the ribaninges
 Of dukes stories, and of kinges.
 And with a bend of gold tasseled,
 And knoppes fyne of gold †ameled. 1080
 Aboute hir nekke of gentil entaile
 Was shet the riche chevesaile,
 In which ther was ful gret plente
 Of stones clere and bright to see.
 Rychesse a girdel hadde upon, 1085
 The bokel of it was of a stoon
 Of vertu greet, and mochel of might;

For who-so bar the stoon so bright,
 Of venim †thurte him no-thing doute,
 While he the stoon hadde him aboute.
 That stoon was greetly for to love, 1091
 And til a riche mannes bihove
 Worth al the gold in Rome and Fryse.
 The mourdaunt, wought in noble wyse,
 Was of a stoon ful precious, 1095
 That was so fyn and vertuous,
 That hool a man it coude make
 Of palasye, and of tooth-ake.
 And yit the stoon hadde suche a grace,
 That he was siker in every place, 1100
 Al thilke day, not blind to been,
 That fasting mighte that stoon seen.
 The barres were of gold ful fyne,
 Upon a tissu of satyne,
 Ful hevvy, greet, and no-thing light, 1105
 In everich was a besaunt-wight.
 Upon the tresses of Richesse
 Was set a cercle, for noblesse,
 Of brend gold, that ful lighte shoon;
 So fair, trowe I, was never noon. 1110
 But he were cunning, for the nones,
 That coude devyssen alle the stones
 That in that cercle shewen clere;
 It is a wonder thing to here.
 For no man coude proyse or gesse 1115
 Of hem the valewe or richesse.
 Rubyes there were, saphyres, †jagounces,
 And emeraudes, more than two ounces.
 But al bifore, ful sotilly,
 A fyn carboucle set saugh I. 1120
 The stoon so cleer was and so bright,
 That, al-so sone as it was night,
 Men mighte seen to go, for nede,
 A myle or two, in lengthe and brede.
 Swich light [tho] sprang out of the stoon,
 That Richesse wonder brighte shoon, 1126
 Bothe hir heed, and al hir face,
 And eke aboute hir al the place.
 Dame Richesse on hir hond gan lede
 A yong man ful of semelihede, 1130
 That she best loved of any thing;
 His lust was muche in housholding.
 In clothing was he ful fetys,
 And lovede wel have hors of prys.
 He wende to have reproved be 1135
 Of thefte or mordre, if that he Hadde in his stable an hakeney.
 And therefore he desyred ay

To ben aqueynted with Richesse ;
 For al his purpos, as I gesse, 1140
 Was for to make greet dispense,
 Withoute werning or defence.
 And Richesse might it wel sustene,
 And hir dispenses wel mayntene,
 And him alwey swich plentee sende 1145
 Of gold and silver for to spende
 Withoute lakking or dangere,
 As it were poured in a garnere.

Largesse.

And after on the daunce wente
 LARGESSE, that sette al hir entente 1150
 For to be honourable and free ;
 Of Alexandres kin was she ;
 Hir moste joye was, y-wis,
 Whan that she yaf, and seide 'have this,'
 Not Avarice, the foule captyf, 1155
 Was half to grype so ententyf,
 As Largesse is to yewe and spende.
 And god y-nough alwey hir sende,
 So that the more she yaf away,
 The more, y-wis, she hadde alwey. 1160
 Gret loos hath Largesse, and gret prys ;
 For bothe wys folk and unwys
 Were hoodly to hir baundon brought,
 So wel with yiftes hath she wrought.
 And if she hadde an enemy, 1165
 I trowe, that she coude craftilly
 Make him ful sone hir freend to be,
 So large of yift and free was she ;
 Therefore she stood in love and grace
 Of riche and povre in every place. 1170
 A ful gret fool is he, y-wis,
 That bothe riche and nigard is.
 A lord may have no maner vice
 That greveth more than avarice.
 For nigard never with strengthe of hond
 May winne him greet lordship or lond.
 For freendes al to fewe hath he 1177
 To doon his wil performed be.
 And who-so wol have freendes here,
 He may not holde his tresour dere. 1180
 For by ensample I telle this,
 Right as an adamaunt, y-wis,
 Can drawn to him sotilly
 The yren, that is leyd thereby,
 So draweth folkes hertes, y-wis, 1185
 Silver and gold that yeven is.

Largesse hadde on a robe fresshe
 Of riche purpur †Sarsinesshe.

Wel fourmed was hir face and clere,
 And opened had she hir colere ; 1190
 For she right there hadde in present
 Unto a lady maad present
 Of a gold broche, ful wel wrought.
 And certes, it missat hir nought ;
 For through hir smokke, wrought with silk, 1195

The flesh was seen, as whyt as milk.
 Largesse, that worthy was and wys,
 Held by the honde a knight of prys,
 Was sib to Arthour of Bretaigne.
 And that was he that bar the enseigne
 Of worship, and the †gonfanoun. 1201
 And yit he is of swich renoun,
 That men of him seye faire thinges
 Bifore barouns, erles, and kinges.
 This knight was comen al newly 1205
 Fro tourneyinge faste by ;
 Ther hadde he doon gret chivalrye
 Through his vertu and his maistrye ;
 And for the love of his lemman
 †Had cast down many a doughty man. 1210

Fraunchyse.

And next him daunced dame FRAUN-CHYSE,
 Arrayed in ful noble gyse.
 She was not broun ne dun of hewe,
 But whyt as snowe y-fallen newe.
 Hir nose was wrought at poynt devys, 1215
 For it was gentil and tretys ;
 With eyen gladde, and browes bente ;
 Hir heer down to hir heles wente.
 And she was simple as dowve on tree,
 Ful debonaire of herte was she. 1220
 She durste never seyn ne do
 But that [thing] that hir longed to.
 And if a man were in distresse,
 And for hir love in heviness,
 Hir herte wolde have ful greet pitee, 1225
 She was so amiable and free.
 For were a man for hir bistad,
 She wolde ben right sore adrad
 That she dide over greet outrage,
 But she him holpe his harm to aswage ;
 Hir thoughte it alles a vilanye. 1231
 And she hadde on a sukkenye,
 That not of †hempen herdes was ;
 So fair was noon in alle Arras.
 Lord, it was rideled fetysly ! 1235
 Ther nas nat †oo poynt, trewely,

- That it nas in his right assye.
 Ful wel y-clothed was Fraunchyse;
 For ther is no cloth sitteth bet
 On damiselle, than doth roket. 1240
 A womman wel more fetys is
 In roket than in cote, y-wis.
 The whyte roket, ridede faire,
 †Bitokened, that ful debonaire
 And swete was she that it bere. 1245
 By hir daunced a bachelers;
 I can not telle you what he highte,
 But fair he was, and of good highte,
 Al hadde he be, I sey no more,
 The lordes sone of Windesore. 1250
Curtesye.
 And next that daunced CURTESYE,
 That praised was of lowe and hye,
 For neither proud ne fool was she.
 She for to daunce called me,
 (I praygod yeve hir right good grace!) 1255
 Whan I com first into the place.
 She was not nyce, ne outrageous,
 But wys and war, and vertuous,
 Of faire speche, and faire answer;e
 Was never wight misseid of here; 1260
 She bar no rancour to no wight.
 Cleer broun she was, and therto bright
 Of face, of body avenaunt;
 I wot no lady so plesaunt.
 She were worthy for to bene 1265
 An emperesse or crowned quene.
 And by hir wente a knight dauncing
 That worthy was and wel speking,
 And ful wel coude he doon honour.
 The knight was fair and stif in stour, 1270
 And in armure a semely man,
 And wel biloved of his lemman.
Ydeinesse.
 Fair YDELNESSE than saugh I,
 That alway was me faste by.
 Of hir have I, withouten fayle, 1275
 Told yow the shap and aparayle;
 For (as I seide) lo, that was she
 That dide me so great bountee,
 That she the gate of the gardin
 Undide, and leet me passen in. 1280
Youthe.
 And after daunced, as I gesse,
 †YOUTH, fulfid of lustinesse,
 That nas not yit twelve yeer of age,
 With herte wilde, and thought volage;
- Nyce she was, but she ne mente 1285
 Noon harm ne slight in hir entente,
 But only lust and jolitee.
 For yonge folk, wel witen ye,
 Have litel thought but on hir play.
 Hir lemman was bisyde alway, 1290
 In swich a gyse, that he hir kiste
 At alle tymes that him liste,
 That al the daunce mighte it see;
 They make no force of privetee;
 For who spak of hem yvel or wel, 1295
 They were ashamed never-a-del,
 But men mighte seen hem kisse there,
 As it two yonge doves were.
 For yong was thilke bachelere,
 Of beaute wot I noon his pere; 1300
 And he was right of swich an age
 As Youthe his leef, and swich corage.
 The lusty folk †thus daunced there,
 And also other that with hem were,
 That weren alle of hir meynnee; 1305
 Ful hende folk, and wys, and free,
 And folk of fair port, trewely,
 Ther weren alle comunly.
 Whan I hadde seen the countenaunces
 Of hem that ladden thus these daunces,
 Than hadde I wil to goon and see 1311
 The gardin that so lyked me,
 And loken on these faire †loreres,
 On pyn-trees, cedres, and oliveres.
 The daunces than †y-ended were; 1315
 For many of hem that daunced there
 Were with hir loves went away
 Under the trees to have hir play.
 A, lord! they lived lustily!
 A gret fool were he, sikerly, 1320
 That nolde, his thankes, swich lyf lede!
 For this dar I seyn, out of drede,
 That who-so mighte so wel fare,
 For better lyf †thurte him not care;
 For ther nis so good paradys 1325
 As have a love at his devys.
 Out of that place wente I tho,
 And in that gardin gan I go,
 Pleying along ful merily.
 The God of Love ful hastily 1330
 Unto him Swete-Loking clepte,
 No lenger wolde he that †he kepte
 His bowe of golde, that shoon so bright.
 He †bad him, bende it anon-right;
 And he ful sone [it] sette †on ende, 1335

And at a braid he gan it bende,
 And took him of his arrowes fyve,
 Ful sharpe and redy for to dryve.
 Now god that sit in magestee
 Fro deedly woundes kepe me, 1340
 If so be that he †wol me shete ;
 For if I with his arrowe mete,
 It †wol me greven sore, y-wis !
 But I, that no-thing wiste of this,
 Wente up and down ful many a wey, 1345
 And he me folwed faste alwey ;
 But no-wher wolde I reste me,
 Til I hadde al the †yarde in be.
 The gardin was, by mesuring,
 Right even and squar in compassing ; 1350
 It was as long as it was large.

The Trees.

Of fruyt hadde every tree his charge,
 But it were any hidous tree
 Of which ther were two or three.
 Ther were, and that wot I ful wel, 1355
 Of pomgarnettes a ful gret del ;
 That is a fruyt ful wel to lyke,
 Namely to folk whan they ben syke.
 And trees ther were, greet foisoun,
 That baren notes in hir sesoun, 1360
 Such as men notemigges calle,
 That swote of savour been withalle.
 And alemandres greet plentea,
 Figes, and many a date-trees
 Ther weren, if men hadde neda, 1365
 Through the †yerd in length and breda.
 Ther was eek wexing many a spyce,
 As clow-gelofre, and licoryce,
 Gingere, and greyn de †paradys,
 Canelle, and setewale of prys, 1370
 And many a spyce delitable,
 To eten whan men ryse fro tabla.
 And many hoomly trees ther were,
 That peches, coynes, and apples bere,
 Medlers, ploumes, peres, chesteynes, 1375
 Cheryse, of whiche many on fayn is,
 Notes, aleya, and bolas,
 That for to seen it was solas ;
 With many high lorer and pyn
 Was renged clene al that gardyn ; 1380
 With cipres, and with oliveres,
 Of which that nigh no plente here is.
 Ther were elmes grete and stronge,
 Maples, assehe, ook, ash, planes longe,
 Fyn ew, popler, and lindes faire, 1385

And othere trees ful many a payre.
 What sholde I telle you more of it ?
 Ther were so many treës yit,
 That I sholde al encombred be Er I had rekened every tree. 1390
 These trees were set, that I devysee,
 Oon from another, in assysee,
 Five fadome or sixe, I trowe so,
 But they were hye and grete also :
 And for to kepe out wel the sonne, 1395
 The croppes were so thikke y-ronne,
 And every braunch in other †knet,
 And ful of grene leves †set,
 That sonne mighte noon descende,
 Lest [it] the tendre grasses shenda. 1400
 Ther mighte men does and roes y-see,
 And of squirrels ful greet plentea,
 From bough to bough alwey leping.
 Conies ther were also playing,
 That comen out of hir claperes 1405
 Of sondry colours and maneres,
 And maden many a turneyng
 Upon the fresshe gras springing.

The Welles.

In places saw I welles there,
 In whiche ther no frogges were, 1410
 And fair in shadwe was every welle ;
 But I ne can the nombre telle
 Of stremes smale, that by devys
 Mirthe had don come through condys,
 Of which the water, in renning, 1415
 Gan make a noyse ful lyking.
 About the brinkes of thise welles,
 And by the stremes over-al elles
 Sprang up the gras, as thikke y-set
 And softe as any veluēt, 1420
 On which men mighte his lemman leye,
 As on a fetherbed, to pleye,
 For th'erthe was ful softe and swete.
 Through moisture of the walle wete
 Sprang up the sote grene gras, 1425
 As fair, as thikke, as mister was.
 But muche amended it the place,
 That th'erthe was of swich a grace
 That it of floures had plente,
 That both in somer and winter be. 1430
 Ther sprang the violete al newe,
 And fresshe pervinke, riche of hewe,
 And floures yelowe, whyte, and rede ;
 Swich plentea grew ther never in mede.
 Ful gay was al the ground, and queynt,

And pou dred, as men had it peynt, 1436	She hadde in herte so gret wo, 1486
With many a fresh and sondry flour,	And took it in so gret dispyt,
That casten up ful good savour.	That she, withoute more respyt,
I wol not longe holde you in fable	Was deed anon. But, er she deyde,
Of al this gardin †delitable. 1440	Ful pitously to god she preyde, 1490
I moot my tonge stinten nede,	That proude-herted Narcisus,
For I ne may, withouten drede,	That was in love so daungerous,
Naught tellen you the beautee al,	Mighte on a day ben hamprid so
Ne half the bountee therewithal.	For love, and been so hoot for wo,
I wente on right honde and on left 1445	That never he mighte joye atteyne; 1495
Aboute the place; it was not left,	Than shulde he fele in every veyne
Til I hadde al the †yerde in been,	What sorowe trewe lovers maken,
In the †estres that men mighte seen.	That been so †vilaynly forsaken.
And thus whyle I wente in my play,	This prayer was but resonable,
The God of Love me folowed ay, 1450	Therfor god held it ferme and stable: 1500
Right as an hunter can abyde	For Narcisus, shortly to telle,
The beste, til he seeth his tyde	By aventure com to that welle
To †shete, at good mes, to the dere,	To reste him in that shadowing
Whan that him nedeth go no nere.	A day, whan he com fro hunting.
And so befel, I rested me 1455	This Narcisus had suffred paynes 1505
Besyde a welle, under a tree,	For renning alday in the playnes,
Which tree in France men call a pyn.	And was for thurst in gret distresse
But, sith the tyme of king Pepyn,	Of hete, and of his werinesse
Ne grew ther tree in mannes sighte	That hadde his breeth almost binomen.
So fair, ne so wel woze in highte; 1460	Whan he was to that welle y-comen, 1510
In al that yerde so high was noon.	That shadwed was with braunches grene,
And springing in a marble-stoon	He thoughte of thilke water shene
Had nature set, the sothe to telle,	To drinke and fresahe him wel withalle; 1515
Under that pyn-tree a welle.	And down on knees he gan to falle,
And on the border, al withoute, 1465	And forth his heed and nekke ont-
Was writen, in the stone aboute,	straughte 1515
Lettres smale, that seyden thus,	To drinken of that welle a draughte.
'Here starf the faire Narcisus.'	And in the water anon was sene
Narcisus.	His nose, his mouth, his yē shene,
NARCISUS was a bachelere,	And he ther-of was al abashed;
That Love had caught in his daungere,	His owne shadowe had him bitrashed.
And in his net gan him so streyne, 1471	For wel wende he the forme see 1521
And dide him so to wepe and pleyne,	Of a child of gret beautee.
That nede him muste his lyf forgo.	Wel couthe Love him wreke tho
For a fair lady, hight Echo,	Of daunger and of pryde also
Him loved over any creature, 1475	That Narcisus somtyme him bere. 1525
And gan for him swich peyne endure,	He quitte him wel his guerdon there;
That on a tyme she him tolde,	For he †so musede in the welle,
That, if he hir love nolde,	That, shortly al the sothe to telle,
That hir beloved nedes dye,	He lovede his owne shadowe so,
Ther lay non other remedye. 1480	That atte laste he starf for wo. 1530
But natheles, for his beautee,	For whan he saugh that he his wille
So fiers and daungerous was he,	Mighte in no maner wey fulfille,
That he nolde graunten hir asking,	And that he was so faste caught
For weping, ne for fair praying.	That he him couthe comfort naught,
And whan she herde him werne hir so,	He loste his wit right in that place, 1535

And deyde within a litel space.		Right as a mirour openly	1585
And thus his warisoun he took		Sheweth al thing that stant therby,
For the lady that he forsook.		As wel the colour as the figure,
Ladyes, I preye ensample taketh,		Withouten any coverture ;
Ye that ayeins your love mistaketh :	1540	Right so the cristal stoon, shying,
For if hir deeth be yow to wyte,		Withouten any disceyving,	1590
God can ful wel your whyle quyte.		The †estres of the yerde accuseth
When that this lettre, of whiche I telle,		To him that in the water museth ;
Had taught me that it was the welle		For ever, in which half that †he be,
Of Narcosis in his beautee,	1545	† He may wel half the gardin see ;
I gan anon withdrawe me,		And if he turne, he may right wel	1595
Whan it fel in my remembrance,		Seen the remenaunt everydel.
That him bitidde swich mischaunce.		For ther is noon so litel thing
The Welle.		So hid, ne closed with shitting,
But at the laste than thoughte I,		That it ne is sene, as though it were
That scatheles, ful sikerly,	1550	Peynted in the cristal thero.	1600
I mighte unto THE WELLE go.		This is the mirour perilous,
Wherof shulde I abasshen so ?		In which the proude Narcisus
Unto the welle than wente I me,		Saw al his face fair and bright,
And doun I louted for to see		That made him sith to lye upright.
The clere water in the stoon,	1555	For who-so loke in that mirour,	1605
And eek the gravel, which that shoon		Ther may no-thing ben his socour
Down in the botme, as silver fyn ;		That he ne shal ther seen som thing
For of the welle, this is the fyn,		That shal him lede into †loving.
In world is noon so cleer of hewe.		Ful many a worthy man hath it
The water is ever fresh and newe	1560	Y-blent ; for folk of grettest wit	1610
That walmeth up in wawes brighte		Ben sone caught here and awayted ;
The mountance of two finger highte.		Withouten respyt been they bayted.
Abouten it is gras springing,		Heer comth to folk of-newe rage,
For moiste so thikke and wel lyking,		Heer chaungeth many wight corage ;
That it ne may in winter dye,	1565	Heer lyth no reed ne wit therto ;	1615
No more than may the see be drya.		For Venus sone, daun Cupido,
Down at the botme set saw I		Hath sowen thers of love the seed,
Two cristal stones craftely		That help ne lyth ther noon, ne reed,
In thilke fresshe and faire welle.		So cercleth it the welle aboute.
But o thing soothly dar I telle,	1570	His ginnes hath he set withoute	1620
That ye wol holde a greet mervayle		Right for to cacche in his panteres
Whan it is told, withouten fayle.		These damoyseles and bachelers.
For whan the sonne, cleer in sighte,		Love will noon other bridde cacche,
Cast in that welle his bemes brighte;		Though he sette either net or lacche.	1624
And that the heet descended is,	1575	And for the seed that heer was sowen,
Than taketh the cristal stoon, y-wis,		This welle is cleped, as wel is knowen,
Agayn the sonne an hundred hewes,		The Welle of Love, of verray right,
Blewe, yelowe, and rede, that fresh and		Of which ther hath ful many a wight
newe is.		Spoke in bokes dyversely.
Yit hath the mervailous cristal	1579	But they shulle never so verily	1630
Swich strengthe, that the place overal,		Descripcioun of the welle here,
Bothe fowl and tree, and leves grene,		No eek the sothe of this matere,
And al the yerd in it is sene.		As ye shulle, whan I have undo
And for to doon you understonde,		The craft that hir bilongeth to.
To make ensample wol I fonde ;		Alway me lyked for to dwelle,	1635

To seen the cristal in the welle,
That shewed me ful openly
A thousand thinges faste by.
But I may saye, in sory houre
Stood I to loken or to poure ; 1640
For sithen [have] I sore †syked,
That mirour hath me now entryked.
But hadde I first knowen in my wit
The vertus and [the] †strengthe of it,
I nolde not have mused there ; 1645
Me hadde bet ben elles-where ;
For in the snare I fel anon,
That hath †bitraished many oon.

The Roser.

In thilke mirour saw I tho,
Among a thousand thinges mo, 1650
A ROSER charged ful of roses,
That with an hegge aboute enclos is.
Tho had I swich lust and envye,
That, for Parys ne for Pavye,
Nolde I have left to goon and see 1655
Ther grettest hepe of roses be.
Whan I was with this rage hent,
That caught hath many a man and shent,
Toward the roser gan I go.
And whan I was not fer therfro, 1660
The savour of the roses swote
Me smoot right to the herte rote,
As I hadde al embawmed †be.
And if I ne hadde doutoued me
To have ben hated or assailed, 1665
My thanks, †wolde I not have failed
To pulle a rose of al that route
To bere[n] in myn honde aboute,
And smellen to it wher I wente ;
But ever I dredde me to repente, 1670

And lest it greved or for-thoughte
The lord that thilke gardyn wroughte.
Of roses were ther gret woon,
So faire †wexe never in roon.
Of knoppes clos, some saw I there, 1675
And some wel beter woxen were ;
And some thar been of other moysoun,
That drowe nigh to hir sesoun,
And spedde hem faste for to sprede ;
I love wel swiche roses rede ; 1680
For brode roses, and open also,
Ben passed in a day or two ;
But knoppes wilen freshe be
Two dayes atte leest, or thre.
The knoppes gretly lyked me, 1685
For fairer may ther no man see.
Who-so mighte have[n] oon of alle,
It oughte him been ful leef withalle.
Mighte I [a] gerlond of hem geten,
For no richesse I wolde it leten. 1690

The Knoppe.

Among THE KNOPPES I chees oon
So fair, that of the remenaunt noon
Ne preyse I half so wel as it,
Whan I avye it in my wit.
For it so wel was enlumyned 1695
With colour reed, as wel [y]-fyned
As nature counthe it make faire,
And it †had leves wel foure paire,
That Kinde had set through his knowing
About the rede †rose springing. 1700
The stalke was as risshe right,
And theron stood the knoppe upright,
That it ne bowed upon no syde.
The swote smelle sprong so wyde
That it dide al the place aboute— 1705

FRAGMENT B.

[Line 1705 is incomplete, as the sentence has no verb. Here the genuine portion ends.
Line 1706 gives a false rime, and is by another hand.]

Whan I had smelled the savour swote,
No wille hadde I fro thens yit go,
But somdel neer it wente I tho
To take it ; but myn hond, for drede,
Ne dorste I to the rose bede, 1710
For thistels sharpe, of many maneres,
Netles, thornes, and hoked breres ;

†Ful muche they distourbled me,
For sore I dradde to harmed be.
The God of Love, with bowe bent, 1715
That al day set hadde his talent
To pursuen and to spyen me,
Was standing by a fige-tree.
And whan he sawe how that I

- Had chosen so ententify 1720
 The †botoun, more unto my pay
 Than any other that I say,
 He took an arowe ful sharply whet,
 And in his bowe whan it was set,
 He streight up to his ere drough 1725
 The stronge bowe, that was so tough,
 And shet at me so wonder smerte,
 That through myn eye unto myn herte
 The takel smoot, and depe it wente.
 And ther-with-al such cold me hente,
 That, under clothes warme and softe, 1731 †Sith that day I have chevered ofte.
 Whan I was hurt thus in [that] stounde,
 I fel down plat unto the grounde.
 Myn herte failed and feynted ay, 1735
 And long tyme [ther] a-swone I lay.
 But whan I com out of swoning,
 And hadde wit, and my feling,
 I was al maad, and wende ful wel
 Of blood have loren a ful gret del. 1740
 But certes, the arowe that in me stood
 Of me ne drew no drope of blood,
 For-why I found my wounde al dreye.
 Than took I with myn hondis tweye
 The arowe, and ful fast out it plight, 1745
 And in the pulling sore I sight.
 So at the last the shaft of tree
 I drough out, with the fethers thre.
 But yet the hoked heed, y-wis,
 The whiche Beantee callid is, 1750
 Gan so depe in myn herte passe,
 That I it mighte nought arace;
 But in myn herte stille it stood,
 Al bledde I not a drope of blood.
 I was bothe anguissous and trouble 1755
 For the peril that I saw double;
 I niste what to seye or do, Ne gete a leche my woundis †to;
 For neithir thurgh gras ne rote,
 Ne hadde I help of hope ne bote. 1760
 But to the botoun ever-mo
 Myn herte drew; for al my wo,
 My thought was in non other thing.
 For hadde it been in my keping,
 It wolde have brought my lyf agayn. 1765
 For †certainly, I dar wel seyn,
 The sight only, and the savour,
 Allegged muche of my langour.
 Than gan I for to drawe me
 Toward the botoun fair to see; 1770
- And Love hadde gete him, in †a throwe,
 Another arowe into his bowe,
 And for to shete gan him dresse;
 The arowis name was Simplese.
 And whan that Love gan nyghe me nere,
 He drow it up, withouten were, 1776
 And shet at me with al his might,
 So that this arowe anon-right
 Thourghout [myn] eigh, as it was founde,
 Into myn herte hath maad a wounde.
 Thanne I anon dide al my crafte 1781
 For to drawen out the shafte,
 And ther-with-al I sighed eft.
 But in myn herte the heed was left,
 Which ay encresid my desyre, 1785
 Unto the botoun drawe nere;
 And ever, mo that me was wo,
 The more desyr hadde I to go Unto the roser, where that grew
 The freshe botoun so bright of hewe. 1790
 Betir me were have leten be;
 But it bihoved nedes me
 To don right as myn herte bad.
 For ever the body must be lad
 Aftir the herte; in wele and wo, 1795
 Of force togidre they must go.
 But never this archer wolde fyne
 To shete at me with all his pyne,
 And for to make me to him mete.
 The thridde arowe he gan to shete 1800
 Whan best his tyme he mighte espye,
 The which was named Curtesye;
 Inte myn herte it dide avale.
 A-swone I fel, bothe deed and pale;
 Long tyme I lay, and stired nought, 1805
 Til I abraid out of my thought.
 And faste than I avyved me
 To drawe[n] out the shafte of tree;
 But ever the heed was left bihinde
 For ought I counthe pulle or winde, 1810
 So sore it stikid whan I was hit,
 That by no craft I might it flit;
 But anguissous and ful of thought,
 I †felte such wo, my wounde ay wrought,
 That somoned me alway to go 1815
 Toward the rose, that pleased me so;
 But I ne durste in no manere,
 Bicause the archer was so nere.
 For evermore gladly, as I rede,
 Brent child of fyr hath muche drede. 1820
 And, certis yit, for al my payne,

- Though that I sigh yit arwis reyne,
 And grounde quarels sharpe of stele,
 Ne for no payne that I might fele,
 Yit might I not my-silf with-holde 1825
 The faire roser to biholde ;
 For Love me yaf sich hardement
 For to fulfille his commaundement.
 Upon my feet I roos up than Feble, as a foryoundid man ; 1830
 And forth to gon [my] might I sette,
 And for the archer nolde I lette.
 Toward the roser fast I drow ;
 But thornes sharpe mo than y-now
 Ther were, and also thistels thikke, 1835
 And breres, brimme for to prikke,
 That I ne mighte gete grace
 The rowe thornes for to passe,
 To sene the roses fresshe of hewe,
 I must abide, though it me rewe, 1840
 The hegge aboute so thikke was,
 That closid the roses in compas.
 But o thing lyked me right wele ;
 I was so nygh, I mighte fele
 Of the botoun the swote odour, 1845
 And also see the fresshe colour ;
 And that right gretly lyked me,
 That I so neer þit mighte see.
 Sich joye anon therof hadde I,
 That I forgot my malady. 1850
 To sene þit hadde I sich delyt,
 Of sorwe and angre I was al quit,
 And of my woundes that I had þthar ;
 For no-thing lyken me might þmar
 Than dwellen by the roser ay, 1855
 And thennes never to passe away.
 But whan a while I had be thar,
 The God of Love, which al to-shar Myn herte with his arwis kene, þCaste him to yeve me woundis grene.
 He shet at me ful hastily 1861
 An arwe named Company,
 The whiche takel is ful able
 To make these ladies merciable.
 Than I anoon gan chaungen hewe 1865
 For grevaunce of my wounde newe,
 That I agayn fel in swoning,
 And sighed sore in compleyning.
 Sore I compleyed that my sore
 On me gan greven more and more. 1870
 I had non hope of allegaunce ;
 So nigh I drow to desperaunce,
 I rought of dethe ne of lyf,
 Whither that love wolde me dryf.
 If me a martir wolde he make, 1875
 I might his power nought forsake.
 And whyl for anger thus I wookt,
 The God of Love an arowe took ;
 Ful sharp it was and [ful] pugnaunt,
 And it was callid Fair-Semblaunt, 1880
 The which in no wys wol consente,
 That any lover him repente
 To serve his love with herte and alle,
 For any peril that may bifalle.
 But though this arwe was kene grounde
 As any rasour that is founde, 1886
 To cutte and kerve, at the poynt,
 The God of Love it hadde anoynt
 With a precious oynement,
 Somdel to yeve allegement 1890
 Upon the woundes that he had
 Through the body in my herte maad,
 To helpe hir sores, and to cure,
 And that they may the bet endure.
 But yit this arwe, withoute more, 1895
 Made in myn herte a large sore,
 That in ful gret payne I abood.
 But ay the oynement wente abrood ;
 Throughout my woundes large and wyde
 It spredde aboute in every syde ; 1900
 Through whos vertu and whos might Myn herte joyful was and light.
 I had been deed and al to-shent
 But for the precious oynement.
 The shaft I drow out of the arwe, 1905
 Roking for wo right wondir narwe ;
 But the heed which made me smerte,
 Lefte bihinde in myn herte
 With other foure, I dar well say,
 That never wol be take away ; 1910
 But the oynement halp me wela.
 And yit sich sorwe dide I fele
 þOf my woundes fresshe and nowe,
 That al-day I chaunged hewe,
 As men might see in my visage. 1915
 The arwis were so fulle of rage,
 So variaunt of diversitee,
 That men in everich mighte see
 Both gret anoy and eek swetnesse,
 And joye meynt with bittirnesse, 1920
 Now were they esy, now where they wood,
 In hem I felte both harm and good ;
 Now sore without allegement,

Now †softening with oynement ; It softned here, and †prikked there, 1925 Thus ese and anger togider were. The God of Love deliverly Com lepard to me hastily, And seide to me, in gret rape, ' Yeld thee, for thou may not escape ! 1930 May no defence avails thee here ; Therefore I rede mak no daungere. If thou wolt yelde thee hastily, Thou shalt [the] rather have mercy. He is a fool in sikernesse, 1935 That with daunger or stoutnesse Rebellith ther that he shulde plesse ; In such folye is litel ese. Be meek, wher thou must nedis bowe ; To stryve ageyn is nought thy prowte. Come at ones, and have y-do, 1941 For I wol that it be so. Than yeld thee here debonairly.' And I answerid ful humbly, ' Gladly, sir ; at your bidding, 1945 I wol me yelde in alle thing. To your servyse I wol me take ; For god defende that I shulde make Ageyn your bidding resistence ; I wol not doon so gret offence ; 1950 For if I dide, it were no skile. Ye may do with me what ye wile, Save or spille, and also sloo ; Fro you in no wyse may I go. My lyf, my deth, is in your honde, 1955 I may not laste out of your bonde. Pleyn at your list I yelde me, Hoping in herte, that sumtyme ye Comfort and ese shulle me sende ; Or ellis shortly, this is the ende, 1960 Withouten helthe I moot ay dure, But-if ye take me to your cure. Comfort or helthe how shuld I have, Sith ye me harte, but ye me save ? The helthe of †lovers moot be founde Wher-as they token firste hir wounde. And if ye list of me to make 1967 Your prisoner, I wol it take Of herte and wil, fully at gree. Hoolly and pleyn I yelde me, 1970 Withoute feyning or feyntyse, To be governed by your emprise. Of you I here so much prys, I wol ben hool at your devys	For to fulfille your lyking 1975 And repente for no-thing, Hoping to have yit in som tyde Mercy, of that [that] I abyde.' And with that covenauant yeld I me, Anoon down kneling upon my knee, 1980 Profering for to kisse his feet ; But for no-thing he wolde me lete, And seide, ' I love thee bothe and preyse, Sen that thyn answer doth me ese, For thou answerid so curteisly. 1985 For now I wot wel uttirly, That thou art gentil, by thy speche. For though a man fer wolde seche, He shulde not finden, in certeyn, No sich answer of no vileyn ; 1990 For sich a word ne mighte nought Isse out of a vilayns thought. Thou shalt not lesen of thy speche, For [to] thy helping wol I eche, And eek encresen that I may. 1995 But first I wol that thou obey Fully, for thyn avauntage, Anon to do me here homage. And sithe[n] kisse thou shal my mouth, Which to no vilayn was never couth 2000 For to aproche it, ne for to touche ; For sauf †to cherlis I ne vouche That they shulle never neigh it nere. For curteys, and of fair manere, Wel taught, and ful of gentilnesse 2005 He muste ben, that shal me kisse, And also of ful high fraunchyse, That shal atteyne to that emprise. ' And first of o thing warne I thee, That peyne and gret adversitee 2010 He mot endure, and eek travaile, That shal me serve, withoute faile. But ther-ageyns, thee to comforte, And with thy servise to desperte, Thou mayst ful glad and joyful be 2015 So good a maister to have as me, And lord of so high renoun. I bere of Love the gonfanoun, Of Curtesye the banere ; For I am of the silf manere, 2020 Gentil, curteys, meek and free ; That who [so] ever ententif be Me to honoure, doute, and serve, And also that he him observe Fro trespas and fro vilanye, 2025
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

And him governe in curtesye
 With wil and with entencioun,
 For whan he first in my prision
 Is caught, than muste he uttirly,
 Fro thennes-forth ful bisily, 2030
 Caste him gentil for to be,
 If he desyre helpe of me.
 Anoon withouten more delay,
 Withouten daunger or affray,
 I bicom his man anoon, 2035
 And gave him thankes many a oon,
 And kneled down with hondis joynt,
 And made it in my port ful †quoynt;
 The joye wente to myn herte rote.
 Whan I had kissed his mouth so swote,
 I had sich mirthe and sich lykynge, 2041
 It cured me of languissching.
 He askid of me than hostages :-
 'I have,' he seide, '†tan fale homages
 Of oon and other, where I have been 2045 †Disceyved ofte, withouten wena.
 These felouns, fulle of falsitee,
 Have many sythes bigyled me,
 And through falschede hir lust achede,
 Wherof I repente and am agreved. 2051
 And I hem gete in my daungere,
 Hir falschede shulle they bye ful dere.
 But for I love thee, I seye thee pleyn,
 I wol of thee be more certeyn;
 For thee so sore I wol now binde, 2055
 That thou away ne shalt not winde
 For to denyen the covenannt,
 Or doon that is not avenannt.
 That thou were fals it were greet reuthe,
 Sith thou semest so ful of treuthe.' 2060
 'Sire, if thee list to undirstande,
 I merveile thee asking this demande.
 For-why or wherfore shulde ye
 Ostages or borwis aske of me,
 Or any other sikirnesse, 2065
 Sith ye wote, in sothfastnesse,
 That ye have me †surprysed so,
 And hool myn herte †tan me fro,
 That it wol do for me no-thing
 But-if it be at your bidding? 2070
 Myn herte is yours, and myn right nought,
 As it bihoveth, in dede and thought,
 Redy in alle to worche your wille,
 Whether so [it] turne to good or ille.
 So sore it lustith you to plesse, 2075
 No man therof may you †disseise.

Ye have theron set sich justise,
 That it is werreyd in many wise.
 And if ye doute it nolde obeye,
 Ye may therof do make a keye, 2080
 And holde it with you for ostage,
 'Now certis, this is noon outrage,
 Quoth Love, 'and fully I accord;
 For of the body he is ful lord
 That hath the herte in his tresor; 2085
 Outrage it were to asken more.'
 Than of his aumener he drough
 A litel keye, fetys y-nough,
 Which was of gold polissched clere,
 And seide to me, 'With this keye here
 Thyn herte to me now wol I shette; 2091
 For al my jowellis loke and knette
 I binde under this litel keye,
 That no wight may carye awaye;
 This keye is ful of gret poueste.' 2095
 With which anoon he touchid me
 Undir the syde ful softly,
 That he myn herte sodeynly
 Without [al] anoy had spered,
 That yit right nought it hath me dered.
 Whan he had doon his wil al-out, 2101
 And I had put him out of dout,
 'Sire,' I-seide, 'I have right gret wille
 Your lust and plessaunce to fulfille.
 Loke ye my servise take at gree, 2105
 By thilke feith ye owe to me.
 I seye nought for recreaundyse,
 For I nought doute of your servyse.
 But the servaunt travelleth in vayne,
 That for to serven doth his payne 2110
 Unto that lord, which in no wyse
 Can him no thank for his servyse.'
 Love seide, 'Dismaye thee nought,
 Sin thou for encour hast me sought,
 In thank thy servise wol I take, 2115
 And high of †gree I wol thee make,
 If wikkidnesse ne hindre thee;
 But, as I hope, it shal nought be.
 To worship no wight by aventure
 May come, but-if he peyne endure. 2120
 Abyde and suffre thy distresse;
 That hurtith now, it shal be lesse;
 I wot my-silf what may thee save,
 What medicyne thou woldist have.
 And if thy trouthe to me thou kepe, 2125
 I shal unto thyn helping eke,
 To cure thy woundes and make hem clene,

Wher-so they be olde or grene ;
 Thou shalt be holpen, at wordis fewe.
 For certeynly thou shalt wel shewe 2130
 Wher that thou servest with good wille,
 For to complisshen and fulfille
 My comaundementis, day and night,
 Whiche I to lovers yeve of right.'
 ' Ah, sire, for goddis love,' said I, 2135
 ' Er ye passe hens, ententify
 Your comaundementis to me ye say,
 And I shal kepe hem, if I may ;
 For hem to kepen is al my thought.
 And if so be I wot them nought, 2140
 Than may I [sinne] unwitingly.
 Wherefore I pray you enterely,
 With al myn herte, me to lere,
 That I trespasse in no manere.'
 The god of love than chargid me 2145
 Anoon, as ye shal here and see,
 Word by word, by right emprise,
 So as the Romance shal devyse.
 The maister leith his tyme to lere,
 Whan the disciple wol not here. 2150
 It is but veyn on him to swinke,
 That on his lerning wol not thinke.
 Who-so lust love, let him entende,
 For now the Romance †inneth amende.
 Now is good to here, in fay, 2155
 If any be that can it say,
 And poynte it as the resoun is Set ; for other-gate, y-wis,
 It shal nought wel in alle thing
 Be brought to good undirstonding ; 2160
 For a reder that poyntith ille
 A good sentence may ofte spille.
 The book is good at the ending,
 Maad of newe and lusty thing ;
 For who-so wol the ending here, 2165
 The crafte of love he shal now lere,
 If that he wol so long abyde,
 Til I this Romance may unhyde,
 And undo the signiffaunce
 Of this dreme into Romaunce. 2170
 The sothfastnesse, that now is hid,
 Without coverture shal be kid,
 Whan I undon have this dreming,
 Wherin no word is of lesing.
 ' Vilany, at the biginning, 2175
 I wol,' †said Love, ' over alle thing,
 Thou leve, if thou wolt [not] be Fals, and trespasse ageynes me.

I curse and blame generally
 Alle hem that loven vilany ; 2180
 For vilany makith vilany,
 And by his dedis a cherle is seyn.
 These vilayns arn without pitee,
 Frenshipe, love, and al bounthe.
 I nil receyve †to my servyse 2185
 Hem that ben vilayns of emprise.
 ' But undirstonde in thyn entent,
 That this is not myn entement,
 To clepe no wight in no ages
 Only gentil for his linages. 2190
 But who-so [that] is vertuons,
 And in his port nought outrageous,
 Whan sich oon thou seest thee biforn,
 Though he be not gentil born,
 Thou mayst wel seyn, this is †a soth, 2195
 That he is gentil, bicause he doth
 As longeth to a gentilman ;
 Of hem non other deme I can.
 For certeynly, withoutan drede,
 A cherle is demed by his dede, 2200
 Of hys or lowe, as ye may see,
 Or of what kinrede that he be.
 Ne say nought, for noon yvel wille,
 Thing that is to holden styll ;
 It is no worship to misseye. 2205
 Thou mayst ensample take of Keye,
 That was somtyme, for misseying,
 Hated bothe of olde and ying ;
 As fer as Gaweyn, the worthy,
 Was preyred for his curtesy, 2210
 Keye was hated, for he was fel,
 Of word dispitous and cruel.
 Wherefore be wyse and aqueyntable,
 Goodly of word, and resonable
 Bothe to lesse and eek to mar. 2215
 And whan thou comest ther men ar,
 Loke that thou have in custom ay
 First to salve hem, if thou may :
 And if it falle, that of hem som
 Salve thee first, be not dom, 2220
 But quyte him curteisly anoon
 Without abiding, er they goon.
 ' For no-thing eek thy tunge applye
 To speke wordis of ribaudye.
 To vilayn speche in no degree 2225
 Lat never thy lippe unbounden be.
 For I nought holde him, in good feith,
 Curteys, that foule wordis seith.
 And alle wimmen serve and preyse,

And to thy power hir honour reyse. 2230
 And if that any missayere
 Dispyse wimmen, that thou mayst here,
 Blame him, and bidde him holde him stille.
 And set thy might and al thy wille
 Wimmen and ladies for to plesse, 2235
 And to do thing that may hem ese,
 That they ever speke good of thee,
 For so thou mayst best preyed be.
 ' Loke fro pryde thou kepe thee wele ;
 For thou mayst bothe perceyve and fele,
 That pryde is bothe foly and sinne ; 2241
 And he that pryde hath, him withinne,
 Ne may his herte, in no wyse,
 Meken ne souplen to servyse.
 For pryde is founde, in every part, 2245
 Contrarie unto Loves art.
 And he that loveth trewely
 Shulde him contene jolily,
 Withouten pryde in sondry wyse,
 And him disgysen in queyntyse, 2250
 For queynt array, withouten drede,
 Is no-thing proud, who takith hede ;
 For fresh array, as men may see,
 Withouten pryde may ofte be.
 ' Mayntene thy-silf aftir thy rent, 2255
 Of robe and eek of garnement ;
 For many sythe fair clothing
 A man amendith in mich thing.
 And loke alwey that they be shape,
 What garnement that thou shalt make,
 Of him that can [hem] beste do, 2261
 With al that perteyneth therto.
 Poyntis and sleeves be wel sittand,
 Right and streight \uparrow upon the hand.
 Of shoon and botes, newe and faire, 2265
 Loke at the leest thou have a paire ;
 And that they sitte so fetisly,
 That these rude may uttirly
 Merveyle, sith that they sitte so pleyn,
 How they come on or of ageyn. 2270
 Were streite gloves, with \uparrow aumenere
 Of silk ; and alwey with good chere
 Thou yeve, if thou have richesse ;
 And if thou have nought, spend the lesse.
 Alwey be merry, if thou may, 2275
 But waste not thy good alway.
 Have hat of floures fresh as May,
 Chapelet of roses of Whitsonday ;
 For sich array ne \uparrow cost but lyte.
 Thyn hondis wash, thy teeth make whyte,

And let no filtho upon thee be. 2281
 Thy nailes blak if thou mayst see,
 Voide it away deliverly,
 And kembe thyn heed right jolily.
 \uparrow Fard not thy visage in no wyse, 2285
 For that of love is not th' emprise ;
 For love doth haten, as I finde,
 A beaute that cometh not of kinde.
 Alwey in herte I rede thee
 Glad and mery for to be, 2290
 And be as joyful as thou can ;
 Love hath no joye of sorowful man.
 That yvel is ful of curtesye
 That \uparrow lauhwith in his maladye ;
 For ever of love the siknesse 2295
 Is meynd with swete and bitternesse.
 The sore of love is merveilous ;
 For now the lover [is] joyous,
 Now can he pleyne, now can he grone,
 Now can he singen, now maken mone.
 To-day he pleyne for hevinesse, 2301
 To-morowe he \uparrow pleyeth for jolynesse.
 The lyf of love is ful contrarie,
 Which stoundemele can ofte varie.
 But if thou canst [som] mirthis make, 2305
 That men in gree wole gladly take,
 Do it goodly, I comaunde thee ;
 For men sholde, wher-so-ever they be,
 Do thing that hem [best] sitting is,
 For therof cometh good loos and pris. 2310
 Wher-of that thou be vertuous,
 Ne be not strange ne dangerous.
 For if that thou good rider be,
 Prike gladly, that men may se.
 In armes also if thou conne, 2315
 Pursue, til thou a name hast wonne.
 And if thy voice be fair and clere,
 Thou shalt maken no gret daungere
 Whan to singe they goodly preye ;
 It is thy worship for to obeye. 2320
 Also to you it longith ay
 To harpe and giterne, daunce and play ;
 For if he can wel foote and daunce,
 It may him greetly do avaunce.
 Among eek, for thy lady sake, 2325
 Songes and complayntes that thou make ;
 For that wol \uparrow meve [hem] in hir herte,
 Whan they reden of thy smerte.
 Loke that no man for scarce thee holde,
 For that may greve thee many-folde. 2330
 Resoun wol that a lover be

In his yiftes more large and free
 Than cherles that been not of loving,
 For who ther-of can any thing,
 He shal be leef ay for to yeve, 2335
 In †Loves lore who so wolde leyn;
 For he that, through a sodeyn sight,
 Or for a kissing, anon-right
 Yaf hool his herte in wille and thought,
 And to him-silf kepith right nought, 2340
 Aftir †swich yift, is good resoun,
 He yeve his good in abandoun.
 ' Now wol I shortly here reherce,
 Of that [that] I have seid in verse,
 Al the sentence by and by, 2345
 In wordis fewe compendiously,
 That thou the bet mayst on hem thinke,
 Whether-so it be thou wake or winke;
 For [that] the wordis litel greve
 A man to kepe, whanne it is breve. 2350
 ' Who-so with Love wol goon or ryde
 He mot be curteys, and void of pryde,
 Mery and fullle of jolite,
 And of largesse alosed be.
 ' First I joyne thee, here in penaunce,
 That ever, withoute repentaunce, 2356
 Thou set thy thought in thy loving,
 To laste withoute repenting;
 And thanke upon thy mirthis swete,
 That shal folowe aftir whan ye mete. 2360
 ' And for thou trewe to love shalt be,
 I wol, and [eek] comaunde thee,
 That in oo place thou sette, al hool,
 Thyn herte, withouten halven dool,
 For trecherie, †in sikernesse; 2365
 For I lovede never doublenesse.
 To many his herte that wol depart,
 Everiche shal have but litel part.
 But of him drede I me right nought,
 That in oo place settith his thought. 2370
 Therefore in oo place it setta,
 And let it never thennes fletta.
 For if thou yevest it in lening,
 I holde it but a wrecchid thing:
 Therefore yeve it hool and quyte, 2375
 And thou shalt have the more merite.
 If it be lent, than aftir soon,
 The bountee and the thank is doon;
 But, in love, free yeven thing
 Bequyrith a gret guerdoning. 2380 Yeve it in yift al quit fully,
 And make thy yift debonairly;

For men that yift [wol] holde more dere
 That yeven is with gladsome chere.
 That yift nought to preisen is 2385
 That man yeveth, maugre his.
 Whan thou hast yeven thyn herte, as I
 Have seid thee here [al] openly,
 Than adventures shulle thee falle,
 Which harde and hevye been withalle. 2390
 For ofte whan thou bithenkist thee
 Of thy loving, wher-so thou be,
 Fro folk thou must depart in hy,
 That noon perceyve thy malady,
 But hyde thyn harm thou must alone, 2395
 And go forth sole, and make thy mone.
 Thou shalt no whyl be in oo stat,
 But whylom cold and whylom hat;
 Now reed as rose, now yelowe and fade.
 Such sorowe, I trowe, thou never hade;
 Cotidien, ne [yit] quarteyne, 2401
 It is nat so ful of peyna.
 For ofte tymes it shal falle
 In love, among thy peynes alle,
 That thou thy-self, al hoolly, 2405
 Foryeten shalt so utterly,
 That many tymes thou shalt be
 Stille as an image of tree,
 Dom as a stoon, without stering
 Of foot or hond, without speking; 2410
 Than, sone after al thy peyne,
 To memorie shalt thou come ageyn,
 A[s] man abashed wondre sore,
 And after sighen more and more.
 For wit thou wel, withouten wene, 2415
 In swich astat ful oft have been
 That have the yvel of love assayd,
 Wher-through thou art so dismayd.
 ' After, a thought shal take thee so,
 That thy love is to fer thee fro: 2420
 Thou shalt say, " God, what may this be,
 That I ne may my lady see?
 Myne herte aloun is to her go,
 And I abyde al sole in wo,
 Departed fro myn owne thought, 2425
 And with myne eyen see right nought.
 Alas, myn eyen †sende I ne may,
 My careful herte to conway!
 Myn hertes gyde but they be,
 I praise no-thing what ever they see. 2430
 Shul they abyde thanne? nay;
 But goon †visyte without delay
 That myn herte desyreth so.

For certeynly, but-if they go,
 A fool my-self I may wel holde, 2435
 Whan I ne see what myn herte wolde.
 Wherfore I wol gon her to seen,
 Or esed shal I never been,
 But I have som tokening."
 Then gost thou forth without dwelling ;
 But ofte thou faylest of thy desyre, 2441
 Er thou mayst come hir any nere,
 And wastest in vayn thy passage.
 Than fallest thou in a newe rage ;
 For wante of sight thou ginnest morne,
 And homward pensif dost returne. 2446
 In greet mischeef than shalt thou be,
 For than agayn shal come to thee
 Sighes and pleyntes, with newe wo,
 That no icching prikketh so. 2450
 Who wot it nought, he may go lere
 Of hem that byen love so dere.
 ' No-thing thyn herte appesen may,
 That oft thou wolt goon and assay,
 If thou mayst seen, by aventure, 2455
 Thy lyves joy, thyn hertis cure ;
 So that, by grace if thou might Atteyne of hir to have a sight,
 Than shalt thou doon non other dede
 But with that sight thyn eyen fede. 2460
 That faire fresh whan thou mayst see,
 Thyn herte shal so ravished be,
 That never thou woldest, thy thankis, lete,
 Ne remove, for to see that swete.
 The more thou seest in sothfastnesse, 2465
 The more thou †coveytest of that swet-
 nesse ;
 The more thyn herte brenneth in fyr,
 The more thyn herte is in desyr.
 For who considreth every del,
 It may be lykned wondir wel, 2470
 The peyne of love, unto a fere ;
 For ever [the] more thou neighest nere †Thought, or who-so that it be,
 For verray sothe I telle it thee,
 The hatter ever shal thou brenne, 2475
 As experience shal thee kenne.
 Wher-so [thou] comest in any cost,
 Who is next fyr, he brenneth most.
 And yit forsothe, for al thyn hete,
 Though thou for love swelte and swete,
 Ne for no-thing thou felen may, 2481
 Thou shalt not willen to passe away.
 And though thou go, yet must thee nede

Thenke al-day on hir fairhede,
 Whom thou bihelde with so good wille ;
 And holde thyself bigyled ille, 2486
 That thou ne haddest non hardement
 To shewe hir ought of thyn entent.
 Thyn herte ful sore thou wolt dispyse,
 And eek repreve of cowardyse, 2490
 That thou, so dulle in every thing,
 Were dom for drede, without speking,
 Thou shalt eek thenke thou didest foly.
 That thou wert hir so faste by,
 And durst not aunter thee to say 2495
 Som-thing, er thou cam away ;
 For thou haddist no more wonne,
 To speke of hir whan thou bigonne :
 But †yf she wolde, for thy sake,
 In armes goodly thee have take, 2500
 It shulde have be more worth to thee
 Than of tresour greet plentea.
 ' Thus shalt thou morne and eek com-
 pleyn,
 And gete enchesoun to goon ageyn
 Unto thy walk, or to thy place, 2505
 Where thou biheld hir fleshly face.
 And never, for fals suspeccioun,
 Thou woldest finde occasioun
 For to gon unto hir hous.
 So art thou thanne desirous 2510
 A sight of hir for to have,
 If thou thine honour mightest save,
 Or any erand mightist make Thider, for thy loves sake ;
 Ful fayn thou woldist, but for drede 2515
 Thou gost not, lest that men take hede.
 Wherfore I rede, in thy going,
 And also in thyn ageyn-coming,
 Thou be wel war that men ne wit ;
 Feyne thee other cause than it 2520
 To go that weye, or faste by ;
 To hele wel is no folye.
 And if so be it happe thee
 That thou thy love ther mayst see,
 In siker wyse thou hir salewe, 2525
 Wherwith thy colour wol transmewe,
 And eke thy blood shal al to-quake,
 Thy hewe eek chaungen for hir sake.
 But word and wit, with chere ful pale,
 Shul wante for to telle thy tale. 2530
 And if thou mayst so fer-forth winne,
 That thou [thy] resoun durst biginne,
 And woldist seyn three thingis or mo,

Thou shalt ful scarsaly seyn the two.
 Though thou bithenke thes never so wel,
 Thou shalt foryete yit somdel, 2536
 But-if thou dele with trecherye.
 For fals lovers mowe al folye
 Seyn, what hem lust, withouten drede,
 They be so double in hir falskede ; 2540
 For they in herte kunne thenke a thing
 And seyn another, in hir speking.
 And whan thy speche is endid al,
 Right thus to thee it shal bifal ;
 If any word than come to minde, 2545
 That thou to seye hast left bihinde,
 Than thou shalt brenne in greet martyr ;
 For thou shalt brenne as any fyr.
 This is the stryf and eke the affray,
 And the batail that lastith ay. 2550
 This bargeyn ende may never take,
 But-if that she thy pees wil make.
 ' And whan the night is comen, anon
 A thousand angres shal come upon.
 To bedde as fast thou wolt thee dight, 2555
 Where thou shalt have but smal delyt ;
 For whan thou wenest for to slepe,
 So ful of peyne shalt thou crepe,
 Sterte in thy bedde aboute ful wyde,
 And turne ful ofte on every syde ; 2560
 Now downward groffe, and now upright,
 And walowe in wo the longe night ;
 Thyne armis shalt thou sprede abrede,
 As man in werre were †forwerreyd.
 Than shal thee come a remembraunce 2566
 Of hir shape and hir semblaunce
 Wherto non other may be pere.
 And wite thou wel, withoute were,
 That thes shal †seme, somtyme that night,
 That thou hast hir, that is so bright, 2570
 Naked bitwene thyn armes there,
 Al sothfastnesse as though it were.
 Thou shalt make castels than in Spayne,
 And dreme of joye, al but in wayne,
 And thes delyten of right nought, 2575
 Whyl thou so slomrest in that thought,
 That is so swete and delitable,
 The which, in soth, nis but a fable,
 For it ne shal no whyle laste.
 Than shalt thou sighe and wepe faste, 2580
 And say, " Dere god, what thing is this ?
 My dreme is turned al amis,
 Which was ful swete and apparent,
 But now I wake, it is al shent

Now yede this mery thought away ! 2585
 Twenty tymes upon a day
 I wolde this thought wolde come ageyn,
 For it alleggith wel my peyn.
 It makith me ful of joyful thought,
 It sleeth me, that it lastith nought. 2590
 A, lord ! why nil ye me socoure,
 The joye, I trowe, that I langoure ?
 The deth I wolde me shulde slo Whyl I lye in hir armes two.
 Myn harm is hard, withouten wene, 2595
 My greet unese ful ofte I mene.
 But wolde Love do so I might Have fully joye of hir so bright,
 My peyne were quit me richely.
 Allas, to greet a thing aske I ! 2600
 It is but foly, and wrong wening,
 To aske so outrageous a thing.
 And who-so askith folily,
 He moot be warned hastily ;
 And I ne wot what I may say, 2605
 I am so fer out of the way ;
 For I wolde have ful gret lykynge
 And ful gret joye of lasse thinge.
 For wolde she, of hir gentilnesse,
 Withouten more, me onis kesse, 2610
 It were to me a greet guerdoun,
 Releses of al my passiou.
 But it is hard to come therto ;
 Al is but foly that I do,
 So high I have myn herto set, 2615
 Where I may no comfort get.
 †I noot wher I sey wel or nought ;
 But this I wot wel in my thought,
 That it were †bet of hir aloon,
 For to stinte my wo and moon, 2620
 A loke on †me y-cast goodly,
 †Than for to have, al utterly,
 Of another al hool the play.
 A ! lord ! wher I shal hyde the day
 That ever she shal my lady be ? 2625
 He is ful cured that may hir see.
 A ! god ! whan shal the dawning spring ?
 To †ly thus is an angry thing ;
 I have no joye thus here to ly
 Whan that my love is not me by. 2630
 A man to lyen hath gret disese,
 Which may not slepe ne reste in ese.
 I wolde it dawed, and were now day,
 And that the night were went away ;
 For were it day, I wolde upryse. 2635

A! slowe sonne, shew thyn enpryse!
 Speed thee to sprede thy bemis bright,
 And chace the derknesse of the night,
 To putte away the stoundes stronge,
 Which in me lasten al to longe." 2640
 'The night shalt thou contene so,
 Withoute rest, in peyne and wo;
 If ever thou knewe of love distresse,
 Thou shalt mowe lerne in that siknesse.
 And thus enduring shalt thou ly, 2645
 And ryse on morwe up erly
 Out of thy bedde, and harnays thee
 Er ever dawning thou mayst see.
 Al privily than shalt thou goon,
 What †weder it be, thy-silf aloon, 2650
 For reyn, or hayl, for snow, for slete,
 Thider she dwellith that is so swete,
 The which may falle aslepe be,
 And thenkith but litel upon thee.
 Than shalt thou goon, ful foule aferd; 2655
 Loke if the gate be unsperd,
 And waite without in wo and peyn,
 Ful yvel a-colde in winde and reyn.
 Than shal thou go the dore bifore,
 If thou maist fynde any score, 2660
 Or hole, or reft, what ever it were;
 Than shalt thou stoupe, and lay to ere,
 If they within a-slepe be;
 I mene, alle save thy lady free.
 Whom waking if thou mayst aspye, 2665
 Go put thy-silf in jupartye,
 To aske grace, and thee bimene,
 That she may wite, withouten wene,
 That thou [a]night no rest hast had,
 So sore for hir thou were bistad, 2670
 Wommen wel ought pite to take
 Of hem that sorwen for hir sake.
 And loke, for love of that relyke,
 That thou thenke non other lyke,
 For †whom thou hast so greet annoy, 2675
 †Shal kisse thee er thou go away,
 And hold that in ful gret deyntee.
 And, for that no man shal thee see
 Bifore the hous, ne in the way,
 Loke thou be goon ageyn er day. 2680
 Suche coming, and such going,
 Such hevynesse, and such walking,
 Makith lovers, withouten wene,
 Under hir clothes pale and lene,
 For Love leveth colour ne cleernesse; 2685
 Who loveth trewe hath no fatnesse.

Thou shalt wel by thy-selfe see
 That thou must nedis assayed be.
 For men that shape hem other wey
 Falsly her ladies to bitray, 2690
 It is no wonder though they be fat;
 With false othes hir loves they gat;
 For oft I see suche losengeours Fatter than abbatis or priours.
 'Yet with o thing I thee charge, 2695
 That is to seye, that thou be large Unto the mayd that hir doth serve,
 So best hir thank thou shalt deserve.
 Yeve hir yiftes, and get hir grace,
 For so thou may [hir] thank purchace, 2700
 That she thee worthy holde and free,
 Thy lady, and alle that may thee see.
 Also hir servauntes worshipe ay,
 And plesse as muche as thou may;
 Gret good through hem may come to thee,
 Bicause with hir they been prive. 2705
 They shal hir telle how they thee fand
 Curteis and wys, and wel doand,
 And she shal preyse [thee] wel the †mare.
 Loke out of londe thou be not †fare; 2710
 And if such cause thou have, that thee
 Bihoveth †gon out of contree,
 Leve hool thyn herte in hostage,
 Til thou ageyn make thy passage.
 Think long to see the swete thing 2715
 That hath thyn herte in hir keping.
 'Now have I told thee, in what wyse
 A lover shal do me servyse.
 Do it than, if thou wolt have
 The mede that thou aftir crave.' 2720
 Whan Love al this had boden me,
 I seide him — 'Sire, how may it be
 That lovers may in such manere
 Endure the peyne ye have seid here?
 I mervyle me wonder faste, 2725
 How any man may live or laste
 In such peyne, and such brenning,
 In sorwe and thought, and such sighing,
 Ay unrelesed wo to make,
 Whether so it be they slepe or wake. 2730
 In such annoy continually,
 As helpe me god, this mervelle I,
 How man, but he were maad of stele,
 Might live a month, such paynes to fele.'
 The God of Love than seide me, 2735
 'Freend, by the feith I owe to thee,
 May no man have good, but he it by.

A man loveth more tendirly
 The thing that he hath bought most dere.
 For wite thou wel, withouten were, 2740
 In thank that thing is taken more,
 For which a man hath suffred sora.
 Certis, no wo ne may atteyne
 Unto the sore of loves payne.
 Non yvel therto ne may amounte, 2745
 No more than a man [may] counte
 The drops that of the water be.
 For drye as wel the grete see
 Thou mightist, as the harmes telle
 Of hem that with Love dwelle 2750
 In servyse; for payne hem sleeth,
 And that ech man wolde flee the deeth,
 And trowe they shulde never escape,
 Nere that hope couthe hem make Glad as man in prisoun set, 2755
 And may not geten for to et
 But barly-breed, and watir pure,
 And lyeth in vermin and in ordure;
 With alle this, yit can he live,
 Good hope such comfort hath him yive,
 Which maketh wene that he shal be 2761
 Delivered and come to liberté;
 In fortune is [his] fulle trust.
 Though he lye in strawe or dust,
 In hope is al his susteyning. 2765
 And so for lovers, in hir wening,
 Whiche Love hath shit in his prisoun;
 Good-Hope is hir salvacioun.
 Good-Hope, how sore that they smerte,
 Yeveth hem bothe wille and herte 2770
 To profre hir body to martyre;
 For Hope so sore doth hem desyre
 To suffre ech harm that men devyse,
 For joye that †aftir shal aryse.
 ' Hope, in desire [to] cacche victorie;
 In Hope, of love is al the glorie, 2776
 For Hope is al that love may yive;
 Nere Hope, ther shulde no lover live.
 Blessid be Hope, which with desyre
 Avaunceth lovers in such manere. 2780
 Good-Hope is curteis for to please,
 To kepe lovers from al disesa.
 Hope kepith his lond, and wol abyde,
 For any peril that may betyde;
 For Hope to lovers, as most cheef, 2785
 Doth hem endure[n] al mischeef;
 Hope is her help, whan mister is.
 And I shal yeve thee eek, y-wis,

Three other thingis, that greet solas
 Doth to hem that be in my las. 2790
 ' The first[e] good that may be founde,
 To hem that in my lace be bounde,
 Is Swete-Thought, for to recorde
 Thing wherwith thou canst accorde
 Best in thyn herte, wher she be; 2795 †Thought in absence is good to thee.
 Whan any lover doth compleyne,
 And liveth in distresse and peyne,
 Than Swete-Thought shal come, as blyve,
 Away his angre for to dryve. 2800
 It makith lovers have remembrance
 Of comfort, and of high plesaunce,
 That Hope hath hight him for to winne
 For Thought anon than shal biginne,
 As far, god wot, as he can finde, 2805
 To make a mirroure of his minde;
 For to biholde he wol not lette.
 Hir person he shal afore him sette,
 Hir laughing eyen, persannt and clere,
 Hir shape, hir fourme, hir goodly chere,
 Hir mouth that is so gracious, 2811
 So swete, and eek so saverous;
 Of alle hir fetures he shal take hede,
 His eyen with alle hir limes fede.
 ' Thus Swete-Thenking shal aswage 2815
 The payne of lovers, and hir rage.
 Thy joye shal double, withoute gesse,
 Whan thou thankist on hir semlinesse,
 Or of hir laughing, or of hir chere,
 That to thee made thy lady dere. 2820
 This comfort wol I that thou take;
 And if the next thou wolt forsake
 Which is not lesse saverous,
 Thou shuldist †been to dangerous.
 ' The secounde shal be Swete-Speche,
 That hath to many oon be leche, 2826
 To bringe hem out of wo and were,
 And helpe many a bachilere;
 And many a lady sent scoure,
 That have loved par-amour, 2830
 Through speking, whan they mighten
 here
 Of hir lovers, to hem so dere.
 To †hem it voidith al hir smerte,
 The which is closed in hir herte.
 In herte it makith hem glad and light,
 Speche, whan they mowe have sight. 2836
 And therefore now it cometh to minde
 In olde dawes, as I finde,

That clerkis writen that hir knewe, Ther was a lady fresh of hewe,	2840	For that wol comfort thee right wel, And thou shalt holde thee wel apayed, Whan such a freend thou hast assayed.
Which of hir love made a song, On him for to remembre among, In which she seide, "Whan that I here Speken of him that is so dere, To me it voidith al [my] smerte,	2845	'The thriddle good of greet comfort That yeveth to lovers most disport, Comith of sight and biholding,	2895
Y-wis, he sit so nere myn herte. To speke of him, at eve or morwe, It cureth me of al my sorwe. To me is noon so high plesance As of his persone daliaunce."	2850	That clepid is Swete-Loking, The whiche may noon ese do, Whan thou art fer thy lady fro ; Wherfore thou prese alwey to be In place, where thou mayst hir se.	2900
She wist ful wel that Swete-Speking Comfortith in ful muche thing. Hir love she had ful wel assayed, Of him she was ful wel apayed ; To speke of him hir joye was set.	2855	For it is thing most amerous, Most delitable and saverous, For to aswage a mannes sorowe, To sene his lady by the morowe. For it is a ful noble thinge	2905
Therefore I rede thee that thou get A felowe that can wel concele And kepe thy counsel, and wel hele, To whom go shewe hoolly thyn herte, Bothe wele and wo, joye and smerte :	2860	Whan thyn eyen have meting With that relyke precious, Wherof they be so desirous. But al day after, soth it is, They have no drede to faren amis,	2910
To gete comfort to him thou go, And privily, between yow two, Ye shal speke of that goodly thing, That hath thyn herte in hir keping ; Of hir beaute and hir semblance,	2865	Ne [yit] non other maner peyn. For whan thyn eyen were thus in blis, Yit of hir curtesaye, y-wis, Aloun they can not have hir joye,	2915
And of hir goodly countenaunce. Of al thy state thou shalt him sey, And aske him counsel how thou may Do any thing that may hir plesse ; For it to thee shal do gret ese,	2870	But to the herte they [it] conveye : Part of hir blis to him †they sende, Of al this harm to make an ende. The eye is a good messangere, Which can to the herte in such manere
That he may wite thou trust him so, Bothe of thy wele and of thy wo. And if his herte to love be set, His companye is muche the bet, For resoun wol, he shewe to thee	2875	Tidyngis sende, that [he] hath seen, To voide him of his peynes cleen. Wherof the herte reioyseth so That a gret party of his wo Is voided, and put away to flight.	2925
Al uttirly his privite ; And what she is he loveth so, To thee pleynly he shal unde, Withoute drede of any shame, Bothe telle hir renoun and hir name.	2880	Right as the darknesse of the night Is chased with clerenesse of the mone, Right so is al his wo ful sone Devoided clene, whan that the sight Biholden may that freshe wight	2930
Than shal he forther, ferre and nere, And namely to thy lady dere, In siker wyse ; ye, every other Shal helpen as his owne brother, In trouthe withoute doublenesse,	2885	That the herte desyreth so, That al his darknesse is ago ; For than the herte is al at ese, Whan they seen that [that] may hem plesse. 'Now have I †thee declared al-out,	2935
And kepen cloos in sikernesse. For it is noble thing, in fay, To have a man thou darst say Thy prive counsel every del ;		Of that thou were in drede and dout ; For I have told thee faithfully What thee may curen utterly, And alle lovers that wole be Feithful, and ful of stabilité.	2940

Good-Hope alwey kepe by thy syde,
 And Swete-Thought make eek abyde,
 Swete-Loking and Swete-Speche;
 Of alle thyn harmes they shal be leche.
 Of every thou shalt have greet plesaunce;
 If thou canst byde in sufferaunce, 2946
 And serve wel without feynytise,
 Thou shalt be quit of thyn emprise,
 With more guerdoun, if that thou live;
 But al this tyme this I thee yive.' 2950

The God of Love whan al the day
 Had taught me, as ye have herd say,
 And enfourmed compendiously,
 He vanished away al soodeynly,
 And I alone lefte, al sole, 2955
 So ful of compleynt and of dole,
 For I saw no other man ther me by.
 My woundes me greved wondirly;
 Me for to curen no-thing I knew,
 Save the botoun bright of hew, 2960
 Wheron was set hoodly my thought;
 Of other comfort knew I nought,
 But it were through the God of Love;
 I knew nat elles to my bihove
 That might me ese or comfort gete, 2965
 But-if he wolde him entermete.

The roser was, withoute doute,
 Closed with an hegge withoute,
 As ye to-forn have herd me seyn;
 And fast I bisied, and wolde fayn 2970
 Have passed the hays, if I might Have geten in by any slight Unto the botoun so fair to see.
 But ever I dradde blamed to be,
 If men wolde have suspescioun 2975
 That I wolde of entencioun
 Have stole the roses that ther were;
 Therefore to entre I was in fere.
 But at the last, as I bithought
 Whether I sholde passe or nought, 2980
 I saw com with a gladde chere
 To me, a lusty bachelere,
 Of good stature, and of good hight,
 And Bialacoil forsothe he hight.
 Some he was to Curtesy, 2985
 And he me graunted ful gladly
 The passage of the outer hay,
 And seide:—' Sir, how that ye may Passe, if [it] your will be,
 The freshe roser for to see, 2990
 And ye the swete savour fele.

Your † warrant may [I be] right welc;
 So thou thee kepe fro folye,
 Shal no man do thee vilanye.
 If I may helpe you in ought, 2995
 I shal not feyne, dredeth nought;
 For I am bounde to your sarryse,
 Fully devoide of feynytise.'
 Than unto Bialacoil saide I,
 ' I thank you, sir, ful hertely, 3000
 And your biheest [I] take at gree,
 That ye so goodly profer me;
 To you it cometh of greet fraunchysc,
 That ye me profer your sarryse.'
 Than aftir, ful deliverly, 3005
 Through the breres anon wente I,
 Wherof encombred was the hay.
 I was wel plesed, the soth to say,
 To see the botoun fair and swote,
 So freshe spronge out of the rote. 3010
 And Bialacoil me served wel,
 Whan I so nygh me mighte fele
 Of the botoun the swete odour,
 And so lusty hewed of colour.
 But than a cherl (foule him bityde!) 3015
 Bisyde the roses gan him hyde,
 To kepe the roses of that roser,
 Of whom the name was Daunger.
 This cherl was hid there in the greves,
 Covered with grasse and with leves, 3020
 To spye and take whom that he fond Unto that roser putte an hond.
 He was not sole, for ther was mo;
 For with him were other two
 Of wikked maners, and yvel fame. 3025
 That oon was clepid, by his name,
 Wikked-Tonge, god yeve him sorwe!
 For neither at eve, ne at morwe,
 He can of no man [no] good speke,
 On many a just man doth he wreke. 3030
 Ther was a womman eek, that hight
 Shame, that, who can reken right,
 Trespas was hir fadir name,
 Hir moder Resoun; and thus was Shame
 [On lyve] brought of these ilk two. 3035
 And yet had Trespas never ado
 With Resoun, ne never ley hir by,
 He was so hidous and ugly,
 I mene, this that Trespas hight;
 But Resoun conceyveth, of a sight, 3040
 Shame, of that I spak aforn.
 And whan that Shame was thus born,

It was ordeyned, that Chastitee Shulde of the roser lady be,
 Which, of the botouns more and las, 3045
 With sondry folk assailed was,
 That she ne wiste what to do.
 For Venus hir assailith so,
 That night and day from hir she stal
 Botouns and roses over-al. 3050
 To Resoun than prayeth Chastitee, Whom Venus †flemed over the see,
 That she hir doughter wolde hir lene,
 To kepe the roser fresh and grene.
 Anoon Resoun to Chastitee 3055
 Is fully assented that it be,
 And grauntid hir, at hir request,
 That Shame, bicause she is honest,
 Shal keper of the roser be.
 And thus to kepe it ther were three, 3060
 That noon shulde hardy be ne bold
 (Were he yong, or were he old)
 Ageyn hir wille away to bere Botouns ne roses, that ther were.
 I had wel sped, had I not been 3065
 Aawayted with these three, and seen.
 For Bialacoil, that was so fair,
 So gracious and debonair,
 Quitte him to me ful curteisly,
 And, me to plesse, bad that I 3070
 Shuld drawe me to the botoun nere ;
 Prese in, to touche the rosere
 Which bar the roses, he yaf me leve ;
 This graunt ne might but litel greve.
 And for he saw it lyked me, 3075
 Right nygh the botoun pullede he
 A leef al grene, and yaf me that,
 The which ful nygh the botoun sat ;
 I made [me] of that leef ful queynt.
 And whan I felte I was aqueynt 3080
 With Bialacoil, and so prive,
 I wende al at my wille had be.
 Then wax I hardy for to tel
 To Bialacoil how me bifel
 Of Love, that took and wounded me, 3085
 And seide : ' Sir, so mote I thee,
 I may no joye have in no wyse,
 Upon no syde, but it ryse ;
 For sithe (if I shal not feyne)
 In herte I have had so gret payne, 3090
 So gret annoy, and such affray,
 That I ne wot what I shal say ;
 I drede your wrath to disserve.

Lever me were, that knyves kerve
 My body shulde in pecis smalle, 3095
 Than in any wyse it shulde falle
 That ye wratthed shulde been with me.'
 ' Sey boldly thy wille,' quod he,
 ' I nil be wroth, if that I may, 3099
 For nought that thou shalt to me say.'
 Thanne seide I, ' Sir, not you displese
 To knowen of my greet unese,
 In which only love hath me brought ;
 For peynes greet, disese and thought,
 Fro day to day he doth me drye ; 3105
 Supposeth not, sir, that I lya.
 In me fyve woundes dide he make,
 The sore of whiche shal never slake
 But ye the botoun graunte me,
 Which is most passaunt of beautee, 3110
 My lyf, my deth, and my martyre,
 And tresour that I most desyre.'
 Than Bialacoil, affrayed all,
 Seyde, ' Sir, it may not fall ;
 That ye desire, it may not †ryse. 3115
 What? wolde ye shende me in this wyse?
 A mochel foolle than I were,
 If I suffrid you away to bere
 The fresh botoun, so fair of sight.
 For it were neither skile ne right 3120
 Of the roser ye broke the rind,
 Or take the rose afor his kind ;
 Ye ar not courteys to aske it.
 Lat it stil on the roser sit,
 And †growe til it amended be, 3125
 And parfity come to beaute.
 I nolde not that it pulled wer
 Fro the roser that it ber,
 To me it is so leef and dere.'
 With that sterte out anoon Daungere,
 Out of the place where he was hid. 3131
 His malice in his chere was kid ;
 Ful greet he was, and blak of hewe,
 Sturdy and hidous, who-so him knewe ;
 Like sharp urchouns his here was growe,
 His eyes †rede as the fire-glow ; 3136
 His nose frounced ful kirked stood,
 He com criand as he were wood,
 And seide, ' Bialacoil, tel me why
 Thou bringest hider so boldly 3140
 Him that so nygh [is] the roser ?
 Thou worchist in a wrong maner ;
 He thenkith to dishonour thee,
 Thou art wel worthy to have maugree

To late him of the roser wit ;	3145	But she was neither yong, ne here,
Who serveth a feloun is yvel quit.		Ne high ne low, ne fat ne lene,
Thou woldist have doon greet bountee,		But best, as it were in a mene.
And he with shame wolde quyte thee.		Hir eyen two were cleer and light
Flee hennes, fellows ! I rede thee go !		As any candel that brenneth bright ;	3200
It wanteth lital †I wol thee slo ;	3150	And on hir heed she hadde a crown.
For Bialacoil ne knew thee nought,		Hir semede wel an high persoun ;
Whan thee to serve he sette his thought ;		For rounde enviroun, hir crownet
For thou wolt shame him, if thou might,		Was ful of riche stonis fret.
Bothe ageyn resoun and right.		Hir goodly semblaunt, by devys,	3205
I wol no more in thee affye,	3155	I trowe were maad in paradys ;
That comest so slyghly for tespye ;		†Nature had never such a grace,
For it preveth wonder wel,		To forge a werk of such compace.
Thy slight and tresoun every del.'		For certeyn, †but the letter lye,
I durst no more ther make abode,		God him-silf, that is so high,	3210
For the cherl, he was so wode ;	3160	Made hir aftir his image,
So gan he threten and manace,		And yaf hir sith sich avauntage,
And thurgh the hays he did me chace.		That she hath might and seignorye
For feer of him I tremblid and quook,		To kepe men from al folyo ;
So cherlishly his heed he shook ;		Who-so wole trowe hir lore,	3215
And seide, if eft he might me take,	3165	Ne may offenden nevermore.
I shulde not from his hondis scape.		And whyl I stood thus derk and pale,
Than Bialacoil is fied and mate,		Resoun bigan to me hir tale ;
And I al sole, disconsolate,		She seide : ' Al hayl, my swete frend !
Was left aloon in peyne and thought ;		Foly and childhood wol thee shend,	3220
For shame, to deth I was nygh brought.		Which thee have put in greet affray ;
Than thought I on myn high foly,	3171	Thou hast bought dere the tyme of May,
How that my body, utterly,		That made thyn herte mery to be.
Was yve to peyne and to martyre ;		In yvel tyme thou wentist to see
And therto hadde I so gret yre,		The gardin, wherof Ydilnesse	3225
That I ne durst the hayes passe ;	3175	Bar the keye, and was maistresse
There was non hope, there was no grace.		Whan thou yedest in the daunce
I trowe never man wiste of peyne,		With hir, and hadde[st] aqueyntaunce :
But he were laced in Loves cheyne ;		Hir aqueyntaunce is perilous,
Ne no man [wot], and sooth it is,		First softe, and aftir[ward] noyous ;	3230
But-if he love, what anger is.	3180	She hath [thee] trashed, withoute ween ;
Love holdith his heest to me right wele,		The God of Love had thee not seen,
Whan peyne he seide I shulde fele.		Ne hadde Ydilnesse thee conveyed
Non herte may thenke, ne tunge seyne,		In the verger where Mirthe him played.
A quarter of my wo and peyne.		If Foly have supprised thee,	3235
I might not with the anger laste ;	3185	Do so that it recovered be ;
Myn herte in poynt was for to braste,		And be wel war to take no more
Whan I thought on the rose, that so		Counsel, that greveth aftir sore ;
Was through Daunger cast me fro.		He is wys that wol himsilf chastyse.
A long whyl stood I in that state,		And though a yong man in any wyse
Til that me saugh so mad and mate	3190	Trespace among, and do foly,	3241
The lady of the highe ward,		Lat him not tarye, but hastily
Which from hir tour lokid thiderward.		Lat him amende what so be mis.
Resoun men clepe that lady,		And eek I counseile thee, y-wis.
Which from hir tour deliverly		The God of Love hoolly foryet,	3245
Come down to me withouten more.	3195.	That hath thee in sich peyne set,

And thee in herte tormented so.
 I can nat seen how thou mayst go
 Other weyes to garisoun ;
 For Daunger, that is so feloun, 3250
 Felly purposith thee to werrey,
 Which is ful cruel, the soth to sey.
 ' And yit of Daunger cometh no blame,
 In reward of my daughter Shame,
 Which hath the roses in hir warde, 3255
 As she that may be no musarde.
 And Wikked-Tunge is with these two,
 That suffrith no man thider go ;
 For er a thing be do, he shal,
 Where that he cometh, over-al, 3260
 In fourty places, if it be sought, Seye thing that never was doon ne
 wrought ;
 So moche tresoun is in his male,
 Of falsnesse for to †feyne a tale.
 Thou delest with angry folk, y-wis ; 3265
 Wherfor to thee [it] bettir is
 From these folk away to fare,
 For they wol make thee live in care.
 This is the yvel that Love they calle,
 Wherin ther is but foly alle, 3270
 For love is foly everydel ;
 Who loveth, in no wyse may do wel,
 Ne sette his thought on no good werk.
 His scole he leaith, if he †be clerk ;
 Of other craft eek if he be, 3275
 He shal not thryve therin ; for he
 In love shal have more passioun
 Than monke, hermyte, or chanoun.
 The peyne is hard, out of mesure,
 The joys may eek no whyl endure ; 3280
 And in the possessioun
 Is muche tribulacioun ;
 The joye it is so short-lasting,
 And but in happe is the geting ;
 For I see ther many in travaille, 3285
 That atte laste foule fayle.
 I was no-thing thy counseler,
 Whan thou were maad the homager
 Of God of Love to hastily ;
 Ther was no wisdom, but foly. 3290
 Thyn herte was joly, but not sage,
 Whan thou were brought in sich a rage,
 To yelde thee so redily,
 And to Love, of his gret maistry.
 ' I rede thee Love away to dryve, 3295
 That makith thee recche not of thy lyve.

The foly more fro day to day
 Shal growe, but thou it putte away.
 Take with thy teeth the bridel faste,
 To daunte thyn herte ; and eek thee caste,
 If that thou mayst, to gete †defence 3301
 For to redresse thy first offence.
 Who-so his herte alwey wol leve,
 Shal finde among that shal him greve.'
 Whan I hir herd thus me chastyse, 3305
 I answerd in ful angry wyse.
 I prayed hir cessen of hir speche,
 Outher to chastyse me or teche,
 To bidde me my thought refreyne,
 Which Love hath caught in his demeyne :— 3310
 ' What ? wene ye Love wol consent,
 That me assailith with bowe bent,
 To draw myn herte out of his honde,
 Which is so quickly in his bonde ?
 That ye counsayle, may never be ; 3315
 For whan he first arrested me,
 He took myn herte so hool him til,
 That it is no-thing at my wil ;
 He †taughte it so him for to obey,
 That he it sparred with a key. 3320
 I pray yow lat me be al stilla.
 For ye may wel, if that ye wille,
 Your wordis waste in idlnesse ;
 For utterly, withouten gesse,
 Al that ye seyn is but in veyna. 3325
 Me were lover dye in the peyne,
 Than Love to me-ward shulde arette
 Falsheed, or tresoun on me sette.
 I wol me gete prys or blame,
 And love trewe, to save my name ; 3330
 †Who me chastysith, I him hate.'
 With that word Resoun wente hir gate,
 Whan she saugh for no sermoning
 She might me fro my foly bring.
 Than dismayed, I lefte al sool, 3335
 Forwery, forwanded as a fool,
 For I ne knew no †chevisaunce.
 Than fel into my remembraunce,
 How Love bade me to purveye
 A felowe, to whom I mighte sey 3340
 My counsel and my privete,
 For that shulde muche availe me.
 With that bithought I me, that I Hadde a felowe faste by,
 Trewe and siker, curteys, and hend, 3345
 And he was called by name a Freend ;

A trewer felowe was no-wher noon.
 In haste to him I wente anon,
 And to him al my wo I tolde,
 Fro him right nought I wold withholde.
 I tolde him al withoute were, 3351
 And made my compleynt on Daungere,
 How for to see he was hidous,
 And to-me-ward contrarious ;
 The whiche through his cruelte 3355
 Was in poynt to have meygnd me ;
 With Bialacoil whan he me sey
 Within the gardyn walke and pley,
 Fro me he made him for to go,
 And I bilefte aloon in wo ; 3360
 I durst no lenger with him speke,
 For Daunger seide he wolde be wreke,
 Whan that he sawe how I wente
 The freshe botouna for to hente,
 If I were hardy to come near 3365
 Bitwene the hay and the roser.
 This Freend, whan he wiste of my thought,
 He discomforted me right nought,
 But seide, ' Felowe, be not so mad,
 Ne so abeysshed nor bistad. 3370
 My-silf I knowe ful wel Daungere,
 And how he is feers of his chere,
 At prime temps. Love to manace ;
 Ful ofte I have ben in his caaa.
 A feloun first though that he be, 3375
 Afir thou shalt him souple see.
 Of long passed I knew him wele ;
 Ungoodly first though men him fele,
 He wol meek afir, in his bering,
 Been, for service and obeysshing. 3380
 I shal thee telle what thou shalt do :—
 Mekely I rede thou go him to,
 Of herte pray him specialy
 Of thy trespass to have mercy,
 And hote him wel, [him] here to please, 3385
 That thou shalt nevermore him displese.
 Who can best serve of flatery,
 Shal please Daunger moest uttirly.'
 My Freend hath seid to me so wel,
 That he me esid hath somdel, 3390
 And eek allegged of my torment ;
 For through him had I hardement
 Agayn to Daunger for to go,
 To preve if I might meke him so.
 To Daunger cam I, al ashamed, 3395
 The which aforn me hadde blamed,

Desyryng for to pese my wo ;
 But over hegge durst I not go,
 For he †forbad me the passage.
 I fond him cruel in his rage, 3400
 And in his hond a gret burdoun.
 To him I knalid lowe adoun,
 Ful meke of port, and simple of chere,
 And seide, ' Sir, I am comen here
 Only to aske of you mercy. 3405
 That greveth me, [sir], ful gretly
 That ever my lyf I wratthed you,
 But for to amende I am come now,
 With al my might, bothe loude and stille,
 To doon right at your owne wille ; 3410
 For Love made me for to do
 That I have trespassed hidirto ;
 Fro whom I ne may withdrawe myn
 herte ;
 Yit shal I never, for joy ne smerte,
 What so bifalle, good or ille, 3415
 Offende more ageyn your willa.
 Lever I have endure disece
 Than do that shulde you displese.
 ' I you require and pray, that ye
 Of me have mercy and pitee, 3420
 To stinte your yre that greveth so,
 That I wol swere for evermo
 To be redressid at your lyking,
 If I trespasse in any thing ;
 Save that I pray thee graunte me 3425
 A thing that may nat warned be,
 That I may love, al only ;
 Non other thing of you aske I.
 I shal doon elles wel, y-wis,
 If of your grace ye graunte me this. 3430
 And ye [ne] may not letten me,
 For wel wot ye that love is free,
 And I shal loven, †sith that I wil,
 Who-ever lyke it wel or il ;
 And yit ne wold I, for al Fraunce, 3435
 Do thing to do you displeasaunca.'
 Than Daunger fil in his entent
 For to foryeve his maltalent ;
 But al his wratthe yit at laste
 He hath relesed, I pryde so faste : 3440
 Shortly he seide, ' Thy request
 Is not to mochel dishonest ;
 Ne I wol not werne it thee,
 For yit no-thing engreveth me.
 For though thou love thus evermore, 3445
 To me is neither softne ne sora.

Love †wher thee list; what recchith me,
So [thou] fer fro my roses be?
Trust not on me, for noon assay,
In any tyme to passe the hay.' 3450
Thus hath he graunted my prayere.

Than wente I forth, withouten were,
Unto my Freend, and tolde him al,
Which was right joyful of my tale.
Heseide, 'Now goth wel thyn affaire, 3455
He shal to thee be debonaire.
Though he aforn was dispitous,
He shal heeraftir be gracious.
If he were touchid on som good veyne,
He shuld yit rewen on thy peyne. 3460
Suffre, I rede, and no boost make,
Til thou at good mes mayst him take.
By suffraunce, and [by] wordis softe,
A man may overcome[n] ofte
Him that aforn he hadde in drede, 3465
In bookis sothly as I rede.'

Thus hath my Freend with gret comfort

Avaunced me with high disport,
Which wolde me good as mich as I. 3470
And thanne anon ful sodeynly
I took my leve, and streight I went Unto the hay; for gret talent
I had to seen the fresh botoun,
Wherin lay my salvacioun;
And Daunger took kepe, if that I 3475
Kepe him covaunant trewly.
So sore I dradde his manasing,
I durst not breke[n] his bidding;
For, lest that I were of him shent,
I brak not his comaundement, 3480
For to purchase his good wil.
It was [hard] for to come ther-til,
His mercy was to fer bihinde;
I wepte, for I ne might it finde.
I oompleyned and sighed sore, 3485
And languished evermore,
For I durst not over go Unto the rose I loved so.
Thurghout my deming outerly,
†Than had he knowlege certainly, 3490
†That Love me ladde in sich a wyse,
That in me ther was no feyntyse,
Falsheed, ne no trecherye,
And yit he, ful of vilanye,
Of disdeyne, and cruelte, 3495
On me ne wolde have pite,

His cruel wil for to refrayne,
Though I wepe alway, and †oompleyne.
And while I was in this torment,
Were come of grace, by god sent, 3500
Fraunchyse, and with hir Pite
Fulfilde the botoun of bountee
They go to Daunger anon-right
To forther me with al hir might,
And helpe in worde and in dede, 3505
For wel they saugh that it was nede.
First, of hir grace, dame Fraunchyse
Hath taken [word] of this empryse:
She seide, 'Daunger, gret wrong ye do
To worche this man so muche wo, 3510
Or pynen him so angerly;
It is to you gret vilany.
I can not see why, ne how,
That he hath trespassed ageyn you,
Save that he loveth; wherfore ye shulde
The more in cherete of him holde. 3515
The force of love makith him do this;
Who wolde him blame he dide amis?
He leesth more than ye may do;
His peyne is hard, ye may see, lo! 3520
And Love in no wyse wolde consente
That †he have power to repente;
For though that quik ye wolde him sloo,
Fro Love his herte may not go.
Now, swete sir, †is it your ese 3525
Him for to angre or disese?
Allas, what may it you avaunce
To doon to him so greet grevaunce?
What worship is it agayn him take,
Or on your man a werre make, 3530
Sith he so lowly overy wyse
Is redy, as ye lust devyse?
If Love hath caught him in his lace,
You for †obeys in every caas,
And been your suget at your wille, 3535
Shulde ye therfore willen him ille?
Ye shulde him spare more, al-out,
Than him that is bothe proud and stout.
Curtesye wol that ye socour
Hem that ben meke undir your cure. 3540
His herte is hard, that wole not meke, Whan men of mekenesse him biseke.
'That is certeyn,' seide Pite;
'We see ofte that humilitee
Bothe ire, and also felonye 3545
Venquisseth, and also melancolye;
To stonde forth in such duresse,

This crueltee and wikkednesse.
 Wherefore I pray you, sir Daungere,
 For to mayntene no lenger here 3550
 Such cruel werre agayn your man,
 As hoolly youres as ever he can ;
 Nor that ye worenen no more wo
 †On this caytif that languisshith so,
 Which wol no more to you trespasse, 3555
 But put him hoolly in your grace.
 His offense ne was but lyte ;
 The God of Love it was to wyte,
 That he your thral so gretly is,
 And if ye harm him, ye doon amis ; 3560
 For he hath had ful hard penaunce,
 Sith that ye reffe him th'aqueyntaunce
 Of Bialacoil, his moeste joye,
 Which alle his peynes might acoya.
 He was biforn aynoyed sore, 3565
 But than ye doubled him wel more ;
 For he of blis hath ben ful bare,
 Sith Bialacoil was fro him fare.
 Love hath to him do greet distresse,
 He hath no nede of more duresse. 3570
 Voideth from him your ire, I rede ;
 Ye may not winnen in this dede.
 Maketh Bialacoil repaire ageyn,
 And haveth pite upon his peyn ;
 For Fraunchise wol, and I, Pite, 3575
 That merciful to him ye be ;
 And sith that she and I accorde,
 Have upon him misericorde ;
 For I you pray, and eek moneste,
 Nought to refusen our requeste ; 3580
 For he is hard and fel of thought,
 That for us two wol do right nought.
 Daunger ne might no more endure,
 He meked him unto mesure.
 ' I wol in no wyse,' seith Daungere, 3585
 ' Denye that ye have asked here ;
 It were to greet uncurtesye.
 I wol ye have the compagne
 Of Bialacoil, as ye devyse ;
 I wol him lette[n] in no wyse.' 3590
 To Bialacoil than wente in hy Fraunchyse, and seide ful courteisly :—
 ' Ye have to longe be dignous Unto this lover, and daungerous,
 Fro him to withdrawe your presence, 3595
 Which hath do to him grete offence,
 That ye not wolde upon him see ;
 Wherefore a sorowful man is he.

Shape ye to paye him, and to plesse,
 Of my love if ye wol have ese. 3600
 Fulfil his wil, sith that ye knowe
 Daunger is daunted and brought lowe
 Thurgh help of me and of Pite ;
 You †thar no more afered be.'
 ' I shal do right as ye wil,' 3605
 Saith Bialacoil, ' for it is skil, Sith Daunger wol that it so be.'
 Than Fraunchise hath him sent to me.
 Bialacoil at the biginning
 Salued me in his coming. 3610
 No straungenes was in him seen,
 No more than he ne had wrathed been.
 As faire semblaunt than shewed he me,
 And goodly, as afornd did he ;
 And by the honde, withouten doute, 3615
 Within the haye, right al aboute
 He ladde me, with right good chere,
 Al environ the vergere,
 That Daunger had me chased fro.
 Now have I leve over-al to go ; 3620
 Now am I raised, at my devys,
 Fro helle unto paradys.
 Thus Bialacoil, of gentilnesse,
 With alle his peyne and besinesse,
 Hath shewed me, only of grace, 3625
 The estres of the swote place.
 I saw the rose, whan I was nigh,
 Was gretter woxen, and more high,
 Fresh, rody, and fair of hewe,
 Of colour ever yliche newe. 3630
 And whan I had it longe seen,
 I saugh that through the leves grene
 The rose spredde to spanishing ;
 To sene it was a goodly thing.
 But it ne was so spred on brede, 3635
 That men within might knowe the sede ;
 For it covert was and [en]close
 Bothe with the leves and with the rose.
 The stalk was even and grene upright,
 It was theron a goodly sight ; 3640
 And wel the better, withouten wene,
 For the seed was not [y]-sene.
 Ful faire it spradde, †god it blesse !
 For suche another, as I gesse,
 Afornd ne was, ne more vermayle. 3645
 I was abawed for mervyle,
 For ever, the fairer that it was,
 The more I am bounden in Loves laas.
 Longe I abood there, soth to saye,

Til Bialacoil I gan to praye,	3650	Whos might is knowe fer and wyde,
Whan that I saw him in no wyse		For she is modir of Cnypyde,
To me warnen his servyse,		The God of Love, blinde as stoon,
That he me wolde graunte a thing,		That helpith lovers many oon.
Which to remembre is wel sitting ;		This lady brought in hir right hond	3705
This is to sayne, that of his grace	3655	Of brenning fyr a blasing brond ;
He wolde me yeve leyser and space		Wherof the flawme and hote fyr
To me that was so desirous		Hath many a lady in desyr
To have a kissing precious		Of love brought, and sore het,
Of the goodly freshe rose,		And in hir servise hir †hertes set.	3710
That †swetely smelleth in my nose ;	3660	This lady was of good entayle,
' For if it you displesed nought,		Right wonderful of apparayle ;
I wolde gladly, as I have sought,		By hir atyre so bright and shene,
Have a cos therof freely		Men might perceyve wel, and seen,
Of your yeft ; for certainly		She was not of religioun.	3715
I wol non have but by your leve,	3665	Nor I nil make mencion
So loth me were you for to greve.'		Nor of [hir] robe, nor of tresour,
He sayde, ' Frond, so god me spede,		Of broche, †nor of hir riche attour ;
Of Chastite I have suche drede,		Ne of hir girdil aboute hir syde,
Thou shuldest not warned be for me,		For that I nil not long abyde.	3720
But I dar not, for Chastite.	3670	But knowith wel, that certeynly
Agayn hir dar I not misdo,		She was arayed richely.
For alwey biddeth she me so		Devoyd of pryde certeyn she was ;
To yeve no lover leve to kisse ;		To Bialacoil she wente a pas,
For who therto may winnen, y-wis,		And to him shortly, in a clause,	3725
He of the surplus of the pray	3675	She seide : ' Sir, what is the cause
May live in hope to get som day.		Ye been of port so daungerous
For who so kissing may attayne,		Unto this lover, and deynous,
Of loves peyne hath, soth to sayne,		To graunte him no-thing but a kis ?
The beste and most avenaunt,		To werne it him ye doon amis ;	3730
And earnest of the remenaunt.'	3680	Sith wel ye wote, how that he
Of his answers I syghed sore ;		Is Loves servaunt, as ye may see,
I durst assaye him tho no more,		And hath beaute, wher-through [he] is
I had such drede to greve him ay.		Worthy of love to have the blis.
A man shulde not to muche assaye		How he is semely, biholde and see,	3735
To chafe his frend out of mesure,	3685	How he is fair, how he is free,
Nor put his lyf in aventure ;		How he is swote and debonair,
For no man at the firste stroke		Of age yong, lusty, and fair.
Ne may nat felle down an oke ;		Ther is no lady so hanteyne,
Nor of the reins have the wyne,		Duchease, countesse, ne chasteleyne,	3740
Til grapes †troye and wel afyne	3690	That I nolde holde hir ungodly
Be sore empressid, I you ensure,		For to refuse him outerly.
And drawn out of the pressure.		His breeth is also good and swete,
But I, forpeyned wonder stronge,		And eke his lippis rody, and mete
†Thought that I abood right longe		Only to †pleyen, and to kisse.	3745
Aftir the kis, in peyne and wo,	3695	Graunte him a kis, of gentilnesse !
Sith I to kis desyred so :		His teeth arn also whyte and clene ;
Til that, †rewing on my distresse,		Me thinkith wrong, withouten wene,
Ther †to me Venus the goddesso,		If ye now werne him, trustith me,
Which ay werreyeth Chastite,		To graunte that a kis have he ;	3750
Came of hir grace, to socoure me,	3700	The lasse †to helpe him that ye haste,

The more tyme shul ye waste.'

Whan the flawme of the verry brond,
That Venus brought in hir right hond,
Had Bialacoil with hete smete, 3755
Anoon he †bad, withouten lette,
Graunte to me the rose kisse.

Than of my peyne I gan to lisse,
And to the rose anoon wente I,
And kissid it ful feithfully. 3760

Thar no man aske if I was blythe,
Whan the savour soft and lythe
Strook to myn herte withoute more,
And me allegged of my sore,
So was I ful of joye and blisse. 3765

It is fair sich a flour to kisse,
It was so swote and saverous.
I might not be so anguissous,
That I mote glad and joly be,
Whan that I remembre me. 3770

Yit ever among, sothly to seyn,
I suffre noye and moche peyn.
The see may never be so stil,
That with a litel winde it †nil
Overwhelme and turne also, 3775

As it were wood, in wawis go.
Aftir the calm the trouble sone
Mot folowe, and change as the mone.
Right so fareth Love, that selde in oon
Holdith his anker; for right anoon 3780

Whan they in ese wene best to live,
They been with tempest al fordrive.
Who serveth Love, can telle of wo;
The stoundemele joye mot overgo.
Now he hurteth, and now he cureth, 3785
For selde in oo poynt Love endureth.

Now is it right me to procede,
How Shame gan medle and take hede, Thurgh whom felle angres I have had;
And how the stronge wal was maad, 3790
And the castell of brede and lengthe,
That God of Love wan with his strengthe.

Al this in romance wil I sette,
And for no-thing ne wil I lette,
So that it lyking to hir be, 3795
That is the flour of beaute;

For she may best my labour quyte,
That I for hir love shal endyte.

Wikkid-Tunge, that the covyno
Of every lover can devyne 3800
Worst, and addith more somdel,
(For Wikkid-Tunge seith never wel),

To me-ward bar he right gret hate,
Espying me erly and late,
Til he hath seen the gret[e] chere 3805
Of Bialacoil and me y-ferre.

He mighte not his tunge withtondo
Worse to reporte than he fonde,
He was so ful of cursed rage;
It sat him wel of his linage, 3810

For him an Irish womman bar.
His tunge was fyled sharp, and squar,
Poignaunt and right kerving,
And wonder bitter in speking.
For whan that he me gan espye, 3815

He swoor, affirming sikirly,
Bitwene Bialacoil and me
Was yvel aquayntaunce and privee.
He spak therof so follily,
That he awakid Jelousy; 3820

Which, al afrayed in his ryaing,
Whan that he herde [him] jangling,
He ran anoon, as he were wood,
To Bialacoil ther that he stood;
Which hadde lever in this caas 3825

Have been at Reynes or Amyas;
For foot-hoot, in his felonye
To him thus seide Jelousye :-
'Why hast thou been so negligent,
To kepen, when I was absent, 3830

This verger here left in thy ward?
To me thou haddist no reward,
To truste (to thy confusioun)
Him thus, to whom suspeccioun
I have right greet, for it is nede; 3835

It is wel shewed by the dede.
Greet faute in thee now have I founde;
By god, anoon thou shalt be bounde,
And faste loken in a tour,
Withoute refuyt or socour. 3840

For Shame to long hath be thee fro;
Over sone she was ago.
Whan thou hast lost bothe drede and fere,
It semed wel she was not here.

She was [not] bisy, in no wyse, 3845
To kepe thee and [to] chastyse,
And for to helpon Chastitee
To kepe the roser, as thinkith me.

For than this boy-knave so boldely
Ne sholde not have be hardy, 3850
[Ne] in this †verger had such game,
Which now me turneth to gret shame.'

Bialacoil nist what to sey;

Ful fayn he wolde have fled away, For fere han hid, nere than he	3855	Of my foly I me repente ;	3905
Al sodeynly took him with me. And when I saugh he hadde so,		Now wol I hool sette myn entente
This Jelousye, take us two, I was astoned, and knew no rede,		To kepe, bothe †loude and stille, Bialacoil to do your wille.
But fledde away for verrey drede.	3860	'Shame, Shame,' seyde Jelousy, 'To be bitrashed gret drede have I.	3910
Than Shame cam forth ful simply ; She wende have trespaced ful gretly ;		Lecherye hath clombe so hye, That almost blered is myn ye ;
Humble of hir port, and made it simple, Wering a vayle in stede of wimple,		No wonder is, if that drede have I. Over-al regnith Lechery,
As nonnis doon in hir abbey.	3865	Whos might [yit] growith night and day. Bothe in cloistre and in abbey	3916
Bicause hir herte was in affray, She gan to speke, within a throwe,		Chastite is werreyed over-al. Therefore I wol with siker wal
To Jelousye, right wonder lowe. First of his grace she bisought,		Close bothe roses and roser. I have to longe in this maner	3920
And seide :- ¹ Sire, ne leveth nought	3870	Left hem unclosid wilfully ; Wherfore I am right inwardly
Wikkid-Tunge, that fals espye, Which is so glad to feyne and lye.		Sorrowful and repente me. But now they shal no lenger be
He hath you maad, thurgh flatering, On Bialacoil a fals lesing.		Unclosid ; and yit I drede sore,	3925
His falsnesse is not now anew, It is to long that he him knew.	3875	I shal repente ferthermore, For the game goth al amis.
This is not the firste day ; For Wikkid-Tunge hath custom ay		Counsel I †mot [take] newe, y-wis. I have to longe trusted thee,
Yongé folkis to bewreye, And false lesinges on hem †leye.	3880	But now it shal no lenger be ; For he may best, in every coost,	3930
'Yit nevertheles I see among, That the loigne it is so longe		Disceyve, that men tristen most. I see wel that I am nygh shent,
Of Bialacoil, hertis to lure, In Loves servise for to endure,		But-if I sette my ful entent Remedye to purveye.	3935
Drawing suche folk him to,	3885	Therefore close I shal the weye Fro hem that wol the rose espye,
That he had no-thing with to do ; But in sothnesse I trowe nought,		And come to wayte me vilanye, For, in good feith and in trounthe,
That Bialacoil hadde ever in thought To do trespase or vilanye ;		I wol not lette, for no slouthe,	3940
But, for his modir Curteseye	3890	To live the more in sikirnesse, †To make anon a forteresse,
Hath taught him ever [for] to be Good of aqueyntaunce and privies ;		†To enclose the roses of good savour. In middis shal I make a tour
For he loveth non hevinesse, But mirthe and play, and al gladnesse ;		To putte Bialacoil in prisoun, For ever I drede me of tresoun.	3945
He hateth alle †trecherous, Soleyn folk and envious ;	3895	I trowe I shal him kepe so, That he shal have no might to go
For [wel] ye witen how that he Wol ever glad and joyful be		Aboute to make companye To hem that thanke of vilanye ;	3950
Honestly with folk to play. I have be negligent, in good foy,	3900	Ne to no such as hath ben here Afor, and founde in him good chere,
To chastise him ; therefore now I Of herte †crye you here mercy,		Which han assailed him to shende, And with hir trowandyse to blende.
That I have been so recheles To tamen him, withouten leas.		A fool is eyth [for] to bigyle ;	3955

But may I lyve a lital while,
 He shal forthenke his fair semblaunt.'
 And with that word cam Drede avaunt,
 Which was abasshed, and in gret fere,
 Whan he wiste Jelousye was there. 3960
 He was for drede in such affray,
 That not a word durste he say,
 But quaking stood ful stille aloon,
 Til Jelousye his way was goon,
 Save Shame, that him not forsook ; 3965
 Bothe Drede and she ful sore quook ;
 [Til] that at laste Drede abreyde,
 And to his cosin Shame seyde :
 'Shame,' he seide, 'in sothfastnesse,
 To me it is gret hevynesse, 3970
 That the noyse so fer is go,
 And the sclandre of us two.
 But sith that it is [so] bifalle,
 We may it not ageyn [do] calle,
 Whan onis sprongen is a fame. 3975
 For many a yeer withouten blame
 We han been, and many a day ;
 For many an April and many a May
 We han [y]-passed, not [a]shamed,
 Til Jelousye hath us blamed 3980
 Of mistrust and suspicioun
 Causeles, withouten enchesoun.
 Go we to Daunger hastily,
 And late us shewe him openly,
 That he hath not aright [y]-wrought, 3985
 Whan that he sette nought his thought
 To kepe better the purpryse ;
 In his doing he is not wyse.
 He hath to us [y]-do gret wrong,
 That hath suffred now so long 3990
 Bialacoil to have his wille,
 Alle his lustes to fulfille.
 He must amende it utterly,
 Or ellis shal he †vilaynsly
 Exyled be out of this londe ; 3995
 For he the werre may not withstonde
 Of Jelousye, nor the greef,
 Sith Bialacoil is at mischeef.'

To Daunger, Shame and Drede anon
 The righte way ben [bothe a]-goon. 4000
 The cherl they founden hem afor
 Ligging undir an hawethorn.
 Undir his heed no pilowe was,
 But in the stede a trusse of gras.
 He alombred, and a nappe he took, 4005
 Til Shame pitously him shook,

And greet manace on him gan make.
 'Whyslepist thou whan thou shuld wake ?'
 Quod Shame ; 'thou dost us vilanye !
 Who tristith thee, he doth folye, 4010
 To kepe roses or botouns,
 Whan they ben faire in hir sesouns.
 Thou art woxe to familiere
 Where thou shulde be straunge of chere,
 Stout of thy port, redy to greve. 4015
 Thou dost gret foly for to leve
 Bialacoil here-in, to calle
 The yonder man to shenden us alle.
 Though that thou slepe, we may here
 Of Jelousie gret noyse here. 4020
 Art thou now late ? ryse up †in hy,
 And stoppe sone and deliverly
 Alle the gappis of the hay ;
 Do no favour, I thee pray.
 It fallith no-thing to thy name 4025
 †Make fair semblaunt, where thou maist blame.
 'If Bialacoil be swete and free,
 Dogged and fel thou shuldist be ;
 Froward and outrageous, y-wis ;
 A cherl chaungeth that curteis is. 4030
 This have I herd ofte in seying,
 That man [ne] may, for no daunting,
 Make a sperhanke of a bosarde.
 Alle men wole holde thee for musarde,
 That debonair have founden thee ; 4035
 It sit thee nought curteis to be ;
 To do men plesauce or servyse,
 In thee it is recreaundyse.
 Let thy werkis, fer and nere,
 Be lyke thy name, which is Daungere.'
 Than, al abawid in shewing, 4041
 Anoon spak Dreed, right thus seying,
 And seide, 'Daunger, I drede me
 That thou ne wolt [not] bisy be
 To kepe that thou hast to kepe ; 4045
 Whan thou shuldist wake, thou art aslepe.
 Thou shalt be greved certeynly,
 If thee aspye Jelousy,
 Or if he finde thee in blame.
 He hath to-day assailed Shame, 4050
 And chased away, with gret manace,
 Bialacoil out of this place,
 And swereth shortly that he shal
 Enclose him in a sturdy wal ;
 And al is for thy wikkednesse, 4055
 For that thee failleth straungenesse.

Thyn herte, I trowe, be failed al ;
 Thou shalt repente in special,
 If Jelousye the sothe knewe ;
 Thou shalt forthenke, and sore rewa.' 4060
 With that the cherl his clubbegan shake,
 Frowning his eyen gan to make,
 And hidous chere ; as man in rage,
 For ire he brente in his visage.
 Whan that he herde him blamed so, 4065
 He seide, ' Out of my wit I go ;
 To be discomfit I have gret wrong.
 Certis, I have now lived to long,
 Sith I may not this closer kepe ;
 Al quik I wolde be dolven depe, 4070
 If any man shal more repeire
 Into this garden, for foule or faire.
 Myn herte for ire goth a-ferre,
 That I lete any entre here.
 I have do foly, now I see, 4075
 But now it shal amended be.
 Who settith foot here any more,
 Truly, he shal repente it sore ;
 For no man mo into this place
 Of me to entre shal have grace. 4080
 Lever I hadde, with swerdis tweyne,
 Thurgh-out myn herte, in every veyne
 Perced to be, with many a wounde,
 Than slouthe shulde in me be founde.
 From hennesforth, by night or day, 4085
 I shal defende it, if I may,
 Withouten any excepcioun
 Of ech maner condicioun ;
 And if I þany man it graunte,
 Holdeth me for recreaunte.' 4090
 Than Daunger on his feet gan stonde,
 And hente a burdoun in his honde.
 Wroth in his ire, ne lefte he nought,
 But thurgh the verger he hath sought.
 If he might finde hole or trace, 4095
 Wher-thurgh that me[n]mot forthby pace,
 Or any gappe, he dide it close,
 That no man mighte touche a rose
 Of the roser al aboute ;
 He shitteth every man withoute. 4100
 Thus day by day Daunger is wers,
 More wonderful and more divers,
 And feller eek than ever he was ;
 For him ful oft I singe ' allas !'
 For I ne may nought, thurgh his ire, 4105
 Recover that I most desire.
 Myn herte, allas, wol brest a-two,

For Bialacoil I wratthed so.
 For certeynly, in every membre
 I quake, whan I me remembre 4110
 Of the botoun, which [that] I wolde
 Fulle ofte a day seen and biholde.
 And whan I thenke upon the kisse,
 And how muche joye and blisse
 I hadde thurgh the savour swete, 4115
 For wante of it I grone and grette.
 Me thenkith I fele yit in my nose
 The swete savour of the rose.
 And now I woot that I mot go
 So fer the freshe floures fro, 4120
 To me ful welcome were the deeth ;
 Absens therof, allas, me sleeth !
 For whylom with this rose, allas,
 I touched nose, mouth, and face ;
 But now the deeth I must abyde. 4125
 But Love consente, another tyde,
 That onis I touche may and kisse,
 I trowe my peyne shal never lisse.
 Theron is al my covetise,
 Which brent myn herte in many wyse.
 Now shal repaire agayn sighinge, 4131
 Long wacche on nightis, and no slepinge ;
 Thought in wishing, torment, and wo,
 With many a turning to and fro,
 That half my peyne I can not tella. 4135
 For I am fallen into helle
 From paradyz and welthe, the more
 My tarment greveth ; more and more Aneyeth now the bittirnesse,
 That I toform have felt swetnesse. 4141
 And Wikkid-Tunge, thurgh his falshede, Causeth al my wo and drede.
 On me he leyeth a pitous charge,
 Bicause his tunge was to large.
 Now it is tyme, shortly that I 4145
 Telle you som-thing of Jelousy,
 That was in gret suspecioun.
 Aboute him lefte he no masoun,
 That stoon coude leye, ne querrour ;
 He hired hem to make a tour. 4150
 And first, the roses for to kepe,
 Aboute hem made he a diche depe,
 Right wondir large, and also brood ;
 Upon the whiche also stood
 Of squared stoon a sturdy wal, 4155
 Which on a cragge was founded al,
 And right gret thikkenesse eek it bar.
 Abouten, it was founded squar,

- An hundred fadome on every syde,
 It was alliche longe and wyde. 4160
 Lest any tyme it were assayed,
 Ful wel aboute it was batayled ;
 And rounde environn eek were set
 Ful many a riche and fair touret,
 At every corner of this wal 4165
 Was set a tour ful principal ;
 And everich hadde, withoute fable,
 A porte-colys defensible
 To kepe of enemies, and to greve,
 That there hir force wolde preve. 4170
 And eek amide this purpryse
 Was maad a tour of gret maistryse ;
 A fairer saugh no man with sight,
 Large and wyde, and of gret might,
 They [ne] dredde noon assaut 4175
 Of ginne, gunne, nor skaffaut.
 [For] the temprure of the mortere
 Was maad of licour wonder dere ;
 Of quikke lyme persant and egre,
 The which was tempred with vinegre.
 The stoon was hard †as ademant, 4181
 Wherof they made the foundement.
 The tour was rounde, maad in compas ;
 In al this world no richer was,
 Ne better ordeigned therwithal. 4185
 Aboute the tour was maad a wal,
 So that, hitwixt that and the tour,
 †Rosers were set of swete savour,
 With many roses that they bere.
 And eek within the castel were 4190
 Springoldes, gunnes, bows, archers ;
 And eek above, atte corners,
 Men seyn over the walle stonde
 Grete engynes, †whiche were nigh honde ;
 And in the kernels, here and there, 4195
 Of arblasters gret plentee were.
 Noon armure might hir stroke with-
 stonde,
 It were foly to prece to honde.
 Without the diche were listes made,
 With walles batayled large and brade, 4200
 For men and hors shulde not atteyne
 To neigh the diche over the pleyne.
 Thus Jelousye hath environn
 Set aboute his garnisoun
 With walles rounde, and diche depe, 4205
 Only the roser for to kepe.
 And Daunger [eek], erly and late
 The keyes kepte of the utter gate,
- The which openeth toward the east.
 And he hadde with him atte leest 4210
 Thrifty servauntes, echon by name.
 That other gate kepte Shame,
 Which openede, as it was couth,
 Toward the parte of the south.
 Sergeauntes assigned were hir to 4215
 Ful many, hir wille for to do.
 Than Drede hadde in hir baillye
 The keping of the conestabliere,
 Toward the north, I undirstonde,
 That opened upon the left honde, 4220
 The which for no-thing may be sure,
 But-if she do [hir] bisy cure
 Erly on morowe and also late,
 Strongly to shette and barre the gate.
 Of every thing that she may see 4225
 Drede is aferd, wher-so she be ;
 For with a puff of litel winde
 Drede is astonied in hir minde.
 Therefore, for steling of the rose,
 I rede hir nought the yate unclose. 4230
 A foulis flight wol make hir flee,
 And eek a shadowe, if she it see.
 Thanne Wikked-Tunge, ful of envye,
 With soundiours of Normandye,
 As he that causeth al the bate, 4235
 Was keper of the fourthe gate,
 And also to the tother three
 He went ful ofte, for to see.
 Whan his lot was to wake a-night,
 His instrumentis wolde he dight, 4240
 For to blowe and make soun,
 After than he hath enchesoun ;
 And walken oft upon the wal,
 Corners and wikettis over-al
 Ful narwe serchen and espye ; 4245
 Though he nought fond, yit wolde he lye.
 Discordaunt ever fro armonye,
 And distoned from melodye,
 Controve he wolde, and foule fayle,
 With hornpyes of Cornewayle, 4250
 In floytes made he discordaunce,
 And in his musik, with mischaunce,
 He wolde seyn, with notes newe,
 That he [ne] fond no womman trewe,
 Ne that he saugh never, in his lyf, 4255
 Unto hir husbonde a trewe wyf ;
 Ne noon so ful of honestee,
 That she nil laughe and mery be Whan that she hereth, or may espye,

A man spoken of lecherye.	4260	Defenced with the stronge walle.	4310
Everich of hem hath somme vyce ;		Now Jelousye ful wel may be
Oon is dishonest, another is nyce ;		Of drede devoid, in libertee,
If oon be ful of vilanye,		Whether that he slepe or wake ;
Another hath a likerous ye ;		For of his roses may noon be take.
If oon be ful of wantonnesse,	4265	But I, allas, now morne shal ;	4315
Another is a chideresse.		Bicause I was without the wal,
Thus Wikked-Tunge (god yeve him	him	Ful moche dole and mone I made.
shame !)		Who hadde wist what wo I hadde,
Can putte hem everichone in blame		I trowe he wolde have had pitee.
Withoute desert and causeles ;		Love to deere had sold to me	4320
He lyeth, though they been gittles.	4270	The good that of his love hadde I.
I have pite to seen the sorwe,		I †wende a bought it al queyntly ;
That †waketh bothe eve and morwe,		But now, thurgh doubling of my peyn,
To innocents doth such grevaunce ;		I see he wolde it selle ageyn,
I pray god yeve him evel chauce,		And me a newe bargeyn lere,	4325
That he ever so bisy is	4275	The which al-out the more is dere,
Of any womman to seyn amis !		For the solace that I have lorn,
Eek Jelousye god oonfounde,		Than I hadde it never afor.
That hath [y]-maad a tour so rounde,		Certayn I am ful lyk, indeed,
And made aboute a garisoun		To him that cast in erthe his seed ;	4330
To setto Bialacoil in prisoun ;	4280	And hath joie of the newe spring,
The which is shet there in the tour,		Whan it greneth in the ginning,
Ful longe to holde there sojour,		And is also fair and fresh of flour,
There for to live[n] in penaunce.		Lusty to seen, swote of odour ;
And for to do him more grevaunce,		But er he it in shevos shere,	4335
†Ther hath ordeyned Jelousye	4285	May falle a weder that shal it dere,
An olde vekke, for to espye		And make[n] it to fade and falle,
The maner of his governaunce ;		The stalk, the greyn, and floures alle ;
The whiche devel, in hir enfaunce,		That to the †tillier is fordone
Had lerned [mu]che] of Loves art,		The hope that he hadde to sone.	4340
And of his playes took hir part ;	4290	I drede, certeyn, that so fare I ;
She was †expert in his servyse.		For hope and travaille sikerly
She knew ech wrenche and every gyse		Ben me biraft al with a storm ;
Of love, and every [lovers] wyle,		The floure nil seden of my corn.
It was [the] harder hir to gyle.		For Love hath so avauced me,	4345
Of Bialacoil she took ay hede,	4295	Whan I bigan my privitee
That ever he liveth in wo and drede.		To Bialacoil al for to telle,
He kepte him coy and eek privee,		Whom I ne fond froward ne felle,
Lest in him she hadde see		But took a-gree al hool my play.
Any foly countenance,		But Love is of so hard assay,	4350
For she knew al the olde daunce.	4300	That al at onis he reved me,
And aftir this, whan Jelousye		Whan I †wand best aboven have be.
Had Bialacoil in his baillye,		It is of Love, as of Fortune,
And shette him up that was so free,		That chaungeth ofte, and nil contune ;
For soure of him he wolde be,		Which whylom wol on folke smyle,	4355
He trusteth sore in his castel ;	4305	And gloumbe on hem another whyle ;
The stronge werk him lyketh wel.		Now freend, now foo, [thou] shalt hir fele,
He dradde nat that no glotouns		For [in] a twinkling tourneth hir wheel,
Shulde stele his roses or botouns.		She can wrythe hir heed away,
The roses weren assured alle,		This is the concours of hir pley ;	4360

She can aseye that doth morne,
 And whirle adown, and overturne
 Who sittith hieghst, †al as hir †list ;
 A fool is he that wol hir trist.
 For it †am I that am com doun 4365
 Thurgh †change and revolucioun !
 Sith Bialacoil mot fro me twinne,
 Sbet in the prisoun yond withinne,
 His absence at myn herte I fele ;
 For al my joye and al myn hele 4370
 Was in him and in the rose,
 That but yon †wal, which him doth close,
 Open, that I may him see,
 Love nil not that I cured be
 Of the peynes that I endure, 4375
 Nor of my cruel aventure.
 A, Bialacoil, myn owne dere !
 Though thou be now a prisonere,
 Kepe atte leste thyn herte to me,
 And suffre not that it daunted be ; 4380
 Ne lat not Jelousye, in his rage,
 Patten thyn herte in no servage.
 Although he chastice thee withoute,
 And make thy body unto him loute,
 Have herte as hard as dyamaunt, 4385
 Stedefast, and nought pliaunt ;
 In prisoun though thy body be,
 At large kepe thyn herte free.
 A trewe herte wol not pleye
 For no manace that it may drye. 4390
 If Jelousye doth thee payne,
 Qynte him his whyle thus agayne,
 To venge thee, atte leost in thought,
 If other way thou mayest nought ;
 And in this wyse sotilly 4395
 Worche, and winne the maistry.
 Bnt yit I am in gret affray
 Lest thou do not as I say ;
 I drede thou canst me greet mangree,
 That thou imprisoned art for me ; 4400
 But that [is] not for my trespas,
 For thurgh me never discovered was Yit thing that oughte be secree.
 Wel more any [ther] is in me,
 Than is in thee, of this mischaunce ; 4405
 For I endure more hard penaunce
 Than any [man] can seyn or thinke,
 That for the sorwe almost I sinke.
 Whan I remembre me of my wo,
 Ful nygh out of my wit I go. 4410
 Inward myn herte I fele blede,

For comfortles the deeth I drede.
 Ow I not wel to have distresse,
 Whan false, thurgh hir wikkednesse,
 And traitours, that arn envyous, 4415
 To noyen me be so coragious ?
 A, Bialacoil ! ful wel I see,
 That they hem shape to disceyve thee,
 To make thee buxom to hir lawe,
 And with hir corde thee to drawe 4420
 Wher-so hem lust, right at hir wil ;
 I drede they have thee brought thertil.
 Withoute comfort, thought me sleeth ;
 This game wol bringe me to my deeth.
 For if your †gode wille I lese, 4425
 I mote be deed ; I may not chese.
 And if that thou foryete me,
 Myn herte shal never in lyking be ;
 Nor elles-where finde solace,
 If I be put out of your grace, 4430
 As it shal never been, I hope ;
 Than shulde I falle[n] in wanhope.

[Here, at l. 4070 of the French text, ends the work of G. de Lorris ; and begins the work of Jean de Meun.]

Allas, in wanhope ?—nay, pardee !
 For I wol never dispeired be.
 If Hope me faille, than am I 4435
 Ungracious and unworthy ;
 In Hope I wol comforted be,
 For Love, whan he bitaught hir me,
 Seide, that Hope, wher-so I go,
 Shulde ay be relees to my wo. 4440
 But what and she my balis bete,
 And be to me curteis and swete ?
 She is in no-thing ful certeyn.
 Lovers she put in ful gret peyn,
 And makith hem with wo to dele. 4445
 Hir fair biheest disceyveth fele,
 For she wol bihote, sikirly,
 And failen aftir outrely.
 A ! that is a ful noyous thing !
 For many a lover, in loving, 4450
 Hangeth upon hir, and trusteth fast,
 Whiche lese hir travel at the last.
 Of thing to comen she woot right nought ;
 Therefore, if it be wylly sought,
 Hir counseille, foly is to take. 4455
 For many tymes, whan she wol make
 A ful good silogisme, I drede

- That aftirward ther shal in dede
 Folwe an evel conclusioun ;
 This put me in confusioun. 4460
 For many tymes I have it seen,
 That many have bigyled been,
 For trust that they have set in Hope,
 Which fel hem aftirward a-slope.
 But natheles yit, gladly she wolde, 4465
 That he, that wol him with hir holde,
 Hadde alle tymes †his purpos clere,
 Withoute deceyte, or any were.
 That she desireth sikirly ;
 Whan I hir blamed, I did foly. 4470
 But what awayleth hir good wille, Whan she ne may stauanche my stounde
 ille ?
 That helpith litel, that she may do,
 Outake biheest unto my wo.
 And heeste certeyn, in no wyse, 4475
 Withoute yift, is not to †pryse.
 Whan heest and deed a-sundir varie,
 They doon [me have] a gret contrarie.
 Thus am I possed up and down
 With dool, thought, and confusioun ; 4480
 Of my disece ther is no noumbre.
 Daunger and Shame me encumbre,
 Drede also, and Jelousye,
 And Wikked-Tunge, ful of envye,
 Of whiche the sharpe and cruell ire 4485
 Ful oft me put in gret martire.
 They han my joye fully let,
 Sith Bialacoil they have bishet
 Fro me in prisoun wikkidly,
 Whom I love so entierly, 4490
 That it wol my bane be,
 But I the soner may him see.
 And yit moreover, wurst of alle,
 Ther is set to kepe, foule hir bifalle !
 A rimpled vekke, fer ronne in age, 4495
 Frowning and yelow in hir visage,
 Which in awayte lyth day and night,
 That noon of hem may have a sight.
 Now moot my sorwe enforced be ;
 Ful soth it is, that Love yaf me 4500
 Three wonder yiftes of his grace,
 Which I have lorn now in this place,
 Sith they ne may, withoute drede,
 Helpen but litel, who taketh hede.
 For here avaleth no Swete-Thought, 4505
 And Swete-Speche helpith right nought.
 The thridde was called Swete-Loking,
- That now is lorn, without lesing.
 [The] yiftes were fair, but not forthy
 They helpe me but simplilly, 4510
 But Bialacoil [may] loosed be,
 To gon at large and to be free.
 For him my lyf lyth al in dout,
 But-if he come the rather out.
 Allas ! I trowe it wol not been ! 4515
 For how shuld I evermore him seen ?
 He may not out, and that is wrong,
 Bicause the tour is so strong.
 How shulde he out ? by whos prowesse,
 Out of so strong a forteresse ? 4520
 By me, certeyn, it nil be do ;
 God woot, I have no wit therto !
 But wel I woot I was in rage,
 Whan I to Love dide homage.
 Who was in cause, in sothfastnesse, 4525
 But hir-silf, dame Idelnesse,
 Which me conveyed, thurgh fair prayere,
 To entre into that fair vergere ?
 She was to blame me to leve,
 The which now doth me sore greve. 4530
 A foolis word is nought to trowe,
 Ne worth an appel for to bittre ;
 Men shulde him snibbe bitterly,
 At pryme temps of his foly.
 I was a fool, and she me leved, 4535
 Thurgh whom I am right nought releved.
 She accomplished al my wil,
 That now me greveth wondir il.
 Resoun me seide what shulde falle.
 A fool my-silf I may wel calle, 4540
 That love asyde I had not leyde,
 And trowed that dame Resoun seyde.
 Resoun had bothe skile and right,
 Whan she me blamed, with al hir might,
 To medle of love, that hath me shent ;
 But certeyn now I wol repent. 4546
 ' And shulde I repent ? Nay, parde !
 A fals traitour than shulde I be.
 The develles engins wolde me take,
 If I my †lorde wolde forsake, 4550
 Or Bialacoil falsly bitraye.
 Shulde I at mischeef hate him ? nay,
 Sith he now, for his curtesye,
 Is in prisoun of Jelousye.
 Curtesye certeyn dide he me, 4555
 So †muche, it may not yolden be,
 Whan he the hay passen me lete,
 To kisse the rose, faire and swete :

Shulde I therfore kunne him maugree ?
 Nay, certeynly, it shal not be ; 4560
 For Love shal never, †if god wil,
 Here of me, thurgh word or wil,
 Offence or complaynt, more or lesse,
 Neither of Hope nor Idilnesse ;
 For certis, it were wrong that I 4565
 Hated hem for hir curtesye.
 Ther is not ellis, but suffre and thinke,
 And waken whan I shulde winke ;
 Abyde in hope, til Love, thurgh chance,
 Sende me socour or allegeaunce, 4570
 Expectant ay til I may mete
 To geten mercy of that swete.
 'Whylom I thinke how Love to me
 Seyde he wolde take[n] att[e] gree
 My servise, if unpacience 4575
 Caused me to doon offence.
 He seyde, "In thank I shal it take,
 And high maister eek thee make,
 If wikkednesse ne reve it thee ;
 But sone, I trowe, that shal not be." 4580
 These were his wordis by and by ;
 It semed he loved me trewly.
 Now is ther not but serve him wele,
 If that I thinke his thank to fele.
 My good, myn harm, lyth hool in me ;
 In Love may no defaute be ; 4586
 For trewe Love †failid never man.
 Sothly, the faute mot nedis than
 (As God forbede !) be founde in me,
 And how it cometh, I can not see. 4590
 Now lat it goon as it may go ;
 Whether Love wol socoure me or slo,
 He may do hool on me his wil.
 I am so sore bounde him til,
 From his servyse I may not fleen ; 4595
 For lyf and deth, withouten wene,
 Is in his hand ; I may not chese ;
 He may me do bothe winne and lese.
 And sith so sore he doth me greve,
 Yit, if my lust he wolde acheve 4600
 To Bialacoil goodly to be,
 I yeve no force what felle on me.
 For though I dye, as I mot nede,
 I praye Love, of his goodlihede,
 To Bialacoil do gentilnesse, 4605
 For whom I live in such distresse,
 That I mote deyen for penaunce.
 But first, withoute repentaunce,
 I wol me confesse in good entent,

And make in haste my testament, 4610
 As lovers doon that felen smerte :—
 To Bialacoil leve I myn herte
 Al hool, withoute departing,
 Or doublenesse of repenting.'

Coment Raisoun vient a L'amant.

Thus as I made my passage 4615
 In complaynt, and in cruel rage,
 And I †nist wher to finde a leche
 That couthe unto myn helping eche,
 Sodeynly agayn comen down
 Out of hir tour I saugh Resoun, 4620
 Discrete and wys, and ful plesaunt,
 And of hir porte ful avenaunt.
 The righte wey she took to me,
 Which stood in greet perplexite,
 That was poshed in every side, 4625
 That I nist where I might abyde,
 Til she, demurely sad of chere,
 Seide to me as she com nere —
 'Myn owne freend, art thou yit greved ?
 How is this quarel yit achieved 4630
 Of Loves syde ? Anoon me telle ;
 Hast thou not yit of love thy fille ?
 Art thou not wery of thy servyse
 That thee hath [pyned] in sich wyse ?
 What joye hast thou in thy loving ? 4635
 Is it swete or bitter thing ?
 Canst thou yit chese, lat me see,
 What best thy socour mighte be ?
 'Thou servest a ful noble lord,
 That maketh thee thral for thy reward,
 Which ay reneweth thy turment, 4640
 With foly so he hath thee blent.
 Thou felle in mischeef thilke day,
 Whan thou didest, the sothe to say,
 Obeysaunce and eek homage ; 4645
 Thou wroughtest no-thing as the sage.
 Whan thou bicam his liege man,
 Thou didist a gret foly than ;
 Thou wistest not what fel therto,
 With what lord thou haddist to do. 4650
 If thou haddist him wel knowe,
 Thou haddist nought be brought so lowe ;
 For if thou wistest what it were,
 Thou noldist serve him half a year,
 Not a weke, nor half a day, 4655
 Ne yit an hour withoute delay,
 Ne never †han loved paramours,

His lordship is so ful of shoures.

Knowest him ought ?

L'Amaunt. 'Ye, dame, parde !'

Raisoun. 'Nay, nay.'

L'Amaunt. 'Yes, I.'

Raisoun. 'Wherof, lat see ?' 4660

L'Amaunt. 'Of that he seyde I shulde
be

Glad to have sich lord as he,
And maister of sich seignory.'

Raisoun. 'Knowist him no more ?'

L'Amaunt. 'Nay, certis, I,
Save that he yaf me rewles there, 4665

And wente his wey, I niste where,
And I abood bounde in balounce.'

Raisoun. 'Lo, there a noble conisaunce !
But I wil that thou knowe him now
Ginning and ende, sith that thou 4670

Art so anguissous and mate,
Disfigured out of astate ;
Ther may no wrecche have more of wo,
Ne caitif noon enduren so.

It were to every man sitting 4675
Of his lord have knowleching.

For if thou knewe him, out of dout,
Lightly thou shulde escapen out
Of the prison that marreth thee.'

L'Amaunt. 'Ye, dame ! sith my lord
is he, 4680

And I his man, maad with myn honde,
I wolde right fayn undirstonde
To knowe[n] of what kinde he be,
If any wolde enforme me.'

Raisoun. 'I wolde,' seid Resoun, 'thee
lere, 4685

Sith thou to lerne hast sich desire,
And shewe thee, withouten fable,
A thing that is not demonstrable.
Thou shalt [here lerne] without science,
And knowe, withoute experience, 4690
The thing that may not known be,
Ne wist ne shewid in no degree.

Thou mayst the sothe of it not witen,
Though in thee it were witen.

Thou shalt not knowe therof more 4695
Whyle thou art reuled by his lore ;

But unto him that love wol flee,
The knotte may unclosed be,
Which hath to thee, as it is founde,
So long he knet and not unbounde. 4700
Now sette wel thyn entencioun,

To here of love discrepcioun.

'Love, it is an hateful pees,
A free acquitaunce, without relees,
†A trounthe, fret full of falskede, 4705
A sikernesse, al set in drede ;

In herte is a despeiring hope,
And fulle of hope, it is wanhope ;
Wyse woodnesse, and wood resoun,
A swete peril, in to droune, 4710
An hevvy birthen, light to bere,
A wikked wawe away to were.

It is Caribdis perilous,
Disagreable and gracious.
It is discordaunce that can accorde, 4715
And accordaunce to discorde.

It is cunning withoute science,
Wisdom withoute sapience,
Wit withoute discrecioun,
Havoir, withoute possessioun. 4720

It is †sike hele and hool siknesse,
A †thrust drowned †in dronkenesse,
†An helthe ful of maladye,
And charitee ful of envye,

†An hunger ful of habundaunce, 4725
And a gredy suffisaunce ;
Delyt right ful of hevynesse,
And drieri[h]ed ful of gadnesse ;

Bitter swetnesse and swete errour,
Right evel savoured good savour ; 4730
†Sinne that pardoun hath withinne,
And pardoun spotted without [with]
sinne ;

A peyne also it is, joyous,
And felonye right pitous ;
Also pley that selde is stable, 4735
And stedefast [stat], right mevable ;

A strengthe, weyked to stonde upright,
And feblenesse, ful of might ;
Wit unavyssed, sage folye,
And joye ful of turmantrye ; 4740

A laughter it is, weping ay,
Rest, that travyleth night and day ;
Also a swete helle it is,
And a sorowful Paradys ;

A plesant gayl and easy prison, 4745
And, ful of froste, somer sesoun ;
Pryme temps, ful of frostes whyte,
And May, devoide of al delyte,

With seer braunches, blossoms ungrene ;
And newe fruyt, fillid with winter tene.
It is a slowe, may not forbere 4751

Ragges, ribaned with gold, to were:
 For al-so wel wol love be set
 Under ragges as riche rochet ;
 And eek as wel þe amourettes 4755
 In mourning blak, as bright burnettes.
 For noon is of so mochel pryse,
 Ne no man founden [is] so wys,
 Ne noon so high is of parage,
 Ne no man founde of wit so sage, 4760
 No man so hardy ne so wight,
 Ne no man of so mochel might,
 Noon so fulfilled of bounte,
 †But he with love may daunted be.
 Al the world holdith this way ; 4765
 Love makith alle to goon miswey,
 But it be they of yvel lyf,
 Whom Genius cursith, man and wyf,
 That wrongly werke ageyn nature.
 Noon suche I love, ne have no cure 4770
 Of suche as Loves servaunts been,
 And wol not by my counsel fleen.
 For I ne preyse that loving,
 Wher-thurgh man, at the laste ending,
 Shal calle hem wreochis fulle of wo, 4775
 Love greveth hem and shendith so.
 But if thou wolt wel Love eschewe,
 For to escape out of his mewe,
 And make al hool thy sorwe to slake,
 No bettir counsel mayst thou take, 4780
 Than thinke to fleen wel, y-wis ;
 May nought helpe elles ; for wite thou
 this :—
 If thou flec it, it shal flec thee ;
 Folowe it, and folowen shal it thee.
L'Amaunt. Whan I hadde herd al
 Resoun seyn, 4785
 Which hadde spilt hir speche in veyn :
 'Dame,' seyde I, 'I dar wel sey
 Of this avaunt me wel I may
 That from your scole so deviant
 I am, that never the more avaunt 4790
 Rightnoughtam I, thurgh your doctryne ;
 I dulle under your disciplyne ;
 I wot no more than [I] wist þer,
 To me so contrarie and so fer
 Is every thing that ye me lere ; 4795
 And yit I can it al †parcuere.
 Myn herte foryetith therof right nought,
 It is so wroten in my thought ;
 And depe †graven it is so tendir
 That al by herte I can it rendre, 4800

And redo it over comunely ;
 But to my-silf lewedist am I.
 'But sith ye love discreven so,
 And lakke and preise it, bothe two,
 Defyneth it into this letter, 4805
 That I may thanke on it the better
 For I herde never †diffyne it ere,
 And wilfully I wolde it lere.' Raisoun. 'If love be serched wel and sought,
 It is a syknesse of the thought 4810
 Annexed and †knet bitwixe tweyne,
 †Which male and female, with oo cheyne,
 So frely byndith, that they nil twinne,
 Whether so therof they lese or winne.
 The roote springith, thurgh hoot bren-ning, 4815
 Into disordinat desiring
 For to kissen and embrace,
 And at her lust them to solace.
 Of other thing love recchith nought,
 But setteth hir herte and al hir thought
 More for delectacioun 4821
 Than any procreacioun
 Of other fruyt by †engendring ;
 Which love to god is not plesing ;
 For of hir body fruyt to get 4825
 They yeve no force, they are so set Upon delyt, to play in-ferre.
 And somme have also this manere,
 To feynen hem for love seke ;
 Sich love I preise not at a leka. 4830
 For paramours they do but feyne ;
 To love truly they disdeyne.
 They falsen ladies traitoursly,
 And sweren hem othes utterly,
 With many a losing, and many a fable,
 And al they finden deceyvable. 4836
 And, whanne they þher lust han geten,
 The hoote ernee they al foryeten.
 Wimmen, the harm they byen ful sore ;
 But men this thonken evermore, 4840
 That lasse harm is, so mote I thee, Disceyve them, than disceyved be ;
 And namely, wher they ne may Finde non other mene wey.
 For I wot wel, in sothfastnesse, 4845
 That †who doth now his bysnesse
 With any woman for to dele,
 For any lust that he may fele,
 But-if it be for engendrure,

He doth trespasse, I you ensure. 4850 For he shulde setten al his wil To geten a likly thing him til, And to sustene[n], if he might, And kepe forth, by kindes right, His owne lyknesse and semblable, 4855 For bicause al is corumpable, And faile shulde successioun, Ne were †ther generacioun Our sectis strenge for to save. Whan fader or moder arn in grave, 4860 Hirchildren shulde, whan they ben deede, Ful diligent ben, in hir steede, To use that werke on such a wyse, That oon may thurgh another ryse. Therefore set Kinde therin delyt, 4865 For men therin shulde hem delyte, And of that dede be not erke, But ofte sythes haunt that werke. For noon wolde drawe therof a draught Ne were delyt, which hath him caught. This hadde sotil dame Nature ; 4871 For noon goth right, I thee ensure, Ne hath entent hool ne parfyt ; For hir desir is for delyt, The which fortene crece and eke 4875 The pley of love for-ofte seke, And thralle hem-silf, they be so nyce, Unto the prince of every vyce. For of ech sinne it is the rote, Unlefulle lust, though it be sote, 4880 And of al yvel the racyne, As Tullius can determyne, Which in his tyme was ful sage, In a boke he made of Age, Wher that more he preyseth Elde, 4885 Though he be croked and unwelde, And more of commendacioun, Than Youthe in his discrepcioun. For Youthe set bothe man and wyf In al perel of soule and lyf ; 4890 And perel is, but men have grace, The †tyme of youthe for to pace, Withoute any deth or distresse, It is so ful of wildenesse ; So ofte it doth shame or damage 4895 To him or to his linage. It ledith man now up, now down, In mochel dissolncioun, And makith him love yvel company, And lede his lyf disrewilly, 4900	And halt him payed with noon estate. Within him-silf is such debate, He chaungith purpos and entent, And yalt [him] into som covent, To liven aftir her emprise, 4905 And lesith fredom and fraunchyse, That Nature in him hadde set, The which ageyn he may not get, If he there make his mansioun For to abyde professioun. 4910 Though for a tyme his herte absente, It may not fayle, he shal repente, And eke abyde thilke day To leve his abit, and goon his way, And lesith his worship and his name, And dar not come ageyn for shame ; 4916 But al his lyf he doth so mourne, Bicause he dar not hoom retourne. Fredom of kinde so lost hath he That never may recured be, 4920 †But-if that god him graunte grace That he may, or he honnes pace, Conteyne undir obedience Thurgh the vertu of pacience. For Youthe set man in al folye, 4925 In unthrift and in ribaudey, In lecherye, and in outrage, So ofte it chaungith of corage. Youthe ginneth ofte sich bargeyn, That may not ende withouten peyn. 4930 In gret perel is set youth-hede, Delyt so doth his bridil lede. Delyt †thus hangith, drede thee nought, Bothe mannis body and his thought, Only thurgh †Youthe, his chamberere, That to don yvel is customere, 4936 And of nought elles taketh hede But only folkes for to lede Into disporte and wildenesse, So is [she] froward from sadnesse. 4940 ‘ But Elde drawith hem therfro ; Who wot it nought, he may wel go †Demand of hem that now arn olde, That whylom Youthe hadde in holde, Which yit †remembre of tendir age, 4945 How it hem brought in many a rage, And many a foly therin wrought. But now that Elde hath †hem thurgh- sought, They repente hem of her folye, That Youthe hem putte in jupardy, 4950
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

In perel and in muche wo,
 And made hem ofte amis to do,
 And suen yvel companye,
 Riot and avouterye.
 ' But Elde þan ageyn restreyne 4955
 From suche foly, and refreyne,
 And set men, by hir ordinaunce,
 In good reule and in governaunce.
 But yvel she spendith hir servyse,
 For no man wol hir love, þne pryse; 4960
 She is hated, this wot I wele.
 Hir acqueyntaunce wolde no man fele,
 Ne han of Elde companye,
 Men hate to be of hir alye.
 For no man wolde bicomen olde, 4965
 Ne dye, whan he is yong and bolde.
 And Elde mervailith right gretly,
 Whan they remembre hem inwardly
 Of many a perelous emprise, Whiche that they wrought in sondry
 wyse, 4970
 How ever they might, withoute blame,
 Escape away withoute shame,
 In youthe, withoute[n] damage
 Or reproof of her linage,
 Losee of membre, shedding of blode, 4975
 Perel of deth, or losse of good.
 ' Wost thou nought where Youthe
 abit,
 That men so preisen in her wit?
 With Delyt she halt sojour,
 For bothe they dwellen in oo tour. 4980
 As longe as Youthe is in sesoun,
 They dwellen in oon mansioun.
 Delyt of Youthe wol have servyse
 To do what so he wol devyse;
 And Youthe is redy evermore 4985
 For to obey, for smerte of sore,
 Unto Delyt, and him to yive
 Hir servise, whyl that she may live.
 ' Where Elde abit, I wol thee telle
 Shortly, and no whyle dwalle, 4990
 For thider bihoveth thee to go.
 If Deth in youthe thee not slo,
 Of this journey thou maist not falle.
 With hir Labour and Travaile
 Logged been, with Sorwe and Wo, 4995
 That never out of hir courte go.
 Peyne and Distresse, Syknesse and Ire,
 And Malencoly, that angry sire,
 Ben of hir paleys senatours;

Groning and Grucching, hir herbergeours, 5000
 The day and night, hir to turment,
 With cruel Deth they hir present,
 And tellen hir, erliche and late,
 That Deth þstant armed at hir gate.
 Than bringe they to hir remembraunce
 The foly dedis of hir infaançe, 5006
 Which causen hir to mournen in wo
 That Youthe hath hir bigiled so,
 Which sodeynly away is hasted.
 She þwepeth the tyme that she hath wasted, 5010
 Compleyning of the preterit,
 And the present, that not abit,
 And of hir olde vanitee,
 That, but aforh hir she may see
 In the future som socour, 5015
 To leggen hir of hir dolour,
 To graunt hir tyme of repentaunce,
 For hir sinnes to do penaunce,
 And at the laste so hir governe
 To winne the joy that is eterne, 5020
 Fro which go bakward Youthe þhir made,
 In vanitee to droune and wade.
 For present tyme abidith nought,
 It is more swift than any thought;
 So litel whyle it doth endure 5025
 That ther nis compte ne mesura.
 ' But how that ever the game go,
 Who list þhave joye and mirth also
 Of love, be it he or she,
 High or lowe, who[so] it be, 5030
 In fruyt they shulde hem delyte;
 Her part they may not elles quyte,
 To save hem-silf in honestee.
 And yit ful many oon I see
 Of wimmen, sothly for to seyne, 5035
 That [ay] desire and wolde fayne
 The pley of love, they be so wilde,
 And not coveite to go with childe.
 And if with child they be perchaunce,
 They wole it holde a gret mischaunce;
 But what-som-ever wo they fele, 5041
 They wol not pleyne, but coveite;
 But-if it be any fool or nyce,
 In whom that shame hath no justyca.
 For to delyt echon they drawe, 5045
 That haunte this werk, bothe high and
 lawe,
 Save sich that ar[e]n worth right nought,

That for money wol be bought. Such love I preise in no wyse, When it is †given for covetise. 5050 I preise no womman, though †she be wood, That yeveth hir-silf for any good. For litel shulde a man telle Of hir, that wol hir body selle, Be she mayde, be she wyf, 5055 That quik wol selle hir, by hir lyf. How faire chere that ever she make, He is a wreoche, I undirtake, That †loveth such one, for swete or sour, Though she him calle hir paramour, 5060 And laugheth on him, and makith him feaste. For certeynly no suche [a] beeste To be loved is not worthy, Or bere the name of dru(e)ry. Noon shulde hir please, but he were wood, That wol dispoile him of his good. 5066 Yit nevertheles, I wol not sey †But she, for solace and for play, May a jewel or other thing Take of her loves free yeving ; 5070 But that she aske it in no wyse, For drede of shame of covetise. And she of hirs may him, certeyn, Withoute sclandre, yeven ageyn, And joyne her hertes togidre so 5075 In love, and take and yeve also. Trowe not that I wolde hem twinno, When in her love ther is no sinne ; I wol that they togedre go, And doon al that they han ado, 5080 As curteis shulde and debonaire, And in her love beren hem faire, Withoute vyce, bothe he and she ; So that alwey, in honestee, Fro foly love †they kepe hem clere 5085 That brenneth hertis with his fere ; And that her love, in any wyse, Be devoid of covetise. Good love shulde engendrid be Of trewe herte, just, and secree, 5090 And not of such as sette her thought To have her lust, and ellis nought, So are they caught in Loves lace, Truly, for bodily solace. Fleshly delyt is so present 5095 With thee, that sette al thyn entent, Withoute more (what shulde I glose?)	For to gete and have the Rose ; Which makith thee so mate and wood That thou desirest noon other good. 5100 But thou art not an inche the nerre, But ever abydest in sorwe and werre, As in thy face it is sene ; It makith thee bothe pale and lene ; Thy might, thy vertu goth away. 5105 A sory gest, in goode fay, Thou †herberedest than in thyn inne, The God of Love when thou let inne ! Wherfore I rede, thou shette him out, Or he shal greve thee, out of doute ; 5110 For to thy profit it wol turne, If he nomore with thee sojourns. In gret mischeef and sorwe sonken Ben hertis, that of love arn dronken, As thou peraventure knowen shal, 5115 When thou hast lost †thy tyme al, And spent †thy youthe in ydilnesse, In waste, and woful lustinesse ; If thou maist live the tyme to see Of love for to delivered be, 5120 Thy tyme thou shalt biwepe sore The whiche never thou maist restore. (For tyme lost, as men may see, For no-thing may recured be). And if thou scape yit, atte laste, 5125 Fro Love, that hath thee so faste Knit and bounden in his lace, Certeyn, I holde it but a grace. For many oon, as it is seyn, Have lost, and spent also in veyn, 5130 In his servyse, withoute socour, Body and soule, good, and tresour, Wit, and strengthe, and eek richesse, Of which they hadde never redresse. Thus taught and preched hath Resoun, But Love spilte hir sermoun, 5136 That was so impud in my thought, That hir doctrine I sette at nought. And yit ne seide she never a dele, That I ne understode it wele, 5140 Word by word, the mater al. But unto Love I was so thral, Which callith over-al his pray, He chasith so my thought †alway, And holdith myn herte undir his sele, As trust and trew as any stele ; 5146 So that no devocioun Ne hadde I in the sermoun

Of dame Resoun, ne of hir rede ;
 It toke no sojour in myn hede. 5150
 For alle yede out at oon ere
 That in that other she dide lere ;
 Fully on me she lost hir lore,
 Hir speche me greved wondir sore.
 †Than unto hir for ire I seide, 5155
 For anger, as I dide abraide :
 ' Dame, and is it your wille algate,
 That I not love, but that I hate
 Alle men, as ye me teche ?
 For if I do aftir your speche, 5160
 Sith that ye seyn love is not good,
 Than must I nedis say with mood,
 If I it leve, in hatrede ay
 Liven, and voide love away
 From me, [and been] a sinful wrecche,
 Hated of all that [love that] teccha. 5166
 I may not go noon other gate,
 For either must I love or hate.
 And if I hate men of-newe
 More than love, it wol me rewe, 5170
 As by your proching semeth me,
 For Love no-thing ne preisith thee.
 Ye yeve good counsell, sikirly,
 That prechith me al-day, that I
 Shulde not Loves lore alowe ; 5175
 He were a fool, wolde you not trowe !
 In speche also ye han me taught
 Another love, that knowen is naught,
 Which I have herd you not repreve,
 To love ech other ; by your leve, 5180
 If ye wolde diffyne it me,
 I wolde gladly here, to see,
 At the leest, if I may lere
 Of sondry loves the manere.'
Ratoun. 'Cartis, freend, a fool art
 thou 5185
 Whan that thou no-thing wolt allowe
 That I [thee] for thy profit say.
 Yit wol I sey thee more, in fay ;
 For I am redy, at the leeste,
 To accomplishe thy requeste, 5190
 But I not wher it wol avayle ;
 In veyne, persauntre, I shal travayle.
 Love ther is in sondry wyse,
 As I shal thee here devyse.
 For som love leful is and good ; 5195
 I mene not that which makith thee wood,
 And bringith thee in many a fit,
 And raviashith fro thee al thy wit,

It is so merveilous and queynt ;
 With such love be no more aqueynt. 5200

' Love of Frenshipe also ther is,
 Which makith no man doon amis,
 Of wille knit bitwixe two,
 That wol not breke for wele ne wo ;
 Which long is lykly to contune, 5205
 Whan wille and goodis ben in comune ;
 Grounded by goddis ordinaunce,
 Hool, withoute discordaunce ;
 With hem holding comuntee
 Of al her goode in charitee, 5210
 That ther be noon excepcioun
 Thurgh chaunging of entencioun ;
 That ech helpe other at hir neede,
 And wysly hele bothe word and dede ;
 Trewes of mening, devoid of slouthe, 5215
 For wit is nought withoute trouthe ;
 So that the ton dar al his thought
 Seyn to his freend, and spare nought,
 As to him-silf, without dreding
 To be discovered by wreying. 5220
 For glad is that conjunccioun,
 Whan ther is noon suspecioun
 [Ne lak in hem], whom they wolde prove
 That trew and parfite weren in love.
 For no man may be amiable, 5225
 But-if he be so ferme and stable,
 That fortune change him not, ne blinde,
 But that his freend alwey him finde,
 Bothe pore and riche, in oo[n] [e]state.
 For if his freend, thurgh any gate, 5230
 Wol compleyne of his povertee,
 He shulde not byde so long, til he
 Of his helping him requere ;
 For good deed, don [but] thurgh prayere,
 Is sold, and bought to dere, y-wis, 5235
 To hert that of gret valour is.
 For hert fulfilled of gentilnesse
 Can yvel demene his distresse.
 And man that worthy is of name
 To asken often hath gret shame. 5240
 A good man brenneth in his thought
 For shame, whan he axeth ought.
 He hath gret thought, and dredith ay
 For his disese, whan he shal pray
 His freend, lest that he warned be, 5245

Til that he preve his stabiltee. But whan that he hath founden oon That trusty is and trew as stone, And [hath] assayed him at al, And found him stedefast as a wal, 5250 And of his freendship be certeyne, He shal him shewe bothe joye and payne, And al that [he] dar thinke or sey, Withoute shame, as he wel may. For how shulde he ashamed be 5255 Of sich oon as I tolde thee? For whan he woot his secree thought, The thridde shal knowe ther-of right nought; For tweyn in nombre is bet than three In every counsel and secree. 5260 Bepreve he dredeth never a del, Who that biset his wordis wel; For every wys man, out of drede, Can kepe his tunge til he see nede; And fooles can not holde hir tunge; 5265 A foolis belle is sone runge. Yit shal a trewe freend do more To helpe his felowe of his sore, And scoure him, whan he hath nede, In al that he may doon in dede; 5270 And gladder [be] that he him plesith Than [is] his felowe that he esith. And if he do not his requeste, He shal as mochel him moleste As his felow, for that he 5275 May not fulfille his voluntee [As] fully as he hath requered. If †bothe hertis Love hath fered, Joy and wo they shul depart, And take evenly ech his part, 5280 Half his anoy he shal have ay, And oomfort [him] what that he may; And of †his blisse parte shal he, If love wol departed be. ‘And whilom of this †amitee 5285 Spak Tullins in a ditee; †“A man shulde maken his request Unto his freend, that is honest; And he goodly shulde it fulfille, But it the more were out of skille, 5290 And otherwise not graunt therto, Except only in †cases two: If men his freend to deth wolde dryve, Let him be bisy to save his lyve. Also if men wolen him assayle, 5295	Of his wurship to make him faile, And hindren him of his renoun, Let him, with ful entencioun, His dever doon in ech degree That his freend ne shamed be, 5300 In this two †cases with his might, Taking no kepe to skille nor right, As ferre as love may him excuse; This oughte no man to refuse.” This love that I have told to thee 5305 Is no-thing contrarie to me; This wol I that thou folowe wel, And leve the tother everydel. This love to vertu al attendith, 5309 The tothir fooles blent and shendith. ‘Another love also there is, That is contrarie unto this, Which deyre is so constryned That [it] is but wille feyned; Away fro trouthe it doth so varie, 5315 That to good love it is contrarie; For it maymeth, in many wyse, Syke hertis with coveityse; Al in winning and in profyt Sich love settith his delyt. 5320 This love so hangeth in balance That, if it lese his hope, perchance, Of lucre, that he is set upon, It wol faile, and quenche anon; For no man may be amorous, 5325 Ne in his living vertuuous, But-[if] he love more, in mood, Men for hem-ailf than for hir good. For love that profit doth abyde Is fals, and bit not in no tyde. 5330 [This] love cometh of dame Fortune, That litel whyle wol contune; For it shal chaungen wonder sone, And take eclips right as the mone, Whan †she is from us [y]-let 5335 Thurgh erthe, that bitwixe is set The sonne and hir, as it may falle, Be it in party, or in alle; The shadowe maketh her bemis merke, And hir hornes to shewe derke, 5340 That part where she hath lost †the lyght Of Phebus fully, and the sight; Til, whan the shadowe is overpast, She is enlumined ageyn as faste, 5344 †Thurgh brightnesse of the sonne bemes That yeveth to hir ageyn hir lemes.

That love is right of sich nature ;
 Now is [it] fair, and now obscure,
 Now bright, now clipsy of manere,
 And whylom dim, and whylom clere. 5350
 As sone as Poverte ginneth take,
 With mantel and [with] wedis blake
 [It] hidith of Love the light away,
 That into night it turneth day ;
 It may not see Richesse shyne 5355
 Til the blakke shadowes fyne.
 For, whan Richesse shyneth bright,
 Love recovereth ageyn his light ;
 And whan it failith, he wol flit,
 And as she †groweth, so groweth it. 5360
 ‘ Of this love, here what I sey :—
 The riche men are loved ay,
 And namely tho that sparand bene,
 That wol not washe hir hertes clene
 Of the filthe, nor of the vyce 5365
 Of gredy brenning avaryce.
 The riche man ful fond is, y-wis,
 That weneth that he loved is.
 If that his herte it undirstood,
 It is not he, it is his good ; 5370
 He may wel witen in his thought,
 His good is loved, and he right nought.
 For if he be a nigard eke,
 Men wole not sette by him a leke,
 But haten him ; this is the soth. 5375
 Lo, what profit his catel doth !
 Of every man that may him see,
 It geteth him nought but enmittee.
 But he amende †him of that vyce,
 And knowe him-silf, he is not wys. 5380
 ‘ Certis, he shulde ay freendly be,
 To gete him love also ben free,
 Or ellis he is not wyse ne sage
 No more than is a gotte ramage.
 That he not loveth, his dede proveth,
 Whan he his richesse so wel loveth, 5386
 That he wol hyde it ay and spare,
 His pore freendis seen forfare ;
 To kepe †it ay is his purpose,
 Til for drede his eyen close, 5390
 And til a wikked deth him take ;
 Him hadde lever asondre shake,
 And late †his limes asondre ryve,
 Than leve his richesse in his lyve.
 He thenkith parte it with no man ; 5395
 Certayn, no love is in him than.
 How shulde love within him be,

Whan in his herte is no pite ?
 That he trespasseth, wel I wat,
 For ech man knowith his estat ; 5400
 For wel him †oughte be reproved
 That loveth nought, ne is not loved.
 ‘ But sith we arn to Fortune comen,
 And †han our sermoun of hir nomen,
 A wondir wil I telle thee now, 5405
 Thou herdist never sich oon, I trow.
 I not wher thou me leven shal,
 Though sothfastnesse it be †in al,
 As it is wrihten, and is sooth,
 That unto men more profit doth 5410
 The froward Fortune and contraire,
 Than the swote and debonaire :
 And if thee thinke it is doutable,
 It is thurgh argument provable.
 For the debonaire and softe 5415
 Falsith and bigylith ofte ;
 For liche a moder she can cherishe
 And milken as doth a norys ;
 And of hir goode to †hem deles,
 And yeveth †hem part of her joweles,
 With grete richesse and dignitee ; 5421
 And hem she hoteth stabilitee
 In a state that is not stable,
 But chaunging ay and variable ;
 And fedith †hem with glorie veyne, 5425
 And worldly blisse noncerteyne.
 Whan she †hem settith on hir whele,
 Than wene they to be right wele,
 And in so stable state withalle,
 That never they wene for to falla. 5430
 And whan they set so high[e] be,
 They wene to have in certainte
 Of hertly frendis †so gret noumbre,
 That no-thing mighte her stat encombre ;
 They truste hem so on every syde, 5435
 Wening with †hem they wolde abyde
 In every perel and mischaunce,
 Withoute chaunge or variaunce,
 Bothe of catel and of good ;
 And also for to spende hir blood 5440
 And alle hir membris for to spille,
 Only to fulfille hir wille.
 They maken it hole in many wyse,
 And hoten hem hir ful servyse,
 How sore that it do hem smarte, 5445
 Into hir very naked sherte !
 Herte and al, so hole they yeve,
 For the tyme that they may live,

So that, with her flateryc, They maken foolis glorifye Of hir wordis [greet] speking, And han †there-of a rejoycing, And trowe hem as the Evangyle ; And it is al falsheed and gyle ; As they shal afterwarde[s] see, Whan they arn falle in povertoc, And been of good and catel bare ; Than shulde they seen who freendis ware.	5450 5455	They calle hem "wrecche," scorne and blame, And of hir mishappe hem diffame, And, namely, siche as in richesse Pretendith most of stableness, Whan that they sawe him set onlofte, And weren of him socoured ofte, And most y-holpe in al hir nede : But now they take no maner hede, But seyn, in voice of flateryc, That now apperith hir folye, Over-al where-so they fare, And singe, "Go, farewel feldefare."	5500 5510
For of an hundred, certeynly, Nor of a thousand ful scarsly, Ne shal they fynde unnethis oon, Whan poverttee is comen upon. For †this Fortune that I of telle, With men whan hir lust to dwelle, Makith hem to lese hir conisaunce, And nourishith hem in ignoraunce.	5460 5465	Alle suche freendis I beshrewe, For of [the] trewe ther be to fewe ; But sothfast freendis, what so bytde, In every fortune wolen abyde ; They han hir hertis in suche noblesse That they nil love for no richesse ; Nor, for that Fortune may hem sende, They wolen hem socoure and defende ; And chaunge for softe ne for sore, For who is freend, loveth evermore, Though men draweswerd his freend to slo, He may not hewe hir love atwo. But, in [the] case that I shal sey, For pride and ire lese it he may, And for reprove by nycetec, And discovering of privitec, With tonge wounding, as feloun, Thurgh venemous detraccioun.	5515 5520 5525
'But froward Fortune and perverse, Whan high estatis she doth reverse, And maketh hem to tumble doun Of hir whele, with sodeyn tourn, And from hir richesse doth hem flee, And plongeth hem in poverttee, As a stepmoder envyous, And leyeth n plaistre dolorous Unto her hertis, wounded egre, Which is not tempered with vinegre, But with povertte and indigence, †She sheweth, by experience, That she is Fortune verely In whom no man shulde affy, Nor in hir yestis have fianuce, She is so ful of variaunce.	5470 5475 5480	And certeyn, he is wel bigoon Among a thousand that fyndith oon. For ther may be no richesse, Ageyns frendship, of worthinesse ; For it ne may so high atteigne As may the valoure, sooth to seyne, Of him that loveth trew and wel ; Frendship is more than is catel. For freend in court ay better is Than peny in [his] purs, certis ; And Fortune, mishapping, Whan upon men she is †falling, Thurgh misturning of hir chaunce, And †casteth hem oute of balance, She makith, thurgh hir adversitee, Men ful clearly for to see	5530 5535 5540
Thus can she maken high and lowe, Whan they from richesse ar[e]n throwe, Fully to knowen, withouten were, Freend of †effect, and freend of chere ; And which in love weren trew and stable, And whiche also weren variable, After Fortune, hir goddesso, - In povertte, outhur in richesse ; For al †she yeveth, out of drede, Unhappe bereveth it in dede ; For Infortune †lat not oon Of freendis, whan Fortune is goon ; I mene tho freendis that wol flee Anoon as entreth poverttee. And yit they wol not leve hem so, But in ech place where they go	5485 5490 5495

Him that is freend in existense		Yit never shal make his richesse

For Infortune makith anon		But the povre that recchith nought,
To knowe thy freendis fro thy foon,		Save of his lyflode, in his thought,
By experience, right as it is ;		Which that he getith with his travaile,
The which is more to preyse, y-wis,		He dredith nought that it shal faille,

Sith that it makith him a wys man,		He doth [it], for that he wol be
The greet mischeef that he †receyveth,		Content with his povertee
Than doth richesse that him deceyveth.		Withouts nede of any man.
Richesse riche ne makith nought		So miche in litel have he can,	5630
Him that on tresour set his thought ;		He is apayed with his fortune ;
For richesse stont in suffisaunce	5581	And for he nil be importune
And no-thing in habundaunce ;		Unto no wight, ne onerous,
For suffisaunce al-only		Nor of hir goodes covelitous ;
Makith men to live richely.		Therefore he spareth, it may wel been,
For he that hath [but] miches tweyne,		His pore estat for to sustene.	5636
Ne [more] value in his demeigne,	5586	' Or if him lust not for to spare,
Liveth more at ese, and more is riche,		But suffrith forth, as nought ne ware,

And in his bern hath, soth to seyn,		Right unto his laste day,	5640
An hundred †muwis of whete greyn,	5590	And †taketh the world as it wolde be ;
Though he be chapman or marchaunt,		For ever in herte thenkith he,
And have of golde many besaunt.		The soner that [the] deeth him slo,
For in the geting he hath such wo,		To paradyz the soner go
And in the keping drede also,		He shal, there for to live in blisse,	5645
And set evermore his bisynesse	5595	Where that he shal no good misse.
For to encresse, and not to lesse,		Thider he hopith god shal him sende
For to augment and multiply.		Aftir his wrecchid lyves ende.
And though on hepis †it lye him by,		Pictagoras himsilf rehersed,

Than goth he, fardels for to bere,		Ye, two hundred, in flesh and bonis,
With as good chere as he dide ere ;		And yit two thousand, as I gesse,	5735
To swinke and travaile he not feynith,		For to encresen her richesse.
For for to robben he disdeynith ;	5686	They wol not worchen, in no wyse,
But right anoon, aftir his swinke,		But for lucre and coveteysæ ;
He goth to tavern for to drinke.		For fysyk ginneth first by fy ,
Alle these ar riche in abundaunce,		The fysycien also sothely ;	5740
That can thus have suffisaunce	5690	And sithen it goth fro fy to † sy ;
Wel more than can an usurere,		To truste on hem, it is foly ;
As god wel knowith, withoute were.		For they nil, in no maner gree,
For an usurer, so god mo see,		Do right nought for charitee.
Shal never for richesse riche bee,		‘ Eke in the same secte are set	5745
But evermore pore and indigent,	5695	Alle tho that prechen for to get
Scarce, and gredy in his entent.		Worshipes, honour, and richesse.
‘ For soth it is, whom it displese,		Her hertis arn in greet distresse,
Ther may no marchaunt live at ese ;		That folk [ne] live not holly.
His herte in sich a †were is set,		But aboven al, specialy,	5750

Sich as prechen [for] veynglorie, And toward god have no memorie, But forth as yporites trace, And to her soules deth purchace, And outward †shewen holynesse, 5755 Though they be fulle of cursidnesse. Not liche to the apostles twelve, They deceyve other and hem-selve ; Bigyled is the gyler than. For preching of a cursed man, 5760 Though [it] to other may profyte, Himsilf availeth not a myte ; For oft good predicacioun Cometh of evel entencioun. To him not vailith his preching, 5765 Al helpe he other with his teching ; For where they good ensaumple take, There is he with veynglorie shake. † But lat us leven these prechoures, And speke of hem that in her toures 5770 Hepe up her gold, and faste shette, And sore tharon her herte sette. They neither love god, ne drede They kepe more than it is nede, And in her bagges sore it binde, 5775 Out of the sonne, and of the winde ; They putte up more than nede ware, When they seen pore folk forfare, For hunger dye, and for cold quake ; God can wel vengeaunce therof take. 5780 † Three gret mischeves hem assaillith, And thus in gadring ay travaylith ;	With moche peyne they winne richesse ; And drede hem holdith in distresse, To kepe that they gadre faste ; 5785 With sorwe they leve it at the laste ; With sorwe they bothe dye and live, That † to richesse her hertis yive, And in defaute of love it is, As it shewith ful wel, y-wis. 5790 For if these gredy, the sothe to seyn, Loveden, and were loved ageyn, And good love regned over-alle, Such wikkidnesse ne shulde falle ; But he shulde yeve that most good had To hem that weren in nede bistad, 5796 And live withoute fals usure, For charitee ful clene and pure. If they hem yeve to goodnesse, Defending hem from ydaldnesse, 5800 In al this world than pore noon We shulde finde, I trowe, not oon. But changed is this world unstable ; For love is over-al vendable. We see that no man loveth now 5805 But for winning and for prow ; And love is thrallid in servage When it is sold for avauntage ; Yit women wol hir bodies selle ; 5810 Suche soules goth to the devel of helle.' [Here ends l. 5170 of the F. text. FRAGMENT C.

Whan Love had told hem his entente, The baronage to councel wente ; In many sentences they fille, And dyversly they seide hir wille : But aftir discord they accorded, 5815 And hir accord to Love recorded. ' Sir,' seiden they, ' we been at oon, By even accord of everichoon, Out-take Richesse al-only, That sworn hath ful haunteynly, 5820 That she the castel †nil assaile, Ne smyte a stroke in this bataille, With dart, ne mace, spare, ne knyf,	For man that speketh or bereth the lyf, And blameth your empryse, y-wis, 5825 And from our hoost departed is, (At leeste wey, as in this plyte,) So hath she this man in dispyte ; For she seith he ne loved hir never, And therfor she wol hate him ever. 5830 For he wol gadre no tresore, He hath hir wrath for evermore. He agilte hir never in other caas, Lo, here al hoolly his trespas ! She seith wel, that this other day 5835 He asked hir leve to goon the way

That is clepid To-moche-Yeving,
 And spak ful faire in his praying ;
 But whan he prayde hir, pore was he,
 Therefore she warned him the entree. 5840
 Ne yit is he not thriven so
 That he hath geten a peny or two,
 That quitly is his owne in hold.
 Thus hath Richesse us alle told ;
 And whan Richesse us this recorded, 5845
 Withouten hir we been accorded.

' And we finde in our accordaunce,
 That False-Semblant and Abstaunce,
 With alle the folk of hir bataile,
 Shulle at the hinder gate assayle, 5850
 That Wikkid-Tunge hath in keping,
 With his Normans, fulle of jangling.
 And with hem Curtesie and Largesse,
 That shulle shewe hir hardinesse
 To the olde wyf that †kepeth so harde
 Fair-Welcoming within her warde. 5856
 Than shal Delyte and Wel-Helinge
 Fonde Shame adoun to bringe ;
 With al hir hoost, erly and late,
 They shulle assaillen †thilke gate. 5860
 Agaynes Drede shal Hardinesse
 Assayle, and also Sikernesse,
 With al the folk of hir leding,
 That never wist what was fleing.

' Fraunchyse shal fighte, and eek Pitee,
 With Daunger ful of crueltee. 5866
 Thus is your hoost ordeyned wel ;
 Doun shal the castel every-del,
 If everiche do his entente,
 So that Venus be presente, 5870
 Your moder, ful of vassalage,
 That can y-nough of such usage ;
 Withouten hir may no wight spede
 This werk, neither for word ne dede.
 Therefore is good ye for hir sende, 5875
 For thorough hir may this werk amende.'

Amour. ' Lordinges, my moder, the goddesse,
 That is my lady, and my maistresse,
 Nis not [at] al at my willing,
 No doth not al my desyring. 5880
 Yit can she som-tyme doon labour,
 Whan that hir lust, in my socour,
 †Al my nedes for to achieve,
 But now I thanke hir not to greve.
 My moder is she, and of childhede 5885
 I bothe worships hir, and eek drede ;

For who that dredeth sire ne dame
 Shal it abyne in body or name.
 And, natheles, yit kunne we Sende after hir, if nede be ; 5890
 And were she nigh, she comen wolde,
 I trowe that no-thing might hir holde.

' My moder is of greet prowesse ;
 She hath tan many a fortereasse,
 That cost hath many a pound er this, 5895
 Ther I nas not present, y-wis ;
 And yit men seide it was my dede ;
 But I come never in that stede ;
 Ne me ne lyketh, so mote I thee,
 Such †tours take withoute me. 5900
 For-why me thenketh that, in no wyse,
 It may ben cleped but marchandise.

' Go bye a courser, blak or whyte,
 And pay therfor ; than art thou quyte.
 The marchaunt oweth thee right nought,
 Ne thou him, whan thou [haast] it bought.
 I wol not selling clepe yeving, 5907
 For selling axeth no guerdoning ;
 Here lyth no thank, ne no meryte,

That on goth from that other al quyte.
 But this selling is not semblable ; 5911
 For, whan his hors is in the stable,
 He may it selle ageyn, pardee,
 And winne on it, such hap may be ;
 Al may the man not lese, y-wis, 5915
 For at the leest the skin is his.
 Or elles, if it so bityde

That he wol kepe his hors to ryde,
 Yit is he lord ay of his hors.
 But thilke chaffare is wel wors, 5920
 There Venus entremeteth nought ;
 For who-so such chaffare hath bought,
 He shal not worchen so wyly,
 That he ne shal lese al outerly
 Bothe his money and his chaffare ; 5925
 But the seller of the ware

The prys and profit have shal.
 Certeyn, the byer shal lese al ;
 For he ne can so dere it bye
 To have lordship and ful maistrye, 5930
 Ne have power to make letting Neither for yift ne for preching,
 That of his chaffare, mangre his,
 Another shal have as moche, y-wis,
 If he wol yeve as moche as he, 5935
 Of what contrey so that he be ;
 Or for right nought, so happe may,

If he can flater hir to hir pay. Ben than suche marchaunts wyse ? No, but fooles in every wyse, 5940 Whan they bye such thing wilfully, Ther-as they lese her good fully. But natheles, this dar I saye, My moder is not wont to paye, For she is neither so fool ne nyce, 5945 To entremete hir of sich vyce. But truste wel, he shal paye al, That repente of his bargeyn shal, Whan Poverte put him in distresse, Al were he scoler to Richesse, 5950 That is for me in gret yerning, Whan she assenteth to my willing. ' But, [by] my moder seint Venus, And by hir fader Saturnus, That hir engendrid by his lyf, 5955 But not upon his wedded wyf ! Yit wol I more unto you swere, To make this thing the seurere ; Now by that feith, and that pleautee + I owe to alle my brethren free, 5960 Of which ther nis wight under heven That can her fadres names neven, So dyvers and so many ther be That with my moder have be prives ! Yit wolde I swere, for sikernesse, 5965 The pole of helle to my witenesse, Now drinke I not this year clarree, If that I lye, or forsworn be ! (For of the goddes the usage is, That who-so him forswereth amis, 5970 Shal that yeer drinke no clarree). Now have I sworn y-nough, pardee ; If I forswere me, than am I lorn, But I wol never be forsworn. Sith Richesse hath me failed here, 5975 She shal abyge that trespas +dere, At leeste wey, but [she] hir arme With swerd, or sparth, or gisarme. For certes, sith she loveth not me, Fro thilke tyme that she may see 5980 The castel and the tour to-shake, In sory tyme she shal awake. If I may grype a riche man, I shal so pulle him, if I can, That he shal, in a fewe stoundes, 5985 Lese alle his markes and his poundes. I shal him make his pens outalinge, But-[if] they in his gerner springe ;	Our maydens shal eek plukke him so, That him shal nedene fotheres mo, 5990 And make him selle his lond to spende, But he the bet kunne him defende. ' Pore men han maad hir lord of me ; Although they not so mighty be, That they may fede me in delyt, 5995 I wol not have hem in depyt. No good man hateth hem, as I gesse ; For chinche and feloun is Richesse, That so can chase hem and dispyse, And hem defoule in sondry wyse. 6000 They loven ful bet, so god me spede, Than doth the riche, chinchy +gnede, And been, in good feith, more stable And trewer, and more serviable ; And therfore it suffyseth me 6005 Hir goode herte, and hir pleautee. They han on me set al hir thought, And therfore I forgete hem nought. I +wolde hem bringe in gret noblesse, If that I were god of Richesse, 6010 As I am god of Love, sothly, Such routhe upon hir pleynt have I. Therfore I must his socour be, That peyneth him to serven me ; For if he deyde for love of this, 6015 Than semeth in me no love ther is.' ' Sir,' seide they, 'sooth is, every del, That ye reherce, and we wot wel Thilk oth to holde is resonable ; For it is good and covenable, 6020 That ye on riche men han sworn. For, sir, this wot we wel biforn ; If riche men doon you homage, That is as foolles doon outrage ; But ye shul not forsworen be, 6025 Ne let therfore to drinke clarree, Or piment maked fresh and newe. Ladies shulle hem such pepir brewre, If that they falle into hir laas, That they for wo mowe seyn 'Allas !' Ladies shuln ever so curteis be, 6031 That they shal quyte your oth al free. Ne seketh never other vicaires, For they shal speke with hem so faire That ye shal holde you payed ful wel, Though ye you medle never a del. 6036 Let ladies worche with hir thinges, They shal hem telle so fele tydinges, And moeve hem eke so many requestis
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

By flattery, that not honest is, 6040
 And therto yeve hem such thankinges,
 What with kissing, and with talkinges,
 That certes, if they trowed be,
 Shal never leve hem lond ne fee
 That it nil as the moeble fare, 6045
 Of which they first delivered are.
 Now may ye telle us al your wille,
 And we your hestes shal fulfillle.

'But Fals-Semblant dar not, for drede
 Of you, sir, medle him of this dede, 6050
 For he seith that ye been his fo ;
 He not, if ye wol worche him wo.
 Wherefore we pray you alle, beau-sire,
 That ye forgive him now your ire,
 And that he may dwelle, as your man,
 With Abstinence, his dere lemman ; 6056
 This our accord and our wil now.'

'Parfay,' seide Love, 'I graunte it yow ;
 I wol wel holde him for my man ; 6059
 Now lat him come : ' and he forth ran.

'Fals-Semblant,' quod Love, 'in this wyse
 I take thee here to my servyse,
 That thou our freendis helpe alway,
 And thindre hem neither night ne day,
 But do thy might hem to releve, 6065
 And eek our enemies that thou greve.
 Thyn be this might, I graunt it thee,
 My king of harlotes shalt thou be ;
 We wol that thou have such honour.

Certeyn, thou art a fals traitour, 6070
 And eek a theef ; sith thou were born,
 A thousand tyme thou art forsworn.

But, natheles, in our hering,
 To putte our folk out of douting,
 I bid thee teche hem, wostow how ? 6075

By somme general signe now,
 In what place thou shalt founden be,
 If that men had mister of thee ;
 And how men shal thee best espye,
 For thee to knowe is greet maistrye ; 6080
 Tel in what place is thyn haunting.'

F. Sem. 'Sir, I have fele dyvers woning,
 That I kepe not rehersed be,
 So that ye wolde respyten me.
 For if that I telle you the sothe, 6085
 I may have harm and shame bothe.
 If that my felowes wisten it,
 My tales shulden me be quit ;
 For certeyn, they wolde hate me,
 If ever I knewe hir cruelte ; 6090

For they wolde over-al holde hem stille
 Of trouthe that is ageyn hir wille ;
 Suche tales kepen they not here.

I might eftsome bye it ful dere,
 If I seide of hem any thing, 6095
 That ought displeseth to hir hering.

For what word that hem prikke or byteth.
 In that word noon of hem delyteth,
 Al were it gospel, the evangyle,

That wolde reprove hem of hir gyle, 6100
 For they are cruel and hauteyn.
 And this thing wot I wel, certeyn,

If I speke ought to peire hir loos,
 Your court shal not so wel be cloos,
 That they ne shal wite it atte last. 6105

Of good men am I nought agast,
 For they wol taken on hem no-thing,
 Whan that they knowe al my mening ;

But he that wol it on him take,
 He wol himself suspicious make, 6110
 That he his lyf let covertly,

In Gyle and in Ipocriay,
 That me engendred and yaf fostring,
 'They made a ful good engending,'

Quod Love, 'for who-so soothly telle, 6115
 They engendred the devel of helle !
 'But nedely, how-so-ever it be,'

Quod Love, 'I wol and charge thee,
 To telle anon thy woning-places,
 Hering ech wight that in this place is ;
 And what lyf that thou livest also, 6121

Hyde it no lenger now ; wherto ?
 Thou most discover al thy wurching,
 How thou servest, and of what thing,

Though that thou shuldest for thy soth-
 sawe 6125

Ben al to-beten and to-drawe ;
 And yit art thou not wont, pardee.
 But natheles, though thou beten be,
 Thou shalt not be the first, that so

Hath for soth-sawe suffred wo.' 6130
F. Sem. 'Sir, sith that it may lyken
 you,

Though that I shulde be slayn right now,
 I shal don your comaundement,
 For therto have I gret talent.' 6134

Withouten wordes mo, right than,
 Fals-Semblant his sermon bigan,
 And seide hem thus in audience :—

'Barouns, tak hede of my sentence !
 That wight that list to have knowing

- Of Fals-Semblant, ful of flatering, 6140
 He must in worldly folk him seke,
 And, certes, in the cloistres eke ;
 I wone no-where but in hem tweye ;
 But not lyk even, sooth to seye ;
 Shortly, I wol herberwe me 6145
 There I hope best to hulstred be ;
 And certeynly, sikerest hyding
 Is underneth humblest clothing.
 ' Religious folk ben ful covert ;
 Seculer folk ben more apert. 6150
 But natheles, I wol not blame
 Religious folk, ne hem diffame,
 In what habit that ever they go :
 Religioun humble, and trewe also,
 Wol I not blame, ne dispyse, 6155
 But I nil love it, in no wyse.
 I mene of fals religious,
 That stoute ben, and malicious ;
 That wolen in an abit go,
 And setten not hir herte therto. 6160
 ' Religious folk ben al pitous ;
 Thou shalt not seen oon dispitous.
 They loven no pryde, ne no stryf,
 But humbly they wol lede hir lyf ;
 With †swich folk wol I never be. 6165
 And if I dwelle, I feyne me
 I may wel in her abit go ;
 But me were lever my nekke atwo,
 Than †lete a purpose that I take,
 What covaunaunt that ever I make. 6170
 I dwelle with hem that proude be,
 And fulle of wyles and subtelte ;
 That worship of this world coveyten,
 And grete †nedes cunne espleyten ; 6174
 And goon and gadren greet pitaunces,
 And purchase hem the acqeyntaunces
 Of men that mighty lyf may leden ;
 And feyne hem pore, and hem-self feden
 With gode morcels delicious,
 And drinken good wyn precious, 6180
 And preche us povert and distresse,
 And fisshen hem-self greet richesse
 With wyly nettis that they caste :
 It wol come foul out at the laste.
 They ben fro clene religioun went ; 6185
 They make the world an argument
 That hath a foul conclusion.
 " I have a robe of religioun,
 Than am I al religious : "
 This argument is al roignous ; 6190
- It is not worth a croked brere ;
 Habit ne maketh †monk ne frere,
 But clene lyf and devocioun
 Maketh gode men of religioun.
 Nathelesse, ther can noon answer, 6195
 How high that ever his heed he shere
 With rasonr whetted never so kene,
 That Gyle in branches cut thrittene ;
 Ther can no wight distincte it so,
 That he dar sey a word therto. 6200
 ' But what herberwe that ever I take,
 Or what semblant that ever I make,
 I mene but gyle, and folowe that ;
 For right no mo than Gibbe our cat
 [†Fro myce and rattes went his wyle],
 Ne entende I [not] but to †begyle ; 6206
 Ne no wight may, by my clothing,
 Wite with what folk is my dwelling,
 Ne by my wordis yet, pardee,
 So softe and so pleaunt they be. 6210
 Bihold the dedes that I do ;
 But thou be blind, thou oughtest so ;
 For, varie hir wordis fro hir dede,
 They thenke on gyle, without[en] drede,
 What maner clothing that they were,
 Or what estat that ever they bere, 6216
 Lered or lewd, lord or lady,
 Knight, squier, burgeis, or bayly.'
 Right thus whyl Fals-Semblant ser-moneth,
 Eftsones Love him aresoneth, 6220
 And brak his tale in the speking
 As though he had him told lesing ;
 And seide : ' What, devel, is that I here ?
 What folk hast thou us nempned here ?
 May men finde religioun 6225
 In worldly habitacioun ? '
 F. Sem. ' Ye, sir ; it foloweth not that they Shulde lede a wikked lyf, parfey,
 Ne not therfore her soules lese,
 That hem to worldly clothes chese ; 6230
 For, certes, it were gret pitee.
 Men may in secular clothes see Florisshen holy religioun.
 Ful many a seynt in feeld and toun,
 With many a virgin glorious, 6235
 Devout, and ful religious,
 Had deyed, that †comun clothe ay beren,
 Yit seyntes never-the-les they weren.
 I coude reken you many a ten ;

Ye, wel nigh alle these holy wimmen,
 That men in chirches herie and seke, 6241
 Bothe maydens, and these wyves eke,
 That baren †many a fair child here,
 Wered alwey clothis secular,
 And in the same dyden they, 6245
 That seyntes weren, and been alwey.
 The eleven thousand maydens dere,
 That beren in heven hir cierges clere,
 Of which men rede in chiroche, and singe,
 Were take in secular clothing, 6250
 Whan they resseyved martirdom,
 And wonnen heven unto her hoom.
 Good herte maketh the gode thought ;
 The clothing yeveth ne reveth nought.
 The gode thought and the worching, 6255
 That maketh †religioun flowring,
 Ther lyth the good religioun
 After the right entencioun.
 ' Who-so toke a wethers skin,
 And wrapped a gredy wolf therin, 6260
 For he shulde go with lambes whyte,
 Wenest thou not he wolde hem byte ?
 Yis ! never-the-las, as he ware wood,
 He wolde hem wery, and drinke the
 blood ;
 And wel the rather hem disceyve, 6265
 For, sith they coude not perceyve
 His tretge and his crueltee,
 They wolde him folowe, al wolde he flee.
 ' If ther be wolves of sich hewe
 Amonges these apostlis newe, 6270
 Thou, holy chirche, thou mayst be wayled !
 Sith that thy citee is assayled
 Thourgh knightes of thyn owne table,
 God wot thy lordship is doutable !
 If they enforce [hem] it to winne, 6275
 That shulde defende it fro withinne,
 Who might defence ayens hem make ?
 Without[en] stroke it mot be take
 Of trepetet or mangonel ;
 Without displaying of pensel. 6280
 And if god nil don it occur,
 But lat [hem] renne in this colour,
 Thou moost thyn heestes laten be.
 Than is ther nought, but yelde thee,
 Or yeve hem tribute, doutelees, 6285
 And holde it of hem to have pees :
 But gretter harm bityde thee,
 That they al maister of it be,
 Wel conne they soorne thee withal ;

By day stuffen they the wal, 6290
 And al the night they mynen there.
 Nay, thou †most planten elleswhere Thyn impes, if thou wolt fruyt have ;
 Abyd not there thy-self to save.
 ' But now pees ! here I turne ageyn ;
 I wol no more of this thing †seyn, 6296
 If I may passen me herby ;
 I mighte maken you wery.
 But I wol heten you alway
 To helpe your freendes what I may, 6300
 So they wollen my company ;
 For they be shent al-outerly
 But-if so falle, that I be Oft with hem, and they with me.
 And eek my lemman mot they serve, 6305
 Or they shul not my love deserve.
 Forsothe, I am a fals traitour ;
 God jugged me for a theef trichour ;
 Forsworn I am, but wel nygh non Wot of my gyle, til it be don. 6310
 ' Though me hath many oon deth
 resseyved,
 That my tretge never aperceyved ;
 And yit resseyveth, and shal resseyve,
 That my falsnesse †never aperceyve :
 But who-so doth, if he wys be, 6315
 Him is right good be war of me.
 But so slich is the [†]deceyving
 That to hard is the] aperceyving.
 For Protheus, that coude him change
 In every shap, hoomly and straunge, 6320
 Coude never sich gyle ne tresoun
 As I ; for I com never in toun
 Ther-as I mighte knowen be,
 Though men me bothe might here and see.
 Ful wel I can my clothes change, 6325
 Take oon, and make another straunge.
 Now am I knight, now chasteleyn ;
 Now prelat, and now chapeleyn ;
 Now prest, now clerk, and now forstere ;
 Now am I maister, now scoolere ; 6330
 Now monk, now chanoun, now bailly ;
 What-ever mister man am I,
 Now am I prince, now am I page,
 And can by herte every langage.
 Som-tyme am I hoor and old ; 6335
 Now am I yong, [and] stout, and bold ;
 Now am I Robert, now Robyn ;
 Now frere Menour, now Iacobyn ;
 And with me folweth my loteby,

To don me solas and company,	6340	That he, to whom that I am shriven,
That hight dame †Abstinence-Streyned,		Hath me assoiled, and me givn
In many a queynt array [y]-feyned.		Penaunce soothly, for my sinne,
Right as it cometh to hir lykynge,		Which that I fond me gilty inne ;
I fulfille al hir desiring.		Ne I ne have never entencionn	6395
Somtyme a wommans cloth take I ;	6345	To make double confessioun,
Now am I mayde, now lady.		Ne reherce oft my shrift to thee ;
Somtyme I am religious ;		O shrift is right y-nough to me.
Now lyk an anker in an hous.		This oughte thee suffyce wel,
Somtyme am I prioresse,		Ne be not rebel never-a-del ;	6400
And now a nonne, and now abbesse ;	6350	For certes, though thou haddest it sworn,
And go thurgh alle regionns,		I wot no preest ne prelat born
Seking alle religionns.		That may to shrift eft me constreyne.
But to what ordre that I am sworn,		And if they don, I wol me pleyne ;
I take the strawe, and †lete the corn ;		For I wot where to pleyne wel.	6405
To †blynde folk [ther] I enhabite,	6355	Thou shalt not streyne me a del,
I axe no-more but hir abite.		Ne enforce me, ne †ytit me trouble,
What wol ye more ? in every wyse,		To make my confessioun double.
Right as me list, I me disgyse,		Ne I have none affeccioun
Wel can I bere me under weed ;		To have double absolucioun.	6410
Unlyk is my word to my deed.	6360	The firste is right y-nough to me ,
Thus make I in my trappes falle,		This latter assolynge quyte I thee.
Thurgh my pryvileges, alle		I am unbounde ; what mayst thou finde
That ben in Cristendom alyve.		More of my sinnes me to unbinde ?
I may assoille, and I may shryve,		For he, that might hath in his hond,	6415
That no prelat may lette me,	6365	Of alle my sinnes me unbound.
Al folk, wher-ever they founde be :		And if thou wolte me thus constreyne,
I noot no prelat may don so,		That me mot nedis on thee pleyne,
But it the pope be, and no mo,		There shal no jugge imperial,
That made thilk establisshing.		Ne bisshop, ne official,	6420
Now is not this a propre thing ?	6370	Don jugement on me ; for I
But, were my sleightes aperceyved,		Shal gon and pleyne me openly
[†Ne shulde I more been receyved]		Unto my shrift-fader newe,
As I was wont ; and wostow why ?		(That hight not Frere Wolf untrewed !)
For I dide hem a tregetry ;		And he shal †chevise him for me,	6425
But therof yeve I litel tale,	6375	For I trowe he can hampre thee.
I have the silver and the male ;		But, lord ! he wolde be wrooth withalle,
So have I preched and eek shriven,		If men him wolde Frere Wolf calle !
So have I take, so have †me givn,		For he wolde have no pacience,
Thurgh hir foly, husband and wyf,		But don al crnel vengeance !	6430
That I lede right a joly lyf,	6380	He wolde his might don at the leest,
Thurgh simplese of the palacye ;		[Ne] no-thing spare for goddes heest.
They know not al my tregetrye.		And, god so wis be my socour,
But for as moche as man and wyf		But thou yeve me my Saviour
Shuld shewe hir parochepreest hir lyf		At Ester, whan it lyketh me,	6435
Ones a yeer, as seith the book,	6385	Withoute presing more on thee,
Er any wight his housel took,		I wol forth, and to him goon,
Than have I pryvileges large,		And he shal housel me anon,
That may of moche thing discharge ;		For I am out of thy grouchynge ;
For he may seye right thus, pardee :—		I kepe not dele with thee no-thing." 6440
" Sir Preest. in shrift I telle it thee, 6390		Thus may he shryve him, that forsaketh

- His parocheprest, and to me taketh.
 And if the prest wol him refuse,
 I am ful redy him to accense,
 And him punnisse and hampre so, 6445
 That he his chirche shal forgo.
 'But who-so hath in his feling
 The consequence of such shryving, Shal seen that prest may never have might
 To knowe the conscience aright 6450
 Of him that is under his cure.
 And this ageyns holy scripture,
 That biddeth every herde honeste
 Have verry knowing of his beste.
 But pore folk that goon by strete, 6455
 That have no gold, ne sommes grete,
 Hem wolde I lete to hir prelates,
 Or lete hir prestes knowe hir states,
 For to me right nought yeve they.'
Amour. 'And why þis it?'
F. Sem. 'For they ne may. 6460
 They ben so bare, I take no keep;
 But I wol have the fatte sheep;—
 Lat parish prestes have the lene,
 I yeve not of hir harm a bene!
 And if that prelats grucchen it, 6465
 That oughten þwroth be in hir wit,
 To lese her fatte bestes so,
 I shal yeve hem a stroke or two,
 That they shal lesen with [the] force,
 Ye, bothe hir mytre and hir croce. 6470
 Thus jape I hem, and have do longe,
 My priveleges been so stronge.'
- Fals-Semblant* wolde have stinted here,
 But Love ne made him no such chere
 That he was wery of his sawe; 6475
 But for to make him glad and fawe,
 He seide:—'Tel on more specially,
 How that thou servest untrewly.
 Tel forth, and shame thee never a del;
 For as thymen abit shewith wel, 6480
 Thou þsemest an holy heremyte.'
- F. Sem.* 'Soth is, but I am an ypocryte.' Amour. 'Thou gost and prechest pover-
 tee?'
F. Sem. 'Ye, sir; but richesse hath poustee.'
Amour. 'Thou prechest abstinence
 also?' 6485
F. Sem. 'Sir, I wol fillen, so mote I go,
 My paunche of gode mete and wyne,
 As shulde a maister of divyne;
- For how that I me pover seyne,
 Yit alle pore folk I disdayne. 6490
 'I love þbet the acqueyntaunce
 Ten tymes, of the king of Fraunce,
 Than of þpore man of mylde mode,
 Though that his soule be also gode.
 For whan I see beggers quaking, 6495
 Naked on mixens al stinking,
 For hungre crye, and eek for care,
 I entremete not of hir fare.
 They been so pore, and ful of pyne,
 They might not ones yeve me þdyne, 6500
 For they have no-thing but hir lyf;
 What shulde he yeve that likketh his
 knyf?
 It is but foly to entremete,
 To seke in houndes nest fat mete.
 Let bere hem to the spital anoon, 6505
 But, for me, comfort gete they noon.
 But a riche sike usurere
 Wolde I visyte and drawe nere;
 Him wol I comforte and rehet, e
 For I hope of his gold to gete. 6510
 And if that wikked deth him have,
 I wol go with him to his grave.
 And if ther any reprove me,
 Why that I lete the pore be,
 Wostow how I þmot ascape? 6515
 I sey, and swerð him ful rape,
 That riche men han more tecches
 Of sinne, than han pore wrecches,
 And han of counseil more mister;
 And therefore I wol drawe hem ner. 6520
 But as gret hurt, it may so be,
 Hath þsoul in right gret poverte,
 As soul in gret richesse, forsothe,
 Al-be-it that they hurten bothe.
 For richesse and mendicitees 6525
 Ben cleped two extremitees;
 The mene is cleped suffisaunce,
 Ther lyth of vertu the aboundaunce.
 For Salamon, ful wel I woot,
 In his Parables us wroot, 6530
 As it is knowe of many a wight,
 In his þthrittethe chapitre right:
 "God, thou me kepe, for thy poustee,
 Fro richesse and mendicitee;
 For if a riche man him dresse 6535
 To thanke to moche on [his] richesse,
 His herte on that so fer is set,
 That he his creatour foryet;

And him, that †begging wol ay greve, How shulde I by his word him leve? 6540 Unnethe that he nis a micher, Forsworn, or elles †god is lyer." Thus seith Salamon[es] sawes; Ne we finde writen in no lawes, And namely in our Cristen lay— 6545 (Who seith 'ye,' I dar sey 'nay')— That Crist, ne his apostles dere, Whyl that they walkede in erthe here, Were never seen her bred begging, For they nolde beggen for no-thing. 6550 And right thus were men went to teche; And in this wyse wolde it preche The maistres of divinitee Somytyme in Paris the citee. 'And if men wolde ther-geyn appose The naked text, and lete the glose, 6556 It mighte sone assolde be; For men may wel the sothe see, That, parde, they mighte axe a thing Pleyntly forth, without begging. 6560 For they weren goddes herdes dere, And cure of soules hadden here, They nolde no-thing begge hir fode; For after Crist was don on rode, With †hir propre hondes they wrought, And with travel, and elles nought, 6566 They wonnen all hir sustenance, And livened forth in hir penaunce, And the remenaunt †yeve away To other pore †folk alwey. 6570 They neither bilden tour ne halle, But †leye in houses smale withalle. A mighty man, that can and may, Shulde with his honde and body alwey Winne him his food in laboring, 6575 If he ne have rent or sich a thing, Although he be religious, And god to serven curious. Thus mote he don, or do trespas, But-if it be in certeyn cas, 6580 That I can reherce, if mister be, Right wel, whan the tyme I see. 'Seke the book of Seynt Austin, Be it in paper or perchemin, 6584 There-as he writ of these worchinges, Thou shalt see that non excusinges A parfit man ne shulde seke By wordes, ne by dedes eke, Although he be religious,	And god to serven curious, 6590 That he ne shal, so mote I go, With propre hondes and body also, Gete his food in laboring, If he ne have propretee of thing. Yit shulde he selle al his substaunce, 6595 And with his swink have sustenance, If he be parfit in bountee. Thus han the bookes tolde me: For he that wol gon ydilly, And useth it ay besily 6600 To haunten other mennes table, He is a trechour, ful of fable: Ne he ne may, by gode resoun, Excuse him by his orisoun. For men bihoveth, in som gyse, 6605 †Som-tyme leven goddes servyse To gon and purchasen her nede. Men mote eten, that is no drede, And slepe, and eek do other thing; So longe may they leve praying. 6610 So may they eek hir prayer blinne, While that they werke, hir mete to winne. Seynt Austin wol therto accorde, In thilke book that I recorde. Justinian eek, that made lawes, 6615 Hath thus forboden, by olde dawes, "No man, up peyne to be deed, Mighty of body, to begge his breed, If he may swinke, it for to gete; Men shulde him rather mayme or beta, Or doon of him apert justice, 6621 Than suffren him in such malice," They don not wel, so mote I go, That taken such almesse so, But if they have som privelege, 6625 That of the peyne hem wol allege. But how that is, can I not see, But-if the prince disseyed be; Ne I ne wene not, sikerly, That they may have it rightfully. 6630 But I wol not determyn Of princes power, ne defyne, Ne by my word comprende, y-wis, If it so fer may strecche in this. I wol not entremete a del; 6635 But I trowe that the book seith wel, Who that taketh almesses, that be Dewe to folk that men may see Lame, feble, wery, and bare, Pore, or in such maner care, 6640
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

(That conne winne hem nevermo,
 For they have no power therto),
 He steth his owne dampning,
 But-if he lye, that made al thing.
 And if ye such a trauaunt finde, 6645
 Chaastise him wel, if ye be kinde.
 But they wolde hate you, percas,
 And, if ye fillen in hir laas,
 They wolde eftsones do you scathe,
 If that they mighte, late or rathe ; 6650
 For they be not ful pacient,
 That han the world thus foule blent.
 And witeth wel, [wher] that god bad
 The good man selle al that he had,
 And folowe him, and to pore it yive, 6655
 He wolde not therfore that he live
 To serven him in mendience,
 For it was never his sentence ;
 But he bad wirken whan that nede is,
 And folwe him in goode dedes. 6660
 Seynt Poule, that loved al holy chirche,
 He bade th'apostles for to wirche,
 And winnen hir lyfode in that wyse,
 And hem defended trauaundyse, 6664
 And seide, "Wirketh with your honden ;"
 Thus shulde the thing be understonden.
 He nolde, y-wis, †bidde hem begging,
 Ne sellen gospel, no preching,
 Lest they berafte, with hir asking,
 Folk of hir catel or of hir thing. 6670
 For in this world is many a man
 That yeveth his good, for he ne can Werne it for shame, or elles he Wolde of the asker delivered be ;
 And, for he him encombreth so, 6675
 He yeveth him good to late him go :
 But it can him no-thing profyte,
 They lese the yift and the meryte.
 The goode folk, that Poule to preched,
 Profred him ofte, whan he hem teched,
 Som of hir good in charite ; 6681
 But therof right no-thing took he ;
 But of his hondwerk wolde he gete
 Clothes to wryen him, and his mete.'

Amour. 'Tel me than how a man may liven, 6685

That al his good to pore hath yiven,
 And wol but only bidde his bedes,
 And never with †hond labour his nedes :
 May he do so ?'

E. Sem. 'Ye, sir.'

Amour. 'And how ?'

F. Sem. 'Sir, I wol gladly telle yow :—
 Seynt Austin seith, a man may be 6691
 In houses that han propretee,
 As templers and hospitalers,
 And as these chauanous regulators,
 Or whyte monkes, or these blake— 6695
 (I wole no mo ensamples make)—
 And take therof his sustening,
 For therinne lyth no begging ;
 But other-weyes not, y-wis,
 †Yif Austin gabbeth not of this. 6700
 And yit ful many a monk laboureth,
 That god in holy chirche honoureth ;
 For whan hir swinking is agoon,
 They rede and singe in chirche anon.

'And for ther hath ben greet discord,
 As many a wight may bere record, 6706
 Upon the estate of †mendience,
 I wol shortly, in your presence,
 Telle how a man may begge at nede,
 That hath not wherwith him to fede, 6710
 Maugre his felones jangelinges,
 For sothfastnesse wol non hidinges ;
 And yit, percas, I may abeye
 That I to yow sothly thus seye.

'Lo, here the caas especial : 6715
 If a man be so bestial
 That he of no craft hath science,
 And nought desyreth ignorence,
 Than may he go a-begging yerne,
 Til he som maner craft can lerne, 6720
 Thurgh which, without[e] trauaunding,
 He may in trouthe have his living.
 Or if he may don no labour,
 For elde, or syknesse, or langour,
 Or for his tendre age also, 6725
 Than may he yit a-begging go.

'Or if he have, paraventure,
 Thurgh usage of his noriture,
 Lived over deliciously,
 Than oughten good folk comunly 6730
 Han of his mischeef som pitee,
 And suffren him also, that he May gon aboute and begge his breed,
 That he be not for hungur deed.
 Or if he have of craft cunning, 6735
 And strengthe also, and desiring
 To wirken, as he hadde what,
 But he finde neither this ne that,
 Than may he begge, til that he

- Have geten his necessitee. 6740
 ' Or if his winning be so lyte,
 That his labour wol not acquyte
 Sufficiently at his living,
 Yit may he go his breed begging ;
 Fro dore to dore he may go trace, 6745
 Til he the remenaunt may purchace.
 Or if a man wolde undertake
 Any emprise for to make,
 In the rescous of our lay,
 And it defenden as he may, 6750
 Be it with armes or lettrure,
 Or other covenable cure,
 If it be so he pore be,
 Than may he begge, til that he
 May finde in trouthe for to swinke, 6755
 And gete him clothe(s), mete, and drinke.
 Swinke he with hondes corporel,
 And not with hondes espiritual.
 ' In al this[e] caas, and in semblables,
 If that ther ben mo resonables, 6760
 He may begge, as I telle you here,
 And elles nought, in no manere ;
 As William Seynt Amour wolde preche,
 And ofte wolde dispute and teche
 Of this matere alle openly 6765
 At Paris ful solemp[ne]ly.
 And al-so god my soule blesse,
 As he had, in this stedfastnesse,
 The accord of the universitees,
 And of the puple, as semeth me. 6770
 ' No good man oughte it to refuse,
 Ne oughte him therof to excuse,
 Be wrooth or blythe who-so be ;
 For I wol speke, and telle it thee,
 Al shulde I dye, and be put down, 6775
 As was seynt Poul, in dark prisoun ;
 Or be exiled in this caas
 With wrong, as maister William was,
 That my moder Ypoocryse
 Banished for hir greet envye. 6780
 ' My moder flemed him, Seynt Amour :
 This noble dide such labour
 To susteyne ever the loyaltee,
 That he to moche agilde me.
 He made a book, and leet it wryte, 6785
 Wherin his lyf he dide al wryte,
 And wolde ich reneyed begging,
 And lived by my traveyling,
 If I ne had rent ne other good.
 What ? wened he that I were wood ? 6790
- For labour might me never plesse,
 I have more wil to been at esse ;
 And have wel lever, sooth to sey,
 Bifore the puple patre and prey,
 And wrye me in my foxerye 6795
 Under a cope of papelardy'e.
 Quod Love, ' What devel is this I here ?
 What wordes tallest thou me here ?'
F. Sem. ' What, sir ?' Amour. ' Falsnesse, that apert is ;
 Than dredest thou not god ?'
F. Sem. No, certes : 6800
 For selde in greet thing shal he spede
 In this world, that god wol drede.
 For folk that hem to vertu yiven,
 And truly on her owne liven,
 And hem in goodnesse ay contene, 6805
 On hem is litel thrif y-sene ;
 Such folk drinken gret misese ;
 That lyf [ne] may me never plesse.
 But see what gold han usurers,
 And silver eek in [hir] garners, 6810
 Taylagiers, and these monyours,
 Bailifs, bedels, provost, countours ;
 These liven wel nygh by ravyne ;
 The smale puple hem mote enclyne,
 And they as wolves wol hem eten. 6815
 Upon the pore folk they geten
 Ful moche of that they spende or kepe ;
 Nis none of hem that he nil strepe,
 And †wryen him-self wel atte fulle ;
 Without[e] scolding they hem pulle. 6820
 The stronge the feble overgoth ;
 But I, that were my simple cloth,
 Robbe bothe †robbed and robbours,
 And gyle †gyled and gylours.
 By my treget, I gadre and threste 6825
 The greet tresour into my cheste,
 That lyth with me so faste bounde.
 Myn highe paleys do I founde,
 And my delytes I fulfillle
 With wyne at feestes at my wille, 6830
 And tables fulle of entremees ;
 I wol no lyf, but ese and pees,
 And winne gold to spende also.
 For whan the gret' begge is go,
 It cometh right [eft] with my japes. 6835
 Make I not wel tumble myn apes ?
 To winne is alway myn entent ;
 My purchas is better than my rent ;
 For though I shulde betan be,

- Over-al I entremete me ; 6840
 Without[e] me may no wight dure.
 I walke soules for to cure.
 Of al the worldre cure have I
 In brede and lengthe ; boldely
 I wol bothe preche and eek counceilen ;
 With hondes wills I not travaillen, 6846
 For of the pope I have the bulle ;
 I ne holde not my wittes dulla.
 I wol not stinten, in my lyve,
 These emperoures for to shryve, 6850
 Or kynges, dukes, and lordes grete ;
 But pore folk al quyte I leta.
 I love no such shryving, pardee,
 But it for other cause be.
 I rekke not of pore men, 6855
 Hir astate is not worth an hen.
 Where fyndest thou a swinker of labour
 Have me unto his confessour ?
 But emperesses, and duchesses,
 Thise quenes, and eek [thise] countesses,
 Thise abbesses, and eek Bigyns, 6861
 These grete ladyes palasyns,
 These joly knightes, and baillyves,
 Thise nonnes, and thise burgeis wyves,
 That riche been, and eek pleasing, 6865
 And thise maidens welfaring, Wher-so they clad or naked be,
 Uncounceiled goth ther noon fro me.
 And, for her soules savetea,
 At lord and lady, and hir meynoe, 6870
 I axe, whan they hem to me shryve,
 The propretee of al hir lyve,
 And make hem trowe, bothe meest and leest,
 Hir paroch-prest nis but a beast
 Ayens me and my company, 6875
 That shrewes been as greet as I ;
 For whiche I wol not hyde in hold
 No privetea that me is told,
 That I by word or signe, y-wis,
 †Nil make hem knowe what it is, 6880
 And they wolen also tellen me ;
 They hele fro me no privitea.
 And for to make yow hem perceyven,
 That usen folk thus to disceyven, 6885
 I wol you seyn, withouten drede,
 What men may in the gospel rede
 Of Seynt Mathew, the gospelere,
 That seith, as I shal you sey here.
 ' Upon the chaire of Moyse—
- Thus is it glosed, douteles : 6890
 That is the olde testament,
 For therby is the chaire ment-
 Sitte Scribes and Pharis[i]en ;—
 That is to seyn, the cursed men
 Whiche that we yprocrites calle— 6895
 Doth that they preche, I rede you alle,
 But doth not as they don a del,
 That been not wery to seye wel,
 But to do wel, no wille have they ;
 And they wolde binde on folk alwey,
 That ben to [be] begyled able, 6901
 †Burdens that ben importable ;
 On folkes shuldres thinges they conchen
 That they nil with her fingres touchen.
Amour. ' And why wol they not touche
 it ?'
F. Sem. ' Why ? 6905
 For hem ne list not, sikerly ;
 For sadde †burdens that men taken
 Make folkes shuldres aken.
 And if they do ought that good be,
 That is for folk it shuldo see : 6910
 Her †borders larger maken they,
 And make hir hemmes wyde alwey,
 And loven setes at the table,
 The firste and most honourable ;
 And for to han the first chaires 6915
 In synagoges, to hem ful dere is ;
 And willen that folk hem loute and grete,
 Whan that they passen thurgh the strete,
 And wolen be cleped ' Maister ' also.
 But they ne shulde not willen so ; 6920
 The gospel is ther-ageyns, I gesse :
 That sheweth wel hir wikkidnesse.
 ' Another custom use we :—
 Of hem that wol ayens us be,
 We hate †hem deedly everichoon, 6925
 And we wol werry †hem, as oon.
 Him that oon hateth, hate we alle,
 And conjecte how to doon him falle.
 And if we seen him winne honour,
 Richesse or preys, thurgh his valour, 6930
 Provende, rent, or dignitea,
 Ful fast, y-wis, compassen we
 By what ladder he is clomben so ;
 And for to maken him down to go,
 With traissoun we wole him defame, 6935
 And doon him lese his gode name.
 Thus from his ladder we him take,
 And thus his freendes foes we make ;

But word ne wite shal he noon, Til alle his freendes been his foom. 6940	That wol me repreve or chastyse ; 6990 But I wolde al folk undertake, And of no wight no teching take ; For I, that other folk chastye, Wol not be taught fro my folye.
For if we dide it openly, We might have blame redily ; For hadde he wist of our malyce, He hadde him kept, but he were nyce.	' I love noon hermitage more ; 6995 Alle desertes, and holtes hore, And grete wodes everichoon, I lete hem to the Baptist Iohan. I quethe him quyte, and him relese Of Egypt al the wildirnesse ; 7000
' Another is this, that, if so falle 6945 That ther be oon among us alle That doth a good turn, out of drede, We seyn it is our alder dede. Ye, sikerly, though he it feyned, Or that him list, or that him deynd 6950	To fer were alle my mansions Fro alle citees and goode tounes. My paleis and myn hous make I There men may renne in openly, And sey that I the world forsake. 7005
A man thurgh him avanced be ; Therof alle parconers be we, And tellen folk, wher-so we go, That man thurgh us is sprongen so. And for to have of men preysing, 6955 We purchace, thurgh our flatering, Of riche men, of gret poustee, Lettres, to witnesse our bountee ; So that man weneth, that may us see, That alle vertu in us be. 6960	But al amidde I bilde and make My hous, and swimme and pley therinne Bet than a fish doth with his finne. ' Of Antecristes men am I, Of whiche that Crist seith openly, 7010 They have abit of holinesse, And liven in such wikkednesse. Outward, lambren semen we, Fulle of goodnesse and of pitee, And inward we, withouten fable, 7015 Ben gredy wolves ravisable. We envioune bothe londe and see ; With al the world †werreyen we ; We wol ordeyne of alle thing, Of folkes good, and her living. 7020
And alwey pore we us feyne ; But how so that we begge or pleyne, We ben the folk, without lesing, That al thing have without having. Thus be we dred of the puple, y-wis. 6965 And gladly my purpos is this : — I dele with no wight, but he Have gold and tresour gret plentee ; Hir acqueyntaunce wel love I ; This is moche my desyr, shortly. 6970	' If ther be castal or citee Wherin that any bougerons be, Although that they of Milayne were, For ther-of ben they blamed there : Or if a wight, out of mesure, 7025 Wolde lene his gold, and take usure, For that he is so covetous : Or if he be to leccherous, Or †these, or haunte simonye ; Or provost, ful of trecherye, 7030 Or prelat, living jolily, Or prest that halt his quene him by ; Or olde hores hostilers, Or other bawdes or bordillers, Or elles blamed of any vyce, 7035
I entremete me of brocages, I make pees and mariages, I am gladly executour, And many tymes procuratour ; I am somtyme messenger ; 6975 That falleth not to my mister. And many tymes I make enquestes ; For me that office not honest is ; To dele with other mennes thing, That is to me a gret lyking. 6980	Of whiche men shulden doon justyce : By alle the seyntes that we pray, But they defende †hem with lamprey, With luce, with eles, with samouns, With tendre gees, and with capouns, 7040
And if that ye have ought to do In place that I repire to, I shal it speden thurgh my wit, As sone as ye have told me it. So that ye serve me to pay, 6985 My servise shal be your alway. But who-so wol chastyse me, Anoon my love lost hath he ; For I love no man in no gyse,

With tartes, or with †cheses fat,
 With deynte flawnes, brode and flat,
 With caleweys, or with pullaille,
 With coninges, or with fyn vitaille,
 That we, under our clothes wyde, 7045
 Maken thurgh our golet glyde :
 Or but he wol do come in haste
 Roe-ventisoun, [y]-bake in paste :
 Whether so that he loure or groine,
 He shal have of a corde a loigne, 7050
 With whiche men shal him binde and
 lede,
 To brenne him for his sinful dede,
 That men shulle here him crye and rore
 A myle-wey aboute, and more.
 Or elles he shal in prisoun dye, 7055
 But-if he wol [our] frendship bye,
 Or smerten that that he hath do,
 More than his gilt amounteth to.
 But, and he couthe thurgh his sleight
 Do maken up a tour of height, 7060
 Nought roughte I whether of stone or tree,
 Or erthe, or turves though it be,
 Though it were of no vounde stone
 Wrought with squyre and scantilone,
 So that the tour were stuffed wel 7065
 With alle richesse temporel ;
 And thanne, that he wolde updresse
 Engyns, bothe more and lesse,
 To caste at us, by every syde—
 To bere his goode name wyde— 7070
 Such sleightes [as] I shal yow nevene,
 Barelles of wyne, by sixe or sevene,
 Or gold in sakkis gret plente,
 He shulde sone delivered be
 And if he have noon sich pitannes, 7075
 Late him study in equipolences,
 And lete lyes and fallaces,
 If that he wolde deserve our graces ;
 Or we shal bere him such witnessse
 Of sinne, and of his wrecchidnesse, 7080
 And doon his loos so wyde renne,
 That al quik we shulde him brenne,
 Or elles yeve him suche penaunce,
 That is wel wors than the pitaunce.
 ' For thou shalt never, for no-thing,
 Con known aright by her clothing 7086
 The traitours fulle of trecherye,
 But thou her werkes can aspye.
 And ne hadde the good keeping be Whylom of the universitee, 7090

That kepeth the key of Cristendome, †They had been turmented, alle and some.
 Suche been the stinking [fals] prophetis ;
 Nis non of hem, that good prophete is ;
 For they, thurgh wikked entencioun, 7095
 The year of the incarnacioun
 A thousand and two hundred year,
 Fyve and fifty, ferther ne ner,
 Broughten a book, with sory grace,
 To yeven ensample in comune place, 7100
 That seide thus, though it were fable :—
 " This is the Gospel Perdurable, That fro the Holy Goost is sent."
 Wel were it worth to ben [y]-brent !
 Entitled was in such manere 7105
 This book, of which I telle here.
 Ther nas no wight in al Parys,
 Biforn Our Lady, at parvys,
 †That [he] ne mighte byve the book,
 †To copy, if him talent took. 7110
 Ther might he see, by greet tresoun,
 Ful many fals comparisoun :—
 " As moche as, thurgh his grete might,
 Be it of hete, or of light,
 The sunne surmounteth the mone, 7115
 That troubler is, and chaungeth sone,
 And the note-kernel the shelle—
 (I scorne nat that I yow telle)—
 Right so, withouten any gyle,
 Surmounteth this noble Evangyle 7120
 The word of any evangelist."
 And to her title they token Christ ;
 And many such comparisoun,
 Of which I make no mencionioun,
 Might men in that boke finde, 7125
 Who-so coude of hem have minde.
 ' Th' universitee, that tho was aslepe,
 Gan for to braide, and taken kepe ;
 And at the noys the heed up-caste,
 Ne never sithen slepte it faste, 7130
 But up it sterte, and armes took Ayens this fals horrible book,
 Al redy batail for to make,
 And to the jugs the book to take.
 But they that broughten the book there
 Hente it anon away, for fere ; 7136
 They nolde shewe it more a del,
 But thenne it kepte, and kopen wil,
 Til such a tyme that they may see
 That they so stronge woxen be, 7140
 That no wight may hem wel withstonde ;

For by that boke they durst not stonde.
 A way they gonne it for to bere,
 For they ne durste not answeren
 By expositioun þne glose 7145
 To that that clerkes wole appose
 Ayens the cursednesse, y-wis,
 That in that boke writen is.
 Now wot I not, ne I can not see
 What maner ende that there shal be 7150
 Of al this [boke] that they hyde ;
 But yit algate they shal abyde
 Til that they may it bet defende ;
 This trowe I best, wol be hir ende.
 ' Thus Antecrist abyden we, 7155
 For we ben alle of his meynes ;
 And what man that wol not be so,
 Right sone he shal his lyf forye.
 We wol a puple þon him areyse,
 And thurgh our gyle doon him seise, 7160
 And him on sharpe speres ryve,
 Or other-weyes bringe him fro lyve,
 But-if that he wol folowe, y-wis,
 That in our boke writen is.
 Thus moche wol our boke signifye, 7165
 That whyl [that] Peter hath maistrye,
 May never Johan shewe wel his might.
 ' Now have I you declared right
 The mening of the bark and rinde
 That maketh the entenciounns blinde. 7170
 But now at erst I wol beginne
 To expowne you the pith withinne :—
 [†And first, by Peter, as I wene,
 The Pope himself we wolden mene,]
 And [seek] the seculers comprehende, 7175
 That Cristes lawe wol defende,
 And shulde it kepen and mayntenen
 Ayeines hem that al sustenen,
 And falsly to the puple techen.
 †And Johan bitokeneth hem †that pre-chen, 7180
 That ther nis lawe covenable
 But thilke Gospel Perdurable,
 That fro the Holy Gost was sent
 To turne folk that been miswent.
 The strengthe of Johan they undirstonde
 The grace in which, they seye, they
 stonde, 7186
 That doth the sinful folk converte,
 And hem to Jesus Crist reverte.
 ' Ful many another horriblete
 May men in that boke see, 7190

That ben comaundend, douteles,
 Ayens the lawe of Rome expres ;
 And alle with Antecrist they holden,
 As men may in the boke biholden.
 And than comaunden they to sleen 7195
 Alle tho that with Peter been ;
 But they shal nevere have that might,
 And, god tofor, for stryf to fight,
 That they ne shal y-nough [men] finde
 That Peters lawe shal have in minde, 7200
 And ever holde, and so mayntene,
 That at the last it shal be sene,
 That they shal alle come therto,
 For ought that they can speke or do.
 And thilke lawe shal not stonde, 7205
 That they by Johan have undirstonde ;
 But, maugre hem, it shal adoun,
 And been brought to confusioun.
 But I wol stinte of this matere,
 For it is wonder long to here ; 7210
 But hadde that ilke boke endured,
 Of better estate I were ensured ;
 And freendes have I yit, pardee,
 That han me set in greet degree.
 ' Of al this world is emperour 7215
 Gyle my fader, the trechour,
 And emp[er]esse my moder is,
 Maugre the Holy Gost, y-wis,
 Our mighty linage and our route
 Regneth in every regne aboute ; 7220
 And wel is †worth we maistres be,
 For al this world governe we,
 And can the folk so wel disceyve,
 That noon our gyle can perceyve ;
 And though they doon, they dar not saye ; 7225
 The sothe dar no wight biweye.
 But he in Cristia wrath him ledeth,
 That more than Crist my bretheren dredeth.
 He nis no ful good champioun,
 That dredeth such similacioun ; 7230
 Nor that for peyne wole refusun
 Us to correcten and accusen.
 He wol not entremete by right,
 Ne have god in his eye-sight,
 And therefore god shal him punyce ; 7235
 But me ne rekketh of no vyce,
 Sithen men us loven comunably,
 And holden us for so worthy,
 That we may folk repreve echoon

- And we nil have repref of noon. 7240
Whom shulden folk worshipen so
But us, that stinten never mo
To patren why! that folk us see,
Though it not so bihinde hem be?
'And where is more wood folye, 7245
Than to enhaunce chivalrye,
And love noble men and gay,
That joly clothes weren alway?
If they be sich folk as they semen,
So clene, as men her clothes demen, 7250
And that her wordes folowe her dede,
It is gret pite, out of drede,
For they wol be noon ypocrites!
Of hem, me thinketh [it] gret spite is;
I can not love hem on no syde. 7255
But Beggars with these hodes wyde,
With sleighe and pale faces lene,
And greye clothes not ful clene,
But fretted ful of tatarwaggas,
And highe shoes, knopped with dagges,
That frouncen lyke a quaille-pype, 7261
Or botes riveling as a gype;
To such folk as I you devyse
Shulde princes and these lordes wyse
Take alle her londes and her thinges, 7265
Bothe werre and pees, in governinges;
To such folk shulde a prince him yive,
That wolde his lyf in honour live.
And if they be not as they seme,
That serven thus the world to queme, 7270
There wolde I dwelle, to disceyve
The folk, for they shal not perceyve.
'But I ne speke in no such wyse,
That men shulde humble abit dispysse,
So that no pryde ther-under be. 7275
No man shulde hate, as thinketh me,
The pore man in sich clothing.
But god ne preiseth him no-thing,
That seith he hath the world forsake,
And hath to worldly glorie him take, 7280
And wol of siche delycles use;
Who may that Begger wel excuse?
That papelard, that him yeldeth so,
And wol to worldly ese go,
And seith that he the world hath left,
And gredily it gryppeth eft, 7286
He is the hound, shame is to seyn,
That to his casting goth ageyn.
'But unto you dar I not lye:
But mighte I felen or aspye 7290
- That ye perceyved it no-thing,
Ye shulde[n] have a stark lesing
Right in your hond thus, to biginne,
I nolde it lette for no sinne.'
The god lough at the wonder tho, 7295
And every wight gan laughs also,
And seide:—'Lo here a man aright
For to be trusty to every wight!'
'Fals Semblant,' quod Love, 'sey to me,
Sith I thus have avauanced thee, 7300
That in my court is thy dwelling,
And of ribaudes shalt be my king,
Wolt thou wel holden my forwardes?'
F. Sem. 'Ye, sir, from hennes fore-wardes;
Hadde never your fader here-biforn 7305
Serrvaunt so trewe, sith he was born.'
Amour. 'That is ayeines al nature.'
F. Sem. 'Sir, put you in that avent-
ture;
For though ye borowes take of me,
The sikerer shal ye never be 7310
For ostages, ne sikirnesse,
Or chartres, for to bere witnessa.
I take your-self to record here,
That men ne may, in no manere,
Teren the wolf out of his hyde, 7315
Til he be †flayn, bak and syde,
Though men him bete and al defyle;
What? wene ye that I wole bigyle?
For I am clothed mekely,
Ther-under is al my trechery; 7320
Myn herte chaungeth never the mo
For noon abit, in which I go.
Though I have chere of simplenesse,
I am not wery of shrewednesse.
My lemman, Streyned-Abstinence, 7325
Hath mister of my purveaunce;
She hadde ful longe ago be deed,
Nere my councel and my reed;
Lete hir allone, and you and me.'
And Love answerde, 'I truste thee 7330
Without[e] borowe, for I wol noon.'
And Fals-Semblant, the theef, anon,
Right in that like same place,
That hadde of tresoun al his face 7334
Right blak withinne, and whyt withoute,
Thanketh him, gan on his knees loute.
Than was her nought, but 'Every man
Now to assaut, that sailen can,'
Quod Love, 'and that ful hardily.'

- Than armed they hem comunly 7340
 Of sich armour as to hem fel.
 When they were armed, fers and fel,
 They wente hem forth, alle in a route,
 And sette the castel al aboute ;
 They wil nought away, for no drede, 7345
 Til it so be that they ben dede,
 Or til they have the castel take.
 And foure batels they gan make,
 And parted hem in foure anoon,
 And toke her way, and forth they goon,
 The foure gates for to assaile, 7351
 Of whiche the keepers wol not faile ;
 For they ben neither syke ne dede,
 But hardy folk, and stronge in dede.
 Now wole I seyn the countenance 7355
 Of Fals-Semblant, and Abstinence,
 That ben to Wikkid-Tonge went.
 But first they helde her parlement,
 Whether it to done were
 To maken hem be knowne there, 7360
 Or elles walken forth disgyssed.
 But at the laste they devysed,
 That they wold goon in tapinage,
 As it were in a pilgrimage,
 Lyk good and holy folk unfeyned. 7365
 And Dame Abstinence-Streyned
 Took on a robe of camelyne,
 And gan hir †graithe as a Begyne.
 A large coverchief of threde
 She wrapped al aboute hir hede, 7370
 But she forgat not hir sautere ;
 A peire of bedes eek she bere
 Upon a lace, al of whyt threde,
 On which that she hir bedes bede ;
 But she ne boughte hem never a del, 7375
 For they were geven her, I wot wel,
 God wot, of a ful holy frere,
 That seide he was hir fader dere,
 To whom she hadde offer went Than any frere of his covent. 7380
 And he visyted hir also,
 And many a sermoun seide hir to ;
 He nolde lette, for man on lyve,
 That he ne wolde hir ofte shryve.
 And with so gret devocion 7385
 They made[n] her confession,
 That they had ofte, for the nones,
 Two hedes in one hood at ones.
 Of fair shape I †devyse her thee,
 But pale of face somtyme was she ; 7390
- That false traitouresse untrew
 Was lyk that salowe hors of hewe,
 That in the Apocalips is shewed,
 That signifyeth †tho folk beshrewed,
 That been al ful of trecherye, 7395
 And pale, thurgh hypocrisiye ;
 For on that hors no colour is,
 But only deed and pale, y-wis.
 Of suche a colour enlangoured
 Was Abstinence, y-wis, coloured ; 7400
 Of her estat she her repented,
 As her visage represented.
 She had a burdoun al of Thefte,
 That Gyle had yeve her of his yefte ;
 And a scrippe of Fainte Distresse, 7405
 That ful was of elengeness,
 And forth she walked sobrelly :
 And False-Semblant saynt, ie vous dy,
 †Had, as it were for such mistere,
 Don on the cope of a frere, 7410
 With chere simple, and ful pitous ;
 His looking was not disdeinous,
 Ne proud, but meke and ful pesible.
 About his nekke he bar a bible,
 And squiarly forth gan he gon ; 7415
 And, for to reste his limmes upon,
 He had of Treson a potente ;
 As he were feble, his way he wente.
 But in his sleve he gan to thringe
 A rasour sharp, and wel bytinge, 7420
 That was forged in a forge,
 Which that men clepen Coupe-gorge.
 So longe forth hir way they nomen,
 Til they to Wicked-Tonge comen,
 That at his gate was sitting, 7425
 And saw folk in the way passing.
 The pilgrimes saw he faste by,
 That beren hem ful mekely,
 And †humblely they with him mette.
 Dame Abstinence first him grette, 7430
 And sith him False-Semblant salued,
 And he hem ; but he not †remued,
 For he ne dredde hem not a-del.
 For when he saw hir faces wel,
 Alway in herte him thoughte so, 7435
 He shulde knowe hem bothe two ;
 For wel he knew Dame Abstinence,
 But he ne knew not Constreynance.
 He knew nat that she was constrayned,
 Ne of her theves lyfe feyned, 7440
 But wende she com of wil al free ;

But she com in another degree ;
 And if of good wil she began,
 That wil was failed her [as] than.
 And Fals-Semblant had he seyn als,
 But he knew nat that he was fals. 7446
 Yet fals was he, but his falsnesse
 Ne coude he not espye, nor geese ;
 For Semblant was so alye wrought,
 That falsnesse he ne espyed nought. 7450
 But haddest thou knowen him beforn,
 Thou woldest on a boke have sworn,
 Whan thou him saugh in thilke aray
 That he, that whylom was so gay,
 And of the daunce Joly Robin, 7455
 Was tho become a Jacobin.
 But sothely, what so men him calle,
 Frere[s] Frechours been good men alle ;
 Hir order wickedly they beren,
 Suche minstrelles if [that] they weren.
 So been Augustins and Cordileres, 7461
 And Carmes, and eek Sakked Freres,
 And alle freres, shodde and bare, (Though some of hem ben grete and square)
 Ful holy men, as I hem deme ; 7465
 Everich of hem wolde good man seme.
 But shalt thou never of apparence
 Seen conclude good consequence
 In none argument, y-wis,
 If existance al failed is. 7470
 For men may finde alway sophyme
 The consequence to envenyme,
 Who-so that †hath the subteltēe
 The double sentence for to see.
 Whan the pilgrymes commen were 7475
 To Wicked-Tonge, that dwelled there,
 Hir harneis nigh hem was algate ;
 By Wicked-Tonge adoun they sate,
 That bad hem ner him for to come,
 And of tydinges telle him some, 7480
 And sayde hem :— ' What cas maketh
 yow
 To come into this place now ? '
 ' Sir, ' seyde Strained-Abstinaunce,
 ' We, for to drye our penaunce,
 With hertes pitous and devoute, 7485
 Are commen, as pilgrikes gon aboute ;
 Wel nigh on fote alway we go ;
 Ful †dusty been our heles two ;
 And thus bothe we ben sent Thurhout this world that is miswent,
 To yeve ensample, and preche also. 7491
 To flashen sinful men we go,
 For other fishhing ne fische we.
 And, sir, for that charitee,
 As we be wont, herberwe we crave, 7495
 Your lyf to amende ; Crist it save !
 And, so it shulde you nat displese,
 We wolden, if it were your ese,
 A short sermoun unto you seyn.
 And Wikked-Tonge answerde ageyn,
 ' The hous, ' quod he, ' such as ye see, 7501
 Shal nat be warned you for me,
 Sey what you list, and I wol here.'
 ' Graunt mercy, swete sire dere ! '
 Quod alderfirst Dame Abstinence, 7505
 And thus began she hir sentence :
Const. Abstinence. ' Sir, the first vertue,
 certeyn,
 The gretest, and most sovereyn
 That may be founde in any man,
 For having, or for wit he oan, 7510
 That is, his tonge to refreyne ;
 Therto ought every wight him peyne.
 For it is better stille be
 Than for to speken harm, pardee !
 And he that herkeneth it gladly, 7515
 He is no good man, sikerly.
 And, sir, aboven al other sinne,
 In that art thou most gilty inne.
 Thou spake a jape not long ago,
 (And, sir, that was right yvel do) 7520
 Of a yong man that here repaired,
 And never yet this place apaired.
 Thou seydest he awaited nothing
 But to disceyve Fair-Welcoming.
 Ye seyde nothing sooth of that ; 7525
 But, sir, ye lye ; I tell you plat ;
 He ne cometh no more, ne goth, pardee !
 I trow ye shal him never see.
 Fair-Welcoming in prison is,
 That ofte hath played with you, er this,
 The fairest games that he coude, 7531
 Withoute flithe, stille or loude ;
 Now dar †he nat himself solace.
 Ye han also the man do chace,
 That he dar neither come ne go. 7535
 What meveth you to hate him so
 But properly your wikked thought,
 That many a fals lesing hath thought ?
 That meveth your foole eloquence,
 That jangleth ever in audience, 7540

And on the folk areyseth blame,
 And doth hem dishonour and shame,
 For thing that may have no preving,
 But lyklinesse, and contriving. 7545
 For I dar seyn, that Reson demeth,
 It is not al sooth thing that semeth
 And it is sinne to controve
 Thing that is [for] to reprove ;
 This wot ye wel ; and, sir, therefore Ye arn to blame [wel] the more. 7550
 And, nathelasse, he rekketh lyte ;
 He yeveth nat now thereof a myte ;
 For if he thoughte harm, parfay,
 He wolde come and gon al day ;
 He conde him-selfe nat abstene. 7555
 Now cometh he nat, and that is sene,
 For he ne taketh of it no cure,
 But-if it be through aventure,
 And lasse than other folk, algate.
 And thou here watchest at the gate, 7560
 With spere in thyne arest alway ;
 There muse, musard, al the day.
 Thou wakest night and day for thought ;
 Y-wis, thy travayl is for nought.
 And Jelousye, withouten faille, 7565
 Shal never quyte thee thy travaile.
 And scathe is, that Fair-Welcoming,
 Without(en) any trespassing, Shal wrongfully in prison be,
 Ther wepeth and languissheth he. 7570
 And though thou never yet, y-wis,
 Agiltest man no more but this,
 (Take not a-greef) it were worthy
 To putte thee out of this baily,
 And afterward in prison lye, 7575
 And fettre thee til that thou dye ;
 For thou shalt for this sinne dwello
 Right in the devils ers of helle,
 But-if that thou repente thee.' 7579
 'Ma fay, thou lyst falsly !' quod he.
 'What ? welcome with mischaunce now !
 Have I therfore herbered you
 To seye me shame, and eek reprove ?
 With sory happe, to your bihove,
 Am I to-day your herbergere ! 7585
 Go, herber you elleswhere than here,
 That han a lyer called me !
 Two tregetours art thou and he,
 That in myn hous do me this shame,
 And for my soth-sawe ye me blame. 7590
 Is this the sermoun that ye make ?

To alle the develles I me take,
 Or elles, god, thou me confounde .
 But er men diden this castel founde,
 It passeth not ten dayes or twelwe, 7595
 But it was told right to my-selve,
 And as they seide, right so tolde I,
 He kiste the Rose privily !
 Thus seide I now, and have seid yore ;
 I not wher he dide any more. 7600
 Why shulde men sey me such a thing,
 If it hadde been gabbing ?
 Right so seide I, and wol seye yit ;
 I trowe, I lyed not of it ;
 And with my bemes I wol blowe 7605
 To alle neighboris a-rowe,
 How he hath bothe comen and gon.'
 The spak Fals-Semblant right anon,
 'Al is not gospel, out of doute,
 That men seyn in the toune aboute ; 7610
 Ley no deaf ere to my speking ;
 I swere yow, sir, it is gabbing !
 I trowe ye wot wel certeynly,
 That no man loveth him tenderly
 That seith him harm, if he wot it, 7615
 Al be he never so pore of wit.
 And sooth is also sikerly,
 (This knowe ye, sir, as wel as I),
 That lovers gladly wol visyten
 The places ther hir loves habyten. 7620
 This man you loveth and eek honoureth ;
 This man to serve you laboureth ;
 And clepeth you his freend so dere,
 And this man maketh you good chere,
 And every-wher that [he] you meteth,
 He you saloweth, and he you greteth. 7625
 He preseth not so ofte, that ye Ought of his come encombred be ;
 Ther presen other folk on yow
 Ful offer than [that] he doth now. 7630
 And if his herte him streyned so Unto the Rose for to go,
 Ye shulde him seen so ofte nede,
 That ye shulde take him with the dede.
 He conde his coming not forbere, 7635
 Though ye him thrilled with a spere ;
 It nere not thanne as it is now.
 But trusteth wel, I swere it yow,
 That it is cleue out of his thought.
 Sir, certes, he ne thanketh it nought ;
 No more ne doth Fair-Welcoming. 7640
 That sore abyeth al this thing.

And if they were of oon assent, Ful sone were the Rose hent ; The maugre youres wolde be. 7645 And sir, of o thing herkeneth me :— Sith ye this man, that loveth yow, Han seid such harm and shame now, Witeth wel, if he gessed it, Ye may wel demen in your wit, 7650 He nolde no-thing love you so, Ne callen you his freend also, But night and day he †wolde wake, The castel to destroye and take, If it were sooth as ye devyse ; 7655 Or som man in som maner wyse Might it warne him everydel, Or by him-self perceyven wel ; For sith he might not come and gon As he was whylom wont to don, 7660 He might it sone wite and see ; But now al other-wyse †doth ha. Than have †ye, sir, al-outerly Deserved helle, and jolyly The deth of helle, douteles, 7665 That thrallen folk so giltelea. Fals-Semblant proveth so this thing That he can noon answering, And seeth alwey such apparaunce, That nygh he fel in repentance, 7670 And seide him :—‘ Sir, it may wel be.	Semblant, a good man semen ye ; And, Abstinence, ful wyse ye seme ; Of o talent you bothe I deme. 7674 What counceill wole ye to me yeven ?’ F. Sem. ‘ Right here anoon thou shalt be shriven, And sey thy sinne withoute more ; Of this shalt thou repente sore ; For I am preest, and have poustee To shryve folk of most dignitee 7680 That been, as wyde as world may dure. Of al this world I have the cure, And that had never yit persoun, No vicarie of no maner tonn. And, god wot, I have of thee 7685 A thousand tymes more pitee Than hath thy preest parochial, Though he thy freend be special. I have avauntage, in o wyse, That your prelates ben not so wyse 7690 Ne half so letted as am I. I am licenced boldely In divinitee to rede, And to confessen, out of drede. If ye wol you now confesse, 7695 And leve your sinnes more and lesse, Without abood, knele doun anon, And you shal have absolucion.’ 7698

THE MINOR POEMS.

I. AN A. B. C.

Incipit carmen secundum ordinem literarum Alphabet.

ALMIGHTY and al merciable quene,
To whom that al this world fleeth for socour,

To have relees of sinne, sorwe and tene,
Glorious virgine, of alle floures flour,
To thee I flee, confounded in errour! 5
Help and releve, thou mighty debonaire,
Have mercy on my perilous langour!
Venquissed m' hath my cruel adversaire.

Bountee so fix hath in thyn herte his
tente,

That wel I wot thou wolt my socour be, 10
Thou canst not warne him that, with good entente,

Axeth thyn help. Thyn herte is ay so free,
Thou art largesse of pleyn felicitee,
Haven of refut, of quiete and of reste.
Lo, how that theves seven chasen me! 15
Help, lady bright, er that my ship tobreste!

Comfort is noon, but in yow, lady dere;
For lo, my sinne and my confusioun,
Which onghten not in thy presence ap-
pare,

Han take on me a grevous accioun 20
Of verrey right and desperacioun;
And, as by right, they mighten wel sus-
tene

That I were worthy my dampnacioun,
Nere mercy of you, blisful hevене quene.

Doute is ther noon, thou queen of miseri-
corde, 25

That thou n'art cause of grace and mercy
here;

God vouched sauf thurgh thee with us
t'acorde.

For certes, Cristes blisful moder dere,
Were now the bowe bent in swich manere,
As it was first, of justice and of yre, 30
The rightful God nolde of no mercy here;
But thurgh thee han we grace, as we
desyre.

Ever hath myn hope of refut been in thee,
For heer-biforn ful ofte, in many a wyse,
Hast thou to misericorde receyved me. 35
But mercy, lady, at the grete assyse, Whan we shul come bifore the hye justise!

So lital fruit shal thanne in me be founde,
That, but thou er that day me †wel
chastyse,
Of verrey right my werk me wol con-
fonde. 40

Fleeing, I flee for socour to thy tente
Me for to hyde from tempest ful of drede,
Biseching you that ye you not absente,
Though I be wikke. Ohelp yit at this nede!
Al have I been a beste in wille and dede,
Yit, lady, thou me clothe with thy grace.
Thyn enemy and myn (lady, tak hede) 47
Un-to my deeth in poynt is me to chace.

Glorious mayde and moder, which that never

Were bitter, neither in erthe nor in see, 50
But ful of swetnesse and of mercy ever,
Help that my fader be not wroth with me!
Spek thou, for I ne dar not him y-see.
So have I doon in erthe, allas ther-whyle!
That certes, but-if thou my socour be, 55
To stink sterne he wol my gost exyle.

He vouched sauf, tel him, as was his will, 60
Bicome a man, to have our alliaunce,
And with his precious blood he wroot the
bille

Up-on the crois, as general acquitaunce,
To every penitent in ful creaunce; 61
And therfor, lady bright, thou for us praye.

Than shalt thou bothe stinte al his grev-
aunce,
And make our foo to fallen of his praye

I wot it wel, thou wolt ben our socour, 65
Thou art so ful of bountee, in certeyn.
For, whan a soule falleth in errour,
Thy pitee goth and haleth him ayeyn.
Than makest thou his pees with his sovereyn,

And bringest him out of the crooked
streta. 70

Who-so thee loveth he shal not love in veyn,
That shal he finde, as he the lyf shal lete.

Kalenderes enlumined ben they
That in this world ben lighted with thy
name,

And who-so goth to you the righte wey, 75
Him thar not drede in soule to be lame.
Now, queen of comfort, sith thou art that same

To whom I seche for my medicyne, Lat not my foo no more my wounde en-
tame,

Myn hele in-to thyn hand al I resigne. 80

Lady, thy sorwe can I not portreye
Under the cros, ne his grevous penaunce.
But, for your bothes peynes, I you preye,
Lat not our alder foo make his bobounce,
That he hath in his listes of mischaunce 85
Convict that ye bothe have bought so
dere.

As I seide erst, thou ground of our substance,
Continue on us thy pitous eyen clere!

Moises, that saugh the bush with flaumes
rede
Brenninge, of which ther never a stikke
brende, 90
Was signe of thyn unwemmed maidenheda.

Thou art the bush on which ther gan
descende
The Holy Gost, the which that Moises
wende

Had ben a-fyr; and this was in figure.
Now lady, from the fyr thou us defende 95
Which that in helle eternally shal dure.

Noble princesse, that never haddest pere, Certes, if any comfort in us be,
That cometh of thee, thou Cristes moder
dere,

We han non other melodye or glee 100
Us to joyse in our adversitee,
N' advocat noon that wol and dar so preye
For us, and that for litel hyre as ye,
That helpen for an Ave-Marie or tweya.

O verrey light of eyen that ben blinde, 105
O verrey lust of labour and distresse,
O tresorere of bountee to mankinde, Thee whom God chees to moder for humblese!

From his ancille he made thee maistresse
Of hevене and erthe, our bille up for to beda. 110

This world awaiteth ever on thy good-
nesse,
For thou ne failest never wight at nede.

Purpos I have sum tyme for t'enquere, Wherfore and why the Holy Gost thee
soughte,

Whan Gabrielles vois cam to thyn era. 115
He not to werre us swich a wonder
wroughte,

But for to save us that he sithen boughte.
Than nedeth us no wepen us for to save,
But only ther we did not, as us oughte,
Do penitence, and mercy axe and have. 120

Queen of comfort, yit whan I me bithink
That I agilt have bothe, him and thee,

And that my soule is worthy for to sinke,
 Allas, I, caitif, whider may I flee?
 Who shal un-to thy sone my mene be? 125
 Who, but thy-self, that art of pitee walle?
 Thou hast more reuthe on our adversitee
 Than in this world mighte any tunge telle.

Bedresse me, moder, and me chastyse,
 For, certeynly, my fadres chastisinge 130
 That dar I nought abyden in no wyse:
 So hidous is his rightful rekeninge.
 Moder, of whom our mercy gan to springe,
 Beth ye my juge and eek my soules leche;
 For ever in you is pitee haboundinge 135
 To ech that wol of pitee you biseche.

Soth is, that God ne grannteth no pitee
 With-oute thee; for God, of his goodnesse,
 Forgiveth noon, but it lyke un-to thee.
 He hath thee makid vicaire and maistrisse 140

Of al the world, and eek governeresse
 Of hevене, and he represseth his justyse
 After thy wille, and therefore in witnessse
 He hath thee crowned in so ryal wyse.

Temple devout, ther god hath his won-
 inge, 145

Fro which these misbelived pryed been,
 To you my soule penitent I bringe.
 Receyve me! I can no ferther flee!
 With thornes venomous, O hevене queen,
 For which the erthe acursed was ful yore,
 I am so wounded, as ye may wel seen, 151
 That I am lost almost;—it smert so sore.

Virgine, that art so noble of appaillaie,
 And ledest us in-to the hye tour 154

Of Paradyz, thou me wise and counsaile,
 How I may have thy grace and thy socour;
 Al have I been in filthe and in errorr.
 Lady, un-to that court thou me ajourne
 That cleped is thy bench, O fresshe flour!
 Ther-as that mercy ever shal sojourne. 160

Xristus, thy sone, that in this world
 alighte,

Up-on the cros to suffre his passioun,
 And feek, that Longius his herte pighte,
 And made his herte blood to renne adoun;
 And al was this for my salvacioun; 165
 And I to him am fals and eek unkinde,
 And yit he wol not my dampnacioun—
 This thanke I you, socour of al mankinde.

Ysaac was figure of his deeth, certeyn,
 That so fer-forth his fader wolde obeye 170
 That him ne roughete no-thing to be slayn;
 Right so thy sone list, as a lamb, to deye.
 Now lady, ful of mercy, I you preye,
 Sith he his mercy mesured so large,
 Bo ye not skant; for alle we singe and
 seye 175
 That ye ben from vengeance ay our targe.

Zacharis you clepeth the open welle
 To washe sinful soule out of his gilt.
 Therefore this lessoun oughte I wel to telle
 That, nere thy tender herte, we weren spilt. 180

Now lady brighte, sith thou canst and wilt
 Ben to the seed of Adam merciabile,
 So bring us to that palais that is bilt
 To penitents that ben to mercy able.
 Amen. 184

Explicit carmen.

II. THE COMPLEYNTTE UNTO PITE.

PITEE, that I have sought so yore ago,
 With herte sore, and ful of besy peyne,
 That in this world was never wight so wo
 With-oute dethe; and, if I shal not feyne, 5
 My purpos was, to Pite to compleyne
 Upon the crueltee and tirannye
 Of Love, that for my trouthe doth me dye.

And when that I, by lengthe of certeyn
 yeres,
 Had ever in oon a tyme sought to speke,
 To Pite ran I, al bespreynt with tere, 10
 To preyen hir on Crueltee m' awake.
 But, er I might with any worde out-
 breke,

Or tellen any of my paynes smerte,
I fond hir deed, and buried in an herte.

Adoun I fel, when that I saugh the herse, Deed as a stoon, whyl that the swogh me
laste; 16

But up I roos, with colour ful diverse,
And pitoualy on hir myn y8n caste,
And ner the corps I gan to presen faste,
And for the soule I shoop me for to
preye; 20
I †nas but lorn; ther †nas no more to
seye.

Thus am I slayn, sith that Pite is deed;
Allas! that day! that ever hit shulde
falle!

What maner man dar now holde up his
heed?

To whom shal any sorwful herte calle? 25
Now Crueltee hath cast to sleen us alle,
In ydal hope, folk redelees of peyne—
Sith she is deed—to whom shul we com-
pleyne?

But yet enceseth me this wonder newe,
That no wight woot that she is deed, but I;
So many men as in hir tyme hir knewe,
And yet she dyed not so sodeynly; 32
For I have sought hir ever ful besily Sith first I hadde wit or mannes minde;
But she was deed, er that I coude hir
finde. 35

Aboute hir herse ther stoden lustily,
Withouten any wo, as thoughte me,
Bountee parfit, wel armed and richely,
And fresshe Beantee, Lust, and Jolitee,
Assured Maner, Youthe, and Honestee, 40 Wisdom, Estaat, [and] Dreed, and Governaunce,

Confedred bothe by bonde and alliaunce.

A compleynt hadde I, writen, in myn
hond,

For to have put to Pite as a bille,
But whan I al this companye ther fond,
That rather wolden al my cause spille 46
Than do me help, I held my pleynte stille;
For to that folk, withouten any faille,
Withoute Pite may no bille availe.

Then leve I al thise virtues, sauf Pite, 50
Keping the corps, as ye have herd me seyn,

Confedred alle by bonde of Crueltee,
And been assented that I shal be sleyn.
And I have put my compleynt up ageyn;
For to my foes my bille I dar not shewe,
Theffect of which seith thus. in wordes
fewe :— 56

The Bille.

¶ 'Humblest of herte, hyst of reverence,
Benigne flour, coroune of vertues alle,
Sheweth unto your rial excellence
Your servaunt, if I durste me so calle, 60
His mortal harm, in which he is y-falle,
And nocht al only for his evel fare,
But for your renoun, as he shal declare.

'Hit stondeh thus: your contraire,
Crueltee,
Allyed is ageynst your regalye 65
Under colour of womanly Beantee,
For men [ne] shuld not knowe hir
tirannye,
With Bountee, Gentillesse, and Curtesaye,
And hath depryved you now of your place
That hight "Beantee, apertenant to
Grace." 70

'For kindly, by your heritage right,
Ye been annexed ever unto Bountee;
And verrayly ye oughte do your might
To helpe Trouthe in his adversitee.
Ye been also the coroune of Beantee; 75
And certes, if ye wanten in thise tweyne,
The world is lore; ther †nis no more to seyne.

¶ 'Eek what availeth Maner and Gen-tillesse
Withoute you, benigne creature?
Shal Crueltee be your governeresse? 80
Allas! what herte may hit longe endure?
Wherfor, but ye the rather take cure
To breke that perilous alliaunce,
Ye sleen hem that ben in your obeisaunce.

'And further over, if ye suffre this, 85
Your renoun is fordo than in a throwe;
Ther shal no man wite wel what Pite is.
Allas! that your renoun shuld be so lowe!
Ye be than fro your heritage y-throwe
By Crueltee, that occupieth your place; 90
And we despeired, that seken to your
grace.

' Have mercy on me, thou Herenus quene,
That you have sought so tenderly and
yore ;

Let somstream of your light on me be sene
That love and drede you, ay lenger the
more. 95

For, sothly for to seyne, I bere the sore,
And, though I be not cunning for to
pleyne,
For goddes love, have mercy on my peyne !

¶ ' My peyne is this, that what so I desire
That have I not, ne no-thing lyk therto ;
And ever set Desire myn herte on fire ;
Eek on that other syde, wher-so I go, 102
What maner thing that may encrease wo
That have I redy, unsoght, everywhere ;
Me [ne] lakketh but my deth, and than my bere. 105

' What nedeth to shewe parcel of my
peyne ?

Sith every wo that herte may bethinke
I suffre, and yet I dar not to you pleyne ;
For wel I woot, al-though I wake or
winke,

Ye rekke not whether I flete or sinke. 110
But natheles, my trouthe I shal sustene Unto my deeth, and that shal wel be
sene.

' This is to seyne, I wol be youre ever ;
Though ye me slee by Crueltee, your fo,
Algate my spirit shal never dissever 115
Fro your servyce, for any peyne or wo.
Sith ye be deed—allas ! that hit is so !— Thus for your deth I may wel wepe and
pleyne 118
With herte sore and ful of besy peyne.'

Here endeth the exclamacion of the Deth of Pyte.

III. THE BOOK OF THE DUCHESS.

The Proem.

I HAVE gret wonder, by this lighte,
How that I live, for day ne nighte
I may nat slepe wel nigh noght ;
I have so many an ydel thoght
Purely for defaute of slepe, 5
That, by my trouthe, I take †kepe
Of no-thing, how hit cometh or goth,
Ne me nis no-thing leef nor loth.

Al is y-liche good to me—
Joye or sorowe, wherso hit be— 10
For I have feling in no-thing,
But, as it were, a mased thing,
Alway in point to falle a-doun ;
For †sory imaginacioun
Is alway hoolly in my minde. 15

And wel ye woot, agaynes kinde
Hit were to liven in this wyse ;
For nature wolde nat suffyze
To noon erthely creature
Not longe tyme to endure 20

Withoute slepe, and be[en] in sorwe ;
And I ne may, ne night ne morwe,
Slepe; and †thus melancolye,
And dreed I have for to dye,
Defaute of slepe, and hevynesse 25
Hath sleyn my spirit of quiknesse,
That I have lost al lustihede.
Suche fantasyes ben in myn hede
So I not what is best to do.

But men mighte axe me, why so 30
I may not slepe, and what me is ?
But natheles, who aske this Leseth his asking trewely.
My-selven can not telle why
The sooth ; but trewely, as I gesse, 35
I holdë hit be a siknesse
That I have suffred this eight yere,
And yet my bote is never the nere ;
For ther is phisicien but oon,
That may me hele ; but that is doon. 40
Passe we over until eft ;
That wil not be, moot nede be left ; 20

Our first matere is good to kepe.

So whan I saw I might not slepe,
Til now late, this other night, 45
Upon my bedde I sat upright,
And bad oon reche me a book,
A romance, and he hit me took
To rede and dryve the night away ;
For me thoughte it better play 50
Then playe[n] either at chesse or tables.

And in this boke were written fables
That clerkes hadde, in olde tyme,
And other poets, put in ryme
To rede, and for to be in minde 55
Whyl men loved the lawe of kinde.
This book ne spak but of such thinges,
Of quenes lyves, and of kinges,
And many othere thinges smale.
Amonge al this I fond a tale 60
That me thoughte a wonder thing.

This was the tale : Ther was a king
That highte Seys, and hadde a wyf,
The beste that mighte bere lyf ;
And this quene highte Alcyone. 65
So hit befel, thereafter sone,
This king wolde wenden over see.
To tellen shortly, whan that he Was in the see, thus in this wyse,
Soche a tempest gan to ryse 70
That brak hir mast, and made it falle,
And clefte hir ship, and dreinte hem alle,
That never was founden, as it telles,
Bord ne man, ne nothing elles.
Right thus this king Seys loste his lyf. 75

Now †for to spoken of his wyf :—
This lady, that was left at homo,
Hath wonder, that the king ne come
Hoom, for hit was a longe terme.
Anon her herte †gan to erme ; 80
And for that hir thoughte evermo
Hit was not wel †he dwelte so,
She longed so after the king
That certes, hit were a pitous thing
To telle hir hertely sorwful lyf 85
That †hadde, alas ! this noble wyf ;
For him she loved alderbest.
Anon she sente bothe eest and west
To seke him, but they founde nought.
'Alas !' quoth she, 'that I was wrough !
And wher my lord, my love, be deed ? 91
Certes, I nil never ete breed,
I make a-vowe to my god here,

But I mowe of my lord here !'
Such sorwe this lady to her took 95
That trewely I, which made this book,
Had swich pite and swich rowthe
To rede hir sorwe, that, by my trowthe,
I ferde the worse al the morwe
After, to thenken on her sorwe. 100

So whan †she coude here no word
That no man mighte finde hir lord,
Ful oft she swouned, and seide 'alas !'
For sorwe ful nigh wood she was,
Ne she coude no reed but oon ; 105
But down on knees she sat anon,
And †weep, that pite was to here.

'A ! mercy ! swete lady dere !'
Quod she to Juno, hir goddesse ;
'Help me out of this distresse, 110
And yeve me grace my lord to see Sone, or wite wher-so he be,
Or how he fareth, or in what wyse,
And I shal make you sacrificse,
And hoolly youres become I shal 115
With good wil, body, herte, and al ;
And but thou wilt this, lady swete,
Send me grace to slepe, and mete
In my slepe som certeyn sweven, Wher-through that I may knowen even Whether my lord be quik or deed.' 121

With that word she heng down the heed,
And fil a-swoun as cold as ston ;
Hir women caughte her up anon,
And broghten hir in bed al naked, 125
And she, forweped and forwaked,
Was wery, and thus the dede sleep
Fil on her, or she toke keep,
Through Juno, that had herd hir bone,
That made hir [for] to slepe sone ; 130

For as she prayde, †so was don,
In dede ; for Juno, right anon,
Called thus her messagere
To do her erande, and he com nere.
Whan he was come, she bad him thus : 135
'Go bet,' quod Juno, 'to Morpheus,
Thou knowest him wel, the god of sleep ;
Now understond wel, and tak keep.
Sey thus on my halfe, that he Go faste into the grete see, 140
And bid him that, on alle thing,
He take up Seys body the king,
That lyth ful pale and no-thing rody.
Bid him crepe into the body,

- And do it goon to Alcyone 145
 The quene, ther she lyth alone,
 And shewe hir shortly, hit is no nay,
 How hit was dreynt this other day ;
 And do the body speke †so Right as hit was wont to do, 150
 The whyles that hit was on lyve.
 Go now faste, and hy thee blyve !'
 This messager took leve and wente
 Upon his wey, and never ne stente
 Til he com to the derke valeye 155
 That stant bytwene roches tweye,
 Ther never yet grew corn ne gras,
 Ne tree, ne †nothing that ought was,
 Beste, ne man, ne †nothing elles,
 Save ther were a fewe welles 160
 Came renning fro the cliffes adoun,
 That made a deedly sleping soun,
 And ronnen doum right by a cave
 That was under a rokke y-grave
 Amid the valey, wonder depe. 165
 Ther this goddes laye and slepe,
 Morpheus, and Eclympesteyre,
 That was the god of slepes heyre,
 That slepe and did non other werk.
 This cave was also as derk 170
 As helle pit over-al aboute ;
 They had good leyser for to ronte
 To envye, who might slepe beste ;
 Some henge hir chin upon hir breste
 And †slepe upright, hir heed y-hed, 175
 And some lay(e) naked in hir bed,
 And slepe whyles the dayes laste.
 This messager com flying faste,
 And cryed, ' O ho ! awak anon !' 179
 Hit was for noght ; ther herde him non.
 'Awak !' quod he, ' who is, lyth there ?'
 And blew his horn right in hir ere,
 And cryed ' awaketh !' wonder hyð.
 This god of slepe, with his oon yð
 Cast up, †axed, ' who clepeth there ?' 185
 ' Hit am I, ' quod this messagere ;
 ' Juno bad thou shuldest goon '—
 And tolde him what he shulde doon
 As I have told yow here-tofore ;
 Hit is no need reherse hit more ; 190
 And wente his way, whan he had sayd.
 Anon this god of slepe a-brayd
 Out of his slepe, and gan to goon,
 And did as he had bede him doon ;
 Took up the dreynthe body sone, 195
- And bar hit forth to Alcyone,
 His wyf the quene, ther-as she lay,
 Right even a quarter before day,
 And stood right at hir beddes fete,
 And called hir, right as she hete, 200
 By name, and seyde, ' my swete wyf,
 Awak ! let be your sorwful lyf !
 For in your sorwe ther lyth no reed ;
 For certes, swete, I †nam but deed ;
 Ye ahul me never on lyve y-see. 205
 But good swete herte, [look] that ye
 Bury my body, †at whiche a tyde
 Ye mowe hit finde the see besyde ;
 And far-wel, swete, my worldes blisse !
 I praye god your sorwe lisse ; 210
 To litel whyl our blisse lasteth !'
 With that hir eyen up she casteth,
 And saw noght ; ' †A !' quod she, ' for
 sorwe !'
 And deyed within the thridd morwe.
 But what she sayde more in that swow
 I may not telle yow as now, 216
 Hit were to longe for to dwelle ;
 My first matere I wil yow telle,
 Wherfor I have told this thing
 Of Alcione and Seys the king. 220
 For thus moche dar I say(e) wel,
 I had be dolven everydel,
 And deed, right through defaute of sleep,
 If I nad red and take[n] keep
 Of this tale next before : 225
 And I wol telle yow wherfore ;
 For I ne might, for bote ne bale,
 Slepe, or I had red this tale
 Of this dreynthe Seys the king,
 And of the goddes of sleping. 230
 Whan I had red this tale wel,
 And over-loked hit everydel,
 Me thoughte wonder if hit were so ;
 For I had never herd speke, or tho,
 Of no goddes that coude make 235
 Men [for] to slepe, ne for to wake ;
 For I ne knew never god but oon.
 And in my game I sayde anon—
 And yet me list right evel to pleye—
 ' Rather then that I shulde deye 240
 Through defaute of sleping thus,
 I wolde yive thilke Morpheus,
 Or his goddesse, dame Juno,
 Or som wight elles, I ne roghte who—
 To make me slepe and have som reste—

I wil yive him the alder-beste 246
 Yift that ever he abood his lyve,
 And here on warde, right now, as blyve ;
 If he wol make me slepe a lyte,
 Of downe of pure dowres whyte 250
 I wil yive him a fether-bed,
 Rayed with golde, and right wel cled
 In fyn blak satin doutremere,
 And many a pillow, and every bere
 Of clothe of Reynes, to slepe softe ; 255
 Him thar not nede to turnen ofte.
 And I wol yive him al that falles
 To a chambre ; and al his halles
 I wol do paynte with pure golde,
 And tapite hem ful many folde 260
 Of oo sute ; this shal he have,
 If I wiste wher were his cave,
 If he can make me slepe sone,
 As did the goddesse †Alcione.
 And thus this ilke god, Morpheus, 265
 May winne of me mo fess thus
 Than ever he wan ; and to Juno,
 That is his goddesse, I shal so do,
 I trow that she shal holde her payd.'

I hadde unneth that word y-sayd 270
 Right thus as I have told hit yow,
 That sodelynly, I niste how,
 Swich a lust anon me took
 To slepe, that right upon my book
 I fl aaslepe, and therwith even 275
 Me mette so inly swete a sweven,
 So wonderful, that never yit
 I trowe no man hadde the wit
 To conne wel my sweven rede ;
 No, not Joseph, withoute drede, 280
 Of Egipte, he that redde so
 The kinges meting Pharao,
 No more than coude the leste of us ;
 Ne nat scarsly Macrobeus,
 (He that wroot al th'avisoun 285
 That he mette, king Scipioun,
 The noble man, the Affrican—Swiche mervayles fortunued than)
 I trowe, a-rede my dremes even.
 Lo, thus hit was, this was my sweven. 290

The Dream.

Me thoughte thus :—that hit was May,
 And in the dawning ther I lay,
 Me mette thus, in my bed al naked :—

†I loked forth, for I was waked
 With smale foules a gret hepe, 295
 That had affrayed me out of †slepe
 Through noyse and swetnesse of hir song ;
 And, as me mette, they sate among,
 Upon my chambre-roof withoute,
 Upon the tyles, †al a-boute, 300
 And songen, everich in his wyse,
 The moeste solempne servyse
 By note, that ever man, I trowe,
 Had herd ; for som of hem song lowe,
 Som hye, and al of oon acorde, 305
 To telle shortly, at oo worde,
 Was never y-herd so swete a steven,
 But hit had be a thing of heven ;—
 So mery a soun, so swete entunes,
 That certes, for the toune of Tewnes, 310
 I nolde but I had herd hem singe ;
 For al my chambre gan to ringe
 Through singing of hir armonye.
 For instrument nor melodye
 Was nowher herd yet half so swete, 315
 Nor of acorde half so mete ;
 For ther was noon of hem that feyned
 To singe, for eech of hem him peyned
 To finde out mery crafty notes ;
 They ne spared not hir throtes. 320
 And, sooth to seyn, my chambre was Ful wel depeynted, and with glas
 Were al the windowes wel y-glassed,
 Ful clere, and nat an hole y-crased,
 That to beholde hit was gret joye. 325
 For hoolly al the storie of Troye
 Was in the glasing y-wrought thus,
 Of Ector and †king Priamus,
 Of Achilles and †Lamedon,
 Of †Medea and of Jason, 330
 Of Paris, Eleyne, and Lavyne.
 And †alle the walles with colours fyne
 Were peynted, bothe text and glose,
 †Of al the Romauce of the Rose.
 My windowes weren shet echon, 335
 And through the glas the sunne shon
 Upon my bed with brighte bomes,
 With many glade gilden stremes ;
 And eek the welken was so fair,
 Blew, bright, clere was the air, 340
 And ful stempere, for sothe, hit was ;
 For nother †cold nor hoot hit nas,
 Ne in al the welken was a cloude.
 And as I lay thus, wonder loude

Me thoughte I herde an hunte blowe 345
 T' assaye his horn, and for to knowe
 Whether hit were clere or hors of souno.
 †I herde goinge, up and doune,
 Men, hors, houndes, and other thing ;
 And al men speken of hunting, 350
 How they wolde slee the hert with
 strengthe,
 And how the hert had, upon lengthe,
 So moche embosed, I not now what.
 Anon-right, whan I herde that,
 How that they wolde on hunting goon,
 I was right glad, and up anon ; 356
 [I] took my hors, and forth I wente
 Out of my chambre ; I never stente
 Til I com to the feld withoute.
 Ther overtook I a gret route 360
 Of hunte and eek of foresteres,
 With many relayes and lymeres,
 And hyed hem to the forest faste,
 And I with hem ;—so at the laste
 I asked oon, ladde a lymere :— 365
 ' Say, felow, who shal hunte[n] here ?'
 Quod I ; and he answerde ageyn,
 ' Sir, th'empour Octovien,' Quod he, ' and is heer faste by.'
 ' A goddes halfe, in good tyme,' quod I,
 ' Go we faste !' and gan to ryde. 371
 Whan we came to the forest-ayde,
 Every man dide, right anon,
 As to hunting fil to doon.
 The mayster-hunte anon, fot-hoot, 375
 With a gret horne blew three moot
 At the uncoupling of his houndes.
 Within a whyl the hert [y]-founde is,
 Y-halowed, and rechased faste
 Longe tyme ; and †at the laste, 380
 This hert rused and stal away
 Fro alle the houndes a prevy way.
 The houndes had overshote hem alle,
 And were on a defaute y-falle ;
 Therwith the hunte wonder faste 385
 Blew a forloyn at the laste.
 I was go walked fro my tree,
 And as I wente, ther cam by me
 A whelp, that fauned me as I stood,
 That hadde y-folowed, and coude no good.
 Hit com and creep to me as lowe, 391
 Right as hit hadde me y-knowe,
 Hild down his heed and joynd his eres,
 And leyde al smothe down his heres.

I wolde han caught hit, and anon 395
 Hit fledde, and was fro me goon ;
 And I him folwed, and hit forth wente
 Down by a floury grene wente
 Ful thikke of gras, ful softe and swete,
 With floures fele, faire under fete, 400
 And lital used, hit seemed thus ;
 For bothe Flora and Zephirus,
 They two that make floures growe,
 Had mad hir dwelling ther, I trowe ;
 For hit was, on to beholde, 405
 As thogh the erthe envye wolde
 To be gayer than the heven,
 To have mo floures, swiche seven
 As in the welken sterres be.
 Hit had forgete the povertee 410
 That winter, through his colde morwee,
 Had mad hit suffre[n], and his sorwee ;
 Al was forgotten, and that was sene.
 For al the wode was waxen grene,
 Swetnesse of dewe had mad it waxe. 415
 Hit is no need eek for to axe
 Wher ther were many grene greves,
 Or thikke of trees, so ful of leves ;
 And every tree stood by him-selve
 Fro other wel ten foot or twelve. 420
 So grete trees, so huge of strengthe,
 Of fortyr or fifty fadme lengthe,
 Clene withoute bough or stikke,
 With croppes brode, and eek as thikke—
 They were nat an inche a-sonder— 425
 That hit was shadwe over-al under ;
 And many an hert and many an hinde
 Was both before me and bihinde.
 Of founes, soures, bukkes, does
 Was ful the wode, and many roes, 430
 And many squerelles, that sete
 Ful hye upon the trees, and ete,
 And in hir maner made festes.
 Shortly, hit was so ful of bestes,
 That thogh Argus, the noble countour,
 Sete to rekene in his countour, 436
 And rekene[d] with his figures ten—
 For by the figures mowe al ken,
 If they be crafty, rekene and noumbre,
 And telle of every thing the noumbre—
 Yet shulde he fayle to rekene even 441
 The wondres, me mette in my sweven.
 But forth they romed †wonder faste
 Down the wode ; so at the laste
 I was war of a man in blak, 445

That sat and had y-turned his bak
 To an oke, an huge tree.
 'Lord,' thoughte I, 'who may that be?
 What ayleth him to sitten here?'
 Anoon-right I wente nere; 450
 Than fond I sitte even upright
 A wonder wel-faringe knight—
 By the maner me thoughte so—
 Of good mochel, and tyong therto,
 Of the age of four and twenty yeer. 455
 Upon his berde but litel heer,
 And he was clothed al in blakke.
 I stalked even unto his bakke,
 And ther I stood as stille as ought,
 That, sooth to saye, he saw me nought,
 For-why he heng his heed adouna. 461
 And with a deedly sorwful sounne
 He made of ryme ten vers or twelve,
 Of a compleynt to him-selve,
 The moste pite, the moste rowthe, 465
 That ever I herde; for, by my trowthe,
 Hit was gret wonder that nature
 Might suffre[n] any creature
 To have swich sorwe, and be not deed.
 Ful pitous, pale, and nothing reed, 470
 He sayde a lay, a maner song,
 Withoute note, withoute song,
 And hit was this; for wel I can Reherse hit; right thus hit began.—
 'I have of sorwe so gret woon, 475
 That joye gete I never noon,
 Now that I see my lady bright,
 Which I have loved with al my might,
 Is fro me deed, and is a-noon.† 479
 'Allas, [o] deeth! what ayleth thee, 481
 That thou noldest have taken me,
 When that thou toke my lady swete?
 That was so fayr, so fresh, so free,
 So good, that men may wel [y]-see 485
 Of al goodness she had no mete!'—
 When he had mad thus his compleynte,
 His sorwful herte gan faste faynte,
 And his spirites wexen dede;
 The blood was fled, for pure drede, 490
 Doun to his herte, to make him warm—
 For wel hit feled the herte had harm—
 To wite eek why hit was a-drad
 By kinde, and for to make hit glad;
 For hit is membre principal 495
 Of the body; and that made al
 His hewe chaunge and wexe grene

And pale, for †no blood was sene
 In no maner lime of his.
 Anoon therwith whan I saw this, 500
 He ferde thus evel ther he sete,
 I wente and stood right at his sete,
 And grettis him, but he spak nought,
 But argued with his owne thought,
 And in his witte disputed faste 505
 Why and how his lyf might laste;
 Him thoughte his sorwes were so smerte
 And lay so colde upon his herte;
 So, through his sorwe and hevvy thought,
 Made him that he ne herde me nought;
 For he had wel nigh lost his minde, 511
 Thogh Pan, that men clepe god of kinde,
 Were for his sorwes never so wrooth.
 But at the laste, to sayn right sooth,
 He was war of me, how I stood 515
 Before him, and dide of myn hood.
 And †grettis him, as I best coude.
 Debonairly, and no-thing loude,
 He sayde, 'I prey thee, be not wrooth,
 I herde thee not, to sayn the sooth, 520
 Ne I saw thee not, sir, trowely.'
 'A! goode sir, no fors,' quod I,
 'I am right sorry if I have ought Destroubled yow out of your thought;
 For-yive me if I have mis-take.' 525
 'Yis, th' amendes is light to make,'
 Quod he, 'for ther lyth noon ther-to;
 Ther is no-thing missayd nor do.'
 Lo! how goodly spak this knight,
 As it had been another wight; 530
 He made it nouthter tough ne queynte,
 And I saw that, and gan me queynte
 With him, and fond him so tretable,
 Right wonder skilful and resonable,
 As me thoughte, for al his bale. 535
 Anoon-right I gan finde a tale
 To him, to loke wher I might ought
 Have more knowing of his thought.
 'Sir,' quod I, 'this game is doon;
 I holde that this hert be goon; 540
 These huntes counne him nowher see.'
 'I do no fors therof,' quod he,
 'My thought is ther-on never a del.'
 'By our lord,' quod I, 'I trow yow wel,
 Right so me thinketh by yow chere. 545
 But, sir, oo thing wol ye here?
 Me thinketh, in gret sorwe I yow see
 But certes, [good] sir, yif that ye

Wolde ought discure me your wo, I wolde, as wis god helpe me so, 550 Amende hit, yif I can or may ; Ye mowe preve hit by assay. For, by my trouthe, to make yow hool, I wol do al my power hool ; And telleth me of your sorwes smerte, Paraventure hit may ese your herte, 556 That semeth ful seke under your syde.'	My †song is turned to pleyning, And al my laughter to weping, 600 My glade thoghtes to hevynesse, In travaile is myn ydelnesse, And eek my reste ; my wele is wo. My good is harm, and ever-mo In wrathe is turned my pleying, 605 And my delyt in-to sorwing. Myn hele is turned into seeknesse, In drede is al my sikernesse. To derke is turned al my light, My wit is foly, my day is night, 610 My love is hate, my sleep waking, My mirthe and meles is fasting, My countenance is nycete, And al abaved wher-so I be, My pees, in pleding and in werre ; 615 Allas ! how mighte I fare werre ? ' My boldnesse is turned to shame, For fals Fortune hath pleyd a game Atte ches with me, allas ! the whyle ! The trayteresse fals and ful of gyle, 620 That al behoteth and no-thing halt, She goth upright and yet she halt, That baggeth foule and loketh faire, The disputous debonaire, That scorneth many a creature ! 625 An ydole of fals portraiture Is she, for she wil sone wryen ; She is the monstres heed y-wryen, As filth over y-strawed with floures ; Hir moste worship and hir †flour is 630 To lyen, for that is hir nature ; Withoute feyth, lawe, or mesure She is fals ; and ever laughinge With oon eye, and that other wepinge. That is brought up, she set al doun. 635 I lykne hir to the scorpioun, That is a fals flateringe beste ; For with his hede he maketh feste, But al amid his flateringe With his tayle he wol stinge, 640 And envynyme ; and so wol she. She is th' envyous charite That is ay fals, and semeth wele ; So turneth she hir false whele Aboute, for it is no-thing stable, 645 Now by the fyre, now at table ; Ful many oon hath she thus y-blent. She is pley of enchauntement, That semeth oon and is nat so,
With that he loked on me asyde, As who sayth, ' nay, that wol not be.' ' Graunt mercy, gode frend,' quod he, ' I thanke thee that thou woldest so, 561 But hit may never the rather be do. No man may my sorwe glade, That maketh my hewe to falle and fade, And hath myn understanding lorn, 565 That me is wo that I was born ! May nocht make my sorwes slyde, Nought the remedies of Ovyde ; Ne Orpheus, god of melodye, Ne Dedalus, with †playes slye ; 570 Ne hele me may †phisicien, Noght Ipcoras, ne Galien ; Me is wo that I live houres twelve ; But who so wol assaye him-selve Whether his herte can have pite 575 Of any sorwe, lat him see me. I wrecche, that deeth hath mad al naked Of alle blisse that was ever makid, Y-worthe worste of alle wightes, That hate my dayes and my nightes ; 580 My lyf, my lustes be me lothe, For al welfare and I be wrothe. The pure deeth is so †my fo, †Thogh I wolde deye, hit wolde not so ; For whan I folwe hit, hit wol fle ; 585 I wolde have †hit, hit nil not me. This is my payne withoute reed, Alway deyng, and be not deed, That †Sesiphus, that lyth in helle, May not of more sorwe telle. 590 And who so wiste al, by my trouthe, My sorwe, but he hadde routhe And pite of my sorwes smerte, That man hath a feendly herte. For who so seeth me first on morwe 595 May seyn, he hath [y]-met with sorwe ; For I am sorwe and sorwe is I. ' Allas ! and I wol telle the why ;

- The false thief! what hath she do, 650
Trowest thou? by our lord, I wol thee
seye.
- Atte ches with me she gan to pleye;
With hir false draughtes divers
She stal on me, and took my fers
And whan I saw my fers aweye, 655
Alas! I couthe no lenger pleye,
But seyde, "farwel, swete, y-wis,
And farwel al that ever ther is!"
Therwith Fortune seyde "chek here!" And "mate!" in †mid pointe of the 660 chekkere
- With a poune erraunt, allas!
Ful craftier to pley she was
Than Athalus, that made the game
First of the ches: so was his name.
But god wolde I had ones or twyes 665
Y-kound and knowe the jeopardyes
That coude the Grek Pithagores!
I shulde have pleyd the bet at ches,
And kept my fers the bet therby;
And thogh wherto? for trewely 670
I hold that wish nat worth a stree.
Hit had be never the bet for me.
For Fortune can so many a wyle,
Ther be but fowe can hir begyle,
And eek she is the las to blame; 675
My-self I wolde have do the same,
Before god, hadde I been as she;
She oghte the more excused be.
For this I say yet more therto,
Hadde I be god and mighte have do 680
My wille, whan †my fers she caughte,
I wolde have drawe the same draughte.
For, also wis god yive me reste,
I dar wel swere she took the beste!
'But through that draughte I have 685
lorn
- My blisse; allas! that I was born!
For evermore, I trowe trewely,
For al my wil, my lust hoolly
Is turned; but yet, what to dome?
By our lord, hit is to deye sone! 690
For no-thing I [ne] leve it noght,
But live and deye right in this thought.
†Ther nis planete in firmament,
Ne in air, ne in erthe, noon element,
That they ne yive me a yift echoon 695
Of weping, whan I am aloon.
For whan that I avyse me wel,
- And bethenke me every-del,
How that ther lyth in rekening.
In my sorwe, for no-thing; 700
And how ther leveth no gladnesse
May gladd me of my distresse,
And how I have lost suffiance,
And therto I have no plesance,
Than may I say, I have right noght. 705
And whan al this falleth in my thought,
Allas! than am I overcome!
For that is doon is not to come!
I have more sorowe than Tantale.'
And whan I herde him telle this tale
Thus pitously, as I yow telle, 711
Unnethe mighte I lenger dwelle,
Hit hide myn herte so moche wo.
'A! good sir!' quod I, 'say not so!
Have som pite on your nature 715
That formed yow to creature;
Remembre yow of Socrates;
For he ne counted nat three strees
Of noght that Fortune coude do.'
'No,' quod he, 'I can not so.' 720
'Why so? good sir! †parde!' quod I;
'Ne say noght so, for trewely,
Thogh ye had lost the ferses twelve,
And ye for sorwe mordred your-selfe,
Ye sholde be dampned in this cas 725
By as good right as Medea was,
That slow hir children for Jason;
And Phyllis †als for Demophon
Heng hir-self, so weylaway!
For he had broke his terme-day 730
To come to hir. Another rage
Had Dydo, †quene eek of Cartage,
That slow hir-self, for Eneas
Was fals; [a!] whiche a fool she was!
And Ecuo dyed for Narcisus 735
Nolde nat love hir; and right thus Hath many another foly don.
And for Dalida dyed Sampson,
That slow him-self with a pilere.
But ther is †noon a-lyve here 740
Wolde for a fers make[n] this wo!'
'Why so?' quod he; 'hit is nat so;
Thou wost ful litel what thou menest;
I have lost more than thou weneest.'
'Lo, †sir, how may that be?' quod I; 745
'Good sir, tel me al hoolly
In what wyse, how, why, and wherfore
That ye have thus your blisse lore.'

'Blythly,' quod he, 'com sit adoun ; I telle thee up condicioun 750 That thou þhoolly, with al thy wit, Do thyn entent to herkene hit.' 'Yis, sir.' 'Swere thy trouthe ther-to.' 'Gladly.' 'Do than holde her-to !' 'I shal right blythly, so god me save, 755 Hoolly, with al the witte I have, Here yow, as wel as I can.' 'A goddes half!' quod he, and began — 'Sir,' quod he, 'sith first I couthe Have any maner wit fro youthe, 760 Or kindly understanding To comprehende, in any thing, What love was, in myn owne wit, Dredeles, I have ever yit Be tributary, and yiven rente 765 To love hoolly with gode entente, And through plesaunce become his thral, With good wil, body, herte, and al Al this I putte in his servage, As to my lorde, and dide homage ; 770 And ful devoutly þ prayde him to, He shulde besette myn herte so, That it plesaunce to him were, And worship to my lady dere. 'And this was longe, and many a yeer Or that myn herte was set o-wher, 776 That I did thus, and niste why ; I trowe hit cam me kindly. Paraunter I was therto þable As a whyt wal or a table ; 780 For hit is redy to cacche and take Al that men wil therin make, Wher-so men wol portreie or peynte, Be the werkes never so queynte. 'And thilke tyme I ferde þso 785 I was able to have lerned tho, And to have coud as wel or better, Paraunter, other art or letter. But for love cam first in my thought, Therefore I forgat it nought, 790 I chees love to my firste craft, Therfor hit is with me [y]-last. Forwhy I took hit of so yong age, That malice hadde myn corage Nat that tyme turned to no-thing 795 Through to mochel knowleching. For that tyme Youthe, my maistresse, Governed me in ydelnesse ; For hit was in my firste youthe,	And tho ful litel good I couthe ; 800 For al my werkes were flittinge, þAnd al my thoghtes varyinge ; Al were to me y-liche good, That I knew tho ; but thus hit stood. 'Hit happed that I cam þa day 805 Into a place, ther þI say, Trewly, the fayrest company8 Of ladies, that ever man with y8 Had seen togedres in oo place. Shal I clepe hit hap other grace 810 That broghte me ther ? nay, but Fortune, That is to lyen ful comune, The false trayteresse, pervers, God wolde I coude clepe hir wars ! For now she worcheth me ful wo, 815 And I wol telle sone why so. 'Among these ladies thus cohoon, Soth to seyn, I saw [ther] oon That was lyk noon of [al] the route ; For I dar swere, withoute doute, 820 That as the someres sonne bright Is fairer, clerer, and hath more light Than any þplanete, [is] in heven, The mone, or the sterres seven, For al the worlde, so had she 825 Surmounted hem alle of beaute, Of maner and of comliness, Of stature and þwel set gladnesse, Of goodlihede þso wel beseye— Shortly, what shal I more seye? 830 By god, and by his halwes twelve, It was my swete, right as hir-selve ! She had so stedfast countenance, So noble port and meyntenance. And Love, that had herd my bone, 835 Had espied me thus sone, That she ful sone, in my thoght, As helpe me god, so was y-caught So sodenly, that I ne took No maner þreed but at hir look 840 And at myn herte ; for-why hir eyen So gladly, I trow, myn herte seyen, That purely tho myn owne thoght Seyde hit were þbet serve hir for nought Than with another to be wel. 845 And hit was sooth, for, everydel, I wil anon-right telle thee why. 'I saw hir daunce so comlily, Carole and singe so swetely, Laughe and pleye so womanly. 850

And loke so debonairly,
 So goodly speke and so frendly,
 That certes, I trow, that evermore
 Nas seyn so blisful a tresore.
 For every heer [up]on hir hede, 855
 Soth to seyn, hit was not rede,
 Ne nouthter yelw, ne broun hit nas;
 Me thoghte, most lyk gold hit was.
 And whiche eyen my lady hadde!
 Debonair, goode, glade, and sadde, 860
 Simple, of good mochel, noight to wyde;
 Therto hir look nas not a-syde,
 Ne overthwert, but beset so wel,
 Hit drew and took up, everydel,
 Alle that on hir gan beholde. 865
 Hir eyen semed anon she wolde
 Have mercy; foolles wenden so;
 But hit was never the rather do.
 Hit nas no countrefeted thing,
 It was hir owne pure loking, 870
 That the goddesse, dame Nature,
 Had made hem opene by mesure,
 And close; for, were she never so glad,
 Hir loking was not foly sprad,
 Ne wildely, thogh that she pleyd; 875
 But ever, me thoghte, hir eyen seyde,
 "By god, my wrathe is al for-yive!"
 'Therwith hir liste so wel to live,
 That dulnesse was of hir a-drad.
 She nas to sobre ne to glad; 880
 In alle thinges more mesure
 Had never, I trowe, creature.
 But many oon with hir loke she herte,
 And that sat hir ful lyte at herte,
 For she knew no-thing of hir thought; 885
 But whether she knew, or knew hit noight,
 Algate she ne roghte of hem a stree!
 To gete hir love no ner nas he
 That woned at home, than he in Inde;
 The formest was alway behinde. 890
 But gode folk, over al other,
 She loved as man may do his brother;
 Of whiche love she was wonder large,
 In skilful places that bere charge.
 '†Which a visage had she ther-to! 895
 Allas! myn herte is wonder wo
 That I ne can discryven hit!
 Me lakketh bothe English and wit
 For to undo hit at the fulle;
 And eek my spirits be so dulle 900
 So greet a thing for to devyse.

I have no wit that can suffyse
 To comprehend[en] hir beaute;
 But thus moche dar I seyn, that she
 Was †rody, fresh, and lvely hewed; 905
 And every day hir beaute newed.
 And negh hir face was alder-best;
 For certes, Nature had swich last
 To make that fair, that trewly she Was hir cheef patron of beautee, 910
 And cheef ensample of al hir werke,
 And moustre; for, be hit never so derke,
 Me thinketh I see hir ever-mo.
 And yet more-over, thogh alle tho
 That ever lived were now a-lyve, 915
 [They] ne sholde have founde to discryve
 In al hir face a wikked signe;
 For hit was sad, simple, and benigne.
 'And which a goodly softe speche
 Had that swete, my lyves leche! 920
 So frendly, and so wel y-grounded,
 Up al resoun so wel y-founded,
 And so trefable to alle gode,
 That I dar swere †by the rode,
 Of eloquence was never founde 925
 So swete a sowninge facounde,
 Ne trewer tonged, ne scorned lasse,
 Ne bet coude hele; that, by the masse
 I durste swere, thogh the pope hit songe,
 That ther was never †through hir tonge
 Man ne woman gretly harmed; 931
 As for hir, [ther] was al harm hid;
 Ne lasse flatering in hir worde,
 That purely, hir simple recorde
 Was founde as trewe as any bonde, 935
 Or trouthe of any mannes honde.
 Ne chyde she coude never a del,
 That knoweth al the world ful wel.
 'But swich a fairness of a nekke
 Had that swete, that boon nor brekke
 Nas ther non sene, that mis-sat. 941
 Hit was whyt, smothe, streght, and †flat,
 Withouten hole; †and canal-boon,
 As by seming, had she noon.
 Hir throte, as I have now memoire, 945
 Semed a round tour of yvoire,
 Of good gretnesse, and noight to grete.
 'And gode faire Whette she hete,
 That was my lady name right.
 She was bothe fair and bright, 950
 She hadde not hir name wrong.
 Right faire shuldres, and body long

She hadde, and armes, every lith
 Fattiah, fleshy, not greet therwith ;
 Right whyte handes, and nayles rede, 955
 Rounde brestes ; and of good brede
 Hir hippes were, a streight flat bak.
 I knew on hir non other lak
 That al hir limmes nere †sewing,
 In as fer as I had knowing. 960
 ‘ Therto she coude so wel pleye,
 Whan that hir liste, that I dar seye,
 That she was lyk to torche bright,
 That every man may take of light
 Ynogh, and hit hath never the lesse. 965
 ‘ Of maner and of comlinessse
 Right so ferde my lady dere ;
 For every wight of hir manere
 Might cacche ynogh, if that he wolde,
 If he had even hir to beholde. 970
 For I dar †sweren, if that she Had among ten thousand be,
 She wold8 have be, at the leste,
 A cheef mirour of al the feste,
 Thogh they had stonden in a rowe, 975
 To mennes eyen that coude have knowe.
 For wher-so men had pleyd or waked,
 Me thoughte the felawship as naked
 Withouten hir, that saw I ones,
 As a coroune withoute stones. 980
 Trewely she was, to myn y8,
 The soleyne fenix of Arabye,
 For ther liveth never but oon ;
 Ne swich as she ne knew I noon.
 ‘ To speke of goodnessse ; trewely she 985
 Had as moche debonairte
 As ever had Hester in the bible,
 And more, if more were possible.
 And, soth to seyne, therwith-al
 She had a wit so general, 990
 So hool enclined to alle gode,
 That al hir wit was set, by the rode,
 Withoute malice, upon gladnesse ;
 †Therto I saw never yet a lesse
 Harmful, than she was in doing. 995
 I sey nat that she ne had knowing
 What †was harm ; or elles she Had coud no good, so thinketh me.
 ‘ And trewely, for to speke of trouthe,
 But she had had, hit had be routhe. 1000
 Therof she had so moche hir del—
 And I dar seyn and swere hit wel—
 That Trouthe him-self, over al and al,

Had chose his maner principal
 In hir, that was his resting-place. 1005
 Ther-to she hadde the moste grace,
 To have stedfast perseveraunce,
 And esy, atempre governaunce,
 That ever I knew or wiste yit ;
 So pure suffraunt was hir wit. 1010
 And reson gladly she understood,
 Hit folowed wel she coude good.
 She used gladly to do wel ;
 These were hir maners every-del.
 ‘ Therwith she loved so wel right, 1015
 She wrong do wolde to no wight ;
 No wight might do hir no shame,
 She loved so wel hir owne name.
 Hir luste to holde no wight in honde ;
 Ne, be thou siker, she †nolde fonde 1020
 To holde no wight in balaunce,
 By half word ne by countenaunce,
 But-if men wolde upon hir lye ;
 Ne sende men in-to Walakye,
 To Fruyse and in-to Tartarye, 1025
 To Alisaundre, ne in-to Turkeye,
 And bidde him faste, anon that he Go hoodles †to the drye see,
 And come hoom by the Carrenare ;
 And seye, “ Sir, be now right ware 1030
 That I may of yow here seyn
 Worship, or that ye come ageyn !”
 She ne used no suche knakkes smale.
 ‘ But wherfor that I telle my tale ?
 Right on this same, as I have seyde, 1035
 Was hoolly al my love leyde ;
 For certes, she was, that swete wyf,
 My suffisaunce, my lust, my lyf,
 Myn hap, myn hele, and al my blisse,
 My worldes welfare and my †lisse, 1040
 And I hirs hoolly, everydel.’
 ‘ By our lord,’ quod I, ‘ I trowe yow wel !
 Hardely, your love was wel beset,
 I not how ye mighte have do bet.’
 ‘ Bet ? ne no wight so wel !’ quod he. 1045
 ‘ I trowe hit, sir,’ quod I, ‘ parde !’
 ‘ Nay, leve hit wel !’ ‘ Sir, so do I ;
 I leve yow wel, that trewely
 Yow thoughte, that she was the beste,
 And to beholde the alderfaireste, 1050
 Who so had loked †with your eyen.’
 ‘ With myn ? nay, alle that hir seyen
 Seyde, and swore[n] hit was so.
 And thogh they ne hadde, I wolde tho

- Have loved best my lady fre, 1055
 Thogh I had had al the beautee
 That ever had Alcipyades,
 And al the strengthe of Eroules,
 And therto had the worthinesse
 Of Alisaundre, and al the richesse 1060
 That ever was in Babiloyne,
 In Cartage, or in Macedoyne,
 Or in Rome, or in Ninive;
 And therto al-so hardy be
 As was Ector, so have I joye, 1065
 That Achilles slow at Troye—
 And therfor was he slayn also
 In a temple, for bothe two Wers slayn, he and †Antillogus,
 And so seyth Dares Frigius, 1070
 For love of [hir] Polixena—
 Or been as wys as Minerva,
 I wolde ever, withoute drede,
 Have loved hir, for I moste nede!
 "Nede!" nay, †I gabbe now, 1075
 Noght "nede," and I wol telle how,
 For of good wille myn herte hit wolde,
 And eek to love hir I was holde
 As for the fairest and the beste.
 'She was as good, so have I reste, 1080
 As ever was Penelope of Grece,
 Or as the noble wyf Lucrece,
 That was the beste—he telleth thus,
 The Romain Tytus Livius—
 She was as good, and no-thing lyke, 1085
 Thogh hir stories be autentyke; Algate she was as trewe as she.
 'But wherfor that I telle thee
 Whan I first my lady sey?
 I was right yong, [the] sooth to sey, 1090
 And ful gret need I hadde to lerne;
 Whan my herte wolde yerne
 To love, it was a greet empryse.
 But as my wit coude best suffyse,
 After my yonge childly wit, 1095
 Withoute drede, I besette hit
 To love hir in my beste wyse,
 To do hir worship and servyse
 That I †tho coude, by my trouthe,
 Withoute feynyn outhir slouthe; 1100
 For wonder fayn I wolde hir see.
 So mochel hit amended me,
 That, whan I saw hir first a-morwe,
 I was warished of al my sorwe
 Of al day after, til hit were eve; 1105
- Me thoughte no-thing mighte me greve,
 Were my sorwes never so smerte.
 And yit she sit so in myn herte,
 That, by my trouthe, I nolde noght,
 For al this worlde, out of my thought 1110
 Leve my lady; no, trewly!
 'Now, by my trouthe, sir,' quod I,
 'Me thinketh ye have such a chaunce
 As shrift withoute repentaunce.'
 'Repentaunce! nay fy,' quod he; 1115
 'Shulde I now repente me
 To love? nay, certes, than were I wel
 Wers than was Achitofel,
 Or Anthenor, so have I joye,
 The traytour that betrayned Troye, 1120
 Or the false Genelon,
 He that purchased the treson
 Of Rowland and of Olivere.
 Nay, whyl I am a-lyve here
 I nil foryete hir never-mo.' 1125
 'Now, gode sir,' quod I [right] tho,
 'Ye han wel told me her-before.
 It is no need rehearse hit more
 How ye sawe hir first, and where;
 But wolde ye telle me the manere, 1130
 To hir which was your firste speche—
 Therof I wolde yow be-seche—
 And how she knewe first your thought,
 Whether ye loved hir or noght,
 And telleth me eek what ye have lore;
 I herde yow telle her-before.' 1136
 'Ye,' seyde he, 'thou nost what thou
 menest;
 I have lost more than thou weneest.'
 'What los is that, [sir]?' quod I tho;
 'Nil she not love yow? is hit so? 1140
 Or have ye oght [y-]kloon amis,
 That she hath left yow? is hit this?
 For goddes love, tel me al.'
 'Before god,' quod he, 'and I shal.
 I saye right as I have seyde, 1145
 On hir was al my love leyde;
 And yet she niste hit †never a del
 Noght longe tyme, leve hit wel.
 For be right siker, I durste noght 1149
 For al this worlde telle hir my thought,
 Ne I wolde have wratted hir, trewly.
 For wostow why? sho was lady
 Of the body; she had the herte,
 And who hath that, may not asterte.
 'But, for to kepe me fro ydelnesse, 1155

- Trewly I did my besinesse
 To make songes, as I best conde,
 And ofte tyme I song hem loude ;
 And made songes a gret del.
 Al-thogh I coude not make so wel 1160
 Songes, ne knowe the art al,
 As conde Lamekes sone Tubal,
 That fond out first the art of songe ;
 For, as his brothers hamers ronge
 Upon his anvelt up and down. 1165
 Therof he took the firste soun ;
 But Grekes seyn, Pictagoras,
 That he the firste finder was
 Of the art ; Anrora telloth so,
 But therof no fors, of hem two. 1170
 Algates songes thus I made
 Of my feling, myn herte to glade ;
 And lo ! this was [the] alther-firste,
 I not wher [that] hit were the werste.—
 † “ Lord, hit maketh myn herte light,
 Whan I thinke on that swete wight 1176
 That is so semely on to see ;
 And wisse to god hit might so be,
 That she wolde holde me for hir knight,
 My lady, that is so fair and bright ! ”—
 ‘ Now have I told thee, sooth to saye,
 My firste song. Upon a daye 1182
 I bethoghte me what wo
 And sorwe that I suffred tho
 For hir, and yet she wiste hit noght, 1185
 Ne telle hir durste I nat my thought.
 “ Allas ! ” thoughte I, “ I can no reed ;
 And, but I telle hir, I † nam but deed ;
 And if I telle hir, to seye † sooth,
 I am a-dred she wol be wrooth ; 1190
 Allas ! what shal I thanne do ? ”
 ‘ In this debat I was so wo,
 Me thoughte myn herte braste a-tweyn !
 So atte laste, soth to seyn,
 I me bethoghte that nature 1195
 Ne formed never in creature
 So moche beaute, trewely,
 And bounte, withouten mercy.
 ‘ In hope of that, my tale I tolde
 With sorwe, as that I never sholde, 1200
 For nedes ; and, maugree myn heed,
 I moste have told hir or be deed.
 I not wel how that I began.
 Ful evl reherse[n] hit I can ;
 And ook, as helpe me god with-al, 1205
 I trowe hit was in the dismal,
- That was the ten woundes of Egipte ;
 For many a word I over-skipte
 In my tale, for pure fere
 Lest my wordes mis-set were. 1210
 With sorweful herte, and woundes dede,
 Softe and quaking for pure drede
 And shame, and stinting in my tale
 For ferde, and myn hewe al pale,
 Ful ofte I wex bothe pale and reed ; 1215
 Bowing to hir, I heng the heed ;
 I durste nat ones loke hir on,
 For wit, manere, and al was gon.
 I seyde “ mercy ! ” and no more ;
 Hit nas no game, hit sat me sore 1220
 ‘ So atte laste, sooth to seyn,
 Whan that myn herte was come ageyn,
 To telle shortly al my speche,
 With hool herte I gan hir beseche
 That she wolde be my lady swete ; 1225
 And swor, and gan hir hertely hete
 Ever to be stedfast and trewe,
 And love hir alway freshly newe,
 And never other lady have,
 And al hir worship for to save 1230
 As I best coude ; I swor hir this—“ For youres is al that ever ther is
 For evermore, myn herte swete !
 And never † false yow, but I mete,
 I nil, as wis god helpe me so ! ” 1235
 ‘ And whan I had my tale y-do,
 God wot, she accounted nat a stree
 Of al my tale, so thoughte me.
 To telle shortly † as hit is,
 Trewly hir answer, hit was this ; 1240
 I can not now wel counterfete
 Hir wordes, but this was the grete
 Of hir answer ; she sayde, “ nay ”
 Al-outerly. Allas ! that day
 The sorwe I suffred, and the wo ! 1245
 That trewly Cassandra, that so Bewayled the destruccioun
 Of Troye and of Ilioun,
 Had never swich sorwe as I tho.
 I durste no more say therto 1250
 For pure fere, but stal away ;
 And thus I lived ful many a day :
 That trewely, I hadde no need
 Ferther than my beddes heed
 Never a day to seche sorwe ; 1255
 I fond hit redy every morwe,
 For-why I loved hir in no gere.

'So hit befel, another yere,
I thoughte ones I wolde fonde 1260
To do hir knowe and understonde
My wo; and she wel understood
That I ne wilned thing but good,
And worship, and to kepe hir name
Over þal thing, and drede hir shame,
And was so besy hir to serve;— 1265
And pite were I shulde sterve, Sith that I wilned noon harm, y-wis.
So whan my lady knew al this,
My lady yaf me al hoolly
The noble yift of hir mercy, 1270
Saving hir worship, by al weyes;
Dredles, I mene noon other weyes.
And therwith she yaf me a ring;
I trowe hit was the firste thing;
But if myn herte was y-waxe 1275
Glad, that is no need to axe!
As helpe me god, I was as blyve,
Reysed, as fro dethe to lyve,
Of alle happes the alder-beste,
The gladdest and the moste at reste. 1280
For trowely, that swete wight,
Whan I had wrong and she the right,
She wolde alwey so goodely
For-yeve me so debonairly.
In alle my youthe, in alle chaunce, 1285
She took me in hir governaunce.
'Therwith she was alwey so trewe,
Our joye was ever y-liche newe;
Our hertes wern so even a payre, 1290
That never nas that oon contrayre
To that other, for no wo.
For sothe, y-liche they suffred tho
Oo blisse and eek oo sorwe bothe;
Y-liche they were bothe gladde and 1295
wrothe;
Al was us oon, withoute were.
And thus we lived ful many a yere

So wel, I can nat telle how.
'Sir,' quod I, 'wher is she now?'
'Now!' quod he, and stinte anon.
Therwith he wex as deed as stoon, 1300
And seyde, 'allas! that I was bore!
That was the los, that her-before
I tolde thee, that I had lorn.
Bethenk how I seyde her-beforn, 1304
"Thou wost ful litel what thou menest;
I have lost more than thou wenest"— God wot, allas! right that was she!'
'Allas! sir, how? what may that be?'
'She is deed!' 'Nay!' 'Yis, by my
trouthe!'
'Is that your los? by god, hit is routhe!'
And with that worde, right anon, 1311
They gan to strake forth; al was doon,
For that tyme, the hert-hunting.
With that, me thoughte, that this king
Gan [quikly] hoomward for to ryde 1315
Unto a place þther besyde,
Which was from us but a lyte.
A long castel with walles whyte,
By seynt Johan! on a riche hil,
As me mette; but thus it fil. 1320
Right thus me mette, as I yow telle,
That in the castel þwas a belle,
As hit had smiten houres twelve.—

Therwith I awook my-selve,
And fond me lying in my bed; 1325
And the book that I had red,
Of Alcyone and Seys the king,
And of the goddes of sleping,
I fond it in myn honde ful even.
Thoughte I, 'this is so queynt a sweven,
That I wol, by process of tyme, 1331
Fonde to putte this sweven in ryme
As I can best: and that anon.—
This was mysweven; now hit is doon. 1334

Explicit the Boke of the Duchesse.

IV. THE COMPLEYNT OF MARS.

The Proem

'GLADETH, ye foules, of the morow gray,
Lo! Venus risen among yon rowes rede!
And floures fresshe, honoureth ye this
day;

For when the sonne uprist, then wol ye
sprede.

But ye lovers, that lye in any drede, 5
Fleeth, lest wikked tonges yow espye;
Lo! yond the sonne, the candel of jelosye!

With teres blewe, and with a wounded
herte

Taketh your leve; and, with seynt John to borow,

Apeseth somewhat of your sorowes smerte, Tyme cometh aft, that cese shal your sorow; 11

The glade night is worth an hevvy
morow!—

(Seynt Valentyne! a foul thus herde I
singe

Upon thy day, er sonne gan up-springe).—

Yet sang this foul—'I rede yow al a-wake,
And ye, that han not chosen in humble
wyse, 16

Without repenting cheseth yow your
make.

And ye, that han ful chosen as I devyze,
Yet at the leste renoveleth your servyse;
Confermeth it perpetuely to dure, 20
And paciently taketh your aventure.

And for the worship of this hye feste,
Yet wol I, in my briddes wyse, singe
The sentence of the complaynt, at the
leste,

That woful Mars made atte departinge 25
Fro fresshe Venus in a morweninge,
Whan Phebus, with his fyry torches rede,
Ransaked every lover in his drede.

The Story.

¶ Whylom the thridde hevenes lord
above,

As wel by hevenish revolucioun 30

As by desert, hath wonne Venus his love,
And she hath take him in subjeccioun,
And as a maistresse taught him his lessoun,

Comaunding him that never, in hir ser-
vyse,

He nere so bold no lover to despysse. 35

For she forbad him jelosye at alle,
And cruelte, and bost, and tyrannye;
She made him at hir lust so humble and
talle,

That when hir deynd caste on him hir yē,
He took in pacience to live or dye; 40

And thus she brydeleth him in hir man-
ere,

With no-thing but with scourging of hir
chere.

Who regneth now in blisse but Venus,
That hath this worthy knight in govern-
aunce?

Who singeth now but Mars, that serveth
thus 45

The faire Venus, causer of plesaunce?
He bynt him to perpetual obeisaunce,
And she bynt hir to loven him for ever,
But so be that his trespas hit dissever.

Thus be they knit, and regnen as in heven
By loking most; til hit fil, on a tyde, 51
That by hir bothe assent was set a steven,
That Mars shal entre, as faste as he may
glyde,

Into hir nexte paleys, to abyde,
Walking his cours til she had him a-take,
And he preyde hir to haste hir for his sake. 56

Then seyde he thus—"myn hertes lady
swete,

Ye knowe wel my mischef in that place;
For sikerly, til that I with yow mete, 59
My lyf stant ther in aventure and grace;
But when I see the beaute of your face,
Ther is no dreed of death may do me
smerte,

For al your lust is ese to myn herte."

She hath so gret compassion of hir knight,
That dwelleth in solitude til she come ; 65
For hit stood so, that ilke tyme, no wight
Counseyld him, no seyde to him welcome,
That nigh hir wit for wo was overcome ;
Wherfore she spedde hir as faste in hir
weye,

Almost in oon day, as he dide in tweye. 70

The grette joye that was betwix hem two,
Whan they be met, ther may no tunge
telle,

Ther is no more, but unto bed they go,
And thus in joye and blisse I lete hem
dwelle ;

This worthy Mars, that is of knightthod
welle, 75

The flour of fairnes lappeth in his armes,
And Venus kisseth Mars, the god of armes.

Sojourned hath this Mars, of which I rede,
In chambre amid the paleys privly

A certeyn tyme, til him fel a drede, 80
Through Phebus, that was comen hastily
Within the paleys-yates sturdely,
With torche in honde, of which the stromes brighte

On Venus chambre knockeden ful lighte.

The chambre, ther as lay this fresshe
quene, 85

Depeynted was with whyte boles grette,
And by the light she knew, that shoon
so shene,

That Phebus cam to brenne hem with his
hete ;

This sely Venus, †dreynt in teres wete, Enbraceth Mars, and seyde, " alas ! I dye !
The torch is come, that al this world wol
wrye." 91

Up sterte Mars, him liste not to slepe,
Whan he his lady herde so compleyne ;
But, for his nature was not for to wepe,
In stede of teres, fro his eyen tweyne 95
The fyry sparkes brosten out for peyne ;
And hente his hauberk, that lay him be-
syde ;

Flee wolde he not, ne mighte him-selven
hyde.

He throweth on his helm of huge wighte,
And girt him with his swerde ; and in his honde 100

His mighty spere, as he was wont to fichte,

He shaketh so that almost it to-wonde ;
Ful hevye he was to walken over londe ;
He may not holde with Venus companye,
But bad hir flee, lest Phebus hir espye.

O woful Mars ! alas ! what mayst thou
seyn, 106

That in the paleys of thy disturbaunce
Art left behinde, in peril to be aleyn ?

And yet ther-to is double thy penaunce,
For she, that hath thyn herte in govern-
aunce, 110

Is passed halfe the stromes of thyn yā ;
That thou nere swift, wel mayst thou wepe and cryen.

Now fleeth Venus un-to Cylenius tour,
With voide cours, for fere of Phebus light.

Alas ! and ther ne hath she no socour, 115
For she ne fond ne saw no maner wight ;
And eek as ther she had but lital might ;
Wher-for, hir-selven for to hyde and save,
Within the gate she fledde into a cave.

Derk was this cave, and smoking as the
helle, 120

Not but two pas within the gate hit stood ;
A naturel day in derk I lete hir dwelle.

Now wol I speke of Mars, furious and
wood ;

For sorow he wolde have seen his herte
blood ;

Sith that he mighte †hir don no com-
panye, 125

He ne roghte not a myte for to dye.

So feble he wex, for hete and for his wo,
That nigh he swelt, he mighte unnethen
endure ;

He passeth but oo steyre in dayes two,
But ner the les, for al his hevye armure, 130
He foloweth hir that is his lyves oure ;
For whos departing he took gretter yre
Thanne for al his brenning in the fyre.

After he walketh softly a pas,
Compleynyng, that hit pite was to here. 135

He seyde, " O lady bright, Venus ! alas !
That ever so wyde a compas is my spere !

Alas ! whan shal I mete yow, herte dere,
This twelfte day of April I endure,
Through jelous Phebus, this misaventure." 140

Now þhelpe god sely Venus allone! 141
 But, as god wolde, hit happed for to be,
 That, whyl that Venus weping made hir
 mone,

Cylenius, ryding in his chevauchè, 144
 Fro Venus valance mighte his paleys see,
 And Venus he salueth, and maketh chere,
 And hir receyveth as his frend ful dere.

Mars dwelleth forth in his adversitee,
 Complaynyng ever on hir departinge;
 And what his complaynt was, remem-
 breth me; 150
 And therefore, in this lusty morweninge,
 As I best can, I wol hit seyn and singe,
 And after that I wol my leve take;
 And god yeve every wight joye of his
 make!

The Complaynt of Mars.

The Proem of the Complaynt.

¶ The ordre of complaynt requireth skilfully, 155

That if a wight shal pleyne pitoualy,
 Ther mot be cause wherfor that men
 pleyne;

Or men may deme he pleyneth folily
 And canseles; alas! that am not I!

Wherfor the ground and cause of al
 my payne, 160

So as my troubled wit may hit ateyne,
 I wol rehearse; not for to have redresse,
 But to declare my ground of hevinesse.

Devotion.

¶ The firste tyme, alas! that I was wrought,
 And for certeyn effectes hider brought 165

By him that lordeth ech intelligence,
 I yaf my trewe servise and my thought,
 For evermore—how dere I have hit boght!—

To hir, that is of so gret excellence,

That what wight that first sheweth his presence, 170

When she is wroth and taketh of him no
 cure,

He may not longe in joye of love endure.

This is no feyned mater that I telle;

My lady is the verrey sours and welle

Of beaute, lust, fredom, and gentil-
 nesse, 175

Of riche aray—how dere men hit selle!—
 Of al disport in which men frendly dwalle,
 Of love and pley, and of benigne hum-
 blesse,

Of soune of instruments of al swetnesse;
 And therto so wel fortunèd and thewed,
 That through the world hir goodnesse is y-shewed. 181

What wonder is then, thogh that I be-
 sette

My servise on suche oon, that may me
 knette

To wele or wo, sith hit lyth in hir
 might? 184

Therfor my herte for ever I to hir hette;
 Ne trewly, for my dethe, I shal not lette
 To ben hir trewest servaunt and hir
 knight.

I flater nocht, that may wite every
 wight;

For this day in hir servise shal I dye;
 But grace be, I see hir never with yè. 190

A Lady in fear and woe.

¶ To whom shal I than pleyne of my dis-
 tresse?

Who may me helpe, who may my harm
 redresse?

Shal I complayne unto my lady free?

Nay, certes! for she hath such hevinesse,
 For fere and eek for wo, that, as I gesse,
 In litil tyme hit wol hir bane be. 196

But were she sauf, hit wer no fors of me.
 Alas! that ever lovers mote endure,
 For love, so many a perilous aventure!

For thogh so be that lovers be as trewe 200
 As any metal that is forged newe,

In many a cas hem tydeth ofte sorowe.
 Somtyme hir ladies will not on hem rewe,
 Somtyme, yif that jelosye hit knewe,

They mighten lightly laye hir heed to borowe; 205

Somtyme envyous folke with tungen
 horowe

Depraven hem; alas! whom may they plesse?

But he be fals, no lover hath his ese.

But what availeth suche a long sermoun
Of adventures of lov8, up and down? 210

I wol returne and speken of my payne;
The point is this of my destructioun,
My righte lady, my salvacioun,
Is in affray, and not to whom to pleyne.
O herte swete, O lady sovereyne! 215
For your disece, wel oghte I swoun and swelte,
Thogh I non other harm ne drede felte.

Instability of Happiness.

¶ To what fyn made the god that sit so
hye,

Benethen him, love other companye,
And streyneth folk to love, malgre hir
hede? 220

And then hir joye, for oght I can espye,
Ne lasteth not the twinkeling of an y8,
And somme han never joye til they be
dede.

What meneth this? what is this misti-
hede?

Wherto constreyneth he his folk so faste
Thing to desyre, but hit shulde laste? 226

And thogh he made a lover love a thing,
And maketh hit seme stedfast and during,

Yet putteth he in hit such misaventure,
That reste nis ther noon in his yeving. 230

And that is wonder, that so just a king
Doth such hardnesse to his creature.

Thus, whether love breke or elles dure,
Algates he that hath with love to done
Hath offer wo then changed is the mone.

Hit semeth he hath to lovers enmite, 236
And lyk a fisser, as men alday may see,

Baiteth his angle-hook with som pleas-
aunce,

Til mony a fish is wood til that he be 239
Sesed ther-with; and then at erst hath he

Al his desyr, and ther-with al mis-
chaunce;

And thogh the lyne breke, he hath
penaunce;

For with the hoke he wounded is so sore,
That he his wages hath for ever-more.

The Brooch of Thebes.

¶ The broche of Thebes was of suche a
kinde, 245

So ful of rubies and of stones Inde,

That every wight, that sette on hit an
y8,

He wende anon to worthe out of his
minde;

So sore the beaute wolde his herte binde,
Til he hit hadde, him thoghte he moste
dye; 250

And whan that hit was his, than shulde
he drye

Such wo for drede, ay whyl that he hit
hadde,

That welnigh for the fere he shulde
madde.

And whan hit was fro his possessioun,
Than had he double wo and passioun 255

For he so fair a tresor had forgo;
But yet this broche, as in conclusioun,

Was not the cause of this confusioun;
But he that wroghte hit enfortuned hit
so,

That every wight that had hit shuld
have wo; 260

And therfor in the worcher was the vyce,
And in the covetour that was so nyce.

So fareth hit by lovers and by me;
For thogh my lady have so gret beaute,

That I was mad til I had gete hir
grace, 265

She was not cause of myn adversitee,
But he that wroghte hir, also mot I
thee,

That putte suche a beaute in hir face,
That made me to covete and purchase

Myn owne deth; him wyte I that I
dye, 270

And myn unwit, that ever I clomb so
hye

An Appeal for Sympathy.

¶ But to yow, hardy knightes of renoun,
Sin that ye be of myn divisioun,

Al be I not worthy +so grete a name,
Yet, seyn these clerkes, I am your pa-troun; 275

Ther-for ye oghte have som compassioun
Of my disece, and take it nought a-game.

The proudest of yow may be mad ful
tame;

Wherfor I prey yow, of your gentillesse,
That ye compleyne for myn heviness. 280

And ye, my ladies, that ben trewe and
stable,

By way of kinde, ye oghten to be able

To have pite of folk that be in peyne :

Now have ye cause to clothe yow in sable ;

Sith that your emperice, the honorable,

Is desolat, wel oghte ye to pleyne ; 286

Now shuld your holy teres falle and reyna.

Alas ! your honour and your emperice,

Nigh deed for drede, ne can hir not chevise.

Compleyneth eek, ye lovers, al in-fere, 290
For hir that, with unfeyned humble chere,

Was ever redy to do yow socour ;

Compleyneth hir that ever hath had yow
dere ;

Compleyneth beaute, fredom, and manere ;

Compleyneth hir that endeth your labour ; 295

Compleyneth thilke ensample of al
honour,

That never dide but al gentillesse ; 297

Kytheth therfor on hir som kindenesse.'

V. THE PARLEMENT OF FOULES.

The Proem.

THE lyf so short, the craft so long to lerne,
Th'assay so hard, so sharp the conquering,
The dredful joye, that alwey slit so yerne,
Al this mene I by love, that my feling 4
Astonyeth with his wonderful worching
So sore y-wis, that whan I on him thinke,
Nat wot I wel wher that I wake or winke.

For al be that I knowe not love in dede,
Ne wot how that he quytheth folk hir hyre,
Yet happeth me ful ofte in bokes rede 10
Of his miracles, and his cruel yre ;
Ther rede I wel he wol be lord and syre,
I dar not seyn, his strokes been so sore,
But god save swich a lord ! I can no
more.

Of usage, what for luste what for lore, 15
On bokes rede I ofte, as I yow tolde.
But wherfor that I speke al this ? not yore
Agon, hit happed me for to beholde
Upon a boke, was write with lettres olde ;
And ther-upon, a certeyn thing to lerne, 20
The longe day ful faste I radde and yerne.

For out of olde felde, as men seith,
Cometh al this newe corn fro yeer to yeer ;
And out of olde bokes, in good feith,
Cometh al this newe science that men
lere. 25

But now to purpos as of this matere—
To rede forth hit gan me so delyte,
That al the day me thoughte but a lyte.

This book of which I make mencion,
Entitled was al thus, as I shal telle, 30
'Tullius of the dreame of Scipioun' ;
Chapitres seven hit hadde, of hevenc and
helle,

And erthe, and soules that therinne
dwelle,

Of whiche, as shortly as I can hit trete, 34
Of his sentence I wol you seyn the grete.

First telleth hit, whan Scipioun was come
In Afrik, how he mette Massinisse,
That him for joye in armes hath y-nome.
Than telleth hit hir speche and al the
blisse

That was betwix hem, til the day gan
misse ; 40
And how his auncestre, African so dere,
Gan in his slepe that night to him appere.

Than telleth hit that, fro a sterry place,
How African hath him Cartage shewed,
And warned him before of al his grace, 45
And seyde him, what man, lered other lewed,

That loveth comun profit, wel y-thewed,
He shal unto a blisful place wende,
Ther as joye is that last withouten ende.

Than asked he, if folk that heer be dede
Have lyf and dwelling in another place; 51
And African seyde, 'ye, withoute drede,'
And that our present worldes lyves space
Nis but a maner deth, what wey we trace,
And rightful folk shal go, after they dye,
To heven; and shewed him the galaxye. 56

Than shewed he him the lital erthe, that heer is,

At regard of the hevenes quantite;
And after shewed he him the nyne speres,
And after that the melodye herde he 60
That cometh of thilke speres thryes three,
That welle is of musyke and melodye
In this world heer, and cause of armonye.

Than bad he him, sin erthe was so lyte,
And ful of torment and of harde grace, 65
That he ne shulde him in the world delyte.

Than tolde he him, in certeyn yeres space,
That every sterre shulde come into his
place

Ther hit was first; and al shulde out of
minde 69

That in this worlde is don of al mankinds.

Than prayde him Scipioun to telle him al
The wey to come un-to that hevене blisse;
And he seyde, 'know thy-self first immortal,

And loke ay besily thou werke and wisse
To comun profit, and thou shalt nat misse
To comen swiftly to that place dere, 76
That ful of blisse is and of soules clere.

But brekers of the lawe, soth to seyne,
And lecherous folk, after that they be
dede, 79

Shul alwey whirle aboute th'erthe in payne,
Til many a world be passed, out of drede,
And than, for-yeven alle hir wikked dede,
Than shul they come unto that blisful
place,

To which to comen god thee sende his
grace!—

The day gan failen, and the derke night,
That reveth bestes from hir businesse, 86
Berafte me my book for lakke of light,
And to my bedde I gan me for to dresse,
Fulfil of thought and besy heviness; ;

For bothe I hadde thing which that I
nolde, 90
And eek I ne hadde that thing that I wolda.

But fynally my spirit, at the laste,
For-wery of my labour al the day,
Took rest, that made me to slepe faste,
And in my slepe I mette, as I lay, 95
How African, right in that selfe aray
That Scipioun him saw before that tyde,

Was comen, and stood right at my beddes
syde.

The very hunter, slepinge in his bed,
To wode ayen his minde goth anon; 100
The juge dremeth how his plees ben sped;

The carter dremeth how his cartes goon;
The riche, of gold; the knight fight with his foon,

The seke met he drinketh of the tonne;
The lover met he hath his lady wonne. 105

Can I nat seyng if that the cause were
For I had red of African befor,
That made me to mete that he stood
there;

But thus seyde he, 'thou hast thee so wel born

In loking of myn olde book to-torn, 110
Of which Macrobie roghte nat a lyte,
That somdel of thy labour wolde I
quyte!—

Citherea! thou blisful lady swete,
That with thy fyr-brand dauntest whom thee lest,

And madest me this sweven for to mete,
Be thou my help in this, for thou mayst
best; 116

As wisely as I saw thee north-north-west,
When I began my sweven for to wryte,
So yif me might to ryme hit and endyte!

The Story.

This forseid African me hente anon, 120
And forth with him unto a gate broghte
Right of a parke, walled with grene stoon;
And over the gate, with lettres large
y-wroghte,
Ther weren vers y-writen, as me thoghte,

On eyther halfe, of ful gret difference, 125
Of which I shal yow sey the playn sentence.

'Thorgh me men goon in-to that blisful
place

Of hertes hele and dedly woundes cure ;
Thorgh me men goon unto the welle of
Grace,

Ther grene and lusty May shal ever
endure ; 130

This is the way to al good aventure ;
Be glad, thou reder, and thy sorwe of-
caste,

Al open am I ; passe in, and hy the
faste !'

'Thorgh me men goon,' than spak that other syde,

'Unto the mortal strokes of the spere, 135
Of which Disdayn and Daunger is the
gyde,

Ther tree shal never fruit ne leves bere.
This stream you ledeth to the sorwful
were,

Ther as the fish in prison is al drye ;
Theschewing is only the remedye.' 140

Thise vers of gold and blak y-written were,
The whiche I gan a stounde to beholde,
For with that oon encreased ay my fere,
And with that other gan myn herte bolde ;
That oon me hette, that other did me
colde, 145

No wit had I, for errour, for to chese,
To entre or flee, or me to save or lese.

Right as, betwixen adamauntes two
Of even might, a pece of iren y-set, 149
That hath no might to meve to ne fro—
For what that on may hale, that other let—

Ferde I, that niste whether me was bet,
To entre or leve, til African my gyde
Me hente, and shoof in at the gates
wyde,

And seyde, 'hit stondesth written in thy
face, 153

Thyn errour, though thou telle it not to
me ;

But dred thee nat to come in-to this
place,

For this wryting is no-thing ment by
thee,

Ne by noon, but he Loves servant be ;
For thou of love hast lost thy tast, I
gesse, 160
As seek man hath of swete and bitter-
nesse.

But natheles, al-though that thou be
dulle,

Yit that thou canst not do, yit mayst
thou see ;

For many a man that may not stonde
a pulle,

Yit lyketh him at the wrastling for
to be, 165

And demeth yit wher he do bet or he ;
And if thou haddest cunning for t'endyte,
I shal thee shewen mater of to wryte.'

With that my hond in his he took anon,
Of which I comfort caughte, and wente
in faste ; 170

But lord ! so I was glad and wel begoon !
For over-al, wher that I myn eyen caste,
Were trees clad with leves that ay shal
laste,

Eche in his kinde, of colour fresh and
grene

As emeraude, that joye was to sene. 175

The bilder ook, and eek the hardy asshe ;
The piler elm, the cofre unto careyne ;
The boxtree piper ; holm to whippes
lasshe ;

The sayling firr ; the cipres, deth to
pleyne ; 179

The sheter ew, the asp for shaftes pleyne ;
The olyve of pees, and eek the drunken vyne,

The victor palm, the laurer to devyne.

A garden saw I, ful of blosmy bowes,
Upon a river, in a grene mede, 184
Ther as that swetnesse evermore y-now is,
With floures whyte, blewe, yelow, and
rede ;

And colde walle-stremes, no-thing dede,
That swommen ful of smale fishes lighte,
With finnes rede and scales silver-brighte.

On every bough the bridde herde I singe,
With voys of sungel in hir armonye, 191

Som beyed hem hir briddes forth to
bringe;

The lital conyes to hir pley gunne hye,
And further al aboute I gan espye
The dreddful roo, the buk, the hert and hinde, 195

Squerels, and bestes smale of gentil kinde.

Of instruments of strenges in acord
Herde I so pleye a ravissing swetnesse,
That god, that maker is of al and lord,
Ne herde never better, as I gesse; 200 Therwith a wind, unnethe hit might be
lesse,

Made in the leves grene a noise softe
Acordant to the foules songe on-lofte.

The air of that place so attempre was That never was grevaunce of hoot ne cold; 205

Ther wax eek every holsom spyoe and gras,

Ne no man may ther waxe seek ne old;
Yet was ther joye more a thousand fold
Then man can telle; ne never wolde it nigte,

But ay cleer day to any mannes sighte.

Under a tree, beyde a welle, I say 211
Cuppyde our lord his arwes forge and fyle;
And at his fete his bowe al reidy lay,
And wel his doghter tempred al the whyle
The hedes in the welle, and with hir
wyle 215

She couched hem after as they shulde
serve,

Som for to slee, and som to wounde and
kerve.

Tho was I war of Plesaunce anon-right,
And of Aray, and Lust, and Curtesye;
And of the Craft that can and hath the
might 220

To doon by force a wight to do folye—
Disfigurat was she, I nil not lye;
And by him-self, under an oke, I gesse, Sawe I Delyt, that stood with Gentil-
nesse.

I saw Beautee, withouten any atyr, 225
And Youthe, ful of game and Iolyte,
Fool-hardinesse, Flatery, and Desyr, Messagerye, and Mede, and other three—
Hir names shul nocht here be told for me—

And upon pilers grete of jasper longe 230
I saw a temple of bras y-founded stronge.

Aboute the temple daunceden alway
Wommen y-nowe, of whiche somme ther
were

Faire of hem-self, and somme of hem were gay;

In kirtels, al disshevele, wente they
there— 235

That was hir office alway, yeer by yeer—
And on the temple, of doves whyte and faire

Saw I sittinge many a hundred paire

Before the temple-dore ful soberly Dame Pees sat, with a curteyn in hir
hond; 240

And hir besyde, wonder discretly, Dame Pacience sitting ther I fond
With face pale, upon an hille of sond;
And alder-next, within and eek with-
oute, 244

Behest and Art, and of hir folke a route.

Within the temple, of syghes hote as fyr
I herde a swogh that gan aboute renne;
Which syghes were engendred with desyr,
That maden every auter for to branne
Of newe flaume; and wel aspyed I thenne That al the cause of sorwes that they drye 251

Com of the bitter goddesse Jalousye.

The god Priapus saw I, as I wente,
Within the temple, in soverayn place
stonde,

In swich aray as whan the asse him
shente 255

With crye by night, and with his ceptre
in honde;

Ful besily men gunne assaye and fonde
Upon his hede to sette, of sondry hewe,
Garlondes ful of fresshe floures newa.

And in a privee corner, in disporte, 260
Fond I Venus and hir porter Richesse,
That was ful noble and hauteyn of hir
porte;

Derk was that place, but afterward light-
nesse

I saw a lyte, unnethe hit might be lesse,
And on a bed of golde she lay to reste, 265
Til that the hote sonne gan to weste.

Hir gilte heres with a golden threde
 Y-bounden were, untressed as she lay,
 And naked for the breste unto the hede Men might hir see; and, sothly for to say, 270

The remenant wel kevered to my pay
 Right with a subtil kerchef of Valence, Ther was no thikker cloth of no de-fenca.

The place yaf a thousand savours swote,
 And Bachus, god of wyn, sat hir besyde,
 And Ceres next, that doth of hunger
 bote; 276

And, as I seide, amiddes lay Cipryde,
 To whom on knees two yonge folkes
 cryde

To ben hir help; but thus I leet hir lye,
 And ferther in the temple I gan espye

That, in dispyte of Diane the chaste, 281 Ful many a bowe y-broke heng on the wal

Of maydens, suche as gunne hir tymes waste

In hir servyse; and peynted over al
 Of many a story, of which I touche shal
 A fewe, as of Calixte and Athalaunte, 286
 And many a mayde, of which the name I
 wante;

Semyramus, Candace, and Erceules,
 Biblis, Dido, Tisbe and Pirusus,
 Tristram, Isoude, Paris, and Achilles, 290
 Eleyne, Cleopatre, and Troilus,
 Silla, and eek the moder of Romulus—
 Alle these were peynted on that other
 syde,
 And al hir love, and in what plyte they dyde.

Whan I was come ayen into the place 295
 That I of spak, that was so swote and
 grene,

Forth walk I tho, my-selven to solace.
 Tho was I war wher that ther sat a
 quene

That, as of light the somer-sonne shene
 Passeth the starre, right so over mesure
 She fairer was than any creature. 301

And in a launde, upon an hille of floures,
 Was set this noble goddesse Nature;

Of braunches were hir halles and hir
 boures,

Y-wrought after hir craft and hir mesure;
 Ne ther nas foul that cometh of engendrure, 306

That they ne were prest in hir presence,
 To take hir doom and yeve hir audience.

For this was on seynt Valentynes day, Whan every foul cometh ther to chese
 his make, 310

Of every kinde, that men thenke may;
 And that so huge a noyse gan they
 make,

That erthe and see, and tree, and every lake

So ful was, that unnethe was ther space
 For me to stonde, so ful was al the place.

And right as Aleyn, in the Pleynt of
 Kinde, 316

Devyseth Nature of aray and face,
 In swich aray men mighte[n] hir ther
 finde.

This noble emperesse, ful of grace,
 Bad every foul to take his owne place, 320
 As they were wont alwey fro yeer to
 yere,
 Seynt Valentynes day, to stonden there.

That is to sey, the foules of ravyne
 Were hyst set; and than the foules
 smale,

That eten as hem nature wolde enclyne,
 As worm, or thing of whiche I telle no
 tale; 326

But water-foul sat lowest in the dale;
 And foul that liveth by seed sat on the
 grene,

And that so felle, that wonder was to sena.

Ther mighte men the royal egle finde,
 That with his sharpe look perceth the
 sonne; 331

And other egles of a lower kinde,
 Of which that clerkes wel devysen conne.
 Ther was the tyraunt with his fethres
 donne

And greye, I mene the goshawk, that doth pyne 335

To briddes for his outrageous ravyne.

- The gentil faucon, that with his feet distreyneeth
 The kinges hond; the hardy sperhawk eke,
 The quayles foo; the merlion that peyneth
 Him-self ful ofte, the larke for to seke;
 Ther was the douve, with hir eyen meke; 341
 The jalous swan, ayens his deth that singeth;
 The oule eek, that of dethe the bode bringeth;
 The crane the geaunt, with his trompes sounne;
 The theef, the chogh; and eek the jangling pye; 345
 The scorning jay; the ales foo, the heroune;
 The false lapwing, ful of trecherye;
 The stare, that the counseyl can bewrye;
 The tame ruddok; and the coward kyte;
 The cok, that orloge is of thorpes lyte; 350
 The sparrow, Venus sone; the nightingale,
 That clepeth forth the fresshe leves newe;
 The swallow, mordrer of the flyes smale
 That maken hony of floures fresshe of hewe;
 The wedded turtel, with hir herte trewe;
 The peock, with his aungels fethres brighte; 356
 The fesaunt, scorner of the cok by nighte;
 The waker goos; the cuckow ever unkinde;
 The popinjay, ful of delicasye;
 The drake, stroyer of his owne kinde; 360
 The stork, the wreker of avouterye;
 The hote cormeraunt of glotonye;
 The raven wys, the crow with vois of care;
 The throstal olde; the frosty faldefare.
 What shulde I seyn? of foules every kinde 365
 That in this worlde han fethres and stature,
 Men mighten in that place assembled finde
 Before the noble goddessse Nature.
 And everich of hem did his besy cure
- Benignely to chese or for to take, 370
 By hir acord, his formal or his make.
 But to the poynt—Nature held on hir honde
 A formal egle, of shap the gentileste
 That ever she among hir werkes fonde,
 The most benigne and the goodlieste;
 In hir was every vertu at his reste, 376
 So ferforth, that Nature hir-self had blisse
 To loke on hir, and ofte hir bek to kisse.
 Nature, the vicaire of th'almyghty lorde,
 That hoot, cold, hevvy, light, [and] moist and dreye 380
 Hath knit by even noubre of acorde,
 In esy vois began to speke and seye,
 'Foules, tak hede of my sentence, I preye,
 And, for your ese, in furthering of your nede, 384
 As faste as I may speke, I wol me spede.
 Ye know wel how, seynt Valentynes day,
 By my statut and through my governaunce,
 Ye come for to chese—and flee your way—
 Your makes, as I prik yow with plesaunce.
 But natheles, my rightful ordanance 390
 May I not lete, for al this world to winne,
 That he that most is worthy shal beginne.
 The tercel egle, as that ye knowen wel,
 The foul royal above yow in degree,
 The wyse and worthy, secree, trewe as stel, 395
 The which I †formed have, as ye may see,
 In every part as hit best lyketh me,
 Hit nedeth noight his shap yow to devyse,
 He shal first chese and speken in his gyse.
 And after him, by order shul ye chese, 400
 After your kinde, everich as yow lyketh,
 And, as your hap is, shul ye winne or lese;
 But which of yow that love most entryketh,
 God sende him hir that sorest for him syketh.'
 And therwith-al the tercel gan she calle,
 And seyde, 'my sone, the choys is to thee falle. 406

But natheles, in this condicioun
 Mot be the choys of everich that is here,
 That she agree to his eleccioun, 409
 Who-so he be that shulde been hir fere ;
 This is our usage alwey, fro yeer to yere ;
 And who so may at this time have his
 grace,
 In blisful tyme he com in-to this place.'

With hed enclyned and with ful humble
 chere

This royal tercel spak and taried nought ;
 'Unto my sovereyn lady, and nought my
 fere, 416

I chese, and chese with wille and herte
 and thought,

The formel on your hond so wel y-
 wrought,

Whos I am al and ever wol hir serve,
 Do what hir list, to do me live or sterue.

Beseching hir of mercy and of grace, 421

As she that is my lady sovereyne ;
 Or let me dye present in this place.

For certes, long may I not live in payne ;
 For in myn herte is corven every veyne ;

Having reward[al] only to my trouthe, 426
 My dere herte, have on my wo som routha.

And if that I to hir be founde untrewa,
 Disobeysaunt, or wilful negligent,

Avauntour, or in proces love a newe, 430
 I pray to you this be my judgement,

That with these foules I be al to-rent,
 That ilke day that ever she me finde
 To hir untrewa, or in my gilte unkinde.

And sin that noon loveth hir so wel as I,
 Al be she never of love me bahette, 436

Than oghte she be myn thorough hir
 mercy,

For other bond can I noon on hir knette.
 For never, for no wo, ne shal I lette 439

To serven hir, how fer so that she wende ;
 Sey what yow list, my tale is at an ende.'

Right as the fresshe, rede rose newe
 Aven the somer-sonne coloured is,

Right so for shame al wexen gan the
 hewe

Of this formel, whan she herde al this ;
 She neyther answerde 'wel,' ne seyde
 amis. 446

So sore abasshed was she, til that Nature
 Seyde, 'doghter, drede yow nought, I yow assura.'

Another tercel egle spak anon
 Of lower kinde, and seyde, 'that shal not be ; 450

I love hir bet than ye do, by seynt John,
 Or atte leste I love hir as wel as ye ;

And lenger have served hir, in my degree,
 And if she shulde have loved for long loving, 454

 To me allone had been the guerdoning.

I dar eek seye, if she me finde fals,
 Unkinde, jangler, or rebel any wyse,

Or jealous, do me hongen by the hals !
 And but I bere me in hir servyse

As wel as that my wit can me suffyse, 460 Fro poynt to poynt, hir honour for to

save,
 Tak she my lyf, and al the good I have.'

The thridde tercel egle answerde tho,
 'Now, sirs, ye seen the lital leyser here ;

For every foul cryeth out to been a-go 465
 Forth with his make, or with his lady

dere ;
 And eek Nature hir-self ne wol nought

here,
 For taryng here, nought half that I wolde

seye ;
 And but I speke, I mot for sorwe deye.

Of long servyse avaunte I me no-thing,
 But as possible is me to dye to-day 471

For wo, as he that hath ben languisshing
 Thise twenty winter, and wel happen may

A man may serven bet and more to pay
 In half a yere, al-though hit were no more,

Than som man doth that hath served ful
 yore. 476

I ne say not this by me, for I ne can Do no servyse that may my lady plesse ;

But I dar seyn, I am hir trewest man
 As to my dome, and feynest wolde hir ese ;

At shorte wordes, til that deth me sese, 481
 I wol ben hires, whether I wake or winke,

And trewe in al that herte may bethinke.'

Of al my lyf, sin that day I was born,
 So gentil plee in love or other thing 485

Ne herde never no man me beforn,

Who-[so] that hadde leyser and cunning
For to rehearse hir chere and hir speking;
And from the morwe gan this speche laste
Til down ward drow the sonne wonder faste.

The noyse of foules for to bendelivered 491
So loude rong, 'have doon and let us
wende!'

That wel wende I the wode had al to-shivered.

'Come of!' they cryde, 'allas! ye wil us
shende!

Whan shal your cursed pleding have an endo? 495

How shulde a juge eyther party leve,
For yee or nay, with-outen any preve?'

The goos, the cokkow, and the doko also
So cryden 'kek, kek!' 'kukkow!' 'quek,
quek!' 'hye,

That thorgh myn ernes the noyse wente tho.
The goos seyde, 'al this nis not worth a fye! 501

But I can shape hereof a remedye,
And I wol sey my verdit faire and swythe
For water-foul, who-so be wrooth or blythe.'

'And I for worm-foul,' seyde the fool
cukkow, 505

'For I wol, of myn owne anctorité,
For comune spede, take the charge now,
For to delivere us is gret charité.'

'Ye may abyde a whyle yet, parde!'
Seide the turtel, 'if hit be your wille 510
A wight may speke, him were as good be
stille.

I am a seed-foul, oon the unworthieste,
That wot I wel, and lital of kunninge;
But bet is that a wightes tonge reste
Than entremeten him of such doinge 515
Of which he neyther rede can nor singe.
And who-so doth, ful foule himself acloy-
eth,

For office uncommitted ofte anoyeth.'

Nature, which that alway had an ere
To murmour of the lewednes behinde, 520
With facound voys seyde, 'hold your tonges there!

And I shal sone, I hope, a counseyll finde
You to delivere, and fro this noyse un-
binde;

I juge, of every folk men shal oon calle
To seyn the verdit for you foules alle.' 525

Assented were to this conclusioun
The briddes alle; and foules of ravyne
Han chosen first, by pleyn eleccioun,
The tercelet of the faucon, to diffyne 530
Al hir sentence, and as him list, termyne;
And to Nature him gonnen to presente,
And she accepteth him with glad entente.

The tercelet seide than in this manere:
'Ful hard were hit to preve hit by resoun
Who loveth best this gentil formal here;
For everich hath swich replicacioun, 536
That noon by skilles may be broght
a-down;

I can not seen that arguments avayle;
Than semeth hit ther moste be batayle.'

'Al redy!' quod these egles tercels tho.
'Nay, sirs!' quod he, 'if that I dorste it
seye, 541

Ye doon me wrong, my tale is not y-do!
For sirs, ne taketh nocht a-gref, I preye,
It may nocht gon, as ye wolde, in this
weye;

Oure is the voys that han the charge in
honde, 545
And to the juges dome ye moten stonde;

And therfor pees! I seye, as to my wit,
Me wolde thinke how that the worthieste
Of knighthode, and lengest hath used hit,
Moste of estat, of blode the gentileste, 550
Were sittingest for hir, if that hir leste;
And of these three she wot hir-self, I trowe,
Which that he be, for hit is light to knowa.'

The water-foules han her hedes leyd
Togeder, and of short avysement, 555
Whan everich had his large goles seyde,
They seyden sothly, al by oon assent,
How that 'the goos, with hir facounde
gent,

That so desyreth to pronounce our nede,
Shal telle our tale,' and preyde 'god hir
spede.' 560

And for these water-foules tho began
The goos to speke, and in hir cakelinge
She seyde, 'pees! now tak kepe every
man,

And herkeneth which a reson I shal
bringe;

My wit is sharp, I love no taryng; 565
I seye, I rede him, though he were my
brother,

But she wol love him, lat him love
another!

'Lo here! a parfit reson of a goos!
Quod the sperhawk; 'never mot she thee!
Lo, swich hit is to have a tonge loos! 570
Now parde, fool, yet were hit bet for
thee

Have holde thy pees, than shewed thy nyceete!

Hit lyth not in his wit nor in his-wille,
But sooth is seyde, "a fool can nocht be
stille."

The laughter aroos of gentil foules alle,
And right anon the seed-foul chosen
hadde 576

The turtel trewe, and gunne hir to hem
calle,

And preyden hir to seye the sothe sadde
Of this matere, and asked what she radde;
And she answerde, that pleynly hir en-
tente 580

She wolde shewe, and sothly what she menta.

'Nay, god forbede a lover shulde change!
The turtel seyde, and wex for shame al
reed;

'Though that his lady ever-more be
straunge, 584

Yet let him serve hir ever, til he be deed;
For sothe, I preyse nocht the gooses reed;
For thogh she deyed, I wolde non other
make,

I wol ben hires, til that the deth me take.'

'Wel bourded!' quod the doke, 'by my hat! 589

That men shulde alwey loven, canseles,
Who can a reson finde or wit in that?
Daunceth he mury that is mirtheles?

Who shulde recche of that is reccheles?
Ye, quek!' yit quod the doke, ful wel and
faire,

'There been mo sterres, god wot, than a paire!' 595

'Now fy, cherl!' quod the gentil tercelet,
'Out of the dunghil com that word ful
right,

Thou canst nocht see which thing is wel
be-set:

Thou farest by love as oules doon by light,
The day hem blent, ful wel they see by
night; 600

Thy kind is of so lowe a wrechednesse,
That what love is, thou canst nat see ne
gesse.'

Tho gan the cuckow putte him forth in press

For foul that eteth worm, and seide blyve,
'So I,' quod he, 'may have my make in
pees, 605

I recche not how longe that ye stryve;
Lat ech of hem be soleyn al hir lyve,
This is my reed, sin they may not acorde;
This shorte lesson nedeth nocht recorde.'

'Ye! have the glotoun fild ynogh his paunche, 610

Than are we wel!' seyde the merlioun;
'Thou mordrer of the heysugge on the braunche

That broghte thee forth, thou †rewtheless glotoun!

Live thou soleyn, wormes corrupcioun!
For no fors is of lakke of thy nature; 615 Go, lewed be thou, whyl the world may
dure!'

'Now pees,' quod Nature, 'I comaunde
here;

For I have herd al your opinioun,
And in effect yet be we never the nere;
But fynally, this is my conclusioun, 620
That she hir-self shal han the eleccioun
Of whom hir list, who-so be wrooth or
blythe,

Him that she cheest, he shal hir have as swytha.

For sith hit may not here discussed be
Who loveth hir best, as seide the tercelet, Than wol I doon hir this favour, that
she 626

Shal have right him on whom hir herte
is set,

And he hir that his herte hath on hir
knet.

This jage I, Nature, for I may not ly8 ;
To noon estat I have non other y8. 630

But as for counseyl for to chese a make,
If hit were reson, certes, than wolde I Counseyle yow the royal tercel take,
As seide the tercelet ful skilfully,
As for the gentilest and most worthy, 635
Which I have wroght so wel to my ples-
saunce ;

That to yow oghte been a suffisaunce.'

With dredful vois the formel hir an-
swerde,

' My rightful lady, goddesse of Nature,
Soth is that I am ever under your yerde,
Lyk as is everiche other creature, 641
And moot be youres whyl my lyf may
dure ;
And therfor graunteth me my firste bone,
And myn entente I wol yow sey right
sone.'

' I graunte it you,' quod she ; and right
anoon 645

This formel egle spak in this degree,
' Almighty quene, unto this year be doon
I aske respit for to avysen me.
And after that to have my choys al
free ;

This al and som, that I wolde speke and
seye ; 650
Ye gete no more, al-though ye do me deye.

I wol nocht serven Venus ne Cupyde
For sothe as yet, by no manere wey.'
' Now sin it may non other wyse betyde,' Quod tho Nature, ' here is no more to
sey ; 655

Than wolde I that these foules were a-wey
Ech with his make, for taryng lenger
here ?—

And seyde hem thus, as ye shul after here.

' To you speke I, ye tercelets,' quod
Nature,

' Beth of good herte and serveth, alle
three ; 660

A year is not so longe to endure,
And ech of yow peyne him, in his degree,
For to do wel ; for, god wot, quit is she

Fro yow this year ; what after so befall,
This entremes is dressed for you alle.' 665

And whan this werk al broght was to an
ende,

To every foule Nature yaf his make By even acorde, and on hir wey they
wende.

A ! lord ! the blisse and joye that they
make ! 669

For ech of hem gan other in winges take,
And with hir nekkes ech gan other winde, Thanking alwey the noble goddesse of
kinde.

But first were chosen foules for to synge,
As year by yere was alwey hir usaunce
To synge a roundel at hir departinge, 675
To do Nature honour and plessaunce.

The note, I trows, makid was in Fraunce ;
The wordes were swich as ye may heer
finde,

The nexte vers, as I now have in minde.

Qui bien aime a tard oublie.

' Now welcom somer, with thy sonne
softe, 680

That hast this wintres weders over-shake,
And driven away the longe nightes blake !
Seynt Valentyn, that art ful hy on-
lofte ;—

Thus singen smale foules for thy sake—
Now welcom somer, with thy sonne softe, 685
That hast this wintres weders over-shake.

Wel han they cause for to gladen ofte,
Sith ech of hem recovered hath his make ;
Ful blisful may they singen whan they
wake ;

Now welcom somer, with thy sonne softe, 690
That hast this wintres weders over-shake,
And driven away the longe nightes blake.'

And with the showing, whan hir song
was do,

That foules maden at hir sight a-way,
I wook, and other bokes took me to 695

To rede upon, and yet I rede alway ;
I hope, y-wis, to rede so som day

That I shal mete som thing for to fare 698
The bet ; and thus to rede I nil not spare.

Explicit tractatus de congregacione Volucrum die sancti Valentini.

VI. A COMPLAINT TO HIS LADY.

I. (In seven-line stanzas.)

THE longe night, whan every creature Shulde have hir rest in somewhat, as by
 kinde,
 Or elles ne may hir lyf nat long endure,
 Hit falleth most in-to my woful minde
 How I so fer have broght my-self be-
 hinde, 5
 That, sauf the deeth, ther may no-thing me lisse,
 So desespai red I am from alle blisse.

This same thought me lasteth til the
 morwe,
 And from the morwe forth til hit be eve;
 Ther nedeth me no care for to borwe, 10
 For bothe I have good leyser and good
 leve;
 Ther is no wight that wol me wo bereve
 To wepe y-nogh, and wallen al my fill; ;
 The sore spark of peyne †doth me spille.

II. (In Terza Rima ; imperfect.)

[†The sore spark of peyne doth me spille;]
 This Love hath [eek] me set in swich a
 place 16
 That my desyr [he] never wol fulfille;
 For neither pitee, mercy, neither grace
 Can I nat finde; and †fro my sorrowful
 herte,
 For to be deed, I can hit nat arace. 20
 The more I love, the more she doth me
 smerte;
 Through which I see, with-oute remedye,
 That from the deeth I may no wyse
 asterte;
 [†For this day in hir servise shal I dye].

III. (In Terza Rima ; imperfect.)

[†Thus am I slain, with sorwes ful dyverse; 25
 Ful longe agoon I oghte have taken
 hede].

Now sothly, what she hight I wol re-
 herse;
 Hir name is Bountee, set in womanhede,
 Sadnesse in youthe, and Beautee pryde-
 lees,
 And Plesaunce, under governaunce and drode; 30
 Hir surname eek is Faire Rewtheles,
 The Wyse, y-knit un-to Good Adventure,
 That, for I love hir, †taleeth me gilteles.
 Hir love I best, and shal, whyl I may
 dure,
 Bet than my-self an hundred thousand deel, 35
 Than al this worldes richesse or creature.
 Now hath nat Lov8 me bestowed weel
 To lov8, ther I never shal have part?
 Allas! right thus is turned me the wheel,
 Thus am I slayn with loves fyry dart. 40
 I can but love hir best, my swete fo;
 Love hath me taught no more of his art
 But serve alwey, and stinte for no wo.

IV. (In ten-line stanzas.)

[With]-in my trewe careful herte ther is So moche wo, and [eek] so litel blis, 45
 That wo is me that ever I was bore;
 For al that thing which I desyre I mis,
 And al that ever I wolde nat, I-wis,
 That finde I redy to me evermore;
 And of al this I not to whom me pleyne. 50
 For she that mighte me out of this
 bringe
 Ne reccheth nat whether I wepe or
 singe;
 So litel rewthe hath she upon my peyne.
 Allas! whan sleping-time is, than I wake, Whan I shulde daunce, for fere than I
 quake; 55
 [†Yow rekketh never wher I flete or
 sinke;]
 This hevyl I leds for your sake,
 Thogh ye ther-of in no wyse hede take,

[†For on my wo yow deyneth not to
thinke.] 59

My hertes lady, and hool my lyves quene!
For trewly dorste I seye, as that I fele,
Me semeth that your swete herte of stele
Is whetted now ageynes me to kene.

My dere herte, and best beloved fo,
Why lyketh yow to do me al this wo, 65
What have I doon that greveth yow, or
sayd,

But for I serve and love yow and no mo?
And whylst I live, I wol †do ever so;
And therfor, swete, ne beth nat evil
apayd.

For so good and so fair as [that] ye be, 70
Hit were [a] right gret wonder but ye
hadde

Of alle servants, bothe goode and badde;
And leest worthy of alle ham, I am he.

But never-the-les, my righte lady swete,
Thogh that I be unconning and unmete 75
To serve as I best conde ay your hy-
nesse,

Yit is ther fayner noon, that wolde I hete,
Than I, to do †yow ese, or elles bete

What-so I wiste were to †yow distresse.
And hadde I might as good as I have wille, Than shulde ye fele wher it wer so or
noon; 81

For †in this worlde living is ther noon
That fayner wolde your hertes wil fulfilla.

For bothe I love, and eek dreed yow so
sore,

And algates moot, and have doon yow,
ful yore, 85

That bet loved is noon, ne never ahal;
And yit I wolde beseche yow of no more
But levethe wel, and be nat wrooth therfore,

And lat me serve yow forth; lo! this is al.

For I am nat so hardy ne so wood 90
For to desire that ye shulde love me;
For wel I wot, alas! that may nat be;
I am so litel worthy, and ye so good.

For ye be oon the worthiest on-lyve,
And I the most unlykly for to thryve; 95
Yit, for al this, [now] witeth ye right
wela,

That ye ne shul me from your service
dryve

That I nil ay, with alle my wittes fyve,
Serve yow trewly, what wo so that I fele.
For I am set on yow in swich manere 100
That, thogh ye never wil upon me rewe,
I moste yow love, and †ever been as
trewe

As any can or may on-lyve [here].

†The more that I love yow, goodly free,
The lasse finde I that ye loven me; 105
Allas! whan shal that harde wit amende?

Wher is now al your wommanly pitee,
Your gentillesse and your debonairtee,
Wil ye no thing ther-of upon me
spende?

And so hool, swete, as I am youres al, 110
And so gret wil as I have yow to serve,
Now, certes, and ye lete me thus sterve,
Yit have ye wonne ther-on but a smal.

For, at my knowing, I do †no-thing
why,

And this I wol beseche yow bertely, 115
That, ther ever ye finde, whyl ye live,
A trewer servant to yow than am I, Levethe [me] thanne, and sleeth me
hardely,

And I my deeth to you wol al forgive.
And if ye finde no trewer †man than me, [Why] will ye suffre than that I thus
spille, 121

And for no maner gilt but my good
wille?

As good wer thanne untrews as trewe
to be.

But I, my lyf and deeth, to yow obeys,
And with right buxom herte hoolly I
preye, 125

As[is] your moste plesure, so doth by me;
†Wel lever is me lyken yow and deye
Than for to any thing or thinke or seye
That †michte yow offende in any tyme.
And therfor, swete, rewe on my peynes
smerte, 130

And of your grace granteth me som
drope;

For alles may me laste †blis ne hope,
Ne †dwellen in my trouble careful herte.

VII. ANELIDA AND ARCITE.

The Complaynt of feire Anelida and fals Arcite.Proem.*

Thou fersé god of armes, Mars the rede,
That in the frosty country called Trace,
Within thy grisly temple ful of drede
Honoured art, as patroun of that place!
With thy Bellona, Pallas, ful of grace, 5
Be present, and my song continue and gye;

At my beginning thus to thee I crye.

For hit ful depe is sonken in my minde,
With pitous herte in English for t'endyte
This olde storie, in Latin which I finde, 10
Of quene Anelida and fals Arcite,
That elde, which that al can frete and
byte,

As hit hath freten mony a noble storie,
Hath nigh devoured out of our memorie.

Be favorable eek, thou Polymnia, 15
On Parnaso that, with thy sustres glade,
By Elicon, not fer from Cirrea,
Singest with vois memorial in the shade,
Under the laurer which that may not fade,
And do that I my ship to haven winne; 20
First folow I Stace, and after him Corinne.

The Story.

Iamque domos patrias, &c.; Statii Thebais,
xii. 519.

Whan Theseus, with werres longe and
grete,

The aspre folk of Cithé had over-come,
With laurer crowned, in his char gold-
bete,

Hoom to his contre-houses is y-come;— 25
For which the peple blisful, al and somme,
So cryden, that unto the sterres hit wente,
And him to honouren dide al hir en-
tente;—

Beforn this duk, in signe of hy victorie,
The trompes come, and in his baner large
The image of Mars; and, in token of
glorie, 31

Men mighten seen of tresor many a charge,

Many a bright helm, and many a spere
and targe,

Many a fresh knight, and many a blisful
route,

On hors, on fote, in al the felde aboute. 35

Ipolite his wyf, the hardy quene
Of Cithia, that he conquered hadde,
With Emelye, hir yonge suster shene,
Faire in a char of golde he with him ladde,
That al the ground aboute hir char she
spradde 40

With brightnese of the beautee in hir
face,

Fulfid of largesse and of alle grace.

With his triumpe and laurer-crowned
thus,

In al the floure of fortunes yevinge,
Lete I this noble prince Theseus 45

Toward Athenes in his wey rydinge,
And founde I wol in shortly for to bringe

The slye wey of that I gan to wryte,
Of quene Anelida and fals Arcite.

Mars, which that through his furious course of yre, 50

The olde wrath of Juno to fulfille,
Hath set the peples hertes bothe on fyre

Of Thebes and Grece, everich other to kille

With bloody speres, ne rested never stille,
But throng now her, now ther, among hem bothe, 55

That everich other slough, so wer they
wrothe.

For whan Amphiorax and Tydeus, Ipomedon, Parthonoee also

Were dede, and slayn [was] proud Cam-paneus,

And when the wrecches Thebans, brethren two, 60

Were slayn, and king Adrastus hoom a-go,

So desolat stood Thebes and so bare,
That no wight coude remedie of his care.

And when the olde Creon gan espye
How that the blood roial was brought adoun, 65

He held the cite by his tirannye,
And did the gentils of that regioun
To been his frendes, and dwellen in the toun.

So what for love of him, and what for awe,
The noble folk wer to the tonne y-drawe.

Among al these, Anelida the quene 71
Of Ermony was in that toun dwellinge,
That fairer was then is the sonne shene;
Through-out the world so gan hir name springe,

That hir to seen had every wight lykinge;
For, as of trouthe, is ther noon hir liche, 76
Of al the women in this worlde riche.

Yong was this quene, of twenty yeer of elde,

Of midel stature, and of swich fairnesse,
That nature had a joye hir to behelde; 80
And for to spoken of hir stedfastnesse,
She passed hath Penelope and Lucesse,
And shortly, if she shal be comprehended,
In hir ne mighte no-thing been amended.

This Theban knight [Arcite] eek, sooth to seyn, 85

Was yong, and ther-with-al a lusty knight,
But he was double in love and no-thing pleyn,

And subtil in that crafte over any wight,
And with his cunning wan this lady bright;

For so ferforth he gan hir trouthe assure,
That she him †trust over any creature. 91

What shuld I seyn? she loved Arcite so,
That, when that he was absent any throwe,
Anon hir thoghte hir herte brast a-two;
For in hir sight to hir he bar him lowe, 95
So that she wende have al his herte y-knowe;

But he was fals; it nas but feyned chere,
As nedeth not to men such craft to lere.

But never-the-les ful mikel besinesse

Had he, or that he mighte his lady winne,
And swoor he wolde dyen for distresse, 101
Or from his wit he seyde he wolde twinne.
Alas, the whyle! for hit was routhe and sinne,

That she upon his sorowes wolde rewe,
But no-thing thenketh the fals as doth the trewe. 105

Hir fredom fond Arcite in swich manere,
That al was his that she hath, moche or lyte,

Ne to no creature made she chere
Ferder than that hit lyked to Arcite;
Ther was no lak with which he mighte hir wyte, 110

She was so ferforth yeven him to plesse,
That al that lyked him, hit did hir esse.

Ther nas to hir no maner letre y-sent
That touched love, from any maner wight,

That she ne shewed hit him, er hit was brent; 115

So pleyn she was, and did hir fulle might,
That she nil hyden nothing from hir knight,

Lest he of any untrouthe hir upbreyde;
Withouten bode his heste she obeyde.

And eek he made him jelous over here, 120
That, what that any man had to hir seyde,
Anoon he wolde preyen hir to swere
What was that word, or make him evel apayd;

Than wende she out of hir wit have brayd;
But al this nas but sleight and flaterye,
Withouten love he feyned jelosye. 126

And al this took she so debonerly,
That al his wille, hir thoghte hit skilful thing,

And ever the lenger †loved him tenderly,
And did him honour as he were a king. 130
Hir herte was wedded to him with a ring;
So ferforth upon trouthe is hir entente,
That wher he goth, hir herte with him wente.

Whan she shal ete, on him is so hir thought, 134

That wel unnethes of mete took she keep;

And when that she was to hir reste
brought,
On him she thoughte alwey til that she sleep ;

When he was absent, prevely she weep ;
Thus liveth fair Anelida the quene 139
For fals Arcite, that did hir al this tene.

This fals Arcite, of his new-fangelnesse,
For she to him so lowly was and trewe,
Took lesse deyntee for hir stedfastnesse,
And saw another lady, proud and newe,
And right anon he cladde him in hir
hewe— 145

Wot I not whether in whyte, rede, or
grene—
And falsed fair Anelida the quene.

But never-the-les, gret wonder was hit
noon

Thogh he wer fals, for hit is kinde of
man, 149

Sith Lamek was, that is so longe agoon,
To been in love as fals as ever he can ;
He was the firste fader that began
To loven two, and was in bigamye ;
And he found tentes first, but-if men lye.

This fals Arcite sumwhat moste he feyne,
When he wex fals, to covere his trai-
torye, 156

Right as an hors, that can both byte and
pleyne ;

For he bar hir on honde of trecherye,
And swoor he coude hir doublenesse
espye,

And al was falsnes that she to him mente ;
Thus swoor this theef, and forth his way
he wente. 161

Alas ! what herte might enduren hit,
For routhe or wo, hir sorow for to telle ?
Or what man hath the cunning or the wit ?

Or what man might with-in the chambre
dwelle, 165

If I to him rehersen shal the helle,
That suffreth fair Anelida the quene
For fals Arcite, that did hir al this tene ?

She wepeth, wailleth, swowneth pitously,
To grounde deed she falleth as a stoon ;
Al crampissheth hir limes crokedly, 171
She speketh as hir wit were al agoon ;

Other colour then asshen hath she noon,
Noon other word †she speketh moche or
lyte,

But 'marcy, cruel herte myn, Arcite !' 175

And thus endureth, til that she was so mate

That she ne hath foot on which she may sustene ;

But forth languisshing ever in this estate,
Of which Arcite hath nother routhe ne
tene ;

His herte was elles-where, newe and
grene, 180

That on hir wo ne deyneth him not to
thinke,

Him rekketh never wher she flete or sinka.

His newe lady holdeth him so narowe

Up by the brydel, at the staves ende,

That every word, he dradde hit as an arowe ; 185

Hir daunger made him bothe bowe and
bende,

And as hir liste, made him turne or
wende ;

For she ne graunted him in hir livinge
No grace, why that he hath lust to singe ;

But drof him forth, unnethe liste hir
knowe 190

That he was servaunt †to hir ladyshippe,
But lest that he wer proude, she held him lowe ;

Thus serveth he, withouten fee or shipe,
She sent him now to londe, now to shippe ; 194

And for she yaf him daunger al his fille,
Therfor she had him at hir owne wille.

Ensample of this, ye thrifty wimmen alle,
Take here Anelida and fals Arcite,
That for hir liste him 'dere herte' calle,
And was so meek, therfor he loved hir
lyte ; 200

The kinde of mannes herte is to delyte
In thing that straunge is, also god me
save !

For what he may not gete, that wolde he have.

Now turne we to Anelida ageyn,
That pyneth day by day in languisshing ;

But whan she saw that hir ne gat no
geyn, 206

Upon a day, ful sorowfully weping,
She caste hir for to make a compleyning,
And with hir owne honde she gan hit
wryte;

And sente hit to hir Theban knight
Arcite. 210

The Complaynt of Anelida the queene upon fals Arcite.

Proem.

So thirleth with the poynt of remembrance,

The sward of sorowe, y-whet with fals
plesaunce,

Myn herte, bare of blis and blak of
hewe,

That turned is in quaking al my daunce,
Mysuretee in a-whaped countenaunce; 215

Sith hit avalleth not for to ben trewe;
For who-so trewest is, hit shal hir
rewe,

That serveth love and doth hir observ-
aunce

Alwey to oon, and chaungeth for no
newe.

(Strophe.)

1.

I wot my-self as wel as any wight; 220
For I loved oon with al my herte and
might

More then my-self, an hundred thousand sythe,

And called him my hertes lyf, my knight,
And was al his, as fer as hit was right;

And whan that he was glad, than was
I blythe, 225

And his disease was my deeth as swythe;
And he ayein his trouthe me had plight
For ever-more, his lady me to kythe.

2.

Now is he fals, alas! and causeles,
And of my wo he is so rountheles, 230

That with a worde him list not ones
deyne

To bring ayein my sorowful herte in pees,
For he is caught up in a-nother leas.

Right as him list, he laugheth at my
peyne, 234

And I ne can myn herte not restreyne,
That I ne love him alwey, never-the-les;
And of al this I not to whom me playne.

3.

And shal I pleyne—alas! the harde
stounde—

Un-to my foo that yaf my herte a wounde,
And yet desyreth that myn harm be
more? 240

Nay, certes! farther wol I never †founde
Non other help, my sores for to sounde.

My destinee hath shapen it ful yore;
I wil non other medecyne ne lore;

I wil ben ay ther I was ones bounde, 245
That I have seid, be seid for ever-more!

4.

Alas! wher is become your gentillesse!
Your wordes fulle of plesaunce and hum-
blesse?

Your observaunces in so low manere,
And your awayting and your businesse 250

Upon me, that ye calden your maistresse,
Your sovereyn lady in this worlde here?

Alas! and is ther nother word ne chere
Ye vouchesauf upon myn hevinesse?

Alas! your love, I bye hit al to dere. 255

5.

Now certes, swete, thogh that ye Thus causeles the cause be

Of my dedly adversitee,
Your manly reson oghte it to respyte

To slee your frend, and namely me, 260
That never yet in no degree

Offended yow, as wisely he,
That al wot, out of wo my soule quyte!

¶ But for I shewed yow, Arcite,
Al that men wolde to me wryte, 265

And was so besy, yow to delyte—
My honour save—make, kinde, and free,

Therfor ye putte on me the wyte,
And of me recche not a myte,

Thogh that the sward of sorow byte 270
My woful herte through your crualte.

6.

My swete foo, why do ye so, for shame?
And thenke ye that furthered be your
name,

To love a newe, and been untrewē?
 nay!
 And putte yow in sclaunder now and
 blame, 275
 And do to me aduersitee and grame,
 That love yow most, god, wel thou wost! alway?
 Yet turn ayeyn, and be al pleyñ som
 day,
 And than shal this that now is mis be
 game, 279
 And al for-yive, whyl that I live may.

(Antistrophe.)

1.

Lo! herte myn, al this is for to seyne,
 As whether shal I preye or elles pleyne?
 Whiche is the wey to doon yow to be
 trewe?
 For either mot I have yow in my cheyne,
 Or with the dethe ye mot departe us
 tweyne; 285
 Ther ben non other mene weyes newe;
 For god so wisly on my soule rewe,
 As verily ye sleen me with the peyne;
 That may ye see unfeyned of myn hewe.

2.

For thus ferforth have I my deth [y]-
 sought, 290
 My-self I mordre with my prevy thought;
 For sorow and routhe of your unkinde-
 nesse
 I wepe, I wake, I faste; al helpeth noght;
 I weyve joye that is to speke of oght,
 I voyde companye, I fleo gladnesse; 295
 Who may avaunte hir bet of hevinesse
 Then I? and to this plyte have ye me
 broght,
 Withoute gilt; me nedeth no witesse.

3.

And sholde I preye, and weyve woman-
 hede?
 Nay! rather deth then do so foul a dede,
 And axe mercy gilteles! what nede? 301
 And if I pleyne what lyf that I lede, Yow rekkeþ not; that know I, out of
 drede;
 And if I unto yow myn othes bede

For myn excuse, a scorn shal be my mede; 305
 Your chere floureth, but hit wol not sede;
 Ful longe agoon I oghte have take hede.

4.

For thogh I hadde yow to-morow ageyn,
 I might as wel holde Averill fro reyn,
 As holde yow, to make yow stedfast. 310
 Almighty god, of trouthe sovereyn, Wher is the trouthe of man? who hath hit sleyn?
 Who that hem loveth shal hem fynde
 as fast
 As in a tempest is a roten mast.
 Is that a tame best that is ay feyn 315
 To renne away, when he is leest agast?

5.

Now mercy, swete, if I misseye,
 Have I seyð oght amis, I preye?
 I not; my wit is al awaye.
 I fare as doth the song of Chaunte-pleure.
 For now I pleyne, and now I pleye, 321
 I am so mased that I deye,
 Arcite hath born away the keye
 Of al my worlde, and my good aventure!
 ¶ For in this worlde nis creature 325
 Wakinge, in more discomfiture
 Then I, ne more sorow endure;
 And if I slepe a furlong wey or tweye,
 Than thinketh me, that your figure
 Before me stant, clad in asure, 330
 To profren eft a newe assure
 For to be trewe, and mercy me to preye.

6.

The longe night this wonder sight I
 drye,
 And on the day for this afray I dye, 334
 And of al this right noght, y-wis, ye recche.
 Ne never mo myn yē two be drye,
 And to your routhe and to your trouthe
 I crye.
 But welaway! to fer be they to fecche;
 Thus holdeth me my destinee a
 wrecche. 339
 But me to rede out of this drede or gye Ne may my wit, so weyk is hit, not strecche.

Conclusion.

Than ende I thus, sith I may do no
more,
I yeve hit up for now and ever-more ;
For I shal never eft putten in balounce
My sekernes, ne lerne of love the lore. 345
But as the swan, I have herd seyde ful
yore,
Ayeins his deth shal singe in his
penaunce,
So singe I here my destiny or chaunce,

How that Arcite Anelida so sore Hath thirled with the poynt of remem-
braunce ! 350

The story continued.

Whan that Anelida this woful quene
Hath of hir hande writen in this wyse,
With face deed, betwixe pale and grene,
She fel a-swowe ; and sith she gan to ryse,
And unto Mars avoweth sacrificyse 355
With-in the temple, with a sorowful
chere,
That shapen was as ye shal after here. 357

(Unfinished.)

VIII. CHAUCERS WORDES UNTO ADAM, HIS OWNE SCRIVEYN.

ADAM scriveyn, if ever it thee bifalle
Boece or Troilus to wryten newe, Under thy lokkes thou most have the scalle,
But after my making thou wryte trewe.

So ofte a daye I mot thy werk renewe, 5 Hit to correcte and eek to rubbe and scrape ;
And al is through thy negligence and rape.

IX. THE FORMER AGE.

A BLISFUL lyf, a paisible and a swete
Leden the peples in the former age ;
They helde hem payed of frutes, that they etc,
Which that the felde yave hem by usage ;
They ne were nat forpampred with outrage ; 5
Unknowen was the quern and eek the melle ;
They eten mast, hawes, and swich poun-
age,
And dronken water of the colde wells.

Yit nas the ground nat wounded with the plough,
But corn up-sprong, unsowe of mannes
hond, 10
The which they tgniden, and eete nat half y-nough.
No man yit knew the forwes of his lond ;
No man the fyr out of the flint yit
fond ;
Un-korven and un-grobbed lay the vyne ;
No man yit in the mortar spyces grond 15
To clarre, ne to sause of galantyne.

No mader, welde, or wood no litestere Ne knew; the flees was of his former
hewe;

No flesh ne wiste offence of egge or spere;
No coyn ne knew man which was fals or
trewe; 20

No ship yit karf the wawes grene and blewe;

No marchaunt yit ne fette outlandish
ware;

No †trompes for the werres folk ne knewe,
No toures heye, and walles rounde or square.

What sholde it han avayled to werreye? 25
Ther lay no profit, ther was no richesse,
But cursed was the tyme, I dar wel seye,
That men first dide hir swety bysinesse
To grobbe up metal, lurkinge in dark-
nesse,

And in the riveres first gemmes soghte. 30
Allas! than sprong up al the cursednesse
Of covetyse, that first our sorwe broghte!

These tyrantaunts putte hem gladly nat in pres,

No †wildnesse, ne no bushes for to winne
Ther povertie is, as seith Diogenes, 35
Ther as vitaille is eek so skars and thinne
That noight but mast or apples is ther-
inne.

But, ther as bagges been and fat vitaille,
Ther wol they gon, and spare for no sinne
With al hir oot the cite for t'assaille. 40

Yit were no palais-chaumbres, ne non
halles;

In caves and [in] wodes softe and swete
Slepten this blissed folk with-oute walles,
On gras or leves in parfit †quiete.

No doun of fateres, ne no bleched
shete 45

Was kid to hem, but in seurtee they
slepte;

Hir hertes were al oon, with-oute galles,
Everich of hem his feith to other kepte.

Unforged was the hauberk and the plate;
The lambish peple, voyd of alle vyce, 50

Hadden no fantasye to debate,
But ech of hem wolde other wel cheryce;
No pryde, non envye, non avaryce,
No lord, no taylage by no tyrannye;

Humbleesse and pees, good feith, the em-perice, 55

[†Fulfilled erthe of olde curtesye.]

Yit was not Jupiter the likerous,
That first was fader of delicacye,
Come in this world; ne Nembrot, desirous

To reynen, had nat maad his toures
hye. 60

Allas, allas! now may men wepe and
crye!

For in our dayes nis but covetyse
[And] doublenesse, and tresoun and envye,

Poysoun, manslauhtre, and mordre in sondry wyse. 64

Finit Etas prima. Chaucera.

X. FORTUNE.

Balades de visage sans peinture.

I. Le Pleintif countre Fortune.

This wrecched worldes transmucioun,
As wele or wo, now povre and now
honour,

With-outen ordre or wys discrecioun
Governed is by Fortunes errour;
But natheles, the lak of hir favour 5

Ne may nat don me singen, though I dye,
'Jay tout perdu mon temps et mon labour:'
For fynally, Fortune, I thee dafye!

Yit is me left the light of my resoun,
To knowen frend fro fo in thy mirour. 10
So muche hath yit thy whirling up and
doun

Y-taught me for to knowen in an hour.
But trewely, no force of thy reddour

To him that over him-self hath the maystrye!

My suffisaunce shal be my socour : 15
For fynally, Fortune, I thee defye!

O Socrates, thou stedfast champioun,
She never mighte be thy tormentour ;
Thou never dreddest hir oppressioun,
Ne in hir chere founde thou no savour. 20
Thou knewe wel deceit of hir colour,
And that hir moste worshipe is to lye.
I knowe hir eek a fals dissimulour :
For fynally, Fortune, I thee defye!

II. La response de Fortune au Pleintif.

No man is wrecched, but him-self hit wene, 25

And he that hath him-self hath suffisaunce.

Why seystow thanne I am to thee so kene,

That hast thy-self out of my governaunce?
Sey thus : 'Graunt mercy of thyn haboundaunce

That thou hast lent or this.' Why wolt thou stryve? 30

What wostow yit, how I thee wol avaunce?

And eek thou hast thy beste frend alyve!

I have thee taught divisioun bi-twene
Frend of effect, and frend of countenaunce;

Thee nedeth nat the galle of noon hyene, 35

That cureth eyen derke fro hir penaunce ;
Now seestow cleer, that were in ignoraunce.

Yit halt thyn ancre, and yit thou mayst arryve

Ther bountee berth the keye of my substaunce : 39

And eek thou hast thy beste frend alyve.

How many have I refused to sustene,
Sin I thee fostred have in thy plesaunce!
Woltow than make a statut on thy quene
That I shal been ay at thyn ordinaunce?
Thou born art in my regne of variaunce,

Aboute the wheel with other most thou dryve. 46

My lore is bet than wikke is thy grevaunce,

And eek thou hast thy beste frend alyve.

III. La response du Pleintif countre Fortune.

Thy lore I dampne, hit is adversitee.
My frend maystow nat reven, blind goddesse! 50

That I thy frendes knowe, I thanke hit thee.

Tak hem agayn, lat hem go lye on presse!
The negardye in kaping hir richesse

Prenostik is thou wolt hir tour assaile ;
Wikke appetyt comth ay before seknesse :
In general, this reule may nat fayle. 56

La response de Fortune countre le Pleintif.

Thou pinchest at my mutabilitee,
For I thee lente a drope of my richesse,
And now me lyketh to with-drawe me.

Why sholdestow my realtee oppresse? 60

The see mayebbe and flowen more or lesse ;
The welkne hath might to shyne, reyne,
or hayle ;

Right so mot I kythen my brotelnesse.
In general, this reule may nat fayle.

Lo, th'excecucion of the magestee 65

That al purveyeth of his rightwisnesse,
That same thing ' Fortune' clepen ye,

Ye blinde bestes, ful of lewednesse!
The hevane hath propretee of sikernesse,
This world hath ever resteles travayle ; 70

Thy laste day is ende of myn intresse :
In general, this reule may nat fayle.

Lenvoy de Fortune.

Princes, I prey you of your gentileesse,
Lat nat this man on me thus crye and pleyne,

And I shal quyte you your bisnesse 75

At my requeste, as thre of you or twayne ;
And, but you list relve him of his peyne,

Preyeth his beste frend, of his noblesse,
That to som beter estat he may atteyne. 79

XI. MERCILES BEAUTE: A TRIPLE ROUNDEL.

I. Captivity.

Your yēn two wol slee me sodenly,
I may the beaute of hem not sustene,
So woundeth hit through-out my herte
kena.

And but your word wol helen hastily
My hertes wounde, whyl that hit is grene,
Your yēn two wol slee me sodenly, 6
I may the beaute of hem not sustene.

Upon my trouthe I sey yow feithfully,
That ye ben of mylyf and deeth the quene;
For with my deeth the trouthe shal besene.
Your yēn two wol slee me sodenly, 11
I may the beaute of hem not sustene,
So woundeth hit through-out my herte kene.

II. Rejection.

So hath your beaute fro your herte chaced
Pitee, that me ne availeth not to pleyme;
For Daunger halt your mercy in his
cheyne. 16

Giltles my deeth thus han ye me pur-chaced;
I sey yow sooth, me nedeth not to feyne;

*So hath your beaute fro your herte chaced
Pitee, that me ne availeth not to pleyme.* 20

Allas! that nature hath in yow com-passed

So greet beaute, that no man may atteyne
To mercy, though he sterve for the peyne.

*So hath your beaute fro your herte chaced
Pitee, that me ne availeth not to pleyme;* 25
For Daunger halt your mercy in his cheyne.

III. Escape.

Sin I fro Love escaped am so fat,
I never think to ben in his prison lene;
Sin I am free, I counte him not a bene.

He may answer, and seye this or that; 30
I do no fors, I speke right as I mene.

*Sin I fro Love escaped am so fat,
I never think to ben in his prison lene.*

Love hath my name y-strike out of his sclat,

And he is strike out of my bokes clene 35
For ever-mo; †ther is non other mene.

*Sin I fro Love escaped am so fat,
I never think to ben in his prison lene;
Sin I am free, I counte him not a bene.* 39

Explicit.

XII. TO ROSEMOUNDE. A BALADE.

MADAME, ye ben of al beaute shryne
As fer as cerclid is the mappemounde;
For as the cristal glorious ye shyne,
And lyke ruby ben your chekes rounde.
Therwith ye ben so mery and so jocounde,
That at a revel whan that I see you dance, 6

It is an oynement unto my wounde,
Thogh ye to me ne do no daliannce.

For thogh I wepe of teres ful a tyme,
Yet may that wo myn herte nat con-
founde; 10

Your †seemly voys that ye so †amal out-twyne

Maketh my thought in joye and blis
habounde.

So curteisly I go, with lov8 bounde,
That to my-self I sey, in my penaunce,

Suffyseth me to love you, Rosemounde, 15
Though ye to me ne do no daliaunce.

Nas never pyk walwed in galauntyne
As I in love am walwed and y-wounde ;
For which ful ofte I of my-self divyne

Tregentli.

That I am trewe Tristam the secounde. 20
My love may not refreyd be nor afounde ;
I brenne ay in an amorous plesaunce.

Do what you list, I wil your thral be
founde,

Though ye to me ne do no daliaunce. 24

Chaucer.

XIII. TRUTH.

Balade de bon conseil.

FLEE fro the prees, and dwelle with soth-fastnesse,

Suffyce unto thy good, though hit be
smal ;

For hord hath hate, and climbing tikel-
nesse,

Prees hath envye, and wele blent overal ;
Savour no more than thes bihove shal ; 5
Werk wel thy-self, that other folk canst
rede ;

And trouthe shal delivere, hit is no drede.

Tempest thee noght al croked to redresse,
In trust of hir that turneth as a bal :

Gret reste stant in lital besinesse ; 10

And eek be war to sporne ageyn an al ;
Stryve noght, as doth the crokke with the wal.

Daunte thy-self, that dauntest others
dede ;

And trouthe shal delivere, hit is no drede.

That thes is sent, receyve in burumnesse,
The wrastling for this worlde axeth a
fal. 16

Her nis non hoom, her nis but wilder-
nesse :

Forth, pilgrim, forth ! Forth, beste, out of thy stal !

Know thy contree, look up, thank God
of al ;

Hold the hye wey, and lat thy gost thee
lede : 20

And trouthe shal delivere, hit is no drede.

Envoy.

Therefore, thou vache, leve thyn old wrechednesse

Unto the worlde ; leve now to be thral ;

Crye him mercy, that of his hy goodnesse

Made thee of noght, and in especial 25

Draw unto him, and pray in general

For thes, and eek for other, hevenlich
mede ; 27

And trouthe shal delivere, hit is no drede.

Explicit Le bon conseil de G. Chaucer.

XIV. GENTILESSE.

Moral Balade of Chaucer.

THE firste stok, fader of gentilesse—

What man that claymeth gentil for to be,
Must folowe his trace, and alle his wittes
dresse

Vertu to sewe, and vyces for to fleo.

For unto vertu longeth dignitee, 5

And noght the revers, sauffy dar I dema,
Al were he mytre, croune, or diademe.

This firste stok was ful of rightwisnesse, Trew of his word, sobre, pitous, and
free,

Clene of his goste, and loved besinesse, 10

Against the vyce of slouth, in honestee ;

And, but his heir love vertu, as dide he,
He is noght gentil, though he riche seme,
Al were he mytre, croune, or diademe.

Vyce may wel be heir to old richesse; 15
But ther may no man, as man may wel see,

Bequethe his heir his vertuous noblesse
That is appropred unto no degree,
But to the firste fader in magestee,
That †maketh him his heir, that can him
queme, 20
Al were he mytre, croune, or diademe.

XV. LAK OF STEDFASTNESSE.

Balade.

Som tyme this world was so stedfast and
stable,

That mannes word was obligacioun,
And now hit is so fals and deceivable,
That word and deed, as in conclusioun,
Ben no-thing lyk, for turned up so doun 5
Is al this world for mede and wilfulnesse,
That al is lost for lak of stedfastnesse.

What maketh this world to be so variable,
But lust that folk have in dissensioun?
Among us now a man is holde unable, 10
But-if he can, by som collusioun,
Don his neighbour wrong or oppressioun.
What causeth this, but wilful wretched-
nesse,
That al is lost, for lak of stedfastnesse?

Trouthe is put doun, rescoun is holden fable; 15

Vertu hath now no dominacioun,
Pitee exyled, no man is merciabe.
Through covetyse is blent discrecioun;
The world hath mad a permutacioun Fro right to wrong, fro trouthe to fikel-
nesse, 20
That al is lost, for lak of stedfastnesse.

Lenvoy to King Richard.

O prince, desyre to be honourable,
Cherish thy folk and hate extorcioun!
Suffre no thing, that may be reprevable
To thyn estat, don in thy regioun. 25
Shew forth thy swerd of castigacioun, Dred God, do law, love trouthe and worthi-
nesse, 27
And wed thy folk agein to stedfastnesse.

XVI. LENVOY DE CHAUCER A SCOGAN.

To-~~axoxkx~~ been the statuts hye in hevене
That creat were eternally to dure,
Sith that I see the brighte goddes sevene Mow wepe and wayle, and passioun en-
dure,
As may in erthe a mortal creature. 5
Allas, fro whennes may this thing pro-
cede?
Of whiche error I deye almost for dreda.

By worde eterne whylom was hit shape
That fro the fifte cercle, in no manere, Ne mighte a drope of teres doun escape. 10
But now so wepeth Venus in hir spere,
That with hir teres she wol drenche us
here.
Allas, Scogan! this is for thyn offence!
Thou causeth this deluge of pestilence.

Hast thou not seyde, in blasphem of this goddes, 15
 Through pryde, or through thy grete
 rakelnesse,
 Swich thing as in the lawe of love for-
 bode is?
 That, for thy lady saw nat thy distresse,
 Therfor thou yave hir up at Michelmesse!
 Allas, Scogan! of olde folk ne yonge 20
 Was never erst Scogan blamed for his
 tonge!

Thou drowe in scorn Cupyde eek to record
 Of thilke rebel word that thou hast spoken,
 For which he wol no lenger be thy lord.
 And, Scogan, though his bowe be nat
 broken, 25
 He wol nat with his arwes been y-wroken
 On thee, ne me, ne noon of our figure;
 Weshul of him have neyther hurt ne cure.
 Now certes, frend, I drede of thyn un-
 happe,
 Lest for thy gilt the wreche of Love pro-ceede 30
 On alle hem that ben hore and rounde of shape,

That ben so lykly folk in love to spede.
 Than shul we for our labour han no mede;
 But wel I wot, thou wilt answers and seye:
 'Lo! olde Grisel list to ryme and pleye!'

Nay, Scogan, sey not so, for I m'excuse, 36
 God help me so! in no rym, doutelees,
 Ne thinke I never of slepe wak my muse,
 That rusteth in my shethe stille in pees.
 Why! I was yong, I putte hir forth in prees, 40
 But al shal passe that men prose or ryme;
 Take every man his turn, as for his tyme.

Envoy.

Scogan, that knelest at the streames heed!¹
 Of grace, of alle honour and worthinesse,
 In th'ende of which streme² I am dul as
 deed, 45
 Forgete in solitarie wildernesse;
 Yet, Scogan, thenke on Tullius kinde-
 nesse,
 Minne thy frend, ther it may fructifye!
 Far-wel, and lok thou never eft Love
 defye! 49

XVII. LENVOY DE CHAUCER A BUKTON.

The counsell of Chaucer touching Marriage, which was sent to Bukton.

My maister Bukton, whan of Criste our kinge
 Was axed, what is trouthe or sothfast-
 nesse,
 He nat a word answerde to that axinge,
 As who saith: 'no man is al trewe,'
 I gessa.
 And therfor, thogh I highte to expresse
 The sorwe and wo that is in mariage, 6
 I dar not wryte of hit no wikkednesse,
 Lest I my-self falle eft in swich dotage.
 I wol nat seyn, how that hit is the cheyne
 Of Sathanas, on which he gnaweth ever, 10

But I dar seyn, were he out of his peyne,
 As by his wille, he wolde be bounde
 never.

But thilke doted fool that eft hath lever
 Y-cheyned be than out of prisoun crepe,
 God lete him never for his wo dissever, 15
 Ne no man him bewayle, though he wepe.

But yit, lest thou do worse, tak a wyf;
 Bet is to wedde, than brenne in worse
 wyse.

But thou shalt have sorwe on thy flesh,
 thy lyf,
 And been thy wyves thral, as seyn these
 wyse; 20

And if that holy writ may nat suffyse,
 Experience shal thee teche, so may happe,

That thee were lever to be take in Fryse
Than eft to falls of wedding in the trappe.

Envoy.

This lital writ, proverbes, or figure 25
I sende you, tak kepe of hit, I rede :

Unwys is he that can no wele endure.
If thou be siker, put thee nat in drede.
The Wyf of Bathe I pray you that ye rede
Of this matere that we have on honda. 30
God graunte you your lyf frely to lede
In fredom; for ful hard is to be bonde.

XVIII. THE COMPLEYNT OF VENUS.

I. (The Lover's worthinesse.)

Ther nis so hy comfort to my plessaunce,
Whan that I am in any hevinesse,
As for to have leyser of remembraunce
Upon the manhod and the worthinesse,
Upon the trouthe, and on the stedfastnesse
Of him whos I am al, whyl I may dure; 6
Ther oghte blame me no creature,
For every wight preiseth his gentillesse.

In him is bountee, wisdom, gouvonaunce
Wel more then any mannes wit can geesse;
For grace hath wold so ferforth him
avaunce 11

That of knighthode he is parfit richesse.
Honour honoureth him for his noblesse;
Therto so wel hath formed him Nature,
That I am his for ever, I him assure, 15
For every wight preiseth his gentillesse.

And not-withstanding al his suffisaunce,
His gentil herte is of so greet humblesse
To me in worde, in werke, in contenaunce,
And me to serve is al his besinesse, 20
That I am set in verrey sikernesse.
Thus oghte I blesse wel myn aventure,
Sith that him list me serven and honour;
For every wight preiseth his gentillesse.

II. (Disquietude caused by Jealousy.)

Now certes, Love, hit is right covanable
That men ful dere bye thy noble thing, 26
As wake a-bedde, and fasten at the table, Weping to laughe, and singe in com-
pleyning,
And down to caste visage and loking,

Often to chaungen hewe and contenaunce, †Pleyns in sleping, and dremen at the
daunce, 31

Al the revers of any glad feling.

Jalousye be hanged by a cable!
She wolde al knowe through hir espying;
Ther doth no wight no-thing so resonable,
That al nis harm in hir imagening. 36
Thus dere abought is lov8, in yeving,
Which ofte he yiveth with-oute ordin-
aunce,

As sorow ynogh, and lital of plessaunce,
Al the revers of any glad feling. 40

A lital tyme his yift is agreable,
But ful encomberous is the using;
For sotel Jalousye, the deceyvable,
Ful often-tyme causeth destourbing.
Thus be we ever in drede and suffering,
In nouncerteyn we languishe in pen-
aunce, 46
And han ful often many an hard mes-
chaunce,
Al the revers of any glad feling.

III. (Satisfaction in Constancy.)

But certes, Love, I sey nat in such wyse
That for t'escape out of your lace I mente;
For I so longe have been in your servyse 51
That for to lete of wol I never assente;
No force thogh Jalousye me tormente;
Suffyceth me to see him whan I may, 54
And therefore certes, to myn ending-day
To love him best ne shal I never repente.

And certes, Love, whan I me wel avyse
On any estat that man may represente,

Than have ye maked me, through your franchise,

Chese the best that ever on erthe wente.
Now love wel, herte, and look thou never
stente ; 61

And let the jelous putte hit in assay
That, for no peyne wol I nat sey nay ;
To love him best ne shal I never repente.

Herte, to thee hit oghte y-nogh suffyse 65
That Love so hy a grace to thee sente,
To chese the worthiest in alle wyse
And most agreeable unto myn entente.
Seche no farther, neyther wey ne wente,
Sith I have suffisaunce unto my pay. 70
Thus wol I ende this compleynt or lay ;
To love him best ne shal I never repente.

Levoy.

Princess, receyveth this compleynt in
gree,

Unto your excellent benignitee
Direct after my lital suffisaunce. 75

For eld, that in my spirit dulleth me,
Hath of endyting al the soteltee

Wel ny bereft out of my remem-
braunce ;

And eek to me hit is a greet pen-
saunce,

Sith rym in English hath swich scarsitee,
To folowe word by word the curiositee 81

Of Graunson, flour of hem that make in Fraunce.

XIX. THE COMPLEINT OF CHAUCER TO HIS EMPTY PURSE.

To you, my purse, and to non other wight
Compleyne I, for ye be my lady dere !
I am so sory, now that ye be light ;
For certes, but ye make me hevychere,
Me were as leef be leyd up-on my bere ; 5
For whiche un-to your mercy thus I crye :
Beth hevychere, or elles mot I dye !

Now voucheth sauf this day, or hit be
night,

That I of you the blisful soun may here,
Or see your colour lyk the sonne bright,
That of yelownesse hadde never para. 11
Ye be my lyf, ye be myn hertes stene,
Queene of comfort and of good companye :
Beth hevychere, or elles mot I dye !

Now purs, that be to me my lyves light, 15
And saveour, as down in this worlde here,
Out of this tounne help me through your
might,

Sith that ye wole nat been my tresorer ;
For I am shave as nye as any frere.
But yit I pray un-to your curtesye : 20
Beth hevychere, or elles mot I dye !

Levoy de Chaucer.

O conquerour of Brutes Albioun !
Which that by lyne and free eleccioun
Ben verray king, this song to you I sende ;
And ye, that mowen al our harm amende,
Have minde up-on my supplicacioun ! 26

XX. PROVERBS.

Proverbe of Chaucer.

I.

WHAT shul this clothes †many-fold,
Lo ! this hote somers day ?—
After greet heet cometh cold ;
No man caste his pilche away. 4

II.

Of al this world the wyde compas
Hit wol not in myn armes tweyne.—
Who-so mochel wol embrace
Lital therof he shal distreyne.

APPENDIX.

XXI. AGAINST WOMEN UNCONSTANT.

Balade.

MADAME, for your newe-fangulnesse,
 Many a servaunt have ye put out of grace,
 I take my leve of your unstedfastnesse,
 For wel I wot, whyl ye have lyves space,
 Ye can not love ful half yeer in a place; 5
 To newe thing your lust is ever kene;
 In stede of blew, thus may ye were al
 grene.

Right as a mirour nothing may enpresse,
 But, lightly as it cometh, so mot it pace,
 So fareth your love, your werkas bereth
 witness. 10
 Ther is no faith that may your herte en-brace;

But, as a wederook, that turneth his face
 With every wind, ye fare, and that is
 sene;

In stede of blew, thus may ye were al
 grene.

Ye might be shryned, for your brotelnesse,
 Bet than Dalyda, Creseide or Candace; 16
 For ever in chaunging †stant your siker-
 nesse,

That tache may no wight fro your herte
 arace;

If ye lese oon, ye can wel tweyn purchase;
 Al light for somer, ye woot wel what I
 mene, 20

In stede of blew, thus may ye were al
 grene.

Explicit.

XXII. AN AMOROUS COMPLEINT. (COMPLEINT DAMOURS.)An amorous Compleint, made at Windsor.

I, WHICH that am the sorwefulleste
 man
 That in this world was ever yit livinge,
 And leest recoverer of him-selven can,
 Beginne †thus my deedly compleyninge
 On hir, that may to lyf and deeth me
 bringe, 5

Which hath on me no mercy ne no rewthe
 That love hir best, but sleeth me for my trewthe.

Can I nocht doon ne seye that may yow
 lyke,

†For certes, now, allas! allas! the whyle!
 Your plesauce is to laughen whan I
 syke, 10

And thus ye me from al my blisse exyle.

Ye han me cast in thilke spitous yle
 Ther never man on lyve mighte asterte ;
 This have I for I lovè you, swete herte !

Sooth is, that wel I woot, by lyknesse,
 If that it were thing possible to do 16
 T'acompte youre beutee and goodnesse,
 I have no wonder thogh ye do me wo ;
 Sith I, th'unworhiest that may ryde or go,
 Durste ever thincken in so hy a place, 20
 What wonder is, thogh ye do me no grace ?

Allas ! thus is my lyf brought to an ende,
 My deeth, I see, is my conclusioun ;
 I may wel singe, 'in sory tyme I spende
 My lyf ;' that song may have confusioun !
 For mercy, pitee, and deep affeccioun, 26
 I sey for me, for al my deedly chere,
 Alle thise diden, in that, me love yow dere.

And in this wyse and in dispayre I live
 In lovè ; nay, but in dispayre I dye ! 30
 But shal I thus [to] yow my deeth for-give,
 That causeles doth me this sorow drye ?
 Ye, certes, I ! For she of my folye Hath nought to done, although she do me
 sterve ;

Hit is nat with hir wil that I hir serve ! 35
 Than sith I am of my sorowe the cause
 And sith that I have this, withoute hir
 reed,

Than may I seyn, right shortly in a clause,
 It is no blame unto hir womanheed
 Though swich a wrecche as I be for hir
 deed ; 40

[And] yet alwey two thinges doon me dyè,
 That is to seyn, hir beutee and myn yè.

So that, algates, she is the varray rote
 Of my dise, and of my dethe also ;
 For with oon word she mighte be my bote,
 If that she vouched sauf for to do so. 46
 But [why] than is hir gladnesse at my wo ?
 It is hir wone plesaunce for to take,
 To seen hir servauntes dyen for hir sake !

But certes, than is al my wonderinge, 50
 Sithen she is the fayrest creature
 As to my dome, that ever was livinge,
 The benignest and beste eek that nature Hath wrought or shal, whyl that the world may dure,

Why that she lefte pite so behinde ? 55
 It was, y-wis, a greet defaute in kinde.

Yit is al this no lak to hir, pardee,
 But god or nature sore wolde I blame ;
 For, though she shewe no pite unto me,
 Sithen that she doth othere men the same,
 I ne oughte to despyse my ladies game ; 61
 It is hir play to laughen whan men syketh,
 And I assente, al that hir list and lyketh !

Yit wolde I, as I dar, with sorweful herte
 Biseche un-to your make womanhede 65
 That I now dorste my sharpe sorwes
 smerte

Shewe by worde, that ye wolde ones rede
 The pleynthe of me, the which ful sore
 drede

That I have seid here, through myn unconninge,

In any worde to your displeysinge. 70

Lothest of anything that ever was loth
 Were me, as wisly god my soule save !
 To seyn a thing through which ye might be wroth ;

And, to that day that I be leyd in grave,
 A trewer servaunt shulle ye never have ;
 And, though that I on yow have pleyned
 here, 76

Forgiveth it me, myn owne lady dere !

Ever have I been, and shal, how-so I
 wende,

Outher to live or dye, your humble trewe ;
 Ye been to me my ginning and myn ende, Sonne of the starre bright and clere of
 hewe, 81

Alwey in oon to love yow freshly newe,
 By god and by my trouthe, is myn entente ;
 To live or dye, I wol it never repente !

This compleynt on saint Valentynes day, Whan every foul [ther] chesen shal his
 make, 86

To hir, whos I am hool, and shal alwey,
 This woful song and this compleynt I
 make,

That never yit wolde me to mercy take ;
 And yit wol I [for] evermore her serve 90
 And love hir best, although she do me
 sterve.

XXIII. A BALADE OF COMPLEYNT.

[This is added as being a good example of a Complaynt in Chaucer's style.]

COMPLEYNT ne coude, ne might myn herte
never
My peynes halve, ne what torment I have,
Though that I sholde in your presence
ben ever,
My hertes lady, as wisly he me save That bountee made, and beutee list to grave 5
In your persona, and bad hem bothe inferre
Ever t'awayte, and ay be wher ye were.
As wisly he gye alle my joyes here
As I am youres, and to yow sad and trewe,
And ye, my lyf and cause of my good
chere, 10

And deeth also, whan ye my peynes newe,
My worldes joye, whom I wol serve and sewe,
My heven hool, and al my suffisaunce,
Whom for to serve is set al my plesaunce.
Beseeching yow in my most humble wyse
T'accepte in worth this lital povre dyte, 16
And for my trouthe my service nat despyse,
Myn observaunce eek have nat in despyte,
Ne yit to long to suffren in this plyte;
I yow beseeche, myn hertes lady, here, 20
Sith I yow serve, and so wil yeer by
yere,

XXIV. WOMANLY NOBLESSE.

[This genuine poem was first printed in June, 1894.]

Balade that Chaucer made.

So hath my herte caught in remembrance
Your beauté hool, and stedfast govern-
aunce,
Your vertues allé, and your hy noblesse,
That you to serve is set al my plesaunce;
So wel me lykth your womanly conten-
aunce, 5
Your freshe fetures and your com-
liness,
That, whyl I live, my herte to his maistresse,
You hath ful chose, in trew perséveraunce,
Never to change, for no maner dis-
trese,
And sith I [you] shal do this observaunce 10
Al my lyf, withouten displeaunce,
You for to serve with al my besinesse,
[Taketh me, lady, in your obeisaunce]
And have me somewhat in your souven-
aunce.
My woful herte suffreth greet duresse; 15
And [loke] how humbl[ely], with al
simplesse,

My wil I oónforme to your ordenaunce,
As you best list, my peynes † to redressa.
Considring eek how I hange in balauce
In your servycé; swich, lo! is my
chaunce, 20
Abyding grace, whan that your gentil-
nesse
Of my gret wo list doon allegeaunce,
And with your pité me som wyse avaunce,
In ful rebating of my hevinesse;
And think † resoun, that wommanly
noblesse 25
Shuld nat desyre † for to doon outrance
Ther-asshe findeth noon unbuxumnesse.

Lenvoye.

Auctour of norture, lady of plesaunce,
Soveraine of beauté, flour of womman-
hede,
Take ye non hede unto myn ignoraunce, 30
But this receyveth of your goodlihede, Thinking that I have caught in remembrance
Your beauté hool, your stedfast govern-
aunce,

BOOK I.

METRE I. Carmina qui quondam studio florete peregi.

ALLAS ! I, weping, am constrained to biginnen vers of sorowful matere, that whylom in florisching studie made delit-able ditees. For lo ! rendinge Muses of 5 poetes endyten to me thinges to be writen ; and drery vers of wretchednesse weten my face with verray teres. At the leeste, no drede ne mighte over-comen the Muses, that they ne weren 10 felawes, and folweden my wey, that is to seyn, whan I was cryled ; they that weren glorie of my youthe, whylom weleful and grene, comforten now the sorowful werdes of me, olde man. For elde 15 is comen unwarly upon me, hasted by the harmes that I have, and sorow hath comaunded his age to be in me. Heres hore ben shad overtymeliche upon myn heved, and the slake skin trembleth upon 20 myn empted body. Thilke deeth of men is weleful that ne cometh not in yeris that ben swete, but cometh to wrecches, often y-cleped. Allas ! allas ! with how deef an ere deeth, cruel, torneth away 25 fro wrecches, and naiteth to closen wepinge eyen ! Why ! Fortune, unfeith-ful, favorede me with lighte goodes, the sorowful houre, that is to seyn, the deeth, hadde almost dreynt myn heved. But 30 now, for Fortune cloudy hath changed

hir deceyvable chere to me-ward, myn unpitous lyf draweth a-long unagreable dwellinges in me. O ye, my frendes, what or wherto avautede ye me to ben weleful ?
for he that hath fallen stood nat in 35
stedefast degrea.

PROSE I. Hec dum mecum tacitus ipse reputarem.

Whyle that I stille recordede these thinges with my-self, and markede my weeply compleynte with office of pointel,
I saw, stondinge aboven the heighte of myn heved, a woman of ful greet re- 5 verence by semblaunt, hir eyen bren-ninge and cleer-seinge over the comune might of men ; with a lyfly colour, and with swich vigour and strengthe that it ne mighte nat ben empted ; al were it 10 so that she was ful of so greet age, that men ne wolde nat trowen, in no manere, that she were of oure elde. The stature of hir was of a doutous jugement ; for som-tyme she constreinede and shronk 15 hir-selven lyk to the comune mesure of men, and sum-tyme it semede that she touchede the hevene with the heighte of hir heved ; and whan she heef hir heved hyer, she percede the selve hevene, so 20 that the sighte of men looking was in ydel. Hir clothes weren maked of right delye thredes and subtil craftes, of per-durable matere ; the whiche clothes she 25 hadde woven with hir owene hondes, as I knew wel after by hir-self, declaringe and shewing to me the beautes; the whiche clothes a derknesse of a forleten and dyspysed elde hadde dusked and 30 derked, as it is wont to derken bismokede images. In the nethereste hem or bordure of these clothes men redden, y-woven in, a Grekish P, that signifyeth the lyf Actif; and aboven that 35 lettre, in the heyeste bordure, a Grekish

 T, that signifyeth the lyf Contemplatif.
 And bi-twixen these two lettres ther weren seyn degrees, nobly y-wrought in manere of laddres; by whiche degrees 40 men mighten climben fro the nethereste lettre to the uppereste. Natheles, handes of some men hadde corven that cloth by violence and by strengthe; and everiche man of hem hadde born away 45 swiche peces as he mighte geten. And forsothe, this forseide woman bar smale bokes in hir right hand, and in hir left hand she bar a ceptre. And whan she say thise poetical Muses aprochen aboute 50 my bed, and endytinge wordes to my wepinges, she was a litel amoved, and glowede with cruel eyen. 'Who,' quod
 she, 'hath suffred aprochen to this syke man thise comune strompetes of swich 55 a place that men clepen the theatre?
 The whiche nat only ne asswagen nat hise sorwes with none remedies, but they wolden feden and noriashen hem with swete venim. Forsothe, these ben the 60 that with thornes and prikkinges of talents or affeccions, whiche that ne
 ben no-thing fructefyinge nor profitable, destroyen the corn plentevous of fruites of resoun; for they holden the hertes 65 of men in usage, but they ne delivere nat folk fro maladye. But if ye Muses hadden withdrawn fro me, with your flateryes, any uncunninge and unprofitable man, as men ben wont to finde 70 comunly amonges the poeple, I wolde wene suffre the lasse grevously; for-why, in swiche an unprofitable man, myn
 ententes ne weren no-thing endamaged.
 But ye withdrawn from me this man, 75 that hath be norished in the studies or scoles of Eleaticis and of Achadamicis in Grece. But goth now rather away, ye mermaidenes, whiche that ben swete til it be at the laste, and suffreth this man to be cured and heled by myne Muses,' 80 that is to seyn, by notable sciences. And thus this companye of Muses y-blamed casten wrothly the chere downward to the erthe; and, shewing by reednesse hir shame, they passeden sorowfully the 85

 threshfold. And I, of whom the sighte, plounged in teres, was derked so that I ne mighte not knowen what that womman was, of so imperial auctoritee,
 I wex al abaished and astoned, and caste 90
 my sighte down to the erthe, and bigan stille for to abyde what she wolde don afterward. The com she ner, and sette hir down up-on the uttereste corner of my bed; and she, biholdinge my chere, 95 that was cast to the erthe, hevye and grevous of wepinge, compleinede, with these wordes that I shal seyn, the per-turbacioun of my thought.

METRE II. Hæu quam præcipiti mersa profundo.

'Allas! how the thought of man, dreint in over-throwinge deepnesse, dulleth, and forleteth his propre cleernesse, mintinge to goon in-to foreine darknesse, as ofte as his anyous businesse wexeth with- 5 oute mesure, that is driven to and fro with worldly windes! This man, that whylom was free, to whom the hevене was open and knowen, and was wont to goon in hevencliche pathes, and saugh 10
 the lightnesse of the rede sonne, and saugh the sterres of the colde mone, and whiche sterre in hevене useth wandering recourses, y-flit by dyverse speres—this man, overcomer, hadde comprehended 15 al this by noubre of accountings in astronomye. And over this, he was wont to seken the causes whennes the souning windes moeven and bisien the smothe water of the see; and what spirit torneth 20
 the stable hevене; and why the sterre aryseth out of the rede east, to fallen in the westrene wawes; and what atempreth

the lusty houres of the firste somer 25 seecoun, that highteth and apparailth the erthe with rosene flowres; and who maketh that plentevoue atompne, in fulle yeres, fleteth with hevy grapes.
 And eek this man was wont to telle the 30 dyverse causes of nature that weren y-hidde. Allas! now lyeth he emptied of light of his thought; and his nekke is pressed with hevy oheynes; and bereth his chere enclnyed adoun for the grete 35 weichte, and is constrained to looken on the fool erthe!

PROSE II. Set medicine, inquit, tempus est.

But tyme is now,' quod she, 'of medicine more than of compleinte.' Forsothe than she, entendinge to me-ward with alle the lookings of hir eyen, seide:—'Art
 5 nat thou he,' quod she, 'that whylom y-norissed with my milk, and fostered with myne metes, were escaped and comen to corage of a parfit man? Certes, I yaf thee swiche armures that, yif thou
 10 thy-self ne haddest first cast hem a-vey, they shulden han defended thee in sikar-nesse that may nat ben over-comen. Knowest thou me nat? Why art thou stille? Is it for shame or for astoninge?
 15 It were me lever that it were for sham; but it semeth me that astoninge hath oppressed thee.' And whan she say me nat only stille, but with-uten office of tunge and al doumb, she leide hir hand
 20 softly upon my brest, and seide: 'Here nis no peril,' quod she; 'he is fallen into a litargie, whiche that is a comune sykene to hertes that ben deceived. He hath a litel foryeten him-self, but certes
 25 he shal lightly remembren him-self, yif so be that he hath knowen me or now; and that he may so don, I wil wypen a litel his eyen, that ben derked by the cloude of mortal thinges.' These wordes 30 seide she, and with the lappe of hir garment, y-plyted in a frounce, she dryede myn eyen, that weren fulle of the wawes of my wepinges.

METRE III. Tunc me discussa liquerunt nocte tenebra.

Thus, whan that night was discussad and chased a-vey, darknesse forloften me, and to myn eyen repeirede ayein hir firste strengthe. And, right by ensaumple as the sonne is hid whan the sterres ben
 5 clusted (that is to seyn, whan sterres ben covered with cloudes) by a swifte winde that highte Chorus, and that the firmament stant derked by wete ploungy cloudes, and that the sterres nat apperen
 10 up-on hevене, so that the night semeth sprad up-on erthe: yif thanne the wind that highte Boriasis, y-sent out of the caves of the contree of Trace, beteth this night
 15 (that is to seyn, chaseth it a-vey), and discovereth the closed day: than shyneth Phebus y-shaken with sodein light, and smyteth with his bemes in mervellinge eyen.

PROSE III. Haud aliter tristitia nebulis dissolutia.

Right so, and non other wyse, the cloudes of sorwe dissolved and don a-vey, I took hevене, and receivede minde to knowen the face of my fysicien; so that I sette myn eyen on hir, and fastned me
 5 lookinge. I beholde my norice Philosophie, in whos houses I hadde conversed and haunted fro my youthe; and I seide thus. 'O thou maistresse of alle vertues, descended from the soverain sete, why
 10 artow comen in-to this solitarie place of myn exile? Artow comen for thou art makid coupable with me of false blames?'

Phil. 'O,' quod she, 'my norry, sholde I forsaken thee now, and sholde I nat 15 parten with thee, by comune travaile, the charge that thou hast suffred for envie of my name? Certes, it nere not levelful ne sittinge thing to Philosophie, to leten with-uten companye the way of him that 20 is innocent. Sholde I thanne redoute my blame, and agryssen as though ther were bifallen a newe thing? quasi diceret, non. For trowestow that Philosophie be now alderfirst assailed in perils by folk of 25 wikkede maneres? Have I nat striven with ful greet stryf, in olde tyme, bifore

 the age of my Plato, ayeines the foolhardi-nesse of folye? And eek, the same Plato 30 livinge, his maister Socrates deservede victorie of unrightful deeth in my presence. The heritage of which Socrates—the heritage is to seyn the doctryns of the whiche Socrates in his opinioun of Felicitee, 35 that I clepe welefulnesse—whan that the poeple of Epicuriens and Stoiciens and many othre enforcedan hem to go ravisshe everich man for his part—that is to seyn, that everich of hem wolde drawn to the 40 defence of his opinioun the wordes of Socrates—they, as in partie of hir preyre, to-drowen me, cryinge and debatinge ther-ayens, and corven and to-renten my clothes that I hadde woven with myn 45 handes; and with the cloutes that they hadden araced out of my clothes they wenten away, weninge that I hadde gon with hem everydel. In whiche Epi- curiens and Stoiciens, for as moche as ther 50 semede some traces or steppes of myn habite, the folye of men, weninge the Epi- curiens and Stociens my famuleres, perverted (sc. persequendo) some through the error of the wikkede or uncunninge 55 multitude of hem. This is to seyn that,
for they semede philosophres, they weren pursued to the deeth and slayn. So yif thou hast nat knowen the exilinge of Anaxo-gore, ne the enpoysoninge of Socrates, ne 60 the tourments of Zeno, for they weren straungeres: yit mightestow han knowen the Seneciens and the Canios and the †Soranos, of whiche folk the renoun is neither over-olde ne unsolempne. The 65 whiche men, no-thing elles ne broughte hem to the deeth but only for they weren enfourmed of myne maneres, and seme-den most unlyke to the studies of wikkede folk. And forthy thou oughtest nat 70 to wondren though that I, in the bittre see of this lyf, be fordriven with tempestes blowinge aboute, in the whiche tempestes this is my most purpos, that is to seyn, to displesen to wikkede men. Of 75 whiche shrewes, al be the ost never so greet, it is to dispyse; for it nis governed with no leder of resoun, but it is ravissed

only by fletinge error folyly and lightly.
 And if they som-tyme, makinge an ost ayeins us, assaile us as strenger, our leder 80 draweth to-gidere hise riches in-to his tour, and they ben ententif aboute sarpulers or sachels unprofitable for to taken.
 But we that ben heye aboven, siker fro alle tumulte and wode noise, warnestored 85 and enclosed in swich a palis, whider as that chateringe or anoyinge folye ne may nat atayne, we scorne swiche ravineres and henteres of fouleste thinges.

METRE IV. Quisquis composito serenus evo.

Who-so it be that is cleer of vertu, sad, and wel ordinat of livinge, that hath put under foot the proude werdes and looketh upright up-on either fortune, he may holde his chere undiscomfited. The rage 5 ne the manaces of the see, commoevinge or chasinge upward hete fro the botme, ne shal not moeve that man; ne the unstable mountaigne that highte Vesevus, that wrytheth out through his brokene 10 chiminees smokinge fyres. Ne the wey of †thonder-leyt, that is wont to smyten
 heye toures, ne shal nat moeve that man.
 Wher-to thanne, o wrecches, drede ye tirauntes that ben wode and felonous 15 with-oute any strengthe? Hope after no-thing, ne drede nat; and so shaltow desarmen the ire of thilke unmighty tiraunt. But who-so that, quakinge, dredeth or desireth thing that nis nat 20 stable of his right, that man that so doth hath cast away his sheld and is removed fro his place, and enlaoeth him in the cheyne with the which he may ben drawn. 25

PROSE IV. Sentime, inquit, hec.

Felestow,' quod she, 'these thinges,
 and entren they aught in thy corage?
 Artow lyke an asse to the harpe? Why wepestow, why spillestow teres? Yif thou abydest after help of thy leche, thee 5 bihoveth discovers thy wounde.' Tho
 I, that hadde gadered strengthe in my corage, answered and seide: 'And nedeth it yit,' quod I, 'of rehersinge or of amonicioun; and sheweth it nat 10

y-nough by him-self the sharpnesse of Fortune, that wexeth wood ayeins me? Ne moeveth it nat thee to seen the face or the manere of this place (i. prisoun)? 15 Is this the librarie whiche that thou haddest chosen for a right certain sete to thee in myn hous, ther-as thou desputedest ofte with me of the sciences of thinges touchinge divinitee and touchinge man- 20 kinde? Was thanne myn habite swich as it is now? Was than my face or my chere swiche as now (quasi diceret, non), whan I soughte with the secrets of nature, whan thou enformedest my ma- 25 neres and the resoun of alle my lyf to the ensauple of the ordre of hevens? Is nat this the guerdoun that I referre to thee, to whom I have be obeisaunt? Certes, thou confermedest, by the mouth of Plato, 30 this sentence, that is to seyn, that comune thinges or comunalityes weren blisful, yif they that hadden studied al fully to wisdom governeden thilke thinges, or elles yif it so bifille that the governoures of 35 comunalityes studieden to geten wisdom. Thou seidest eek, by the mouth of the same Plato, that it was a necessarie cause, wyse men to taken and desire the governaunce of comune thinges, for that 40 the governements of citees, y-left in the handes of felonous tormentours citizenes, ne sholde nat bringe in pestilence and destruccioun to gode folk. And therfor I, folwinge thilke auctoritee (sc. Platonis), 45 desired to putten forth in execucioun and in acte of comune administracioun thilke thinges that I hadde lerned of thee among my secree resting-whyles. Thou, and god that putte thee in the thoughtes of wyse 50 folk, ben knowinge with me, that nothing ne broughte me to maistrie or dignitee, but the comune studie of alle goodnesse. And ther-of comth it that bi-twixen wikked folk and me han ben 55 grevous discordes, that ne mighten ben releasid by preyeres; for this libertee hath the freedom of conscience, that the wratthe of more mighty folk hath alway ben depseyed of me for savacioun of right. How 60 ofte have I resisted and withstonde thilke man that highte Conigaste, that made alway assautes ayeins the prospre fortunes of pore feble folk? How ofte eek have I put of or cast out him, Trigwille, provost of the kinges hous, bothe of the 65 wronges that he hadde bigunne to don, and eek fully performed? How ofte have I covered and defended by the auctoritee of me, put ayeins perills—that is to seyn, put myn auctoritee in peril for—the 70 wrecched pore folk, that the covetyse of straungeres unpunished tourmenteden alway with miseyses and grevances out of noumbre? Never man ne drow mo yit fro right to wronge. Whan I say the 75 fortunes and the richesces of the peopple of the provinces ben harmed or amenused, outhur by privee ravynes or by comune tributes or cariages, as sory was I as they that suffreded the harm.—Glossa. 80 Whan that Theodoric, the king of Gothes, in a dere yere, hadde his gernerres ful of corn, and comaundede that no man ne sholde byen no corn til his corn weers sold, and that at a grevous dere prys, Boece withstood that 85 ordinaunce, and over-com it, knowinge al this the king him-self.—Textus. Whan it was in the soure hungry tyme, ther was established or cryed grevous and inplitable coempcioun, that men sayen 90 wel it sholde greetly turmenten and endamagen al the province of Campaigne, I took stryf ayeins the provost of the pretorie for comune profit. And, the king knowinge of it, I overcom it, so that the 95 coempcioun ne was not axed ne took effect.—[Glossa.] † Coempcioun, that is to seyn, comuns achat or bying to-gidere, that were established up-on the poeple by swiche a manere imposicioun, as who-so boughte 100 a bushel corn, he moete yeve the king the ste part.—[Textus.] Paulin, a counseiller of Rome, the richesces of the whiche Paulin the houndes of the palays, that is to seyn, the officeres, wolden han 105 devoured by hope and covetise, yit drow I him out of the jowes (sc. faucibus) of hem that gapeden. And for as moche as the peyne of the accusacioun ajaged bifore ne sholde nat sodeinly henten ne punisshen 110 wrongfully Albin, a counseiller of Rome, I putte mo ayeins the hates and indig-

naciouns of the accuser Ciprian. Is it nat thanne y-nough y-seyn, that I have purchased grete discordes ayeins my-self?
 115 But I oughte be the more assured ayeins alle othre folk (a. Romayne), that for the love of rightwisnesse I ne reserved never no-thing to my-self to hemward of the 120 kinges halle, sc. officers, by the whiche
 I were the more siker. But thorough the same accusors accusinge, I am condempned. Of the noumbir of the whiche accusors oon Basilus, that whylom was 125 chased out of the kinges service, is now compelled in accusinge of my name, for nede of foreine moneye. Also Opilion and Gandencius han accused me, al be it so that the justice regal hadde whylom 130 demed hem bothe to go in-to exile for hir trecheryes and fraudes withoute noumbir.
 To whiche judgement they nolden nat
 obeye, but defendeden hem by the siker-nesse of holy houses, that is to seyn, fledden 135 into scintuaries; and when this was aperceived to the king, he comaunded, that but they voidede the citee of Ravenne by certain day assigned, that men sholde merken hem on the forheved with an hoot 140 yren and chasen hem out of the touna.
 Now what thing, semeth thee, mighte ben lykned to this crueltee? For certes, thilke same day was received the accusinge of my name by thilke same accusors. What 145 may ben seid her-to? (quasi diceret, nichil).
 Hath my studie and my cunningge deserved thus; or alles the forseide dampnacioun of me, made that hem rightful accusors or no? (quasi diceret, non). Was 150 not Fortune aahamed of this? Certes, al hadde nat Fortune ben ashamed that innocence was accused, yit oughte she han had shame of the filthe of myne accusours.

155 But, axestow in somme, of what gilt
 I am accused, men seyn that I wolde save the companye of the senators. And desirest thou to heren in what manere?
 I am accused that I sholde han de-160 stourbed the accuser to beren lettres, by whiche he sholde han maketh the senatoures giltly ayeins the kinges real ma-jestee. O maistresse, what demestow of this? Shal I forsake this blame, that I ne be no shame to thee? (quasi diceret, non). 165 Certes, I have wold it, that is to seyn, the savacioun of the senat, ne I shal never leten to wilne it, and that I confesse and am aknowe; but the entente of the accuser to be destourbed shal cese. For 170 shal I clepe it thanne a felonie or a sinne that I have desired the savacioun of the ordre of the senat? (quasi diceret, dubito quid). And certes yit hadde thilke same senat don by me, thorough hir decrets and 175 hir jugements, as though it were a sinne or a felonie; that is to seyn, to wilne the savacioun of hem (sc. senatus). But folye, that lyeth alwey to him-self, may not change the merite of thinges. Ne I trowe 180 nat, by the jugement of Socrates, that it were levelful to me to hyde the sothe, ne assente to lesinges. But certes, how so ever it be of this, I putte it to gessen or preisen to the jugement of thee and of 185 wyse folk. Of whiche thing al the ordinauce and the sothe, for as moche as folk that ben to comen after our dayes shullen knowen it, I have put it in scripture and in remembraunce. For touching 190 the lettres falsly maketh, by whiche lettres

 I am accused to han hoped the fredom of Rome, what aperteneth me to speke ther-of? Of whiche lettres the fraude hadde ben shewed apertly, yif I hadde had 195 libertee for to han used and been at the confessioun of myne accusours, the whiche thing in alle nedes hath greet strengthe. For what other fredom may men hopen? Certes, I wolde that som 200 other fredom mighte ben hoped. I wolde thanne han answered by the wordes of a man that highte Canius; for whan
 he was accused by Gaius Cesar, Gorme-205 ynes sone, that he (Canius) was know-inge and consentinge of a coniuracioun
 y-maketh ayeins him (sc. Gaius), this Canius answered thus: "Yif I hadde wist it, thou haddeest nat wist it." In which thing sorwe hath nat so dulled my 210 wit, that I pleyne only that shrewede folk aparailen felonies ayeins vertu; but I wondre greetly how that they may per-forme thinges that they hadde hoped for to 215 don. For-why, to wilne shrewednesse, that comth peraventure of oure defaute;

but it is lyk a monstre and a merveille,
how that, in the present sighte of god,
may ben ached and performed swiche 220 thinges as every felonous man hath conceived in his thought ayeins innocents.
For which thing oon of thy famileres nat unskilfully axed thus: "Yif god is, whennes comen wikkede thinges? And 225 yif god ne is, whennes comen gode thinges?" But al hadde it ben lefevil that felonous folk, that now desiren the blood and the deeth of alle gode men and eek of alle the senat, han wilned to gon 230 destroyen me, whom they han seyen alwey bataillen and defenden gode men and eek al the senat, yit had I nat deserved of the faderes, that is to seyn, of the senatoures, that they sholden wilne my 235 destruccioun.

Thou remembrest wel, as I gesse, that whan I wolde doon or seyen any thing, thou thyself, alwey present, rewledest me.
At the city of Verone, whan that the 240 king, gredy of comune slaughter, caste him to transporten up al the ordre of the senat the gilt of his real majestee, of the whiche gilt that Albin was accused, with how gret sikernes of peril to me de-245 fendede I al the senat! Thou wost wel that I seye sooth, ne I ne avauntede me never in preysinge of my-self. For alwey, whan any wight receiveth precious renoun in avauntinge him-self of his werkes, he 250 amenuseth the secree of his conscience.
But now thou mayst wel seen to what endo I am comen for myne innocence;
I receive peyne of fals felonye for guerdon of verray vertu. And what open con-255 fessioun of felonye hadde ever juges so acordaunt in crneltee, that is to seyn, as myn accusinge hath, that either error of mannes wit or elles condiclioun of Fortune, that is uncertein to alle mortal 260 folk, ne submittede some of hem, that is to seyn, that it ne enclynede som juge to han pitee or compassioun? For al-though I hadde ben accused that I wolde brenne holy houses, and strangle preestes with 265 wikkede swerde, or that I hadde greythed

deeth to al gode men, algates the sentence sholde han punished me, present, confessed, or convict. But now I am remewed fro the citee of Rome almost fyve hundred thousand pas, I am with-oute defence 270 dampned to proscricioun and to the deeth, for the studie and bountees that I have doon to the senat. But O, wel ben they worthy of merite (as who seith, nay), ther mighte never yit non of hem be 275 convict of swiche a blame as myne is! Of whiche trespas, myne accusours sayen ful wel the dignitee; the whiche dignitee, for they wolden derken it with medeling of som felonye, they baren me on hand, 280 and lyeden, that I hadde polut and defouled my conscience with sacrilege, for coveitise of dignitee. And certes, thou thyself, that art plaunted in me, chacedest out of the sege of my corage al coveitise of 285 mortal thinges; ne sacrilege hadde no leve to han a place in me bifrom thyne eyen. For thou droppedest every day in myne eres and in my thought thilke comaunderment of Pictogoras, that is to 290 seyn, men shal serve to godde, and not to goddes. Ne it was nat convenient, ne no nede, to taken help of the foulest spirites;
I, that thou hast ordeined and set in swiche excellence that thou makedest me 295 lyk to god. And over this, the right clene secree chaumbre of myne hous, that is to seyn, my wyf, and the companye of myn honest freendes, and my wyves fader, as wel holy as worthy to ben revered 300 thorugh his owne dedes, defenden me from alle suspicioun of swich blame. But O malice! For they that accusen me taken of thee, Philosophie, feith of so gret blame! For they trowen that I have had 305 affinitee to malefice or enchauement, by-cause that I am replenished and fulfilled with thy techinges, and enformed of thy maneres. And thus it suffiseth not only, that thy reverence ne availe me not, 310 but-yif that thou, of thy free wille, rather be blemished with myn offencioun. But certes, to the harmes that I have, ther bitydeth yit this encrees of harm, that the gessinge and the jugement of moche 315 folk ne looken no-thing to the desertes of things, but only to the aventure of fortune; and jagen that only swiche thinges ben purveyed of god, whiche that 120 temporel welefulnesse commendeth.—

Glose. As thus: that, yif a wight have prosperitee, he is a good man and worthy to han that prosperitee; and who-so hath adversitee, he is a wikked man, and god
 125 hath forsake him, and he is worthy to han that adversitee. This is the opinioun of some folk.—And ther-of comth that good gessinge, first of alle thing, forsaketh wrecches: certes, it greveth me to thinke
 130 right now the dyverse sentences that the poeple seith of me. And thus moche I seye, that the laste charge of contrarious fortune is this: that, whan that any blame is leyd upon a caitif, men wenen
 135 that he hath deserved that he suffreth. And I, that am put away fro gode men, and despoiled of dignitees, and defouled of my name by gessinge, have suffred torment for my gode dedes. Certes, me
 140 semeth that I see the felonous covines of wikked men habounden in joye and in gladnesse. And I see that every loral shapeth him to finde out newe fraudes for to accuse gode folk. And I see that gode 145 men beth overthrowen for drede of my peril; and every luxurious tourmentour dar doon alle felonye unpunished and ben excited therto by yiftes; and innocents ne ben not only despoiled of siker-
 150 nesse but of defence; and therefore me list to cryen to god in this wyse:—

METRE V. O stelliferi conditor orbis.

O thou maker of the w hole that bereth the sterres, which that art y-fastned to thy perdurable chayer, and tornest the hevene with a ravishing swaight, and 5 constrainest the sterres to suffren thy lawe; so that the mone som-tyme shyning with hir ful hornes, meting with alle the bemes of the sonne hir brother, hydeth the sterres that ben lesse; and somtyme,
 10 whan the mone, pale with hir derke hornes, approacheth the sonne, leseth hir lightes; and that the eve-sterre Hesperus, whiche that in the firste tyme of the night

bringeth forth hir colde arysinges, cometh aft ayein hir used cours, and is pale by 15 the morice at the rysing of the sonne, and is thanne cleped Lucifer. Thou restrainest the day by shorter dwelling, in the tyme of colde winter that maketh the leves to fall. Thou dividest the swifte tydes of 20
 the night, whan the hote somer is comen. Thy might atempreth the variaunts sesons of the yere; so that Zephirus the deboneir wind bringeth ayein, in the first somer seoun, the leves that the wind that 25
 highte Boreas hath raft away in autumpne, that is to seyn, in the laste ende of somer; and the sedes that the sterre that highte Arcturus saw, ben waxen heye cornes whan the sterre Sirius eschaufeth hem. 30
 Ther nis no-thing unbounde from his olde lawe, ne forleteth the werke of his propre estat. O thou governour, governinge alle thinges by certain ende, why refusestow only to governe the werkes of 35 men by dewe manere? Why suffrest thou that slydinge fortune torneth so grete entrechaunginges of thinges, so that anyous peyne, that sholde dewely punishe felouns, punissheth innocents? 40
 And folk of wikkede maneres sitten in heye chayres, and anyoyng folk treden, and that unrightfully, on the nekkes of holy men? And vertu, cler-shyninge naturally, is hid in derke derkenesses, and 45 the rightful man bereth the blame and the peyne of the feloun. Ne forsweringe ne the fraude, covered and kembd with a fals colour, ne anyoeth nat to shrewes; the whiche shrewes, whan hem list to 50 usen hir strengthe, they rejoycen hem to putten under hem the sovereyne kinges, whiche that poeple with-uten noumbre dreden. O thou, what so ever thou be that knittest alle bondes of thinges, 55 loke on thisse wrecchede erthes; we men that ben nat a foule party, but a fayr party of so grete a werk, we ben tormented in this see of fortune. Thou governour, withdraw and restreyne the ravishinge 60 fodes, and fastne and ferme thisse erthes stable with thilke bonde, with whiche thou governest the hevene that is so large.

PROSE V. Hic ubi continuato dolore delatraui.

Whan I hadde, with a continuel sorwe, sobbed or borken out these thinges, she with hir chere pesible, and no-thing amoeved with my compleintes, seide thus: 5
 'Whan I say thee,' quod she, 'sorweful and wepinge, I wiste anon that thou were a wrecche and exiled; but I wiste never how for thyne exile was, yif thy tale ne hadde shewed it to me. But certes, al be 10
 thou fer fro thy contree, thou nart nat put out of it; but thou hast failed of thy weye and gon amis. And yif thou hast lever for to wene that thou be put out of thy contree, than hast thou put out thy- 15 self rather than any other wight hath. For no wight but thy-self ne mighte never han don that to thee. For yif thou remembre of what contree thou art born, it nis nat governed by emperours, ne by 20
 governement of multitude, as weren the contrees of hem of Athenes; but oo lord and oo king, and that is god, that is lord of thy contree, whiche that rejoyseth him of the dwelling of hise citezenes, and nat 25 for to putte hem in exile; of the whiche lorde it is a soverayne freedom to be governed by the brydel of him and obeye to his justice. Hastow foryeten thilke right olde laws of thy citee, in the whiche 30 citee it is ordeined and established, that for what wight that hath lever founden ther-in his sete or his hous than elles- wher, he may nat be exiled by no right from that place? For who-so that is 35 contented in-with the palis and the clos of thilke citee, ther nis no drede that he may deserve to ben exiled. But who-so that leteth the wil for to enhabite there, he forleteth also to deserve to ben citezein 40 of thilke citee. So that I sey, that the face of this place ne moveth me nat so mochel as thyne owne face. Ne I axe nat rather the walles of thy librarie, aparyled and wrought with yvory and with 45 glas, than after the sete of thy thought. In whiche I putte nat whylom bokes, but I putte that that maketh bokes worthy of pryse or precious, that is to seyn, the sentence of my bokes. And certainly of thy desertes, bistowed in comune good, 50 thou hast seid sooth, but after the multitude of thy gode dedes, thou hast seid fewe; and of the honestee or of the falsnesse of thinges that ben aposed ayeins thee, thou hast remembred thinges that 55 ben knowen to alle folk. And of the felonyes and fraudes of thyne accoursours, it semeth thee have y-touched it forsothe rightfully and shortly, al mighten tho same thinges betere and more plenti- 60 vously ben counth in the mouthe of the people that knoweth al this. Thou hast eek blamed gretly and compleined of the wrongful dede of the senat. And thou hast sorwed for my blame, and thou hast 65 wopen for the damage of thy renoun that is apayred; and thy laste sorwe eschaufede ayeins fortune, and compleineest that guerdouns ne ben nat evenliche yolden to the desertes of folk. And in the latere 70 ende of thy wode Muse, thou preyedest that thilke pees that governeth the hevene sholde governe the erthe. But for that manye tribulaciouns of affeccioun han assailed thee, and sorwe and ire and 75

 wepinge to-drawen thee dyversely; as thou art now feble of thought, mightier remedies ne shullen nat yit touchen thee, for whiche we wol usen somdel lighter medicines: so that thilke passiouns that 80 ben woxen harde in swellinge, by perturbaciouns flowing in-to thy thought, mowen wexen esy and softe, to receiven the strengthe of a more mighty and more egre medicine, by an esier touchinge. 85

METRE VI.

Cum Phebi raditis graue Cancri sidus inestuat.

Whan that the hevye sterre of the Cancere eschaufeth by the bemes of Phebus, that is to seyn, whan that Phebus the sonne is in the signe of the Cancere, who-so yeveth thanne largely hise sedes to the 5
 felde; that refusen to receiven hem, lat him gon, bigyled of trust that he hadde to his corn, to acorns of okes. Yif thou wolt gadre violettis, ne go thou not to 10 the purpur wode whan the feld, chirkinge, agryseth of colde by the felnesse of the winds that highte Aquilon. Yif thou desirest or wolt usen grapes, ne seke thou nat, with a glotonous hond, to streyne 15 and presse the stalke of the vine in the first somer sesoun; for Bachus, the god of wyne, hath rather yeven hise yiftes to autumpne, the later ende of somer. God tokneth and assigneth the tymes, ablinge 20 hem to hir propres offees; ne he ne suffreth nat the stoundes whiche that him-self hath devyded and constreynded to ben y-medled to-gidere. And forthy he that foreleth certain ordinaunce of 25 doinge by over-throwinge wey, he ne hath no glade issue or ende of his werkes.

PROSE VI. *Primum igitur patiens me
 pauculis rogacionibus.*

First woltow suffre me to touche and assaye the estat of thy thought by a fewe demaundes, so that I may understonde what be the manere of thy curacioun?

5 Bocco. 'Axe me,' quod I, 'at thy wille,
 what thou wolt, and I shal answer.'

Tho seide she thus: 'Whether wenestow,' quod she, 'that this world be governed by foolish happes and for-10 tunous, or elles that there be in it any government of resoun?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'I ne trowe nat in no manere, that so certain thinges sholde be moeved
 by fortunous fortune; but I wot wel that 15 god, maker and mayster, is governour of his werk. Ne never nas yit day that mighte putte me out of the sothnesse of that sentence.'

'So is it,' quod she; 'for the same 20 thing songe thou a litel her-biforn, and biweydeest and biweppest, that only men weren put out of the cure of god. For of alle other thinges thou ne doutedest nat that they nere governed by resoun. But 25 ow! (i. pape!) I wondre gretly, certes, why that thou art syk, sin that thou art put in so holsom a sentence. But lat us seken depper; I conjecte that ther lakketh I not nere what. But sey me this 30 sin that thou ne doutest nat that this world be governed by god, with whiche governailes takestow hede that it is governed?' 'Unneth,' quod I, 'knowe

 I the sentence of thy questioun; so that I ne may nat yit answeren to thy de- 35
 maundes.'

'I nas nat deceived,' quod she, 'that ther ne failleth somewhat, by whiche the maladye of thy perturbacioun is crept in-to thy thought, so as the strengthe of 40
 the palis chynyng is open. But sey me this: remembreth thou what is the ende of thinges, and whider that the enten-cioun of alle kinde tendeth?' 'I have herd it told som-tyme,' quod I; 'but 45 drerinesse hath dulled my memorie.'

'Certes,' quod she, 'thou wost wel whennes that alle thinges ben comen and procedeth?' 'I wot wel,' quod I, and answerede, that 'god is beginning of al.' 50

'And how may this be,' quod she, 'that, sin thou knowest the beginning of thinges, that thou ne knowest nat what is the ende of thinges? But swiche ben the customes of perturbaciouns, and this 55 power they han, that they may moeve
 a man out of his place, *that is to seyn, fro
 the stables and perfeccioun of his know-inge*; but, certes, they may nat al arace him, ne aliene him in al. But I wolde 60 that thou woldest answer to this:
 remembrethow that thou art a man?'
 'Why sholde I nat remembre that?'
 quod I.

'Maystow nat telle me thanne,' quod 65
 she, 'what thing is a man?' 'Axestow me nat,' quod I, 'whether that I be a resonable mortal beest? I woot wel, and I confesse wel that I am it.'

'Wistestow never yit that thou were 70 any other thing?' quod she. 'No,'
 quod I.

'Now woot I,' quod she, 'other cause of thy maladye, and that right grete. Thou hast left for to knowen thy-self, what 75
 thou art; thorough whiche I have pleynly founden the cause of thy maladye, or elles
 the entree of recovereinge of thyn hele.
 For-why, for thou art confounded with foryeting of thy-self, for-thy sorwestow 80 that thou art exiled of thy propre goodes.

And for thou ne worst what is the ende of thinges, for-thy demestow that felonous and wikked men ben mighty and weleful.
 85 And for thou hast foryeten by whiche governements the world is governed, for-thy wenestow that thisse mutaciouns of fortune sieten with-oute governour. These ben grete causes not only to maladye, 90 but, certes, grete causes to death. But I thanke the auctor and the maker of hele, that nature hath not al forleten thee. I have grete norissinges of thyn hele, and that is, the sothe sentence of 95 governaunce of the worlde; that thou bilevest that the governinge of it nis nat subject ne underput to the folie of thisse happes aventurous, but to the rescoun of god. And ther-for doute thee no-thing; 100 for of this lital spark thyn hete of lyf shal shyne. But for as moche as it is nat tyme yit of faster remedies, and the nature of thoughtes deceived is this,
 that as ofte as they casten away sothe 105 opiniouns, they clothen hem in false opiniouns, of which false opiniouns the darkenesse of perturbacioun wexeth up,
 that confoundeth the verray insighte:
 and that darkenesse shal I assaye som-110 what to maken thinne and wayk by lighte and meneliche remedies; so that,

after that the darkenesse of deceivinge desiringes is don away, thou mowe knowe
 the shyninge of verray light.

METRE VII. Nubibus atris.

The sterres, covered with blake cloudes, ne mowen yeten a-doun no light. Yif the trouble wind that hight Auster, turning and walwinge the see, medleth the hete, that is to seyn, the boyling up from the 5
 botme; the waves, that whylom weren clere as glas and lyke to the faire clere dayes, withstande anon the sightes of men
 by the filthe and ordure that is resolved.
 And the fletinge stream, that royleth 10
 doun dyversly fro heye mountaignes, is arested and resisted ofte tyme by the encountringe of a stoon that is departed and fallen from som roche. And for-thy, yif thou wolt loken and demen 15 sooth with cleer light, and holden the wey with a right path, weyve thou joye, dryf fro thee drede, fleme thou hope, ne
 lat no sorwe aproche; that is to seyn, lat non of thisse four passiouns over-comen thee 20 or blende thee. For cloudy and derke is thilke thought, and bounde with brydles, where-as thisse thinges regnen.'

Explicit Liber Primus.

BOOK II.

PROSE I. Postea paulisper conticuit.

After this she stinte a lital; and, after that she hadde gadered by atempre stillenesse myn attentacioun, she seide thus:
 (As who mighte seyn thus: After thisse 5 thinges she stinte a lital; and whan she aperceived by atempre stillenesse that I was ententif to herkene hir, she bigan to speke in this wyse): 'Yif I,' quod she, 'have understonden and knowen outrelly the causes 10 and the habit of thy maladye, thou languishest and art defeted for desyr and talent of thy rather fortune. She, that ilke Fortune only, that is changed, as thou feynest, to thee-ward, hath perverted the cleernesse and the estat of thy corage. 15

 I understonde the fele-folde colours and deceites of thilke marveilous monstre
 Fortune, and how she useth ful flateringe familiaritee with hem that she enforceth to bigyle; so longe, til that she confounde 20 with unsufferable sorwe hem that she hath left in despeyr unpurveyed. And yif thou remembrest wel the kinde, the maneres, and the desert of thilke Fortune, thou shalt wel knowe that, as in hir, 25 thou never ne haddest ne hast y-lost any fair thing. But, as I trowe, I shal nat gretly travailen to do thee remembre on these things. For thou were wont to hurtelen and despyse hir, with manly wordes, whan she was blaundissinge and present, and pursuwedest hir with sentences that were drawn out of myn entree, that is to seyn, out of myn informacion. But no sodein mutacion ne bitydeþ nat with-oute a manere chaunginge of corages; and so is it befallen that thou art a litel departed fro the pees of thy thought.

But now is tyme that thou drinke and ataste some soft and delitable things; so that, whan they ben entred with-in thee, it mowe maken wey to strengere drinks of medicynes. Com now forth therefore the suasion of swetenesse rethorien, whiche that goth only the right wey, whyl she forsaketh nat myne estatuts. And with Rhetorice com forth Musice, a damisel of our hous, that singeth nowlighter moedes or prolaciouns, now hevyer. What eyleth thee, man? What is it that hath cast thee in-to morninge and in-to wepinge? I trowe that thou hast seyn som newe thing and uncouth. Thou wenest that Fortune be chaunged ayein thee; but thou wenest wrong, yif thou that wena. Alwey thou ben hir maneres; she hath rather kept, as to thee-ward, hir propre stableness in the chaunginge of hir-self. Right swich was she whan she flatered thee, and deceived thee with unlevelful lykinges of fals welefulnesse. Thou hast now knownen and ataynt the doutous or double visage of thilke blinde goddesse Fortune. She, that yit covereth hir and wimpleth hir to other folk, hath shewed hir everydel to thee. Yif thou aprovest hir and thenkest that she is good, use hir maneres and pleyne thee nat. And yif thou agryest hir false trecherye, despyse and cast away hir that pleyeth so harmfully; for she, that is now cause of so muche sorwe to thee, sholde ben cause to thee of pees and of joye. She hath forsaken thee, forsothe; the whiche that never man may ben siker that she ne shal forsake him.—Glose. But natheles, some bokes.

han the text thus: For sothe, she hath forsaken thee, ne ther nis no man siker that she ne hath nat forsaken.—

Holdestow than thilke welefulnesse precious to thee that shal passen? And is present Fortune dereworthe to thee, which that nis nat feithful for to dwelle; and, whan she goth away, that she bringeth a wight in sorwe? For sin she may nat ben with-holden at a mannes wille, she maketh him a wrecche whan she departeth fro him. What other thing is fittinge Fortune but a maner shewing of wrecchednesse that is to comen? Ne it ne suffyeth nat only to loken on thinge that is present biforn the eyen of a man. But wisdom loketh and amesureth the ende of thinges; and the same chaunginge from oon in-to an-other, that is to seyn, from adversitee in-to prosperitee, maketh that the maneres of Fortune ne ben nat for to dreden, ne the flateringes of hir to ben desired. Thus, at the laste, it bihoveth thee to suffren with evene wille in pacience al that is don in-with the floor of Fortune, that is to seyn, in this world, sin thou hast ones put thy nekke under the yok of hir. For yif thou wolt wryten a lawe of wendinge and of dwellinge to Fortune, whiche that thou hast chosen frely to ben thy lady, artow nat wrongful in that, and makest Fortune wroth and aspere by thyn inpatience, and yit thou mayst nat change hir? Yif thou committest and bitakest thy sailles to the winde, thou shalt be shoven, not thider that thou woldest, but whider that the wind shoveth thee. Yif thou castest thy sedes in-to the faldes, thou sholdest han in minde that the yeres ben, amonges, other-whyle plentevous and other-whyle bareyne. Thou hast bitaken thy-self to the governaunce of Fortune, and for-thy it bihoveth thee to ben obeisaunt to the maneres of thy lady. Enforcest thou thee to aresten or with-holden the swiftnesse and the sweigh of hir turninge whele? O thou fool of alle mortal foles, if Fortune bigan to dwelle stable, she cesede thanne to ben Fortune!

METRE I. Hec cum superba uerterit uices dextra.

Whan Fortune with a proud right hand hath torned hir chaunginge stoundes, she fareth lyk the maneres of the boilinge Eurype.—Glossa. Eurype 5 is an arm of the see that ebbeth and floweth; and som-tyme the stream is on o syde, and som-tyme on the other.—Text. She, cruel Fortune, casteth adoun 10 she, deceivable, enhaunseth up the humble chere of him that is discomfited. Ne she neither hereth ne rekketh of wrecchede wepinges; and she is so hard that she laugheth and scorneth the wep- 15 inges of hem, the whiche she hath makid wepe with hir free wille. Thus she pleyeth, and thus she proeveth hir strengthes; and sheweth a greet wonder to alle hir servauntes, yif that a wight 20 is seyn weleful, and overthrowe in an houre.

PROSE II. Vellem autem pauca tecum.

Certes, I wolde pleten with thee a fewe thinges, usinge the wordes of Fortune; tak hede now thy-self, yif that she axeth right. "O thou man, wherfore makest 5 thou me gilty by thyne every-dayes pleyninges? What wrong have I don thee? What goodes have I bireft thee that weren thyne? Stryf or plete with me, bifore what juge that thou wolt, of the 10 possessioun of richesces and of dignitees. And yif thou mayst shewan me that ever any mortal man hath received any of the thinges to ben hise in propre, than wol I graunte frely that alle thilke thinges 15 weren thyne whiche that thou axest. Whan that nature broughte thee forth out of thy moder wombe, I receyved thee naked and nedy of alle thinges, and I norisshede thee with my richesces, 20 and was redy and ententif through my favour to susteyne thee; and that maketh thee now inpaocient ayeins me; and I envrounde thee with alle the aboun-dance and shyninge of alle goodes that ben in my right. Now it lyketh me to 25 with-drawn my hand; thou hast had grace as he that hath used of foreine goodes; thou hast no right to playne thee, as though thou haddest outrelly forlorn alle thy thinges. Why pleyneest thou 30 thanne? I have done thee no wrong. Richesses, honours, and swiche other thinges ben of my right. My servauntes knowen me for hir lady; they comen with me, and departen whan I wende. 35 I dar wel affermen hardly, that yif the thinges, of which thou pleyneest that thou hast forlorn, hadde ben thyne, thou ne haddest not lorn hem. Shal I thanne only ben defended to usen my right? 40 Certes, it is leveful to the hevене to make clere dayes, and, after that, to coveren the same dayes with derke nightes. The yeer hath eek leve to apparailen the visage of the erthe, now with floures and 45 now with fruit, and to confounden hem som-tyme with reynes and with colde. The see hath eek his right to ben som-tyme calme and blaudishing with smothe water, and som-tyme to ben hor- 50 rible with wawes and with tempestes. But the covetise of men, that may nat ben stanchid, shal it binde me to ben stedefast, sin that stedefastnesse is uncouth to my maneres? Swich is my 55 strengthe, and this play I pleye continually. I torne the whirlinge wheel with the tornig cercle; I am glad to chaungen the lowest to the heyest, and the heyest to the lowest. Worth up, if 60 thou wolt, so it be by this lawe, that thou ne holde nat that I do thee wronge thogh thou descende adoun, whan the resoun of my play axeth it. Wistest thou nat how Cresus, the king of Lydiens, of 65 whiche king Cyrus was ful sore agast a litel biforn, that this rewliche Cresus was caught of Cyrus and lad to the fyr to ben Brent, but that a rayn descendede doun fro hevене that rescowede him? 70 And is it out of thy minde how that Paulus, consul of Rome, whan he hadde taken the king of Perciens, weep pitously for the captivitee of the self kinge?

75 What other thing biwailen the cryinges of tragedies but only the dedes of Fortune, that with an unwar stroke overtorneth realmes of grete nobley?—Glose. Tra- gedia is to seyn, a ditee of a prosperitee for 80 a tyme, that endeth in wrecchednesse.— Lernedest nat thou in Grake, whan thou were yonge, that in the entree, or in the celere, of Jupiter, ther ben couched two tonnes; that on is ful of good, that other 85 is ful of harm? What right hast thou to pleyne, yif thou hast taken more plente-vonously of the gods syde, that is to seyn, of my riches and prosperitee; and what eek if I ne be nat al departed fro thee?
90 What eek yif my mutabilitee yiveth thee rightful cause of hope to han yit beter things? Natheles dismaye thee nat in thy thought; and thou that art put in the comune realme of alle, ne desyre nat
95 to liven by thyn only propre right.

METRE II. Si quantas rapidis flatibus incitus.

Though Plentee, that is goddess of richesses, hielde adoun with ful horn, and withdraweth nat hir hand, as many richesses as the see torneth upward 5 sandes whan it is moeved with raviss-hinge blastes, or elles as many riches-ses as ther shynen brighte sterres on hevene on the sterry nightes; yit, for al that, mankinde nolde not cese to wepe wrecch-ede pleyntes. And al be it so that god receyveth gladly hir prayers, and yiveth 10 them (as fool-large) moche gold, and aparailleth covetous men with noble or clere honours: yit sameth hem haven 15 y-geten no-thing, but alwey hir cruel ravynne, devouringe al that they han geten, sheweth other gapinges; that is to seyn, gopen and desyren yit after no richesses. What byrdes mighten withholden, 20 to any certein ende, the desordenee covetise of men, whan, ever the rather that it fleteth in large yiftes, the more ay bren-neth in hem the thurst of havinge?
Certes he that, quakinge and dredful,
25 weneth him-selven nedy, he ne liveth never-more riche.”

PROSE III. Hinc igitur si pro se tecum
Fortuna loqueretur.

Therfor, yif that Fortune spake with thee for hir-self in this manere, for-sothe thou ne haddest nat what thou mightest answere. And, if thou hast any-thing wherwith thou mayest rightfully do 5 fenden thy compleint, it behoveth thee to shewen it; and I wol yeven thee space to tellen it.’ Boeca. ‘Certeynly,’ quod
I thanne, ‘thise beth faire thinges, and enointed with hony swetenesse of 10
rethorike and musike; and only whyl they ben herd they ben delicious. But to wreoches is a depper felinge of harm;
this is to seyn, that wrecches selen the harmes that they suffren more grevously 15 than the remedies or the delites of thise wordes moeven gladen or comforten hem; so that, whan thise thinges stinten for to sounne in eres, the sorwe that is inset greveth the thought.’ 20

Phil. ‘Right so is it,’ quod she. ‘For thise ne ben yit none remedies of thy maladye; but they ben a maner norisshinges of thy sorwe, yit rebel ayain thy curacioun. For whan that tyme is, I 25 shal moeve swiche thinges that percen hem-self depe. But natheles, that thou shalt not wilne to leten thy-self a wreoche, hast thou foryeten the number and the manere of thy wefulnessse? I holde me 30 stille, how that the soverayne men of the citee token thee in cure and kepinge, whan thou were orphan of fader and moder, and were chosen in affinitee of princes of the citee; and thou bigunne 35 rather to be leef and dere than forto ben a neighbour; the whiche thing is the most precious kinde of any propinquitee or alyaunce that may ben. Who is it that ne seide tho that thou were right 40 weleful, with so grete a nobleye of thy fadres-in-lawe, and with the chastitee of thy wyf, and with the oportunittee and noblesse of thy masculin children, that is to seyn, thy sones? And over al this—me 45 list to passen the comune thinges—how thou haddest in thy youthe dignitees that weren warned to olde men. But it de-lyteth me to comen now to the singuler uphepinge of thy welefulnesse. Yif any 50 fruit of mortal thinges may han any weighte or prys of welefulnesse, mightest thou ever foryeten, for any charge of harm that mighte bifalle, the remembraunce of thilke day that thou saye thy 55 two sones maked conseileres, and y-lad to-gedere fro thyn house under so greet assemblies of senatoures and under the blythenesse of poeple; and whan thou saye hem set in the court in here chayeres 60 of dignitees? Thou, rethorien or pronouncere of kingespreysinges, deservedest glorie of wit and of eloquence, whan thou, sittinge bitwene thy two sones, con-seileres, in the place that highte Circo, 65 †fulfuldest the abydinge of the multitude of poeple that was sprad abouten thee, with so large preysinge and laude,

as men singen in victories. Tho yave 70 thou wordes to Fortune, as I trowe,
that is to seyn, tho feffedest thou Fortune with glosings wordes and deceivedest hir, whan she acoyede thee and norishede thee as hir owne deluces. Thou bere 75 away of Fortune a yifte, that is to seyn, swiche guerdoun, that she never yaf to privee man. Wilt thou therfor leye a rekeninge with Fortune? She hath now twinkled first upon thee with a wik-80 kede eye. Yif thou considere the num-bre and the manere of thy bliesses and of thy sorwes, thou mayst nat forsaken that thou art yit blisful. For if thou therfor wenest thy-self nat weleful, for thinges 85 that tho semeden joyful ben passed, ther nis nat why thou sholdest wene thy-self a wrecche; for thinges that semen now sorye passen also. Art thou now comen first, a sodein gest, in-to the shadwe or 90 tabernacle of this lyf; or trowest thou that any stedfastnesse be in mannes thinges, whan ofte a swift houre dis-solveth the same man; that is to seyn, whan the soules departeth fro the body?
95 For, al-though that selde is ther any feith that fortunous thinges wolen dwellen, yit natheles the laste day of a mannes lyf is a manere death to Fortune, and also to thilke that hath dwelt. And therfor, what, wenestow, thar [thee] recche, yif 100 thou forlete hir in deyinge, or elles that she, Fortune, forlete thee in fleesinge away?

METRE III. Cum polo Phebus roses quadrigis.

Whan Phebus, the sonne, biginneth to sprenden his cleernesse with rosene chariettes, thanne the sterre, y-dimmed, paleth hir whyte cheres, by the flambes of the sonne that overcometh the sterre-light. 5
*This is to seyn, whan the sonne is risen,
the dey-sterre wexeth pale, and leseth hir light for the grete brightnesse of the sonne.*
Whan the wode wexeth rody of rosene floures, in the first somer sesoun, thorough 10
the brethe of the winde Zephirus that wexeth warm, yif the cloudy wind Anster blowe felliche, than goth away the faire-nesse of thornes. Ofte the see is cleer and calm withoute moevinge flodes; and 15
ofte the horrible wind Aquilon moeveth boillinge tempestes and over-whelveth the
see. Yif the forme of this worlde is so selde stable, and yif it turneth by so many entrechaunginges, wolt thou thanne 20 trusten in the tomlinge fortunes of men? Wolt thou trowen on fittinge goodes? It is certain and established by lawe perdurable, that no-thing that is engendred nis stedefast ne stable. 25

PROSE IV. Tunc ego, uera, inquam, commemoras.

Thanne seide I thus: 'O notice of alle vertues, thou seist ful sooth; ne I ne may nat forsake the right swift course of my prosperitee; *that is to seyn, that prosperitee
ne be comen to me wonder swifly and sone.* 5
But this is a thing that greetly smerteth me whan it remembreth me. For in alle adversitee of fortune, the most unsely kinde of contrarious fortune is to han ben weleful.' 10

Phil. 'But that thou,' quod she, 'abyest
the torment of thy false opinioun, that mayst thou nat rightlyfully blamen ne arreten to thinges: as who seith, for 15 thou hast yit many habundaunces of thinges.

—Text For al be it so that the ydel name of aventurous welefulnesse moeveth thee now, it is lewful that thou rekne with me of how manye grete thinges
 20 thou hast yit plentee. And therfor, yif that thilke thing that thou haddest for most precious in al thy richesse of fortune be kept to thee yit, by the grace of god, unwemmed and undefouled, mayst
 25 thou thanne pleyne rightfully upon the meschef of Fortune, sin thou hast yit thy beste thinges? Certes, yit liveth in good point thilke precious honour of mankinde, Symacus, thy wyves fader, which 30 that is a man maket alle of sapience and of vertu; the whiche man thou woldest byen redely with the prys of thyn owne lyf. He biwayleth the wronges that men don to thee, and nat for him-self; for he 35 liveth in sikernesse of any sentences put ayeins him. And yit liveth thy wyf, that is atempre of wit, and passinge other wimmen in clenness of chastetee; and for I wol closen shortly hir bountees, she 40 is lyk to hir fader. I telle thee wel, that she liveth looth of this lyf, and kepeth to thee only hir goost; and is al maat and overcomen by wepinge and sorwe for desyr of thee, in the whiche thing only
 45 I moot graunten that thy welefulnesse is amenued. What shal I seyn eek of thy two sones, conseilours, of whiche, as of children of hir age, ther shyneth the lyknesse of the wit of hir fader or of hir
 50 elder fader? And sin the sovereyn cure of alle mortel folk is to saven hir owen lyves, O how weleful art thou, yif thou knowe thy goodes! For yit ben ther thinges dwelled to thee-ward, that no
 55 man douteth that they ne ben more dereworthe to thee than thyn owne lyf. And for-thy drye thy teres, for yit nis nat everich fortune al hateful to thee-ward, ne over greet tempest hath nat yit 60 fallen upon thee, whan that thyn ances cleven faste, that neither wolen suffren the counfort of this tyme present ne the hope of tyme cominge to passen ne to faylen.' Boece. 'And I preye, quod I, 65 'that faste moten they halden; for whyles that they halden, how-so-ever that thinges ben, I shal wel fleten forth and escapen; but thou mayst wel seen how grete aparyles and aray that me laketh, that ben passed away fro me.'

70 Phil. 'I have som-what avauoned and forthered thee,' quod she, 'yif that thou anye nat or forthinke nat of al thy fortune: as who seith, I have som-what 75 comforted thee, so that thou tempest thee nat thus with al thy fortune, sin thou hast yit thy beste thinges. But I may nat suffren thy delices, that pleynest so wepinge and anguissous, for that ther lakketh som-what to thy welefulnesse. For what man
 80 is so sad or of so parfitt welefulnesse, that he ne stryveth and pleyne on som halve ayen the qualitee of his estat? For-why ful anguissous thing is the condicioun of mannes goodes; for either it cometh nat
 85 al-togider to a wight, or elles it last nat perpetual. For sum man hath grete richesces, but he is ashamed of his ungentel linage; and som is renowned of noblesse of kinrede, but he is enclosed in 90 so grete anguisshe of nede of thinges, that him were lever that he were unknowa. And som man haboundeth both in richesse and noblesse, but yit he bewaileth his chaste lyf, for he ne hath no wyf. 95
 And som man is wel and selily y-maried, but he hath no children, and norissheth his richesces to the eyres of strange folkes. And som man is gladed with children, but he wepeth ful sory for the 100 trespas of his sone or of his daughter. And for this ther ne acordeth no wight lightly to the condicioun of his fortune; for alwey to every man ther is in som-what that, unassayed, he ne wot nat; or 105 elles he dredeth that he hath assayed. And adde this also, that every weleful man hath a ful delicat felinge; so that, but-yif alle thinges bifalle at his owne wil, for he is impacient, or is nat used to 110 han non adversitee, anon he is thrown adoun for every litel thing. And ful litel thinges ben tho that withdrawn the somme or the perfeccioun of blisfulnesse fro hem that ben most fortunat. How 115 many men, trowest thou, wolden demen

hem-self to ben almost in hevenc, yif they mighten atayne to the leest party of the remnaunt of thy fortune? This same 120 place that thou clepest exil, is contree to hem that enhabiten heer, and forthy nothing [is] wrecched but whan thou wenest it: as who seith, thou thy-self, ne no wight elles, nis a wrecche, but whan he 125 weneth him-self a wrecche by reputacioun of his corage. And ayeinward, alle fortune is blisful to a man by the agreabletee or by the egalitee of him that suffreth it.
 What man is that, that is so weleful, 130 that nolde changen his estat whan he hath lost pacience? The swetnesse of mannes welefulnesse is sprayned with many biternesses; the whiche welefulnesse, al-though it seme swete and joyful 135 to hem that useth it, yit may it nat ben with-holden that it ne goth away whan it wole. Thanne is it wel sene, how wrecched is the blisfulnesse of mortal thinges, that neither it dureth perpetuel with hem that every fortune receiven agreablye or 140 egaly, ne it delyteth nat in al to hem that ben anguissous. O ye mortal folk, what seke ye thanne blisfulnesse out of your-self, whiche that is put in your-self?
 145 Errorr and folye confoundeth yow.

I shal shewe thee shortly the poynt of sovereyne blisfulnesse. Is ther anything more precious to thee than thyself? Thou wolt answers, "nay." Thanne, 150 yif it so be that thou art mighty over thy-self, that is to seyn, by tranquillitee of thy soule, than hast thou thing in thy power that thou noldest never lesen, ne
 Fortune ne may nat beneme it thee.
 155 And that thou mayst knowe that blisfulnesse ne may nat standen in thinges that ben fortunous and temporel, now under-stonde and gader it to-gidere thus: Yif blisfulnesse be the sovereyn good of nature 160 that liveth by resoun, ne thilke thing nis nat sovereyn good that may be taken away in any wyse, (for more worthy thing and more dignes is thilke thing that may nat ben taken away); than sheweth 165 it wel, that the unstableness of fortune may nat atayne to receiven verray blisfulnesse. And yit more-over: what man that this tounbling welefulnesse ledeth, either he woot that it is chaungeable, or elles he woot it nat. And yif he woot 170 it nat, what blisful fortune may ther be in the blindnesse of ignorance? And yif he woot that it is chaungeable, he moot alwey ben adrad that he ne lese that thing that he ne doubteth nat but that 175 he may lesen it; as who seith, he mot ben alwey agast, lest he lese that he wot wel he may lese it. For which, the continuel dreed that he hath ne suffreth him nat to ben weleful. Or yif he lese it, he 180

 weneth to be dyspyssed and forleten.
 Certes eek, that is a ful litel good that is born with evenc herte whan it is lost;
that is to seyn, that men do no more fors of the lost than of the havinge. And for as 185 moche as thou thy-self art he, to whom it hath ben shewed and proved by ful manye demonstraciouns, as I wot wel, that the sowles of men ne mowe nat deyen in no wyse; and eek sin it is cleer 190 and certein, that fortunous welefulnesse endeth by the deeth of the body; it may nat ben douted that, yif that deeth may take away blisfulnesse, that alle the kinde of mortal thinges ne descendeth in-to 195
 wrecchednesse by the ende of the deeth.
 And sin we knowen wel, that many a man hath sought the fruit of blisfulnesse nat only with suffringe of deeth, but eek with suffringe of peynes and tormentes; 200
 how mighte than this present lyf maken men blisful, sin that, whan thilke selve lyf is ended, it ne maketh folk no
 wrecches?

METRE IV. Quisquis uolet perennem.

What maner man, stable and war, that wole founden him a perdurable sete, and ne wole nat ben cast down with the loude blastes of the wind Euruss; and wole 5 despyse the see, manasinges with fodes; 5 lat him eschewen to bilde on the cop
 of the mountaigne or in the moiste sandes.
 For the felle wind Auster tormenteth the cop of the mountaigne with all his strengthes; and the lause sandes refusen 10 to baren the hevly wights. And forthy,

if thou wilt flee the perilous aventure,
that is to seyn, of the worldis; have minde
 certainly to fischen thyn hous of a merye 15 site in a lowe stoon. For al-though the wind, troubling the see, thondre with over-throwinges, thou that art put in quiste, and weluful by strengthe of thy palis, shalt leden a cleer age, scorninge 20 the woodnesses and the ires of the eyr.

PROSE V. Set cum rationum tam in te.

But for as moche as the norissinghes of my resouns descenden now in-to thee,
 I trowe it were tyme to usen a lital
 5 strengre medicynes. Now understand heer, al were it so that the yiftes of Fortune ne were nat brutel ne transitorie, what is ther in hem that may be thyn
 in any tyme, or elles that it nis foul, yif that it be considered and lokod perfilty?
 10 Richesses, ben they precious by the nature of hem-self, or elles by the nature of thee? What is most worth of richesses?
 Is it nat gold or might of moneye assembled? Certes, thilke gold and 15 thilke moneye ahyneth and yeveth betere renoun to hem that spenden it thanne to thilke folk that mokeren it; for avarice maketh alwey mokereres to ben hated, and largesse maketh folk cleer of renoun.
 20 For sin that swich thing as is transferred fram o man to another ne may nat dwellen with no man; certes, thanne is thilke moneye precious when it is translated into other folk and stanteth to ben 25 had, by usage of large yevinge of him that hath yeven it. And also: yif that al
 the moneye that is over-al in the worldis were gadered toward o man, it sholde maken alle other men to ben nedys as of 30 that. And certes a voys al hool, that is to seyn, with-oute amensunge, fulfillleth to-gidere the hering of moche folk; but certes, youre richesses ne mowen nat passen in-to moche folke with-oute amens-35 unsunge. And when they ben apessed, nedes they maken hem pore that for-gon
 the richesses. O! strait and nedys clepe
 I this richesse, sin that many folk ne may nat han it al, ne al may it nat

comen to o man with-uten povertes of 40 alle other folk! And the shyninge of gemmes, that I clepe precious stones,
 draweth it nat the eyen of folk to hem-ward, that is to seyn, for the beautes? But certes, yif ther were beautes or bountee 45 in the shyninge of stones, thilke cleernesse is of the stones hem-self, and nat of men; for whiche I wondre gretly that men mervailen on swiche thinges. For-why, what thing is it, that yif it wanteth 50
 moeving and joynture of sowle and body, that by right mighte semen a fair creature to him that hath a sowle of resoun?
 For al be it so that gemmes drawn to hem-self a lital of the laste beautes of the 55 world, through the entente of hir creatour and through the distinccioun of hem-self;
 yit, for as mochel as they ben put under youre excellence, theyne han nat deserved by no way that ye sholden mervailen on 60
 hem. And the beautes of felde, delyteth
 it nat mochel un-to yow?'

Boece. 'Why sholde it nat delyten us, sin that it is a right fair porcioun of the right faire werke, that is to seyn, of this 65 world? And right so ben we gladed som-tyme of the face of the see when it is cleer; and also mervailen we on the hevене and on the sterres, and on the sonne and on the mone.' 70

Philosophys. 'Aperteneth,' quod she,
 'any of thilke thinges to thee? Why darst thou glorifyen thee in the shyninge of any swiche thinges? Art thou dis-tingwed and embelised by the springinge 75 floures of the first somer sesoun, or swelleth thy plente in the frutes of somer? Why art thou ravished with ydel joyes? Why embracest thou straunge goodes as they weren thyne? Fortune ne 80 shal never maken that swiche thinges ben thyne, that nature of thinges hath makod foreine fro thee. Sooth is that, with-uten doute, the frutes of the erthe
 owen to ben to the norissinge of bestes. 85
 And yif thou wilt fulfillle thy nede after that it suffyseth to nature, than is it no nede that thou seke after the superfluitee of fortune. For with ful fewe thinges and with ful lital thinges nature halt hir 90

apayed; and yif thou wolt achoken the fulfilling of nature with superfluities, certes, thilke thinges that thou wolt
 thresten or pouren in-to nature shullen 55 unjoyful to thee, or elles anyous.
 Wenest thou eek that it be a fair thing to shyne with dyverse clothinge? Of whiche clothinge yif the beautee be agreeable to loken up-on, I wol mervailen 100 on the nature of the matere of thilke clothes, or elles on the werkman that wroughte hem. But also a long route of meyne, maketh that a blisful man? The whiche servants, yif they ben vicious of 105 condicions, it is a great charge and a distrucioun to the hous, and a greet enemy to the lord him-self. And yif they ben goode men, how shal straunge or foreine goodnesse ben put in the noumbre 110 of thy richesse? So that, by all these forseight thinges, it is clearly y-shewed, that never oon of thilke thinges that thou accountedest for thyne goodes nas nat thy good. In the whiche thinges, 115 yif ther be no beautee to ben desyred, why sholdest thou ben sorry yif thou lese hem, or why sholdest thou rejoysen thee to holden hem? For yif they ben faire of hir owne kinde, what aperteneth that 120 to thee? For al so wel sholden they han ben faire by hem-selve, though they weren departed fram alle thyne richesces. For-why faire ne precious ne weren they nat,
 for that they comen among thy richesces;
 125 but, for they semeden faire and precious, ther-for thou haddest lever rekne hem amonges thy richesces. But what desirest thou of Fortune with so grete a noise, and with so grete a fare? I trowe 130 thou seke to dryve away nede with habundaunce of thinges; but certes, it torneth to you al in the contrarie.
 Forwhy certes, it nedeth of ful manye helpinges to kepen the diversitee of 135 precious ostelments. And sooth it is, that of manye thinges han they nede that manye thinges han; and ayeinward, of litel nedeth hem that mesuren hir fille
 after the nede of kinde, and nat after 140 the outrage of covetytse. Is it thanne so, that ye men ne han no proper good

y-set in you, for which ye moten seken outward youre goodes in foreine and subgit thinges? So is thanne the con-dicion of thinges turned up-so-down, 145 that a man, that is a devyne beest by merite of his resoun, thinketh that himself nis neither faire ne noble, but-yif
 it be thorough possessioun of ostelments that ne han no sowles. And certes, al 150 other thinges ben apayed of hir owne beautee; but ye men, that ben semblable to god by your reasonable thought, desiren to aparailen your excellent kinde of the lowest thinges; ne ye understonden nat 155 how greet a wrong ye don to your creatour. For he wolde that mankinde were most worthy and noble of any othre erthely thinges; and ye threste adoun your dignitees benethe the lowest thinges. 160
 For yif that al the good of every thinge be more precious than is thilke thing whos that the good is: sin ye demen that the fouleste thinges ben youre goodes, thanne submitten ye and putten 165 your-selven under the fouleste thinges by your estimacioun; and certes, this tydeth nat with-oute youre desertes. For certes, swiche is the condicion of alle mankinde, that only whan it hath know- 170 inge of it-selve, than passeth it in noblesse alle other thinges; and whan it forleteth the knowinge of it-self, than is it brought binethen alle beestes. For-why al other livinge beestes han of kinde 175 to knowe nat hem-self; but whan that men leten the knowinge of himself, it cometh hem of vice. But how brode sheweth the errour and the folye of yow men, that wenen that any thing may 180 ben aparaild with straunge aparail-ments! But for sothe that may nat ben doon. For yif a wight shyneth with thinges that ben put to him, as thus, if thilke thinges shynen with which a man is 185 aparaild, certes, thilke thinges ben comended and preyed with which he is aparaild; but natheles, the thing that is covered and wrapped under that dwelleth in his filthe. And I denye 190 that thilke thing be good that anyeth him that hath it. Gabbe I of this?

Thou wolt seye "nay." Certes, richesess han anoyed ful ofte hem that han the richesess; sin that every wikked shrewe, (and for his wikkednesse the more greedy after other folkes richesess, wher-so ever it be in any place, be it gold or precious stones), weneth him only most worthy that hath hem. Thou thanne, that so busy dredest now the swerd and now the spere, yif thou haddest entred in the path of this lyf a voide wayferinge man, than woldest thou singe befor the thief; as who seith, a pore man, that berth no richesess on him by the weye, may boldly singe biforn theves, for he hath nat wherof to ben robbed. O precious and right clear is the blisfulnesse of mortal richesess, that, whan thou hast geten it, than hast thou lorn thy sikernesse!

METRE V. Felix nimium prior etas.

Blisful was the first age of men! They helden hem apayed with the metes that the trewe feldes broughten forth. They ne destroyed nor deceivede nat hem-self with outrage. They weren wont lightly to slaken hir hunger at even with acornes of okes. They ne coude nat medly the yifte of Bachus to the cleer hony; that is to seyn, they coude make no piment nor clarree; ne they coude nat medle the brighte fleesses of the contree of Seriens with the venom of Tyrie; this is to seyn, they coude nat deyen whyte fleesses of Serien contree with the blode of a maner shelfishe that men finden in Tyrie, with whiche blood men deyen purpur. They slepen hoolsom slepes up-on the gras, and dronken of the renninge wateres; and layen under the shadwes of the heye pyn-trees. Ne no gest ne straungere ne carf yit the heye see with ores or with shippes; ne they ne hadde seyn yit none newe strondes, to leden marchaundyse in-to dyverse contrees. Tho weren the cruel clariouns ful hust and ful stille, ne blood y-shad by egre hate ne hadde nat deyed yit armures. For wher-to or which woodnesse of enemys wolde first moeven armes, whan they seyen cruel woundes, ne none medes be of blood y-shad? I wolde so that oure tymes sholde torne ayein to the olde maneres! But the anguissous love of havinge brenneth in folk more cruely than the fyr of the mountaigne Ethna, that ay brenneth. Allas! what was he that first dalf up the gobetes or the weightes of gold covered under erthe, and the precious stones that wolden han ben hid? He dalf up precious perils. That is to seyn, that he that hem first up dalf, he dalf up a precious peril; for-why for the preciousnesse of swiche thinge, hath many man ben in peril.

PROSE VI. Quid autem de dignitatibus.

But what shal I seye of dignitees and of powers, the whiche ye men, that neither knownen verray dignitee ne verray power, areysen hem as heye as the hevvene? The whiche dignitees and powers, yif they comen to any wikked man, they don as grete damages and destrucciouns as doth the flaumbe of the mountaigne Ethna, whan the flaumbe walweth up; ne no deluge ne doth so cruel harmes. Certes, thee remembreth wel, as I trowe, that thilke dignitee that men clepen the imperie of consulers, the whiche that whylom was biginninge of fredom, youre eldres coveteden to han don away that dignitee, for the pryde of the consulers. And right for the same pryde your eldres, biforn that tyme, hadden don away, out of the citee of Rome, the kinges name; that is to seyn, they nolde han no lenger no king. But now, yif so be that dignitees and powers be yeven to goode men, the whiche thing is ful selde, what agreable thing is ther in the dignitees or powers but only the goodnesse of folkes that usen hem? And therfor it is thus, that honour ne comth nat to vertu for cause of dignitee, but ayeinward honour comth to dignitee for cause of vertu. But whiche is thilke youre dereworthe power, that is so cleer and so requerable? O ye ertheliche bestes, considere ye nat over which thinge that it semeth that ye han power?

35 Now yif thou saye a mous amonges other mys, that chalaunged to him-self-ward right and power over alle othere mys,
how greet scorn woldest thou han of it!
Glosa. So fareth it by men; the body hath 40 power over the body. For yif thou loke wel up-on the body of a wight, what thing shalt thou finde more freele than is mankinde; the whiche men wel ofte ben slayn with bytinge of smale flies, or elles 45 with the entringe of crepinge wormes in-to the privetees of mannes body? But wher shal man finden any man that may exercen or haunten any right up-on another man, but only up-on his body, 50 or elles up-on thinges that ben lowere than the body, the whiche I clepe fortunous possessiouns? Mayst thou ever have any comandement over a free corage? Mayst thou remuen fro the estat 55 of his propre reste a thought that is clyvinge to-gidere in him-self by stede-fast resoun? As whylom a tyraunt wende to confounde a free man of corage,
and wende to constreyne him by torment, 60 to maken him discoveren and acusen folk that wisten of a coniuracioun, whiche I clepe a confederacie, that was cast ayeins this tyraunt; but this free man boot of his owne tonge and caste it in the visage 65 of thilke wode tyraunt; so that the torments that this tyraunt wende to han maked matere of crueltee, this wyse man maked it matere of vertu.

But what thing is it that a man may 70 don to another man, that he ne may receyven the same thing of othere folk in him-self: or thus, what may a man don to folk, that folk ne may don him the same?
I have herd told of Busirides, that was 75 wont to sleen his gastes that herberweden in his hous; and he was sleyn him-self of Erules that was his gast. Regulus hadde taken in bataille many men of Affrike and cast hem in-to feteres; but 80 soone after he moeste yeve his handes to ben bounde with the cheynes of hem that he hadde whylom overcomen. Wenest thou thanne that he be mighty, that hath no power to don a thing, that othere 85 ne may don in him that he doth in othere?

And yit more-over, yif it so were that these dignitees or poweres hadden any propre or natural goodnesse in hem-self,
never nolden they comen to shrewes.
For contrarious thinges ne ben nat wont 90 to ben y-felawshipped to-gidere. Nature refuseth that contrarious thinges ben y-joined. And so, as I am in certain that right wikked folk han dignitees ofte tyme, than sheweth it wel that dignitees 95 and poweres ne ben nat goode of hir owne kinde; sin that they suffren hem-self to cleven or joinen hem to shrewes. And certes, the same thing may I most digneliche jugen and seyn of alle the 100 yiftes of fortune that most plantevously
comen to shrewes; of the whiche yiftes,
I trowe that it oughte ben considered,
that no man douteth that he nis strong in whom he seeth strengthe; and in 105 whom that swiftnesse is, sooth it is that he is swift. Also musike maketh musiciens, and phisike maketh phisiciens, and rethorike rethoriens. For-why the nature of every thing maketh his pro- 110 pree, ne it is nat entremedled with the effects of the contrarious thinges; and,
as of wil, it chaseth out thinges that ben to it contraria. But certes, richesse may not restreyne avarice unstaunched; ne 115 power ne maketh nat a man mighty over him-self, whiche that vicious lustes holden destreynd with cheynes that ne mowen nat be unbounden. And dignitees that ben yeven to shrewede folk nat 120 only ne maketh hem nat digne, but it sheweth rather al openly that they ben unworthy and undigne. And why is it thus? Certes, for ye han joye to clepen thinges with false names that beren hem 125 alle in the contrarie; the whiche names ben ful ofte reprooved by the effects of the same thinges; so that these ilke richesses ne oughten nat by right to ben cleped richesces; ne swich power ne 130 oughte nat ben cleped power; ne swich dignitee ne oughte nat ben cleped dignitee. And at the laste, I may conclude the same thing of alle the yiftes of Fortune, in which ther nis nothing 135 to ben desired, ne that hath in him-self natural bountee, as it is ful wel y-sene. For neither they ne joignen hem nat alwey to goode men, ne maken hem 140 alwey goode to whom that they ben y-joigned.

METAM VI. Nouimus quantas dederit ruinas.

We han wel knowen how many grete harmes and destruccions woren don by the emperor Nero. He leet brenne the citee of Rome, and made sleen the 5 senatoures. And he, cruel, whylom slew his brother; and he was makid moist with the blood of his moder; that is to seyn, he leet sleen and slitten the body of his moder, to seen wher he was conceived;
10 and he loked on every halve up-on her colde dede body, ne no tere ne wette his face, but he was so hard-hered that he mighte ben domes-man or juge of hir dede beautes. And natheles, yit govern-
15 ede this Nero by ceptre alle the poeples that Phebus the sonne may seen, cominge from his outereste arysinge til he hyde his bemes under the wawes; that is to seyn, he governed alle the poeples by 20 ceptre imperial that the sonne goth aboute, from east to west. And eek this Nero governed by ceptre alle the poeples that ben under the colde sterres that highten "septem triones"; this is to seyn, he gover-
25 nede alle the poeples that ben under the party of the north. And eek Nero governed alle the poeples that the violent wind Nothus scorkleth, and baketh the brenning sandes by his drye hete; that is to 30 seyn, alle the poeples in the south. But yit ne mighte nat al his hye power torne the woodnesse of this wikked Nero. Allas! it is a grevous fortune, as ofte as wikked sward is joigned to cruel venim; that is 35 to seyn, venomous crueltee to lordshippes.'

PROSE VII. Tum ego, scis, inquam.

Thanne seyde I thus: 'Thou wost wel thy-self that the covetise of mortal thinges ne hadde never lordshipe of me; but I have wel desired matere of thinges
5 to done, as who seith, I desire to han

matere of governaunce over comunalties, for vertu, stille, ne sholde nat elden; that is to seyn, that [him] leste that, or he wez olde, his vertu, that lay now ful stille, ne should nat perishes unexercised in governaunce of comuns; for which men mighten speken or wryten of his goode governement.

Philosophye. 'For sothe,' quod she, 'and that is a thing that may drawn 15 to governaunce swiche hertes as ben worthy and noble of hir nature; but natheles, it may nat drawn or tollen swiche hertes as ben y-brought to the fulle perfeccioun of vertu, that is to seyn,
20 covetise of glorie and renoun to han wel administrid the comune thinges or don gode desertes to profit of the comune. For see now and considere, how litel and how voide of alle prys is thilke glorie.
25 Certein thing is, as thou hast lerned by the demonstracioun of astronomye, that al the enviroinge of the erthe aboute ne halt nat but the resoun of a prikke at regard of the greetnesse of hevene;
30 that is to seyn, that yif ther were makid comparisoun of the erthe to the greetnesse of hevene, men wolden jugen in al, that the erthe ne helde no space. Of the whiche litel regioun of this worldre, the
35 ferthe partye is enhabited with livinge bestes that we knowen, as thou thyself hast y-lerned by Tholomee that proveth it. And yif thou haddest with-drawn and abated in thy thought fro thilke
40 ferthe partye as moche space as the see and the mareys contenen and over-goon, and as moche space as the regioun of droughte over-streccheth, that is to seyn, sandes and desertes, wel unnethe sholde
45 ther dwellen a right streit place to the habitacioun of men. And ye thanne, that ben environed and closed with-in the leste prikke of thilke prikke, thincken ye to manifesten your renoun and don 50 youre name to ben born forth? But your glorie, that is so narwe and so streite y-throngen in-to so litel boundes, how mochel coveteth it in largesse and in greet doings? And also sette this 55 there-to: that many a nacioun, dyverse of tonge and of maneres and eek of resoun of hir livinge, ben enhabited in the clos of thilke lital habitacle; to the 60 whiche nacions, what for difficultee of weyes and what for dyversitee of lan-gages, and what for defaute of unusage and entrecommunge of marchaundise, nat only the names of singular men ne 65 may nat streccen, but eek the fame of citees ne may nat streccen. At the laste, certes, in the tyme of Marcus Tullius, as him-self writ in his book, that the renoun of the comune of Rome ne 70 hadde nat yit passed ne cloumben over the mountaigne that highte Caucasus;

 and yit was, thilke tyme, Rome wel
 waxen and greatly redouted of the Parthes and eek of other folk enhabitinge aboute.
 75 Seestow nat thanne how streit and how compressed is thilke glorie that ye trav-aillen aboute to shewe and to multiplie?
 May thanne the glorie of a singular
 Romaine streochen thider as the fame
 80 of the name of Rome may nat climben ne passen? And eek, seestow nat that the maneres of dyverse folk and eek hir lawes ben discordaunt among hem-self;
 so that thilke thing that som men jugen 85 worthy of preysinge, other folk jugen that it is worthy of torment? And ther-of comth it that, though a man delyte him in preysinge of his renoun, he may nat in no wyse bringen forth ne spreden 90 his name to many maner poeples. Therefor every man oughte to ben apayed of his glorie that is published among his owne neighbours; and thilke noble re-noun shal ben restreyned within the 95 boundes of o manere folke. But how many a man, that was ful noble in his tyme, hath the wretched and nedy foryetinge of wryteres put out of minde and don away! Al be it so that, certes, 100 thilke wrytinges profiten lital; the whiche wrytinges long and derk elde doth away, bothe hem and eek hir autours. But ye men semen to geten yow a perdurabletee, whan ye thenken that, in tyme to-105 cominge, your fame shal lasten. But natheles, yif thou wolt maken comparisoun to the endeles spaces of eternitee,

what thing hast thou by whiche thou mayst rejoysen thee of long lastinge of thy name? For yif ther were maked 110 comparisoun of the abydinge of a moment to ten thousand winter, for as mochel as bothe the spaces ben ended, yit hath the moment som porcioun of it, al-though it lital be. But natheles, thilke selve noun- 115 bre of yeres, and eek as many yeres as ther-to may be multiplied, ne may nat, certes, ben comparisoun to the perdurabletee that is endeles; for of thinges that han ende may be maked comparisoun, 120
 but of thinges that ben with-outen ende,
 to thinges that han ende, may be maked no comparisoun. And forthy is it that, al-though renoun, of as long tyme as ever thee list to thinke, were thought to the 125 regard of eternitee, that is unstaunchable and infinit, it ne sholde nat only semen lital, but pleynliche right naught. But ye men, certes, ne conne don nothing
 a-right, but-yif it be for the audience 130 of poeple and for ydel rumours; and ye forsaken the grete worthinesse of conscience and of vertu, and ye seken your guerdouns of the smale wordes of straunge folk. Have now heer and 135 understonde, in the lightnesse of swich pryde and veine glorie, how a man scornede festyvaly and merily swich vani-
 tee. Whylom ther was a man that hadde assayed with stryvinge wordes 140 another man, the whiche, nat for usage of verray vertu but for proud veine glorie, had taken up-on him falsly the name of a philosopre. This rather man that I spak of thoughte he wolde assaye, 145 wher he, thilke, were a philosopre or no; that is to seyn, yif that he wolde han suffred lightly in pacience the wronges that weren don un-to him. This feynede philosopre took pacience a lital 150 whyle, and, whan he hadde received wordes of outrage, he, as in stryvinge ayein and rejoysinge of him-self, seyde at the laste right thus: "understondest thou nat that I am a philosopre?" That 155 other man answerde ayein ful bytingly, and seyde: "I hadde wel understonden
 it, yif thou haddest holden thy tonge

stille." But what is it to thise noble 160 worthy men (for, certes, of swiche folke speke I) that seken glorie with vertu?
 What is it?' quod she; 'what atteyneth fame to swiche folk, whan the body is resolved by the deeth at the laste? For 165 yif it so be that men dyen in al, that is to seyn, body and soule, the whiche thing our resoun defendeth us to bileven, thanne is ther no glorie in no wyse. For what sholdes thilke glorie ben, whan he, 170 of whom thilke glorie is seyed to be, nis right naught in no wyse? And yif the soule, whiche that hath in it-self science of goode werkes, unbounden fro the prison of the erthe, wendeth frely to the 175 hevене, despyseth it nat thanne alle erthely occupacioun; and, being in hevене, rejoyseth that it is exempt fro alle erthely things? As who seith, thanne rekketh the soule of no glorie of renown 180 of this world.

METRE VII. Quicumque solam mente praecipiti petit.

Who-so that, with overthrowinge thought, only seketh glorie of fame,
 and weneth that it be sovereyn good:
 lat him loken up-on the brode shewinge
 5 contrees of hevене, and up-on the streite site of this erthe; and he shal ben ashamed of the encrees of his name, that may nat fulfill the litel compas of the erthe. O! what covaitan proude folk to 10 listen up hir nekkes in ydel in the dedly yok of this worldes? For al-though that renoun y-sprad, passinge to ferne poeples, goth by dyverse tonges; and al-though that grete houses or kinredes shynen 15 with clere titles of honours; yit, natheles, deeth despyseth alle heye glorie of fame:
 and deeth wrappeth to-gidere the heye hevendes and the lowe, and maketh egal and evene the heyeste to the loweste.
 20 Wher women now the bones of trewe Fabricius? What is now Brutus, or stierne Catoun? The thinne fame, yit lastinge, of hir ydel names, is marked with a fewe lettres; but al-though that 25 we han knowen the faire wordes of the fames of hem, it is nat yeven to knowe hem that ben dede and consumpte. Lig-geth thanne stille, al outredly unknowable; ne fame ne maketh yow nat knowe.

 And yif ye wene to liven the longer for winde of your mortal name, whan o 30 cruel day shal ravisshe yow, thanne is the seconde deeth dwellinge un-to yow.
 Glose. The first deeth he clepeth heer the departinge of the body and the soule; and 35 the seconde deeth he clepeth, as heer, the stintinge of the renown of fame.

PROSE VIII. Set ne me inexorable contra fortunam.

'But for as mochel as thou shalt nat
 wenen,' quod she, 'that I here untretable bataille ayeins fortune, yit som-tyme it bifalleth that she, deceyvable, deserveth to han right good thank of men; and 5 that is, whan she hir-self opneth, and whan she discovereth hir frount, and sheweth hir maneres. Peraventure yit understondest thou nat that I shal seye.
 It is a wonder that I desire to telle, and 10
 forthy unnethe may I unpleyten my sentence with wordes; for I deme that contrarious Fortune profiteth more to men than Fortune debonaire. For al-way, whan Fortune semeth debonaire, 15 than she lyeth falsly in bihetinge the hope of welefulnesse; but forsothe contrarious Fortune is alway soothfast, whan she sheweth hir-self unstable thorough hir chaunginge. The amiable Fortune 20 deceyveth folk; the contrarie Fortune teacheth. The amiable Fortune bindeth with the beautes of false goodes the hertes of folk that usen hem; the contrarie Fortune unbindeth hem by the 25 knowinge of frele welefulnesse. The amiable Fortune mayst thou seen alway † windy and flowinge, and ever misknowinge of hir-self; the contrarie Fortune is atempe and restreyned, and wys 30 thorough exercise of hir adversitee. At the laste, amiable Fortune with hir flateringes draweth miswandring men fro the sovereyn good; the contrarious
 Fortune ledeth ofte folk ayein to sooth- 35 fast goodes, and haleth hem ayein as with an hooke. Wenest thou thanne that thou oughtest to leten this a litel thing, that this aspre and horrible 40 Fortune hath discovered to thee the thoughtes of thy trewe freendes? For-why this ilke Fortune hath departed and uncovered to thee bothe the certain visages and eek the doutous visages of 45 thy felawes. Whan she departed away fro thee, she took away hir freendes, and lafte thee thyne freendes. Now whan thou were riche and weleful, as thee

 samede, with how mochel woldest thou 50 han bought the fulle knowinge of this,
that is to seyn, the knowinge of thy verray freendes? Now pleyne thee nat thanne of richesse y-lorn, sin thou hast founden
 the moste precious kinde of richesces, 55 that is to seyn, thy verray freendes.

METRE VIII. Quod mundus stabili fida.

That the world with stable feith varieth acordable changinges; that the contrarious qualitee of elementes holden

among hem-self aliuanne perdurable; that Phebus the sonne with his goldene chariet 5 bringeth forth the rosene day; that the mone hath commaundement over the nightes, which nightes Hesperus the evesterre hath brought; that the see, greedy to flowen, constreyneth with a certain 10 ende hise flodes, so that it is nat leveful to strecche hise brode termes or boundes up-on the erthes, that is to seyn, to covers al the erthe:—al this acordaunce of thinges is bounden with Love, that 15 governeth erthe and see, and hath also commaundements to the hevenes. And yif this Love slakede the brydeles, alle thinges that now loven hem to-gederes wolden maken a bataile continually, and 20 stryven to fordoon the fasoun of this worlde, the whiche they now leden in acordable feith by faire moevinges. This Love halt to-gideres poeples joigned with an holy bond, and knitteth sacrament 25 of mariages of chaste loves; and Love endyteth lawes to trewe felawes. O!
 weleful were mankinde, yif thilke Love that governeth hevене governed youre corages! 30

Explicit Liber secundus.

BOOK III.

PROSE I. Iam cantum illa fnierat.

By this she hadde ended hir song,
 whan the swoetnesse of hir ditee hadde thorough-perced me that was desirous of herkninge, and I astoned hadde yit 5 streighte myn eres, that is to seyn, to herkne the det what she wolde seyn; so that a litel here-after I seyde thus: 'O thou that art sovereyn comfort of anguissous corages, so thou hast remounted 10 and norished me with the weighte of thy sentences and with delyt of thy singinge; so that I trowe nat now that I be unparigal to the strokes of Fortune:
as who seyth, I dar wel now suffren al the 15 assautes of Fortune, and wel defende me

fro hir. And the remedies whiche that thou seydest her-biforn weren right sharpe, nat only that I am nat a-grisen of hem now, but I, desirous of heringe, axe gretely to heren the remedies.' Than 20
 seyde she thus: 'That felede I ful wel,' quod she, 'whan that thou, ententif and stille, ravishedest my wordes; and I abood til that thou haddeest swich habite of thy thought as thou hast now; or elles 25
 til that I my-self hadde makid to thee
 the same habit, which that is a more verray thing. And certes, the remenaunt of thinges that ben yit to seye ben swiche, that first whan men tasten hem they ben 30
 bytinge, but whan they ben receyved withinne a wight, than ben they swete.

But for thou seyst that thou art so desirous to herkne hem, with how gret 35 brenninge woldest thou glowen, yif thou wistest whider I wol leden thee!
'Whider is that?' quod I.

'To thilke verray welefulnesse,' quod
she, 'of whiche thyn herte dremeth; 40 but for as moche as thy sighte is occupied and disturbed by imaginacioun of erthely thinges, thou mayst nat yit seen thilke selve welefulnesse.' 'Do,' quod I, 'and shewe me what is thilke verray weleful-45 nesse, I preye thee, with-oute taryinge.'

'That wole I gladly don,' quod she,
'for the cause of thee; but I wol first marken thee by wordes and I wol enforcen me to enformen thee thilke false 50 cause of blisfulnesse that thou more know-est; so that, whan thou hast fully bi-holden thilke false goodes, and torned thyn eyen to that other syde, thou mowe knowe the cleernesse of verray blisful-
55 nesse.

METRE I. Qui serere ingenium uolet agrum.

Who-so wole sowe a feeld plentivous, lat him first delivere it fro thornes, and kerve asunder with his hook the bushes and the fern, so that the corn may comen 5 hevy of eres and of greynes. Hony is the more swete, yif monthes han first tasted savoures that ben wikkid. The sterres shynen more agreeably whan the wind Nothus leteth his ploungy blastes;
10 and after that Lucifer the day-sterre hath chased away the derke night, the day the fairere ledeth the rosene hors of the somme. And right so thou, biholdinge first the false goodes, bigin to 15 with-drawn thy nekke fro the yok of erthely affecciouns; and after-ward the verray goodes shollen entren in-to thy corage.'

PROSE II. Tunc defixo paullulum visu.

The fastnade she a litel the sighte of hir eyen, and with-drow hir right as it were in-to the streite sete of hir thought;

and bigan to speke right thus: 'Alle the cures,' quod she, 'of mortal folk, whiche 5 that travaylen hem in many maner studies, goon certes by diverse weyes, but natheles they enforcen hem alle to comen only to oon ende of blisfulnesse.

And blisfulnesse is swiche a good, that 10 who-so that hath geten it, he ne may, over that, no-thing more desyre. And this thing is forsothe the sovereyn good that conteyneth in him-self alle maner goodes; to the whiche good yif ther 15 failede any thing, it mighte nat ben cleped sovereyn good: for thanne were ther som good, out of this ilke sovereyn good, that mighte ben desired. Now is it clear and certain thanne, that blisful- 20
nesse is a parfite estat by the congre-gacioun of alle goodes; the whiche blisfulnesse, as I have seyde, alle mortal folk enforcen hem to geten by diverse weyes. For-why the covseitise of verray 25 good is naturally y-plaunted in the hertes of men; but the miswandringe errour mis-ledeth hem in-to false goodes. Of the whiche men, som of hem wenen that sovereyn good be to liven with-oute nede 30 of any thing, and travaylen hem to be haboundaunt of riches. And som other men deman that sovereyn good be, for to ben right digne of reverence;
and enforcen hem to ben revered 35
among hir neighbours by the honours that they han y-geten. And som folk ther ben that holden, that right heigh power be sovereyn good, and enforcen hem for to regnen, or elles to joignen 40 hem to hem that regnen. And it semeth to some other folk, that noblesse of re-noun be the sovereyn good; and hasten hem to geten glorious name by the arts of werre and of pees. And many folk 45 mesuren and gessen that sovereyn good be joye and gladnesse, and wenen that it be right blisful thing to ploungen hem in voluptuous delyt. And ther ben folk that entrechaungen the causes and the 50 endes of these forseide goodes, as they that desiren riches to han power and delytes; or elles they desiren power for to han moneye, or for cause of renoun.

55 In these things, and in swiche othere things, is torded alle the entencioun of desiringes and of werkes of men; as thus: noblesse and favour of people, whiche that yeveth to men, as it semeth
 60 hem, a maner cleernesse of renoun; and wyf and children, that men desiren for cause of delyt and of merinesse. But forsothe, frendes ne sholden nat be rekned a-mong the godes of fortune, but
 65 of vertu; for it is a ful holy maner thing. Alle these othere things, forsothe, ben taken for cause of power or elles for cause of delyt. Certes, now am I redy to referren the goodes of the body to these 70 forseide things aboven; for it semeth that strengthe and gretnesse of body yeven power and worthinesse, and that beautee and swiftnesse yeven noblesse and glorie of renoun; and hale of body
 75 semeth yeven delyt. In alle these things it semeth only that blisfulnesse is desired. For why thilke thing that every man desireth most over alle things, he demeth that it be the sovereyn good;
 80 but I have defyned that blisfulnesse is the sovereyn good; for which every wight demeth, that thilke estat that he desireth over alle things, that it be blisfulnesse. Now hast thou thanne biforn thyn eyen
 85 almost al the purposed forme of the welefulnesse of man-kinde, that is to seyn, riches, honours, power, and glorie, and delys. The whiche delyt only considerede Epicurus, and juged and established that 90 delyt is the sovereyn good; for as moche as alle othere things, as him thoughte, bi-refte away joye and mirthe fram the herte. But I retorne ayein to the studies of men, of whiche men the corage alwey
 95 reherseth and seketh the sovereyn good, al be it so that it be with a derked memorie; but he not by whiche path, right as a dronken man not nat by whiche path he may retorne him to his 100 hous. Semeth it thanne that folk folyen and erren that enforcen hem to have nede of nothing? Certes, ther nis non other thing that may so wel performe blisfulnesse, as an estat plentivous of alle 105 goodes, that ne hath nede of non other thing, but that is suffisaunt of himself unto him-self. And folyen swiche folk thanne, that wenen that thilke thing that is right good, that it be eek right worthy of honour and of reverence? 110 Certes, nay. For that thing nis neither foul ne worthy to ben despised, that wel neigh al the entencioun of mortal folk travaylen for to geten it. And power, oughte nat that eek to ben rekned 115 amonges goodes? What elles? For it is nat to wene that thilke thing, that is most worthy of alle things, be feble and with-oute strengthe. And cleernesse of renoun, oughte that to ben despised? 120 Certes, ther may no man forsake, that al thing that is right excellent and noble, that it ne semeth to ben right clear and renommed. For certes, it nedeth nat to seye, that blisfulnesse be [nat] anguissous 125 ne drery, no subgit to grevaunces ne to sorwes, sin that in right lital things folk seken to have and to usen that may delyten hem. Certes, these ben the things that men wolen and desiren to 130 geten. And for this cause desiren they riches, dignitee, regnes, glorie, and delices. For therby wenen they to han suffisaunce, honour, power, renoun, and gladnesse. Than is it good, that men 135 seken thus by so many diverse studies. In whiche desyr it may lightly ben shewed how greȝ is the strengthe of nature; for how so that men han diverse sentences and discordinge, algates men 140 acorden alle in lovinge the ende of good.

METRE II. Quantas rerum flectat habenas.

It lyketh me to shewe, by subtil song, with slakke and delitable soun of strenges, how that Nature, mighty, inclineth and fitteth the governements of things, and by whiche lawes she, purveyable, kepeth 5 the grete world; and how she, bindinge, restreyneth alle things by a bonde that may nat ben unbounde. Al be it so that the lyouns of the contre of Pene beren the faire chaynes, and taken metes of 10
 the handes of folk that yeven it hem, and dreden hir sturdy maystres of whiche

they ben wont to suffren betinges : yif that hir horrible mouthes ben be-bled, 15 that is to seyn, of bestes deuoured, hir corage of time passed, that hath ben ydel and rested, repayreth ayein ; and they roren greuously and remembren on hir nature, and slaken hir nekkes fram hir 20 chaynes unbounde ; and hir mayster, first to-torn with bloody tooth, assayeth the wode wrathes of hem ; this is to seyn,
they freten hir mayster. And the jange-linge brid that singeth on the heye 25 braunches, that is to seyn, in the wode, and after is enclosed in a streyt cage :
 al-though that the playenge bisnesse of men yeveth hem honiede drinkes and large metes with swete studie, yit nathe-30 les, yif thilke brid, skipinge out of hir streyte cage, seeth the agreables shadewes of the wodes, she defouleth with hir feet hir metes y-shad, and seketh mourninge only the wode ; and twitereth, desiringe 35 the wode, with hir swete vois. The yerde of a tree, that is haled a-doun by mighty strengthe, boweth redily the crop a-doun :
 but yif that the hand of him that it bente
 lat it gon ayein, anon the crop loketh 40 up-right to hevens. The sonne Phebus, that falleth at even in the westrene
 wawes, retorneth ayein eftsones his carte,
 by priuee path, ther-as it is wont aryse.
 Alle thinges seken ayein to hir propre 45 cours, and alle thinges rejoysen hem of hir retorninge ayein to hir nature. Ne non ordinaunce nis bitaken to thinges,
 but that that hath joynd the endinge to the beginninge, and hath maketh 50 the cours of it-self stable, that it chaungeth
nat from his propre kinde.

PROSE III. Vos quoque, o terrena animalia.

Certes also ye men, that ben erteliche
 beestes, dremen alwey youre beginninge, al-though it be with a thinne imagina-cioun ; and by a maner thoughte, al be 5 it nat cleerly ne parfytly, ye loken fram a-fer to thilke verray fyn of blisfulnesse ;
 and ther-fors naturel entencioun ledeth you to thilke verray good, but many maner errors mis-torneth you ther-fro.

Consider now yif that by thilke thinges, 10
 by whiche a man weneth to geten him blisfulnesse, yif that he may comen to thilke ende that he weneth to come by natura. For yif that moneye or honours, or thise other forseide thinges bringen 15
 to men swich a thing that no good ne fayle hem ne semeth fayle, cortes than wole I graunte that they ben maketh blisful by thilke thinges that they han geten. But yif so be that thilke thinges 20 ne mowen nat performen that they bi-heten, and that ther be defaute of manye goodes, abeweth it nat thanne cleerly that fals bewethe of blisfulnesse is known and ateint in thilke thinges? First and 25 forward thou thy-self, that haddest habundaunces of riches nat long agon,
 I axe yif that, in the habundaunce of alle thilke riches, thou were never anguissous or sory in thy corage of any 30 wrong or grevaunce that bi-tidde thee on any syde? ' Certes,' quod I, ' it ne re-membrest me nat that evere I was so free of my thought that I ne was alwey in anguish of som-what.' 35

' And was nat that,' quod she, ' for that thee lakked som-what that thou noldest nat han lakked, or elles thou haddest that thou noldest nat han had?' ' Right so is it,' quod I. 40

' Thanne desiredest thou the presence of that oon and the absence of that other?' ' I graunte wel,' quod I.

' Forsothe,' quod she, ' than nedeth ther som-what that every man desireth?' 45
 ' Ye, ther nedeth,' quod I.

' Certes,' quod she, ' and he that hath lakke or nede of aught nis nat in every wey suffisaunt to himself?' ' No,'
 quod I. 50

' And thou,' quod she, ' in al the plente of thy riches haddest thilke lakke of suffisaunce?' ' What elles?' quod I.

' Thanne may nat riches maken that a man nis nedy, ne that he be suffisaunt 55 to him-self; and that was it that they bi-hten, as it semeth. And eek certes
 I trowe, that this be gretly to considere, that moneye ne hath nat in his owne
 kinde that it ne may ben bi-nomen of 60

hem that han it, maugre hem?' 'I bi-knowe it wel,' quod I.

'Why sholdest thou nat bi-knowen it,' quod she, 'whan every day the strenger 65 folk bi-nemen it fro the febler, maugre hem? For whennes comen elles alle these foreyne compleyntes or quereles of pletinges, but for that men axen ayein here moneye that hath ben bi-nomen hem by 70 force or by gyle, and alway maugre hem?' 'Right so is it,' quod I.

'Than,' quod she, 'hath a man nede to seken him foreyne helpe by whiche he may defende his moneye?' 'Who may 75 sey nay?' quod I.

'Certes,' quod she; 'and him nedede non help, yif he ne hadde no moneye that he might lese?' 'That is douteles,'
quod I.

80 'Than is this thinge torned in-to the contrarye,' quod she. 'For richesces, that men wenen sholde make suffisaunce, they maken a man rather han nede of foreyne help! Which is the manere or 85 the gyse,' quod she, 'that richesce may dryve away nede? Riche folk, may they neither han hunger ne thurst? This 'riche men, may they fele no cold on hir limes on winter? But thou wolt answeren, 90 that riche men han y-now wher-with they may stanchen hir hunger, slaken hir thurst, and don a-vey cold. In this wyse may nede be counforted by richesces;
but certes, nede ne may nat al outrely 95 ben don a-vey. For though this nede, that is alway gapinge and gredy, be ful-fild with richesces, and axe any thing, yit dwelleth thanne a nede that mighte be fulfild. I holde me stille, and telle 100 nat how that litel thing suffiseth to nature; but certes to avarice y-nough ne suffiseth no-thing. For sin that richesses ne may nat al don away nede, but richesses maken nede, what may it thanne 105 be, that ye wenen that richesces mowen yeven you suffisaunce?

METRE III. Quamvis fluente dives auri gurgita.

Al were it so that a riche covetous man hadde a river fletinge al of gold, yit

sholde it never stanchen his covetise;
and though he hadde his nekke y-charged with precious stones of the rede 5 see, and though he do ere his felde plent-ivous with an hundred oxen, never ne shal his bytinge bisnesse for-leten him whyl he liveth, ne the lighte richesces ne sholle nat beren him compayne whan he 10 is deed.

PROSE IV. Set dignitatee.

But dignitees, to whom they ben comen,
maken they him honorable and reverent?
Han they nat so gret strengthe, that they may putte vertues in the hertes of folk that usen the lordshipes of hem? Or 5 elles may they don a-vey the vyces?
Certes, they ne be nat wont to don away wikkednesse, but they ben wont rather to shewen wikkednesse. And ther-of comth it that I have right grete desdeyn, 10 that dignitees ben yeven ofte to wikked men; for which thing Catullus cleped
a consul of Rome, that highte Nonius,
"postum" or "boch"; as who seyth, he cleped him a congregacioun of vyces in his 15
brest, as a postum is ful of corrupcioun, al were this Nonius set in a chayre of dignitee. Seest thou nat thanne how gret vilenye dignitees don to wikked men? Certes, unworthinesse of wikked 20 men sholde be the lasse y-sene, yif they nere renommed of none honours. Certes, thou thyself ne mightest nat ben brought with as manye perils as thou mightest suffren that thou woldest beren the 25
magistrat with Decorat; that is to seyn, that for no peril that mighte befallen thee
by offence of the king Theodorike, thou noldest nat be felawe in governaunce with Decorat; whan thou saye that he hadde 30 wikked corage of a likerous shrew and of an accuser. Ne I ne may nat, for swiche honours, jugen hem worthy of reverence, that I deme and holde unworthy to han thilke same honours. Now 35 yif thou saye a man that were fulfild of wisdom, certes, thou ne mightest nat deme that he were unworthy to the honour, or elles to the wisdom of which

40 he is fulfild?—'No,' quod I—' Certes, dignitees,' quod she, 'apertienens proprely to vertu; and vertu transporteth dignitee anon to thilke man to which she hir-self is conjoyned. And for as moche as 45 honours of poeple ne may nat maken folk digne of honour, it is wel seyn cleerly that they ne han no propre beautee of dignitee. And yit men oughten taken more heed in this. For yif it so be that
50 a wikked wight be so mochel the foulere and the more out-cast, that he is despysed of most folk, so as dignitee ne may nat maken shrewes digne of reverence, the which shrewes dignitee sheweth to moche
55 folk, thanne maketh dignitee shrewes rather so moche more despysed than preyed; and forsothe nat unpunished: that is for to seyn, that shrewes revengen hem ayeinward up-on dignitees; for they
60 yilden ayein to dignitees as gret guerdoun, when they bi-spotten and defoulen dignitees with hir vilenye. And for as mochel as thou mowe knowe that thilke verrey reverence ne may nat comen by
65 this shadewy transitorie dignitees, undirstond now thus: yif that a man hadde used and had many maner dignitees of consules, and were comen preaventure amonge straunge nacions, sholde thilke
70 honour maken him worshipful and redouted of straunge folk? Certes, yif that honour of poeple were a naturel yift to dignitees, it ne mighte never cesen nowher amonges no maner folk to
75 don his office, right as fyr in every contrée ne stinteth nat to eschaufen and to ben hoot. But for as moche as for to ben holden honourable or reverent ne cometh nat to folk of hir propre
80 strengthe of nature, but only of the false opinioun of folk, that is to seyn, that wenes that dignitees maken folk digne of honour; anon therefore when that they comen ther-as folk ne knowen nat thilke digni-
85 tees, hir honours vanissen away, and that anon. But that is amonges straunge folk, mayst thou seyn; but amonges hem ther they weren born, ne duren nat thilke dignitees alwey? Certes, the dig-90 nitee of the provostrie of Rome was whylom a gret power; now is it nothing but an ydel name, and the rente of the senatorie a gret charge. And yif a wight whylom hadde the office to taken hede to the vitailles of the poeple, as of corn and 95 other thinges, he was holden amonges grete; but what thing is now more out-cast thanne thilke provostrie? And, as I have seyde a litel her-biforn, that thilke thing that hath no propre beautee of 100 him-self receiveth som-tyme prys and shyninge, and som-tyme leseth it by the opinioun of usaunces. Now yif that dignitees thanne ne mowen nat maken folk digne of reverence, and yif that dignitees 105 waxen foule of hir wille by the filthe of shrewes, and yif that dignitees lesen hir shyninge by chaungeinge of tymes, and yif they waxen foule by estimacioun of poeple: what is it that they han in hem- 110 self of beautee that oughte ben desired? as who seyth, non; thanne ne mowen they yeven no beautee of dignitee to non other.

METRE IV. Quamvis se, Tyrus superbus ostro.

Al be it so that the proude Nero, with alle his wode luxurie, kembde him and aparallede him with faire purpres of Tirie, and with whyte perles, algates yit throf he hateful to alle folk: this is to seyn, that al was he behated of alle folk. Yit this wikked Nero hadde gret lordship, and yaf whylom to the reverents senators the unworshipful setes of dignitees. Unworshipful setes he clepeth here, for that 10 Nero, that was so wikked, yaf tho dignitees. Who-so wolde thanne reasonably wenen, that blisfulnesse were in swiche honours as ben yeven by vicious shrewes?

PROSE V. An uero regna regumque familiaritas.

But regnes and familiaritees of kinges, may they maken a man to ben mighty? How elles, when hir blisfulnesse dureth perpetuely? But certes, the olde age of tyme passed, and eek of present tyme 5 now, is ful of ensamples how that kinges ben chaunged in-to wrecchednesse out of hir welefulnesse. O! a noble thing and a cleer thing is power, that is nat 10 founden mighty to kepen it-self! And yif that power of reaumes be auctour and maker of blisfulnesse, yif thilke power lakketh on any syde, amenneth it nat thilke blisfulnesse and bringeth in 15 wrecchednesse? But yit, al be it so that the reaumes of mankinde streochen brode, yit mot ther nede ben moche folk,

 over whiche that every king ne hath no
 lordshipe ne comaundement. And certes, 20 up-on thilke syde that power failleth, which that maketh folk blisful, right on that same syde nonn-power entreth under-nothe, that maketh hem wrecches;
 in this manere thanne moten kinges han 25 more porcioun of wrecchednesse than of welefulnesse. A tyraunt, that was king of Sicile, that hadde assayed the peril of his estat, shewede by similitude the dredes of reaumes by gastnesse of a sward 30 that heng over the heved of his familier.
 What thing is thanne this power, that may nat don away the bytinges of bisinesse, ne eschewe the prikkes of drede?
 And certes, yit wolden they liven in 35 sikernesse, but they may nat; and yit they glorifye hem in hir power. Holdest thou thanne that thilke man be mighty, that thou seest that he wolde don that he may nat don? And holdest thou 40 thanne him a mighty man, that hath envirownde his sydes with men of armes or serjaunts, and dredeth more hem that he maketh agast than they dreden him, and that is put in the handes of his 45 servaunts for he sholde seme mighty?
 But of familieres or servaunts of kinges
 what sholde I telle thee anything, sin that I myself have shewed thee that reaumes hem-self ben ful of gret feblesse?
 50 The whiche familieres, certes, the ryal power of kinges, in hool estat and in estat abated, ful ofte throweth adown.
 Nero constreynede Senek, his familier and his mayster, to chesen on what deeth 55 he wolde deyen. Antonius comaundede that knightes slowen with hir swardes Papinian his familier, which Papinian hadde ben longe tyme ful mighty amonges hem of the court. And yit, certes, they wolden bothe han renounced 60 hir power; of whiche two Senek en-forcede him to yeven to Nero his richesses, and also to han gon in-to solitarie exil. But whan the grete weichte, that is to seyn, of lordes power or of fortune, 65 draweth hem that shullen falle, neither of hem ne mighte do that he wolde.

 What thing is thanne thilke power, that though men han it, yit they ben agast;
 and whanne thou woldest han it, thou 70 nart nat siker; and yif thou woldest forleten it, thou mayst nat eschuen it?
 But whether swiche men ben frendes at nede, as ben conseyled by fortune and nat by vertu? Certes, swiche folk as 75 weleful fortune maketh frendes, contrarious fortune maketh hem enemyes.
 And what pestilence is more mighty for
 to aroye a wight than a familier enemy?

METRE V. Qui se uolet esse potentem.

Who-so wol be mighty, he mot daunten his cruel corage, ne putte nat his nekke, overcomen, under the foule reynes of lecherye. For al-be-it so that thy lordshipe streoche so fer, that the contree
 5 of Inde quaketh at thy comaundementes or at thy lawes, and that the last ile in the see, that hight Tyle, be thral to thee, yit, yif thou mayst nat putten away thy foule derke desyrs, and dryven out fro 10 thee wrecched complaintes, certes, it nis
 no power that thou hast.

PROSE VI. Gloria uero quam fallax saepe.

But glorie, how deceivable and how foul is it ofte! For which thing nat unskilfully a tragedien, that is to seyn,
a maker of dileces that highten tragedies,
 cryde and seide: "O glorie, glorie," quod 5 he, "thou art nothing elles to thousandes of folkes but a greet swaller of eres!"
 For manye han had ful greet renoun by the false opinioun of the poeple, and what thing may ben thought fouler than swiche 10 preysinge? For thilke folk that ben preysed falsly, they moten nedes han shame of hir preysinges. And yif that folk han geten hem thonk or preysinge 15 by hir desertes, what thing hath thilke prys eched or encesed to the conscience of wyse folk, that mesuren hir good, nat by the rumour of the peopel, but by the soothfastnesse of conscience? And 20 yif it seme a fair thing, a man to han encesed and spred his name, than fol-weth it that it is demed to ben a foul thing, yif it ne be y-sprad and encesed.

 But, as I seyde a litel her-biforn that, sin
 25 ther mot nedes ben many folk, to whiche folk the renoun of a man ne may nat comen, it befalleth that he, that thou wenest be glorious and renommed, semeth in the nexte partie of the erthes to ben 30 with-oute glorie and with-oute renoun.

And certes, amonges these things I ne trowe nat that the prys and grace of the peopel nis neither worthy to ben remembrd, ne cometh of wyse judgement, 35 ne is ferme perdurably. But now, of this name of gentillesse, what man is it that ne may wel seen how veyn and how fittinge a thing it is? For yif the name of gentillesse be referred to renoun and 40 cleernesse of linage, thanne is gentil name but a foreine thing, that is to seyn, to hem that glorifyen hem of hir linage. For it semeth that gentillesse be a maner preys-inge that comth of the deserte of an-45 cestres. And yif preysinge maketh gentillesse, thanne moten they nedes be gentil that ben preysed. For which thing it folweth, that yif thou ne have no gentillesse of thy-self, that is to seyn, preys 50 that comth of thy deserte, foreine gentillesse ne maketh thee nat gentil. But certes, yif ther be any good in gentillesse, I trowe it be al-only this, that it semeth as that a maner necessitee be imposed to gentil 55 men, for that they ne sholden nat outrayen or forliven fro the virtues of hir noble kinrede.

METRE VI. Omne hominum genus in terra.

Al the linage of men that ben in erthe ben of semblable birthe. On allone is fader of thinges. On allone ministreth alle thinges. He yaf to the sonne hise bemes; he yaf to the mone hir hornes. 5

 He yaf the men to the erthe; he yaf the sterres to the hevena. He encloseth with membres the soules that comen fro his hye sete. Thanne comen alle mortal folk of noble sede; why noisen ye or bosten of 10 youre eldres? For yif thou loke your biginninge, and god your auctor and your maker, thanne nis ther no forlived wight,
 but-yif he norisshes his corage un-to vyces,
 and forlete his propre burthe. 15

PROSE VII. Quid autem de corporis voluptatibus.

But what shal I seye of delices of body,
 of whiche delices the desiringes ben ful of anguissah, and the fulfillinges of hem ben ful of penaunce? How greet syknesse and how grete sorwes unsufferable, 5 right as a maner fruit of wikkednesse, ben thilke delices wont to bringen to the bodies of folk that usen hem! Of whiche delices I not what joye may ben had of hir moevinge. But this wot I wel, that 10 who-so-ever wole remembren him of hise luxures, he shal wel understonde that the issues of delices ben sorwful and sorye. And yif thilke delices mowen maken folk blisful, than by the same 15 cause moten these bestes ben cleped blis-ful; of whiche bestes al the entencioun hasteth to fulfille hir bodily jolitee. And the gladnesse of wyf and children were an honest thing, but it hath ben seyde 20 that it is over muchel ayeins kinde, that children han ben founden tormentours to hir fadres, I not how manye: of whiche children how bytinge is every condicioun, it nedeth nat to tellen it thee, that hast 25 or this tyme assayed it, and art yit now anguissous. In this approve I the sentence of my discipule Euripidia, that seyde, that "he that hath no children is waleful
 by infortune." 30

METRE VII. Habet omnis hoc voluptas.

Every delyth hath this, that it anguisseth hem with prikkes that usen it. It re-sembleth to these flynges flyes that we clepen been, that, after that he hath ahad 5 hise agreable honies, he fleeth away, and stingeth the hertes, of hem that ben y-smite, with bytings overlonge holdinge.

PROSE VIII. Nihil igitur dubium est.

Now is it no doute thanne that thise weyes ne ben a maner misledinges to blisfulnesse, ne that they ne mowe nat leden folk thider as they biheten to leden
5 hem. But with how grete harmes thise forseyde weyes ben enlaced, I shal shewe thee shortly. For-why yif thou enforcest thee to assemble moneye, thou most bireuen him his moneye that hath it. And 10 yif thou wolt shynen with dignitees, thou most bisechen and supplien hem that yeven tho dignitees. And yif thou covesttest by honour to gon biforn other folk,
thou shalt defoule thy-self thorough hum-15 blesse of axinge. Yif thou desirest power, thou shalt by awaytes of thy subgits
anouynously ben cast under manye periles.
Axest thou glorie? Thou shalt ben so destrat by aspre thinges that thou shalt 20 forgoon sikernesse. And yif thou wolt leden thy lyf in delices, every wight shal despisen thee and forleten thee, as thou that art thral to thing that is right foul and brotel; that is to seyn, servaunt to 25 thy body. Now is it thanne wel seen, how litel and how brotel possessioun they coveiten, that putten the goodes of the body aboven hir owne resoun. For mayst thou sormounten thise olifaunts in gret-30 nesse or weight of body? Or mayst thou ben stronger than the bole? Mayst thou ben swifter than the tygre? Bihold the spaces and the stableness and the swifte cours of the hevене, and stint som-tyme 35 to wondren on foule thinges; the which hevene, certes, nis nat rather for thise thinges to ben wondred up-on, than for the resoun by which it is governed. But the shyning of thy forme, that is to seyn, 40 the beautes of thy body, how swiftly pass-inge is it, and how transitorie; certes, it is more fittinge than the mutabilitee of flowers of the somer-sesoun. For so Aristotele telleth, that yif that men hadden

eyen of a beest that highte lynx, so that 45
the lokinge of folk mighte paroen thorough the thinges that with-stonden it, who-so loked thanne in the entrailes of the body of Alcibiades, that was ful fayr in the superfice with-oute, it shold seme right 50 foul. And forthy, yif thou semest fayr, thy nature maketh nat that, but the desceivaunce of the feblesse of the eyen that loken. But preyse the goodes of the body as mochel as ever thee list; so that 55
thou knowe algates that, what-so it be,
that is to seyn, of the goodes of thy body, which that thou wondrest up-on, may ben destroyed or dissolved by the hete of a fevere of three dayes. Of alle which 60 forseyde thinges I may reducen this shortly in a somme, that thise worldly goodes, whiche that ne mowen nat yeven that they biheten, ne ben nat parfit by the congregacioun of alle goodes; that 65 they ne ben nat weyes ne pathes that bringen men to blisfulnesse, ne maken men to ben blisful.

METRE VIII. Eheu! quae miseros tramite devotos.

Allas! which folye and which igno-raunce misledeth wandringe wrecches fro the path of verray goode! Certes, ye ne seken no gold in grene trees, ne ye ne gaderen nat precions stones in the 5 vynes, ne ye ne hyden nat your ginnes
in the hye mountaignes to cacchen fish of whiche ye may maken riche festes.
And yif yow lyketh to hunte to roes, ye ne gon nat to the fordes of the water that 10 highte Tyrene. And over this, men knowen wel the crykes and the cavernes of the see y-hid in the fiodes, and knowen eek which water is most plentivous of whyte perles, and knowen which water 15 haboundeth most of rede purple, that is to seyn, of a maner shello-fish with which men dye purple; and knowen which strondes habounden most with tendre fishes, or of sharpe fishes that highten echines. But 20 folk suffren hem-self to ben so blinde, that hem ne reecheth nat to knowe where thilke goodes ben y-hid whiche that they coveiten, but ploungen hem in erthe and 25 seken there thilke good that sormounteth the hevене that bereth the sterres. What prayere may I maken that be digne to the nyce thoughtes of men? But I preye that they coveiten richesse and honours, 30 so that, whan they han geten tho false goodes with greet travaile, that ther-by they mowe knowen the verray goodes.

PROSE IX. Hactenus mendacis formam.

It suffyseth that I have shewed hider-to the forme of false welefulnesse, so that, yif thou loke now clearly, the order of myn entencioun requirereth from hennes-5 forth to shewen thee the verray welefulnesse.' 'For sothe,' quod I, 'I see wel now that suffisaunce may nat comen by richesnes, ne power by reames, ne reverence by dignitees, ne gentillesse by glorie, 10 ne joye by delices.'

'And hast thou wel knowen the causes,' quod she, 'why it is?' 'Certes, me semeth,' quod I, 'that I see hem right as though it were thorough a litel clifte; but 15 me were lever knowen hem more openly of thee.'

'Certes,' quod she, 'the resoun is al redy. For thilke thing that simply is o thing, with-outen any devisioun, the 20 errour and folye of mankinde departeth and devydeh it, and misledeth it and transporteth from verray and parfit good to goodes that ben false and unparfit.
 But sey me this. Wenest thou that he,
 25 that hath nede of power, that him ne
 lakketh no-thing?' 'Nay,' quod I.

'Certes,' quod she, 'thou seyst a-right.
 For yif so be that ther is a thing, that in any partye be febler of power, certes, as 30 in that, it mot nedes ben nedey of foreine help.' 'Right so is it,' quod I.

'Suffisaunce and power ben thanne of o kinde?' 'So semeth it,' quod I.

'And demest thou,' quod she, 'that 35 a thing that is of this manere, that is to seyn, suffisaunt and mighty, oughte ben despysed, or elles that it be right digne of reverence aboven alle thinges?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'it nis no doute, that it is right worthy to ben revered.'

'Lat us,' quod she, 'adden thanne reverence to suffisaunce and to power, so that we demen that thise three thinges ben al o thing.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'lat us
 adden it, yif we wolen graunten the sothe.' 45

'What demest thou thanne?' quod
 she; 'is that a derk thing and nat noble, that is suffisaunt, reverent, and mighty, or elles that it is right noble and right cleer by celebritee of renoun? Consider 50 thanne,' quod she, 'as we han graunten her-biforn, that he that ne hath nede of no-thing, and is most mighty and most digne of honour, yif him nedeth any cleernesse of renoun, which cleernesse he 55 mighte nat graunten of him-self, so that,
 for lakke of thilke cleernesse, he mighte seme the febler on any syde or the more out-cast?' Glose. This is to seyn, may;
for who-so that is suffisaunt, mighty, and 60 reverent, cleernesse of renoun folweth of the forseyde thinges; he hath it al redy of his suffisaunce. Boece. 'I may nat,' quod
 I, 'denye it; but I mot graunte as it is, that this thing be right celebrable by 65
 cleernesse of renoun and noblesse.'

'Thanne folweth it,' quod she, 'that we adden cleernesse of renoun to the three forseyde thinges, so that ther ne be amonges hem no difference?' 'This is 70
 a consequence,' quod I.

'This thing thanne,' quod she, 'that ne hath nede of no foreine thing, and that may don alle thinges by hise strengthes, and that is noble and honourable, nis nat 75 that a mery thing and a joyful?' 'But whennes,' quod I, 'that any sorwe mighte comen to this thing that is swiche, certes,
 I may nat thinke.'

'Thanne moten we graunte,' quod she, 80
 'that this thing be ful of gladnesse, yif the forseyde thinges ben sothe; and certes, also mote we graunten that suffisaunce, power, noblesse, reverence, and gladnesse ben only dyverse by names, but 85
 hir substance hath no diversitee.' 'It mot needly been so,' quod I.

'Thilke thing thanne,' quod she, 'that is oon and simple in his nature, the 90 wikkednesse of men departeth it and devydeh it; and whan they enforcen hem to geten partye of a thing that ne hath no part, they ne geten hem neither thilke partye that nis non, ne the thing

95 al hool that they ne desire nat.' 'In which manere?' quod I.

'Thilke man,' quod she, 'that secheth riches to flee povertes, he ne travaileh him nat for to gete power; for he 100 hath lever ben dark and vyl; and eek withdraweth from him-self many naturel delys, for he nolde lese the moneys that he hath assembled. But certes, in this manere he ne geteth him nat suffisaunce
105 that power forleteth, and that molestie prikketh, and that filthe maketh out-cast, and that derkenesse hydeth. And certes, he that desireth only power, he wasteth and scatereth riches, and despyseth
110 delys, and eek honour that is with-oute power, ne he ne prayseh glorie no-thing. Certes, thus seest thou wel, that manye thinges faylen to him; for he hath somtyme defaute of many necessitees, and 115 many anguissches byten him; and whan he ne may nat don the defautes a-wey, he forleteth to ben mighty, and that is the thing that he most desireth. And right thus may I maken semblable resouns of 120 honours, and of glorie, and of delys. For so as every of these forseide thinges is the same that these other thinges ben, that is to seyn, al on thing, who-so that ever seketh to geten that oon of these,
125 and nat that other, he ne geteth nat that he desireth.' Boece. 'What seyst thou thanne, yif that a man coveiteth to geten alle these thinges to-gider?'

Philosophie. 'Certes,' quod she, 'I
130 wolde seye, that he wolde geten him sovereyn blisfulnesse; but that shal he nat finde in the thinges that I have shewed, that ne mowen nat yeven that they beheten.' 'Certes, no,' quod I.

135 'Thanne,' quod she, 'ne sholden men nat by no wey seken blisfulnesse in swiche thinges as men wene that they ne mowen yeven but o thing senglely of alle that men seken.' 'I grannte wel,' quod I;
140 'ne no sother thing ne may ben sayd.'

'Now hast thou thanne,' quod she, 'the forme and the causes of false welefulnesse. Now torne and fitte the eyen of thy thought; for ther shalt thou seen anon thilke verray blisfulnesse that 145 I have bihight thee.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'it is clear and open, thogh it were to a blinde man; and that shewedest thou me ful wel a litel her-biforn, whan thou enforcestest thee to shewe me the causes 150 of the false blisfulnesse. For but-yif I be bigyled, thanne is thilke the verray blisfulnesse parfit, that partly maketh a man suffisaunt, mighty, honourable, noble, and ful of gladnesse. And, for 155 thou shalt wel knowe that I have wel understonden these thinges with-in my herte, I knowe wel that thilke blisfulnesse, that may verrayly yeven oon of the forseide thinges, sin they ben al oon, 160 I knowe, douteles, that thilke thing is the fulle blisfulnesse.'

'O my norie,' quod she, 'by this opinioun I seye that thou art blisful, yif thou putte this ther-to that I shal seyn.'
165 'What is that?' quod I.

'Trowest thou that ther be any thing in these erthely mortal tumbling thinges that may bringen this estat?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'I trowe it naught; and thou 170 hast shewed me wel that over thilke good ther nis no-thing more to ben desired.'

'These thinges thanne,' quod she, 'that is to sey, erthely suffisaunce and power and swiche thinges, either they semen lyke-175 nesses of verray good, or elles it semeth that they yeve to mortal folk a maner of goodes that ne ben nat parfit; but thilke good that is verray and parfit, that may they nat yeven.' 'I acorde me wel,'
180 quod I.

'Thanne,' quod she, 'for as mochel as thou hast known which is thilke verray blisfulnesse, and eek whiche thilke thinges ben that lyen falsly blisfulnesse, 185 that is to seyn, that by deceite semen verray goodes, now behoveth thee to knowe whennes and where thou mowe seke thilke verray blisfulnesse.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'that desire I greetly, and have 190 abiden longe tyme to herknen it.'

'But for as moche,' quod she, 'as it lyketh to my disciple Plato, in his book of "in Timeo," that in right litel thinges 195 men sholden bisechen the help of god, what jugest thou that be now to done, so that we may deserve to finde the sete of thilke verray good?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'I deme that we shollen clepen the fader 200 of alle goodes; for with-outen him nis ther no-thing founden a-right.'
'Thou seyst a-right,' quod she; and bigan anon to singen right thus:—

METRE IX. O qui perpetua mundum ratione gubernas.

'O thou fader, creator of hevене and of erthes, that governest this world by per-durable resoun, that comaundest the tymes to gon from sin that age hadde 5 beginninge; thou that dwellest thy-self ay stedefast and stable, and yvest alle othere thinges to ben moeved; ne foreine causes necesseden thee never to compounne werk of floteringe matere, but only the 10 forme of sovereign good y-set with-in thee with-oute envye, that moeved thee freely. Thou that art alder-fayrest, beringe the faire world in thy thought, formedest this world to the lyknesse semblable of 15 that faire world in thy thought. Thou drawest al thing of thy sovereign en-saumpler, and comaundest that this world, parfitliche y-made, have freely and absolut his parfit parties. Thou 20 bindest the elements by nounbres porcionables, that the colde thinges mowen acorden with the hote thinges, and the drye thinges with the moiste thinges; that the fyr, that is purest, ne 25 flee nat over hye, ne that the hevennesse ne drawe nat adoun over-lowe the erthes that ben plounged in the wateres. Thou kmittest to-gider the mene sowle of treble kinde, moevinge alle thinges, and de-30 vydest it by membres acordinge; and whan it is thus devyded, it hath assembled a moevinge in-to two roundes; it goth to torne ayein to him-self, and environneth a ful deep thought, and torneth the hevene by semblable image. Thou by 35 evene-lyke causes enhanset the sowles and the lasse lyves, and, ablinge hem heye by lighte cartes, thou sowest hem in-to hevене and in-to ertlie; and whan they ben converted to thee by thy be- 40 nigne lawe, thou makest hem retorne ayein to thee by ayein-ledinge fyr. O fader, yive thou to the thought to styen yu in-to thy streite sete, and graunte him to environne the welle of good; and, the 45 lighte y-founde, graunte him to fichen the clere sightes of his corage in thee. And scater thou and to-breke thou the weightes and the cloudes of erthely hevennesse, and shyne thou by thy brightnesse. For thou 50 art cleernesse; thou art peysible reste to debonaire folk; thou thy-self art bigin-ninge, berer, leder, path, and terme; to loke on thee, that is our ende.

PROSE X. Quoniam igitur quae sit imperfecti.

For as moche thanne as thou hast seyn, which is the forme of good that nis nat parfit, and which is the forme of good that is parfit, now trowe I that it were good to shewe in what this perfeccioun of blisful-5 nesse is set. And in this thing, I trowe that we sholden first enquire for to witen, yif that any swiche maner good as thilke good that thou hast diffinissed a litel heer-biforn, that is to seyn, sovereign good, 10 may ben founde in the nature of thinges; for that veyn imaginacioun of thought ne deceyve us nat, and putte us out of the sothfastnesse of thilke thing that is sum-mitted unto us. But it may nat ben 15 deneyed that thilke good ne is, and that it nis right as welle of alle goodes. For al thing that is cleped inparfit is prooved inparfit by the amenusinge of perfeccioun or of thing that is parfit. And ther-of 20
comth it, that in every thing general, yif that men seen any-thing that is inparfit, certes, in thilke general ther mot ben som-thing that is parfit; for yif so be that perfeccioun is don away, men may nat 25 thinke ne seye fro whennes thilke thing is that is cleped inparfit. For the nature of thinges ne took nat hir beginninge of thinges amenused and inparfit, but it 30 procedeth of thinges that ben al hoolc and absolut, and descendeth so down in-to outtrest thinges, and in-to thinges empty and with-uten frut. But, as I have y-shewed a lital her-biforn, that yif ther 35 be a blisfulnesse that be frseele and veyn and inparfit, ther may no man doute that ther nis som blisfulnesse that is sad, stedefast, and parfit.' Boece. 'This is concluded,' quod I, 'fermely and soth-40 fastly.'

Philosophie. 'But considere also,' quod
 she, 'in wham this blisfulnesse enhabiteth. The comune acordance and conceite of the corages of men proeveth 45 and graunteth, that god, prince of alle thinges, is good. For, so as nothing ne may ben thought better than god, it may nat ben doubted thanne that he, that nothing nis better, that he nis good.
 50 Certes, resoun sheweth that god is so good, that it proveth by verray force that parfit good is in him. For yif god ne is swich, he ne may nat ben prince of alle thinges; for certes som-thing possessing 55 in-itself parfit good, sholde ben more worthy than god, and it sholde semen that thilke thing were first, and elder than god. For we han shewed apertly that alle thinges that ben parfit ben first or 60 thinges that ben unparfit; and for-thy, for as moche as that my resoun or my proces ne go nat a-vey with-oute an ende, we owen to graunten that the sovereign
 god is right ful of sovereign parfit good.
 65 And we han established that the sovereign good is verray blisfulnesse: thanne mot it nedes be, that verray blisfulnesse is set in sovereign god.' 'This take I wel,' quod
 I, 'ne this ne may nat ben withseid in no
 70 manere.'

'But I preys,' quod she, 'see now how thou mayst proeven, holly and with-oute corupoion, this that I have seyde, that the sovereign god is right ful of sovereign 75 good.' 'In which manere?' quod I.

'Wenest thou sought,' quod she, 'that this prince of alle thinges have y-take thilke sovereign good any-wher out of himself, of which sovereign good men proveth that he is ful, right as thou mightest 80

 thinke that god, that hath blisfulnesse in him-self, and thilke blisfulnesse that is in him, weren dyvers in substance?
 For yif thou wene that god have received thilke good out of him-self, thou mayst 85
 wene that he that yaf thilke good to god be more worthy than is god. But I am bi-knowen and confesse, and that right dignely, that god is right worthy aboven alle thinges; and, yif so be that this good 90 be in him by nature, but that it is dyvers fro him by weninge resoun, sin we speke of god prince of alle thinges: feigne whoso feigne may, who was he that hath conjoined these dyverse thinges to-gider? 95
 And eek, at the laste, see wel that a thing that is dyvers from any thing, that thilke thing nis nat that same thing fro which it is understonden to ben dyvers. Thanne folweth it, that thilke thing that by his 100 nature is dyvers fro sovereign good, that that thing nis nat sovereign good; but certes, that were a felonous corsednesse to thinke that of him that nothing nis more worth. For alwey, of alle thinges, 105
 the nature of hem ne may nat ben better than his biginning; for which I may concluden, by right verray resoun, that thilke that is biginning of alle thinges, thilke same thing is sovereign good in his 110 substance.' 'Thou hast seyde rightfully,' quod I.

'But we han graunted,' quod she, 'that the sovereign good is blisfulnesse.' 'And that is sooth,' quod I. 115

'Thanne,' quod she, 'moten we nedes graunten and confessen that thilke same sovereign good be god.' 'Certes,' quod
 I, 'I ne may nat denye ne withtonde
 the resounn purposed; and I see wel that 120
 it folweth by strengthe of the premisses.'

'Loke now,' quod she, 'yif this be proved yit more fermely thus: that ther ne mowen nat ben two sovereign goodes that ben dyverse amonge hem-self. For 125 certes, the goodes that ben dyverse amonges hem-self, that oon nis nat that that other is; thanne ne may neither of hem ben parfit, so as either of hem lak-

130 keth to other. But that that nis nat parfit, men may seen apertly that it nis nat sovereign. The thinges, thanne, that ben sovereignly goode, ne mowen by no way ben dyverse. But I have wel concluded that blisfulnesse and god ben the sovereign good; for whiche it mot nedes ben, that sovereign blisfulnesse is sovereign divinitee.' 'Nothing,' quod I, 'nis more soothfast than this, ne more ferme by resoun; ne a more worthy thing than god may nat ben concluded.'

'Up-on these things thanne,' quod she, 'right as these geometriens, when they han shewed hir propositiouns, ben went to bringen in thinges that they clepen porismes, or declaraciouns of forseide thinges, right so wole I yve thee heer as a corollarie, or a mede of coroune. For why, for as moche as by the getinge of blisfulnesse men ben made blisful, and blisfulnesse is divinitee: thanne is it manifest and open, that by the getinge of divinitee men ben made blisful. Right as by the getinge of justice [they ben made just], and by the getinge of sapience they ben made wyse: right so, nedes, by the semblable resoun, when they han geten divinitee, they ben made goddes. Thanne is every blisful man god; but certes, by nature, ther nis but o god; but, by the participacioun of divinitee, ther ne let ne desturbeth nothing that ther ne ben manye goddes.' 'This is,' quod I, 'a fair thing and a precious, clepe it as thou wolt; be it porisme or corollarie,' or mede of coroune or declaringes.

'Certes,' quod she, 'nothing nis fayrer than is the thing that by resoun sholde ben added to these forseide thinges.' 'What thing?' quod I.

'So,' quod she, 'as it semeth that blisfulnesse contenech many thinges, it were for to witen whether that alle these thinges maken or conjoignen as a maner body of blisfulnesse, by dyversitee of parties or of membres; or elles, yif that any of alle thilke thinges be swich that it acomplishe by him-self the substauce of blisfulnesse, so that alle these othere thinges

ben referred and brought to blisfulnesse,' that is to seyn, as to the cheef of hem. 'I wolde,' quod I, 'that thou makedest me cleerly to understonde what thou seyst, and that thou recordedest me the forseide thinges.'

'Have I nat juged,' quod she, 'that blisfulnesse is good?' 'Yis, forsothe,' quod I; 'and that sovereign good.'

'Adde thanne,' quod she, 'thilke good, that is made blisfulnesse, to alle the forseide thinges; for thilke same blisfulnesse that is demed to ben sovereign suffisaunce, thilke selve is sovereign power, sovereign reverence, sovereign cleernesse or noblesse, and sovereign delyt. Conclusio. What seyst thou thanne of alle these thinges, that is to seyn, suffisaunce, power, and this othere thinges; ben they thanne as membres of blisfulnesse, or ben they referred and brought to sovereign good, right as alle thinges that ben brought to the chief of hem?' 'I understonde wel,' quod I, 'what thou purposest to seke; but I desire for to herkne that thou shewe it me.'

'Tak now thus the discrecioun of this question,' quod she. 'Yif alle these thinges,' quod she, 'weren membres to felicitee, than weren they dyverse that oon from that other; and swich is the nature of parties or of membres, that dyverse membres compounen a body.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'it hath wel ben shewed heer-biforn, that alle these thinges ben alle o thing.'

'Thanne ben they none membres,' quod she; 'for elles it sholde seme that blisfulnesse were conioigned al of on membre alone; but that is a thing that may nat be don.' 'This thing,' quod I, 'nis nat doutous; but I abyde to herknen the remnaunt of thy questioun.'

'This is open and cleer,' quod she, 'that alle othere thinges ben referred and brought to good. For therefore is suffisaunce required, for it is demed to ben good; and forthy is power required, for men trowen also that it be good; and this same thing mowen we thinken and coniecten of reverence, and of noblesse, and of delyt. Thanne is soverein good the somme and the cause of al that aughte ben desired; for-why thilke thing that 235 with-holdeth no good in it-self, ne semblance of good, it ne may nat wel in no manere be desired ne requered. And the contrarie: for togh that thinges by hir nature ne ben nat goode, algates, yif men 240 wene that ben goode, yit ben they desired as though that they weren verrayliche goode. And therfor is it that men oughten to wene by right, that bountee be the soverein fyn, and the cause of alle 245 the thinges that ben to requeren. But certes, thilke that is cause for which men requeren any thing, it semeth that thilke same thing be most desired. As thus: yif that a wight wolde ryden for cause of 250 hele, he ne desireth nat so mochel the moevinge to ryden, as the effect of his hele. Now thanne, sin that alle thinges ben requered for the grace of good, they ne ben nat desired of alle folk more 255 thanne the same good. But we han graunted that blisfulnesse is that thing, for whiche that alle these othre thinges ben desired; thanne is it thus: that, certes, only blisfulnesse is requered and 260 desired. By whiche thing it sheweth cleerly, that of good and of blisfulnesse is al oon and the same substance.' 'I see nat,' quod I, 'wherfore that men mighten discorden in this.'

265 'And we han shewed that god and verray blisfulnesse is al oo thing.' 'That is sooth,' quod I.

'Thanne mowen we conclude sikerly,
 that the substance of god is set in thilke 270 same good, and in non other place.

METRE X. Huc omnes pariter uenite capti.

O cometh alle to-gider now, ye that ben
 y-caught and y-bounde with wikkede cheynes, by the deceivable delyt of erthely thinges inhabitinge in your thought!
 5 Heer shal ben the reste of your labours, heer is the havene stable in peysible quiete; this allone is the open refut to wrecches. Glosa. This is to seyn, that ye that ben combred and deceiued with worldely affeccions, cometh now to this

 Alle the thinges that the river Tagus yeveth yow with his goldene gravailes, or elles alle the thinges that the river 15 Hermus yeveth with his rede brinke, or that Indus yeveth, that is next the hote party of the world, that medleth the grene stones with the whyte, ne sholde nat cleeren the lookinge of your thought, 20 but hyden rather your blinde corages with-in hir derknesse. Al that lyketh yow heer, and excyteth and moeveth your nat cleer.'

PROSE XI. Assentior, inquam.

Boece. 'I assente me,' quod I; 'for alle these thinges ben strongly bounden with right ferme resounns.'

Philosophie. 'How mochel wilt thou preysen it,' quod she, 'yif that thou 5
 knowe what thilke good is?' 'I wol preyse it,' quod I, 'by prys with-uten ende, yif it shal bityde me to knowe also to-gider god that is good.'

'Certes,' quod she, 'that shal I do thee 10
 by verray resoun, yif that tho thinges that I have concluded a lital her-biforn dwellen only in hir first graunting.'
 'They dwellen graunted to thee,' quod I;
this is to seyn, as who seith: I graunte thy forseide conclusiouns.

'Have I nat shewed thee,' quod she,
 'that the thinges that ben requered of many folkes ne ben nat verray goodes ne parfite, for they ben dyverse that oon fro 20 that othre; and so as ech of hem is lakkinge to other, they ne han no power to bringen a good that is ful and absolut?
 But thanne at erst ben they verray good,
 whanne they ben gadered to-gider alle 25

in-to o forme and in-to oon wirkinge, so that thilke thing that is suffisaunce, thilke same be power, and reverence, and noblesse, and mirthe; and forsothe, but 30 yif alle these thinges ben alle oon same thing, they ne han nat wherby that they mowen ben put in the noumber of thinges that oughten ben required or desired.' 'It is shewed,' quod I; 'ne her-of may 35 ther no man doute.'

'The thinges thanne,' quod she, 'that ne ben no goodes whanne they ben dyverse, and whan they begynnen to ben alle oon thing thanne ben they goodes, 40 ne comth it hem nat thanne by the getinge of unitee, that they ben maked goodes?' 'So it semeth,' quod I.

'But al thing that is good,' quod she, 'grauntest thou that it be good by the 45 participacioun of good, or no?' 'I graunte it,' quod I.

'Thanne most thou graunten,' quod she, 'by semblable resoun, that oon and good be oo same thing. For of thinges, 50 of whiche that the effect nis nat naturally diverse, nedes the substance mot be oo same thing.' 'I ne may nat denye that,' quod I.

'Hast thou nat knowen wel,' quod she,
 55 'that al thing that is bath so longe his dwellinge and his substaunce as longe as it is oon; but whan it forleteth to ben oon, it mot nedes dyen and corumpe to-gider?' 'In which manere?' quod I.

'Right as in bestes,' quod she, 'whan the sowle and the body ben conjoined in oon and dwellen to-gider, it is cleped a beest. And whan hir unitee is destroyed by the disseverance of that oon from 65 that other, than sheweth it wel that it is a ded thing, and that it nis no lenger no beest. And the body of a wight, whyl it dwelleth in oo forme by conjuncioun of membres, it is wel seyn that it is 70 a figure of man-kinde. And yif the parties of the body ben so devyded and dissevered, that oon fro that other, that they destroyen unitee, the body forleteth to ben that it was biforn. And, who-so 75 wolde renne in the same manere by alle thinges, he sholde seen that, with-oute

doute, every thing is in his substaunce as longe as it is oon; and whan it forleteth to ben oon, it dyeth and perisseth.' 'Whan I considere,' quod I, 'manye 80 thinges, I see non other.'

'Is ther any-thing thanne,' quod she, 'that, in as moche as it liveth naturally, that forleteth the talent or appetyt of his beinge, and desireth to come to deeth and 85 to corrupcioun?' 'Yif I considere,' quod I, 'the beestes that han any maner nature of winlinge and of millinge, I ne finde no beest, but-yif it be constrained fro with-oute forth, that forleteth or 90 despyseth the entencioun to liven and to duren, or that wole, his thankes, hasten him to dyen. For every beest travaileth him to defende and kepe the savacioun of his lyf, and eschueth deeth
 95 and destruccioun. But certes, I doute me of herbes and of trees, that is to seyn, that I am in a doute of wiche thinges as herbes or trees, that ne han no felinge 100 sowles, ne no naturel wirkinges servinge to appetytes as bestes han, whether they han appetyt to dwellen and to duren.'

'Certes,' quod she, 'ne ther-of thar thee nat doute. Now loke up-on these 105 herbes and these trees; they waxen first in swiche places as ben covenable to hem, in wiche places they ne mowen nat sone dyen ne dryen, as longe as hir nature may defenden hem. For som of hem waxen in feeldes, and som in moun-
 110 taignes, and othre waxen in mareys, and othre cleven on roches, and somme waxen plentivous in sondes; and yif that any wight enforce him to beren hem in-to othre places, they waxen drye. For 115 nature yeveth to every thing that that is convenient to him, and travaileth that they ne dye nat, as longe as they han power to dwellen and to liven. What woltow seyn of this, that they drawn 120 alle hir norissinges by hir rotes, right as they hadden hir mouthes y-plounged with-in the erthes, and sheden by hir maryes hir wode and hir bark? And what woltow seyn of this, that thilke 125 thing that is right softe, as the marye is, that is alwey hid in the sete, al withinne, and that is defended fro with-oute by the stedefastnesse of wode; and that 130 the uttereste bark is put ayeins the destemperaunce of the hevene, as a defendour mighty to suffren harm? And thus, certes, maystow wel seen how greet is the diligence of nature; for alle thinges 135 renovelend and pupliessen hem with seed y-multiplied; ne ther nis no man that ne wot wel that they ne ben right as a fundament and edifice, for to duren

 nat only for a tyme, but right as for 140 to duren perdurably by generacioun. And the thinges eek that men wenen ne haven none sowles, ne desire they nat ech of hem by semblable resoun to kepen that is hirs, that is to seyn, that is acordinge to 145 hir nature in conservacioun of hir beinge
and endurings? For wher-for elles bereth lightnesse the flaumbes up, and the weichte presseth the erthe a-doun, but for as moche as thilke places and thilke 150 moevinges ben covenable to everich of hem? And forsothe every thing kepeth thilke that is acordinge and propre to him, right as thinges that ben contraries and enemys corompen hem. And yit the 155 harde thinges, as stones, clyven and holden hir parties to-gider right faste and harde, and defenden hem in withstond-inge that they ne departe nat lightly
 a-twinne. And the thinges that ben 160 softe and fletinges, as is water and eyr, they departen lightly, and yeven place
 to hem that breken or devyden hem;
 but natheles, they retornen sone ayein in-to the same thinges fro whennes they 165 ben arraced. But fyr fleeth and refuseth al devisioun. Ne I ne trete nat heer now of wilful moevinges of the sowle that is knowinge, but of the naturel entencioun of thinges, as thus: right as 170 we swolwe the mete that we receiven and no think nat on it, and as we drawn our breeth in slepinge that we wite it nat whyle we slepen. For certes, in the beestes, the love of hir livinges ne of hir 175 beinges ne comth nat of the wilninges of the sowle, but of the biginninges of nature. For certes, thourgh constreine-inge causes, wil desireth and embraceth

ful ofte tyme the deeth that nature dredeth; that is to seyn as thus: that 180
a man may ben constreyned so, by som cause, that his wil desireth and taketh the deeth which that nature hateth and dredeth ful sore. And somtyme we seeth the contrarye, as thus: that the wil of 185 a wight destorbeth and constreyneth that that nature desireth and requereth alwey, that is to seyn, the werk of genera- cioun, by the whiche generacioun only dwelleth and is sustened the long dura- 190 bletee of mortal thinges. And thus this charitee and this love, that every thing hath to him-self, ne comth nat of the moevinge of the sowle, but of the enten-cioun of nature. For the purviaunce 195 of god hath yeven to thinges that ben creat of him this, that is a ful gret cause to liven and to duren; for which they desiren naturelly hir lyf as longe as ever they mowen. For which thou mayst nat 200 drede, by no manere, that alle the thinges that ben anywhere, that they ne requeren naturelly the ferme stablenesse of perdurable dwellinge, and eek the eschinge of destructioun.' 'Now con- 205
 fesse I wel,' quod I, 'that I see now wel certainly, with-oute doutes, the thinges that whylom semeden uncertein to me.'
 'But,' quod she, 'thilke thing that desireth to be and to dwellen perdurably, 210
 he desireth to ben oon; for yif that that oon were destroyed, certes, beinge ne shulde ther non dwellen to no wight.'
 'That is sooth,' quod I.
 'Thanne,' quod she, 'desiren alle 215
 thinges oon?' 'I assente,' quod I.
 'And I have shewed,' quod she, 'that thilke same oon is thilke that is good?'
 'Ye, for sothe,' quod I.
 'Alle thinges thanne,' quod she, 're- 220
 quiren good; and thilke good thanne mayst thou descryven right thus: good is thilke thing that every wight desireth.'
 'Ther ne may be thought,' quod I, 'no more verray thing. For either alle 225 thinges ben referred and brought to nought, and floteren with-oute governour, despoiled of oon as of hir propre heved;
 or elles, yif ther be any thing to which

230 that alle thinges tenden and hyen, that thing moeste ben the soverain good of alle goodes.'

Thanne seyde she thus: 'O my nory,' quod she, 'I have gret gladnesse of thee; 235 for thou hast ficched in thyn herte the middel soothfastnesse, that is to seyn, the prikke; but this thing hath ben discovered to thee, in that thou seydest that thou wistest nat a litel her-biforn.'

240 'What was that?' quod I.

'That thou ne wistest nat,' quod she, 'which was the ende of thinges; and certes, that is the thing that every wight desireth; and for as mochel as we han 245 gadered and comprehended that good is thilke thing that is desired of alle, thanne moten we nedes confessen, that good is the fyn of alle thinges.

METRE XI. Quisquis profunda mente uestigat uerum.

Who-so that seketh sooth by a deep thought, and coveiteth nat to ben deceived by no mis-weyes, lat him rollen and trenden with-inne him-self the light of 5 his inward sighte; and lat him gadere ayein, enclyninge in-to a compas, the longe moevinges of his thoughtes; and lat him techen his corage that he hath enclosed and hid in his tresors, al that 10 he compasseth or seketh fro with-oute. And thanne thilke thinge, that the blake cloude of errour whylom hadde y-covered, shal lighten more cleerly thanne Phebus him-self ne shyneth. Glosa. Who-so 15 wole seken the deep grounds of sooth in his thought, and wol nat be deceived by false proposicionis that goon amis fro the trouthe, lat him wel examine and rolle with-inne himself the nature and the propretes of the 20 thing; and lat him yit eftsones examine and rollen his thoughtes by good deliberacion, or that he deme; and lat him techen his soles that it hath, by natural principles kindeliche y-hid with-in it-self, alle the 25 trouthe the whiche he imagineth to ben in thinges with-oute. And thanne alle the derknesse of his misknowinge shal seme more evidently to sighte of his understandinge.

thanne the sonne ne semeth to sighte with-oute-forth. For certes the body, bring- 30 inge the weighte of foryetinge, ne hath nat chased out of your thoughte al the cleernesse of your knowinge; for certainly the seed of sooth haldeth and clyveth with-in your corage, and it is awaked 35 and excyted by the winde and by the blastes of doctrine. For wherfor elles demen ye of your owne wil the rightes, whan ye ben axed, but-yif so were that the norisshinge of resoun ne livede y- 40 plounded in the depthe of your herte? this is to seyn, how sholden men demen the sooth of any thing that were axed, yif there were a rote of soothfastnesse that were y-plounded and hid in natural principles, the 45 whiche soothfastnesse lived with-in the deepnesse of the thought. And yif so be that the Muse and the doctrine of Plato singeth sooth, al that every wight lerneth, he ne doth no-thing elles thanne but 50 recordeth, as men recorden thinges that ben foryeten.'

PROSE XII. Tum ego, Platoni, inquam.

Thanne seide I thus: 'I acorde me gretly to Plato, for thou remembrest and recorderd me these thinges yit the secounde tyme; that is to seyn, first whan I loste my memorie by the contagious 5 conjuncioun of the body with the sowle; and eftsones afterward, whan I loste it, confounded by the charge and by the burdene of my sorwe.'

And thanne seide she thus: 'yif thou 10 loke,' quod she, 'first the thinges that thou hast graunted, it ne shal nat ben right fer that thou ne shalt remembren thilke thing that thou seydest that thou nistest nat.' 'What thing?' quod I. 15

'By whiche governement,' quod she, 'that this world is governed.' 'Me remembreth it wel,' quod I; 'and I confesse wel that I ne wiste it naught. But al-be-it so that I see now from a-fer what 20 thou purposest, algates, I desire yit to herkene it of thee more pleyly.'

'Thou ne wendest nat,' quod she, 'a litel her-biforn, that men sholden

25 doute that this world nis governed by god.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'ne yit ne doute
I it naught, ne I nel never wene that it were to doute; as who seith, but I wot wel that god governeth this world; and 30 I shal shortly answeren thee by what resounns I am brought to this. This world,' quod I, 'of so manye dyverse and contrarious parties, ne mighte never han ben assembled in o forme, but-yif ther 35 nere oon that conjoinede so manye dyverse thinges; and the same dyversitee of hir natures, that so discorden that oon fro that other, moste departen and unjoignen the thinges that ben con-40 joined, yif ther ne were oon that contenede that he hath conjoined and ybounde. Ne the certain ordre of nature ne sholde nat bringe forth so ordenee moevinges, by places, by tymes, by 45 doinges, by spaces, by qualitees, yif ther ne were oon that were ay stedefast dwellinge, that ordeynede and disponede these dyversitees of moevinges. And thilke thing, what-so-ever it be, by which 50 that alle thinges ben y-maked and y-lad,
I clepe him "god"; that is a word that is used to alle folk.'

Thanne seyde she: 'sin thou felest
thus these thinges,' quod she, 'I trowe 55 that I have litel more to done that thou, mighty of wefulnessse, hool and sounde, ne see eftsones thy contree. But lat us loken the thinges that we han purposed her-biforn. Have I nat noumbred and 60 seyde,' quod she, 'that suffisaunce is in blisfulnessse, and we han acorded that god is thilke same blisfulnessse?' 'Yis,
forsothe,' quod I.

'And that, to governe this world,' 65 quod she, 'ne shal he never han nede of non help fro with-outs? For elles, yif he hadde nede of any help, he ne sholde nat have no ful suffisaunce?'
'Yis, thus it mot nedes be,' quod I.
70 'Thanne ordeineth he by him-self alone alle thinges?' quod she. 'That may nat be denyed,' quod I.

'And I have shewed that god is the same good?' 'It remembreth me wel,'
75 quod I.

'Thanne ordeineth he alle thinges by thilke good,' quod she; 'sin he, which that we han acorded to be good, governeth alle thinges by him-self; and he is as a keye and a sters by which that the 80 edifice of this world is y-kept stable and with-oute coroumpinge.' 'I acorde me greetly,' quod I; 'and I aperceivede
a litel her-biforn that thou woldest seye thus; al-be-it so that it were by a thinne 85 suspecioun.'

'I trowe it wel,' quod she; 'for, as I trowe, thou ledest now more ententify
thyne eyen to loken the verray goodes.
But natheles the thing that I shal telle 90 thee yit ne sheweth nat lasse to loken.'
'What is that?' quod I.

'So as men trowen,' quod she, 'and that rightfully, that god governeth alle thinges by the keye of his goodnesse, 95 and alle these same thinges, as I have taught thee, hasten hem by naturel entencioun to comen to good: ther may no man doute that they ne be governed voluntariely, and that they ne converten 100 hem of hir owne wil to the wil of hir ordenour, as they that ben acordinge and enclinyng to hir governour and hir king.' 'It mot nedes be so,' quod I;
'for the resume ne sholde nat semen 105
blisful yif ther were a yok of misdrawinges in dyverse parties; ne the savings of obedient thinges ne sholde nat
be.'

'Thanne is ther nothing,' quod she, 110
'that kepeth his nature, that enforceth him to goon ayein god?' 'No,' quod I.

'And yif that any-thing enforcede him to with-stonde god, mighte it availen at the laste ayeins him, that we han 115 graunted to ben almighty by the right of blisfulnessse?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'aloutrely it ne mighte nat availen him.'

'Thanne is ther no-thing,' quod she,
'that either wole or may with-stonden 120
to this sovereign good?' 'I trowe nat,'
quod I.

'Thanne is thilke the sovereign good,' quod she, 'that alle thinges governeth strongly, and ordeyneth hem softly.' 125
Thanne seyde I thus: 'I delyte me,' quod I, 'nat only in the endes or in the somme of the resouns that thou hast concluded and proved, but thilke wordes 130 that thou usest delyten me moche more ;

 so, at the laste, fooles that sumtyme renden grete thinges oughen ben ashamed of hem-self;' that is to seyn, that we fooles that reprehenden wikkedly the 135 thinges that touchen goddes governaunce, we oughen den ashamed of our-self: as I, that seyde that god refuseth only the werkes of men, and ne entremeteth nat of hem.

140 'Thou hast wel herd,' quod she, 'the fables of the postes, how the giaunts assaileden the hevене with the goddes ;
 but forsothe, the debonair force of god
 deposede hem, as it was worthy; that is 145 to seyn, destroyede the giaunts, as it was worthy. But wilt thou that we joignen to-gider thilke same resouns? For peraventure, of swich conjuncioun may sterten up som fair sparkle of sooth.'

150 'Do,' quod I, 'as thee liste.'
 'Wenest thou,' quod she, 'that god ne be almighty? No man is in doute of it.'
 'Certes,' quod I, 'no wight ne douteth
 it, yif he be in his minde.'

155 'But he,' quod she, 'that is almighty, ther nis nothing that he ne may?'
 'That is sooth,' quod I.
 'May god don yvel?' quod she. 'Nay,
 forsothe,' quod I.

160 'Thanne is yvel nothing,' quod she,
 'sin that he ne may nat don yvel that may don alle thinges.' 'Scornest thou me?' quod I; 'or elles pleyest thou or deceivest thou me, that hast so woven me 165 with thy resouns the hous of Dedalus, so entrelaced that it is unable to be un-laced; thou that other-whyle entrest ther thou issest, and other-whyle issest ther thou entrest, ne foldest thou nat 170 to-gider, by replicacioun of wordes, a maner wonderful cercle or environinge of the simplicitee devyne? For certes, a litel her-biforen, whan thou bigunne at blisfulnesse, thou seydest that it is sovereign 175 good; and seydest that it is set in sovereign god; and seydest that god him-self is sovereign good; and that god is the fulle blisfulnesse; for which thou yave me as a covenable yift, that is to seyn, that no wight nis blisful but-yif he be god also 180 ther-with. And seidest eek, that the forme of good is the substaunce of god and of blisfulnesse; and seidest, that thilke same oon is thilke same good,

 that is requered and desired of alle the 185
 kinde of thinges. And thou provedest, in disputinge, that god governeth all the thinges of the world by the governements of bountee, and seydest, that alle thinges wolen obeyen to him; and seydest, that 190 the nature of yvel nis no-thing. And thise thinges ne shewedest thou nat with none resouns y-taken fro with-oute, but by proves in cercles and hoomlich knowen;
 the whiche proves drawn to hem-self 195
 hir feith and hir acord, everich of hem of other.'

Thanne seyde she thus: 'I ne scorne thee nat, ne pleye, ne deceiwe thee; but I have shewed thee the thing that is 200 grettest over alle thinges by the yift of god, that we whylom preyeden. For this is the forme of the devyne substaunce, that is swich that it ne aydeth nat in-to outerrest foreine thinges, ne ne receiveth 205
 no straunge things in him; but right as Parmenides seyde in Greek of thilke devyne substaunce; he seyde thus: that "thilke devyne substaunce torneth the world and the moevable cercle of thinges, 210
 whyl thilke devyne substaunce kepeth it-self with-oute moevinge;" that is to seyn, that it ne moeveth never-mo, and yit it moeveth alle othere thinges. But natheles, yif I have stired resouns that ne ben nat 215 taken fro with-oute the compas of thing of which we treten, but resouns that ben bistowed with-in that compas, ther nis nat why that thou sholdest merveilen;
 sin thou hast lerned by the sentence of 220 Plato, that "nedes the wordes moten be coosines to the thinges of which they spoken."

METRE XII. Felix, qui potuit boni.

Blisful is that man that may seen the clere welle of good; blisful is he that may unbinden him fro the boundes of the hevy ertlie. The poets of Trace, Orpheus, 5 that whylom hadde right greet sorwe for the deeth of his wyf, after that he hadde maked, by his weeply songes, the wodes, moevable, to rennen; and hadde maked the riveres to stonden stille; and

 10 hadde maked the hertes and the hindes to joignen, dredeles, hir sydes to cruel tyouns, for to herkenen his songe; and hadde maked that the hare was nat agast of the hounde, which that was plesed by 15 his songe: so, whan the moste ardaunt love of his wif brende the entrailes of his brest, ne the songes that hadden overcomen alle thinges ne mighten nat aswagen hir lord Orpheus, he pleyne
 20 him of the hevne goddes that weren cruel to him; he wente him to the houses of helle. And there he temprede hise blaudisshinge songes by resowninge strenges, and spak and song in wepinge
 25 al that ever he hadde received and laved out of the noble welles of his moder Calliope the goddessse; and he song with as mochel as he mighte of wepinge, and with as moche as love, that doubledde his 30 sorwe, mighte yeve him and techen him; and he commovede the helle, and requerede and bisonghte by swete preyere the lordes of sowles in helle, of relesinge; that is to seyn, to yilden him his wyf.
 35 Cerberus, the porter of helle, with his three hevedes, was caught and al abyst for the newe song; and the three goddesses, Furies, and vengeresses of felonyes, that tormenten and agasten the sowles 40 by anoy, woxen sorrowful and sory, and wepen teres for pitee. Tho ne was nat the heved of Ixion y-tormented by the overthrowinge wheel; and Tantalus, that was destroyed by the woodnesse of longe thurst, despysseth the flodes to drinke; the fowl that highte voltor, that eteth the stomak or the giser of Tityus, is so fulfid of his song that it nil eten ne tyren no more. At the laste the lord and juge of sowles was moeved to miseri-50 cordes and cryde, "we ben overcomen," quod he; "yive we to Orpheus his wyf to bere him companie; he hath wel ybought hir by his song and his ditee; but we wol putte a lawe in this, and 55 covaunant in the yifte: that is to seyn, that, til he be out of helle, yif he loke behinde him, that his wyf shal comen ayein unto us." But what is he that may yive a lawe to lovers? Love is 60 a gretter lawe and a strengre to him-self than any lawe that men may yeven. Allas! whan Orpheus and his wyf weren almost at the termes of the night, that is to seyn, at the laste boundes of helle, Orpheus

 65 lokede abakward on Eurydice his wyf, and loste hir, and was deed.

This fable aperteineth to yow alle, who-so-ever desireth or seketh to lede his thought in-to the sovereign day, that is to seyn, to cleer nesse of sovereign good. For who-so that ever be so overcomen that he fleche his eye into the putte of helle, that is to seyn, who-so sette his thoughtes in ertely thinges, al that ever he hath 70 drawn of the noble good caelestial, he leseth it whan he loketh the helles, that is to seyn, in-to lowe thinges of the ertlie

Explicit Liber tercius.

BOOK IV.

PROSE I. Hec cum Philosophia, dignitate uultus.

WHAN Philosophye hadde songen softly and delitably the forseide thinges, kepinge the dignitee of hir chere and the weighte of hir wordes, I thanne, that ne hadde

nat al-outerly foryeten the wepinge and 5 the mourninge that was set in myn herte, forbrak the entencioun of hir that entendede yit to seyn some othere thinges. 'O,' quod I, 'thou that art gyderesse of verrey light; the thinges that thou hast 10 seid me hider-to ben so clere to me and so shewing by the devyne lookinge of hem, and by thy recouns, that they ne mowen ben overcomen. And thilke 15 things that thou toldest me, al-be-it so that I hadde whylom foryeten hem, for the sorwe of the wrong that hath ben don to me, yit natheles they ne weren nat al-outrely unknowen to me. But this

 20 same is, namely, a right greet cause of my sorwe, so as the governour of thinges is good, yif that yveles mowen ben by any weyes; or elles yif that yveles passen with-oute punisshinge. The whiche thing
 25 only, how worthy it is to ben wondred up-on, thou considerest it wel thy-self certainly. But yit to this thing ther is yit another thing y-joined, more to ben wondred up-on. For felonye is emperesse,
 30 and floureth ful of riches; and vertu nis nat al-only with-oute medes, but it is cast under and fortroden under the feet of felonous folk; and it abyeth the torments in stede of wikkede felonnes.
 35 Of alle whiche thinges ther nis no wight that may mervylen y-nough, ne compleine, that swiche thinges ben doon in the regne of god, that alle thinges woot and alle thinges may, and ne wole nat
 40 but only gode thinges.'

Thanne seyde she thus: 'Certes,' quod she, 'that were a greet mervyle, and an embashinge with-outen ende, and wel more horrible than alle monstres, yif it
 45 were as thou wenest; that is to seyn, that in the right ordene hous of so mochel a fader and an ordenour of meynce, that the vesseles that ben foule and vyle sholden ben honoured and heried, and
 50 the precious vesseles sholden ben defouled and vyle; but it nis nat so. For yif the thinges that I have concluded a litel her-bifrom ben kept hole and unraced, thou shalt wel knowe by the 55 autoritee of god, of the whos regne I speke, that certes the gode folk ben alway mighty, and shrewes ben alway out-cast and feble; ne the vyces ne ben never-mo with-oute peyne, ne the vertues
 60 ne ben nat with-oute mede; and that blisfulnes comen alway to goode folk, and infortune comth alway to wikked folk. And thou shalt wel knowe many thinges of this kinde, that shollen cesen thy pleintes, and strengthen thee with 65 stedefast sadnesse. And for thou hast seyn the forme of the verray blisfulnesse by me, that have whylom shewed it thee, and thou hast knownen in whom blisfulnesse is y-set, alle thinges y-treted that 70 I trowe ben necessaris to putten forth, I shal shewe thee the way that shal bringen thee ayein un-to thyn hous. And I shal flochen fetheres in thy thought, by whiche it may arysen in heichte, so 75 that, alle tribulacioun y-don away, thou, by my gydinge and by my path and by my slede, shalt mowe retorne hool and sound in-to thy contree.

METRE I. Sunt etenim pennae volucres mihi.

I have, forsothe, swifte fetheres that surmounten the heichte of hevenc. When the swifte thought hath clothed it-self in the fetheres, it despyseth the hateful erthes, and surmounteth the roundnesse
 5 of the grete ayr; and it seeth the cloudes behinde his bak; and passeth the heichte of the region of the fyr, that eschaufeth by the swifte moevinge of the firmament, til that he areyseth him in-to the houses
 10 that beren the sterres, and joyneth his weyes with the sonne Phebus, and felawshipeth the way of the olde colde Saturnus; and he y-maked a knight of the clere sterre; that is to seyn, that the 15 thought is maked goddes knight by the seekinge of trouthe to comen to the verray knowleche of god. And thilke thoght renneth by the cerole of the sterres, in alle places ther-as the shyninge night is 20 painted; that is to seyn, the night that is cloudeles; for on nightes that ben cloudeles it semeth as the hevenc were painted with diverse images of sterres. And whanne he hath y-doon ther y-nough, he shal
 25 forleten the laste hevenc, and he shal pressen and wenden on the bak of the swifte firmament, and he shal ben maked parfit of the worshipful light of god. Ther halt the lord of kinges the ceptre 30 of his might, and atempreth the governe-ments of the world, and the shyninge juge of thinges, stable in him-self, governeth the swifte cart or wayn, that is to 35 seyn, the circular moevings of the sonne.

And yif thy wey ledeth thee ayein so that thou be brought thider, thanne wolt thou seye now that that is the contree that thou requerest, of which 40 thou ne haddest no minde: "but now it remembreth me wel, heer was I born, heer wol I fastne my degree, heer wole
I dwelle." But yif thee lyketh thanne to loken on the derknesse of the erthe 45 that thou hast forleten, thanne shalt thou seen that this felonous tyrants, that the wrochede peple dredeth, now shollen ben exyled fro thilke fayre con-
tree.'

PROSE II. Tum ego, Papae, inquam.

Than seyde I thus: 'owh! I wondre me that thou bihetest me so grete thinges;
ne I ne doute nat that thou ne mayst wel performe that thou bihetest. But 5 I preye thee only this, that thou ne tarye nat to telle me thilke thinges that thou hast moeved.'

'First,' quod she, 'thou most nedes
knowen, that goode folk ben alwey 10 stronge and mighty, and the shrewes ben feble and desert and naked of alle strengthes. And of these thinges, certes, everich of hem is declard and shewed
by other. For so as good and yvel ben 15 two contraries, yif so be that good be stedefast, than sheweth the feblesse of yvel al openly; and yif thou knowe clearly the frelesnesse of yvel, the stedefastnesse of good is knowen. But for as 20 moche as the fey of my sentence shal be the more ferme and haboundaunt,
I will gon by that oo wey and by that other; and I wole conferme the thinges that ben purposed, now on this syde and 25 now on that syde. Two thinges ther ben in whiche the effect of alle the dedes of mankinde standeth, that is to seyn, wil and power; and yif that oon of these two fayleth, ther nis nothing that may be

don. For yif that wil lakketh, ther nis 30 no wight that undertaketh to don that he wol nat don; and yif power fayleth, the wil nis but in ydel and stant for naught. And ther-of cometh it, that yif thou see a wight that wolde geten that 35
he may nat geten, thou mayst nat douten that power ne fayleth him to haven that he wolde.' 'This is open and cleer,' quod I; 'ne it may nat ben denyed in no manere.'

'And yif thou see a wight,' quod she, 40
'that hath doon that he wolde doon, thou nilt nat douten that he ne hath had power to don it?' 'No,' quod I.

'And in that that every wight may, 45
in that men may holden him mighty;
as scho seyth, in so moche as man is mighty to don a thing, in so mochel men halt him mighty; and in that that he ne may, in that men demen him to be feble.' 'I 50
confesse it wel,' quod I.

'Remembreth thee,' quod she, 'that I have gadered and shewed by forseide resouns that al the entencioun of the wil of mankinde, which that is lad by dyverse 55 studies, hasteth to comen to blisfulnesse?'
'It remembreth me wel,' quod I, 'that it hath ben shewed.'

'And recordeth thee nat thanne,' quod
she, 'that blisfulnesse is thilke same good 60 that men requeren; so that, whan that blisfulnesse is requered of alle, that good also is requered and desired of alle?'
'It ne recordeth me nat,' quod I; 'for I have it gretly alwey fished in my 65
memorie.'

'Alle folk thanne,' quod she, 'goode and eek badde, enforcen hem with-oute difference of entencioun to comen to good?' 'This is a verray conse- 70
quence,' quod I.

'And certain is,' quod she, 'that by the getinge of good ben men y-maked goode?'
'This is certain,' quod I.

'Thanne geten goode men that they 75
desiren?' 'So semeth it,' quod I.

'But wikkede folk,' quod she, 'yif they geten the good that they desiren, they ne mowe nat be wikkede?' 'So is it,' 80
quod I.

'Thanne, so as that oon and that other,' quod she, 'desiren good; and the goode folk geten good, and nat the wikke folk; thanne nis it no doute that the 85 goode folk ne ben mighty and the wikke folk ben feble?' 'Who-so that ever,' quod I, 'douteth of this, he ne may nat considere the nature of thinges ne the consequence of resouns.'

90 And over this quod she, 'Yif that ther be two thinges that han oo same purpose by kinde, and that oon of hem pursueth and parforneth thilke same thing by naturel office, and that other ne may nat 95 doon thilke naturel office, but folweth, by other manere thanne is convenable to nature, him that acomplisheth his purpos kindly, and yit he ne acomplisheth nat his owne purpos: whether of these 100 two demestow for more mighty?' 'Yif that I conjecte,' quod I, 'that thou wolt seye, algates yit I desire to herkne it more pleynly of thee.'

'Thou wilt nat thanne deneye,' quod 105 she, 'that the moevment of goinge nis in men by kinde?' 'No, forsothe,' quod I. 'Ne thou ne doutest nat,' quod she, 'that thilke naturel office of goinge ne be the office of feet?' 'I ne doute it 110 nat,' quod I.

'Thanne,' quod she, 'yif that a wight be mighty to moeve and goth upon his feet, and another, to whom thilke naturel office of feet lakketh, enforceoth him to 115 gon crepinge up-on his handes: whiche of these two oughte to ben holden the more mighty by right?' 'Knit forth the remenaunt,' quod I; 'for no wight ne douteth that he that may gon by naturel 120 office of feet ne be more mighty than he that ne may nat.'

'But the sovereign good,' quod she, 'that is eveneliche purposed to the gode folk and to hadde, the gode folk seken it 125 by naturel office of vertues, and the shrewes enforcen hem to geten it by dyverse coveityse of erthely thinges, which that nis no naturel office to geten thilke same sovereign good. Trowestow that it 130 be any other wyse?' 'Nay,' quod I; 'for the consequence is open and shewinge of thinges that I have graunted; that nedes gode folk moten ben mighty, and shrewes feble and unmighty.'

'Thou rennest a-right biforn me,' quod 135 she, 'and this is the jugement; that is to seyn, I juge of thee right as thise leches ben wont to hopen of syke folk, when they aperceyven that nature is redressed and withstondeth to the maladye. But, 140 for I see thee now al redy to the understandinge, I shal shewe thee more thikke and continual resouns. For loke now how greetly sheweth the feblesse and infirmitie of wikke folk, that ne mowen 145 nat comen to that hir naturel entencioun ledeth hem, and yit almost thilke naturel entencioun constreinet hem. And what were to demen thanne of shrewes, yif thilke naturel help hadde forleten hem, the 150 which naturel help of intencioun goth away biforn hem, and is so greet that unneth it may ben overcome? Consider thanne how greet defaulte of power and how greet feblesse thor is in wikke 155 felonous folk; as who seyth, the gretter thing that is coveted and the desire nat accomplished, of the lasse might is he that coveteth it and may nat accomplishe. And forthy Philosophis seyth thus by sovereign good: Ne shrewes ne requeren nat lighte medes ne veyne games, whiche they ne may folwen ne holden; but they failen of thilke somme and of the heighte of 160 thinges, that is to seyn, soverein good; ne these wroches ne comen nat to the effect of soverein good, the which they enforcen hem only to geten, by nightes and by dayes; in the getinge of which good the strengthe of good folk is ful wel y-sene. 170 For right so as thou mightest demen him mighty of goinge, that gooth on his feet til he mighte come to thilke place, fro the whiche place ther ne laye no wey farther to ben gon; right so most thou nedes 175 demen him for right mighty, that geteth and ateyneth to the ende of alle thinges that ben to desire, byyonde the whiche ende ther nis nothing to desire. Of the which power of good folk men may conclude, that 180 the wikke men semen to be bareine and naked of alle strengthe. For-why for-leten they vertues and folwen vyces?

 Nis it nat for that they ne knowen nat 185 the goodes? But what thing is more feble and more caitif thanne is the blindnesse of ignoraunce? Or elles they knowen ful wel whiche thinges that they oughten folwe, but lecherye and coveityse over-190 throweth hem mistorned; and certes, so doth distemperance to feble men, that ne mowen nat wrastlen ayeins the vyces.
 Ne knowen they nat thanne wel that they forleten the good wiffully, and tornen 105 hem wiffully to vyces? And in this wyse they ne forleten nat only to ben mighty, but they forleten al-outrere in any wyse for to ben. For they that forleten the comune fyn of alle thinges that ben, they 200 forleten also therwith-al for to ben. And per-aventure it sholde semen to som folk that this were a merveile to seyen: that shrewes, whiche that contienen the more partye of men, ne ben nat ne han no 205 beinge; but natheles, it is so, and thus stand this thing. For they that ben shrewes, I deneye nat that they ben shrewes; but I deneye, and seye simplye and plainly, that they ne ben nat, ne han 210 no beinge. For right as thou mightest seyen of the carayne of a man, that it were a deed man, but thou ne mightest nat simplye callen it a man; so graunte
 I wel forsothe, that vicious folk ben wik-215 ked, but I ne may nat graunten absolutly and simplye that they ben. For thilke thing that with-holdeth ordre and kepeth nature, thilke thing is and hath beinge;
 but what thing that failleth of that, that 220 is to seyn, that he forleteth naturel ordre, he forleteth thilke thing that is set in his nature. But thou wolt seyn, that shrewes mowen. Certes, that ne deneye I nat;
 but certes, hir power ne descendeth nat 225 of strengthe, but of feblesse. For they mowen don wikkednesses; the whiche
 they ne mighte nat don, yif they mighten dwellen in the forme and in the doinge of good folk. And thilke power sheweth ful 230 evidently that they ne mowen right naught. For so as I have gadered and prooved a litel her-biforn, that yvel is naught; and so as shrewes mowen only but shrewednesses, this conclusioun is al clear, that shrewes ne mowen right 235 naught, ne han no power. And for as moche as thou understonde which is the strengthe of this power of shrewes, I have definissed a litel her-biforn, that nothing is so mighty as sovereign good.' 'That 240

 is sooth,' quod I.

'And thilke same sovereign good may don non yvel?' 'Certes, no,' quod I.

'Is ther any wight thanne,' quod she,
 'that weneth that men mowen doon alle 245
 thinges?' 'No man,' quod I, 'but-yif
 he be out of his witte.'

'But, certes, shrewes mowen don yvel,' quod she. 'Ye, wolde god,' quod I,
 'that they mighten don non!' 250

'Thanne,' quod she, 'so as he that is mighty to doon only but goode thinges may don alle thinges; and they that ben mighty to don yvele thinges ne mowen nat alle thinges: thanne is it open thing 255 and manifest, that they that mowen don yvel ben of lasse power. And yit, to proove this conclusioun, ther helpeth me this, that I have y-shewed her-biforn, that alle power is to be noumbred among thinges 260 that men oughten requere. And I have shewed that alle thinges, that oughten ben desired, ben referred to good, right as to a maner heighte of hir nature. But for to mowen don yvel and felonye ne may 265 nat ben referred to good. Thanne nis nat yvel of the noumbir of thinges that oughte ben desired. But alle power oughte ben desired and requered. Than is it open and clear that the power ne the 270 mowings of shrewes nis no power; and of alle these thinges it sheweth wel, that the goode folke ben certeinly mighty, and the shrewes douteles ben unmighty. And it is clear and open that thilke opinioun of 275 Plato is verrey and sooth, that seith, that only wyse men may doon that they desiren; and shrewes mowen haunten that hem lyketh, but that they desiren, that is to seyn, to comen to sovereign good, 280
 they ne han no power to accomplisshen that. For shrewes don that hem list, whan, by the thinges in which they delyten, they wenen to steine to thilke

285 good that they desairen; but they ne geten ne atainen nat ther-to, for vyces ne comen nat to blisfulnesse.

METRE II. Quos uides sedere celsos.

Who-so that the covertoures of hir veyne aparails mighte strepen of these proude kinges, that thou seest sitten on heigh in hir chaires glitteringe in shyninge 5 purple, envrouned with sorwful armures, manasing with cruel mouth, blowinge
by woodnesse of herte, he shulde seen thanne that thilke lordes beren with-inne hir corages ful streite cheines. For 10 lecherye tormenteth hem in that oon syde with gredy venims; and troubleable ire, that araiseth in him the flodes of troublings, tormenteth up-on that other syde hir thought; or sorwe halt hem very 15 and y-caught; or slydinge and deceivinge hope tormenteth hem. And therefore, sen thou seest oon heed, that is to seyn, oon tyrassant, beren so manye tyrannies, thanne ne doth thilke tyrant nat that 20 he desireth, sin he is cast doun with so manye wikkede lordes; that is to seyn, with so manye vyces, that han so wikkedly lordshipes over him.

PROSE III. Videamus igitur quanto in coeno.

Seestow nat thanne in how grete filthe these shrewes ben y-wrapped, and with which cleernesse these good folk shynen?
In this sheweth it wel, that to goode folk 5 ne lakketh never-mo hir medes, ne shrewes lakken never-mo torments. For of alle thinges that ben y-doon, thilke thing, for which any-thing is don, it semeth as by right that thilke thing be 10 the mede of that; as thus: yif a man renneth in the stadie, or in the forlong, for the corone, thanne lyth the mede in the corone for which he renneth. And I have shewed that blisfulnesse is thilke 15 same good for which that alle thinges ben doun. Thanne is thilke same good purposed to the workes of mankinde right as a comune mede; which mede ne may ben dissevered fro good folk. For no

wight as by right, fro thennes-forth that 20 him lakketh goodnesse, ne shal ben cleped good. For which thing, folk of goode maneres, hir medes ne forsaken hem never-mo. For al-be-it so that shrewes waxen as wode as hem list ayeins goode 25 folk, yit never-the-lesse the corone of wyse men shal nat fallen ne faden. For foreine shrewednesse ne binimeth nat for the corages of goode folk hir propre honour. But yif that any wight rejoyse 30 him of goodnesse that he hadde take fro with-oute (as who seith, yif that any wight hadde his goodnesse of any other man than of him-self), certes, he that yaf him thilke goodnesse, or elles som other wight, 35 mighte binime it him. But for as moche as to every wight his owne propre bountee yeveth him his mede, thanne at erst shal he failen of mede whan he forleteth to ben good. And at the laste, so as alle 40 medes ben requered for men wenen that they ben goode, who is he that wolde deme, that he that is right mighty of good were part-les of mede? And of what mede shal he be guerdoned? Certes, of 45 right faire mede and right grete aboven alle medes. Remembre thee of thilke noble corolarie that I yaf thee a litel her-biforn; and gader it to-gider in this manere:—so as good him-self is blisful- 50 nesse, thanne is it cleer and certain, that alle good folk ben maked blisful for they ben goode; and thilke folk that ben blis-ful, it acordeth and is covenable to ben goddess. Thanne is the mede of goode 55 folk swich that no day shal enpeiren it, ne no wikkednesse ne shal derken it, ne power of no wight ne shal nat amensen
it, that is to seyn, to ben maked goddess.
And sin it is thus, that goode men ne failen 60 never-mo of hir mede, certes, no wys man ne may doute of undepartable peyne of the shrewes; that is to seyn, that the peyne of shrewes ne departeth nat from hem-self never-mo. For so as goode and yvel, and 65
peyne and medes ben contrarye, it mot nedes ben, that right as we seen bityden in guerdoun of goode, that also mot the peyne of yvel answey, by the contrarye party, to shrewes. Now thanne, so as 70

bountee and prowesse ben the mede to goode folk, al-so is shrewednesse it-self torment to shrewes. Thanne, who-so that ever is entecched and defouled with 75 peyne, he ne douteth nat, that he is entecched and defouled with yvel. Yif shrewes thanne wolen preysen hem-self, may it semen to hem that they ben with-80 swiche that the uttereste wikkednesse (that is to seyn, wikkede thewes, which that is the uttereste and the worste kinde of shrewednesse) ne defouleth ne enteccheth nat hem only, but infecteth and en-85 venimeth hem gretly? And also look on shrewes, that ben the contrarie party of goode men, how greet peyne felawshipeth and folweth hem! For thou hast lerned a litel her-biforn, that al thing that is 90 and hath beinge is oon, and thilke same oon is good; thanne is this the consequence, that it semeth wel, that al that is and hath beinge is good; this is to seyn, as who seyth, that beings and unites and 95 goodnesse is al oon. And in this manere it folweth thanne, that al thing that failleth to ben good, it stinteth for to be and for to han any beinge: wherfore it is, that shrewes stinten for to ben that 100 they weren. But thilke other forme of mankinde, that is to seyn, the forme of the body with-oute, sheweth yit that these shrewes weren whylom men; wher-for,
 when they ben perverted and torned in-to 105 malice, certes, than han they forlorn the nature of mankinde. But so as only bountee and prowesse may enhaunsen every man over other men; thanne mot it nedes be that shrewes, which that 110 shrewednesse hath cast out of the con-dicion of mankinde, ben put under the merite and the desert of men. Thanne bitydeth it, that yif thou seest a wight that be transformed into vyces, thou ne 115 mayst nat wene that he be a man. For yif he be ardaunt in avaryce, and that he be a ravinour by violence of foreine riches, thou shalt seyn that he is lyke to the wolf. And yif he be felonous and 120 with-oute reate, and exerceyse his tonge to chydinges, thou shalt lykne him to the hound. And yif he be a prevey awaitour y-hid, and rejoyseth him to ravisashe by wyles, thou shalt seyn him lyke to the fox-whelpes. And yif he be distempre 125 and quaketh for ire, men shal wene that he bereth the corage of a lyoun. And yif he be dredful and fleinge, and dredeth thinges that ne oughten nat to ben dred, men shal holden him lyk to the hert. 130

 And yif he be slow and astoned and lache, he liveth as an asse. And yif he be light and unstedefast of corage, and chaungeth ay his studies, he is lykned to briddes. And if he be plounged in foule 135 and unclene luxuries, he is with-holden in the foule deloyces of the foule sowe.
 Thanne folweth it, that he that forleteth bountee and prowesse, he forleteth to ben a man; sin he may nat passen in-to the 140 condicion of god, he is torned in-to a beest.

METRE III. Vela Neritii dulcis.

Eurus the wind aryvede the sailles of Ulizes, duk of the contree of Narice, and his wandringe shippes by the see, in-to the ile ther-as Circes, the faire goddesse, daughter of the sonne, dwelleth; that 5
 medleth to hir newe gastes drinks that ben touched and maketh with enchannements. And after that hir hand, mighty over the herbes, hadde changede hir gastes in-to dyverse maneres; that oon of 10 hem, is covered his face with forme of a boor; that other is changede in-to a lyoun of the contree of Marmorike, and his nayles and his teeth waxen; that other of hem is neweliche changede in-to 15
 a wolf, and howleth whan he wolde wepe;
 that other goth debonairely in the hous
 as a tygre of Inde. But al-be-it so that the godhed of Mercurie, that is cleded the brid of Arcadie, hath had mercy of the 20
 duke Ulizes, biseged with dyverse yveles, and hath unbounden him fro the pestilence of his ostesse, algates the roweres and the marineres hadden by this y-drawn in-to hir mouthes and dronken 25
 the wikkede drinks. They that weren woxen swyn hadden by this y-changede hir mete of breed, for to eten akornes of okes. Non of hir limes ne dwelleth with 30 hem hole, but they han lost the voice and the body; only hir thought dwelleth with hem stable, that wepeth and biwelleth the monstruous chaunginge that they suffren. O overlight hand (as who seyth, 35 O! feble and light is the hand of Circes the enchauwieresse, that chaungeth the bodyes of folkes in-to bestes, to regard and to comparisoun of mutacioun that is makid by vyces); ne the herbes of Circes ne ben nat 40 mighty. For al-be-it so that they may chaungen the limes of the body, algates yit they may nat change the hertes; for with-inne is y-hid the strengthe and vigor of men, in the secree tour of hir hertes; 45 that is to seyn, the strengthe of resoun. But thilke venims of vyces to-drawen a man to hem more mightily than the venim of Circes; for vyces ben so cruel that they percen and thorough-passen the corage 50 with-inne; and, thogh they ne anoye nat

the body, yit vyces wooden to destroye men
by wounde of thought.'

PROSE IV. Tum ego, Fateor, inquam,

Than seyde I thus: 'I confesse and am a-knowe it,' quod I; 'ne I ne see nat that men may sayn, as by right, that shrewes ne ben changed in-to bestes 5 by the qualitee of hir soules, al-be-it so that they kepen yit the forme of the body of mankinde. But I nolde nat of shrewes, of which the thought cruel woodeth
 al-wey in-to destruccioun of goode men, 10 that it were lefevel to hem to don that.'

'Certes,' quod she, 'ne is nis nat lefevel to hem, as I shal wel shewe thee in covenable place; but natheles, yif so were that thilke that men wenen be lefevel to 15 shrewes were binomen hem, so that they ne mighte nat anoyen or doon harm to goode men, certes, a greet partye of the peyne to shrewes sholde ben allegged and releved.
 For al-be-it so that this ne seme nat 20 credible thing, per-aventure, to some folk, yit moot it nedes be, that shrewes ben more wrecches and unsely when they may doon and performe that they coveiten, than yif they mighte nat complisshen that they coveiten. For yif so 25 be that it be wrecchednesse to wilne to don yvel, than is more wrecchednesse to mowen don yvel; with-oute whiche mowinge the wrecched wil sholde languishe with-oute effect. Than, sin that everiche 30 of these things hath his wrecchednesse, that is to seyn, wil to don yvel and mowinge to don yvel, it moot nedes be that they ben constreynd by three unselinesses, that wolen and mowen and performen felonies 35 and shrewednesses.' 'I acorde me,' quod I; 'but I desire gretly that shrewes losten sone thilke unselinesse, that is to seyn, that shrewes weren depoyled of mowinge to don yvel.' 40

'So shullen they,' quod she, 'soner, peraventure, than thou woldest; or soner than they hem-self wene to lakken mowings to don yvel. For ther nis no-thing so late in so' shorte boundes of this lyf, that 45 is long to abyde, nameliche, to a corage inmortal; of whiche shrewes the grete hope, and the hie compassinges of shrewednesses, is ofte destroyed by a sodeyn ende, or they ben war; and that 50 thing establieth to shrewes the ende of hir shrewednesse. For yif that shrewednesse maketh wrecches, than mot he nedes ben most wrecched that lengest is a shrew; 55
 the whiche wikked shrewes wolde I demen aldermost unsely and caitifs, yif that hir shrewednesse ne were finished, at the leste wey, by the outtereste deeth. For yif I have concluded sooth of the unseli-nesse of shrewednesse, than sheweth it 60 clearly that thilke wrecchednesse is with-outen ende, the whiche is certain to ben perdurable.' 'Certes,' quod I, 'this conclusioun is hard and wonderful to graunte; but I knowe wel that it acordeth 65
 moche to the thinges that I have graunted her-biforn.'

'Thou hast,' quod she, 'the right estimacioun of this; but who-so-ever wene that it be a hard thing to acorde him to 70
 a conclusioun, it is right that he shewe that some of the premisses ben false; or elles he moot shewe that the collacioun of proposiciouns nis nat speedful to a

75 necessarie conclusioun. And yif it be nat so, but that the premisses ben y-graunted, ther is not why he sholde blame the argument. For this thing that I shal telle thee now ne shal nat seme lasse 80 wonderful; but of the thinges that ben taken also it is necessarie; 'as who seyth,
it foloweth of that which that is purposed biforn. 'What is that?' quod I.

'Certes,' quod she, 'that is, that this 85 wikked shrewes ben more blisful, or elles lasse wrecches, that abyen the tormentes that they han deserved, than yif no peyne of justice ne chastysede hem. Ne this ne seye I nat now, for that any man mighte 90 thenke, that the maners of shrewes ben coriged and chastysed by veniaunce, and that they ben brought to the right wey by the drede of the torment, ne for that they yeven to other folk ensauple to fleen 95 fro vyces; but I understande yit in another manere, that shrewes ben more unselly whan they ne ben nat punisshed, al-be-it so that ther ne be had no resoun or lawe of correccioun, ne non ensauple 100 of lokinge.' 'And what manere shal that ben,' quod I, 'other than hath be told her-biforn?'

'Have we nat thanne graunted,' quod
she, 'that goode folk ben blisful, and 105 shrewes ben wrecches?' 'Yis,' quod I.

'Thanne,' quod she, 'yif that any good were added to the wrecchednesse of any wight, nis he nat more weleful than he that ne hath no medlinge of good in his 110 solitarie wrecchednesse?' 'So semeth it,'
quod I.

'And what seystow thanne,' quod she,
'of thilke wrecche that lakketh alle goodes, so that no good nis medled in his 115 wrecchednesse, and yit, over al his wikkednesse for which he is a wrecche, that ther be yit another yvel anexed and knit to him, shal nat men demen him more unselly than thilke wrecche of whiche the 120 unselnesse is releved by the participacioun of som good?' 'Why sholde he nat?' quod I.

'Thanne, certes,' quod she, 'han
shrewes, whan they ben punisshed, som-125 what of good anexed to hir wrecched-nesse, that is to seyn, the same peyne that they suffren, which that is good by the resoun of justice; and whan thilke same shrewes escapen with-oute torment, than han they som-what more of yvel yit 130

over the wikkednesse that they han don, that is to seyn, defaute of peyne; which defaute of peyne, thou hast graunted, is yvel for the deserte of felonye.' 'I ne may nat denye it,' quod I. 135

'Moche more thanne,' quod she, 'ben shrewes unselly, whan they ben wrongfully delivered fro peyne, than whan they ben punisshed by rightful ven-jaunce. But this is open thing and cleer, 140 that it is right that shrewes ben pun-isshed, and it is wikkednesse and wrong that they escapen unpunished.' 'Who mighte denye that?' quod I.

'But,' quod she, 'may any man denye 145 that al that is right nis good; and also the contrarie, that al that is wrong is wikke?' 'Certes,' quod I, 'these thinges ben clere y-nough; and that we han concluded a litel her-biforn. But 150
I praye thee that thou telle me, yif thou acordest to leten no torment to sowles, after that the body is ended by the deeth;' this is to seyn, understandestow aught that sowles han any torment after the 155
deeth of the body?

'Certes,' quod she, 'ye; and that right greet; of which sowles,' quod she, 'I trowe that some ben tormented by aspre-nesse of peyne; and some sowles, I trowe, 160
ben exercised by a purginge mekenesse.
But my conseil nis nat to determinye of these peynes. But I have travailed and told yit hiderto, for thou sholdest knowe that the mowinge of shrewes, which 165
mowinge thee semeth to ben unworthy, nis no mowinge: and eek of shrewes, of which thou pleinedest that they ne were nat punisshed, that thou woldest seen that they ne weren never-mo with-outen 170 the tormentes of hir wikkednesse: and of the licence of the mowinge to don yvel, that thou preydest that it mighte some ben ended, and that thou woldest fayn lernen that it ne sholde nat longe dure: and 175 that shrewes ben more unselly yif they were of lenger duringe, and most unsely yif they weren perdurable. And after this, I have shewed thee that more unsely ben shrewes, when they escapen withoute hir rightful payne, than when they ben punished by rightful venjaunce. And of this sentence folweth it, that thanne ben shrewes constrainede at the laste with most grevous torment, whan men wene that they ne be nat punished.' 'Whan I consider thy rescouns,' quod I, 'I ne trowe nat that men seyn any-thing more verayly. And yif I torne ayein to the studies of men, who is he to whom it sholde seme that he ne sholde nat only leven these things, but eek gladly herkne hem?'

'Certes,' quod she, 'so it is; but men may nat. For they han hir eyes so wont to the derknesse of erthely thinges, that they ne may nat liften hem up to the light of cleer sothfastnesse; but they ben lyke to briddes, of which the night light-neth hir lokinge, and the day blindeth hem. For whan men loken nat the ordre of thinges, but hir lustes and talents, they wene that either the leve or the mowinge to don wikkednesse, or elles the scapinge with-oute payne, be weleful. But consider the jugement of the perdurable lawe. For yif thou conferme thy corage to the beste thinges, thou ne hast no nede of no juge to yeven thee prys or mede; for thou hast joyned thy-self to the most excellent thing. And yif thou have enclyned thy studies to the wikked thinges, ne seek no foreyne wreker out of thy-self; for thou thy-self hast thrist thy-self in-to wikke thinges: right as thou mightest loken by diverse tymes the foule erthe and the hevене, and that alle other thinges stinten fro with-oute, so that thou were neither in hevene ne in erthe, ne saye no-thing more; than it sholde semen to thee, as by only rescoun of lokinge, that thou were now in the sterres and now in the erthe. But the poeple ne loketh nat on these thinges. What thanne? Shal we thanne aprochen us to hem that I have shewed that they ben lyk to bestes? And what woltow seyn of this: yif that a man hadde al forlorn his sighte and hadde foryeten that he ever saugh, and wende that no-thing ne faylde him of perfeccioun of mankinde, now we that mighten seen the same thinges, wolde we nat wene that he were blinde? Ne also ne acordeth nat the poeple to that I shal seyn, the which thing is sustened by a stronge foundement of rescouns, that is to seyn, that more unsely ben they that don wrong to othre folk than they that the wrong suffren.' 'I wolde heren thilke same rescouns,' quod I. 'Denyestow,' quod she, 'that alle shrewes ne ben worthy to han torment?'

'Nay,' quod I. 'But,' quod she, 'I am certein, by many rescouns, that shrewes ben unsely.' 'It acordeth,' quod I.

'Thanne ne doutestow nat,' quod she, 'that thilke folk that ben worthy of torment, that they ne ben wrecches?' 'It acordeth wel,' quod I.

'Yif thou were thanne,' quod she, 'y-set a juge or a knower of thinges, whether, trowestow, that men sholden tormenten him that hath don the wrong, or elles him that hath suffred the wrong?' 'I ne doute nat,' quod I, 'that I nolde don suffisaunt satisfaccioun to him that hadde suffred the wrong by the sorwe of him that hadde don the wrong.'

'Thanne semeth it,' quod she, 'that the doere of wrong is more wrecche than he that suffred wrong?' 'That folweth wel,' quod I.

'Than,' quod she, 'by these causes and by othre causes that ben enforced by the same rote, filthe or sinne, by the propre nature of it, maketh men wrecches; and it sheweth wel, that the wrong that men don nis nat the wrecchednesse of him that receyvethe the wrong, but the wrecchednesse of him that doth the wrong. But certes,' quod she, 'thise oratours or advocats don al the contrarye: for they enforcen hem to com-moeve the juges to han pitee of hem that han suffred and receyved the thinges that ben grevous and aspre, and yit men sholden more rightfully han pitee of hem

that don the grevaunces and the wronges; 280 the whiche shrewes, it were a more covenable thing, that the accusours or advocats, nat wroth but pitous and debonair, ledde[n] the shrewes that han don wrong to the jugement, right as men 285 leden syke folk to the leche, for that they sholde seken out the maladyes of sinne
 by torment. And by this covenant, either the entente of deffendours or advo-cats sholde faylen and cesen in al, or 290 elles, yif the office of advocats wolde better profiten to men, it sholde ben torned in-to the habite of accusacioun;
*that is to seyn, they sholden accuse shrewes,
 and nat excuse hem.* And eek the shrewes 295 hem-self, yif hit were lefevel to hem to seen at any clifte the vertu that they han forleten, and sawen that they sholden putten adoun the filthes of hir vyces by the tormentes of peynes, they ne oughte 300 nat, right for the recompensacioun for to geten hem bountee and prowesse which that they han lost, demen ne holden that thilke peynes weren tormentes to hem;
 and eek they wolden refuse the attend-305 aunce of hir advocats, and taken hem-self to hir juges and to hir accusors. For which it bitydeth that, as to the wyse folk, ther nis no place y-leten to hate;
that is to seyn, that no hate hath no place 310 amonges wyse men. For no wight nil haten goode men, but-yif he were overmochel a fool; and for to haten shrewes, it nis no resoun. For right so as languissinge is maladye of body, right so ben 315 vyces and sinne maladye of corage. And so as we ne deme nat, that they that ben syke of hir body ben worthy to ben hated, but rather worthy of pitee: wel more worthy, nat to ben hated, but for to ben 320 had in pitee, ben they of whiche the thoughtes ben constrained by felonous wikkednesse, that is more cruel than any languissinge of body.

METRE IV. Quid tantos tuuat excitare motus.

What delyteth you to excyten so grete moevinges of hateredes, and to hasten and bisen the fatal disposicioun of your deeth with your propre handes? that is to seyn, by batailles or by contak. For yif ye axen 5

 the deeth, it hasteth him of his owne wil;
 ne deeth ne tarieth nat his swifte hors.
 And the men that the serpent and the lyoun and the tygre and the bere and the boor seken to sleen with hir teeth, yit 10 thilke same men seken to sleen everich of hem other with swerd. Lo! for hir maneres ben dyverse and desordaunt, they moeven unrightful ostes and cruel batailles, and wilnen to perissh by entre- 15 chaunginge of dartes. But the resoun of crueltee nis nat y-nough rightful. Wiltow thanne yelden a covenable guerdoun to the desertes of men? Love rightfully goode folk, and have pitee on shrewes.' 20

PROSE V. Hic ego uideo inquam.

'Thus see I wel,' quod I, 'either what blisfulnesse or elles what unselinesse is established in the desertes of goode men and of shrewes. But in this ilke fortune 5 of poeple I see somewhat of good and som-what of yvel. For no wyse man hath lever ben exyled, poore and nedy, and nameles, than for to dwellen in his citee and flouren of riches, and be redoutable by honour, and strong of power. For in 10 this wyse more cleerly and more witesfully is the office of wyse men y-tretd, when the blisfulnesse and the poustee of governours is, as it were, y-shad amonges poeples that be neigheours and subgits; 15 sin that, namely, prisoun, lawe, and thise othre tormentes of laweful peynes ben rather owed to felonous citezeins, for the whiche felonous citezeins the peynes ben established, than for good folk. Thanne 20
 I mervaille me greetly,' quod I, 'why that the thinges ben so mis entrechaunged, that tormentes of felonyes pressen and confounden goode folk, and shrewes ravissen medes of vertu, and ben in 25 honours and in gret estate. And I desyre eek for to witen of thee, what semeth thee to ben the resoun of this so wrongful a conclusioun? For I wolde wondre wel the lasse, yif I trowede that al thise 30

things weren medled by fortunous happe; but now hepeth and encreseth myn as-tonyngie god, governour of thinges, that, so as god yeveth ofte tymes to gode men 35 godes and mirthes, and to shrewes yveles and aspre thinges; and yeveth ayeinward to gode folk hardnesses, and to shrewes he graunteth hem hir wil and that they desyren: what difference thanne 40 may ther be bitwixen that that god doth, and the happe of fortune, yif men ne knowe nat the cause why that it is?

'Ne it nis no mervalle,' quod she, 'though that men wenen that ther be 45 somewhat folissh and confuse, whan the resoun of the ordre is unknowe. But al-though that thou ne knowe nat the cause of so greet a disposicioun, natheles, for as moche as god, the gods governour, 50 atempreth and governeth the world, ne doute thee nat that alle thinges ben doon a-right.

METRE V. Si quis Arcturi sidera nescit.

Who-so that ne knowe nat the sterres of Arcture, y-torned neigh to the soverain contree or point, that is to seyn, y-torned neigh to the soverain pool of the firmament,
 5 and wot nat why the sterre Bootes passeth or gadereth his weynes, and drencheth his late flambe in the see, and why that Bootes the sterre unfoldeth his over-swifte arysinges, thanne shal he wondren of the 10 lawe of the heye eyr. And eek, yif that he ne knowe nat why that the hornes of the fulle mone wexen pale and infect by the boundes of the derke night; and how the mone, derk and confuse, discovereth the 15 sterres that she hadde y-covered by hir clere visage. The comune errour moveth folk, and maketh very hir basins of bras by thikke strokes; that is to seyn, that ther is a maner of poeple that highis Cori-
 20 bantes, that wemen that, whan the mone is in the eclipse, that it be enchanted; and therefore, for to resowen the mone, they beten hir basins with thikke strokes. Ne no man ne wondreth whan the blastes of the 25 wind Chorus beten the strondes of the see by quakinge flodes; ne no man ne

wondreth whan the weighte of the snowe, y-harded by the colde, is resolved by the brennyng hete of Phebus the sonne; for heer seen men redely the causes. But 30 the causes y-hid, that is to seyn, in hevenc, troublen the brestes of men; the moevable poeple is astoned of alle thinges that comen selde and sodeinly in our age. But yif the troublly errour of our igno- 35 rance departede fro us, so that we wisten the causes why that swiche thinges bi-tyden, certes, they sholden cease to seme wondres.

PROSE VI. Ita est, inquam.

'Thus is it,' quod I. 'But so as thou hast yeven or bi-hight me to unwrappen the hid causes of thinges, and to discovere me the resouns covered with derknesses, I prey thee that thou devyse and 5 juge me of this matere, and that thou do me to understonden it; for this miracle or this wonder troubleth me right gretly.'

And thanne she, a litel what smylinge, seyde: 'thou clepest me,' quod she, 'to 10 telle thing that is grettest of alle thinges that mowen ben axed, and to the whiche questioun unnethe is ther saught y-nough to laven it; as who seyth, unnethe is ther suffiauntly anything to answer partilly to thy questioun. For the matere of it is swich, that whan o doute is determined and cut away, ther wexen other doutes with-oute number; right as the hevedes wexen of Ydre, the serpent that Hercules 20 slouch. Ne ther ne were no manere ne non ende, but-yif that a wight constraignede the doutes by a right lyfly and quik fyr of thought; that is to seyn, by vigour and strengthe of wit. For in this 25 manere men weren wont to maken questions of the simplicitee of the purviuance of god, and of the order of destinee, and of sodein happe, and of the knowinge and predestinacioun divyne, and of the libertee 30 of free wille; the whiche thinges thou thy-self aperceyvest wel, of what weight they ben. But for as mochel as the knowinge of these thinges is a maner porcioun of the medicine of thee, al-be-it 35

so that I have lital tyme to don it, yit natheles I wol enforcen me to shewe somewhat of it. But al-though the no-rishinges of ditee of musike delyteth thee, thou most suffren and forberen a lital of thilke delyte, whyle that I weve to thee resouns y-knit by ordre.' 'As it lyketh to thee,' quod I, 'so do.'

The spak she right as by another biginninge, and seyde thus. 'The engendringe of alle thinges,' quod she, 'and alle the progressions of muable nature, and al that moeveth in any manere, taketh his causes, his ordre, and his formes, of the stableness of the divyne thought; and thilke divyne thought, that is y-set and put in the tour, that is to seyn, in the heighte, of the simplicitee of god, stablisseth many maner gyses to thinges that ben to done; the whiche maner, whan that men loken it in thilke pure clenness of the divyne intelligence, it is y-cleped purviaunce; but whan thilke maner is referred by men to thinges that it moveth and disponeth, thanne of olde men it was cleped destinee. The whiche thinges, yif that any wight loketh wel in his thought the strengthe of that oon and of that other, he shal lightly mowen seen, that these two thinges ben dyverse. For purviaunce is thilke divyne reson that is established in the sovereign prince of thinges; the whiche purviaunce disponeth alle thinges. But destinee is the disposicioun and ordinaunce clyvinge to moevable thinges, by the whiche disposicioun the purviaunce knitteth alle thinges in hir ordres; for purviaunce embraceth alle thinges to-hepe, al-though that they ben dyverse, and al-though they ben infinite; but destinee departeth and ordeineth alle thinges singularly, and divyded in moevinges, in places, in formes, in tymes, as thus: lat the unfoldinge of temporel ordinaunce, assembled and ooned in the lokinge of the divyne thought, be cleped purviaunce; and thilke same assemblinge and ooninge, divyded and unfolden by tymes, lat that ben called destinee. And al-be-it so that these thinges ben dyverse, yit nathe-les hangeth that oon on that other; for why the order destinal procedeth of the simplicitee of purviaunce. For right as a werkman, that aperceyveth in his thought the forme of the thing that he wol make, and moeveth the effect of the werk, and ledeth that he hadde looked biforn in his thought simply and presently, by temporel ordinaunce: certes, right so god disponeth in his purviaunce, singularly and stably, the thinges that ben to done, but he aministreth in many maneres and in dyverse tymes, by destinee, thilke same thinges that he hath disposed. Thanne, whether that destinee be exercysed outhur by some divyne spirits, servaunts to the divyne purviaunce, or elles by som sowle, or elles by alle nature servinge to god, or elles by the celestial moevinges of sterres, or elles by the vertu of angeles, or elles by the dyverse subtilitee of develes, or elles by any of hem, or elles by hem alle, the destinal ordinaunce is y-woven and accomplished. Certes, it is open thing, that the purviaunce is an unmoevable and simple forme of thinges to done; and the moveable bond and the temporel ordinaunce of thinges, whiche that the divyne simplicitee of purviaunce hath ordeyned to done, that is destinee. For which it is, that alle thinges that ben put under destinee ben, certes, subgits to purviaunce, to whiche purviaunce destinee itself is subgit and under. But some thinges ben put under purviaunce, that surmounten the ordinaunce of destinee; and the ben thilke that stably ben y-ficched negh to the firste godhed: they surmounten the ordre of destinal moevabletee. For right as of cercles that tornen a-boute a same centre or a-boute a poynt, thilke cercle that is innerest or most with-inne joyneth to the simplesse of the middel, and is, as it were, a centre or a poynt to that other cercles that tornen a-bouten him; and thilke that is outterest, compassed by larger envyrninge, is unfolden by larger spaces, in moche as it is forthest fro the middel simplicitee of the poynt; and yif ther be any-thing that knitteth and felawship-140 peth him-self to thilke middel poynt, it is constrained in-to simplicitee, that is to seyn, in-to unmoevabletee, and it ceeth to be shad and to fleten dyversely: right so,

 by semblable resoun, thilke thing that 145 departeth forthest fro the first thought of god, it is unfolden and summited to gretter bondes of destinee: and in so moche is the thing more free and laus fro destinee, as it axeth and holdeth him ner to thilke centre of things, that is to 150 seyn, god. And yif the thing clyveth to the stedefastnesse of the thought of god, and be with-oute moevings, certes, it sormounneth the necessitee of destinee.
 155 Thanne right swich comparisoun as it is of skilinge to understonde, and of thing that is engendred to thing that is,
 and of tyme to eternitee, and of the cercle to the centre, right so is the ordre of moevable destinee to the stable simp-160 plicitee of purviaunce. Thilke ordinance moeveth the hevене and the sterres, and atempreth the elements to-gider amonges hem-self, and transformeth hem by entrechangeable mutacioun;
 165 and thilke same ordre neweth ayein alle thinges growinge and fallinge a-doun, by semblable progressiouns of sedes and of sexes, that is to seyn, male and femels.
 And this ilke ordre constraineth the for-170 tunes and the dedes of men by a bond of causes, nat able to ben unbounde; the whiche destinal causes, when they passen out fro the beginnings of the unmoevable purviaunce, it mot nedes be that they ne 175 be nat mutable. And thus ben the thinges ful wel y-governed, yif that the simplicitee dwellinge in the divyne thought sheweth forth the ordre of causes, unable to ben y-bowed; and this ordre con-180 straineth by his propre stabletee the moevable thinges, or elles they sholden fleten folly. For which it is, that alle thinges semen to ben confus and trouble to us men, for we ne mowen nat considere 185 thilke ordinance; natheles, the propre maner of every thinge, dressinge hem to goode, disponeth hem alle.

For ther nis no-thing don for cause of yvel; ne thilke thing that is don by wikkeda folk nis nat don for yvel. The whiche 190 shrewes, as I have shewed ful plentivously, seken good, but wikked errour mistorneth hem, ne the ordre cominge fro the poynt of sovereign good ne declyneth nat fro his beginninge. But thou 195 mayst seyn, what unreste may ben a worse confusioun than that gode men han somtyme adversitee and somtyme prosperitee, and shrewes also now han thinges that they desiren, and now 200 thinges that they haten? Whether men liven now in swich hoolnesse of thought, (as who seyth, ben men now so wyse), that swiche folk as they demen to ben gode folk or shrewes, that it moste nedes ben 205 that folk ben swiche as they wenen?

 But in this manere the domes of men discorden, that thilke men that some folk demen worthy of mede, other folk demen hem worthy of torment. But lat 210 us graunte, I pose that som man may wel demen or knowen the gode folk and the badde; may he thanne knowen and seen thilke innereste atempraunce of corages, as it hath ben wont to be seyde of bodies; 215
as who seyth, may a man speken and deter-minen of atempraunces in corages, as men were wont to demen or speken of complexiouns and atempraunces of bodies? Ne it ne is nat an unlyk miracle, to hem 220 that ne knowen it nat, (as who seith, but it is lyke a merveil or a miracle to hem that ne knowen it nat), why that swete thinges ben covenable to some bodies that ben hole, and to some bodies bittere thinges 225 ben covenable; and also, why that some syke folk ben holpen with lighte medicynes, and some folk ben holpen with sharpe medicynes. But natheles, the leche that knoweth the manere and the 230 atempraunce of hele and of maladye, ne merveilith of it no-thing. But what other thing semeth he-he of corages but bountee and prowess? And what other thing semeth maladye of corages but 235 vyces? Who is elles keepere of good or dryer away of yvel, but god, governour and lecher of thoughtes? The whiche god, whan he hath biholden from the heye

240 tour of his purveance, he knoweth what is covenable to every wight, and leneth hem that he wot that is covenable to hem. Lo, her-of comth and her-of is don this noble miracle of the ordre destinal, 245 whan god, that al knoweth, doth swiche thing, of which thing that unknowinge folk ben astoned. But for to constreine, as who seyth, but for to comprehende and telle a fewe thinges of the divyne deep-250 nesse, the whiche that mannes resoun may understonde, thilke man that thou wnest to ben right juste and right kepinge of equitee, the contrarie of that semeth to the divyne purveance, that al 255 wot. And Lucan, my familer, telleth that "the victorious cause lykede to the goddes, and the cause overcomen lykede to Catoun." Thanne, what-so-ever thou mayst seen that is don in this werld 260 unhoped or unwened, certes, it is the right ordre of thinges; but, as to thy wikkede opinioun, it is a confusioun. But I suppose that som man be so wel
 y-thewed, that the divyne jugement and 265 the jugement of mankinde acorden hem to-gider of him; but he is so unstedefast of corage, that, yif any adversitee come to him, he wol forleten, par-aventure, to continue innocence, by the whiche he ne 270 may nat with-holden fortune. Thanne the wyse dispensacioun of god spareth him, the whiche man adversitee mighte enpeyren; for that god wol nat suffren him to travaile, to whom that travaile 275 nis nat covenable. Another man is parfit in alle vertues, and is an holy man, and negh to god, so that the purviaunce of god wolde demen, that it were a felonye that he were touched with any adver-280 sites; so that he wol nat suffre that swich a man be moeved with any bodily maladye. But so as seyde a philosopre, the more excellent by me: he seyde in Grek, that "vertues han edified the body 285 of the holy man." And ofte tyme it bitydeth, that the somme of thinges that ben to done is taken to governe to gode folk, for that the malice haboundant of shrewes sholde ben abated. And god 290 yeveth and departeth to othre folk pros-peritees and adversitees y-medled to-hepe, after the qualitee of hir corages, and remordeth som folk by adversitee, for they ne sholde nat waxen proude by longe welefulnesse. And other folk he suffreth 295 to ben travailed with harde thinges, for that they sholden confermen the vertues of corage by the usage and exercitacioun of pacience. And other folk dreden more than they oughten † that whiche they 300 mighten wel beren; and somme dispysse that they mowe nat beren; and thilke folk god ledeth in-to experience of himself by aspre and sorwful thinges. And many othre folk han bought honourable 305 renoun of this world by the prys of glorious deeth. And som men, that ne mowen nat ben overcomen by torments, have yeven ensauple to othre folk, that vertu may nat ben overcomen by adver- 310 sites; and of alle thinges ther nis no doute, that they ne ben don rightfully and ordenely, to the profit of hem to whom we seen these thinges bityde. For certes, that adversitee comth somtyme 315 to shrewes, and somtyme that that they desiren, it comth of these forseide causes.

 And of sorwful thinges that bityden to shrewes, certes, no man ne wondreth; for alle men wenen that they han wel de- 320 served it, and that they ben of wikkede merite; of whiche shrewes the torment somtyme agasteth othre to don felonyes, and somtyme it amendeth hem that suffren the torments. And the pros- 325 peritee that is yeven to shrewes sheweth
 a greet argument to gode folk, what thing
 they sholde demen of thilke welefulnesse, the whiche prosperitee men seen ofte
 serven to shrewes. In the which thing 330
 I trowe that god dispenseth; for, peraventure, the nature of som man is so overthrowinge to yvel, and so uncoven-able, that the nedy povertee of his household mighte rather egren him to don 335 felonyes. And to the maladye of him god putteth remedie, to yeven him richesess.
 And som other man biholdeth his conscience defouled with sinnes, and maketh comparisoun of his fortune and of him- 340 self; and dredeth, per-aventure, that his blisfulnesse, of which the usage is joyefull to him, that the lesinges of thilke blisfulnesse ne be nat sorrowful to him; and 345 therfor he wol chaunge his maneres, and,

 for he dredeth to lese his fortune, he forleteth his wikkednesse. To othere folk is welefulnesse y-veven unworthily, the whiche overthroweth hem in-to distruc-350 cioun that they han deserved. And to som othere folk is yeven power to punisshen, for that it shal be cause of continua- cious and exercysinge to gode folk and cause of torment to shrewes. For so as 355 ther nis non alyauce by-twixe gode folk and shrewes, ne shrewes ne mowen nat acorden amonges hem-self. And why nat? For shrewes discorden of hem-self by hir vyces, the whiche vyces al to-360 renden hir consciences; and don ofte tyme thinges, the whiche thinges, when they han don hem, they demen that tho thinges ne sholden nat han ben don. For which thing thilke soverain purveance 365 hath maketh ofte tyme fair miracle; so that shrewes han maketh shrewes to ben gode men. For when that som shrewes seen that they suffren wrongfully felonyes of othere shrewes, they wexen eschaufed 370 in-to hate of hem that annoyden hem, and retornen to the frut of vertu, when they studien to ben unlyk to hem that they han hated. Certes, only this is the divyne might, to the whiche might yveles ben 375 thanne gode, when it useth the yveles covenably, and draweth out the effect of any gode; as who seyth, that yvel is good only to the might of god, for the might of god ordeyneth thilke yvel to good. For oon 380 ordre embraseth alle thinges, so that what wight that departeth fro the resoun of thilke ordre which that is assigned to him, algates yit he slydeth in-to another ordre, so that no-thing nis leveful to folye 385 in the reame of the divyne purveance;
as who seyth, nothing nis with-outen ordi-naunce in the reame of the divyne purveance; sin that the right stronge god governeth alle thinges in this world. For 390 it nis nat leveful to man to comprehenden by wit, ne unfolden by word, alle
 the subtil ordinaunces and disposicionns

of the divyne entente. For only it oughte suffice to han loked, that god him-self, maker of alle natures, ordeineth and 395 dresseth alle thinges to gode; whyl that he hasteth to with-holden the thinges that he hath maketh in-to his semblance,
that is to seyn, for to with-holden thinges in-to good, for he him-self is good, he 400 chaseth out al yvel fro the boundes of his comunalitye by the ordre of necessitee destinable. For which it folweth, that yif thou loke the purveance ordeininge the thinges that men wenen ben out- 405 rageous or haboundant in erthes, thou ne shalt not seen in no place no-thing of yvel. But I see now that thou art charged with the weightes of the questionn, and wery with the lengthe of my 410 resoun; and that thou abydest som sweetnesse of songe. Tak thanne this draught; and when thou art wel refreshed and refect, thou shal be more stedefast to stye in-to heyere questionns. 415

METRE VI. Si vis celsi tura tonantis.

If thou, wys, wilt demen in thy pure thought the rightes or the lawes of the heye thonderer, that is to seyn, of god, loke thou and bihold the heightes of the soverain hevене. There kepen the sterres, 5 by rightful alliaunce of thinges, hir olde pees. The sonne, y-mooved by his rody fyr, ne disturbeth nat the colde cerle of the mone. Ne the sterre y-cleped 'the Bere,' that enclyneth his ravisahinge 10 courses abouten the soverain heighte of the worlde, ne the same sterre Ursa nis never-mo wasshen in the depe westrene see, ne covaiteth nat to deyen his flaumes in the see of the occian, al-though he see 15 othere sterres y-plounged in the see. And Hesperus the sterre bodeth and telleth alwey the late nightes; and Lucifer the sterre bringeth ayein the clere day. And thus maketh Love entrechangeable the 20 perdurable courses; and thus is discordable bataile y-put out of the contree of the sterres. This accordaunce atempreth by evenelyk maneres the elements, that the moiste thinges, stryvinge with the 25

drye thinges, yeven place by stoundes; and the colde thinges joynen hem by feyth to the hote thinges; and that the lighte fyr aryseth in-to heichte; and the 30 hevy erthes avalen by hir weightes. By these same causes the floury year yildeth swote smelles in the firste somer-sesoun warminge; and the hote somer dryeth the cornes; and autumpne comth ayein,
 35 hevy of apples; and the fletinge reyn bideweth the winter. This atempraunce norisseth and bringeth forth al thing that þbretheth lyf in this world; and thilke same atempraunce, ravishinge,
 40 hydeth and binimeth, and drencheth under the laste deeth, alle thinges y-born. Amonges these thinges sitteth the heye maker, king and lord, welle and beginninge, lawe and wys juge, to don equitee;
 45 and governeth and enclyneth the brydles of thinges. And tho thinges that he stereth to gon by moevinge, he withdraweth and aresteth; and affermeth the moevable or wandringe thinges. For yif
 50 that he ne clepede ayein the right goinge of thinges, and yif that he ne constreinede hem nat eft-sones in-to roundnesses enclynede, the thinges that ben now continued by stable ordinaunce, they
 55 sholden departen from hir welle, that is to seyn, from hir biginninge, and faylen, that is to seyn, torne in-to nought. This is the comune Love to alle thinges; and alle thinges axen to ben holden by the fyn of 60 good. For elles ne mighten they nat lasten; yif they ne come nat eft-sones ayein, by Love returned, to the cause that hath yeven hem beinge, that is to seyn, to god.

PROSE VII. Iamno igitur uides.

Seestow nat thanne what thing folweth alle the thinges that I have seyde? 'Boece. 'What thing?' quod I.

'Certes,' quod she, 'al-outrely, that alle 5 fortune is good.' 'And how may that be?' quod I.

'Now understand,' quod she, 'so as alle fortune, whether so it be joyfule fortune or aspre fortune, is yeven either by cause of guerdoning or elles of exercysinge of 10 good folk, or elles by cause to punisshen or elles chastyssen shrewes; thanne is alle fortune good, the whiche fortune is certain that it be either rightful or elles profitable.' 'Forsothe, this is a ful 15 veray resoun,' quod I; 'and yif I consider the purviaunce and the destinee that thou taughtest me a litel her-biforn, this sentence is sustened by stedefast resouns. But yif it lyke unto thee, let us 20 noumbren hem amonges thilke thinges, of whiche thou seydest a litel her-biforn, that they ne were nat able to ben wened to the poeple.'

'Why so?' quod she. 'For that the 25 comune word of men,' quod I, 'misuseth this maner speche of fortune, and seyn ofte tymes that the fortune of som wight is wikkede.'

'Wiltow thanne,' quod she, 'that I 30 aproche a litel to the wordes of the poeple, so that it seme nat to hem that I be overmoche departed as fro the usage of mankinde?' 'As thou wolt,' quod I.

'Demestow nat,' quod she, 'that al 35 thing that profiteth is good?' 'Yis,' quod I.

'And certes, thilke thing that exercyseth or-corigeth, profiteth?' 'I confesse it wel,' quod I. 40

'Thanne is it good?' quod she. 'Why nat?' quod I.

'But this is the fortune,' quod she, 'of hem that either ben put in vertu and batailen ayeins aspre thinges, or elles of 45 hem that eschuen and declynen fro vyces and taken the wey of vertu.' 'This ne may I nat denye,' quod I.

'But what seystow of the mery fortune that is yeven to good folk in guerdoun? 50 Demeth aught the poeple that it is wikked?' 'Nay, forsothe,' quod I; 'hut they demen, as it sooth is, that it is right good.'

'And what seystow of that other for- 55 tune,' quod she, 'that, al-though that it be aspre, and restraineth the shrewes by rightful torment, weneth aught the poeple that it be good?' 'Nay,' quod I, 'but the poeple demeth that it is most 60

wrecched of alle thinges that may ben thought.'

'War now, and loke wel,' quod she, 'lest that we, in folwinge the opinioun of 65 the peole, have confessed and concluded thing that is unable to be wened to the peole.' 'What is that,' quod I.

'Certes,' quod she, 'it folweth or comth of thinges that ben graunted, that alle 70 fortune, what-so-ever it be, of hem that ben either in possessioun of vertu, or in the ences of vertu, or elles in the purchasinge of vertu, that thilke fortune is good; and that alle fortune is right wikkede to hem that dwellen in shrewed-
75 nesse;' as who seyth, and thus weneth nat the peole. 'That is sooth,' quod I, 'albe-it so that no man dar confesse it ne biknowen it.'

80 'Why so?' quod she; 'for right as the stronge man ne semeth nat to abaiszen or disdaignen as ofte tyme as he hereth the noise of the bataille, ne also it ne semeth nat, to the wyse man, to beren it gre-
85 vously, as ofte as he is lad in-to the stryf of fortune. For bothe to that oon man and eek to that other thilke difficultee is the matere; to that oon man, of ences of his glorious renoun, and to that 90 other man, to confirme his sapience, that is to seyn, to the aspreness of his estat. For tharfore is it called "vertu," for that it susteneth and enforseth, by hise strengthes, that it nis nat overcomen by
95 adversitees. Ne certes, thou that art put in the ences or in the heighte of vertu, ne hast nat comen to fleten with delices, and for to welken in bodily luste; thou sowest or plauntest a ful egre bataille in 100 thy corage ayeins every fortune: for that the sorwful fortune ne confounde thee nat, ne that the merye fortune ne corruppe thee nat, occupye the mene by stedefast strengthes. For al that ever is 105 under the mene, or elles al that overpasseth the mene, despyseth welefulness (as who seyth, it is vicious), and ne hath no mede of his travaille. For it is set in your hand (as who seyth, it lyth in your power)
110 what fortune yow is levest, that is to seyn, good or yvel. For alle fortune that semeth sharp or aspre, yif it ne exercyse nat the gode folk ne chastyseth the wikked folk, it punissheth.

METRE VII. Bella bis quinis operatus annis.

The wreker Attrides, that is to seyn, Agamenon, that wroughte and continuede the batailles by ten yeer, recovered and purgede in wrekinge, by the destruccioun of Troye, the loste chaumbres of mariage 5 of his brother; this is to seyn, that he, Agamenon, was ayein Eleyne, that was Menelaus wyf his brother. In the menowhyle that thilke Agamenon desirede to yeven sayles to the Grekisch navye, and 10 boughte ayein the windes by blood, he unclothede him of pitee of fader; and the sory preest yiveth in sacrificyng the wrecched outtinge of throte of the daughter; that is to seyn, that Agamenon let
15 cuten the throte of his daughter by the preest, to maken allyaunce with his goddes, and for to han wind with whiche he mighte wenden to Troye. Itacus, that is to seyn, Ulixes, biwepete his felawes y-lorn, the 20 whiche felawes the ferse Poliphemus, ligginge in his grete cave, hadde freten and dreynt in his empty wombe. But natheles Poliphemus, wood for his blinde visage, yald to Ulixes joye by his sorwful teres;
25 that is to seyn, that Ulixes smoot out the eye of Poliphemus that stood in his forehead, for which Ulixes hadde joye, when he saw Poliphemus wepyng and blinde. Hercules is celebrable for his harde travailes; 30 he dauntede the proude Centaures, half hors, half man; and he birafte the dispoylinge fro the cruel lyoun, that is to seyn, he slouch the lyoun and rafte him his skin. He smoot the briddes that highten
35 Arpyes with certain arwes. Ho ravisschede apples fro the wakinge dragoun, and his hand was the more hevye for the goldene metal. He drew Cerberus, the hound of helle, by his treble cheyne. He, over-40 comer, as it is seyrd, hath put an unmeke lord foddre to his cruel hors; this is to seyn, that Hercules slouch Diomedes, and made his hors to freten him. And he,

45 Hercules, slough Ydra the serpent, and brende the venim. And Achelous the flood, defouled in his forhed, dreynte his shamefast visage in his strondes; this is to seyn, that Achelous coude transfigure 50 him-self in-to dyverse lyknesses; and, as he faught with Hercules, at the laste he tornede him in-to a bole; and Hercules brak of oon of his hornes, and he, for shame, hidde him in his river. And he, Hercules, caste 55 adoun Antheus the gyaunt in the strondes of Libie; and Cacus apaysede
 the wratthes of Evander; this is to seyn, that Hercules slough the monstre Cacus, and apaysede with that deeth the wratthe of 60 Evander. And the bristled boor markede with soomes the shuldres of Hercules, the whiche shuldres the heye cercle of hevене sholde thriste. And the laste of his labours was, that he sustened the hevене up-on his nekke unbowed; and he de- 65 servede eft-sones the hevене, to ben the prys of his laste travaile. Goth now thanne, ye stronge men, ther-as the heye wey of the grete ensauple ledeth yow.

 O nyce men, why nake ye youre bakkes? 70
As who seyth: O ye slowe and delicat men,
why flee ye adversitees, and ne fighten nat ayeins hem by vertu, to winnen the mede of the hevene? For the erthe, overcomen, yeveth the sterres'; this is to seyn, that, 75
whan that erthely lust is overcomen, a man is makid worthy to the hevene.

BOOK V.

PROSE I. Dixerat, orationisque cursum.

She hadde seyde, and torned the cours of hir resoun to some othere thinges to ben treted and to ben y-sped. Thanne seyde
 I, 'Certes, rightful is thyn amonestinge 5 and ful digne by auctoritee. But that thou seidest whylom, that the questioun of the divyne purviaunce is enlaced with many other questionns, I understonde wel and provee it by the same thing. But 10 I axe yif that thou wenest that hap be any thing in any weys; and, yif thou wenest that hap be anything, what is
 it?'

Thanne quod she, 'I haste me to yilden 15 and assoilen to thee the dette of my bihest, and to shewen and open the wey, by which way thou mayst come ayein to thy contree. But al-be-it so that the thinges which that thou axest ben right 20 profitable to knowe, yit ben they diverse somewhat fro the path of my purpos; and it is to douten that thou ne be makid very by mis-weyes, so that thou ne mayst nat suffyce to mesuren the right wey.'
 25 'No doute thee ther-of nothing,' quod I.

'For, for to knowen thilke thinges togedere, in the whichs thinges I delyte me greetly, that shal ben to me in stede of reste; sin it is nat to douten of the thinges folwinge, whan every syde of thy 30 disputacioun shal han be stedefast to me
 by undoutous feith.'

Thanne seyde she, 'That manere wol
 I don thee'; and bigan to speken right
 thus. 'Certes,' quod she, 'yif any wight 35 diffinishe hap in this manere, that is to seyn, that "hap is bitydinge y-brought forth by foolish moevinge and by no knettinge of causes." I conferme that hap nis right naught in no wyse; and I deme 40 al-outrely that hap nis, ne dwelleth but a voice, as who seith, but an ydel word,
 with-outen any significacioun of thing submitted to that vois. For what place mighte ben left, or dwellinge, to folye 45 and to disordenance, sin that god ledeth and constreinethe alle thinges by ordre?
 For this sentence is verray and sooth, that "nothing ne hath his beinge of naught"; to the whiche sentence none 50 of these olde folk ne withseyde never;
 al-be-it so that they ne understoden ne meneden it naught by god, prince and beginners of werkings, but they casten 55 [it] as a manere foundement of subject material, that is to seyn, of the nature of alle resoun. And yif that any thing is woxen or comen of no causes, than shal it seme that thilke thing is comen or woxen 60 of naught; but yif this ne may nat ben don, thanne is it nat possible, that hap be any swich thing as I have diffinished a lital heer-biforn.' 'How shal it thanne be?' quod I. 'Nis ther thanne 65 no-thing that by right may be cleped either "hap" or elles "aventure of fortune";

 or is ther aught, al-be-it so that it is hid fro the peple, to which these wordes ben covenable?'
 70 'Myn Aristotilis,' quod she, 'in the book of his Phisik, diffinisseth this thing by short resoun, and neigh to the sothe.'
 'In which manere?' quod I.
 'As ofte,' quod she, 'as men doon any 75 thing for grace of any other thing, and an-other thing than thilke thing that men entenden to don bitydeth by some causes, it is cleped "hap." Right as a man dalf the erthe by cause of tilyinge 80 of the feld, and founde ther a gobet of gold bidolven, thanne wenen folk that it is bifalle by fortunous bitydinge. But, for sothe, it nis nat of naught, for it hath his propre causes; of whiche causes the 85 cours unforeseyn and unwar semeth to han makid hap. For yif the tilyere of the feld ne dolve nat in the erthe, and yif the hyder of the gold ne hadde hid the gold in thilke place, the gold ne hadde 90 nat been founde. Thise ben thanne the causes of the abregginge of fortuit hap, the which abregginge of fortuit hap comth of causes encountringe and flowinge to-gidere to hem-self, and nat by the 95 entencion of the doer. For neither the hyder of the gold ne the delver of the feld ne understoden nat that the gold sholde han ben founde; but, as I sayde,
 it bitidde and ran to-gidere that he dalf 100 ther-as that other hadde hid the gold.
 Now may I thus diffinishe "hap." Hap is an unwar bitydinge of causes assembled in thinges that ben don for som other thing. But thilke ordre, proceedinge by an uneschuable bindinge to-gidere, 105 which that descendeth fro the welle of purviaunce that ordeineth alle thinges in hir places and in hir tymes, maketh that the causes rennen and assemblen togidere. 110

METRE I. Rupis Achemenie scopulis, ubi uersa sequentum.

Tigris and Eufrates resoven and springen of oo welle, in the craggess of the roche of the contree of Achemenie, ther-as the fleinge bataile fiochoth hir dartes, returned in the brestes of hem that fol- 5
 wen hem. And sone after the same riveres, Tigris and Eufrates, unjoinen and departen hir wateres. And yif they comen to-gidere, and ben assembled and cleped to-gidere into o cours, thanne 10
 moten thilke thinges fieten to-gidere which that the water of the entrechaunginge flood bringeth. The shippes and the stokkes arraced with the flood moten assemblen; and the wateres y- 15 medled wrappeth or implyeth many fortunel happes or maneres; the whiche wandringe happes, nathales, thilke declyninge lownesse of the erthe and the flowinge ordre of the slydinge water 20 governeth. Right so Fortune, that semeth as that it fleteth with slaked or un-governede brydles, it suffereth brydles, that is to seyn, to be governed, and passeth
 by thilke lawe, that is to seyn, by thilke 25
 divyne ordenaunce.'

PROSE II. Animaduerto, inquam.

'This understonde I wel,' quod I, 'and I acorde wel that it is right as thou seyst. But I axe yif ther be any libertee of free wil in this ordre of causes that clyven thus to-gidere in hem-self; or 5
 alles I wolde witen yif that the destinal cheyne constreineth the movinges of the corages of men?'
 'Yis,' quod she; 'thar is libertee of free wil. Ne ther ne was nevere no 10
 naturo of resoun that it ne hadde libertee

of free wil. For every thing that may naturally usen resoun, it hath doom by which it discerneth and demeth every thing; thanne knoweth it, by it-self, 15 things that ben to fleeen and things that ben to desiren. And thilke thing that any wight demeth to ben desired, that axeth or desireth he; and fleeth 20 thilke thing that he troweth ben to fleeen.

Wherefore in alle things that resoun is, in hem also is libertee of willinge and of nillinge. But I ne ordeyne nat, as who seyth, I ne graunte nat, that this libertee 25 be evene-lyk in alle things. Forwhy in the soveraines devynes substances, that is to seyn, in spirits, judgement is more cleer, and wil nat y-corumped, and might redy to speden things that ben desired.

30 But the soules of men moten nedes be more free whan they loken hem in the speculacioun or lokinge of the devyne thought, and lasse free whan they slyden in-to the bodies; and yit lasse free whan 35 they ben gadered to-gidere and comprehended in ertely membra. But the laste servage is whan that they ben yeven to vyces, and han y-falle from the possessioun of hir propre resoun. For after 40 that they han cast away hir eyen fro the light of the sovereyn soothfastnesse to lowe things and derke, anon they derken by the cloude of ignoraunce and ben troubled by felonous talents; to the 45 whiche talents whan they aprochen and asenten, they hepon and encreasen the servage which they han joyned to hem-self; and in this manere they ben caitifs fro hir propre libertee. The whiche 50 things, nathelesse, the lokinge of the devyne purviaunce seeth, that allethings biholdeth and seeth fro ertene, and ordeineth hem everich in hir merites as they ben predestinat: and it is seyed in 55 Greek, that "alle things he seeth and alle things he hereth."

METRE II. Puro clarum lumine Phœbum.

Homer with the hony mouth, that is to seyn, Homer with the suete diltees, singeth, that the sonne is cleer by pure light;

natheles yit ne may it nat, by the infirme light of his bemes, braken or percen the 5 inwarde entrailes of the erthe, or elles of the sea. So ne seeth nat god, maker of the grete world: to him, that loketh alle things from an heigh, ne withstondeth nat no things by heviness of erthe; ne 10 the night ne withstondeth nat to him by the blake cloude. Thilke god seeth, in oo strok of thought, alle things that ben, or weren, or sholle comen; and thilke god, for he loketh and seeth alle things 15 alone, thou mayst seyn that he is the verray sonne.'

PROSE III. Tum ego, en, inquam.

Thanne seyde I, 'now am I confounded by a more hard doute than I was.'

'What doute is that?' quod she. 'For certes, I conjecte now by whiche things thou art troubled.' 5

'It semeth,' quod I, 'to repugnen and to contrarien greetly, that god knoweth biforn alle things, and that ther is any freedom of libertee. For yif so be that god loketh alle things biforn, ne god ne 10 may nat ben desseived in no manere, than mot it nedes been, that alle things bityden the whiche that the purviaunce of god hath seyn biforn to comen. For which, yif that god knoweth biforn nat 15 only the werkes of men, but also hir conseilles and hir willes, thanne ne shal ther be no libertee of arbitre; ne, certes, ther ne may be noon other dede, ne no wil, but thilke which that the divyne 20 purviaunce, that may nat ben desseived, hath feled biforn. For yif that they mighten wrythen away in othere manere than they ben purveyed, than sholde ther be no stedefast prescience of thing to 25 comen, but rather an uncertein opinioun; the whiche thing to trowen of god, I deme it felonye and unlevful. Ne I ne prove nat thilke same resoun, as who seyth, I ne alowe nat, or I ne preyee nat, thilke same 30 resoun, by which that som men wenen that they mowen assoilen and unknitten the knotte of this questioun. For, certes,

they seyn that thing nis nat to comen 35 for that the purviaunce of god hath seyn it biforn that is to comen, but rather the contrarye, and that is this: that, for that the thing is to comen, therefore ne may it nat ben hid for the purviaunce of god;
 40 and in this manere this necessitee slydeth ayein in-to the contrarye partye: ne it ne bihoveth nat, nedes, that thinges bi-tyden that ben purvyed, but it bihoveth, nedes, that thinges that ben to comen 45 ben y-porveyed: but as it were y-travailed, as who seyth, that thilke answere procedeth right as thogh men travaileden, or weren bly to enqueren, the whiche thing is cause of the whiche thing—as, whether the 50 prescience is cause of the necessitee of thinges to comen, or elles that the necessitee of thinges to comen is cause of the purviaunce. But I ne enforce me
 nat now to shewen it, that the bitydinge 55 of thinges y-wist biforn is necessarie, how so or in what manere that the ordre of causes hath it-self; al-though that it ne same nat that the prescience bringe in necessitee of bitydinge to thinges to 60 comen. For certes, yif that any wight sitteth, it bihoveth by necessitee that the opinioun be sooth of him that coniecteth that he sitteth; and ayeinward also is it of the contrarye: yif the opinioun be 65 sooth of any wight for that he sitteth, it bihoveth by necessitee that he sitte.
 Thanne is heer necessitee in that oon and in that other: for in that oon is necessitee of sittinge, and, certes, in that 70 other is necessitee of sooth. But therefore ne sitteth nat a wight, for that the opinioun of the sittinge is sooth; but the opinioun is rather sooth, for that a wight sitteth biforn. And thus, al-though that 75 the cause of the sooth cometh of that oher syde (as who seyth, that al-though the cause of sooth comth of the sitting, and nat of the tress opinioun), algates yit is ther comune necessitee in that oon and in 80 that other. Thus sheweth it, that I may make semblable skiles of the purviaunce of god and of thinges to comen. For alough that, for that thinges ben to comen, ther-fore ben they purveyed, nat,

certes, for that they ben purveyed, ther- 85
 fore ne bityde they nat. Yit natheles, bihoveth it by necessitee, that either the thinges to comen ben y-purveyed of god,
 or elles that the thinges that ben pur-90 veyed of god bityden. And this thing only suffiseth y-nough to destroyen the freedom of oure arbitre, that is to seyn, of oure free wil. But now, certes, sheweth it wel, how fer fro the sothe and how up-so- 95 doun is this thing that we seyn, that the bitydinge of temporel thinges is cause of the eterne prescience. But for to wenen that god purvyeth the thinges to comen for they ben to comen, what other thing is it but for to wene that thilke thinges 100 that bitidden whylom ben causes of thilke soverein purviaunce that is in god? And her-to I adde yit this thing that, right as whan that I wot that a thing is, it bihoveth by necessitee that thilke selve 105 thing be; and eek, whan I have knowe that any thing shal bityden, so byhoveth
 it by necessitee that thilke thing bityde:
 —so folweth it thanne, that the bitydinge of the thing y-wist biforn ne may nat 110 ben eschued. And at the laste, yif that any wight wene a thing to ben oher weyes thanne it is, it is nat only un-science, but it is deceivable opinioun ful diverse and fer fro the sothe of science. 115
 Wherfore, yif any thing be so to comen, that the bitydinge of hit ne be nat cer-tein ne necessarie, who may weten biforn that thilke thing is to comen? For right as science ne may nat ben medled with 120 falsnesse (*as who seyth, that yif I wot
 a thing, it ne may nat be false that I ne wot it*), right so thilke thing that is conceived by science ne may nat ben non oher weyes than as it is conceived. For that is 125
 the cause why that science wanteth lesing (as who seyth, why that wittinge ne receiveth nat lesinge of that it wot); for it bihoveth, by necessitee, that every thing be right as science comprehendeth it to be. What 130 shal I thanne seyn? In whiche manere knoweth god biforn the thinges to comen, yif they ne be nat certain? For yif that he deme that they ben to comen un-eschewably, and so may be that it is 135 possible that they ne shollen nat comen, god is deceived. But nat only to trowen that god is deceived, but for to speke it with mouth, it is a felonous sinne. But 140 yif that god wot that, right so as thinges ben to comen, so shullen they comen—so that he wite egaly, as who seyth, indifferently, that thinges mowen ben doon or elles nat y-doon—what is thilke prescience

 145 that ne comprehendeth no certain thing ne stable? Or elles what difference is ther bitwixe the prescience and thilke jape-worthy divyninge of Tiresie the divynour, that seyde: “Al that I seye,” 150 quod he, “either it shal be, or elles it ne shal nat be?” Or elles how mochel is worth the devyne prescience more than the opinioun of mankinde, yif so be that it dometh the thinges uncertein, as 155 men deon; of the whiche domes of men the bitydinge nis nat certain? But yif so be that non uncertein thing ne may ben in him that is right certain welle of alle thinges, thanne is the bitydinge
 160 certain of thilke thinges whiche he hath wist bifora fermely to comen. For which it folweth, that the freedom of the conseilles and of the werkes of mankinde nis non, sin that the thought of god, that 165 seeth alle thinges without error of falsnesse, bindeth and constraineth hem to a bitydinge by necessitee. And yif this thing be ones y-graunted and received, that is to seyn, that ther nis no free wille, 170 than sheweth it wel, how greet destruc-cioun and how grete damages ther folwen of thinges of mankinde. For in ydel ben ther thanne purposed and bihight medes to gode folk, and peynes to badde folk,
 175 sin that no moevinge of free corage voluntarie ne hath nat deserved hem, that is to seyn, neither mede ne peyne; and it sholde seme thanne, that thilke thing is alderworst, which that is now damed
 180 for aldermost just and moest rightful, that is to seyn, that shrewes ben punished, or elles that gode folk ben y-gerdoned: the whiche folk, sin that hir propre wil ne sent hem nat to that oon ne to that 185 other, that is to seyn, neither to gode ne to harm, but constraineth hem certain

necessitee of thinges to comen: thanne ne shollen ther nevers ben, ne nevers weren, vyce ne vertu, but it sholde rather ben confusioun of alle desertes medled 190 with-ouren discreocioun. And yit ther folweth an-other inconvenient, †than whiche ther ne may ben thocht no more felonous ne more wikke; and that is this: that, so as the ordre of thinges is y-led and comth
 195 of the purviaunce of god, ne that no-thing nis lefvel to the conseilles of mankinde (as who seyth, that men han no power to doon no-thing, ne wilne no-thing), than folweth it, that oure vyces ben referred to 200 the maker of alle good (as who seyth, than folweth it, that god oughte han the blame of oure vyces, sin he constraineth us by necessites to doon vyces). Thanne is ther no resoun to hopen in god, ne for to preyen
 205 to god; for what sholde any wight hopen to god, or why sholde he preyen to god, sin that the ordenaunce of destinee, which that ne may nat ben inclyned, knitteth and streineth alle thinges that men may 210 desiren? Thanne sholde ther be doon awey thilke only allyaunce bitwixen god and men, that is to seyn, to hopen and to preyen. But by the prys of rightwisnesse and of verray mekenesse we deserwen the 215 gardoun of the divyne grace, which that is inestimable, that is to seyn, that it is so greet, that it ne may nat ben ful y-preyed. And this is only the manere, that is to seyn, hope and preyeres, for which it
 220 semeth that men mowen speke with god, and by resoun of supplicacioun be conjoined to thilke cleernesse, that nis nat aproched no rather or that men beseken it and impetren it. And yif men wene
 225 nat that hope ne preyeres ne han no strengthes, by the necessitee of thinges to comen y-received, what thing is ther thanne by whiche we mowen ben conjoined and clyven to thilke sovereign 230 prince of thinges? For which it bihoveth, by necessitee, that the linage of mankinde, as thou songe a litel her-bifrom, be departed and unjoined from his welle, and fallen of his beginninge, that is to 235 seyn, god.

METRE III. Quenam discors federa rerum.

What discordable cause hath to-rent
and unjoined the bindings, or the alliaunce, of things, that is to seyn, the conjunctioun
of god and man? Whiche god hath 5 established so greet bataille bitwixen these two soothfast or verray things, that is to seyn, bitwixen the purviaunce of god and free wil, that they ben singular and devyded, ne that they ne wolen nat 10 to be medeled ne coupled to-gidere? But ther nis no discord to the verray things, but they clyven, certain, alwey to hem-self. But the thought of man, confounded and overthrowen by the dirke membres 15 of the body, ne may nat, by fyr of his derked looking, that is to seyn, by the vigour of his insights, whyl the soule is in the body, knowe the thinne subtil knitt-inges of things. But wherfore enchaufeth 20 it so, by so greet love, to finden thilke notes of sooth y-covered; that is to seyn, wherfore enchaufeth the thought of man by so greet desyr to knowen thilke notificacions that ben y-hid under the covertoures of 25 sooth? Wot it aught thilke thing that it, anguissous, desireth to knowe? As who seith, nay; for no man travaileth for to witen things that he wot. And therfore the tezte seith thus: but who travaileth to 30 witen things y-knowe? And yif that he ne knoweth hem nat, what seketh thilke blinde thought? What is he that desireth any thing of which he wot right naught?
As who seith, who so desireth any thing,
35 nedes, somewhat he knoweth of it; or elles, he ne coude nat desire it. Or who may folwen things that ne ben nat y-wist?
And thogh that he seke tho thinges, wher shal he finde hem? What wight, that is 40 al unconninge and ignoraunt, may knowen the forme that is y-founde? But whan the soule biholdeth and seeth the heye thought, that is to seyn, god, than knoweth it to-gidere the somme and the 45 singularitees, that is to seyn, the principles and overich by him-self. But now, whyl the soule is hid in the cloude and in the derkenesse of the membres of the body, it ne hath nat al for-yeten it-self, but it with-holdeth the somme of things, 50 and leseth the singularitees. Thanne, who-so that seeketh soothnesse, he nis in neither nother habite; for he noot nat al, ne he ne hath nat al foryeten: but yit him remembreth the somme of things 55

that he with-holdeth, and axeth conseil, and retreteth deepliche things y-seyn biforn, that is to seyn, the grete somme in his minde: so that he mowe adden the parties that he hath for-yeten to thilke 60 that he hath with-holden.'

PROSE IV. Tum illa: Vetus, inquit, hec est.

Thanne seide she: 'this is,' quod she,
'the olde question of the purviaunce of god; and Marcus Tullius, whan he de-vyded the divynaciouns, that is to seyn, in his book that he wroot of divynaciouns, he 5 moevede grety this questioun; and thou thy-self has y-sought it mochel, and outrely, and longe; but yit ne hath it nat ben determined ne y-sped fermely and diligently of any of yow. And the 10 cause of this derkenesse and of this difficultee is, for that the moevings of the resoun of mankinde ne may nat moeven to (that is to seyn, applyen or joinen to) the simplicitee of the devyne prescience; the 15
whiche simplicitee of the devyne prescience, yif that men mighten thinken it in any maner, that is to seyn, that yif men mighten thinken and comprehend the things as god seeth hem, thanne ne sholde ther 20 dwellen outrely no doute: the whiche resoun and cause of difficultee I shal assaye at the laste to shewe and to speden, whan I have first y-spended and answered to the resouns by which thou art y- 25 moeved. For I axe why thou wenest that thilke resouns of hem that assoilen this questioun ne ben nat speedful y-nough ne sufficient: the whiche solucioun, or the whiche resoun, for that it demeth that 30
the prescience nis nat cause of necessitee to thinges to comen, than ne weneth it nat that freedom of wil be destorbed or y-let by prescience. For ne drawestow nat arguments from elles-where of the 35 necessitee of thinges to-comen (as who seith, any other way than thus) but that thilke thinges that the prescience wot biforn ne mowen nat unbityde? That is to seyn, that they moten bityde. But thanne, yif that prescience ne putteth no necessitee to thinges to comen, as thou thy-self hast confessed it and bi-knownen a litel her-biforn, what cause or 45 what is it (as who seith, ther may no cause be) by which that the endes voluntarie of thinges mighten be constrained to certein bitydingo? For by grace of positioun, so that thou mowe the betere understonde

50 this that folweth, I pose, per impossibile, that ther be no prescience. Thanne axe I, quod she, 'in as mochel as apertieneth to that, sholden thanne thinges that comen of free wil ben constrained to bi-55 tyden by necessitee?' Boece. 'Nay,' quod I.

'Thanne ayeinward,' quod she, 'I suppose that ther be prescience, but that it ne putteth no necessitee to thinges; thanne trowe I, that thilke selve freedom of wil shal dwellen al hool and absolut and unbounden. But thou wolt seyn that, al-be-it so that prescience nis nat cause of the necessitee of bitydinge to 60 thinges to comen, algates yit it is a signe that the thinges ben to bityden by necessitee. By this manere thanne, although the prescience ne hadde never y-ben, yit algate or at the leeste weye it
70 is certein thing, that the endes and bitydinges of thinges to comen sholden ben necessaria. For every signe sheweth and signifyeth only what the thing is, but it ne maketh nat the thing that it
75 signifyeth. For which it bihoveth first to shewen, that no-thing ne bitydeth that it ne bitydeth by necessitee, so that it may appere that the prescience is signe of this necessitee; or elles, yif ther nere
80 no necessitee, certes, thilke prescience ne mighte nat be signe of thing that nis nat. But certes, it is now certein that the proeve of this, y-sustened by stidefast resoun, ne shal nat ben lad ne proved 85 by signes ne by arguments y-taken fro with-oute, but by causes covenable and necessaria. But thou mayst seyn, how may it be that the thinges ne bityden nat that ben y-purveyed to comen? But, certes, right as we trowen that the 90 thinges which that the purviance wot biforn to comen ne ben nat to bityden; but that ne sholden we nat demen; but rather, al-thogh that they shal bityden, yit ne have they no necessitee of hir

95 kinde to bityden. And this maystow lightly aperceiven by this that I shal seyn. For we seen many thinges whan they ben don biforn oure eyen, right as men seen the carters worken in the 100 torninge or atampringe or adressinge of hise cartes or charietes. And by this manere (as who seith, maystow understonde) of alle othere workmen. Is ther thanne any necessitee, as who seith, in oure
105 lokinge, that constraineth or compelleth any of thilke thinges to ben don so?' Boece. 'Nay,' quod I; 'for in ydel and in veyn were al the effect of craft, yif that alle thinges weren moeved by con-110 streininge;' that is to seyn, by constraininge of oure eyen or of oure sight.

'The thinges thanne,' quod she, 'that, whan men doon hem, ne han no necessitee that men doon hem, eek the same 115 thinges, first or they ben doon, they ben to comen with-oute necessitee. For-why ther ben somme thinges to bityden, of which the endes and the bitydinges of hem ben absolut and quit of alle neces-
120 sitee. For certes, I ne trowe nat that any man wolde seyn this: that the thinges that men doon now, that they ne weren to bityden first or they weren y-doon; and thilke same thinges, al-
125 thogh that men had y-wist hem biforn, yit they han free bitydinges. For right as science of thinges present ne bringeth in no necessitee to thinges that men doon, right so the prescience of thinges
130 to comen ne bringeth in no necessitee to thinges to bityden. But thou mayst seyn, that of thilke same it is y-douted, as whether that of thilke thinges that ne han non issues and bitydinges necessaries, 135 yif ther-of may ben any prescience; for certes, they semen to discorden. For thou wenest that, yif that thinges ben

y-seyn biforn, that necessitee folweth 140 hem; and yif necessitee failleth hem, they ne mighten nat ben wist biforn,
 and that no-thing ne may ben comprehended by science but certain; and yif the things that ne han no certain bi-145 tydings ben purveyed as certain, it sholde ben dirknesse of opinioun, nat soothfastnesse of science. And thou wenest that it be diverse fro the hoolnesse of science that any man sholde 150 deme a thing to ben other-ways thanne
 it is it-self. And the cause of this erroure is, that of alle the thinges that every wight hath y-knowe, they wenen that the thinges been y-knowe al-only by the 155 strengthe and by the nature of the thinges that ben y-wist or y-knowe; and it is al the contrarie. For al that ever is y-knowe, it is rather comprehended and knowen, nat after his strengthe and 160 his nature, but after the facultee, that is to seyn, the power and the nature, of hem that knowen. And, for that this thing shal mowen shewen by a shorth ensample:
 the same roundnesse of a body, other-165 ways the sighte of the eye knoweth it, and other-ways the touchinge. The lokinge, by castinge of his beemes, waiteth and seeth from afer al the body to-gidere, with-oute moevinge of it-self; but the 170 touchinge clyveth and conjoineth to the rounde body, and moeveth aboute the envioninge, and comprehendeth by parties the roundnesse. And the man him-self, other-ways wit biholdeth him, 175 and other-ways imaginacioun, and other-ways resoun, and other-ways intelligeance.
 For the wit comprehendeth withouteforth the figure of the body of the man that is established in the matere subject; 180 but the imaginacioun comprehendeth only the figure withoute the matere.
 Resoun surmounteth imaginacioun, and comprehendeth by universal lokinge the comune spece that is in the singular 185 peces. But the eye of intelligence is beyere; for it surmounteth the environ-inge of the universitee, and looketh, over that, by pure subtilitee of thought, thilke same simple forme of man that is perdurably in the dirtye thought. In whiche 190 this oughte greetly to ben considered, that the heyeste strengthe to comprehenden thinges enbraseth and contieneth the lowere strengthe; but the lowere strengthe ne aryseth nat in no manere 195 to heyere strengthe. For wit ne may no-thing comprehende out of matere, ne

 the imaginacioun ne loketh nat the uni-versels speces, ne resoun taketh nat the simple forme so as intelligence taketh it; 200
 but intelligence, that looketh al aboven, whan it hath comprehended the forme,
 it knoweth and demeth alle the thinges that ben under that forme. But she knoweth hem in thilke manere in the 205 whiche it comprehendeth thilke same simple forme that ne may never ben knowen to none of that other; that is to seyn, to none of the three forseide thinges of the soule. For it knoweth the univer- 210 sitee of resoun, and the figure of the imaginacioun, and the sensible material conceived by wit; ne it ne useth nat nor of resoun ne of imaginacioun ne of wit withoute-forth; but it biholdeth alle 215 thinges, so as I shal seye, by a strok of thought formely, withoute discours or col- lacioun. Certes resoun, whan it looketh any-thing universel, it ne useth nat of imaginacioun, nor of witte, and algates 220 yit it comprehendeth the thinges imaginable and sensible; for resoun is she that diffiniseth the universel of hir conseyte right thus:—man is a reasonable two-foted beest. And how so that this 225 knowinge is universel, yet nis ther no wight that ne woot wel that a man is a thing imaginable and sensible; and this same considereth wel resoun; but that nis nat by imaginacioun nor by wit, 230
 but it looketh it by a reasonable concepcioun. Also imaginacioun, al-be-it so that it taketh of wit the beginninges to seen and to formen the figures, algates, although that wit ne were nat present, yit 235 it environeth and comprehendeth alle thinges sensible; nat by resoun sensible of deminge, but by resoun imaginatif.
 Seestow nat thanne that alle the thinges,
 in knowinge, usen more of hir facultee 240

or of hir power than they doon of the facultee or power of thinges that ben y-knowe? Ne that nis nat wrong; for so as every jugement is the dede or doinge 245 of him that demeth, it bihoveth that every wight performe the werk and his entencioun, nat of foreine power, but of his propre power.

METRE IV. Quondam porticus attulit.

The Porche, that is to seyn, a gate of the town of Athenes ther-as philosophres hadden hir congregacioun to disputen, thilke Porche broughte som-tyme olde
 5 men, ful derke in hir sentences, that is to seyn, philosophres that highten Stoiciens, that wenden that images and sensibilitees, that is to seyn, sensible imaginaciouns, or elles imaginaciouns of sensible
 10 thinges, weren empreinted in-to sowles fro bodies withoute-forth; as who seith, that thilke Stoiciens wenden that the soules hadde ben naked of it-self, as a mirour or a clene parchemin, so that alle figures
 15 mosten first comen fro thinges fro withoute-forth in-to sowles, and ben empreinted in-to sowles: Text: right as we ben wont som-tyme, by a swifte pointel, to fiochen
 20 in the plainnesse of the table of wax or in parchemin that ne hath no figure ne note in it. Glose. But now argueth Boece ayens that opinioun, and seith thus:
 25 But yif the thryvinge sowle ne unpleyteth no-thing, that is to seyn, ne doth no-thing, by his propre moevinges, but suffreth and lyth subgit to the figures and to the notes of bodies withoute-forth, and yildeth images ydel and veyn in the 30 manere of a mirour, whennes thryveth thanne or whennes comth thilke knowinge in our sowle, that discerneth and biholdeth alle thinges? And whennes is thilke strengthe that biholdeth the singul-
 35 ler thinges; or whennes is the strengthe that devydeh thinges y-knowe; and thilke strengthe that gadereth to-gidere the thinges devyded; and the strengthe that cheseth his entrechaunged way?

For som-tyme it heveth up the heved, that is to seyn, that it heveth up the entencioun to right heye thinges; and som-tyme it descendeth in-to right lowe thinges. And when it retorneth in-to him-self, it reproeveth and destroyeth the false 45 thinges by the trewe thinges. Certes, this strengthe is cause more efficient, and mochel more mighty to seen and to knowe thinges, than thilke cause that suffreth and receiveth the notes and the
 50 figures impressed in maner of matere. Algates the passioun, that is to seyn, the suffraunce or the wit, in the quike body, goth biforn, excitinge and moevinge the strengthes of the thought. Right so as
 55 whan that cleernesse smyteth the eye and moeveth hem to seen, or right so as vois or soun hurteleth to the eres and commoeveth hem to herkne, than is the strengthe of the thought y-mooved and 60 excited, and clepeth forth, to semblable moevinges, the spees that it halt with-inne it-self; and addeth the spees to the notes and to the thinges withoute-forth, and medleth the images of thinges 65 withoute-forth to tho formes y-hidde with-inne him-self.

PROSE V. Quod si in corporibus sentiendia.

But what yif that in bodies to ben feled, that is to seyn, in the takinge of knowelechinge of bodily thinges, and al-be-it so that the qualitees of bodies, that ben objecte fro withoute-forth, moeven
 5 and entalenten the instruments of the wittes; and al-be-it so that the passioun of the body, that is to seyn, the wit or the suffraunce, goth to-forne the strengthe of the workinge corage, the which passioun
 10 or suffraunce clepeth forth the dede of the thought in him-self, and moeveth and exciteth in this mene whyle the formes that resten withinne-forth; and yif that, in sensible bodies, as I have seyd, our 15 corage nis nat y-taught or empreinted by passioun to knowe thise thinges, but demeth and knoweth, of his owne strengthe, the passioun or suffraunce

20 subject to the body: moche more thanne tho thinges that ben absolut and quite fro alle talents or affectiones of bodies, as god or his aungeles, ne folwen nat in discerninge thinges object fro withoute-25 forth, but they accomplisshen and speden
 the dede of hir thought. By this resoun thanne ther comen many maner know-inges to dyverse and differinge substances. For the wit of the body, the 30 whiche wit is naked and despoiled of alle other knowinges, thilke wit comth to beestes that ne mowen nat moeven hem-self her and ther, as oystres and muscules, and other wiche shelle-fish of 35 the see, that clyven and ben norisshed to roches. But the imaginacioun comth to remuable beestes, that semen to han talent to fien or to desiren any thing.
 But resoun is al-only to the linage of 40 mankinde, right as intelligence is only [to] the devyne nature: of which it fol-weth, that thilke knowinge is more worth than thise othre, sin it knoweth by his propre nature nat only his subject, as 45 who seith, it ne knoweth nat al-only that apertieneth properly to his knowinge, but it knoweth the subjects of alle other knowinges. But how shal it thanne be, yif that wit and imaginacioun stryven 50 ayein resoninge, and seyn, that of thilke universel thing that resoun weneth to seen, that it nis right naught? For wit and imaginacioun seyn that that, that is sensible or imaginable, it ne may nat be 55 universel. Thanne is either the jugement of resoun sooth, ne that ther nis nothing sensible; or elles, for that resoun wot wel that many thinges ben subject to wit and to imaginacioun, thanne is 60 the concepcioun of resoun veyn and false, which that loketh and comprehendeth that that is sensible and singuler as universel. And yif that resoun wolde answeren ayein to thise two, that is to 65 seyn, to witte and to imaginacioun, and seyn, that soothly she hir-self, that is to seyn, resoun, loketh and comprehendeth, by resoun of universalitee, bothe that that is sensible and that that is imagin-70 able; and that thilke two, that is to seyn.

wit and imaginacioun, ne mowen nat strecchen ne enhansen hem-self to the knowinge of universalitee, for that the knowinge of hem ne may exceden ne surmounte the bodily figures: certes, of 75
 the knowinge of thinges, men oughten rather yeven credence to the more stede-fast and to the more parfit jugement.
 In this maner stryvinge thanne, we that han strengthe of resoninge and of 80
 imagininge and of wit, that is to seyn,
by resoun and by imaginacioun and by wit, we sholde rather preyse the cause of resoun; as who seith, than the cause of wit and of imaginacioun. 85

Semblable thing is it, that the resoun of mankinde ne weneth nat that the devyne intelligence bi-holdeth or knoweth thinges to comen, but right as the resoun of mankinde knoweth hem. For 90 thou arguest and seyst thus: that yif
 it ne seme nat to men that some thinges han certein and necessarie bitydinges, they ne mowen nat ben wist biforn certainly to bityden. And thanne nis ther 95 no prescience of thilke thinges; and yif
 we trowe that prescience be in thise thinges, thanne is ther no-thing that it ne bitydeth by necessitee. But certes, yif we mighten han the jugement of the 100 devyne thought, as we ben parsoneres of resoun, right so as we han demed that it behoveth that imaginacioun and wit be binethe resoun, right so wolde we demen that it were rightful thing, that 105 mannes resoun oughte to submitten itself and to ben binethe the divyne thought. For which, yif that we mowen, as who seith, that, yif that we mowen,
I counseyle, that we enhanse us in-to the 110
heighte of thilke sovereyn intelligence;
 for ther shal resoun wel seen that, that it ne may nat biholden in it-self. And certes that is this, in what maner the prescience of god seeth alle thinges cer- 115
 teins and diffinissed, al-though they ne han no certein issues or bitydinges; ne this is non opinioun, but it is rather the simplicitee of the sovereyn science, that nis nat enclosed nor y-shet within none 120 boundes.

METRE V. Quam uariis terris animalia permeant fluria.

The beestes passen by the erthes by ful diverse figures. For som of hem han hir bodies straught and crepen in the dust, and drawn after hem a tras or a foruh
 5 y-continued; that is to seyn, as nadres or snakes. And other beestes, by the wandring lightnesse of hir winges, beten the windes, and over-swimmen the spaces of the longe eyr by moist fleeing. And other
 10 beestes gladen hem-self to diggen hir tras or hir steppes in the erthe with hir goings or with hir feet, and to goon either by the grene foldes, or elles to walken under the wodes. And al-be-it so that thou
 15 seest that they alle disoordyn by diverse formes, algates hir faces, enclined, hevieth hir dulle wittes. Only the linage of man heveth heyeste his heye heved, and stondeth light with his up-right body,
 20 and biholdeth the erthes under him. And, but-yif thou, ertihly man, wexeest yvel out of thy wit, this figure amonesteth thee, that axest the hevene with thy righte visage, and hast areysed thy fore-25 heved, to beren up a-heigh thy corage; so that thy thought ne be nat y-heved ne put lowe under fote, sin that thy body is so heye areysed.

PROSE VI. Quoniam igitur, uti paullo ante.

Therfor thanne, as I have shewed a lital her-biforn, that al thing that is y-wist nis nat knowen by his nature propre, but by the nature of hem that 5 comprehenden it, lat us loke now, in as mochel as it is lewful to us, as who seith, lat us loke now as we mowen, which that the estat is of the devyne substaunce; so that we mowen eek knowen what his 10 science is. The commune judgement of alle creatures reasonables thanne is this: that god is eterne. Lat us considere thanne what is eternitee; for certes that shal shewen us to-gidere the devyne 15 nature and the devyne science. Eternitee, thanne, is parfit possessioun and al-togidere of lyf interminable; and that sheweth more clearly by the comparison or the collacioun of temporel thinges. For al thing that liveth in tyme it is present, and procedeth fro preterits in-to 20 futures, that is to seyn, fro tyme passed in-to tyme cominge; ne ther nis no-thing established in tyme that may embracen to-gider al the space of his lyf. For certes, yit ne hath it taken the tyme of 25 to-morwe, and it hath lost the tyme of yisterday. And certes, in the lyf of this day, ye ne liven no more but right as in the moevable and transitorie moment. Thanne thilke thing that suffreth tem-

 30 porel condicioun, al-though that it never bigan to be, ne thogh it never cese for to be, as Aristotle demed of the world, and al-though that the lyf of it be strecched with infinite of tyme, yit algates nis
 35 it no swich thing that men mighten trowen by right that it is eterne. For al-though that it comprehendende and embrace the space of lyf infinit, yit algates ne embraceth it nat the space of the lyf
 40 al-togider; for it ne hath nat the futures that ne ben nat yit, ne it ne hath no lenger the preterits that ben y-doon or y-passed. But thilke thing thanne, that hath and comprehendeth to-gider al the plente of 45 the lyf interminable, to whom ther ne failleth naught of the future, and to whom ther nis naught of the preterit escaped nor y-passed, thilke same is y-witnessed and y-prooved by right to be eterne. And so
 50 it bihoveth by necessitee that thilke thing be al-wey present to him-self, and compotent; as who seith, al-wey present to him-self, and so mighty that al be right at his plesaunce; and that he have al present
 55 the infinitee of the moevable tyme. Wher-for som men trowen wrongfully that, when they heren that it semede to Plato that this world ne hadde never 60 beginninge of tyme, ne that it never 60 shal han failinge, they wenen in this maner that this world be makend coeterne with his maker; as who seith, they wene that this world and god ben makend togider eterne, and that is a wrongful weninge. 65
 For other thing is it to ben y-lad by lyf interminable, as Plato graunted to the world, and other thing is it to embrace to-gider al the present of the lyf inter-70 minable, the whiche thing it is cleer and manifest that it is prope to the devyne thought.

Ne it ne sholde nat semen to us, that god is elder thanne thinges that ben y-maked 75 by quantitee of tyme, but rather by the propertes of his simple nature. For this ilke infinit moevinge of temporel thinges folweth this presentarie estat of lyf unmoeveable; and so as it ne may nat
80 countrefeten it ne feynen it ne be evenlyke to it for the inmoevabletee, that is to seyn, that is in the eternitee of god, it failleth and falleth in-to moevinge fro the simplicitee of the presence of god, and
85 disencreseth in-to the infinit quantitee of future and of preterit: and so as it ne may nat han to-gider al the plentee of the lyf, algates yit, for as moche as it ne ceseth never for to ben in som maner, it
90 semeth som-del to us, that it folweth and resembleth thilke thing that it ne may nat stayne to ne fulfillen, and bindeth it-self to som maner presence of this lital and swift moment: the which presence
95 of this lital and swift moment, for that it bereth a maner image or lyknesse of the ay-dwelling presence of god, it graunteth, to swiche manerthinges as it bitydeth to, that it semeth hem as these thinges 100 han y-ben, and ben.

And, for that the presence of swich lital moment ne may nat dwelle, ther-for it ravished and took the infinit wey of tyme, that is to seyn, by successioun; and 105 by this maner is it y-doon, for that it sholde continue the lyf in goinge, of the whiche lyf it ne mighte nat embrace the plentee in dwellinge. And for-ty, yif we wollen putten worthy names to 110 thinges, and folwen Plato, lat us seye thanne soothly, that god is eterne, and the world is perpetuel. Thanne, sin that every jugement knoweth and comprehendeth by his owne nature thinges that ben 115 subject un-to him, ther is soothly to god, al-ways, an eterne and presentarie estat; and the science of him, that over-passeth

al temporel moevement, dwelleth in the simplicitee of his presence, and embraceth and considereth alle the infinit spaces of 120 tymes, preterits and futures, and loketh, in his simple knowinge, alle thinges of preterit right as they weren y-doon presently right now. Yif thou wolt thanne thenken and avyse the prescience, by 125 which it knoweth alle thinges, thou ne shal nat demen it as prescience of thinges to comen, but thou shalt demen it more rightfully that it is science of presence or of instauce, that never ne failleth. For 130 which it nis nat y-cleped "previdence," but it sholde rather ben cleped "purviance," that is established ful fer fro right lowe thinges, and biholdeth from a-fer alle thinges, right as it were fro the 135 heye heighte of thinges. Why axestow thanne, or why disputestow thanne, that thilke thinges ben doon by necessitee whiche that ben y-seyn and knowen by the devyne sighte, sin that, forsothe, men 140 ne maken nat thilke thinges necessarie which that they seen ben y-doon in hir sighte? For addeth thy biholdinge any necessitee to thilke thinges that thou biholdest presents? 'Nay,' quod I.
145

Philosophie. 'Certes, thanne, if men mighte maken any digne comparisoun or collacioun of the presence devyne and of the presence of mankinde, right so as ye seen some thinges in this temporel present, right so seeth god alle thinges by 150 his eterne present. Wher-for this devyne prescience ne chaungeth nat the nature ne the propertee of thinges, but biholdeth swiche thinges present to him-155 ward as they shullen bityde to yow-ward in tyme to comen. Ne it confoundeth nat the jugement of thinges; but by o sighte of his thought, he knoweth the thinges to comen, as wel necessarie as nat
160 necessarie. Right so as whan ye seen to-gider a man walken on the erthe and the sonne arysen in the heveme, al-be-it so that ye seen and biholden that oon and that other to-gider, yit natheles ye demen 165 and discernen that that oon is voluntarie and that other necessarie. Right so thanne the devyne lookinge, biholdinge alle thinges under him, ne troubleth nat 170 the qualitee of thinges that ben certainly present to him-ward ; but, as to the con-dicion of tyme, forsothe, they ben future. For which it folweth, that this nis noon opinioun, but rather a stedefast 175 knowinge, y-strengthened by soothnesse, that, whanne that god knoweth anything to be, he ne unwot nat that thilke thing wanteth necessitee to be ; this is to seyn, that, whan that god knoweth any thing to 180 bityde, he wol wel that it ne hath no neces- sities to bityde. And yif thou seyst heer, that thilke thing that god seeth to bityde, it ne may nat unbityde (as who seeth, it mot bityde), and thilke thing that 185 ne may nat unbityde it mot bityde by necessitee, and that thou streyne me by this name of necessitee : certes, I wol wel confessen and biknows a thing of ful sad trouthe, but unne the shal ther any wight 190 mowe seen it or come ther-to, but-yif that he be biholder of the devyne thought. For I wol answeren thee thus : that thilke thing that is future, whan it is referred to the devyne knowinge, thanne is it 195 necessarie ; but certes, whan it is understonden in his owne kinde, men seen it is outrelly free, and absolut fro alle necessitee.

For certes, ther ben two maneres of 200 necessitee. That oon necessitee is simple, as thus : that it bihoveth by necessitee,
 that alle men be mortal or deedly.
 Another necessitee is conditionel, as thus :
 yif thou wost that a man walketh, it 205 bihoveth by necessitee that he walke.
 Thilke thing thanne that any wight hath y-knowe to be, it ne may ben non other weyes thanne he knoweth it to be. But this condicion ne draweth nat with hir 210 thilke necessitee simple. For certes, this necessitee conditionel, the propre nature of it ne maketh it nat, but the adjeocion of the condicion maketh it. For no necessitee ne constreyneth a man to gon, 215 that goth by his propre wil ; al-be-it so that, whan he goth, that it is necessarie that he goth. Right on this same maner thanne, yif that the purviaunce of god seeth any thing present, than mot thilke thing ben by necessitee, al-though that it 220

 ne have no necessitee of his owne nature.
 But certes, the futures that bityden by freedom of arbitre, god seeth hem alle to-gider present. These thinges thanne, yif they ben referred to the devyne sighte, thanne 225 ben they maked necessarie by the con-dicion of the devyne knowinge. But certes, yif thilke thinges be considered by hem-self, they ben absolut of necessites, and ne forleten nat ne cessen nat of the 230
 libertee of hir owne nature. Thanne, certes, with-oute doute, alle the thinges shollen ben doon which that god wot biforn that they ben to comen. But som of hem comen and bityden of free arbitre 235 or of free wille, that, al-be-it so that they bityden, yit algates ne lese they nat hir propre nature in beinge ; by the which first, or that they weren y-doon, they hadden power nat to han bitid.' Boece. 240
 'What is this to seyn thanne,' quod I,
 'that thinges ne ben nat necessarie by hir propre nature, so as they comen in alle maneres in the lyknesse of necessitee by the condicion of the devyne science?' 245
 'This is the difference,' quod she ; 'that the thinges that I purposede thee a litel heer-biforn, that is to seyn, the sonne aryainge and the man walkinge, that, ther-whyles that thilke thinges been y- 250
 doon, they ne mighte nat ben undoon ;
 natheles, that oon of hem, or it was y-doon, it bihoveth by necessitee that it was y-doon, but nat that other. Right so is it here, that the thinges that god hath 255 present, with-oute doute they shollen been. But som of hem descendeth of the nature of thinges, as the sonne aryainge ;
 and som descendeth of the power of the doeres, as the man walkinge. Thanne 260 seide I no wrong, that yif these thinges
 ben referred to the devyne knowinge, thanne ben they necessarie ; and yif they ben considered by hem-self, thanne ben they absolut fro the bond of necessites. 265 Right so as alle thinges that apereth or sheweth to the wittes, yif thou referre it to resoun, it is universel ; and yif thou referre it or loke it to it-self, than is it singular. But now, yif thou seyst thus, 270 that yif it be in my power to chaunge my purpos, than shal I voide the purviaunce of god, whan that, peraventure, I shal han changed the things that he know-275 eth biforn, thanne shal I answee thee thus. Certes, thou mayst wel chaunge thy purpos; but, for as mochel as the present soothnesse of the devyne purviaunce biholdeth that thou mayst 280 change thy purpos, and whether thou wolt change it or no, and whiderward that thou torne it, thou ne mayst nat eschuen the devyne prescience; right as thou ne mayst nat fleen the sighte of the 285 presente eye, al-though that thou torne thy-self by thy free wil in-to dyverse acciouns. But thou mayst seyn ayein:

 "How shal it thanne be? Shal nat the devyne science be changed by my dis-290 posicioun, whan that I wol o thing now, and now another? And thilke prescience, ne semeth it nat to entrechaunge stoundes of knowinge;" as who seith, ne shal it nat
seme to us, that the devyne prescience entre-295 chaungeth hise dyverse stoundes of know- inge, so that it knowe sum-tyms o thing and sum-tyms the contrarie of that thing?
 'No, forsothe,' quod I.

Philosophie. 'For the devyne sighte 300 renneth to-forn and seeth alle futures, and clepeth hem ayein, and retorneth hem to the presence of his propre know-inge; ne he ne entrechaungeth nat, so as thou weneest, the stoundes of forknow-305 inge, as now this, now that; but he ay-dwellinge comth biforn, and embraceth at o strook alle thy mutaciouns. And this presence to comprehendend and to seen alle things, god ne hath nat taken it of 310 the bytydinge of things to come, but of his propre simplicitee. And her-by is assolled thilke thing that thou puttest a litel her-biforn, that is to seyn, that it is unworthy thing to seyn, that our futures yeven cause of the science of god. For 315 certes, this strengthe of the devyne science, which that embraceth alle things by his presentarie knowinge, establissheth maner to alle things, and it ne oweth naught to latter things; and 320 sin that these things ben thus, that is to seyn, sin that necessitee nis nat in things by the devyne prescience, than is ther freedom of arbitre, that dwelleth hool and unwemmed to mortal men. Ne the lawes ne 325 purposen nat wikkedly medes and peynes to the willinges of men that ben un-bounden and quite of alle necessitee. And god, biholder and for-witer of alle thinges, dwelleth above; and the present sternitee 330 of his sighte renneth alwey with the dyverse qualitee of oure dedes, dispens-inge and ordeyninge medes to goode men, and torments to wikked men. Ne in ydel ne in veyn ne ben ther nat put in god 335 hope and preyeres, that ne mowen nat ben unspeedful ne with-oute effect, whan they ben rightful. Withstond thanne and eschue thou vyces; worshipec and love thou virtues; areys thy corage to right-340 ful hopes; yilde thou humble preyeres a-heigh. Gret necessitee of prowesse and vertu is encharged and commaunded to yow, yif ye nil nat dissimulen; sin that ye worken and doon, that is to seyn, 345 your dedes or your workes, biforn the eyen of the juge that seeth and demeth alle thinges.' To whom be glorye and worshipec

by infinit tyms. Amen.

TROILUS AND CRISEYDE.

BOOK I.

1. The double sorwe of Troilus to tellen,
That was the king Priamus sone of
Troye,
In lovinge, how his aventures fellen
Fro wo to wale, and after out of joye,
My purpos is, er that I parte fro ye. 5
Thesiphone, thou help me for t'endyte
These woful vers, that wepen as I wryte!
2. To thee clepe I, thou goddesse of torment,
Thou cruel Furie, sorwing ever in payne;
Help me, that am the sorwful instrument
That helpeth lovers, as I can, to pleyne!
For wel sit it, the sothe for to seyne, 12
A woful wight to han a drery fere,
And, to a sorwful tale, a sory chere.
3. For I, that god of Loves servaunts serve,
Ne dar to Love, for myn unlyklinesse, 16
Preyen for speed, al sholde I therfor
sterve,
So fer am I fro his help in derknesse;
But natheless, if this may doon gladnesse
To any lover, and his cause avayle, 20
Have he my thank, and myn be this tra-vayle!
4. But ye loveres, that bathen in glad-
nesse,
If any drope of pites in yow be,
Remembreth yow on passed heviness
That ye han felt, and on the adversitee 25
Of othere folk, and thenketh how that ye
Han felt that Love dorste yow displese;
Or ye han wonne him with to greet an ese.
5. And preyeth for hem that ben in the cas
Of Troilus, as ye may after here, 30
That love hem bringe in hevene to solas,
And eek for me preyeth to god so dere,
That I have might to shewe, in som
manere,
Swich payne and wo as Loves folk endure,
In Troilus unsely aventure. 35
6. And biddeth eek for hem that been despeyred
in love, that never nil recovered be,
And eek for hem that falsly been apeyred Thorough wikked tonges, be it he or she;
Thus biddeth god, for his benignitee, 40
To graunte hem sone out of this world to pace,
That been despeyred out of Loves grace.
7. And biddeth eek for hem that been at
ese,
That god hem graunte ay good perseveraunce,
And sende hem might hir ladies so to
plesa, 45
That it to Love be worship and plesaunce.
For so hope I my soule best avaanee,
To preye for hem that Loves servaunts be,
And wryte hir wo, and live in charitee.
8. And for to have of hem compassioun 50
As though I were hir owene brother dere.
Now herkeneth with a gode entencioun,
For now wol I gon streight to my maters,
In whiche ye may the double sorwes here

- Of Troilus, in loving of Criseyde, 55
 And how that she forsook him er she deyde.
- — —
9. It is wel wist, how that the Grekes
 stronge
 In armes with a thousand shippes wente
 To Troye-wardes, and the citee longe
 Assageden neigh ten yeer er they stente, 60
 And, in diverse wyse and oon entente,
 The ravishing to wreken of Eleyne,
 By Paris doon, they wroughten al hir
 peyne.
10. Now fil it so, that in the toun ther was Dwellinge a lord of greet auctoritee, 65
 A gret devyn that cleped was Calkas,
 That in science so expert was, that he Knew wel that Troye sholde destroyed be,
 By answer of his god, that highte thus,
 Daun Phebus or Apollo Delphicus. 70
11. So whan this Calkas knew by calculinge,
 And eek by answer of this Appollo,
 That Grekes sholden swich a peple bringe, Thorough which that Troye moste been
 for-do,
 He caste anon out of the toun to go; 75
 For wel wiste he, by sort, that Troye
 sholde
 Destroyed been, ye, wolde who-so nolde.
12. For which, for to departen softly
 Took purpos ful this forknowinge wyse,
 And to the Grekes oot ful prively 80
 He stal anon; and they, in courteys wyse,
 Him deden bothe worship and servyse,
 In trust that he hath conning hem to rede
 In every peril which that is to drede
13. The noyse up roos, whan it was first aspyed, 85
 Thorough al the toun, and generally was
 spoken,
 That Calkas traytor fled was, and allyed
 With hem of Grece; and casten to ben wroken
 On him that falaly hadde his feith so
 broken;
 And seyden, he and al his kin at ones 90
 Ben worthy for to brennen, fel and bones.
14. Now hadde Calkas left, in this meschance,
 Al unwist of this false and wikked dede,
 His daughter, which that was in gret
 penaunce,
 For of hir lyf she was ful sore in drede, 95
 As she that niste what was best to rede;
 For bothe a widowe was she, and allone
 Of any freend, to whom she dorste hir
 mone.
15. Criseyde was this lady name a-right;
 As to my dome, in al Troyes citee 100
 Nas noon so fair, for passing every wight
 So angellyk was hir natyf beautee,
 That lyk a thing immortal semed she,
 As doth an hevenish parfyt creature,
 That down were sent in scorning of
 nature. 105
16. This lady, which that al-day herde at
 ere Hir fadres shame, his falsnesse and tresoun,
 Wel nigh out of hir wit for sorwe and fere,
 In widewes habit large of samit broun,
 On knees she fil biforn Ector a-doun; 110
 With pitous voys, and tendraly wepinge,
 His mercy bad, hir-selven excusinge.
17. Now was this Ector pitous of nature,
 And saw that she was sorwfully bigoon,
 And that she was so fair a creature; 115
 Of his goodnesse he gladed hir anon,
 And seyde, 'lat your fadres tresoun goon Forth with mischaunce, and ye your-self,
 in joye,
 Dwelleth with us, whyl you good list, in Troye.
18. And al th'onour that men may doon yow have, 120
 As ferforth as your fader dwelled here,
 Yes hul han, and your body shal men save,
 As fer as I may ought enquire or here.'
 And she him thonked with ful humble
 chere,
 And offer wolde, and it hadde ben his
 wille, 125
 And took hir leve, and hoom, and held hir stille.

19. And in hir hous she abood with swich meynee
As to hir honour nede was to holde ;
And whyl she was dwellinge in that citee, Kepte hir estat, and bothe of yonge and
olde 130
Ful wel beloved, and wel men of hir tolde.
But whether that she children hadde or
noon,
I rede it nought ; therefore I lete it goon.
20. The thinges fellen, as they doon of
werre,
Bitwixen hem of Troye and Grekes
ofte ; 135
For som day boughten they of Troye it
derre,
And eft the Grekes founden no thing softe
The folk of Troye ; and thus fortune on-
lofte,
And under eft, gan hem to wheelen bothe
After hir cours, ay whyl they were wrothe.
21. But how this toun com to destruccioun 141
Ne falleth nought to purpos me to telle ;
For it were here a long digressioun
Fro my matere, and yow to longe dwelle.
But the Troyane gastes, as they felle, 145
In Omer, or in Dares, or in Dyte, Who-so that can, may rede hem as they
wryte.
22. But though that Grekes hem of Troye shetten,
And hir citee bisegede al a-boute,
Hir olde usage wolde they not letten, 150
As for to honoure hir goddes ful devoute ;
But aldermost in honour, out of doute,
They hadde a relik hight Palladion,
That was hir trist a-boven everichon.
23. And so bifel, whan comen was the
tyme 155
Of Aperil, whan clothed is the mede
With newe grene, of lusty Ver the pryme,
And swote smellen floures whyte and rede,
In sondry wyse shewed, as I rede,
The folk of Troye hir observaunces olde,
Palladiones feste for to holde. 161
24. And to the temple, in al hir beste wyse,
In general, ther wente many a wight ;
- To herknen of Palladion the seryyse ;
And namely, so many a lusty knight, 165
So many a lady fresh and mayden bright,
Ful wel arayed, bothe moste and leste,
Ye, bothe for the seson and the feste.
25. Among thise othere folk was Criseyda,
In widewes habite blak ; but natheless,
Right as our firste lettre is now an A, 171
In beautee first so stood she, makelees ;
Hir godly looking gladede al the prees.
Nas never seyn thing to ben preyed derre,
Nor under cloude blak so bright a sterre
26. As was Criseyde, as folk seyde everich-
oon 176
That hir bihelden in hir blake wede ;
And yet she stood ful lowe and stille
alloon,
Bihinden othere folk, in litel brede,
And neigh the dore, ay under shames
drede, 180
Simple of a-tyr, and debonaire of chere,
With ful assured loking and manere.
27. This Troilus, as he was wont to gyde His yonge knightes, ladde hem up and
doun
In thilke large temple on every syde, 185
Biholding ay the ladyes of the toun,
Now here, now there, for no devocioun
Hadde he to noon, to reven him his reste,
But gan to preyse and lakken whom him
leste.
28. And in his walk ful fast he gan to wayten 190
If knight or squyer of his companye
Gan for to syke, or lete his eyen bayten
On any woman that he coude aspye ;
He wolde smyle, and holden it folye,
And seye him thus, ' god wot, she slepeth
softe 195
For love of thee, whan thou tornest ful
ofte !
29. ' I have herd told, pardieux, of your
livinge,
Ye lovers, and your lewede observaunces,
And which a labour folk han in winninge
Of love, and, in the keping, which doutaunces ; 200

And whan your preye is lost, wo and penances;
O verrey foles! nyce and blinde be ye;
Ther nis not oon can war by other be.'

80. And with that word he gan cast up the browe,
Ascaunces, 'lo! is this nought wysly
spoken?' 205

At which the god of love gan loken rowe
Right for degyt, and shoop for to ben
wroken;

He kidde anon his bowe nas not broken;
For sodeynly he hit him at the full;e;
And yet as proud a pekok can he pulle. 210

81. O blinde world, O blinde entencioun!
How ofte falleth al th'effect contraire
Of surquidrye and foul presumpcioun;
For caught is proud, and caught is debonaire.

This Troilus is clomben on the staire, 215
And litel weneth that he moot descenden.
But al-day fayleth thing that foles wenden.

82. As proude Bayard ginneth for to skippe

Out of the way, so priketh him his corn,
Til he a lash have of the longe whippe, 220
Than thenketh he, 'though I prounce al
biforn

First in the trays, ful fat and newe shorn,
Yet am I but an hors, and horses lawe
I moot endure, and with my feres drawe.'

83. So ferde it by this fers and proude
knight; 225

Though he a worthy kinges sone were,
And wende no-thing hadde had swiche
might

Ayens his wil that sholde his herte stere,
Yet with a look his herte wex a-ferre,
That he, that now was most in pryde
above, 230

Wex sodeynly most subget un-to love.

84. For-thy ensample taketh of this man,
Ye wyse, proude, and worthy folkes alle,
To scornen Love, which that so sone can
The freedom of your hertes to him thralle;
For ever it was, and ever it shal bifalle,

That Love is he that alle thing may
binde;

For may no man for-do the lawe of kinde.

85. That this be sooth, hath preved and doth yit; 239

For this trowe I ye knowen, alle or some,
Men reden not that folk han gretter wit
Than they that han be most with love
y-nome;

And strengest folk ben therwith overcome,
The worthiest and grettest of degree; 244
This was, and is, and yet men shal it see.

86. And trowelich it sit wel to be so;

For alderwyset han ther-with ben plesed;
And they that han ben aldermost in wo,
With love han been confortd most and esed; 249

And ofte it hath the cruel herte apesed,
And worthy folk maad worthier of name,
And causeth most to dreden vyce and
shame.

87. Now sith it may not goodly be with-
stonde,

And is a thing so vertuous in kinde,
Refuseth not to Love for to be bonde, 255
Sin, as him-selven list, he may yow binde.
The yerde is bet that bowen wole and
winde

Than that that brest; and therfor I yow
rede

To folwen him that so wel can yow lede.

88. But for to tellen forth in special 260

As of this kinges sone of which I tolde,
And leten other thing collateral,
Of him thanke I my tale for to holde,
Bothe of his joye, and of his cares colde;
And al his werk, as touching this matere,
For I it gan, I wil ther-to referre. 266

89. With-inne the temple he wente him forth playinge,

This Troilus, of every wight aboute,
On this lady and now on that lokinge, Wher-so she were of tounne, or of with-
oute; 270

And up-on cas bifel, that thorough a route
His eye perced, and so depe it wente,
Til on Criseyde it smoot, and ther it
stente.

40. And so deylnly he wex ther-with astoned,
And gan hire bet biholde in thrifty wyse :
'O mercy, god!' thoughte he, 'wher
hastow woned,²⁷⁶
That art so fair and goodly to devyse?'
Ther-with his herte gan to sprede and
ryse,
And softe sighed, lest men mighte him
here,
And caughte a-yein his firste pleyng
chere.²⁸⁰
41. She nas not with the leste of hir stature,
But alle hir limes so wel answeringe
Weren to womanhode, that creature
Was never lasse mannish in seminge.²⁸⁴
And eek the pure wyse of here meninge
Shewede wel, that men might in hir gesse
Honour, estat, and wommanly noblesse.
42. To Troilus right wonder wel with-alle Gan for to lyke hir mening and hir
chere,
Which somdel deynous was, for she leet
falle²⁹⁰
Hir look a lite a-side, in swich manere, Ascaunces, 'what! may I not stonden
here?'
And after that hir loking gan she lighte,
That never thoughte him seen so good a sighte.
43. And of hir look in him ther gan to quiken²⁹⁵
So greet desir, and swich affeccioun,
That in his hertes botme gan to stiken
Of hir his fixe and depe impressioun :
And though he erst hadde poured up and down,²⁹⁹
He was tho glad his hornes in to shrinke ;
Unnethes wiste he how to loke or winke.
44. Lo, he that leet him-selven so konninge,
And scorned hem that loves paynes dryen,
Was ful unwar that love hadde his dwellinge
With-inne the subtille stremes of hir yēn ;
That so deylnly him thoughte he felte
dyan,³⁰⁶
- Right with hir look, the spirit in his
herte ;
Blessed be love, that thus can folk converte !
45. She, this in blak, lykinge to Troilus,
Over alle thing he stood for to biholde ;
Ne his desir, ne wherfor he stood thus,
He neither chere made, ne worde tolde ;
But from a-fer, his maner for to holde,
On other thing his look som-tyme he caste,
And eft on hir, whyl that sefvyse laste.³¹⁵
46. And after this, not fulliche al awhaped,
Out of the temple al esiliche he wente,
Repentinge him that he hadde ever y-japed
Of loves folk, lest fully the descente
Of scorn fille on him-self ; but, what he mente,³²⁰
Lest it were wist on any maner syde,
His wo he gan dissimulen and hyde.
47. Whan he was fro the temple thus departed,
Hestreyght anoon un-to his paleys torneth, Right with hir look thurgh-shoten and thurgh-darted,³²⁵
Al feyneth he in lust that he sojorneth ;
And al his chere and speche also he borneth ;
And ay, of loves servants every whyle,
Him-self to wrye, at hem he gan to smyle.
48. And seyde, 'lord, so ye live al in lest,
Ye loveres ! for the conningest of yow,³³¹
That serveth most ententifich and best,
Him tit as often harm ther-of as prow ;
Your hyre is quit ayein, ye, god wot how !
Nought wel for wel, but scorn for good servyse ;³³⁵
In feith, your ordre is ruled in good wyse !
49. In noun-certeyn ben alle your observaunces,
But it a sely fewe poyntes be ;
Ne no-thing asketh so grete attendaunces
As doth your lay, and that knowe alle ye ;
But that is not the worste, as mote I thee ;
But, tolde I yow the worste poynt, I leve,
Al seyde I sooth, ye wolden at me greve !

50. But tak this, that ye loveres ofte
 eschuwe,
 Or elles doon of good entencioun, 345
 Ful ofte thy lady wole it misconstrue,
 And deme it harm in hir opinioun;
 And yet if she, for other enchesoun,
 Be wrooth, than shalt thou han a groyn
 anon :
 Lord ! wel is him that may be of yow oon !'

51. But for al this, whan that he say his
 tyme, 351
 He held his pees, non other bote him
 gayned ;
 For love bigan his fetheres so to lyme,
 That wel unnethe un-to his folk he feyned
 That othere besye nedes him destrayned ;
 For wo was him, that what to doon he niste, 356
 But bad his folk to goon wher that hem
 liste.

52. And whan that he in chaumbre was
 allone,
 He doun up-on his beddes feet him sette,
 And first he gan to syke, and eft to
 grone, 360
 And thoughte ay on hir so, with-uten
 lette,
 That, as he sat and wook, his spirit mette
 That he hir saw a temple, and al the wyse
 Right of hir loke, and gan it newe avyse.

53. Thus gan he make a mirour of his
 minde, 365
 In which he saugh al hoolly hir figure ;
 And that he wel coude in his herte finde,
 It was to him a right good aventure
 To love swich oon, and if he dide his cure
 To serven hir, yet mighte he falle in
 grace, 370
 Or elles, for oon of hir servaunts pace.

54. Imagininge that travaille nor grame
 Ne mighte, for so goodly oon, be lorn
 As she, ne him for his desir ne shame,
 Al were it wist, but in prys and up-born
 Of alle lovers wel more than biforn ; 376
 Thus argued he in his ginninge,
 Ful unavyssed of his wo cominge.

55. Thus took he purpos loves craft to suwe,
 And thoughte he wolde werken prively,

First, to hyden his desir in muwe 381
 From every wight y-born, al-outraly,
 But he mighte ought recovered be therby ;
 Remembering him, that love to wyde y-
 blowe Yelt bittre fruyt, though swete seed be sowe. 385

56. And over al this, yet muchel more he thoughte
 What for to speke, and what to holden
 inne,
 And what to arten hir to love he soughte,
 And on a song anon-right to biginne, 389
 And gan loude on his sorwe for to winne ;
 For with good hope he gan fully assente
 Criseyde for to love, and nought repente.

57. And of his song nought only the sentence,
 As writ myn autour called Lollius,
 But pleyntly, save our tonges difference,
 I dar wel sayn, in al that Troilus 396
 Seyde in his song ; lo ! every word right
 thus
 As I shal seyn ; and who-so list it here,
 Lo ! next this vers, he may it finden here.

Cantus Troil.

58. ' If no love is, O god, what fele I so ?
 And if love is, what thing and whiche
 is he ? 401
 If love be good, from whennes comth my
 wo ?
 If it be wikke, a wonder thinketh me,
 When every torment and adversitee
 That cometh of him, may to me savory
 thinke ; 405
 For ay thurst I, the more that I it drinke.

59. And if that at myn owene lust I
 brenne,
 Fro whennes cometh my walling and my
 pleynte ?
 If harme agree me, wher-to pleyne I
 thenne ?
 I neot, ne why unwery that I faynte. 410
 O quike deeth, o swete harm so queynte,
 How may of thee in me swich quantitee,
 But-if that I consente that it be ?

60. And if that I consente, I wrongfully Compleyne, y-wis ; thus possed to and fro,

- Al sterlees with-inne a boot am I 416
 A-mid the see, by-twixen windes two,
 That in contrarie stonden ever-mo.
 Allas! what is this wonder maladye? 419
 For hete of cold, for cold of hete, I dya.'
61. And to the god of love thus seyde he
 With pitous voys, 'O lord, now youres is My spirit, which that oughte youres be.
 Yow thanke I, lord, that han me brought to this;
 But whether goddesse or womman, y-wis,
 She be, I noot, which that ye do me
 serve; 426
 But as hir man I wole ay live and sterve.
62. Ye stonden in hire eyen mightily,
 As in a place un-to your vertu digne;
 Wherefore, lord, if my seryvye or I 430
 May lyke yow, so beth to me benigne;
 For myn estat royal here I resigne
 In-to hir hond, and with ful humble chere
 Bicomme hir man, as to my lady dere.' 434
63. In him ne deynd sparen blood royal
 The fyr of love, wher-fro god me blesse,
 Ne him forbar in no degree, for al
 His vertu or his excellent prowesse;
 But held him as his thral lowe in distresse,
 And brende him so in sondry wyse ay
 newe, 440
 That sixty tyme a day he loste his hewe.
64. So muche, day by day, his owene
 thought,
 For lust to hir, gan quiken and encrease,
 That every other charge he sette at nought;
 For-thy ful ofte, his hote fyr to cease, 445
 To seen hir goodly look he gan to prese;
 For ther-by to ben esed wel he wende,
 And ay the neer he was, the more he
 brende.
65. For ay the neer the fyr, the hotter is,
 This, trowe I, knoweth al this companya.
 But were he fer or neer, I dar seye this,
 By night or day, for wysdom or folye, 452
 His herte, which that is his brestes y8,
 Was ay on hir, that fairer was to sene
 Than ever was Eleyne or Polixena. 455 66. Eek of the day ther passed nought an heure
 That to him-self a thousand tyme he seyde,
- ' Good goodly, to whom serve I and laboure, 458
 As I best can, now wolde god, Criseyde,
 Ye wolden on me rewte er that I deyde!
 My dere herte, allas! myn hele and hewe
 And lyf is lost, but ye wole on me rewte.' 67. Alle othere dredes weren from him
 fledde,
 Bothe of th'assege and his savacioun;
 Ne in him desyr noon othere fownes
 bredde 465
 But arguments to this conclusioun,
 That she on him wolde han compassioun,
 And he to be hir man, whyl he may dure;
 Lo, here his lyf, and from the deeth his
 cure! 469
68. Thesharpehoures felle of armes preve,
 That Ector or his othere bretheren diden,
 Ne made him only ther-fore ones meve;
 And yet was he, wher-so men wente or riden,
 Rounde oon the best, and lengest tyme
 abiden 474
 Ther peril was, and dide eek such travayle
 In armes, that to thanke it was mervayle.
69. But for non hate he to the Grekes
 hadde,
 Ne also for the rosous of the toun,
 Ne made him thus in armes for to maddo,
 But only, lo, for this conclusioun, 480
 To lyken hir the bet for his renoun;
 Fro day to day in armes so he spedde,
 That alle the Grekes as the deeth him
 dredde.
70. And fro this forth tho rafte him love his sleep,
 And made his mete his foo; and eek his
 sorwe 485
 Gan multiplye, that, who-so toke keep,
 It shewed in his hewe, bothe eve and
 morwe;
 Therfor a title he gan him for to borwe
 Of other syknesse, lest of him men wende
 That the hote fyr of love him brende. 490
71. And seyde, he hadde a fever and ferle
 amis;
 But how it was, certayn, can I not seye,

If that his lady understood not this,
Or feyned hir she niste, oon of the tweye;
But wel I rede that, by no maner weye,
Ne semed it [as] that she of him roughte,
Nor of his peyne, or what-so-ever he
thoughte.

72. But than fel to this Troilus such wo, That he was wel neigh wood; for ay his
drede 499
Was this, that she som wight had loved so,
That never of him she wolde have taken
hede;
For whiche him thoughte he felte his herte blede.
Ne of his wo ne dorste he not biginne
To tellen it, for al this world to winne.

73. But whanne he hadde a space fro his care, 505
Thus to him-self ful ofte he gan to pleyne;
He sayde, 'O fool, now art thou in the snare,
That whilom japedest at loves peyne;
Now artow hent, now gnaw thyn owene
cheyne;
Thou were ay wont eche lovere reprehende
Of thing fro which thou canst thee nat
defende. 511

74. What wole now every lover seyn of
thee,
If this be wist, but ever in thyn absence Laughen in scorn, and seyn, "lo, ther gooth he,
That is the man of so gret sapience, 515
That held us loveres leest in reverence!
Now, thanked be god, he may goon in the
daunce
Of hem that Love list febyl for to avaunce!

75. But, O thou woful Troilus, god wolde,
Sin thou most loven thurgh thy destinee,
That thou beset were on swich oon that
sholde 521
Knowe al thy wo, al lakkede hir pitee:
But al so cold in love, towards thee,
Thy lady is, as frost in winter mone, 524
And thou fordoon, as snow in fyr is sone."

76. God wolde I were aryved in the port
Of death, to which my sorwe wil me lede!

A, lord, to me it were a greet comfort;
Then were I quit of languisshing in drede.
For by myn hidde sorwe y-blowe on brede
I shal bi-japed been a thousand tyme 531
More than that fool of whos folye men
ryme.

77. But now help god, and ye, swete, for whom
I pleyne, y-caught, ye, never wight so
faste! 534
O mercy, dere herte, and help me from The deeth, for I, whyl that my lyf may
laste,
More than my-self wol love yow to my
laste.
And with som frendly look gladeth me,
swete,
Though never more thing ye me bi-hete!

78. This wordes and ful manye an-other to He spak, and called ever in his com-
pleynte 541
Hir name, for to tellen hir his wo,
Til neigh that he in salte teres dreynte.
Al was for nought, she herde nought his
pleynte;
And whan that he bithoughte on that
folye, 545
A thousand fold his wo gan multiplie.

79. Bi-wayling in his chambre thus allone,
A freend of his, that called was Pandare,
Com ones in unwar, and herde him grone,
And sey his freend in swich distresse and
care: 550
'Allas!' quod he, 'who canseth al this
fare?
O mercy, god! what unhap may this
mene?
Han now thus sone Grekes maad yow
lene?

80. Or hastow som remors of conscience,
And art now falle in som devocioun, 555
And waylest for thy sinne and thyn
offence,
And hast for ferde caught attricioun?
God save hem that bi-seged han our toun,
And so can leye our jolytee on presse,
And bring our lusty folk to holinesse!

81. These wordes seyde he for the nones
alle, 561
That with swich thing he mighte him
angry maken,
And with an angre don his sorwe falle,
As for the tyme, and his corage awaken ;
But wel he wiste, as fer as tonges spaken,
Ther nas a man of gretter hardynesse 566
Than he, ne more desired worthynesse.
82. 'What cas,' quod Troilus, 'or what aventure
Hath gyded thee to see my languishinge,
That am refus of every creature? 570
But for the love of god, at my preyinge,
Go henne a-way, for certes, my deyinge
Wol thee disece, and I mot nedes deye ;
Ther-for go wey, ther is no more to seye.
83. But if thou wene I be thus syk for
drede, 575
It is not so, and ther-for scorne nought ;
Ther is a-nother thing I take of hede Wel more than ought the Grekes han
y-wrought,
Which cause is of my deeth, for sorwa
and thought.
But though that I now telle thee it ne
leste, 580
Be thou nought wrooth, I hyde it for the
beste.'
84. This Pandare, that neigh malt for wo and routhe,
Ful often seyde, 'allas ! what may this be ?
Now freend,' quod he, 'if ever love or
trouthe
Hath been, or is, bi-twixen thee and me,
No do thou never swiche a crueltee 586
To hyde fro thy freend so greet a care ;
Wostow nought wel that it am I, Pandare ?
85. I wole parten with thee al thy peyne,
If it be so I do thee no comfort, 590
As it is freendes right, sooth for to seyne,
To entreparten wo, as glad desport.
I have, and shal, for trewe or fals report,
In wrong and right y-loved thee al my
lyve ; 594
Hyd not thy wo fro me, but telle it blyve.'
86. Then gan this sorwful Troilus to syke,
And seyde him thus, 'god leve it be my
beste
- To telle it thee ; for, sith it may thee
lyke,
Yet wole I telle it, though myn herte
breste ; 599
And wel wot I thou mayst do me no reste.
But lest thow deme I truste not to thee,
Now herkne, freend, for thus it stant with
me.
87. Love, a-yeins the which who-so defendeth
Him-selven most, him alder-lest awayleth,
With desespere so sorwfully me offendeth,
That streyght un-to the deeth myn herte
sayleth. 606
Ther-to desyr so brenningly me assaylleth,
That to ben slayn it were a gretter joye
To me than king of Grece been and Troye !
88. Suffiseth this, my fulle freend Pandare,
That I have seyde, for now wostow my wo ;
And for the love of god, my colde care 612
So hyd it wel, I telle it never to mo ;
For harmes mighte folwen, mo than two,
If it were wist ; but be thou in gladnesse,
And lat me sterve, unknowe, of my dis-
tresse.' 616
89. 'How hastow thus unkindely and
longe
Hid this fro me, thou fool ?' quod Pan-
dare ;
'Paraunter thou might after swich oon
longe,
That myn avys anon may helpen us.' 620
'This were a wonder thing,' quod Troilus,
'Thou coudest never in love thy-selven
wisse ;
How devel maystow bringen me to blisse ?'
90. 'Ye, Troilus, now herke,' quod Pan-
dare,
'Though I be nyce ; it happeth ofte so, 625
That oon that exces doth ful yvele fare
By good counseyl can kepe his freend ther-fro.
I have my-self eek seyn a blind man go
Ther-as he fel that coude loke wyde ;
A fool may eek a wys man ofte gyde. 630
91. A whetston is no kerving instrument,
And yet it maketh sharpe kerving-tollis.

And ther thow woost that I have ought miswent,

Eschewe thou that, for swich thing to thee scole is ;

Thus ofte wyse men ben war by folia. 635
If thou do so, thy wit is wel biwared ;
By his contrarie is every thing declared.

92. For how might ever sweetnesse have be knowe

To him that never tasted bitternesse ?
Ne no man may be inly glad, I trowe, 640
That never was in sorwe or som distresse ;
Eek whyt by blak, by shame eek worthi-
nesse,

Ech set by other, more for other semeth ;
As men may see ; and so the wyse it demeth.

98. Sith thus of two contraries is a lore,
I, that have in love so ofte assayed 646
Greaunces, oughte conne, and wel the
more

Connaeyllen thee of that thou art amayed.
Eek thee ne oughte nat ben yvel apayed,
Though I desyre with thee for to bere 650
Thyn hevny charge ; it shal the lasse dere.

94. I woot wel that it fareth thus by me
As to thy brother Parys an herdesse, 654
Which that y-cleped was Oënone,
Wroot in a compleynt of hir hevynesse :
Ye sey the lettre that she wroot, y gesse ?
'Nay, never yet, y-wis,' quod Troilus.
'Now,' quod Pandare, 'herkneith ; it was
thus.—

95. "Phebus, that first fond art of medi-cyne,"

Quod she, "and coude in every wightes
care 660

Remede and reed, by herbes he knew fyne,
Yet to him-self his conninge was ful bare ;
For love hadde him so bounden in a snare,
Al for the doughter of the kinge Admete,
That al his craft ne coude his sorwe
bete."— 665

96. Right so fare I, unhappily for me ;
I love oon best, and that me smerteth sore ;
And yet, paraunter, can I rede thee,
And not my-self ; repreve me no more. 669
I have no cause, I woot wel, for to sore

As doth an hawk that listeth for to
pleye,

But to thyn help yet somewhat can I seye.

97. And of o thing right siker maystow be,
That certayn, for to deyen in the peyne,
That I shal never-mo discoveren thee ; 675
Ne, by my trouthe, I kepe nat restreyne Thee fro thy love, thogh that it were Eleyne,

That is thy brotheres wyf, if ich it wisto ;
Be what she be, and love hir as thee liste.

98. Therefore, as freend fullich in me assure, 680

And tel me plat what is thyn enchesoun,
And final cause of wo that ye endure ;
For douteth no-thing, myn entencioun
Nis nought to yow of reprehencioun,
To speke as now, for no wight may bireve 685
A man to love, til that him list to leve.

99. And witeth wel, that bothe two ben vyces,

Mistrusten alle, or elles alle leve ;
But wel I woot, the mene of it no vyce is,
For for to trusten sum wight is a preve 690
Of trouthe, and for-thy wolde I fayn re-meve

Thy wrong conceyte, and do thee som
wight triste,

Thy wo to telle ; and tel me, if thee liste.

100. The wyse seyth, "wo him that is
allone,

For, and he falle, he hath noon help to
ryse ;" 695

And sith thou hast a felawe, tel thy mone ;
For this nis not, certeyn, the nexte wyse
To winnen love, as techen us the wyse,
To walwe and wepe as Niobe the quene,
Whos teres yet in marbel been y-sene. 700

101. Lat be thy weping and thy drerinesse,
And lat us lissen wo with other speche ;
So may thy woful tyme seme lesse.

Delyte not in wo thy wo to seche, 704
As doon thise foles that hir sorwes eche

With sorwe, whan they han misaventure,
And listen nought to seche hem other
cure.

102. Men seyn, "to wrecche is conso-lacioun
To have an-other felawe in his peyne;"
That oughte wel ben our opinioun, 710
For, bothe thou and I, of love we pleyne;
So ful of sorwe am I, soth for to seyne,
That certeynly no more harde grace
May sitte on me, for-why ther is no space.
103. If god wole thou art not agast of me,
Lest I wolde of thy lady thes bigyle, 716
Thow wost thy-self whom that I love,
pardee,
As I best can, gon sithen longe whyle.
And sith thou wost I do it for no wyle, 719
And sith I am he that thou tristest most,
Tel me sumwhat, sin al my wo thou wost.'
104. Yet Troilus, for al this, no word
seyde,
But longo he lay as stille as he ded were;
And after this with sykinge he abreyde,
And to Pandarus voys he lente his ere, 725
And up his eyen caste he, that in fere
Was Pandarus, lest that in frenesye
He sholde falle, or elles sone dye :
105. And cryde 'a-wake' ful wonderly and sharpe ;
'What? alombrestow as in a lytargey?
Or artow lyk an asse to the harpe, 731
That hereth soun, whan men the strenges
plye,
But in his minde of that no melodye
May sinken, him to glade, for that he
So dul is of his bestialitee?' 735
106. And with that Pandare of his wordes
stente ;
But Troilus yet him no word answerde,
For-why to telle nas not his entente
To never no man, for whom that he so ferde. 739
For it is seyde, 'man maketh ofte a yerde
With which the maker is him-self y-beten
In sondry maner,' as this wyse treten,
107. And namely, in his counseyll tellinge
That toucheth love that oughte be secree ;
For of him-self it wolde y-nough out-
springe, 745
- But-if that it the bet governed be.
Eek som-tyme it is craft to some flee
Fro thing which in effect men hunte faste ;
Al this gan Troilus in his herte caste.
108. But nathelless, whan he had herd him crye 750
'Awake!' he gan to syke wonder sore,
And seyde, 'frend, though that I stille
lye,
I am not deaf; now pees, and cry no more;
For I have herd thy wordes and thy lore;
But suffre me my mischef to biwayle, 755
For thy proverbes may me nought avayle.
109. Nor other cure canstow noon for me.
Eek I nil not be cured, I wol deye ;
What knowe I of the quene Niobe?
Lat be thyne olde ensamples, I thee
preye.' 760
'No,' quod tho Pandarus, 'therfore I seye,
Swich is delyt of foles to biwepe
Hir wo, but seken bote they ne kepe.
110. Now knowe I that ther reson in thee fayleth.
But tel me, if I wiste what she were 765
For whom that thee al this misaunter ayleth?
Dorstestow that I tolde hir in hir ere Thy wo, sith thou darst not thy-self for
fere,
And hir bisoughte on thee to han som
routhe?'
'Why, nay,' quod he, 'by god and by my
trouthe!' 770
111. 'What? not as bisily,' quod Pandarus,
'As though myn owene lyf lay on this nede?'
'No, certes, brother,' quod this Troilus.
'And why?'—'For that thou sholdest never spede.'
'Wostow that wel?'—'Ye, that is out of
drede,' 775
Quod Troilus, 'for al that ever ye conne,
She nil to noon swich wrecche as I be
wonne.'
112. Quod Pandarus, 'allas! what may this be,
That thou despeyred art thus causeless?

What? liveth not thy lady? benedicite! 780
How wostow so that thou art graceeles?
Swich yvel is not alway boteles.
Why, put not impossible thus thy cure,
Sin thing to come is ofte in aventure.

118. I graunte wel that thou endurest wo
As sharp as doth he, Ticius, in helle, 786
Whos stomak foules tyren ever-mo
That highte volturis, as bokes telle.
But I may not endure that thou dwelle
In so unskilful an opinioun 790
That of thy wo is no curacioun.

114. But ones niltow, fer thy coward
herte,
And for thyn ire and folish wilfulnesse,
For wantrust, tellen of thy sorwes smerte,
Ne to thyn owene help do businesse 795
As muche as speke a resoun more or lesse,
But lyst as he that list of no-thing recche.
What woman coude love swich a wreche?

115. What may she demen other of thy
deeth,
If thou thus deye, and she not why it is, 800
But that for fere is yolden up thy breath,
For Grekes han biseged us, y-wis?
Lord, which a thank than shaltow han of
this!
Thus wol she seyn, and al the toun at
ones,
"The wreche is deed, the devel have his bones!" 805

116. Thou mayst allone here wepe and crye and knele;
But, love a woman that she woot it
nought,
And she wol quyte that thou shalt not
fele;
Unknowe, unkist, and lost that is un-
sought.
What! many a man hath love ful dere
y-bought 810
Twenty winter that his lady wiste,
That never yet his lady mouth he kiste.

117. What? shulde he therfor fallen in despeyr,
Or be recreaunt for his owene tene,

Or sleen him-self, al be his lady fayr? 815 Nay, nay, but ever in oon be fresh and
grene

To serve and love his dere hertes quene,
And thanke it is a guerdoun hir to serve
A thousand-fold more than he can deserve.'

118. And of that word took hede Troilus, And thoughte anon what folye he was
inne, 821
And how that sooth him seyde Pandarus,
That for to sleen him-self mighte he not
winne,
But bothe doon unmanhod and a sinne, 824
And of his deeth his lady nought to wyte;
For of his wo, god woot, she knew ful lyte.

119. And with that thought he gan ful sore syke,
And seyde, 'allas! what is me best to do?'
To whom Pandarus answerde, 'if thee lyke,
The best is that thou telle me thy wo; 830
And have my trouthe, but thou it finde so,
I be thy bote, or that it be ful longe,
To peces do me drawe, and sithen hongre!'

120. 'Ye, so thou seyst,' quod Troilus tho,
'allas!
But, god wot, it is not the rather so; 835
Ful hard were it to helpen in this cas,
For wel finde I that Fortune is my fo,
Ne alle the men that ryden conne or go
May of hir cruel wheel the harm with-
stonde;
For, as hir list, she pleyeth with free and
bonde.' 840

121. Quod Pandarus, 'than blamestow
Fortune
For thou art wrooth, ye, now at erst I see;
Wostow nat wel that Fortune is commune
To every maner wight in som degree? 844
And yet thou hast this comfort, lo, pardee!
That, as hir joyes moten over-goon,
So mote hir sorwes passen everichoon.

122. For if hir wheel stinte any-thing to torne,
Than cessed she Fortune anon to be:
Now, sith hir wheel by no way may sojorne, 850
What wostow if hir mutabilitee
Right as thy-selven list, wol doon by thee,

Or that she be not fer fro thyn helpinge?
Paraunter, thou hast cause for to singe!

123. And therfor wostow what I thee
besече? 855

Lat be thy wo and turning to the grounde;
For who-so list have helping of his leche,
To him bihovoth first unwrye his wounde.
To Cerberus in helle ay be I bounde,
Were it for my suster, al thy sorwe, 860
By my wil, she sholde al be thyn to-morwe.

124. Loke up, Iseye, and tel me what she is Anoon, that I may goon aboute thy nede;
Knowe ich hir ought? for my love, tel me
this; 864

Than wolde I hopen rather for to spede.
The gan the veyne of Troilus to blede,
For he was hit, and wex al reed for shame;
'A ha!' quod Pandare, 'here biginneth
game!'

125. And with that word he gan him for
to shake,

And seyde, 'theef, thou shalt hir name
telle.' 870

But the gan sely Troilus for to quake
As though men sholde han lad him in-to
helle,

And seyde, 'allas! of al my wo the welle,
Than is my swete fo called Criseyde!'

And wel nigh with the word for fere he
deyde. 875

126. And whan that Pandare herd hir
name nevene,

Lord, he was glad, and seyde, 'freend so
dere,

Now fare a-right, for Joves name in hevene,
Love hath biset thee wel, be of good chere;
For of good name and wysdom and
manere 880

She hath y-nough, and eek of gentillesse;
If she be fayr, thow wost thy-self, I gesse.

127. Ne I never saw a more bountevous
Of hir estat, ne a gladdor, ne of speche

A freendlier, ne a more gracious 885
For to do wel, ne lasse hadde nede to
seche

What for to doon; and al this bet to eche,
In honour, to as fer as she may stretche,
A kinges herte semeth by hires a wrecche.

128. And for-thy loke of good comfort thou be; 890

For certainly, the firste poynt is this
Of noble corage and wel ordeynè,
A man to have pees with him-self, y-wis;
So oughtest thou, for nought but good it is
To loven wel, and in a worthy place; 895
Thee oughte not to clepe it hap, but grace.

129. And also thenk, and ther-with glade
thee,

That sith thy lady vertuous is al,
So folweth it that ther is som pitee
Amonges alle thise others in general; 900
And for-thy see that thou, in special,
Requere nought that is ayein hir name;
For vertus stretcheth not him-self to
shame.

130. But wel is me that ever I was born,
That thou biset art in so good a place; 905

For by my trouthe, in love I dorste have sworn,

Thee sholde never han tid thus fayr a
grace;

And wostow why? for thou were wont to chace

At love in scorn, and for despyt him
calle

"Seynt Idiot, lord of thise foles alle." 910

131. How often hastow maad thy nyce
japes,

And seyde, that loves servants everichone
Of nycete ben verray goddes apes;

And some wolde monche hir mete alone, Ligging a-bedde, and make hem for to
grone; 915

And som, thou seydest, hadde a blanchete
fevere,

And preydest god he sholde never kevere!

132. And some of hem toke on hem, for the colde,

More than y-nough, so seydestow ful ofte;
And some han feyned ofte tyme, and tolde

How that they wake, whan they slegen
softe; 921

And thus they wolde han brought hem-
self a-lofte,

And natheless were under at the laste;
Thus seydestow, and japedest ful faste.

133. Yet seydestow, that, for the more part, 925
These loveres wolden speke in general,
And thoughten that it was a siker art,
For fayling, for to assayen over-al.
Now may I jape of thee, if that I shal!
But natheless, though that I sholde deye,
That thou art noon of tho, that dorste I
seye. 931

134. Now beet thy brest, and sey to god
of love,
"Thy grace, lord! for now I me repente.
If I mis spak, for now my-self I love:"
Thus sey with al thyn herte in good en-
tente.' 935
Quod Troilus, 'a! lord! I me consente,
And pray to thee my japes thou foryive,
And I shal never-more whyl I live.'

135. 'Thow seyst wel,' quod Pandare, 'and now I hope
That thou the goddes wratthe hast al
apeded; 940
And sithen thou hast wepen many a drope,
And seyd swich thing wher-with thy god
is plesed,
Now wolde never god but thou were esed;
And think wel, she of whom rist al thy wo
Here-after may thy comfort been al-so. 945

136. For thilke ground, that bereth the weddes wikke,
Bereth eek thise holsom herbes, as ful ofte
Next the foule netle, rough and thikke,
The rose waxeth swote and smothe and
softe;
And next the valey is the hil a-lofte; 950
And next the derke night the glade
morwe;
And also joye is next the fyn of sorwe.

137. Now loke that atempre be thy brydel,
And, for the beste, ay suffre to the tyde,
Or elles al our labour is on ydel; 955
He hasteth wel that wysly can abyde;
Be diligent, and trewe, and ay wel hyde.
Be lusty, free, persevere in thy servyse,
And al is wel, if thou werke in this wyse.

138. But he that parted is in every
place 960
Is no-wher hool, as writen clerkes wyse;

What wonder is, though swich oon have no grace?
Eek wostow how it fareth of som servyse?
As plannte a tre or herbe, in sondry wyse,
And on the morwe pulle it up as blyve, 965
No wonder is, though it may never thryve.

139. And sith that god of love hath thee bistowed
In place digne un-to thy worthinesse,
Stond faste, for to good port hastow rowed;
And of thy-self, for any heviness, 970
Hope alwey wel; for, but-if dreriness
Or over-haste our bothe labour shende,
I hope of this to maken a good ende.

140. And wostow why I am the lasse afered
Of this matere with my nece trete? 975
For this have I herd seyde of wyse y-lered,
"Was never man ne woman yet bigete
That was unapt to suffren loves hete
Celestial, or elles love of kinde;" 979
For-thy som grace I hope in hir to finde.

141. And for to speke of hir in special,
Hir beautee to bihinken and hir youthe,
It sit hir nought to be celestial As yet, though that hir liste bothe and couthe; 984
But trewey, it sete hir wel right nouthe
A worthy knight to loven and cheryce,
And but she do, I holde it for a vyce.

142. Wherefore I am, and wol be, ay redy
To peyne me to do yow this servyse;
For bothe yow to plesse thus hope I 990
Her-afterward; for ye beth bothe wyse,
And conne it counseyl kepe in swich a
wyse,
That no man shal the wyser of it be;
And so we may be gladed alle thre.

143. And, by my trouthe, I have right now of thee 995
A good conceyt in my wit, as I gesse,
And what it is, I wol now that thou see.
I thenke, sith that love, of his goodnesse,
Hath thee converted out of wikkednesse,
That thou shalt be the beste post, I
leve, 1000
Of al his lay, and most his foes to-greva.

144. Ensamble why, see now these wyse clerkes,
That erren aldermost a-yein a lawe,
And ben converted from hir wikked werkes

Thorough grace of god, that list hem to him drawe, 1005

Than arm they folk that han most god in awe,

And strengest-feythed been, I under-
stonde,

And conne an errour alder-best with-
stonde.'

145. Whan Troilus had herd Pandare assented

To been his help in loving of Criseyde, 1010
Wex of his wo, as who seyth, untormented,
But hotter wex his love, and thus he seyde,
With sobre chere, al-though his herte
pleyde,

'Now blisful Venus helpe, er that I sterve,
Of thee, Pandare, I may som thank de-
serve. 1015

146. But, dere frend, how shal myn wo ben lesse

Til this be doon? and goode, eek tel me
this,

How wiltow seyn of me and my destresse?
Lest she be wrooth, this drede I most,
y-wis,

Or nil not here or trowen how it is. 1020
Al this drede I, and eek for the manere
Of thee, hir eem, she nil no swich thing
here.'

147. Quod Pandarus, 'thou hast a ful gret care

Lest that the cherl may falle out of the
mone! 1024

Why, lord! I hate of thee thy nyce fare!
Why, entremete of that thou hast to done!
For goddes love, I bidde thee a bone,
So lat me alone, and it shal be thy beste.'—

'Why, freend,' quod he, 'now do right as thee leste.

148. But herke, Pandare, o word, for I
nolde 1030

That thou in me wendest so greet folye,
That to my lady I desairen sholde

That toucheth harm or any vilenye;
For dredeless, me were lever dye 1034
Than she of me ought elles understode
But that, that mighte sounen in-to gode.'

149. Tho lough this Pandare, and anoon
answerde,

'And I thy borw? fy! no wight dooth
but so;

I roughte nought though that she stode
and herde 1039

How that thou seyst; but fare-wel, I wol go.
A-dieu! be glad! god spede us bothe two!
Yif me this labour and this besinesse,
And of my speed be thyn al that swetnesse.'

150. Tho Troilus gan down on knees to
falle, 1044

And Pandare in his armes hente faste,
And seyde, 'now, fy on the Grekes alle!
Yet, pardee, god shal helpe us at the laste;
And dredeless, if that my lyf may laste,
And god to-for, lo, som of hem shal
smerte;

And yet me athinketh that this avaunt me asterte! 1050

151. Now, Pandare, I can no more seye,
But thou wys, thou wost, thou mayst,
thou art al!

My lyf, my deeth, hool in thyn honde
I leye;

Help now,' quod he. 'Yis, by my trouthe,
I shal.'

'God yelde thee, freend, and this in special,' 1055

Quod Troilus, 'that thou me recomaunde
To hir that to the deeth me may comaunde.'

152. This Pandarus tho, desirous to serve Hisfulle freend, than seyde in this manere,
'Far-wel, and thank I wol thy thank deserve; 1060

Have here my trouthe, and that thou shalt wel here.'—

And wente his wey, thinking on this
matere,

And how he best mighte hir besech of
grace,

And finde a tyme ther-to, and a place.

153. For every wight that hath an hous
to founde 1065
Ne renneth nought the werk for to bi-ginne
With rakel hond, but he wol byde a
stounde,
And sende his hertes lyne out fro with-inne
Alderfirst his purpos for to winne. 1069
Al this Pandare in his herte thoughte,
And caste his werk ful wysly, or he
wroughte.

154. But Troilus lay tho no lenger doun,
But up anon up-on his stede bay,
And in the feld he pleyde the leoun;
Wo was that Greek that with him mette that day. 1075
And in the toun his maner the forth ay
So goodly was, and gat him so in grace,
That ech him lovede that loked on his face.

155. For he bi com the frendlyeste wight,
The gentileste, and eek the moste free, 1080
The thristieste and oon the beste knight,
That in his tyme was, or mighte be.
Dede were his japes and his crualtee,
His heighe port and his manere
estraunge,
And ech of tho gan for a vertu change.

156. Now lat us stinte of Troilus a
stounde, 1086
That fareth lyk a man that hurt is
sore,
And is somdel of akinge of his wounde
Y-lissed wel, but heled no del more:
And, as an esy pacient, the lore 1090
Abit of him that gooth aboute his cure;
And thus he dryveth forth his aventure.

Explicit Liber Primus.

BOOK II.

Incipit prohemium Secundi Libri.

1. Orr of these blake wawas for to sayle,
O wind, O wind, the weder ginneth clere;
For in this see the boot hath swich tra-
vayle,
Of my conning that unnethe I it stere:
This see clepe I the tempestous matere 5
Of desespeyr that Troilus was inne:
But now of hope the calendes biginne.

2. O lady myn, that called art Cleo, Thou be my speed fro this forth, and my muse,
To ryme wel this book, til I have do; 10
Me nedeth here noon other art to use.
For-why to every lovere I me excuse,
That of no sentement I this endyte,
But out of Latin in my tonge it wryte.

3. Wherefore I nil have neither thank ne
blame 15
Of al this werk, but pray yow mekely,
Disblameth me, if any word be lame,
For as myn auctor seyde, so seye I.
Eek though I speke of love unfeelingly,

No wonder is, for it no-thing of newe is; 20
A blind man can nat juggen wel in hewis.

4. Ye knowe eek, that in forme of speche is change
With-inne a thousand yeer, and wordes
tho
That hadden prys, now wonder nyce and straunge
Us thinketh hem; and yet they spake hem so, 25
And spedde as wel in love as men now do;
Eek for to winne love in sondry ages,
In sondry londes, sondry been usages.

5. And for-why if it happe in any wyse,
That here be any lovere in this place 30
That herkeneth, as the story wol devyse,
How Troilus com to his lady grace,
And thenketh, so nolde I nat love pur-
chace,
Or wondreth on his speche and his doinge,
I noot; but it is me no wonderinge; 35
6. For every wight which that to Rome
went,
Halt nat o path, or alwey o manere;

Eek in som lond were al the gamen shent,
 If that they ferde in love as men don here,
 As thus, in open doing or in chere, 40
 In visitinge, in forme, or seyde hir sawes;
 For-thy men seyn, ech contree hath his lawes.

7. Eek scarsly been ther in this place three
 That han in love seyde lyk and doon in al;
 For to thy purpos this may lyken thee, 45
 And thee right nought, yet al is seyde or
 shal;

Eek som men grave in tree, som in stoon
 wal,

As it bitit; but sin I have begonne,
 Myn auctor shal I folwen, if I conne.

Explicit prohemium Secundi Libri.

Incipit Liber Secundus.

8. In May, that moder is of monthes glade,
 That fresshe floures, blewe, and whyte,
 and rede, 51

Ben quike agayn, that winter dede made,
 And ful of bawme is fletinge every mede;
 Whan Phebus doth his brighte bemes
 sprede

Right in the whyte Bole, it so bitidde 55
 As I shal singe, on Mayes day the thridde,

9. That Pandarus, for al his wyse speche,
 Felte eek his part of loves shottes kene,
 That, coude he never so wel of loving
 preche,

It made his hewe a-day ful ofte grene; 60
 So shoop it, that him fil that day a tene
 In love, for which in wo to bedde he wente,
 And made, er it was day, ful many a wente.

10. The swalwe Proigné, with a sorwfullay, Whan morwe com, gan make hir weymentinge, 65

Why she forshapen was; and ever lay
 Pandare a-bedde, half in a slomeringe,
 Til she so neigh him made hir chiteringe
 How Tereus gan forth hir suster take,
 That with the noyse of hir he gan a-wake;

11. And gan to calle, and dresse him up to ryse, 71

Remembringe him his erand was to done
 From Troilus, and eek his greet emprise;

And caste and knew in good plyt was the
 mone

To doon viage, and took his wey ful sone
 Un-to his neces paleys ther bi-ayde; 76
 Now Janus, god of entree, thou him gyde!

12. When he was come un-to his neces
 place,

'Wher is my lady?' to hir folk seyde he;
 And they him tolde; and he forth in gan
 pace, 80

And fond, two othere ladyes sete and she
 With-inne a paved parlour; and they three Herden a mayden reden hem the geste
 Of the Sege of Thebes, whyl hem leste. 84

13. Quod Pandarus, 'ma dame, god yow see,
 With al your book and al the companye!'

'Ey, uncle myn, welcome y-wis,' quod she,
 And up she roos, and by the hond in hys
 She took him faste, and seyde, 'this night
 thrye,

To goode mote it turne, of yow I metto!'
 And with that word she doun on bench him sette. 91

14. 'Ye, nece, ye shal fare wel the bet,

If god wole, al this year,' quod Pandarus;
 'But I am sory that I have yow let 94
 To herknen of your book ye preysen thus;
 For goddes love, what seith it? tel it us.
 Is it of love? O, som good ye me lere!'

'Uncle,' quod she, 'your maistresse is not
 here!'

15. With that they gonnen langhe, and tho she seyde, 99

'This romaunce is of Thebes, that we rede;
 And we han herd how that king Laius
 deyde

Thurgh Edippus his sone, and al that dede;
 And here we stenten at these lettres rede,
 How the bisshop, as the book can telle,
 Amphiorax, fil thurgh the ground to helle.'

16. Quod Pandarus, 'al this knowe I myselve, 106

And al th'assege of Thebes and the care;
 Forher-of been ther maked bokes twelve:—
 But lat be this, and tel me how ye fare;
 Do wey your barbe, and shew your face
 bare; 110

Do wey your book, rys up, and lat us
daunce,
And lat us don to May som observaunce.'

17. 'A! god forbede!' quod she, 'be ye mad?

Is that a widewes lyf, so god you save?
Bygod, ye maken me right sore a-drad, 115
Ye ben so wilde, it semeth as ye rave!
It sete me wel bet ay in a cave
To bidde, and rede on holy seyntes lyves:
Lat maydens gon to daunce, and yonge
wyves.'

18. 'As ever thryve I,' quod this Pandarus,
'Yet coude I telle a thing to doon you
pleye.' 121

'Now uncle dere,' quod she, 'tel it us
For goddes love; is than th'assege aweye?
I am of Grekes so ferd that I deye.'
'Nay, nay,' quod he, 'as ever mote I
thryve! 125
It is a thing wel bet than swiche fyve.'

19. 'Ye, holy god!' quod she, 'what thing is that?

What? bet than swiche fyve? ey, nay,
y-wis!
For al this world ne can I reden what
It sholde been; som jape, I trowe, is this;
And but your-selven telle us what it is, 131
My wit is for to arede it al to lene;
As help me god, I noot nat what ye mene.'

20. 'And I your borow, ne never shal,
for me,
This thing be told to yow, as mote I
thryve!' 135

'And why so, uncle myn? why so?' quod
she.
'By god,' quod he, 'that wole I telle as
blyve;
For prouder womman were ther noon o-
lyve,
And ye it wiste, in al the toun of Troye;
I jape nought, as ever have I joye!' 140

21. The gan she wondren more than bi-forn

A thousand fold, and down hir eyen caste;
For never, sith the tyme that she was born,
To knowe thing desired she so faste; 144

And with a syk she seyde him at the laste,
'Now, uncle myn, I nil yow nought dis-
plesa,
Nor axen more, that may do yow disece.'

22. So after this, with many wordes glade,
And frendly tales, and with mery chere,
Of this and that they pleyde, and gunnen
wade 150
In many an unkouth glad and deep
matere,
As freendes doon, whan they ben met
y-fer;

Til she gan axen him how Ector ferde,
That was the tounes wal and Grekes yerde.

23. 'Ful wel, I thanke it god,' quod Pan-
darus, 155

'Save in his arm he hath a litel wounde;
And eek his fresshe brother Troilus,
The wyse worthy Ector the secoude,
In whom that every vertu list aboude,
As alle trouthe and alle gentillesse, 160
Wysdom, honour, fredom, and worthi-
nesse.'

24. 'In good feith, eem,' quod she, 'that lyketh me;

They faren wel, god save hem bothe two!
For trewely I holde it greet deyntee
A kinges sone in armes wel to do, 165
And been of good condiciouns ther-to;
For greet power and moral vertu here
Is selde y-seye in o persone y-fer.'

25. 'In good feith, that is sooth,' quod
Pandarus;

'But, by my trouthe, the king hath sones
tweye, 170

That is to mene, Ector and Troilus,
That certainly, though that I sholde deye,
They been as voyde of vyces, dar I seye,
As any men that liveth under the sonne, Hir might is wyde y-knowe, and what they conne. 175

26. Of Ector nedeth it nought for to telle;
In al this world ther nis a bettre knight
Than he, that is of worthinesse welle;
And he wel more vertu hath than might.
This knoweth many a wys and worthy
wight. 180

The same prys of Troilus I seye,
God help me so, I knowe not swiche
tweye.'

27. 'By god,' quod she, 'of Ector that is
sooth;

Of Troilus the same thing trowe I;
For dredeless, men tellen that he dooth
In armes day by day so worthily, 186
And bereth him here at hoom so gentilly
To every wight, that al the prys hath he
Of hem that me were levest preyssed be.'

28. 'Ye sey right sooth, y-wis,' quod Pan-
darus; 190

'For yesterday, who-so hadde with him
been,

He might have wondred up-on Troilus;
For never yet so thikke a swarm of been
Ne fleigh, as Grekes fro him gonne fleen;
And thorough the feld, in every wightes
ere, 195
Ther nas no cry but "Troilus is there!"

29. Now here, now there, he hunted hem
so faste,

Ther nas but Grekes blood; and Troilus,
Now hem he hurte, and hem alle down he
caste;

Ay where he wente it was arayed thus: 200
He was hir deeth, and sheld and lyf for us;
That as that day ther dorste noon with-
stonde,

Whyl that he held his bloody swerd in
honde.

30. Therto he is the freendlieste man
Of grete estat, that ever I saw my lyve;
And wher him list, best felawshipe can 206
To suche as him thinketh able for to
thryve.'

And with that word tho Pandarus, as
blyve,

He took his leve, and seyde, 'I wol go henne:'

'Nay, blame have I, myn uncle,' quod she
thenne. 210

31. 'What eyleth yow to be thus wery
sone,

And namelich of wommen? wol ye so?
Nay, sitteth down; by god, I have to done

With yow, to speke of wisdom er ye go.' And every wight that was a-boute hem
tho, 215

That herde that, gan fer a-way to stonde, Whyl they two hadde al that hem liste
in honde.

32. Whan that hir tale al brought was to an ende

Of hire estat and of hir governaunce, 219
Quod Pandarus, 'now is it tyme I wende;
But yet, I seye, aryseth, lat us daunce,
And cast your widwes habit to mis-
chaunce:

What list yow thus your-self to disfigure,
Sith yow is tid thus fair an aventure?'

33. 'A! wel bithought! for love of god,'
quod she, 225

'Shal I not witen what ye mene of this?'
'No, this thing axeth layser,' tho quod he,
'And eek me wolde mucho greve, y-wis,
If I it tolde, and ye it toke amis.

Yet were it bet my tonge for to stille 230
Than seye a sooth that were ayeins your
wille.

34. For, nece, by the goddesse Minerve,
And Juppiter, that maketh the thonder
ringe,

And by the blisful Venus that I serve,
Ye been the womman in this world
livinge, 235

With-oute paramours, to my witinge,
That I best love, and lothest am to greve,
And that ye witen wel your-self, I leve.'

35. 'Y-wis, myn uncle,' quod she, 'grant
mercy;

Your freendship have I founden ever yit;
I am to no man holden trewely 241
So mucho as yow, and have so lital
quit;

And, with the grace of god, amforth my
wit,

As in my gilt I shal you never offende;
And if I have er this, I wol amende. 245

36. But, for the love of god, I yow be-
seche,

As ye ben he that I most love and triste,
Lat be to me your fremde maner speche,

And sey to me, your nece, what yow liste :'
And with that word hir uncle anon hir
kiste, 250

And seyde, 'glady, leve nece dere,
Tak it for good that I shal sey yow here.'

37. With that she gan hir eyen doun to
caste,

And Pandarus to coghe gan a lyte, 254
And seyde, 'nece, alwey, lo! to the laste,
How-so it be that som men hem delyte
With subtil art hir tales for to endyte,
Yet for al that, in hir entencioun,
Hir tale is al for som conclusioun.

38. And sithen th'ende is every tales
strengthe, 260

And this matere is so bihovely,
What sholde I peynte or drawn it on lengthe

Toyow, that been my freend so feithfully?'
And with that word he gan right inwardly
Biholden hir, and loken on hir face, 265
And seyde, 'on suche a mirour goode
grace!'

39. Than thoughte he thus, 'if I my tale
endyte

Ought hard, or make a proces any whyle,
She shal no savour han ther-in but lyte,
And trowe I wolde hir in my wil bigyle.
For tendre wittes wenen al be wyle 271
Ther-as they can nat pleyntly understonde;
For-thy hir wit to serven wol I fonde'—

40. And loked on hir in a besy wyse, 274
And she was war that he byheld hir so,
And seyde, 'lord! so faste ye me avyse!
Sey ye me never er now? what sey ye, no?'
'Yes, yes,' quod he, 'and bet wole er I go;
But, by my trouthe, I thoughte now
if ye

Be fortunat, for now men shal it see. 280

41. For to every wight som goodly avent-
ture

Som tyme is shape, if he it can receyven;
And if that he wol take of it no cure,
Whan that it cometh, but wilfully it
weyven,

Lo, neither cas nor fortune him deceyven,

But right his verrayslonthe and wrecched-
nesse; 286
And swich a wight is for to blame, I geesse.

42. Good aventure, O bele nece, have ye Ful lightly founden, and ye conne it take;
And, for the love of god, and eek of me,
Cacche it anon, lest aventure slake. 291
What sholde I lenger proces of it make?
Yif me your hond, for in this world is
noon,

If that you list, a wight so wel begoon. 294

43. And sith I speke of good entencioun,
As I to yow have told wel here-biforn,
And love as wel your honour and renoun
As creature in al this world y-born;
By alle the othes that I have yow sworn,
And ye be wrooth therfore, or wene I lye,
Ne shal I never seen yow eft with y8. 301

44. Beth nought agast, ne quaketh nat;
wher-to?

Ne chaungeþ nat for fere so your hewe;
For hardely, the werste of this is do;
And though my tale as now be to yow
newe, 305

Yet trist alwey, ye shal me finde trewe;
And were it thing that me thoughte
unsittinge,

To yow nolde I no swiche tales bringe.'

45. 'Now, my good eem, for goddes love,
I preye,' 309
Quod she, 'com of, and tel me what it is;
For bothe I am agast what ye wol seye,
And eek me longeth it to wite, y-wis.
For whether it be wel or be amis,
Sey on, lat me not in this fere dwelle.'
'So wol I doon, now herkneth, I shal
telle: 315

46. Now, nece myn, the kinges dere sone,
The goode, wyse, worthy, freshe, and free,
Which alwey for to do wel is his wone,
The noble Troilus, so loveth thee,
That, bot ye helpe, it wol his bane be. 320
Lo, here is al, what sholde I more seye?
Doth what yow list, to make him live or
deye.

47. But if ye lete him deye, I wol sterve;
Have her my trouthe, nece, I nil not lyen;

Al sholde I with this knyf my throte
kerve'— 325

With that the teres braste out of his yēn,
And seyde, 'if that ye doon us bothe
dyen,

Thus gilteless, than have ye fished faire;
What mende ye, though that we bothe
apeyre?

48. Allas! he which that is my lord so
dere, 330

That trewe man, that noble gentil knight,
That nought desireth but your freendly
chere,

I see him deye, ther he goth up-right,
And hasteth him, with al his fullo might,
For to be slayn, if fortune wol assente; 335
Allas! that god yow swich a beantee
sente!

49. If it be so that ye so cruel be,
That of his deeth yow liste nought to
recche,

That is so trewe and worthy, as ye see,
No more than of a jaspere or a wrecche, 340
If ye be swich, your beantee may not
strecche

To make amendes of so cruel a dede;
Avysement is good bifore the nede.

50. Wo worth the faire gemme vertulees!
Wo worth that herbe also that dooth no
bote! 345

Wo worth that beantee that is routheless!
Wo worth that wight that tret ech under fote!

And ye, that been of beantee crop and
rote,

If therwith-al in you ther be no routhe,
Than is it harm ye liven, by my trouthe!

51. And also think wel, that this is no
gaude; 351

For me were lever, thou and I and he Were hanged, than I sholde been his baule,

As heye, as men mighte on us alle y-see:
I am thyn eem, the shame were to me, 355
As wel as thee, if that I sholde assente, Thorough myn abet, that he thyn honour shento.

52. Now understand, for I yow nought requere,

To binde yow to him thorough no beheste,
But only that ye make him bettre chere 360
Than ye han doon er this, and more feste,
So that his lyf be saved, at the leste.
This al and som, and playnly our entente;
God helpe me so, I never other mente. 364

53. Lo, this request is not but skile, y-wis,
Ne doute of reson, pardee, is ther noon.

I sette the worste that ye dreden this,
Men wolden wondren seen him come or
goon:

Ther-ayeins answeres I thus a-noon, 369
That every wight, but he be fool of kinde, Wol deme it love of freendship in his
minde.

54. What? who wol dame, though he see
a man

To temple go, that he the images eteth?
Think eek how wel and wysly that he can Governe him-self, that he no-thing foryeteth, 375

That, wher he cometh, he prys and thank him geteth;

And eek ther-to, he shal come here so
selde,

What fors were it though al the toun
behelde?

55. Swich love of freendes regneth al this
toun;

And wrye yow in that mantel ever-mo;
And, god so wis be my savacioun, 381

As I have seyde, your beste is to do so.
But alwey, goode nece, to stinte his wo,

So lat your daunger sucred ben a lyte,
That of his deeth ye be nought for to
wrye.' 385

56. Criseyde, which that herde him in this wyse,

Thoughte, 'I shal fele what he meneth,
y-wis.'

'Now, eem,' quod she, 'what wolde ye
devyse,

What is your recd I sholde doon of this?'

'That is wel seyde,' quod he, 'certayn, best is 390

That ye him love ayein for his lovinge,
As love for love is skillful guerdoninge.

57. Think eek, how elde wasteth every houre

In eche of yow a party of beautee;
And therefore, er that age thee devoure, 395 Go love, for, olde, ther wol no wight of
thee.

Let this proverbe a lore un-to yow be;
To late y-war, quod Beantee, when it
paste;”

And elde daunteth daunger at the laste.

58. The kinges fool is woned to cryen
loude, 400

Whan that him thinketh a womman
bereth hir hye,

“So longe mote ye live, and alle proude,
Til crowes feet be growe under your ye,
And sende yow thanne a mirour in to prye 404

In whiche ye may see your face-a-morwe!”
Nece, I hid wishe yow no more sorwe.’

59. With this he stente, and caste adoun
the heed,

And she bigan to breste a-wepe anon.
And seyde, ‘allas, for wo! why nere I
deed?

For of this world the feith is al agoon! 410
Allas! what sholden straunge to me doon,
When he, that for my beste freend I
wende,

Ret me to love, and sholde it me defende?

60. Allas! I wolde han trusted, doutelees,
That if that I, thurgh my disaventure, 415

Had loved other him or Achilles,
Ector, or any mannes creature,
Ye nolde han had no mercy ne mesure
On me, but alwey had me in repreve;
This false world, allas! who may it leve?

61. What? is this al the joye and al the feste? 421

Is this your reed, is this my blisful cas?
Is this the verray mede of your behestes?
Is al this peynted proces seyde, allas! 424
Right for this fyn? O lady myn, Pallas!
Thou in this dredful cas for me purveye;
For so astonied am I that I deye!’

62. With that she gan ful sorwfully to
syke;

‘A! may it be no bet?’ quod Pandarus;
‘By god, I shal no-more come here this wyke, 430

And god to-forn, that am mistrusted thus;
I see ful wel that ye sette lyte of us,
Or of our deeth! Allas! I woful wrecche!
Mighte he yet live, of me is nought to
recche.

63. O cruel god, O dispitouse Marte, 435
O Furies thre of helle, on yow I crye!
So lat me never out of this hous departe,
If that I mente harm or vilanye!

But sith I see my lord mot nedes dye,
And I with him, here I me shryve, and
seye 440
That wikkedly ye doon us bothe deye.

64. But sith it lyketh yow that I be
deed,

By Neptunus, that god is of the see,
Fro this forth shal I never eten breed
Til I myn owene herte blood may see; 445
For certayn, I wole deye as sone as he—
And up he sterte, and on his way he raughte,
Til she agayn him by the lappe caughte.

65. Criseyde, which that wel neigh starf for fere,

So as she was the ferfulleste wight 450
That mighte be, and herde eek with hir
ere,

And saw the sorwful ernest of the knight,
And in his preyere eek saw noon unright,
And for the harm that mighte eek fallen
more,
She gan to rewe, and dradde hir wonder
sore; 455

66. And thoughte thus, ‘unhappes fallen
thikke

Alday for love, and in swich maner cas,
As men ben cruel in hem-self and wikke;
And if this man slee here him-self, allas!
In my presence, it wol be no solas. 460
What men wolde of hit deme I can nat
seye;

It nedeth me ful sleily for to pleye.’

67. And with a sorwful syk she seyde
thrye,
'A! lord! what me is tid a sory chaunce!
For myn estat now lyth in jupartye, 465
And eek myn emes lyf lyth in balance;
But natheless, with goddes governaunce,
I shal so doon, myn honour shal I kepe,
And eek his lyf;' and stinte for to wepe.
68. 'Of harmes two, the lesse is for to chese; 470
Yet have I lever maken him good chere
In honour, than myn emes lyf to lese;
Ye seyn, ye no-thing elles me requere?'
'No, wis,' quod he, 'myn owene nece dere.'
'Now wel,' quod she, 'and I wol doon my
peyne; 475
I shal myn herte ayeins my lust con-
streyne,
69. But that I nil not holden him in
honde,
Ne love a man, ne can I not, ne may Ayeins my wil; but elles wol I fonde, Myn honour sauf, plesse him fro day to
day; 480
Ther-to nolde I nought ones have seyde nay,
But that I dredde, as in my fantasye;
But cesse cause, ay cesseth maladye.
70. And here I make a protestacioun,
That in this proces if ye depper go, 485
That certaynly, for no savacioun
Of yow, though that ye sterve bothe two,
Though al the world on o day be my fo,
Ne shal I never on him han other
routhe.'—
'I graunte wel,' quod Pandare, 'by my
trouthe. 490
71. But may I truste wel ther-to,' quod he,
'That, of this thing that ye han hight me
here,
Ye wol it holden trewly un-to me?'
'Ye, douteless,' quod she, 'myn uncle
dere.'
'Ne that I shal han cause in this matere,' Quod he, 'to pleyne, or after yow to
preche?' 496
'Why, no, pardee; what nedeth more
speche?'
72. Tho fillen they in othere tales glade, Til at the laste, 'O good eem,' quod she
tho,
'For love of god, which that us bothe
made, 500
Tel me how first ye wisten of his wo:
Wot noon of hit but ye?' He seyde,
'no.'
'Can he wel speke of love?' quod she,
'I preye,
Tel me, for I the bet me shal purveye.'
73. Tho Pandarus a litel gan to smyle,
And seyde, 'by my trouthe, I shal yow
telle. 506
This other day, nought gon ful longe
whyte,
In-with the paleys-gardyn, by a wellle,
Gan he and I wel half a day to dwelle,
Right for to speken of an ordenaunce, 510
How we the Grekes mighte disavaunce.
74. Sone after that bigonne we to lepe,
And casten with our dartes to and fro,
Til at the laste he seyde, he wolde slepe,
And on the gres a-doun he leyde him tho;
And I after gan rome to and fro 516
Til that I herde, as that I walk allone,
How he bigan ful wofully to grone.
75. Tho gan I stalke him softly bihinde,
And sikerly, the sothe for to seyne, 520
As I can clepe ayein now to my minde, Right thus to Love he gan him for to
pleyne;
He seyde, "lord! have ronthe up-on my
peyne,
Al have I been rebel in myn entente;
Now, mea culpa, lord! I me repente. 525
76. O god, that at thy disposicioun
Ledest the fyn, by juste purveyaunce,
Of every wight, my lowe confessioun
Accepte in gree, and send me swich
penaunce 529
As lyketh thee, but from deseperaunce,
That may my goost departe away fro thee,
Thou be my sheld, for thy benignitee.
77. For certes, lord, so sore hath she me wounded
That stod in blak, with loking of hir yēn,

- That to myn hertes botme it is y-sounded, Thorough which I woot that I mot nedes
 dyen ; 536
 This is the worste, I dar me not bi-wryen ;
 And wel the hotter been the gledes rede,
 That men hem wryen with asschen pale and dede."
78. With that he smoot his heed adoun
 anoon, 540
 And gan to motre, I noot what, trewely.
 And I with that gan stille away to goon,
 And leet ther-of as no-thing wist hadde I,
 And come ayein anoon and stood him by,
 And seyde, "a-wake, ye slepen al to
 longe ; 545
 It semeth nat that love dooth yow longe,
79. That slepen so that no man may yow
 wake.
 Who sey ever or this so dul a man ?"
 "Ye, freend," quod he, "do ye your hedes
 ake
 For love, and lat me liven as I can." 550
 But though that he for wo was pale and
 wan,
 Yet made he tho as fresh a countenance
 As though he shulde have led the newe
 daunce.
80. This passed forth, til now, this other
 day,
 It fel that I com roming al allone 555
 Into his chaumbre, and fond how that he lay
 Up-on his bed ; but man so sore grone Ne herde I never, and what that was his
 mone,
 Ne wiste I nought ; for, as I was cominge,
 Al so deyntly he lefte his compleyninge. 560
81. Of which I took somewhat suspicioun,
 And near I com, and fond he wepte sore ;
 And god so wis be my savacioun,
 As never of thing hadde I no rounthe more.
 For neither with engyn, ne with no lore,
 Unethes mighte I fro the deeth him
 kepe ; 566
 That yet fele I myn herte for him wepe.
82. And god wot, never, sith that I was born,
 Was I so bisy no man for to preche,
- Ne never was to wight so depe y-sworn,
 Or he me tolde who mighte been his
 leche. 571
 But now to yow rehersen al his speche,
 Or alle his woful wordes for to soune,
 Ne bid me not, but ye wol see me swowne.
88. But for to save his lyf, and elles
 nought, 575
 And to non harm of yow, thus am I
 driven ;
 And for the love of god that us hath
 wrought,
 Swich chere him dooth, that he and I may liven.
 Now have I plat to yow myn herte
 schryven ; 579
 And sin ye woot that myn entente is clene,
 Tak hede ther-of, for I non yvel mene.
84. And right good thrift, I pray to god, have ye,
 That han swich oon y-caught with-oute
 net ;
 And be ye wys, as ye ben fair to see,
 Wel in the ring than is the ruby set. 585
 Ther were never two so wel y-met,
 Whan ye ben his al hool, as he is youre :
 Ther mighty god yet graunte us see that
 heure !'
85. 'Nay, therof spak I not, a, ha !' quod
 she,
 'As helpe me god, ye shenden every deel !'
 'O mercy, dere nece,' anoon quod he, 591
 'What-so I spak, I mente nought but
 weel,
 By Mars the god, that helmed is of steel ;
 Now beth nought wrooth, my blood, my
 nece dere.'
 'Now wel,' quod she, 'foryeven be it here !'
86. With this he took his leve, and hoom
 he wente ; 596
 And lord, how he was glad and wel bi-
 goon !
 Criseyde aroos, no lenger she ne stente,
 But straught in-to hir closet wente anoon,
 And sette here doun as stille as any stoon,
 And every word gan up and doun to
 winde, 601
 That he hadde seyde, as it com hir to
 minde ;

87. And wex somdel astonied in hir thought,
Right for the newe cas; but whan that she Was ful avysed, the fond she right nought
Of peril, why she oughte afered be. 606
For man may love, of possibilitee,
A womman so, his herte may to-breste,
And she nought love ayein, but-if hir leste.
88. But as she sat allone and thoughte thus, 610
Th'ascry aroos at skarmish al with-oute,
And men cryde in the strete, 'see, Troilus Hath right now put to flight the Grekes
route!'
With that gan al hir meynee for to shoute,
'A! go we see, caste up the latis wyde;
For thurgh this strete he moot to palays
ryde; 616
89. For other way is fro the yate noon
Of Dardanus, ther open is the cheyne.'
With that com he and al his folk anoon
An esy pas rydinge, in routes tweyne, 620
Right as his happy day was, sooth to seyne,
For which, men say, may nought disturbed be
That shal bityden of necessitee.
90. This Troilus sat on his baye stede,
Al armed, save his heed, ful richely, 625
And wounded was his hors, and gan to
blede,
On whiche he rood a pas, ful softly;
But swich a knightly sighte, trewely,
As was on him, was nought, with-uten
falle, 629
To loke on Mars, that god is of batayle.
91. So lyk a man of armes and a knight
He was to seen, fullfid of heigh prowesse;
For bothe he hadde a body and a might
To doon that thing, as wel as hardinesse;
And eek to seen him in his gere him
dresse, 635
So fresh, so yong, so weldy semed he,
It was an heven up-on him for to see.
92. His helm to-hewen was in twenty places,
That by a tissew heng, his bak bihinde,
- His sheld to-dashed was with swerdes and maces, 640
In which men mighte many an arwe
finde
That thirled hadde horn and nerf and
rinde;
And ay the peple cryde, 'here cometh our
joye,
And, next his brother, holdere up of Troye!'
93. For which he wex a litel reed for
shame, 645
Whan he the peple up-on him herde
cryen,
That to biholde it was a noble game,
How sobrelieche he caste doun his yēn.
Cryseyda gan al his chere aspyen,
And leet so softe it in hir herte synke, 650
That to hir-self she seyde, 'who yaf me
drinke?'
94. For of hir owene thought she wex al
reed, Remembringe hir right thus, 'lo, this is
he
Which that myn uncle swereth he moot
be deed,
But I on him have mercy and pitee;' 655
And with that thought, for pure a-shamed,
she Gan in hir heed to pulle, and that as
faste,
Why! he and al the peple for-by paste,
95. And gan to caste and rollen up and
doun
With-inne hir thought his excellent promesse, 660
And his estat, and also his renoun,
His wit, his shap, and eek his gentillesse;
But most hir favour was, for his distresse
Was al for hir, and thoughte it was a
routhe
To sleen swich oon, if that he mente
trouthe. 665
96. Now mighte som envyous jangle thus,
'This was a sodeyn love, how mighte it be
That she so lightly lovede Troilus
Right for the firste sighte; ye, pardee?'

- Now who-so seyth so, mote he never
thee! 670
For every thing, a ginning hath it nede
Er al be wrought, with-uten any drede.
97. For I sey nought that she so sodeynly
Yaf him hir love, but that she gan enclyne
To lyke him first, and I have told yow
why; 675
And after that, his manhod and his pyne
Made love with-inne hir for to myne,
For which, by proces and by good servyse,
He gat hir love, and in no sodeyn wyse.
98. And also blisful Venus, wel arayed, 680
Sat in hir seventhe hous of hevne tho,
Disposed wel, and with aspectes payed,
To helpen sely Troilus of his wo.
And, sooth to seyn, she nas nat al a fo
To Troilus in his nativitee; 685
God woot that wel the soner spedde he.
99. Now lat us stinte of Troilus a throwe,
That rydeth forth, and lat us tourne faste
Un-to Criseyde, that heng hir heed ful
lowe,
Ther-as shesat alone, and gan to caste 690
Wher-on she wolde apoynte hir at the
laste,
If it so were hir eem ne wolde cesse,
For Troilus, up-on hir for to presse.
100. And, lord! so she gan in hir thought argue
In this matere of which I have yow
told, 695
And what to doon best were, and what eschue,
That plyted she ful ofte in many fold.
Now was hir herte warm, now was it cold,
And what she thoughte somewhat shal I
wryte,
As to myn auctor listeth for to endyte. 700
101. She thoughte wel, that Troilus persons
She knew by sighte and eek his gentil-
lesse,
And thus she seyde, 'al were it nought to
done,
To graunte him love, yet, for his worthi-
nesse,
- It were honour, with pley and with glad-
nesse, 705
In honestee, with swich a lord to dele,
For myn estat, and also for his hele.
102. Eek, wel wot I my kinges sone is he;
And sith he hath to see me swich delyt,
If I wolde utterly his sighte fle, 710
Paraunter he mighte have me in dispyt, Thurgh which I mighte stonde in worse
plyt;
Now were I wys, me hate to purchace,
With-uten nede, ther I may stonde in
grace?
103. In every thing, I woot, ther lyth mesure. 715
For though a man forbede dronkenesse,
He nought for-bet that every creature
Be drinkeles for alwey, as I gesse;
Eek sith I woot for me is his distresse,
I ne oughte not for that thing him despyse, 720
Sith it is so, he meneth in good wyse.
104. And eek I knowe, of longe tyme
agoon,
His thewes goode, and that he is not nyce.
Ne avauntour, seyth men, certain, is he
noon;
To wys is he to do so gret a voyce; 725
Ne als I nel him never so cheryce,
That he may make avaunt, by juste cause;
He shal me never binde in swiche a clause.
105. Now set a cas, the hardest is, y-wis,
Men mighten deme that he loveth me: 730
What dishonour were it un-to me, this?
May I him lette of that? why nay, pardee!
I knowe also, and alday here and see,
Men loven wommen al this toun aboute;
Be they the wars? why, nay, with-uten
doute. 735
106. I think eek how he able is for to
have
Of al this noble toun the thrieste,
To been his love, so she hir honour save;
For out and out he is the worthieste, 739
Save only Ector, which that is the beste.
And yet his lyf al lyth now in my cure,
But swich is love, and eek myn aventure.

107. Ne me to love, a wonder is it nought ;
 For wel wot I my-self, so god me spede,
 Al wolde I that noon wist8 of this thought,
 I am oon the fayreste, out of drede, 746
 And goodliceste, who-so taketh hede;
 And so men seyn in al the toun of Troye.
 What wonder is it though he of me have
 joye?
108. I am myn owene woman, wel at ese,
 I thanke it god, as after myn estat; 751
 Right yong, and stonde unteyd in lusty
 lese,
 With-outen jalouysye or swich debat;
 Shal noon housbonde seyn to me "chek-
 mat!"
 For either they ben ful of jalouysye, 755
 Or maisterful, or loven novelrye.
109. What shal I doon? to what fyn live
 I thus?
 Shal I nat loven, in cas if that me leste?
 What, par dieux! I am nought religions!
 And though that I myn herte sette at
 reste 760
 Upon this knight, that is the worthieste,
 And kepe alwey myn honour and my
 name,
 By alle right, it may do me no shame.'
110. But right as whan the sonne shyneth
 brighte,
 In March, that chaungeth ofte tyme his
 face, 765
 And that a cloud is put with wind to fighte
 Which over-sprat the sonne as for a space,
 A cloudy thought gan thorough hir soule
 pace,
 That over-spradde hir brighte thoughtes
 alle,
 So that for fere almost she gan to falle. 770
111. That thought was this, 'allas! sin
 I am free,
 Sholde I now love, and putte in jupartye
 My sikernesse, and thrallen libertee?
 Allas! how dorste I thenken that folye?
 May I nought wel in other folk aspye 775
 Hir dredful joye, hir constreynt, and hir
 peyne?
 Ther loveth noon, that she nath why to
 pleyne.
112. For love is yet the moste stormy lyf,
 Right of him-self, that ever was bigonne;
 For ever som mistrust, or nyce stryf, 780
 Ther is in love, som cloud is over the
 sonne:
 Ther-to we wrecched women no-thing
 conne,
 Whan us is wo, but wepe and sitte and
 thinke;
 Our wreche is this, our owene wo to
 drinke.
113. Also these wikked tonges bean so prest 785
 To speke us harm, eek men be so untrewed,
 That, right anon as cessed is hir lest,
 So cesseth love, and forth to love a newe:
 But harm y-doon, is doon, who-so it rewed.
 For though these men for love hem first to-rehde, 790
 Ful sharp biginning breketh ofte at ende.
114. How ofte tyme hath it y-knownen be,
 The treson, that to womman hath be do?
 To what fyn is swich love, I can nat see,
 Or wher bicomth it, whan it is ago; 795
 Ther is no wight that woot, I trowe so,
 Wher it bycomth; lo, no wight on it
 sporneth;
 That erst was no-thing, in-to nought it
 torneth.
115. How bigy, if I love, eek moste I be To plesen hem that jangle of love, and demen, 800
 And coye hem, that they sey non harm of
 me?
 For though ther be no cause, yet hem semen
 Al be for harm that folk hir freendes
 quemen;
 And who may stoppen every wikked tonge,
 Or soun of belles whyl that they be ronge?' 805
116. And after that, hir thought bigan to
 clere,
 And seyde, 'he which that no-thing
 under-taketh,
 No-thing ne acheveth, be him looth or
 dere.'

And with an other thought hir herte
quaketh;

Than slepeth hope, and after dreed
awaketh; 810

Now hoot, now cold; but thus, bi-twixen
tweye,
She rist hir up, and went hir for to pleye.

117. Adoun the steyre anoon-right tho
she wente

In-to the gardin, with hir neces three,
And up and doun ther made many a
wente, 815

Flexippe, she, Tharbe, and Antigone,
To pleyen, that it joye was to see;
And others of hir wommen, a gret route,
Hir folwede in the gardin al aboute.

118. This yerd was large, and rayled alle
the aleyes, 820

And shadwed wel with blosmy bowes
grene,

And benched newe, and sonded alle the weyes,

In which she walketh arm in arm bi-
twene;

Til at the laste Antigone the shene
Gan on a Trojan song to singe clere, 825
That it an heven was hir voys to here.—

119. She seyde, 'O love, to whom I have and shal

Ben humble subgit, trewe in myn entente,
As I best can, to yow, lord, yeve ich al
Forever-more, myn hertes lust to rente. 830
For never yet thy grace no wight sente
So blisful cause as me, my lyf to lede
In alle joye and seurtee, out of drede.

120. Ye, blisful god, han me so wel beset
In love, y-wis, that al that bereth lyf 835

Imaginen ne cowde how to ben bet;
For, lord, with-outen jalousye or stryf,
I love oon which that is most ententyf
To serven wel, unwery or unfeyned,
That ever was, and leest with harm dis-treyned. 840

121. As he that is the welle of worthinesse,
Of trouthe ground, mirour of goodliheed,
Of wit Appollo, stoon of sikernesse,
Of vertu rote, of lust findere and heed,

Thurgh which is alle sorwe fro me deed, 845
Y-wis, I love him best, so doth he me;
Now good thrift have he, wher-so that he
be!

122. Whom sholde I thanke but yow, god
of love,

Of al this blisse, in which to bathe I
ginne?

And thanked be ye, lord, for that I love! 850
This is the righte lyf that I am inne,

To flemen alle manere vyce and sinne:
This doth me so to vertu for to entende,
That day by day I in my wil amende.

123. And who-so seyth that for to love is vyce, 855

Or thraldom, though he fele in it dis-
tresse,

He outhur is envyouis, or right nyce,
Or is unmyghty, for his shrewednesse,

To loven; for swich maner folk, I gesse,
Defamen love, as no-thing of him knowe;
They speken, but they bente never his
bowe. 861

124. What is the sonne wers, of kinde
righte,

Though that a man, for feblesse of his
y8n,

May nought endure on it to see for
bryghte?

Or love the wers, though wrecches on it
cryen? 865

No wele is worth, that may no sorwe
dryen.

And for-ty, who that hath an heed of verre,

Fro cast of stones war him in the werre!

125. But I with al myn herte and al my
might, 869

As I have seyde, wol love, un-to my laste,
My dere herte, and al myn owene knight,

In which myn herte growen is so faste,
And his in me, that it shal ever laste.

Al dredde I first to love him to biginne,
Now woot I wel, ther is no peril inne.' 875

126. And of hir song right with that word
she stente,

And therwith-al, 'now, necce,' quod Cri-
seyde,

- 'Who made this song with so good entente?'
 Antigone answerde anon, and seyde,
 'Ma dame, y-wis, the godlieste mayde 880
 Of greet estat in al the toun of Troye;
 And let hir lyf in most honour and joye.'
127. 'Forsothe, so it semeth by hir song, Quod the Criseyde, and gan ther-with to
 syke,
 And seyde, 'lord, is there swich blisse
 among 885
 These lovers, as they conne faire endyte?'
 'Ye, wis,' quod fresh Antigone the whyte,
 'For alle the folk that han or been on lyve
 Ne conne wel the blisse of love discryve.
128. But wene ye that every wrecche
 woot 890
 The parfitt blisse of love? why, nay, y-wis;
 They wenen al be love, if oon be hoot;
 Do wey, do wey, they woot no-thing of
 this!
 Men mosten axe at seyntes if it is Aught fair in hevене; why? for they conne telle; 895
 And axen fendes, is it foul in helle.'
129. Criseyde un-to that purpos nought
 answerde,
 But seyde, 'y-wis, it wol be night as
 faste.'
 But every word which that she of hir
 herde,
 She gan to prenten in hir herte faste; 900
 And ay gan love hir lasse for to agaste
 Than it dide erst, and sinken in hir herte,
 That she wex somewhat able to converte.
130. The dayes honour, and the hevenes yē,
 The nightes so, al this clepe I the sonne, 905 Gan westren faste, and downward for to
 wrye,
 As he that hadde his dayes cours y-ronne;
 And whyte things wexen dimme and
 donne
 For lak of light, and sterres for to appere,
 That she and al hir folk in wente y-ferre.
131. So whan it lyked hir to goon to reste,
 And voyded weren they that voyden
 onghte, 912
- She seyde, that to slepe wel hir leste.
 Hir wommen sone til hir bed hir broughte.
 Whan al was hush, than lay she stille, and
 thoughte 915
 Of al this thing the manere and the wyse.
 Reherce it nedeth nought, for ye ben wyse.
132. A nightingale, upon a cedre grene,
 Under the chambre-wal ther as she lay,
 Ful loude sang ayein the mone shene, 920
 Paraunter, in his briddes wyse, a lay
 Of love, that made hir herte fresh and gay.
 That herked she so longe in good entente.
 Til at the laste the dede sleep hir hente.
133. And, as she sleep, anon-right tho hir mette, 925
 How that an egle, fethered whyt as boon,
 Under hir brest his longe clawes sette,
 And out hir herte he rente, and that
 a-noon,
 And dide his herte in-to hir brest to goon,
 Of which she nought agroos ne no-thing
 smerte, 930
 And forth he fleigh, with herte left for
 herte.
134. Now lat hir slepe, and we our tales
 holde
 Of Troilus, that is to paleys riden,
 Fro the scarmuch, of the whiche I tolde,
 And in his chambre sit, and hath abiden
 Til two or thre of his messages yeden 936
 For Pandarus, and soughten him ful faste, Til they him founde, and broughte him at the laste.
135. This Pandarus com leping in at ones
 And seide thus, 'who hath ben wel y-bete
 To-day with swerdes, and with slingestones, 941
 But Troilus, that hath caught him an
 hete?'
 And gan to jape, and seyde, 'lord, so ye
 swete!
 But rys, and lat us soupe and go to reste;'
 And he answerde him, 'do we as thee
 leste.' 945 136. With al the haste goodly that they
 mighte,
 They spedde hem fro the souper un-to
 bedde;

- And every wight out at the dore him
dighte,
And wher him list upon his way he
spedde ;
But Troilus, that thoughte his herte
bledde 950
For wo, til that he herde som tydinge,
He seyde, 'freend, shal I now wepe or
singe?'
187. Quod Pandarus, 'ly stille, and lat me
slepe,
And don thyn hood, thy nedes spedde be ;
And chese, if thou wolt singe or dance or
lepe ; 955
At shorte wordes, thou shalt trowe me.—
Sire, my nece wol do wel by thee,
And love thee best, by god and by my
trouthe,
But lak of pursuit make it in thy slouthe.
188. For thus ferforth I have thy work
bigonne, 960
Fro day to day, til this day, by the morwe, Hir love of freendship have I to thee
wonne,
And also hath she leyd hir feyth to borwe.
Algate a foot is hameled of thy sorwe.'
What sholde I lenger sermon of it holde?
As ye han herd bifore, al he him tolde. 966 189. But right as floures, thourgh the colde of night
Y-closed, stoupen on hir stalkes lowe,
Redressen hem a-yein the sonne bright,
And spreden on hir kinde cours by rowe ;
Right so gan tho his eyen up to throwe 971
This Troilus, and seyde, 'O Venus dere,
Thy might, thy grace, y-heried be it here !'
140. And to Pandare he held up bothe his hondes,
Andseyde, 'lord, althyn be that I have ; 975
For I am hool, al brosten been my bondes ;
A thousand Troians who so that me yave,
Eche after other, god so wis me save,
Ne mighte me so gladen ; lo, myn herte,
It spredeth so for joye, it wol to-sterste ! 980
141. But lord, how shal I doon, how shal
I liven ?
Whan shal I next my dere herte see ?
- Howshal this longe tyme a-wey be driven,
Til that thou be ayein at hir fro me ?
Thou mayst answeze, "a-byd, a-byd," but
he 985
That hangeth by the nekke, sooth to seyne,
In grete disese abydeeth for the payne.'
142. 'Al esily, now, for the love of Marte,' Quod Pandarus, 'for every thing hath
tyme ; 989
So longe abyd til that the night departe ;
For al so siker as thou lyst here by me,
And god toforn, I wol be there at pryme,
And for thy werk somewhat as I shal seye,
Or on som other wight this charge leye.
143. For pardee, god wot, I have ever yit 995
Ben redy thee to serve, and to this night
Have I nought fayned, but emforth my
wit
Don al thy lust, and shal with al my
might.
Do now as I shal seye, and fare a-right ;
And if thou nilt, wyte al thy-self thy care,
On me is nought along thyn yvel fare. 1001
144. I woot wel that thou wyser art than I
A thousand fold, but if I were as thou,
God helpe me so, as I wolde outrely,
Right of myn owene hond, wryte hir right now 1005
A lettre, in which I wolde hir tellen how
I ferde amis, and hir beseche of routhe ;
Now help thy-self, and leve it not for slouthe.
145. And I my-self shal ther-with to hir
goon ;
And whan thou wost that I am with hir
there, 1010
Worth thou up-on a courser right anon,
Ye, hardily, right in thy beste gere,
And ryd forth by the place, as nought ne
were,
And thou shalt finde us, if I may, sittinge
At som windowe, in-to the strete lokinge.
146. And if thee list, than maystow us saluwe, 1016
And up-on me makè thy contenance ;

- But, by thy lyf, be war and faste eschuwe
To tarien ought, god shilde us fro mis-
chaunce!
Ryd forth thy wey, and hold thy govern-
aunce; 1020
And we shal speke of thee som-what, I
trowe,
Whan thou art goon, to do thyne eres
glowe!
147. Touching thy lettre, thou art wys
y-nough, 1023
I woot thou nilt it digneliche endyte;
As make it with thise argumentes tough;
Ne scrivenish or craftily thou it wryte;
Behlotte it with thy teres eek a lyte;
And if thou wryte a goodly word al softe,
Though it be good, reherce it not to ofte.
148. For though the beste harpoure upon
lyve 1030
Wolde on the beste souned joly harpe
That ever was, with alle his fingres fyve,
Touche ay o streng, or ay o werbul harpe,
Were his nayles poynted never so sharpe,
It shulde maken every wight to dulle, 1035
To here his glee, and of his strokes fulle.
149. Ne jompre eek no discordaunt thing
y-fere,
As thus, to usen termes of phisyk;
In loves termes, hold of thy matere
The forme alwey, and do that it be lyk; 1040
For if a peyntour wolde peynte a pyk
With asses feet, and hede it as an ape,
It cordeth nought; so nere it but a jape.'
150. This counseyl lyked wel to Troilus;
But, as a dreedful lover, he seyde this :-
'Allas, my dere brother Pandarus, 1046
I am ashamed for to wryte, y-wis,
Lest of myn innocence I seyde a-mis,
Or that she nolde it for despyt receyve;
Thanne were I deed, ther mighte it nothing weyve.' 1050
151. To that Pandare answerde, 'if thee
lest,
Do that I seye, and lat me therwith goon;
For by that lord that formed est and west,
I hope of it to bringe answer anon
- Right of hir hond, and if that thou nilt
noon, 1055
Let be; and sory mote he been his lyve, Ayeins thy lust that helpeth thee to
thryve.'
152. Quod Troilus, 'Depardieuz, I assente;
Sin that thee list, I will aryse and wryte;
And blisful god preye ich, with good
entente, 1060
The vyage, and the lettre I shal endyte,
So spede it; and thou, Minerva, the whyte,
Yif thou me wit my lettre to devyse :'
And sette him down, and wroot right in
this wyse.—
153. First he gan hir his righte lady
calle, 1065
His hertes lyf, his lust, his sorwes leche,
His blisse, and eek this othere termes
alle,
That in swich cas these lovers alle seche;
And in ful humble wyse, as in his speche,
He gan him recomaunde un-to hir grace;
To telle al how, it axeth muchel space. 1071
154. And after this, ful lowly he hir prayde
To be nought wrooth, though he, of his
folye,
So hardy was to hir to wryte, and seyde,
That love it made, or elles moste he dye,
And pitously gan mercy for to crye; 1076
And after that he seyde, and ley ful loude, Him-self was litel worth, and lesse he
conde;
155. And that she sholde han his conning excused,
That litel was, and eek he dredde hir so,
And his unworthinesse he ay acused; 1081
And after that, than gan he telle his wo;
But that was endeles, with-uten ho
And seyde, he wolde in trouthe alwey him
holde;—
And radde it over, and gan the lettre
folde. 1085
156. And with hissalte teres gan he bathe
The ruby in his signet, and it sette
Upon the wax deliverliche and rathe;
Ther-with a thousand tymes, er he lette,

He kiste tho the lettre that he shette, 1090
And seyde, 'lettre, a blisful destenee
Thee shapen is, my lady shal thee see.'

157. This Pandare took the lettre, and that by tyme

A-morwe, and to his neces paleys sterte,
And faste he swoor, that it was passed
pryme, 1095
And gan to jape, and seyde, 'y-wis, myn
herte,

So fresh it is, al-though it sore smerte,
I may not slepe never a Mayes morwe;
I have a joly wo, a lusty sorwe.'

158. Criseyde, whan that she hir uncle
herde, 1100

With dredful herte, and desirous to here
The cause of his cominge, thus answerde,
'Now by your feyth, myn uncle,' quod
she, 'dere,

What maner windes gydeth yow now
here? 1104

Tel us your joly wo and your penaunce,
How farforth be ye put in loves daunce.'

159. 'By god,' quod he, 'I hoppe alwey bihinde!'

And she to-laugh, it thoughte hir herte
breste.

Quod Pandarus, 'loke alwey that ye finde Game in myn hood, but herkneth, if yow
leste; 1110

Ther is right now come in-to tonnea geste,
A Greek espye, and telleth newe thinges,
For which come I to telle yow tydinges.

160. Into the gardin go we, and we shal
here,

Al prevely, of this a long sermoun.' 1115
With that they wenten arm in arm y-fere
In-to the gardin from the chaumbre doun.
And whan that he so far was that the
soun

Of that he speke, no man here mighte,
He seyde hir thus, and out the lettre
plighte, 1120

161. 'Lo, he that is al hoolly youre free
Him recomaundeth lowly to your grace,
And sent to you this lettre here by me;
Avyseth you on it, whan ye han space,

And of som goodly answers yow purchase;
Or, helpe me god, so pleylny for to seyne,
He may not longe liven for his peyne.'

162. Ful dredfully tho gan she stonde
stille,
And took it nought, but al hir humble
chere

Gan for to change, and seyde, 'scrit ne
bille, 1130

For love of god, that toucheth swich
matere,
Ne bring me noon; and also, uncle
dere,

To myn estat have more reward, I preye,
Than to his lust; what sholde I more
seye?

163. And loketh now if this be reson-able, 1135

And letteth nought, for favour ne for slouth,

To seyn a sooth; now were it covenable
To myn estat, by god, and by your trouthe,
To taken it, or to han of him rounthe,
In harming of my-self or in repreve? 1140
Ber it a-yein, for him that ye on leve!'

164. This Pandarus gan on hir for to stare,

And seyde, 'now is this the grettest
wonder

That ever I sey! lat be this nyce fare!
To deethe mote I smiten be with thonder,
If, for the citee which that stondesth
yonder, 1146

Wolde I a lettre un-to yow bringe or take
To harm of yow; what list yow thus it
make?

165. But thus ye faren, wel neigh alle and
some, 1149

That he that most desireth yow to serve,
Of him ye recche leest wher he bicomе,
And whether that he live or elles sterve.
But for al that that ever I may deserve,
Refuse it nought,' quod he, and hente hir
faste,

And in hir bosom the lettre doun he thraсте, 1155

166. And seyde hir, 'now cast it away
anoon,
That folk may seen and gauren on us
tweye.'
Quod she, 'I can abyde til they be goon,'
And gan to smyle, and seyde him, 'eam,
I preye,
Swich answer as yow list your-self purveye, 1160
For trewely I nil no lettre wryte.'
'No? than wol I,' quod he, 'so ye endyte.' 167. Therwith she lough, and seyde, 'go we dyna.'
And he gan at him-self to jape faste, 1164
And seyde, 'nece, I have so greet a pyne
For love, that every other day I faste'—
And gan his beste japes forth to caste;
And made hir so to langhe at his folye,
That she for laughter wende for to dye.
168. And whan that she was comen in-to halle, 1170
'Now, eem,' quod she, 'we wol go dyne
anoon;'
And gan some of hir women to hir calle,
And streight in-to hir chaumbre gan she
goon;
But of hir businesses, this was oon
A-monges othere thinges, out of drede,
Ful prively this lettre for to rede; 1176
169. Avysed word by word in every lynes,
And fond no lak, she thoughte he coude
good;
And up it putte, and went hir in to dyne.
And Pandarus, that in a study stood, 1180 Er he was war, she took him by the
hood,
And seyde, 'ye were caught er that ye
wiste;'
'I vouche sauf,' quod he, 'do what yow
liste.'
170. Tho wesshen they, and sette hem down and ete;
And after noon ful slely Pandarus 1185 Gan drawe him to the window next the
strete,
And seyde, 'nece, who hath arayed thus
The yonder hous, that stant afor-yeyn us?'
- 'Which hous?' quod she, and gan for to
biholde,
And knew it wel, and whos it was him
tolde, 1190
171. And fillen forth in speche of thinges
smale,
And seten in the window bothe tweye.
Whan Pandarus saw tyme un-to his tale,
And saw wel that hir folk were alle
aways,
'Now, nece myn, tel on,' quod he, 'I
seye, 1195
How lyketh yow the lettre that ye woot?
Can he ther-on? for, by my trouthe, I noot.'
172. Therwith al rosy hewed tho wax she,
And gan to humme, and seyde, 'so I
trowe.'
'Aqynte him wel, for goddes love,' quod
he; 1200
'My-self to medes wol the lettre sowe,'
And held his hondes up, and sat on
knowe,
'Now, goode nece, be it never so lyte,
Yif me the labour, it to sowe and plyte.' 173. 'Ye, for I can so wryte,' quod she
tho; 1205
'And cek I noot what I sholde to him
seye.'
'Nay, nece,' quod Pandare, 'sey not so;
Yet at the leste thanketh him, I preye,
Of his good wil, and doth him not to deye.
Now for the love of me, my nece dere, 1210
Refuseth not at this tyme my preyere.'
174. 'Depar-dieux,' quod she, 'god leve al be wel!
God helpe me so, this is the firste lettre
That ever I wroot, ye, al or any del.'
And in-to a closet, for to avyse hir bettre,
She wente allone, and gan hir herte un-
fette 1216
Out of disdaynes prison but a lyte;
And sette hir donn, and gan a lettre wryte,
175. Of which to telle in short is myn
entente 1219
Th'effect, as fer as I can understonde:—
She thonked him of al that he wel mente

Towards hir, but holden him in honde
She nolde nought, ne make hir-selven
bonde

In love, but as his suster, him to please,
She wolde fayn, to doon his herte an esse.

176. She shette it, and to Pandarus gan
goon, 1226

There as he sat and loked in-to strete,
And doun she sette hir by him on a stoon
Of jaspre, up-on a quissin gold y-bete,
And seyde, 'as wisly helpe me god the
grete, 1230

I never dide a thing with more peyne
Than wryte this, to which ye me con-streynye;'

177. And took it him: he thanked hir and seyde,

'God woot, of thing ful ofte looth bigonne Cometh ende good; and nece myn, Cri-
seyde, 1235

That ye to him of hard now ben y-wonne
Oughte he be glad, by god and yonder
sonne!

For-why men seyth, "impressioun[es]
lighte

Ful lightly been ay redy to the flighte."

178. But ye han played tyraunt neigh to
longe, 1240

And hard was it your herte for to grave;
Now stint, that ye no longer on it honge,
Al wolde ye the forme of daunger save.

But hasteth yow to doon him joye have;
For trusteth wel, to longe y-doon hard-
nesse 1245

Causeth despyt ful often, for distresse.'

179. And right as they declamed this
matere,

Lo, Troilus, right at the stretes ende,
Com ryding with his tenthe some y-fere,
Al softly, and thiderward gan bende 1250
Ther-as they sete, as was his way to wende
To paleys-ward; and Pandare him aspyde,
And seyde, 'nece, y-see who cometh here
ryde!

190. O flee not in, he seeth us, I suppose;
Lest he may think that ye him eschuwe.'

'Nay, nay,' quod she, and wex as reed as rose. 1256

With that he gan hir humbly to saluwe,
With dresedful chere, and ofte his hewes
muwe;

And up his look debonairly he caste,
And bekked on Pandare, and forth he
paste. 1260

181. God woot if he sat on his hors a-right,
Or goodly was beseyn, that ilke day!

God woot wher he was lyk a manly
knight!

What sholde I drecche, or telle of his aray?

Criseyde, which that alle these thinges
say, 1265

To telle in short, hir lyked al y-fere,
His persone, his aray, his look, his chere,

182. His goodly manere and his gentil-
lesse,

So wel, that never, sith that she was born,
Ne hadde she swich routhe of his dis-
tresse; 1270

And how-so she hath hard ben her-biforn,
To god hope I, she hath now caught a thorn.

She shal not pulle it out this nexte wyke;
God sende mo swich thornes on to pyke!

183. Pandare, which that stood hir faste
by, 1275

Felte iren hoot, and he bigan to smyte,
And seyde, 'nece, I pray yow hertely,
Tel me that I shal axen yow a lyte.

A womman, that were of his deeth to wyte,

With-uten his gilt, but for hir lakked
routhe, 1280

Were it wel doon?' Quod she, 'nay, by my trouthe!'

184. 'God helpe me so,' quod he, 'ye sey me sooth.

Ye felen wel your-self that I not lye;
Lo, yond he rit!' Quod she, 'ye, so he dooth.'

'Wel,' quod Pandare, 'as I have told yow
thrye, 1285

Lat be your nyce shame and your folye,
And spek with him in esing of his herte;
Lat nycetee not do yow bothe smerte.'

185. But ther-on was to heven and to done;

Considered al thing, it may not be; 1290
And why, for shame; and it were eek to sone

To graunten him so greet a libertee.

'For playnly hir entente,' as seyde she,
Was for to love him unwist, if she mighte,
And guerdon him with no-thing but with sighte.' 1295

186. But Pandarus thoughte, 'it shal not be so,

If that I may; this nyce opinioun
Shal not be holden fully yeres two.'
What sholde I make of this a long sermoun?

He moste assente on that conclusioun 1300
As for the tyme; and whan that it was eve,
And al was wel, he roos and took his leve.

187. And on his wey ful faste homward he spedde,

And right for joye he felte his herte daunce;

And Troilus he fond alone a-bedde, 1305
That lay as dooth these lovers, in a traunce,

Bitwixen hope and derk desesperaunce.
But Pandarus, right at his in-cominge,
He song, as who seyth, 'lo! sumwhat I bringe.'

188. And seyde, 'who is in his bed so sone 1310

Y-buried thus?' 'It am I, freend,' quod he.

'Who, Troilus? nay helpe me so the mone,'

Quod Pandarus, 'thou shalt aryse and see
A charme that was sent right now to thee,
The which can helen thee of thyn accesse, 1315

If thou do forth-with al thy businesse.'

189. 'Ye, through the might of god!' quod Troilus.

And Pandarus gan him the lettre take,
And seyde, 'pardee, god hath holpen us;
Have here a light, and loke on al this blake.' 1320

But ofte gan the herte glade and quake

Of Troilus, whyl that he gan it rede,
So as the wordes yave him hope or drede.

190. But fynally, he took al for the beste
That she him wroot, for sumwhat he bi-held 1325

On which, him thoughte, he mighte his herte reste,

Al covered she the wordes under sheld.

Thus to the more worthy part he held,
That, what for hope and Pandarus bi-heste,

His grete wo for-yede he at the leste. 1330

191. But as we may alday our-selven see,
Through more wode or col, the more fyr;
Right so encreses of hope, of what it be,
Therwith ful ofte encreseth eek desyr;
Or, as an ook cometh of a lital spyr, 1335
So through this lettre, which that she him sente,

Encresen gan desyr, of which he brente.

192. Wherefore I soye alwey, that day and night

This Troilus gan to desiren more
Than he dide erst, thurgh hope, and dide his might 1340

To pressen on, as by Pandarus lore,
And wryten to hir of his sorwes sore
Fro day to day; he leet it not refreyde,
That by Pandare he wroot somwhat or seyde;

193. And dide also his othere observaunces 1345

That to a lovee longeth in this cas;
And, after that these dees turnede on chaunces,

So was he outher glad or seyde 'allas!'
And held after his gastes ay his pas;
And aftir swiche answeres as he hadde,
So were his dayes sory outher gladdes. 1351

194. But to Pandare alwey was his recours,
And pitously gan ay til him to pleyne,
And him bisoughte of rede and som socours;

And Pandarus, that sey his wode payne,
Wex wel neigh deed for rounthe, sooth to seyne, 1356

And bisily with al his herte caste
Som of his wo to sleen, and that as faste ;

195. And seyde, 'lord, and freend, and brother dere,
God woot that thy disese doth me wo. 1360
But woltow stinten al this woful chere,
And, by my trouthe, or it be dayes two,
And god to-forn, yet shal I shape it so,
That thou shalt come in-to a certayn
place,
Ther-as thou mayst thy-self hir preye of
grace. 1365

196. And certainly, I noot if thou it wost,
But tho that been expert in love it seye,
It is oon of the thinges that furthereth
most,
A man to have a leyser for to preye,
And siker place his wo for to biwreye; 1370
For in good herte it moot som routhe
imprese,
To here and see the giltles in distresse.

197. Paraunter thenkestow: though it be so
That kinde wolde doon hir to biginne
To han a maner routhe up-on my wo, 1375
Seyth Daunger, "Nay, thou shalt me never winne;
So reuleth hir hir hertes goost with-inne,
That, though she bende, yet she stant on
rote;
What in effect is this un-to my bote?"

198. Think here-ayeins, whan that the sturdy ook, 1380
On which men hakketh ofte, for the
nones,
Receyved hath the happy falling strook,
The grete sweigh doth it come al at ones,
As doon these rokkes or these milne-stones.
For swifter cours cometh thing that is of wighte, 1385
Whan it descendeth, than don thinges
lighte.

199. And reed that boweth down for every blast,
Ful lightly, cesse wind, it wol aryse ;
But so nil not an ook whan it is cast ;
It nedeth me nought thee longe to forbyse.

Men shal rejoysen of a greet empryse 1391
Acheved wel, and stant with-outen doute,
Al han men been the lenger ther-about.

200. But, Troilus, yet tel me, if thee lest,
A thing now which that I shal axen
thee; 1395
Which is thy brother that thou lovest
best
As in thy verray hertes privetee?'
'Y-wis, my brother Deiphebus,' quod he.
'Now,' quod Pandare, 'er houres twyes
twelve,
He shal thee ese, unwist of it him-selve.

201. Now lat me allone, and werken as I may, 1401
Quod he; and to Deiphebus wente he tho
Which hadde his lord and grete freend
ben ay;
Save Troilus, no man he lovede so.
To telle in short, with-outen wordes mo,
Quod Pandarus, 'I pray yow that ye be Freend to a cause which that toucheth
me.' 1407

202. 'Yis, pardee,' quod Deiphebus, 'wel
thow wost,
In al that ever I may, and god to-fore,
Al nere it but for man I love most, 1410
My brother Troilus; but sey wherfore
It is; for sith that day that I was bore,
I nas, ne never-mo to been I thinke, Ayeins a thing that mighte thee for-
thinke.'

203. Pandare gan him thonke, and to him seyde, 1415
'Lo, sire, I have a lady in this toun,
That is my nece, and called is Criseyde,
Which som men wolden doon oppressioun,
And wrongfully have hir possessioun :
Wherfor I of your lordship yow biseche
To been our freend, with-oute more
speche.' 1421

204. Deiphebus him answerde, 'O, is not
this,
That thow spekest of to me thus strangely,
Criseyda, my freend?' He seyde, 'Yis.'
'Than nedeth,' quod Deiphebus hardely,

- Na-more to speke, for trusteth wel, that I Wol be hir champion with spore and yerle; 1427
I roughte nought though alle hir foos it
herde
205. But tel me, thou that woost al this
matere,
How I might best avaylen? now lat see.
Quod Pandarus, 'if ye, my lord so dere,
Wolden as now don this honour to me,
To prayen hir to-morwe, lo, that she
Com un-to yow hir pleyntes to devyse,
Hir adversaries wolde of hit agryse. 1435
206. And if I more dorste preye as now,
And chargen yow to have so greet tra-
vayle,
To han som of your bretheren here with
yow,
That mighten to hir cause bet avayle,
Than, woot I wel, she mighte never fayle
For to be holpen, what at your instance,
What with hir othere freendes govern-
aunce.' 1442
207. Deiphebus, which that comen was,
of kinde,
To al honour and bountee to consente, Answerde, 'it shal be doon; and I can
finde 1445
Yet gretter help to this in myn entente.
What wolt thou seyn, if I for Eleyne
sente
To speke of this? I trow it be the beste;
For she may leden Paris as hir leste.
208. Of Ector, which that is my lord, my
brother, 1450
It nedeth nought to preye him freend
to be;
For I have herd him, o tyme and eek other,
Spoke of Criseyde swich honour, that he May seyn no bet, swich hap to him hath
she.
It nedeth nought his helpes for to crave; 1455
He shal be swich, right as we wole him
have.
209. Spek thou thy-self also to Troilus
On my bihalve, and pray him with us dync.'
- 'Sire, al this shal be doon,' quod Pan-
darus;
And took his leve, and never gan to
fyne, 1460
But to his neces hous, as strenght as lyns,
He com; and fond hir fro the mete aryse;
And sette him down, and spak right in
this wyse.
210. He seyde, 'O veray god, so have
I ronne!
Lo, nece myn, see ye nought how I swete?
I noot whether ye the more thank me
coune. 1466
Be ye nought war how that fals Poliphete
Is now aboute eft-sones for to plete,
And bringe on yow advocacyes newe?'
'I? no,' quod she, and chaunged al hir
hewe. 1470
211. 'What is he more aboute, me to drecche
And doon me wrong? what shal I do,
allas?
Yet of him-self no-thing ne wolde I recche,
Newe it for Antenor and Eneas,
That been his freendes in swich maner
cas; 1475
But, for the love of god, myn uncle dere,
No fors of that, lat him have al y-fere;
- 212 With-uten that, I have ynough for us.'
'Nay,' quod Pandare, 'it shal no-thing
be so 1479
For I have been right now at Deiphebus,
And Ector, and myne othere lordes mo,
And shortly makede eche of hem his fo;
That, by my thrift, he shal it never winne
For ought he can, whan that so he bi-
ginne.'
213. And as they casten what was best to
done, 1485
Deiphebus, of his owene curtasye,
Com hir to preye, in his propre persone,
To holde him on the morwe companye
At diner, which she nolde not denye,
But goodly gan to his preyere obaye. 1490
He thonked hir, and wente up-on his
weye.

214. Whanne this was doon, this Pandare up a-noon,
To telle in short, and forth gan for to
wende
To Troilus, as stille as any stoon,
And al this thing he tolde him, word and
ende; 1495
And how that he Deiphebus gan to blende;
And seyde him, 'now is tyme, if that thou
conne,
To here thee wel to-morwe, and al is
wonne.
215. Now spek, now prey, now pitously
compleyne;
Lat not for nyce shame, or drede, or
slouth; 1500
Som-tyme a mau mot telle his owene
peyne;
Bileve it, and she shal han on thee routhe;
Thou shalt be saved by thy feyth, in
trouthe.
But wel wot I, thou art now in a drede;
And what it is, I leye, I can arede. 1505
216. Thow thinkest now, "how sholde
I doon al this?
For by my cheres mosten folk aspye,
That for hir love is that I fare a-mis;
Yet hadde I lever unwist for sorwe dye."
Now think not so, for thou dost greet
folye. 1510
For right now have I founden o manere
Of sleighte, for to coveren al thy chere.
217. Thow shalt gon over night, and that as blyve,
Un-to Deiphebus hous, as thee to pleye,
Thy maladye a-wey the bet to dryve, 1515
For-why thou semest syk, soth for to seye.
Sone after that, down in thy bed thee leye,
And sey, thow mayst no lenger up endure,
And lye right there, and byde thyn avent-
ture.
218. Sey that thy fever is wont thee for to take 1520
The same tyme, and lasten til a-morwe;
And lat see now how wel thou canst
it make,
For, par-dee, syk is he that is in sorwe.
- Go now, farewell! and, Venus here to
borwe, 1524
I hope, and thou this purpos holde ferme,
Thy grace she shal fully ther conferme.'
219. Quod Troilus, 'y-wis, thou nedelees Counseylest me, that sykliche I me feyne!
For I am syk in earnest, doutelees,
So that wel neigh I sterve for the peyne.'
Quod Pandarus, 'thou shalt the bettere
pleyne, 1531
And hast the lasse nede to countrefete;
For him men demen hoot that men seen
swete.
220. Lo, holde thee at thy triste cloos,
and I
Shal wel the deer un-to thy bowe dryve.'
Therwith he took his leve al softly, 1536
And Troilus to paleys wente blyve.
So glad ne was he never in al his lyve;
And to Pandarus reed gan al assente,
And to Deiphebus hous at night he
wente. 1540
221. What nedeth yow to tellen al the
chere
That Deiphebus un-to his brother made,
Or his accesse, or his syklich manere,
How men gan him with clothes for to lade,
Whan he was leyd, and how men wolde him glade? 1545
But al for nought, he held forth ay the
wyse
That ye han herd Pandare er this devyse.
222. But certeyn is, er Troilus him leyde, Deiphebus had him prayed, over night,
To been a freend and helping to Criseyde.
God woot, that he it grauntede anon-
right, 1551
To been hir fulle freend with al his might.
But swich a nede was to preye him
thenne,
As for to bidde a wood man for to reune.
223. The morwen com, and neighen gan the tyme 1555
Of meel-tyd, that the faire quene Eleyne Shoop hir to been, an houre after the pryme.

With Deiphebus, to whom she nolde feyne;

But as his suster, hoomly, sooth to seyne,
She com to diner in hir playn entente. 1560
But god and Pandare wiste al what this mente.

224. Come eek Criseyde, al innocent of this,

Antigone, hir sister Tarbe also;
But flec we now prolixitee best is,
For love of god, and lat us faste go 1565
Right to the effect, with-oute tales mo,
Why al this folk assembled in this place;
And lat us of hir saluinges pace.

225. Gret honour dide hem Deiphebus, certeyn,

And fedde hem wel with al that mighte lyke. 1570

But ever-more, 'allas!' was his refreynt,
'My goode brother Troilus, the syke,
Lyth yet'—and therwith-al he gan to syke;

And after that, he peyned him to glade
Hem as he mighte, and chere good he made. 1575

226. Compleyned eek Eleyne of his syknesse

So feithfully, that pitee was to here,
And every wight gan waxen for accesse
A leche anon, and seyde, 'in this manere
Men curen folk; this charme I wol yow lere.' 1580

But there sat oon, al list hir nought to teche,
That thoughte, best coude I yet been his leche.

227. After compleynt, him gonne they to preyse,

As folk don yet, whan som wight hath bigonne

To preyse a man, and up with prys him reyse 1585

A thousand fold yet lyer than the sonne:—
'He is, he can, that fewe lordes conne.'
And Pandarus, of that they wolde afferme,
Ho not for-gat hir praysing to conferme.

228. Herde al this thing Criseyde wel y-nough, 1590

And every word gan for to notyfy; For which with sobre chere hir herte lough;

For who is that ne wolde hir glorifye,
To mowen swich a knight don live or dye?

But al passe I, lest ye to longe dwelle; 1595
For for o fyn is al that ever I telle.

229. The tyme com, fro diner for to ryse,
And, as hem oughte, arisen everychoon,
And gonne a whyl of this and that devyse.
But Pandarus brak al this speche anon,
And seyde to Deiphebus, 'wole ye goon,
If your8 wille be, as I yow preyde, 1602
To speke here of the nedes of Criseyde?'

230. Eleyne, which that by the hond hir held,

Took first the tale, and seyde, 'go we blyve;' 1605

And goodly on Criseyde she biheld,
And seyde, 'Joves lat him never thryve,
That dooth yow harm, and bringe him some of lyve!

And yeve me sorwe, but he shal it rewe,
If that I may, and alle folk be trewe.' 1610

231. 'Tel thou thy neces cas,' quod Deiphebus

To Pandarus, 'for thou canst best it telle.'—

'My lordes and my ladyes, it stant thus;
What sholde I lenger,' quod he, 'do yow dwelle?'

He rong hem out a proces lyk a belle, 1615
Up-on hir fo, that highte Poliphete,
So heynous, that men mighte on it spete.

232. Answerde of this ech worse of hem than other,

And Poliphete they gonne thus to warien,

'An-honged be swich oon, were he my brother; 1620

And so he shal, for it ne may not varien.'
What sholde I lenger in this tale tarien?
Pleynly, alle at ones, they hir highten,
To been hir helpe in al that ever they mighten.

233. Spak than Eleyne, and seyde, 'Pandar-darus, 1625
 Woot ought my lord, my brother, this
 matere,
 I mene, Ector? or woot it Troilus?'
 He seyde, 'ye, but wole ye now me here?
 Me thinketh this, sith Troilus is here,
 It were good, if that ye wolde assente, 1630
 She tolde hir-self himal this, ershe wente.
234. For he wole have the more hir grief
 at herte,
 By cause, lo, that she a lady is;
 And, by your leve, I wol but right in
 sterte,
 And do yow wite, and that anon, y-wis, 1635
 If that he slepe, or wole ought here of
 this.
 And in he lepte, and seyde him in his
 ere,
 'God have thy soule, y-brought have I thy here!'
235. To smylen of this gan tho Troilus,
 And Pandarus, with-oute rekeninge, 1640
 Out wente anon t'Eleyne and Deiphebus,
 And seyde hem, 'so there be no tarynge,
 No more pres, he wol wel that ye bringe
 Criseyda, my lady, that is here;
 And as he may enduren, he wole here. 1645 236. But wel ye woot, the chaumbre is but lyte,
 And fowe folk may lightly make it warm;
 Now loketh ye, (for I wol have no wyte,
 To bringe in pres that mighte doon him
 harm
 Or him disesen, for my better arm), 1650
 Wher it be bot she byde til eft-sones;
 Now loketh ye, that knowen what to doon is.
237. I sey for me, best is, as I can knowe,
 That no wight in ne wente but ye tweye,
 But it were I, for I can, in a throwe, 1655
 Reherce hir cas, unlyk that she can seye;
 And after this, she may him ones preye
 To ben good lord, in short, and take hir
 leve;
 This may not muchel of his ese him reve.
238. And eek, for she is straunge, he wol forbere 1660
 His ese, which that him thar nougt for
 yow;
 Eek other thing, that toucheth not to
 here,
 He wol me telle, I woot it wel right now,
 That secret is, and for the tounes prow.'
 And they, that no-thing knewe of this
 entente, 1665
 With-oute more, to Troilus in they wente.
239. Eleyne in al hir goodly softe wyse,
 Gan him saluwe, and womanly to pleye,
 And seyde, 'ywis, ye moste alweyes aryse!
 Now fayre brother, beth al hool, I preye!'
 And gan hir arm right over his sholder
 leye, 1671
 And him with al hir wit to recomforte;
 As she best coude, she gan him to dis-
 porte.
240. So after this quod she, 'we yow
 biseke,
 My dere brother, Deiphebus, and I, 1675
 For love of god, and so doth Pandare eke,
 To been good lord and freend, right
 hertely,
 Un-to Criseyde, which that certainly Receyveth wrong, as woot wel here Pan-
 dare,
 That can hir cas wel bet than I declare.'
241. This Pandarus gan newe his tunge affyle, 1681
 And al hir cas reherce, and that anon;
 Whan it was seyde, sone after, in a hyle,
 Quod Troilus, 'as sone as I may goon,
 I wol right fayn with al my might ben
 oon, 1685
 Have god my trouthe, hir cause to sustene.'
 'Good thrift have ye,' quod Eleyne the
 quene.
242. Quod Pandarus, 'and it your wille be,
 That she may take hir leve, er that she go?'
 'Or elles god for-bede,' tho quod he, 1690
 'If that she vouche sauf for to do so.'
 And with that word quod Troilus, 'ye two,
 Deiphebus, and my suster leef and dere,
 To yow have I to speke of o matere,

243. To been avysed by your reed the better' :— 1695
 And fond, as hap was, at his beddes heed,
 The copie of a tretis and a lettre,
 That Ector hadde him sent to axen reed,
 If swich a man was worthy to ben deed,
 Woot I nought who ; but in a grisly wyse
 He preyde hem anon on it avyse. 1701
244. Deiphebus gan this lettre to unfolde
 In earnest greet ; so dide Eleyne the quene ;
 And rominge outward, fast it gan biholde, Downward a steyre, in-to an herber
 grene. 1705
 This ilke thing they redden hem bi-twene ;
 And largely, the mountaunce of an houre,
 They gonne on it to reden and to poure.
245. Now lat hem rede, and turne we
 anon
 To Pandarus, that gan ful faste pryve 1710
 That al was wel, and out he gan to goon
 In-to the grete chambre, and that in hys,
 And seyde, ' god save al this companye !
 Com, nece myn ; my lady quene Eleyne
 Abydeth yow, and eek my lordes tweyne.
246. Rys, take with yow your nece Antigone, 1716
 Or whom yow list, or no fors, hardily ;
 The lasse prees, the bet ; com forth with
 me,
 And loke that ye thonke humbly 1719
 Hem alle three, and, whan ye may goodly
 Your tyme y-see, taketh of hem your leve,
 Lest we to longe his restes him bireve.'
247. Al innocent of Pandarus entente,
 Quod tho Criseyde, ' go we, uncle dere ' ;
 And arm in arm inward with him she
 wente, 1725
 Avysed wel hir wordes and hir chere ;
 And Pandarus, in earnestful manere,
 Seyde, ' alle folk, for goddes love, I preye,
 Stinteth right here, and softly yow pleye.
248. Aviseth yow what folk ben here with-inne, 1730
 And in what plyt oon is, god him a-
 mende !
 And inward thus ful softly biginne ;
 Nece, I oonjure and heighly yow defende,
 On his half, which that sowle us alle
 sende,
 And in the vertue of coronnes tweyne,
 Slee nought this man, that hath for yow
 this peyne ! 1736
249. Fy on the devel ! thenk which oon
 he is,
 And in what plyt he lyth ; com of anon ;
 Thenk al swich taried tyd, but lost it nis !
 That wol ye bothe seyn, whan ye ben oon.
 Secoundelich, ther yet devyneth noon 1741
 Up-on yow two ; com of now, if ye conne ; Whyl folk is blent, lo, al the tyme is
 wonne !
250. In titiring, and pursuite, and delayes,
 The folk devyne at wagginge of a stree ;
 And though ye wolde han after merye
 dayes, 1746
 Than dar ye nought, and why ? for she,
 and she Spakswich a word ; thus loked he, and he ;
 Lest tyme I loste, I dar not with yow dele ;
 Com of therfore, and bringeth him to hele.'
251. But now to yow, ye lovers that ben
 here, 1751
 Was Troilus nought in a cankedort,
 That lay, and mighte whispringe of hem
 here,
 And thoughte, ' O lord, right now renneth
 my sort
 Fully to dye, or han anon comfort ' ; 1755
 And was the firste tyme he shulde hir
 preye
 Of love ; O mighty god, what shal he seye ?

Explicit Secundus Liber.

BOOK III.

Incipit Prohemium Tercii Libri.

1. O BLISSFUL light, of whiche the bemes
clere

Adorneth al the thridde hevene faire!
O sonnes leef, O Joves daughter dere,
Plesaunce of love, O goodly debonaire,
In gentil hertes ay redy to reparaire! 5
O verray cause of hele and of gladnesse,
Y-heried be thy might and thy goodnesse!

2. In hevene and helle, in erthe and salte see

Is felt thy might, if that I wel descerne;
As man, brid, best, fish, herbe and grene
tree 10

Thee fele in tymes with vapour eterne.
God loveth, and to love wol nought werne;
And in this world no lyves creature,
With-uten love, is worth, or may endure.

3. Ye Joves first to thilke effectes glade, 15 Thorough which that thinges liven alle
and be,

Comeveden, and amorous †him made
On mortal thing, and as yow list, ay ye
Yeve him in love ese or adversitee;
And in a thousand formes down him sente
For love in erthe, and whom yow liste,
he hente. 21

4. Ye fierse Mars speysen of his ire,
And, as yow list, ye maken hertes digne;
Algates, hem that ye wol sette a-fyre,
They dreden shame, and vices they resigne; 25

Ye do hem corteys be, fresshe and benigne,
And hye or lowe, after a wight entendeth;
The joyes that he hath, your might him
sendeth.

5. Ye holden regne and hous in unitee;
Ye soothfast cause of frendship been also;
Ye knowe al thilke covered qualitee 31
Of thinges which that folk on wondren so,

Whan they can not construe how it may jo,
She loveth him, or why he loveth here;
As why this fish, and nought that, cometh to were. 35

6. Ye folk a lawe han set in universe,
And this knowe I by hem that loves be,
That who-so stryveth with yow hath the
werse:

Now, lady bright, for thy benignitee,
At reverence of hem that serven thee, 40
Whos clerk I am, so techeth me devyse
Som joye of that is felt in thy servyse.

7. Ye in my naked herte sentement Inhelde, and do me shewe of thy sweet-
nesse.—

Caliope, thy vois be now present, 45
For now is nede; sestow not my destresse,
How I not telle anon-right the gladnesse
Of Troilus, to Venus heryinge?

To which gladnes, who nede hath, god him bringe!

Explicit prohemium Tercii Libri.

Incipit Liber Tercius.

8. LAV al this mene whyle Troilus, 50
Recordinge his lessoun in this manere,
'Ma fey!' thought he, 'thus wole I seye and thus;

Thus wole I pleyne un-to my lady dere;
That word is good, and this shal be my
chere;

This nil I not foryeten in no wyse.' 55
God leve him werken as he gan devyse.

9. And lord, so that his herte gan to quappe,
Heringe hir come, and shorte for to syke!
And Pandarus, that ladde hir by the lappe,

Com neer, and gan in at the curtin pyke,
And seyde, 'god do bote on alle syke! 61
See, who is here yow comen to visyte;
Lo, here is she that is your deeth to wyte.'

10. Ther-with it semed as he wepte almost ;
'A ha,' quod Troilus so rewfully, 65
'Wher me be wo, O mighty god, thou
wost !
Who is al there ? I see nought trewely.'
'Sire,' quod Criseyde, 'it is Pandare and I.'
'Ye, swete herte ? allas, I may nought ryse To knele, and do yow honour in som
wyse.' 70
- 11 And dressede him upward, and she
right tho
Gan bothe here hondes softe upon him
leye,
'O, for the love of god, do ye not so
To me,' quod she, 'ey ! what is this to
seye ?
Sire, come am I to yow for causes tweye ;
First, yow to thonke, and of your lordshipe eke 76
Continnaunce I wolde yow biseke.' 12. This Troilus, that herde his lady
preye
Of lordship him, wex neither quik ne
deed,
Ne mighte a word for shame to it seye, 80
Al-though men sholde smyten of his heed.
But lord, so he wex sodeinliche reed,
And sire, his lesson, that he wende conne,
To preyen hir, is thurgh his wit y-ronne.
13. Criseyde al this aspyede wel y-nough,
For she was wys, and lovede him never-the-lasse, 86
Al nere he malapert, or made it tough,
Or was to bold, to singe a fool a masse.
But whan his shame gan somewhat to
passe,
His resons, as I may my rymes holde, 90
I yow wol telle. as techen bokes olde.
14. In chaunged vois, right for his verrey
drede,
Which vois eek quook, and ther-to his
manere
Goodly abayst, and now his hewes rede,
Now pale, un-to Criseyde, his lady dere, 95
With look down cast and humble yolden
chere,
- Lo, th'alderfirste word that him asterte
Was, twyes, 'mercy, mercy, swete herte !' 15. And stinte a whyl, and whan he mighte out-bringe, 99
The nexte word was, 'god wot, for I have,
As feythfully as I have had konninge,
Ben youre, also god my sowle save ;
And shal, til that I, woful wight, be
grave.
And though I dar ne can un-to yow
pleyne,
Y-wis, I suffre nought the laase peyne. 105
16. Thus muche as now, O wommanliche
wyf,
I may out-bringe, and if this yow displese,
That shal I wreke upon myn owne lyf Right sone, I trowe, and doon your herte an ese, 109
If with my deeth your herte I may apese.
But sin that ye han herd me som-what
seye,
Now recche I never how sone that I deye.'
- 17 Ther-with his manly sorwe to biholde,
It mighte han maad an herte of stoon to rewre ; 114
And Pandare weep as he to watre wolde,
And poked ever his nece newe and newe,
And seyde, 'wo bigon ben hertes trewe !
For love of god, make of this thing an
ende,
Or alse us bothe at ones, er that ye wende.'
18. 'I ? what ?' quod she, 'by god and by my troutlie, 120
I noot nought what ye wilne that I seye.'
'I ? what ?' quod he, 'that ye han on him
routhe,
For goddes love, and doth him nought to
deye.'
'Now thanne thus,' quod she, 'I wolde him preye
To telle me the fyn of his entente ; 125
Yet wiste I never wel what that he mente.'
19. 'What that I mene, O swete herte
dere ?'
Quod Troilus, 'O goodly fresshe free !
That, with the stremes of your eyen clere,
Ye wolde som-tyme frendly on me see, 130

And thanne agreen that I may ben he,
With-oute braunche of vyce in any wyse,
In trouthe alwey to doon yow my servyse

20. As to my lady right and chief resort,
With al my wit and al my diligence, 135
And I to han, right as yow list, comfort,
Under your yerde, egal to myn offence,
As deeth, if that I brake your defence;
And that ye deigne me so muche honour, e,
Me to comaunden ought in any houre. 140

21. And I to been your verray humble
trewe,
Secret, and in my paynes pacient,
And ever-mo desire freshly newe,
To serven, and been þy-lyke ay diligent,
And, with good herte, al holly your talent 145
Receyven wel, how sore that me smerte,
Lo, this mene I, myn owene swete herte.'

22. Quod Pandarus, 'lo, here an hard request,
And reasonable, a lady for to werne!
Now, nece myn, by natal Joves fest, 150
Were I a god, ye sholde sterve as yerne,
That heren wel, this man wol no-thing
yerne
But your honour, and seen him almost
sterve,
And been so looth to suffren him yow
serve.'

23 With that she gan hir eyen on him
caste 155
Ful esily, and ful debonairly,
Avysing hir, and hyed not to faste
With never a word, but seyde him softly,
'Myn honour sauf, I wol wel trewely,
And in swich forme as he can now
devyse, 160
Receyven him fully to my servyse,

24. Biseching him, for goddes love, that
he Wolde, in honour of trouthe and gentil-
esse,
As I wel mene, eek mene wel to me, 164
And myn honour, with wit and businesse,
Ay kepe; and if I may don him gladnesse,

From hennes-forth, y-wis, I nil not feyne:
Now beeth al hool, no lenger ye ne pleyne.

25. But nathelees, this warne I yow,'
quod she,
'A kinges some al-though ye be, y-wis, 170
Ye shul na-more have souverainete
Of me in love, than right in that cas is;
Ne I nil forbere, if that ye doon a-mis,
To wrathen yow; and whyl that ye me
serve,
Cherycen yow right after ye deserve. 175

26. And shortly, deris herte and al my
knight,
Beth glad, and draweth yow to lustinesse,
And I shal trewely, with al my might,
Your bittre tornen al in-to swetnesse; 179
If I be she that may yow do gladnesse,
For every wo ye shal recovere a blisse';
And him in armes took, and gan him
kisse.

27 Fil Pandarus on knees, and up his
yēn
To hevene threw, and held his hondes
bye,
'Immortal god!' quod he, 'that mayst nought dyan, 185
Cupide I mene, of this mayst glorifye;
And Venus, thou mayst make melodye;
With-uten hond, me semeth that in
towne,
For this merveyle, I here ech belle sowne.

28. But ho! no more as now of this
matere, 190
For-why this folk wol comen up anon,
That han the lettre red: lo, I hem here.
But I conjure thee, Criseyde, and con,
And two, thou Troilus, whan thou mayst
goon,
That at myn hous ye been at my warn-
inge, 195
For I ful wel shal shape your cominge;

29. And eseth ther your hertes right
y-nough;
And lat see which of yow shal bere the belle
To speke of love a-right!' ther-with he lough,

- 'For ther have ye a layser for to telle.' 200
 Quod Troilus, 'how longe shal I dwelle Er this be doon?' Quod he, 'whan thou mayst ryse,
 This thing shal be right as I yow devyse.'
80. With that Eleyne and also Deiphebus Tho comen upward, right at the steyres
 ende; 205
 And lord, so than gan grone Troilus,
 His brother and his suster for to blende.
 Quod Pandarus, 'it tyme is that we
 wende;
 Tak, nece myn, your leve at alle three,
 And lat hem speke, and cometh forth
 with me.' 210
81. She took hir leve at hem ful thriftily,
 As she wel coude, and they hir reverence
 Un-to the fulle diden hardely,
 And spoken wonder wel, in hir absence,
 Of hir, in preysing of hir excellence, 215
 Hir governaunce, hir wit; and hir man-
 ere Commendeden, it joye was to here.
82. Now lat hir wende un-to hir owne
 place,
 And torne we to Troilus a-yein, 219
 That gan ful lightly of the lettre passe
 That Deiphebus hadde in the gardin seyn.
 And of Eleyne and him he wolde fayn
 Delivered been, and seyde, that him leste
 To slepe, and after tales have reste.
83. Eleyne him kiste, and took hir leve
 blyve, 225
 Deiphebus eek, and hoom wente every
 wight;
 And Pandarus, as faste as he may dryve,
 To Troilus tho com, as lyne right;
 And on a paillet, al that glade night,
 By Troilus he lay, with mery chere, 230
 To tale; and wel was hem they were
 y-fere.
84. Whan every wight was voided but they two,
 And alle the dores were faste y-shette,
 To telle in short, with-oute wordes mo,
 This Pandarus, with-outen any lette, 235
 Up roos, and on his beddes syde him sette,
- And gan to speken in a sobre wyse
 To Troilus, as I shal yow devyse.
85. 'Myn alderlevest lord, and brother
 dere,
 God woot, and thou, that it sat me so
 sore, 240
 When I thee saw so languishing to-yere,
 For love, of which thy wo wex alwey
 more;
 That I, with al my might and al my lore,
 Hath ever sithen doon my businesse
 To bringe thee to joye out of distresse;
86. And have it brought to swich plyt as thou wost, 246
 So that, thourgh me, thou stondest now
 in weye
 To fare wel, I seye it for no bost,
 And wostow why? for shame it is to seye,
 For thee have I bigonne a gamen pleye Which that I never doon shal eft for
 other, 251
 Al-though he were a thousand fold my
 brother.
87. That is to seye, for thee am I bicomen,
 Bitwixen game and earnest, swich a mene
 As maken wommen un-to men to comen;
 Al sey I nought, thou wost wel what I
 mene. 256
 For thee have I my nece, of vyces clene,
 So fully maad thy gentillesse triste,
 That al shal been right as thy-selve liste.
88. But god, that al wot, take I to wit-
 nesse, 260
 That never I this for coveityse wroughte,
 But only for to abregge that distresse,
 For which wel nygh thou deydest, as me
 thoughte.
 But gode brother, do now as thee oughte,
 For goddes love, and keep hir out of
 blame, 265
 Sin thou art wys, and save alwey hir
 name.
89. For wel thou wost, the name as yet of here
 Among the peple, as who seyth, halwed is;
 For that man is unbore, I dar wel swere,
 That ever wiste that she dide amis. 270

But wo is me, that I, that cause al this,
May thenken that she is my nece dere,
And I hir eem, and traytor eek y-ferē!

40. And were it wist that I, through myn engyn,
Hadde in my nece y-put this fantasye, 275
To do thy lust, and hoolly to be thyn,
Why, al the world up-on it wolde crye,
And seye, that I the worste trecherye
Dide in this cas, that ever was bigonne,
And she for-lost, and thou right nought
y-wonna. 280

41. Wher-fore, er I wol ferther goon a pas,
Yet eft I thee biseche and fully seye,
That privetee go with us in this cas,
That is to seye, that thou us never wreye;
And be nought wrooth, though I thee
ofte preye 285
To holden secree swich an heigh matere;
For skilful is, thow wost wel, my preyere.

42. And thenk what wo ther hath bitid er this,
For makinge of avauntes, as men rede;
And what mischaunce in this world yet
ther is, 290
Fro day to day, right for that wikked
dede;
For which these wyse clerkes that ben
dede
Han ever yet proverbed to us yonge,
That "firste vertu is to kepe tonge."

43. And, nere it that I wilne as now t'abregge 295
Diffusioun of speche, I coude almost
A thousand olde stories thee alegge
Of women lost, thorough fals and foles
bost;
Proverbes canst thy-self y-nowe, and wost,
Ayeins that vyce, for to been a labbe, 300
Al seyde men sooth as often as they gabbe.

44. O tonge, alas! so often here-biforn
Hastow made many a lady bright of hewe
Seyd, "welaway! the day that I was born!"
And many a maydes sorwes for to newe;
And, for the more part, al is untrewē 306

That men of yelpē, and it were brought to preve;
Of kinde non avauntour is to leve.

45. Avauntour and a lyere, al is on; 309
As thus: I pose, a womman graunte me
Hir love, and seyth that other wol she non,
And I am sworn to holden it secree,
And after I go telle it two or three;
Y-wis, I am avauntour at the leste,
And lyere, for I breke my biheste. 315

46. Now loke thanne, if they be nought to blame,
Swich maner folk; what shal I clepe
hem, what,
That hem avaunte of women, and by
name,
That never yet bihighte hem this ne that,
Ne knewe hem more than myn olde hat?
No wonder is, so god me sende hele, 321
Though women drede with us men to dele.

47. I sey not this for no mistrust of yow,
Ne for no wys man, but for foles nyce,
And for the harm that in the world is
now, 325
As wel for foly ofte as for malyce;
For wel wot I, in wyse folk, that vyce
No womman drat, if she be wel avyced;
For wyse ben by foles harm chastysed.

48. But now to purpos; leve brother dere,
Have al this thing that I have seyed in
minde, 331
And keep thee clos, and be now of good
chere,
For at thy day thou shalt me trewe finde.
I shal thy proces sette in swich a kinde,
And god to-forn, that it shall thee suffyse,
For it shal been right as thou wolt de-
vyse. 336

49. For wel I woot, thou menest wel, parde;
Therefore I dar this fully undertake.
Thou wost cek what thy lady graunted
thee,
And day is set, the chartres up to make.
Have now good night, I may no lenger
wake; 341

And bid for me, sin thou art now in blisse,
That god me sende deeth or sone lissa.'

50. Who mighte telle half the joye or feste
Which that the sowle of Troilus tho felte,
Heringe th'effect of Pandarus biheste? 346
His olde wo, that made his herte swelte,
Gan tho for joye wasten and to-melte,
And al the richesse of his sykes sore
At ones fiedde, he felte of hem no more.

51. But right so as these holtes and these hayes, 351
That han in winter dede bean and dreye, Revesten hem in grene, whan that May is,
Whan every lusty lyketh best to pleye:
Right in that selve wyse, sooth to seye, 355
Wex sodeynliche his herte ful of joye,
That gladder was ther never man in Troye.

52. And gan his look on Pandarus up
caste
Ful sobrelly, and frendly for to see, 359
And seyde, 'freend, in Aprille the laste,
As wel thou wost, if it remembre thee,
How neigh the deeth for wo thou founde
me;
And how thou didest al thy businessse
To knowe of me the cause of my distresse.

53. Thou wost how longe I it for-bar to
seye 365
To thee, that art the man that I best
triste;
And peril was it noon to thee by-wraye,
That wiste I wel; but tel me, if thee liste,
Sith I so looth was that thy-self it wiste,
How dorste I mo tellen of this matere, 370
That quake now, and no wight may us
here?

54. But natheles, by that god I thee swere,
That, as him list, may al this world
governe,
And, if I lye, Achilles with his spere
Myn herte cleve, al were my lyf eterne,
As I am mortal, if I late or yerne 376
Wolde it biwreye, or dorste, or sholde
conne,
For al the good that god made under
sonne;

55. That rather deye I wolde, and determyne,

As thinketh me, now stokked in presoun,
In wrecchednesse, in filthe, and in ver-
myne, 381
Caytif to cruel king Agamenoun;
And this, in alle the temples of this
toun,
Upon the goddes alle, I wol thee swere,
To-morwe day, if that thee lyketh here. 385

56. And that thou hast so muche y-doon
for me,
That I ne may it never-more deserve,
This knowe I wel, al mighte I now for
thee
A thousand tymes on a morwen starve,
I can no more, but that I wol thee serve Right as thy slave, whider-so thou
wende, 391
For ever-more, un-to my lyves ende!

57. But here, with al myn herte, I thee
biseche,
That never in me thou deme swich folye
As I shal seyn; me thoughte, by thy
speche, 395
That this, which thou me dost for com-
panye,
I sholde wene it were a bauderye;
I am nought wood, al-if I lewed be;
It is not so, that woot I wel, pardee.

58. But he that goth, for gold or for
richesse, 400
On swich message, calle him what thee
list;
And this that thou dost, calle it gentillesse,
Compassioun, and felawship, and trist;
Departe it so, for wyde-where is wist
How that there is dyversitee requered 405
Bitwixen thinges lyke, as I have lered.

59. And, that thou knowe I thanke nought ne wene
That this servyse a shame be or jape,
I have my faire suster Polixene,
Cassandre, Eleyne, or any of the frape;
Be she never so faire or wel y-shape, 411
Tel me, which thou wilt of everichone,
To han for thyn, and lat me thanne allone.

60. But sin that thou hast don me this servyse, 414
My lyf to save, and for noon hope of mede,
So, for the love of god, this grete empyse
Parforme it out; for now is moste nede.
For high and low, with-uten any drede,
I wol alwey thyne hestes alle kepe;
Have now good night, and lat us bothe
arayed. 420
61. Thus held him ech with other wel spayed,
That al the world ne mighte it bet
amende;
And, on the morwe, whan they were
arayed,
Ech to his owene nedes gan entande.
But Troilus, though as the fyr he brende
For sharp desyr of hope and of plesaunce,
He not for-gat his gode governaunce. 427
62. But in him-self with manhod gan
restreyne
Ech rakel dede and ech unbrydled chere,
That alle tho that liven, sooth to seyne,
Ne sholde han wist, by word or by manere,
What that he mente, as touching this
matere. 432
From every wight as fer as is the cloude
He was, so wel dissimulen he coude.
63. And al the whyl which that I yow
devyse, 435
This was his lyf; with al his fulle might,
By day he was in Martes high servyse,
This is to seyn, in armes as a knight;
And for the more part, the longe night
He lay, and thoughte how that he mighte
serve 440
His lady best, hir thank for to deserve.
64. Nil I nought swerð, al-though he lay
softe,
That in his thought he nas sumwhat
diseed,
Ne that he tornede on his pilwes ofte,
And wolde of that him missed han ben seed; 445
But in swich cas man is nought alwey
plesed,
For ought I wot, no more than was he;
That can I deme of possibilitee.
65. But certeyn is, to purpos for to go,
That in this whyle, as written is in
geste, 450
He say his lady som-tyme; and also
She with him spak, whan that she dorste or leste,
And by hir bothe avys, as was the beste,
Apoynteden ful warly in this nede,
So as they dorste, how they wolde pro-
cede. 455
66. But it was spoken in so short a wyse,
In swich awayt alwey, and in swich fere,
Lest any wyght divynen or devyse
Wolde of hem two, or to it leye an ere,
That al this world so leef to hem ne
were 460
As that Cupido wolde hem grace sende
To maken of hir speche aright an ende.
67. But thilke litel that they speke or
wroughte,
His wyse goost took ay of al swich hede,
It semed hir, he wiste that she thoughte
With-uten word, so that it was no nede
To bidde him ought to done, or ought forbede; 467
For which she thoughte that love, al
come it late,
Of alle joye hadde opned hir the yate.
68. And shortly of this proces for to pace, 470
So wel his werk and wordes he bisette,
That he so ful stood in his lady grace,
That twenty thousand tymes, or she lette,
She thonked god she ever with him
mette;
So coude he him governe in swich ser-
vyse, 475
That al the world ne mighte it bet
devyse.
69. For-why she fond him so discreet in al,
So secret, and of swich obbisaunce,
That wel she felte he was to hir a wal
Of steel, and sheld from every disple-
saunce; 480
That, to ben in his gode governaunce,
So wys he was, she was no more afered,
I mene, as fer as oughte ben required.

70. And Pandarus, to quike alwey the fyr,
Was ever y-lyke prest and diligent; 485
To ese his frend was set al his desyr.
He shoof ay on, he to and fro was sent;
He lettres bar whan Troilus was absent.
That never man, as in his freendes nede,
Ne bar him bet than he, with-uten
dreda. 490
71. But now, paraunter, som man wayten
wolde
That every word, or sonde, or look, or
chere
Of Troilus that I rehersen sholde,
In al this whyle, un-to his lady dere;
I trowe it were a long thing for to
here; 495
Or of what wight that stant in swich dis-
joynte,
His wordes alle, or every look, to poyn-te.
72. For sothe, I have not herd it doon er
this,
In storge noon, ne no man here, I wene;
And though I wolde I coude not, y-wis;
For ther was som epistel hem bitwene, 501
That wolde, as seyth myn auctor, wel contene
Neigh half this book, of which him list
not wryte;
How sholde I thanne a lyne of it endyte?
73. But to the grete effect: than sey I
thus, 505
That standing in concord and in quiete
Thise ilke two, Criseyde and Troilus,
As I have told, and in this tyme swete,
Save only often mighte they not mete,
Ne layser have hir speches to fulfelle, 510
That it befel right as I shal yow telle, 74. That Pandarus, that ever dide his micht
Right for the fyn that I shal speke of
here,
As for to bringe to his hous som night
His faire nece, and Troilus y-ferre, 515
Wher-as at leysur al this heigh matere,
Touching hir love, were at the fulle up-
pounde,
Hadde out of doute a tyme to it founde.
75. For he with greet deliberacioun Hadde every thing that her-to mighte
avayle 520
Forn-cast, and put in execucioun,
And neither laft for cost ne for travayle;
Come if hem lest, hem sholde no-thing
fayle;
And for to been in ought espyed there,
That, wiste he wel, an impossible were.
76. Dreddeles, it cleer was in the wind
Of every pye and every lette-game; 527
Now al is wel, for al the world is blind
In this matere, bothe fremed and tame.
This timber is al redy up to frame; 530
Us lakketh nought but that we witen
wolde
A certain houre, in whiche she comen
sholde.
77. And Troilus, that al this purveyaunce Knew at the fulle, and waytede on it ay, Hadde here-up-on eek made gret orde-
naunce, 535
And founde his cause, and ther-to his
aray,
If that he were missed, night or day,
Ther-whyle he was aboute this servyse,
That he was goon to doon his sacrifice,
78. And moste at swich a temple alone
wake, 540
Answered of Appollo for to be;
And first, to seen the holy laurer quake,
Er that Apollo spak out of the tree,
To telle him next whan Grekes sholden
flee;
And forthly lette him no man, god for-bede, 545
But preye Appollo helpen in this nede.
79. Now is ther litel more for to done,
But Pandare up, and shortly for to seyne, Right sone upon the changing of the
mone,
Whan lightles is the world a night or
tweyne, 550
And that the welken shoop him for to reyne,
He streight a-morwe un-to his nece
wente;
Ye han wel herd the fyn of his entente.

80. Whan he was come, he gan anon to pleye
 As he was wont, and of him-self to jape ;
 And fynally, he swor and gan hir seye, 556
 By this and that, she sholde him not escape,
 Ne lenger doon him after hir to gape ;
 But certeynly she moste, by hir leve, Come soupen in his hous with him at
 eve. 560
81. At whiche she lough, and gan hir
 faste excuse,
 And seyde, 'it rayneth ; lo, how sholde
 I goon ?'
 'Lat be,' quod he, 'ne stond not thus to
 muse ;
 This moot be doon, ye shal be ther anon.'
 So at the laste her-of they felle at oon, 565
 Or elles, softe he swor hir in hir ere,
 He nolde never come ther she were.
82. Sone after this, to him she gan to rowne,
 And asked him if Troilus were there ?
 He swor hir, 'nay, for he was out of
 towne,' 570
 And seyde, 'nece, I pose that he were,
 Yow þthurfte never have the more fere.
 For rather than men mighte him ther
 aspye,
 Me were lever a thousand-fold to dye.'
83. Nought list myn auctor fully to declare 575
 What that she thoughte whan he seyde
 so,
 That Troilus was out of town y-fare,
 As if he seyde ther-of sooth or no ;
 But that, with-outeawayt, with him to go,
 She graunted him, sith he hir that bi-
 soughte, 580
 And, as his nece, obeyed as hir oughte
84. But nathelees, yet gan she him bi-
 seche,
 Al-though with him to goon it was no fere,
 For to be war of goosish peples speche,
 That dremen thinges whiche that never
 were, 585
 And wel avyse him whom he broughte
 there ;
- And seyde him, 'eem, sin I mot on yow
 triste,
 Loke al be wel, and do now as yow liste.'
85. He swor hir, 'yis, by stokkes and by stones,
 And by the goddes that in hevene dwelle,
 Or elles were him lever, soule and bones,
 With Pluto king as depe been in hello 590
 As Tantalus !' What sholde I more telle ?
 Whan al was wel, he roos and took his
 leve,
 And she to souper com, whan it was eve,
86. With a certayn of hir owene men, 596
 And with hir faire nece Antigone,
 And others of hir wommen nyne or ten ;
 But who was glad now, who, as trowe ye,
 But Troilus, that stood and mighte it
 see 600
 Thurgh-out a litel windowe in a stewe, Ther he bishet, sin midnight, was in
 mewe,
87. Unwist of every wight but of Pandare ?
 But to the poynt ; now whan she was
 y-come
 With alle joye, and alle frendes fare, 605
 Hir eem anon in armes hath hir nome,
 And after to the souper, alle and some,
 Whan tyme was, ful softe they hem sette ;
 God wot, ther was no deyntee for to fette.
88. And after souper gonnen they to
 ryse, 610
 At ese wel, with hertes fresshe and glade,
 And wel was him that coude best devyse
 To lyken hir, or that hir laughen made.
 He song ; she pleyde ; he tolde tale of Wade.
 But at the laste, as every thing hath
 ende, 615
 She took hir leve, and nedes wolde wende.
89. But O, Fortune, executrice of wierdes,
 O influences of this hevenes hye !
 Soth is, that, under god, ye ben our hierdes,
 Though to us bestes been the causes
 wrye. 620
 This mene I now, for she gan hoomward
 hye,

But execut was al bisyde hir leve,
At the goddes wil ; for which she moste
bleva.

90. The bente mone with hir hornes pale, Saturne, and Jove, in Cancro joyned
were, 625

That swich a rayn from hevane gan avale,
That every maner womman that was there
Hadde of that smoky reyn a verray fere ;
At which Pandare tho lough, and seyde
thenne,

' Now were it tyme a lady to go henne! 630

91. But goode nece, if I mighte ever plesse Yow any-thing, than prey I yow,' quod he,
' To doon myn herte as now so greet an
ese

As for to dwelle here al this night with me,
For-why this is your owene hous, pardee.
For, by my trouthe, I sey it nought a-
game, 636

To wende as now, it were to me a shame.'

92. Criseyde, whiche that coude as muche
good

As half a world, tok hede of his preyere ;
And sin it ron, and al was on a flood, 640
She thoughte, as good chep may I dwellen
here,

And graunte it gladly with a freendes
chere,

And have a thank, as grucche and thanne
abyde ;

For hoom to goon it may nought wel
bityde.

93. ' I wol,' quod she, ' myn uncle leef and dere, 645

Sin that yow list, it skile is to be so ;
I am right glad with yow to dwellen here ;
I seyde but a-game, I wolde go.'

' Y-wis, graunt mercy, nece!' quod he
tho ; 640

' Were it a game or no, soth for to telle,
Now am I glad, sin that yow list to dwelle.'

94. Thus al is wel ; but tho bigan a right
The newe joye, and al the feste agayn ;
But Pandarus, if goodly hadde he might,
He wolde han hyed hir to bedde fayn, 655
And seyde, ' lord, this is an huge rayn !

This were a weder for to slepen inne ;
And that I rede us sone to biginne.

95. And nece, woot ye wher I wol yow
leye, 660

For that we shul not liggeren fer asonder,
And for ye neither shullen, dar I seye,
Heren noise of reynes nor of thonder ?
By god, right in my lyte closet yonder.
And I wol in that outer hous allone
Be wardeyn of your wommen everichone.

96. And in this middel chaumbre that ye
see 666

Shul youre wommen slepen wel and softe ;
And ther I seyde shal your-selve be ;
And if ye liggeren wel to-night, com ofte,
And careth not what weder is on-lofte, 670
The wyn anon, and whan so that yow
leste,
So go we slepe, I trowe it be the besta.'

97. Ther nis no more, but here-after sone,
The voyde dronke, and travers drawe
anon,

Gan every wight, that hadde nought to
done 675
More in that place, out of the chaumbre
gon.

And ever-mo so sternelich it ron,
And blew ther-with so wonderliche loude,
That wel neigh no man heren other coude.

98. Tho Pandarus, hir eem, right as him
oughte, 680

With women swiche as were hir most
aboute,

Ful glad un-to hir beddes syde hir
broughto,

And took his leve, and gan ful lowe loute,
And seyde, ' here at this closet-dore with-
oute,

Right over-thwart, your wommen liggeren
alle, 685

That, whom yow liste of hem, ye may here calle.'

99. So whan that she was in the closet
leyd,

And alle hir wommen forth by orde-nanunce

A-bedde waren, ther as I have seyd,

There was no more to skippen nor to
traunce, 690

But boden go to bedde, with mischaunce,
If any wight was steringe any-where,
And late hem slope that a-bedde were.

100. But Pandarus, that wel coude eche
a del

The olde dannce, and every poynt ther-
inne, 695

Whan that he sey that alle thing was wel,
He thoughte he wolde up-on his werk
biginne,

And gan the stewe-dore al softe un-pinne,
And stille as stoon, with-uten lenger
lette,

By Troilus a-down right he him sette. 700

101. And, shortly to the poynt right for to gon,

Of al this werk he tolde him word and
ende,

And seyde, 'make thee redy right anon,
For thou shalt in-to hevене blisse wende.'

'Now blisful Venus, thou me grace
sende,' 705

Quod Troilus, 'for never yet no nede
Hadde I er now, ne halvendel the drede.'

102. Quod Pandarus, 'ne drede thee never
a del,

For it shal been right as thou wilt desyre;
So thryve I, this night shal I make it
wel, 710

Or casten al the gruwel in the fyre.'
'Yit blisful Venus, this night thou me
enspyre,'

Quod Troilus, 'as wis as I thee serve,
And ever bet and bet shal, til I sterve.

103. And if I hadde, O Venus ful of
mirthe, 715

Aspectes badde of Mars or of Saturne,
Or thou combust or let were in my birthe,

Thy fader pray al thilke harm disturne
Of grace, and that I glad ayein may
turne,

For love of him thou lovedest in the shawe, 720

I mene Adoon, that with the boor was slawa.

104. O Jove eek, for the love of faire
Europe,

The whiche in forme of bole away thou
fette;

Now help, O Mars, thou with thy bloody cope,

For love of Cipris, thou me nought ne
lette; 725

O Phebus, thank whan Dane hir-selven
shette

Under the bark, and laurer wax for drede,
Yet for hir love, O help now at this nede!

105. Mercurio, for the love of Hiersé eke,
For which Pallas was with Aglauros
wrooth, 730

Now help, and eek Diane, I thee biseke,
That this viage be not to thee looth.

O fatal sustren, which, er any clooth
Me shapen was, my destenè me sponne,

So helpeth to this werk that is bi-gonne!

106. Quod Pandarus, 'thou wretched mouses herte, 736

Art thou agast so that she wol thee byte?
Why, don this furred cloke up-on thy
sherte,

And folowe me, for I wol han the wyte;
But byd, and lat me go bifore a lyte.' 740

And with that word he gan un-do a
trappe,

And Troilus he broughte in by the lappe.

107. The sterne wind so loude gan to
route

That no wight other noyse mighte here;
And they that layen at the dore with-
oute, 745

Ful sikery they slepten alle y-fare;
And Pandarus, with a ful sobre chere,

Goth to the dore anon with-uten lette,
Ther-as they laye, and softlyt it shette.

108. And as he com ayeinward prively,
His nece awook, and asked 'who goth
thers?' 751

'My dere nece,' quod he, 'it am I;
Ne wondreth not, ne have of it no fere;'

And ner he com, and seyde hir in hir ere,
'No word, for love of god I yow biseche;

Lat no wight ryse and heren of our
speche.' 756

109. 'What! which way be ye comen, benedicite?'
Quod she, 'and how thus unwist of hem
alle?'
'Here at this secree trappe-dore,' quod he.
Quod tho Criseyde, 'lat me som wight
calle.' 760
'Ey! god forbode that it sholde falle,' Quod Pandarus, 'that ye swich foly
wroughte!
They mighte deme thing they never er
thoughte!
110. It is nought good a sleping hound to
wake,
Ne yeve a wight a cause to devyne; 765
Your women slepen alle, I under-take,
So that, for hem, the hous men mighte
myne;
And slepen wolen til the sonne shyne.
And when my tale al brought is to an
ende,
Unwist, right as I com, so wol I wende.
111. Now nece myn, ye shul wel under-
stonde,' 771
Quod he, 'so as ye women damen alle,
That for to holde in love a man in honde,
And him hir "leef" and "dere herte"
calle,
And maken him an howve above a calle,
I mene, as love an other in this whyle, 776
She doth hir-self a shame, and him a gyle.
112. Now wherby that I telle yow al this?
Ye woot your-self, as wel as any wight,
How that your love al fully granted is
To Troilus, the worthieste knight, 781
Oon of this world, and ther-to trouthe
plyght,
That, but it were on him along, ye nolde
Him never falsen, whyl ye liven sholde.
118. Now stant it thus, that sith I fro yow wente, 785
This Troilus, right platly for to seyn,
Is thurgh a goter, by a privè wente,
In-to my chaumbre come in al this reyn,
Unwist of every maner wight, certeyn,
Save of my-self, as wisly have I joye, 790
And by that feith I shal Pryam of Troye!
114. And he is come in swich peyne and distresse
That, but he be al fully wood by this,
He sodeynly mot falle in-to wodnesse,
But-if god helpe; and cause why this is,
He seyth him told is, of a freend of his,
How that ye sholde love oon that hatte
Horaste, 797
For sorwe of which this night shalt been his laste.'
115. Criseyde, which that al this wonder
herde,
Gan sodeynly aboute hir herte colde, 800
And with a syk she sorwfully answerde,
'Allas! I wende, who-so tales tolde,
My dere herte wolde me not holde
So lightly fals! allas! conceytes wronge, What harm they doon, for now live I to
longe! 805
116. Horaste! allas! and falsen Troilus?
I knowe him not, god helpe me so,' quod
she;
'Allas! what wikked spirit tolde him
thus?
Now certes, eem, to-morwe, and I him see,
I shal ther-of as ful excusen me 810
As ever dide womman, if him lyke';
And with that word she gan ful sore syke.
117. 'O god!' quod she, 'so worldly seli-
nesse,
Which clerkes callen fals felicitee,
Y-medled is with many a bitterness! 815
Ful anguissous than is, god woot,' quod
she,
'Condicioun of veyn prosperitee;
For either joyes comen nought y-fere,
Or elles no wight hath hem alway here.
118. O brotel wale of mannes joye unstable! 820
With what wight so thou be, or how thou
pleye,
Either he woot that thou, joye, art mu-
able,
Or woot it not, it moot ben oon of tweye;
Now if he woot it not, how may he seye
That he hath verray joye and selinesse, 825
That is of ignoraunce ay in derknesse?

119. Now if he woot that joye is transi-torie,
As every joye of worldly thing mot flee,
Than every tyme he that hath in me-
morie,
The drede of lesing maketh him that he May in no parfit selinnesse be. 831
And if to lese his joye he set a myte,
Than semeth it that joye is worth ful
lyte.
120. Wherefore I wol deffyne in this
matere,
That trewely, for ought I can espye, 835
Ther is no verray wele in this world here.
But O, thou wikked serpent Jalousye,
Thou misbeveled and envious folye,
Why hastow Troilus me mad untriste,
That never yet agilte him, that I wiste?' 121. Quod Pandarus, 'thus fallen is this
cas.' 841
'Why, uncle myn,' quod she, 'who tolde him this?
Why doth my dere herte thus, allas?'
'Ye woot, ye nece myn,' quod he, 'what is;
I hope al shal be wel that is amis. 845
For ye may quenche al this, if that yow
leste,
And doth right so, for I holde it the
beste.'
122. 'So shal I do to-morwe, y-wis,' quod
she,
'And god to-forn, so that it shal suffyse.'
'To-morwe? allas, that were a fayr,' quod
he, 850
'Nay, nay, it may not stonden in this
wyse;
For, nece myn, thus wryten clerkes wyse,
That peril is with drecching in y-drawe;
Nay, swich abodes been nought worth an hawe.
123. Nece, al thing hath tyme, I dar
avowe; 855
For whan a chaumber a-fyr is, or an halle,
Wel more nede is, it sodeynly rescowe
Than to dispute, and axe amonges alle
How is this candel in the straw y-falle?
A! benedicite! for al among that fare 860
The harm is doon, and fare-wel feldefare!
124. And, nece myn, ne take it not a-grief,
If that ye suffre him al night in this wo,
God help me so, ye hadde him never leef,
That dar I seyn, now there is but we
two; 865
But wel I woot, that ye wol not do so;
Ye been to wys to do so gret folye,
To putte his lyf al night in jupartye.'
125. 'Hadde I him never leef? By god,
I wene
Ye hadde never thing so leef,' quod she.
'Now by my thrift,' quod he, 'that shal be sene; 871
For, sin ye make this ensample of me,
If I al night wolde him in sorwe see
For al the tresour in the toun of Troye.
I bidde god, I never mote have joye! 875 126. Now loke thanne, if ye, that been his love,
Shul putte al night his lyf in jupartye
For thing of nought! Now, by that god
above,
Nought only this delay comth of folye,
But of malyce, if that I shal nought lye.
What, platly, and ye suffre him in dis-
tresse, 881
Ye neither bountee doon ne gentilesse!'
127. Quod tho Criseyde, 'wole ye doon
o thing,
And ye therwith shal stinte al his disese;
Have here, and bereth him this blewe
ring, 885
For ther is no-thing mighte him bettre
plese,
Save I my-self, ne more his herte apese;
And sey my dere herte, that his sorwe
Is causeles, that shal be seen to-morwe.'
128. 'A ring?' quod he, 'ye, hasel-wodes shaken! 890
Ye, nece myn, that ring moste han a stoon
That mighte dede men alyve maken;
And swich a ring, trowe I that ye have
noon.
Discrecioun out of your heed is goon:
That fele I now,' quod he, 'and that is
routhe; 895
O tyme y-lost, wel maystow cursen
slouthe!

129. Wot ye not wel that noble and heigh
 corage
 Ne sorweth not, ne stinteth eek for lyte?
 But if a fool were in a jalous rage,
 I nolde setten at his sorwe a myte, 900
 But feffe him with a fewe wordes whyte
 Another day, whan that I mighte him
 finde:
 But this thing stont al in another kinde.
130. This is so gentil and so tendre of
 herte,
 That with his deeth he wol his sorwes
 wreke; 905
 For trusteth wel, how sore that him
 smerte,
 He wol to yow no jalouse wordes speke.
 And for-thy, nece, er that his herte breke,
 So spek your-self to him of this matere;
 For with o word ye may his herte stere.
131. Now have I told what peril he is
 inne, 911
 And his coming unwist is t' every wight;
 Ne, pardee, harm may ther be noon ne
 sinne;
 I wol my-self be with yow al this night.
 Ye knowe eek how it is your owne knight,
 And that, by right, ye moste upon him
 triste, 916
 And I al prest to fecche him whan yow
 liste.'
132. This accident so pitous was to here,
 And eek so lyk a sooth, at prynte face,
 And Troilus hir knight to hir so dere, 920
 His prive coming, and the siker place,
 That, though that she dide him as thanne a grace,
 Considered alle thinges as they stode,
 No wonder is, sin she dide al for gode.
133. Cryseyde answerde, 'as wisly god at
 reste 925
 My sowle bringe, as me is for him wo!
 And eem, y-wis, fayn wolde I doon the
 beste,
 If that I hadde grace to do so.
 But whether that ye dwelle or for him go,
 I am, til god me bettre minde sende, 930
 At dulcarnon, right at my wittes ende.'
134. Quod Pandarus, 'ye, nece, wol ye
 here?
 Dulcarnon called is "fleminge of
 wrecches";
 It semeth hard, for wrecches wol not lere
 For verray slouthe or othere wilful
 tecches; 935
 This seyde by hem that be not worth two fecches.
 But ye ben wys, and that we han on
 honde
 Nis neither hard, ne skilful to withstonde.'
135. 'Thanne, eem,' quod she, 'doth her-of as yow list;
 But er he come I wil up first aryse; 940
 And, for the love of god, sin al my trist
 Is on yow two, and ye ben bothe wyse,
 So wircheth now in so discreet a wyse,
 That I honour may have, and he ples-
 aunce;
 For I am here al in your governaunce.' 136. 'That is wel seyde,' quod he, 'my
 nece dere, 946
 Ther good thrift on that wyse gentil
 herte!
 But liggeth stille, and taketh him right
 here,
 It nedeth not no ferther for him sterte;
 And ech of yow ese othere sorwes smerte,
 For love of god; and, Venus, I thee
 herie; 951
 For some hope I we shulle ben alle merie.' 137. This Troilus ful sone on knees him
 sette
 Ful sobrelly, right by hir beddes heed,
 And in his beste wyse his lady grette; 955
 But lord, so she wex sodeynliche reed!
 Ne, though men sholden smyten of hir
 heed,
 She coude nought a word a-right out-
 bringe
 So sodeynly, for his sodeyn cominge.
138. But Pandarus, that so wel coude fele
 In every thing, to pleye anon bigan, 961
 And seyde, 'nece, see how this lord can knele!
 Now, for your trouthe, seeth this gentil
 man!'

- And with that word he for a quissen
ran,
And seyde, 'kneleth now, whyl that yow
leste, 965
Ther god your hertes bringe sone at
reste!'
139. Can I not seyn, for she bad him not
ryse,
If sorwe it putte out of hir remembraunce,
Or elles if she toke it in the wyse
Of dūstee, as for his observaunce; 970
But wel finde I she dide him this
plesaunce,
That she him kiste, al-though she syked
sore;
And bad him sitte-a-down-with-outen more.
140. Quod Pandarus, 'now wol ye wel
biginne;
Now doth him sitte, gode nece dere, 975
Upon your beddes syde al there with-
inne,
That ech of yow the bet may other here.'
And with that word he drew him to the
fere,
And took a light, and fond his conten-
aunce
As for to loke up-on an old romaunce. 980
141. Criseyde, that was Troilus lady right,
And cleer stood on a ground of sikernesse,
Al thoughte she, hir servaunt and hir
knight
Ne sholde of right non untrouthe in hir
gease, 984
Yet nathelees, considered his distresse,
And that love is in cause of swich folye,
Thus to him spak she of his jelousye :
142. 'Lo, herte myn, as wolde the excellence
Of love, ayeins the which that no man
may,
Ne oughte eek goodly maken resistence;
And eek bycause I felte wel and say 991
Your grete trouthe, and servyse every day;
And that your herte al myn was, sooth to
seyne,
This droof me for to rewe up-on your
peyne.
143. And your goodnesse have I founde alwey yit, 995
Of whiche, my dere herte and al my
knight,
I thonke it yow, as fer as I have wit,
Al can I nought as muche as it were right;
And I, emforth my conninge and my
might,
Have and ay shal, how sore that me
smerte, 1000
Ben to yow trewe and hool, with al myn
herte;
144. And dredelees, that shal be founde at preve.—
But, herte myn, what al this is to seyne
Shal wel be told, so that ye noght yow
greve,
Though I to yow right on your-self com-
pleyne. 1005
For ther-with mene I fynally the peyne,
That halt your herte and myn in hevi-
nesse,
Fully to sleen, and every wrong redresse.
145. My goode, myn, not I for-why ne
how
That Jalousye, allas! that wikked wivere.
Thus causelees is copen in-to yow; 1011
The harm of which I wolde fayn delivere!
Allas! that he, al hool, or of him slivere,
Shuld have his refut in so digne a place,
Ther Jove him sone out of your herte
arace! 1015
146. But O, thou Jove, O auctor of nature,
Is this an honour to thy deitee,
That folk ungiltif suffren here injure,
And who that giltif is, al quit goth he?
O were it leful for to pleyne on thee, 1020
That undeserved suffrest jalousye,
And that I wolde up-on thee pleyne and
crye!
147. Eek al my wo is this, that folk now usen
To seyn right thus, "ye, Jalousye is Love!" 1024
And wolde a bussel venim al excusen,
For that o greyn of love is on it shove!
But that wot heighe god that sit above,

If it be lyker love, or hate, or grame ;
And after that, it oughte bere his name.

149. But certeyn is, som maner jalousye
Is excusable inore than som, y-wis. 1031
As whan cause is, and som swich fantaasye
With pietoo so wel repressed is,
That it unnethe dooth or seyth amis,
But goodly drinketh up al his distresse ;
And that excuse I, for the gentillesse. 1036

149. And som so ful of furie is and despyt,
That it sourmountheth his repressioun ;
But herte myn, ye be not in that plyt,
That thanke I god, for whiche your passioun 1040

I wol not calle it but illusioun,
Of habundaunce of love and bisy cure,
That dooth your herte this disese endure.

150. Of which I am right sory, but not
wrooth ; 1044
But, for my devoir and your hertes reste,
Wher-so yow list, by ordal or by ooth,
By sort, or in what wyse so yow leste,
For love of god, lat preve it for the beste !
And if that I be giltif, do me deye, 1049
Allas ! what mighte I more doon or seye ?'

151. With that a fewe brighte teres newe
Out of hir eyen fille, and thus she seyde,
' Now god, thou wost, in thought ne dede
untrewe

To Troilus was never yet Criseyde.' With that hir heed doun in the bed she
leyde, 1055
And with the shete it wreigh, and syghed
sore,
And held hir pees ; not o word spak she
more.

152. But now help god to quenchen al
this sorwe,
So hope I that he shal, for he best may ;
For I have seyn, of a ful misty morwe 1060
Folwen ful ofte a mery someres day ;
And after winter folweth grene May.
Men seen alday, and reden eek in stories,
That after sharpe shoures been victories.

153. This Troilus, whan he hir wordes
herde, 1065
Have ye no care, him liste not to slepe ;

For it thoughte him no strokes of a yerde
To here or seen Criseyde his lady wepe ;
But wel he felte aboute his herte crepe,
For every teer which that Criseyde a-
sterte, 1070
The crampe of death, to streyne him by
the herte.

154. And in his minde he gan the tyme acurse
That he cam therè, and that he was born ;
For now is wikke y-turned in-to worse,
And al that labour he hath doon biforn,
He wende it lost, he thoughte he nas but
lorn. 1076
' O Pandartus,' thoughte he, 'allas ! thy
wyle Serveth of nought, so weylaway the
whyle !'

155. And therewithal he heng a-doun the
heed,
And fil on knees, and sorwfully he sighte ;
What mighte he seyn ? he felte he nas
but deed, 1081
For wrooth was she that shulde his sorwes
lighte,
But nathelces, whan that he spoken
mighte,
Than seyde he thus, ' god woot, that of this game,
Whan al is wist, than am I not to blame !'

156. Ther-with the sorwe so his herte
shette, 1086
That from his eyen fil ther not a tere,
And every spirit his vigour in-knette,
So they astoned and oppressed were.
The feling of his sorwe, or of his fere, 1090
Or of ought elles, fled was out of towne ;
And doun he fel al sodeynly a-swowne.

157. This was no litel sorwe for to see ;
But al was hust, and Pandare up as faste,
' O nece, pees, or we be lost,' quod he, 1095
' Beth nought agast ;' but certeyn, at the
laste,
For this or that, he in-to bedde him caste.
And seyde, ' O theef, is this a mannes
herte ?'
And of he rente al to his bare sherte :

158. And seyde, 'nece, but ye helpe us
now, 1100
Allas, your owne Troilus is lorn !'
'Y-wis, so wolde I, and I wiste how, Ful fayn,' quod she ; 'allas ! that I was
born !'
'Ye, nece, wol ye pullen out the thorn
That stiketh in his herte?' quod Pandare ;
'Sey "al foryeve," and stint is al this
fare !' 1106
159. 'Ye, that to me,' quod she, 'ful lever were
Than al the good the sonne aboute gooth' ;
And therwith-al she swoor him in his ere,
'Y-wis, my dere herte, I am nought
wrooth, 1110
Have here my trouthe and many another
ooth ;
Now speak to me, for it am I, Criseyde !'
But al for nought ; yet mighte he not a-breyde.
160. Therwith his pous and pawmes of his hondes
They gan to frote, and wete his temples
tweyne, 1115
And, to deliveren him from bittre bondes,
She ofte him kiste ; and, shortly for to
seyne,
Him to revoked she dide al hir peyne.
And at the laste, he gan his breeth to
drawe,
And of his swough sone after that adawe,
161. And gan bet minde and reson to him
take, 1121
But wonder sore he was abayst, y-wis.
And with a syk, whan he gan bet a-wake,
He seyde, 'O mercy, god, what thing is
this ?'
'Why do ye with your-selven thus amis ?'
Quod tho Criseyde, 'is this a mannes
game ? 1126
What, Troilus ! wol ye do thus, for
shame ?'
162. And therwith-al hir arm over him
she leyde,
And al foryaf, and ofte tyme him keste.
He thonked hir, and to hir spak, and
seyde 1130
- As fil to purpos for his herte reste.
And she to that answerde him as hir
leste ;
And with hir goodly wordes him disporte
She gan, and ofte his sorwes to comforte.
163. Quod Pandarus, 'for ought I can espyen, 1135
This light nor I ne serven here of nought ;
Light is not good for syke folkes yën.
But for the love of god, sin ye be brought In thus good plyt, lat now non hevly
thought
Ben hanginge in the hertes of yow
tweye :'
1140
And bar the candel to the chimeneye.
164. Sone after this, though it no nede
were,
Whan she swich othes as hir list devyse
Hadde of him take, hir thoughte tho no
fere,
Ne cause eek non, to bidde him thennes
ryse. 1145
Yet lesse thing than othes may suffyse
In many a cas ; for every wight, I gesse,
That loveth wel meneth but gentillesse.
165. But in effect she wolde wite anon
Of what man, and eek where, and also
why 1150
He jelous was, sin ther was cause noon ;
And eek the signe, that he took it by,
She bad him that to telle hir bisily,
Or elles, certeyn, she bar him on honde,
That this was doon of malis, hir to fonde.
166. With-outen more, shortly for to seyne, 1156
He moste obeye un-to his lady heste ;
And for the lasse harm, he moste feyne.
He seyde hir, whan she was at swiche
a feste
She mighte on him han loked at the
leste ; 1160
Not I not what, al dere y-nough a risshe,
As he that nedes moste a cause fissahe.
167. And she answerde, 'swete, al were it so,
What harm was that, sin I non yvel
mene ?

- For, by that god that boughte us bothe
two, 1165
In alle thinge is myn entente clene.
Swich arguments ne been not worth a
bene ;
Wol ye the childish jalous contrefete ?
Now were it worthy that ye were y-bete.'
168. Tho Troilus gan sorrowfully to syke, Lest she be wrooth, him thoughte his herte deyde ; 1171
And seyde, 'allas ! upon my sorwes syke
Have mercy, swete herte myn, Criseyde !
And if that, in tho wordes that I seyde,
Be any wrong, I wol no more trespace ;
Do what yow list, I am al in your grace.'
169. And she answerde, 'of gilt miseri-
corde !
That is to seyn, that I foryeve al this ;
And ever-more on this night yow recorde,
And both wel war ye do no more amis.' 1180
'Nay, dere herte myn,' quod he, 'y-wis.'
'And now,' quod she, 'that I have do
yow smerte,
Foryeve it me, myn owene swete herte.'
170. This Troilus, with blisse of that supprysed, 1184
Put al in goddes hond, as he that mente
No-thing but wel ; and, sodeynly avysed,
He hir in armes faste to him hente.
And Pandarus, with a ful good entente, Leyde him to slepe, and seyde, 'if ye ben
wyse,
Swowneth not now, lest more folk aryse.'
171. What mighte or may the sely larke
seye, 1191
Whan that the sparhawk hath it in his foot ?
I can no more, but of this ilke tweye,
To whom this tale sucre be or soot,
Though that I tarie a yeer, som-tyme
I moot, 1195
After myn auctor, tellen hir gladnesse,
As wel as I have told hir hevinesse.
172. Criseyde, which that felte hir thus
y-take,
As writen clerkes in hir bokes olde,
Right as an aspes leef she gan to quake,
Whan she him felte hir in his armes
folde. 1201
But Troilus, al hool of cares colde, Gan thanken tho the blisful goddes
sevene ;
Thus sondry peynes bringen folk to
hevene.
173. This Troilus in armes gan hir
streyne, 1205
And seyde, 'O swete, as ever mote I goon, Now be ye caught, now is ther but we
tweyne ;
Now yeldeth yow, for other boot is noon.'
To that Criseyde answerde thus anon,
'Ne hadde I er now, my swete herte
dare, 1210
Ben yolde, y-wis, I were now not here !'
174. O ! sooth is seyde, that heled for to be
As of a fevre or othere greet syknesse,
Men moste drinke, as men may often see,
Ful bittere drink ; and for to han glad-
nesse, 1215
Men drinken often payne and greet dis-
tresse ;
I mene it here, as for this aventure,
That thourgh a payne hath founden al
his cure.
175. And now swetnesse semeth more
swete,
That bitternesse assayed was biforn ; 1220
For out of wo in blisse now they flete.
Non swich they felten, sith they were
born ;
Now is this bet, than bothe two be lorn !
For love of god, take every womman
hede
To werken thus, if it comth to the nede.
176. Criseyde, al quit from every drede and tene, 1226
As she that juste cause hadde him to triste,
Made him swich feste, it joye was to sene,
Whan she his trouthe and clene entente
wiste. 1229
And as aboute a tree, with many a twiste,
Bitrent and wryth the sote wode-binde,
Gan eche of hem in armes other winde.

177. And as the newe abaysahed nightingale,
That stinteth first whan she biginneth
singe,
Whan that she hereth any herde tale, 1235
Or in the hegges any wight steringe,
And after siker dooth hir voys out-ringe;
Right so Criseyde, whan hir drede stante,
Opned hir herte, and tolde him hir entente.
178. And right as he that seeth his deeth
y-shapen, 1240
And deye moot, in ought that he may
gesse,
And sodeynly rescous doth him escapen,
And from his deeth is brought in siker-
nesse,
For al this world, in swich present glad-
nesse 1244
Was Troilus, and bath his lady swete;
With worse hap god lat us never mete!
179. Hir armes smale, hir streyghte bak
and softe,
Hir sydes longe, fleshy, smothe, and
whyte
He gan to stroke, and good thrift bad ful
ofte
Hir snowish throte, hir brestes rounde and
lyte; 1250
Thus in this hevене he gan him to delyte,
And ther-with-al a thousand tyme hir
kiste;
That, what to done, for joye unnethe he
wiste.
180. Than seyde he thus, 'O, Love, O,
Charitee,
Thy moder eek, Citherea the swete, 1255
After thy-self next heried be she,
Venus mene I, the wel-willy planete;
And next that, Imenens, I thee grete;
For never man was to yow goddes holde
As I, which ye han brought fro cares
colde. 1250
181. Benigne Love, thou holy bond of
thinges,
Who-so wol grace, and list thee nought
honouren,
Lo, his desyr wol flee with-outen wings.
- For, noldestow of bountee hem socouren
That serven best and most aiwey labouren,
Yet were al lost, that dar I wel seyn,
certes, 1266
But-if thy grace passed our desertas.
182. And for thou me, that conde leest
deserve
Of hem that nombred been un-to thy
grace,
Hast holpen, ther I lykly was to sterve,
And me bistowed in so heygh a place 1271
That thilke boundes may no blisse pace,
I can no more, but laude and reverence
Be to thy bounte and thyn excellence!' 183. And therwith-al Criseyde anon he
kiste, 1275
Of which, certeyn, she felte no disese.
And thus seyde he, 'now wolde god I
wiste,
Myn herte swete, how I yow mighte plesse!
What man,' quod he, 'was ever thus at ese
As I, on whiche the faireste and the
beste 1280
That ever I say, deyneth hir herte reste.
184. Here may men seen that mercy
passeth right;
The experience of that is felt in me,
That am unworthy to so swete a wight.
But herte myn, of your benignitee, 1285
So thinketh, though that I unworthy be,
Yet mot I nede amenden in som wyse,
Right thourgh the vertu of your heyghe
servyse.
185. And for the love of god, my lady
dere,
Sin god hath wrought me for I shal yow
serve, 1290
As thus I mene, that ye wol be my stere,
To do me live, if that yow liste, or sterve,
So techeth me how that I may deserve
Your thank, so that I, thurgh myn ignorance, 1294
Ne do no-thing that yow be displeasance.
186. Forcertes, fresshe wommanliche wyf,
This dar I seye, that trouthe and diligence,
That shal ye finden in me al my lyf,

- Ne I wol not, certeyn, broken your defence;
 And if I do, present or in absence, 1300
 For love of god, lat slee me with the dede,
 If that it lyke un-to your womanhede.'
187. 'Y-wis,' quod she, 'myn owne hertes
 list,
 My ground of ese, and al myn herte dere, Graunt mercy, for on that is al my trist; 1305
 But late us falle away fro this matere;
 For it suffyseth, this that seyde is here.
 And at o word, with-uten repentance, Wel-come, my knight, my pees, my suffisaunce!'
188. Of hir delyt, or joyes oon the leste
 Were impossible to my wit to seye; 1311
 But juggoth, ye that han ben at the feste
 Of swich gladnesse, if that hem listepleye!
 I can no more, but thus thise ilke tweye
 That night, be-twixen dreed and siker-
 nesse, 1315
 Felten in love the grete worthinesse.
189. O blisful night, of hem so longe
 y-sought,
 How blithe un-to hem bothe two thou
 were!
 Why ne hadde I swich on with my soule
 y-bought,
 Ye, or the leeste joye that was there? 1320
 A-wey, thou foule daunger and thou fere,
 And lat hem in this hevене blisse dwelle,
 That is so heygh, that al ne can I telle!
190. But sooth is, though I can not tellen al,
 As can myn auctor, of his excellence, 1325
 Yet have I seyde, and, god to-forn, I shal
 In every thing al hoolly his sentence.
 And if that I, at loves reverence,
 Have any word in eched for the beste,
 Doth therwith-al right as your-selven
 leste. 1330
191. For myne wordes, here and every part,
 I speke hem alle under correccioun
 Of yow, that feling han in loves art,
 And putte it al in your discreccioun
 T' encrease or maken diminucioun 1335
- Of my langage, and that I yow hi-seche;
 But now to purpos of my rather speche.
192. Thise ilke two, that ben in armes laft,
 So looth to hem a-sonder goon it were,
 That ech from other wende been biraft,
 Or elles, lo, this was hir moste fere, 1341
 That al this thing but nyce drames were;
 For which ful ofte ech of hem seyde, 'O
 swete,
 Clippe ich yow thus, or elles I it mete?'
198. And, lord! so he gan goodly on hir
 see, 1345
 That never his look ne bleynte from hir
 face,
 And seyde, 'O dere herte, may it be
 That it be sooth, that ye ben in this
 place?'
- 'Ye, herte myn, god thank I of his grace!'
 Quod tho Criseyde, and therwith-al him
 kiate, 1350
 That where his spirit was, for joye he niste.
194. This Troilus ful ofte hir eyen two Gan for to kisse, and seyde, 'O eyen clere,
 It were ye that wroughte me swich wo,
 Ye humble nettes of my lady dere! 1355
 Though ther be mercy written in your
 chere,
 God wot, the text ful hard is, sooth, to
 finde,
 How coude ye with-uten bond me binde?'
195. Therwith he gan hir faste in armes
 take, 1359
 And wel an hundred tymes gan he syke, Nought swiche sorwful sykes as men make
 For wo, or elles whan that folk ben syke,
 But esy sykes, swiche as been to lyke,
 That shewed his affeccioun with-inne;
 Of swiche sykes coude he nought bilinne.
196. Some after this they speke of sondry
 thinges, 1366
 As fil to purpos of this aventure,
 And pleynges entreachungeden hir ringes,
 Of which I can nought tellen no scripture;
 But wel I woot a broche, gold and asure,
 In whiche a ruby set was lyk an herte, 1371 Criseyde him yaf, and stak it on his
 sherte.

197. Lord ! trowe ye, a coveitous, a wrecche,
That blameth love and holt of it despyt,
That, of the pens that he can mokre and kecche, 1375
Was ever yet y-yeve him swich delyt,
As is in love, in oo poynt, in som plyt ?
Nay, doutelees, for also god me save,
So parfit joye may no nigard have !
198. They wol sey 'yis,' but lord ! so that they lye, 1380
Tho busy wrecches, ful of wo and drede !
They callen love a woodnesse or folye,
But it shal falle hem as I shal yow rede ;
They shul forgo the whyte and eke the
rede,
And live in wo, ther god yeve hem mis-
chance, 1385
And every lover in his trouthe avavance !
199. As wolde god, tho wrecches, that dispyse
Seryve of love, hadde eres al-so longe
As hadde Myda, ful of coveityse ;
And ther-to dronken hadde as hoot and
stronge 1390
As Crassus dide for his affectis wronge,
To techen hem that they ben in the vyce,
And lovers nought, al-though they holde hem nyce !
200. Thise ilke two, of whom that I yow
seye, 1394
Whan that hir hertes wel assured were,
Tho gonne they to speken and to pleye,
And eek rehercen how, and whanne, and
where,
They knewe hem first, and every wo and
fere
That passed was ; but al swich hevinesse,
I thanke it god, was tourned to gladnesse.
201. And ever-mo, whan that hem fel to speke 1401
Of any thing of swich a tyme agoon,
With kissing al that tale sholde breke,
And fallen in a newe joye anoon,
And diden al hir might, sin they were
oon, 1405
For to recoveren blisse and been at ese,
And passed wo with joye countrepeyse.
202. Reson wil not that I speke of sleep,
For it accordeth nought to my matere ;
God woot, they toke of that ful litel keep,
But lest this night, that was to hem so
dere, 1411
Ne sholde in veyn escape in no manere,
It was biset in joye and businesse
Of al that souneth in-to gentilnesse. 1414
203. But whan the cok, comneastrologer,
Gan on his brest to bete, and after crowe,
And Lucifer, the dayes messenger,
Gan for to ryse, and out hir bemes
throwe ;
And estward roos, to him that coude it
knowe, 1419
Fortuna maior, †than anoon Criseyde,
With herte sore, to Troilus thus seyde :— 204. 'Myn hertes lyf, my trist and my plessaunce,
That I was born, alas ! what me is wo,
That day of us mot make desseveraunce !
For tyme it is to ryse, and hennes go, 1425
Or elles I am lost for evermo !
O night, alas ! why niltow over us hove,
As longe as whanne Almena lay by Jove ?
205. O blake night, as folk in bokes rede,
That shapen art by god this world to
hyde 1430
At certeyn tymes with thy derke wede,
That under that men mighte in reste
abyde,
Wel oughte bestes pleyne, and folk thee
chyde,
That there-as day with labour wolde us
breste,
That thou thus fleest, and deynest us
nought reste ! 1435
206. Thou dost, alas ! to shortly thyn
offyce,
Thou rakel night, ther god, makere of
kinde,
Thee, for thyn hast and thyn unkinde
vyce,
So faste ay to our hemi-spere binde,
That never-more under the ground thou
winde ! 1440
For now, for thou so hiest out of Troye,
Have I forgon thus hastily my joye !'

207. This Troilus, that with tho wordes
felte,
As thoughte him tho, for piētous distresse,
The bloody teres from his herte melte, 1445
As he that never yet swich hevinesse
Assayed hadde, out of so greet gladnesse,
Gan therwith-al Criseyde his lady dere
In armes streyne, and seyde in this
manere:—
208. 'O cruel day, accusour of the joye
That night and love han stole and faste
y-wryen, 1451
A-cursed be thy coming in-to Troye,
For every bore hath oon of thy bright yē!
Envyous day, what list thee so to spyen?
What hastow lost, why sekestow this
place, 1455
Ther god thy lyght so quenche, for his
grace?
209. Allas! what han these loveres thee
agilt,
Dispitous day? thyn be the pyne of helle!
For many a love-re hastow shent, and
wilt;
Thy pouring in wol no-wher lete hem
dwelle. 1460
What proferestow thy light here for to
selle?
Go selle it hem that smale sales graven,
We wol thee nought, us nedeth no day haven.'
210. And eek the sonne Tytan gan he
chyde,
And seyde, 'O fool, wol may men thee
dispyse, 1465
That hast the Dawing al night by thy
syde,
And suffrest hir so sone up fro thee ryse,
For to disesen loveres in this wyse.
What! hold your bed ther, thou, and eek thy Morwe!
I bidde god, so yeve yow bothe sorwe!' 211. Therwith ful sore he sighte, and thus he seyde, 1471
'My lady right, and of my welo or wo
The wells and rote, O goodly myn, Criseyde,
And shal I ryse, allas! and shal I go?
Now fele I that myn herte moot a-two! 1475
- For how sholde I my lyf an houre save,
Sin that with yow is al the lyf I have?
212. What shal I doon, for certes, I not
how,
Ne whanne, allas! I shal the tyme see,
That in this plyt I may be oft with yow;
And of my lyf, god woot how that shal
be, 1481
Sin that desyr right now so byteth me,
That I am deed anon, but I retourne.
How sholde I longe, allas! fro yow so-journe?
213. But natheless, myn owene lady bright, 1485
Yit were it so that I wiste outrely,
That I, your humble servaunt and your
knight,
Were in your herte set so fermely
As ye in myn, the which thing, trewely,
Me lever were than these worldes tweyne,
Yet sholde I bet enduren al my peyne.'
214. To that Criseyde answerde right
anon, 1492
And with a syk she seyde, 'O herte dere,
The game, y-wis, so ferforth now is goon,
That first shal Phebus falle fro his spere,
And every egle been the dowves fere, 1496
And every roche out of his place sterte,
Er Troilus out of Criseydes herte!
215. Ye be so depe in-with myn herte
grave,
That, though I wolde it turne out of my
thought, 1500
As wisly verray god my soule save,
To dyen in the peyne, I coude nought!
And, for the love of god that us hath
wrought,
Lat in your brayn non other fantasye
So crepe, that it cause me to dye! 1505
216. And that ye me wolde han as faste in minde
As I have yow, that wolde I yow bi-seche;
And, if I wiste soothly that to finde,
God mighte not a poynt my joyes eche!
But, herte myn, with-oute more speche,
Beth to me trewe, or elles were it routhe;
For I am thyn, by god and by my trouthe!

217. Beth glad for-thy, and live in siker-
nesse ;
Thus seyde I never er this, ne shal to
mo ; 1514
And if to yow it were a gret gladnesse
To turne ayein, soone after that ye go,
As fayn wolde I as ye, it were so,
As wisly god myn herte bringe at reste !
And him in armes took, and ofte keste.
218. Agayns his wil, sin it mot nedes be,
This Troilus up roos, and faste him
cledde, 1521
And in his armes took his lady free
An hundred tyme, and on his wey him
spedde,
And with swich wordes as his herte
bledde,
He seyde, ' farewel, my dere herte swete, Ther god us graunte sounde and sone to
mete !' 1526
219. To which no word for sorwe she
answerde,
So sore gan his parting hir destreyne ;
And Troilus un-to his palays ferde,
As woo bigon as she was, sooth to seyne ;
So hard him wrong of sharp desyr the
peyne 1531
For to ben eft there he was in plesaunce,
That it may never out of his remem-
braunce.
220. Returned to his réal palais, sone 1534
He softe in-to his bed gan for to slinke,
To slepe longe, as he was wont to done,
But al for nought ; he may wel ligge and
winke,
But sleep ne may ther in his herte
sinke ;
Thinkinge how she, for whom desyr him
brende,
A thousand-fold was worth more than he
wende. 1540
221. And in his thought gan up and down to winde
Hir wordes alle, and every contenaunce,
And fermely impressen in his minde
The leste poynt that to him was plesaunce ;
And verrayliche, of thilke remembraunce,
- Desyr al newe him brende, and lust to brende 1546
Gan more than erst, and yet took he non
hede.
222. Criseyde also, right in the same wyse.
Of Troilus gan in hir herte shette 1549
His worthinesse, his lust, his dedes wyse.
His gentillesse, and how she with him
mette,
Thinkinge love he so wel hir bisette ;
Desyryng eft to have hir herte dere
In swich a plyt, she dorste make him
chere.
223. Pandare, a-morwe which that comen
was 1555
Un-to his nece, and gan hir fayre grete,
Seyde, ' al this night so reyned it, allas !
That al my drede is that ye, nece swete,
Han litel layser had to slepe and mete ;
Al night,' quod he, ' hath reyn so do me
wake, 1561
That som of us, I trowe, hir hedes ake.' 224. And ner he com, and seyde, ' how stont it now
This mery morwe, nece, how can ye fare ?'
Criseyde answerde, ' never the bet for yow,
Fox that ye been, god yeve your herte
care ! 1565
God helpe me so, ye caused al this fare.
Trow I,' quod she, ' for alle your wordes
whyte ;
O ! who-so seeth yow knoweth yow ful
lyte !'
225. With that she gan hir face for to
wrye
With the shete, and wex for shame al
reed ; 1570
And Pandarus gan under for to pryde,
And seyde, ' nece, if that I shal ben deed.
Have here a sward, and smyteth of myn
heed.'
With that his arm al sodeynly he thriste
Under hir nekke, and at the laste hir
kiste. 1575
226. I passe al that which chargeth nought to seye,
What ! God foryaf his deeth, and she
al-so

Foryaf, and with hir uncle gan to pleye,
 For other cause was ther noon than so.
 But of this thing right to the effect to go, Whan tyme was, hom til hir hous she
 wente, 1581
 And Pandarus hath fully his entente.

227. Now torne we ayein to Troilus,
 That restelees ful longe a-bedde lay,
 And prevely sente after Pandarus, 1585
 To him to come in al the haste he may.
 He com anon, nought ones seyde he
 'nay,'
 And Troilus ful sobrelly he grette,
 And down upon his beddes syde him
 sette, 1589

228. This Troilus, with al the affeccioun
 Of frendes love that herte may devyse,
 To Pandarus on knees fil adoun,
 And er that he wolde of the place aryse,
 He gan him thonken in his beste wyse ;
 A hondred sythe he gan the tyme blisse,
 That he was born to bringe him fro
 distresse. 1596

229. He seyde, 'O frend, of frendes th' alderbeste
 That ever was, the sothe for to telle,
 Thou hast in hevене y-brought my soule
 at reste
 Fro Flagiton, the fery flood of helle ; 1600
 That, though I mighte a thousand tymes
 selle,
 Upon a day, my lyf in thy servyse,
 It mighte nought a mote in that suffyse.

230. The sonne, which that al the world may see,
 Saw never yet, my lyf, that dar I leye,
 So inly fair and goodly as is she, 1606
 Whos I am al, and shal, til that I deye ;
 And, that I thus am hires, dar I seye,
 That thanked be the heighe worthinesse
 Of love, and eek thy kinde bisnesse. 1610

231. Thus hastow me no litel thing y-yive,
 Fo which to thee obliged be for ay
 My lyf, and why? for thorough thyn help
 I live ;
 For elles deed haddo I be many a day.'

And with that word down in his bed he
 lay, 1615
 And Pandarus ful sobrelly him herde
 Til al was seyde, and thanne he him
 answerde :

232. 'My dere frend, if I have doon for
 thee
 In any cas, god wot, it is me leef ;
 And am as glad as man may of it be, 1620
 God help me so ; but tak now not a-greef
 That I shal seyn, be war of this myscheef,
 That, there-as thou now brought art in-to
 blisse,
 That thou thy-self ne cause it nought to
 misse.

233. For of fortunes sharp adversitee 1625
 The worst kinde of infortune is this,
 A man to have ben in prosperitee,
 And it remembren, whan it passed is.
 Thou art wys y-nough, for-thy do nought
 amis ;
 Be not to rakel, though thou sitte
 warme, 1630
 For if thou be, certeyn, it wol thee
 harme.

234. Thou art at ese, and hold thee wel
 ther-inne.
 For also seur as reed is every fyr,
 As greet a craft is kepe wel as winne ;
 Brydle alwey wel thy speche and thy
 desyr. 1635
 For worldly joye halt not but by a wyr ;
 That preveth wel, it brest alday so ofte ;
 For-thy nede is to werke with it softe.'

235. Quod Troilus, 'I hope, and god to-
 forn,
 My dere frend, that I shal so me bere,
 That in my gilt ther shal no thing be
 lorn, 1641
 N' I nil not rake as for to greven here ;
 It nedeth not this matere ofte tere ;
 For wistestow myn herte wel, Pandare,
 God woot, of this thou woldest litel care.'

236. Tho gan he telle him of his glade
 night. 1646
 And wher-of first his herte dredde, and
 how,

And seyde, 'freend, as I am trewe knight,
And by that feyth I shal to god and yow,
I hadde it never half so hote as now; 1650
And ay the more that desyr me byteth
To love hir best, the more it me delyteth.

237. I noot my-self not wisly what it is ;
But now I fele a newe qualitee,
Ye, al another than I dide er this.' 1655
Pandare answerde, and seyde thus, that he
That ones may in hevене blisse be,
He feleth other weyes, dar I leye,
Than thilke tyme he first herde of it seye.

238. This is o word for al ; this Troilus
Was never ful, to speke of this matere,
And for to preysen un-to Pandarus 1662
The bountee of his righte lady dere,
And Pandarus to thanke and maken
chere.

This tale ay was span-newe to biginne 1665
Til that the night departed hem a-twinne.

239. Sone after this, for that fortune it
wolde,
I-comen was the blisful tyme swete,
That Troilus was warned that he sholde, Ther he was erst, Criseyde his lady
mete; 1670
For which he felte his herte in joye
flete;
And feythfully gan alle the goddes herie;
And lat see now if that he can be merie.

240. And holden was the forme and al
the wyse,
Of hir cominge, and eek of his also, 1675
As it was erst, which nedeth nought
devyse.
But playnly to the effect right for to go,
In joye and seurte Pandarus hem two
A-bedde broughte, whan hem bothe leste,
And thus they ben in quiete and in
reste. 1680

241. Nought nedeth it to yow, sin they ben met,
To aske at me if that they blythe were ;
For if it erst was wel, tho was it bet
A thousand-fold, this nedeth not enquere.
A-gon was every sorwe and every fere ;

And bothe, y-wis, they hadde, and so they wende, 1686
As mucche joye as herte may comprende.

242. This is no litel thing of for to seye,
This passeth every wit for to devyse ; 1689
For eche of hem gan otheres lust obeye ;
Felicitee, which that thise clerkes wyse
Commenden so, ne may not here suffyse.
This joye may not writen been with inke,
This passeth al that herte may bitinke.

243. But cruel day, so wel-away the
stounde ! 1695
Gan for to aproche, as they by signes
knewe,
For whiche hem thoughte felen dethes
wounde ;
So wo was hem, that changen gan hir
hewe, 1698
And day they gonnen to dispysse al newe,
Calling it traytour, envyous, and worse,
And bitterly the dayes light they curse.

244. Quod Troilus, 'allas ! now am I war
That Pirous and tho swifte stedes three,
Whiche that drawn forth the sonnes
char,
Han goon som by-path in despyt of me ;
That maketh it so sone day to be ; 1706
And, for the sonne him hasteth thus to
ryse,
Ne shal I never doon him sacrificyse !'

245. But nedes day departe moste hem
sone,
And whanne hir speche doon was and hir
chere, 1710
They twinne anon as they were wont to
done,
And setten tyme of meting aft y-fere ;
And many a night they wroughte in this
manere.
And thus Fortune a tyme ladde in joye Criseyde, and eek this kinges sone of
Troye. 1715

246. In suffisaunce, in blisse, and in sing-
inges,
This Troilus gan al his lyf to lede ;
He spendeth, justeth, maketh †festey-
inges ;

He yoveth frely ofte, and chaungeth
wede, 1719
And held aboute him alwey, out of drede,
A world of folk, as cam him wel of kinde,
The fresheste and the beste he coude
finde ;

247. That swich a voys was of him and a stevene

Thorough-out the world, of honour and
largesse, 1724

That it up rong un-to the yate of hevene.
And, as in love, he was in swich gladnesse,
That in his herte ho demode, as I gesse,
That there nis love in this world at ese
So wel as he, and thus gan love him
plese.

248. The godlihede or beautee which that
kinde 1730

In any other lady hadde y-set
Can not the mountaunce of a knot un-
binde,
A-boute his herte, of al Criseydes net.
He was so narwe y-masked and y-knet,
That it undoon on any manere syde, 1735
That nil not been, for ought that may betyde.

249. And by the hond ful ofte he wolde
take

This Pandarus, and in-to gardin lede,
And swich a feste and swich a proces
make 1739

Him of Criseyde, and of hir womanhede,
And of hir beautee, that, with-ouen drede,
It was an hevene his wordes for to here ;
And thanne he wolde singe in this
manere

250. 'Love, that of erthe and see hath governance,

Love, that his hestes hath in hevene hye,
Love, that with an holsom alliaunce 1746
Halt peples joyned, as him list hem gye,
Love, that knetteth lawe of companye,
And couples doth in vertu for to dwelle, Bind this acord, that I have told and
telle ; 1750

251. That that the world with feyth, which that is stable,

Dyverseth so his stoundes concordinge,

That elements that been so discordable
Holden a bond perpetuely duringe,
That Phebus mote his rosy day forth
bringe, 1755

And that the mone hath lordship over the nightes,
Al this doth Love ; ay heried be his
mightes !

252. That that the see, that gredy is to flowen,

Constreyneth to a certeyn ende so 1759
His flodes, that so fersly they ne growen
To drenchen erthe and al for ever-mo ;
And if that Love ought lete his byrdel go,
Al that now loveth a-sonder shold lepe,
And lost were al, that Love halt now to-hepe.

253. So wolde god, that auctor is of
kinde, 1765

That, with his bond, Love of his vertu
liste

To cerclen liertes alle, and faste binde,
That from his bond no wight the wey out
wiste.

And hertes colde, hem wolde I that he twiste

To make hem love, and that hem leste ay
rewe 1770

On hertes sore, and kepe hem that ben
trewe.'

254. In alle nodes, for the tounes werre,
He was, and ay the firste in armes dight ;
And certeynly, but-if that bokes erre, 1774
Save Ector, most y-drad of any wight ;

And this encrees of hardinesse and might Cam him of love, his ladies thank to
winne,

That altered his spirit so with-inne.

255. In tyme of trewe, on haukinge wolde
he ryde,

Or elles huntun boor, bere, or lyoun ; 1780
The smale bestes leet he gon bi-syde.
And whan that he com rydinge in-to
toun,

Ful ofte his lady, from hir window doun,
As fresh as faucon comen out of muwe,
Ful redy was, him goodly to saluwe. 1785

256. And most of love and vertu was his speche,
And in despyt hadde alle wrecchednesse;
And doutelees, no nede was him biseche
To honouren hem that hadde worthinesse, 1789
And esen hem that weren in distresse.
And glad was he if any wight wel ferde,
That lover was, whan he it wiste or herde.
257. For sooth to seyn, he lost held every wight
But-if he were in loves heigh servyse,
I mene folk that oughte it been of right.
And over al this, so wel coude he devyse 1796
Of sentement, and in so unkouth wyse
Al his array, that every lover thoughte,
That al was wel, what-so he seyde or wroughte.
258. And though that he be come of blood royal, 1800
Him liste of pryde at no wight for to chaso;
Benigne he was to ech in general,
- For which he gat him thank in every place.
Thus wolde Love, y-heried be his grace,
That Pryde, Envye, Ire, and Avaryce 1805
He gan to flee, and every other vyce.
259. Thou lady bright, the daughter to Dione,
Thy blinde and winged sone eek, daun Cupyde;
Ye sustren nyne eek, that by Elicone
In hil Parnaso listen for to abyde, 1810
That ye thus fer han deyned me to gyde,
I can no more, but sin that ye wol wende,
Ye heried been for ay, with-outen ende!
260. Though yow have I seyde fully in my song
Th'effect and joye of Troilus servyse, 1815
Al be that ther was som disese among,
As to myn auctor listeth to devyse.
My thridde book now ende ich in this wyse;
And Troilus in luste and in quiete 1819
Is with Criseyde, his owne herte swete.

Explicit Liber Tercius.

BOOK IV.

[Prohemium.]

1. But al to litel, weylaway the whyle,
Lasteth swich joye, y-thonked be Fortune!
That semeth trewest, whan she wol bygyle,
And can to foles so hir song entune,
That she hem hent and blent, traytour comune; 5
And whan a wight is from hir wheel y-throwe,
Than laugheth she, and maketh him the mowa.
2. From Troilus she gan hir brighte face
Awey to wrythe, and took of him non hede,

- But caste him clene oute of his lady grace, 10
And on hir wheel she sette up Diomede;
For which right now myn herte ginneth blede,
And now my penne, allas! with which I wryte,
Quaketh for drede of that I moot endyte.
3. For how Criseyde Troilus forsook, 15
Or at the leste, how that she was unkinde,
Mot hennes-forth ben matere of my book,
As wryten folk thorough which it is in minde.
Allas! that they shulde ever causo finde

To speke hir harm ; and if they on hir
lye, 20
Y-wis, hem-self sholde han the vilanye.

4. O ye Herines, Nightes doughtren three,
That endelees compleynen ever in pyne,
Megera, Alete, and eek Thesiphone ;
Thou cruel Mars eek, fader to Quiryne, 25
This ilke ferthe book me helpeth fyne,
So that the los of lyf and love y-fere
Of Troilus be fully shewed here.

Explicit † prohemium. Incipit Quartus Liber.

5. Ligeance in oot, as I have seyde er this,
The Grekes stronge, aboute Troye toun, 30
Bifel that, whan that Phebus shyning is Up-on the brest of Hercules Lyoun,
That Ector, with ful many a bold baroun,
Caste on a day with Grekes for to fighte,
As he was wont to greve hem what he myghte. 35

6. Not I how longe or short it was bi-
twene
This purpos and that day they fighte
mente ;
But on a day wel armed, bright and
shene,
Ector, and many a worthy wight out
wente,
With spere in hond and bigge bowes
bente ; 40
And in the berd, with-oute lenger lette,
Hir fomen in the feld anon hem mette.

7. The longe day, with speres sharpe
y-grounde,
With arwes, dartes, swerdes, maces felle,
They fighte and bringen hors and man to grounde, 45
And with hir axes out the braynes quelle.
But in the laste shour, sooth for to telle,
The folk of Troye hem selven so mislidden,
That with the worse at night homward
they fledden.

8. At whiche day was taken Antenor, 50
Maugre Polydamas or Monesteo, Santippe, Sarpedon, Polynestor,

Polyte, or eek the Trojan daun Ripheo,
And othere lasse folk, as Phebuso.
So that, for harm, that day the folk of
Troye 55
Dredde to lese a greet part of hir joye.

9. Of Pryamus was yeve, at Greek re-
queste,
A tyme of trewe, and tho they gonne
trete,
Hir prisoneres to chaungen, moste and
leste, 59
And for the surplus yeven sommes grete.
This thing anon was counth in every
strete,
Bothe in th'assege, in toun, and everywhere,
And with the firste it cam to Calkas ere.

10. Whan Calkas knew this tretis sholde
holde,
In consistorie, among the Grekes, sone 65
Hegan in thringe forth, with lordes olde,
And sette him there-as he was wont to
done ;
And with a chaunged face hem bad a
bone,
For love of god, to don that reverence,
To stinte noyse, and yeve him audience.

11. Thanne seyde he thus, 'lo ! lordes myne, I was 71
Trojan, as it is knowen out of drede ;
And if that yow remembre, I am Calkas,
That alderfirst yaf comfort to your nede,
And tolde wel how that ye sholden spede.
For dredelees, thorough yow, shal, in a
stounde, 76
Ben Troye y-brend, and beten doun to
grounde.

12. And in what forme, or in what maner
wyse
This town to shende, and al your lust to acheve,
Ye han er this wel herd it me devyse ; 80
This knowe ye, my lordes, as I leve.
And for the Grekes weren me so leve,
I com my-self in my propre persone,
To teche in this how yow was best to
done ;

13. Havinge un-to my tresour ne my
rente 85

Right no resport, to respect of your ese.
Thus al my good I loste and to yow
wente,

Wening in this you, lordes, for to plesse.
But al that los ne doth me no disese.
I vouche-sauf, as wisly have I joye, 90
For you to lese al that I have in Troye,

14. Save of a doughter, that I laste, allas!
Slepinge at hoom, whanne out of Troye
I sterte.

O sterne, O cruel fader that I was!
How mighte I have in that so hard an
herte? 95

Allas! I ne hadde y-brought hir in hir
sherte!

For sorwe of which I wol not live to
morwe,

But-if ye lordes rewe up-on my sorwe.

15. For, by that cause I say no tyme er
now

Hir to delivere, I holden have my pees;
But now or never, if that it lyke yow, 101
I may hir have right sone, doutelees.

O help and grace! amonges al this prees,
Rewe on this olde caitif in destresse,
Sin I through yow have al this hevynesse!

16. Ye have now caught and fetere in prisoun 106

Trojans y-nowe; and if your willes be,
My child with oon may have redempcioun.
Now for the love of god and of bountee,
Oon of so fele, allas! so yeve him me. 110
What nede were it this preyere for to werne,

Sin ye shul bothe han folk and toun as
yerne?

17. On peril of my lyf, I shal not lye,
Appollo hath me told it feithfully;
I have eek founde it by astronomyc, 115

By sort, and by augurie eek trewely,
And dar wel seye, the tyme is faste by,
That fyr and flaumbe on al the toun shal
sprede;

And thus shal Troye turne in asshen
dede.

18. For certeyn, Phebus and Neptunus
bothe, 120

That makoden the walles of the toun,
Ben with the folk of Troye alwey so
wrothe,

That thei wol bringe it to confusioun,
Right in despyt of king Lameadoun. 124
By-cause he nolde payen hem hir hyre,
The toun of Troye shal ben set on-fyre.'

19. Telling his tale alwey, this olde greye,
Humble in speche, and in his lokinge eke,
The salte teros from his eyen tweys 129
Ful faste ronnen down by eyther cheke.
So longe he gan of socour hem by-seke
That, for to hele him of his sorwes sore,
They yave him Antenor, with-oute more.

20. But who was glad y-nough but Calkas
tho?

And of this thing ful sone his nedes
leyde 135

On hem that sholden for the tretis go,
And hem for Antenor ful ofte preyde
To bringen hoom king Toas and Criseyde;
And whan Pryam his save-garde sente, Th'embassadours to Troye streyght they
wente. 140

21. The cause y-told of hir cominge, the
olde

Pryam the king ful sone in general
Let here-upon his parlement to holde,
Of which the effect rehersen yow I shal.
Th'embassadours ben answered for fynal, Th'eschaunge of prisoners and al this
nede 146
Hem lyketh wel, and forth in they proceda.

22. This Troilus was present in the place,
Whan axed was for Antenor Criseyde,
For which ful sone chaungen gan his face,
As he that with the wordes wel neigh
deyde. 151

But nathelees, he no word to it seyde,
Lest men sholde his affeccioun espye;
With mannes herte he gan his sorwes
drye.

23. And ful of anguish and of grisly
drede 155
Aboud what lordes wolde un-to it seye;

- And if they wolde graunte, as god forbede, Th'eschaunge of hir, than thoughte he things tweye,
First, how to save hir honour, and what
weye
He mighte best th'eschaunge of hir with-
stonde; 160
Ful faste he casto how al this mighte
stonde.
24. Love him made al prest to doon hir
byde,
And rather dye than she sholde go;
But resoun seyde him, on that other syde,
'With-oute assent of hir ne do not so, 165
Lest for thy werk she wol'e be thy fo,
And seyn, that thorough thy medling is y-blowe
Your bother love, there it was erst un-
knowe.'
25. For which he gan deliberen, for the
beste,
That though the lordes wolde that she
wente, 170
He wolde late hem graunte what hem
leste,
And telle his lady first what that they
mente,
And whan that she had seyde him hir
entente,
Ther-after wolde he werken also blyve,
Though al the world ayein it wolde
stryve. 175
26. Ector, which that wel the Grekes
herde,
For Antenor how they wolde han Cri-
seyde,
Gan it withstonde, and sobrelly an-
swerde:—
'Sires, she nis no prisoner,' he seyde;
'I noot on yow who that this charge
leyde, 180
But, on my part, ye may eft-some him
telle,
We usen here no women for to selle.'
27. The noyse of peple up-stirte thanne
at ones,
As brems as blase of straw y-set on fyre;
For infortune it wolde, for the nones, 185
They sholden hir confusioun desyre.
'Ector,' quod they, 'what goost may yow
enspyre,
This womman thus to shilde and doon us
lese
Dann Antenor?—a wrong wey now ye
chese—
28. That is so wys, and oek so bold baroun,
And we han nede of folk, as men may
see; 191
He is eek oon, the grettest of this toun;
O Ector, lat tho fantasy's be!
O king Pryam,' quod they, 'thus seggen
we, 194
That al our voys is to for-gon Criseyde;
And to deliveren Antenor they preyde.
29. O Juvenal, lord! trewe is thy sentence,
That litel witen folk what is to yerne
That they ne finde in hir desyr offence;
For cloud of errour lat hem not descerne
What best is; and lo, here ensample as
yerne. 201
This folk desiren now deliveraunce
Of Antenor, that broughte hem to mis-
chance!
30. For he was after traytour to the toun Of Troye; allas! they quitte him out to rath; 205
O nyce world, lo, thy discrecioun!
Criseyde, which that never dide hem
skathe,
Shal now no lenger in hir blisse bathe;
But Antenor, he shal com hoom to tounne,
And she shal out thus seyden here and howne. 210
31. For which delibered was by parle-
ment,
For Antenor to yelden up Criseyde,
And it pronounced by the president,
Al-theigh that Ector 'nay' ful ofte preyde.
And fynally, what wight that it with-
seyde, 215
It was for nought; it mcste been, and
sholde;
For substance of the parlement it wolde.

82. Departed out of parlement echone,
This Troilus, with-oute wordes mo,
Un-to his chaumbre spedde him faste alone, 220
But-if it were a man of his or two,
The whiche he had out faste for to go,
By-cause he wolde slepen, as he seyde,
And hastely up-on his bed him leyde.
83. And as in winter leves been biraft, 225
Eche after other, til the tree be bare,
So that ther nis but bark and braunche
 y-laft,
Lyth Troilus, biraft of ech wel-fare,
Y-bounden in the blake bark of care,
Disposed wood out of his wit to breyde,
So sore him sat the chaunginge of Cri-
 seyde. 231
84. He rist him up, and every dore he
 shette
And windowe eek, and tho this sorweful
 man
Up-on his beddes syde a-down him sette,
Ful lyk a deed image pale and wan; 235
And in his brest the heped wo bigan
Out-breste, and he to werken in this
 wyse
In his woodnesse, as I shal yow devyse.
85. Right as the wilde bole biginneth
 springe
Now here, now there, y-darted to the
 herte, 240
And of his deeth roreth in compleyninge,
Right so gan he aboute the chaumbre
 sterre,
Smyting his brest ay with his festes
 smerte;
His heed to the wal, his body to the
 grounde
Ful ofte he swapte, him-selven to con-
 founde. 245
86. His eyen two, for pitee of his herte,
Out stremeden as swifte welles tweye;
The heighe sobbes of his sorwes smerte
His spoche him rafte, unnethes mighte
 he seye, 249
'O deeth, allas! why niltow do me deye?
A-cursed be the day which that nature
Shoop me to ben a lyves creature!' 87. But after, whan the furie and the rage
Which that his herte twiste and faste
 threste, 254
By lengthe of tyme somewhat gan asswage,
Up-on his bed he leyde him down to reste;
But tho bigonne his teres more out-breste,
That wonder is, the body may suffyse
To half this wo, which that I yow devyse.
88. Than seyde he thus, 'Fortune! allas the whye! 260
What have I doon, what have I thus
 a-gilt?
How mightestow for reuthe me bigyle?
Is ther no grace, and shal I thus be spilt?
Shal thus Criseyde away, for that thou
 wilt? 264
Allas! how maystow in thyn herte finde
To been to me thus cruel and unkinde?
89. Have I thee nought honoured al my
 lyve,
As thou wel wost, above the goddes alle?
Why wiltow me fro joye thus depryve?
O Troilus, what may men now thee calle
But wrecche of wrecches, out of honour
 falle 271
In-to miserie, in which I wol biwayle Criseyde, allas! til that the breeth me
 fayle?
40. Allas, Fortune! if that my lyf in joye
Displeed hadde un-to thy foule envye,
Why ne haddestow my fader, king of
 Troye, 276
By-raft the lyf, or doon my bretheren dye,
Or slayn my-self, that thus compleyne
 and crye,
I, combre-world, that may of no-thing
 serve,
But cver dye, and never fully sterve? 280
41. If that Criseyde allone were me laft, Nought roughte I whider thou woldest me stere;
And hir, allas! than hastow me biraft.
But ever-more, lo! this is thy manere,
To reve a wight that most is to him dere,
To preve in that thy gerful violence. 286
Thus am I lost, ther helpeth no defence.

42. O verray lord of love, O god, allas !
That knowest best myn herte and al my
thought,

What shal my sorrowful lyf don in this cas
If I for-go that I so dere have bought? 291 Sin ye Criseyde and me han fully brought In-to your grace, and bothe our hertes
seled,

How may ye suffre, allas ! it be repeled ?

43. What I may doon, I shal, whyl I may
dure 295

On lyve in torment and in cruel payne,
This infortune or this disaventure,
Allone as I was born, y-wis, compleyne ;
Ne never wil I seen it shyne or reyne ;
But ende I wil, as Edippe, in derknesse
My sorrowful lyf, and dyen in distresse. 301

44. O wery goost, that errest to and fro,
Why niltow fleen out of the wofulleste
Body, that ever mighte on grounde go ?
O soule, lurking in this wo, unneste, 305
Flee forth out of myn herte, and lat it
breste,

And folwe alwey Criseyde, thy lady dere ;
Thy righte place is now no lenger here !

45. O wofulle eyen two, sin your disport
Was al to seen Criseydes eyen brighte,
What shal ye doon but, for my discomfort, 311

Stonden for nought, and wepen out your
sighte ?

Sin she is queynt, that wont was yow to
lighte,

In veyn fro-this-forth have I eyen tweye
Y-formed, sin your vertue is a-weye. 315

46. O my Criseyde, O lady sovereyne
Of thilke woful soule that thus cryeth,
Who shal now yeven comfort to my payne ?
Allas, no wight ; but when myn herte
dyeth,

My spirit, which that so un-to yow hyeth,
Receyve in gree, for that shal ay yow
serve ; 321

For-thy no fors is, though the body sterve.

47. O ye lovers, that heighe upon the wheel

Ben set of Fortune, in good aventure,

God leve that ye finde ay love of steel, 325
And longe mot your lyf in joye endure !
But whan ye comen by my sepulture,
Remembereth that your felawe resteth
there ;

For I lovede eek, though I unworthy
were. 329

48. O olde unholsom and mislyved man,
Calkas I mene, allas ! what eyleth thee
To been a Greek, sin thou art born Trojan ?

O Calkas, which that wilt my bane be,
In cursed tyme was thou born for me !
As wolde blisful Jove, for his joye, 335
That I thee hadde, where I wolde, in Troye !'

49. A thousand sykes, hottere than the glede,

Out of his brest ech after other wente,
Medled with pleyntes newe, his wo to fede, 339

For which his woful teres never stente ;
And shortly, so his paynes him to-rente,
And vex so mat, that joye nor penance
He feleth noon, but lyth forth in a trauce.

50. Pandare, which that in the parlement Hadde herd what every lord and burgeys
seyde, 345

And how ful graunted was, by oon assent.
For Antenor to yelden so Criseyde, Gan wel neigh wood out of his wit to
breyde,

So that, for wo, he niste what he mente ;
But in a rees to Troilus he wente. 350

51. A certeyn knight, that for the tyme
kepte

The chaumbre-dore, un-dide it him anoon ;
And Pandare, that ful tendrelliche wepte,
In-to the derke chaumbre, as stille as
stoon,

Toward the bed gan softly to goon, 355
So confus, that he niste what to seye ;
For verray wo his wit was neigh aweye.

52. And with his chere and loking al to-torn,

For sorwe of this, and with his armes
folden,

He stood this woful Troilus biforn, 360
 And on his pitous face he gan biholden;
 But lord, so often gan his herte colden,
 Seing his freend in wo, whos heviness
 His herte slow, as thoughte him, for dis-
 tresse.

58. This woful wight, this Troilus, that felte 365
 His freend Pandare y-comen him to see,
 Gan as the snow ayein the sonne melte,
 For which this sorwful Pandare, of pitee,
 Gan for to wepe as tendrelische as he;
 And specheles thus been thise ilke tweye,
 That neyther mighte o word for sorwe
 seye. 371

54. But at the laste this woful Troilus, Ney deed for smert, gan bresten out to rora,
 And with a sorwful noyse he seyde thus,
 Among his sobbes and his sykes sore, 375
 'Lo! Pandare, I am deed, with-uten
 more.
 Hastow nought herd at parlement,' he
 seyde,
 'For Antenor how lost is my Criseyde?'

55. This Pandarus, ful deed and pale of
 hewe,
 Ful pitously answerde and seyde, 'yis!
 As wisly were it fals as it is trewe, 381
 That I have herd, and wot al how it ia.
 O mercy, god, who wolde have trowed
 this?
 Who wolde have wend that, in so litel
 a throwe, 384
 Fortune our joye wolde han over-throwe?

56. For in this world ther is no creature,
 As to my doom, that ever saw ruyne Strangere than this, thorough cas or aventure.
 But who may al eschewe or al devyne?
 Swich is this world; for-ty I thus de-
 fyne, 390
 †Ne truste no wight finden in Fortune
 Ay proprete; hir yeftes been comune.

57. But tel me this, why thou art now so mad
 To sorwen thus? Why lystow in this
 wyse,

Sin thy desyr al holly hastow had, 395
 So that, by right, it oughte y-now suffyse?
 But I, that never felte in my servyse
 A frendly chere or loking of an y8,
 Lat me thus wepe and wayle, til I dye.

58. And over al this, as thou wel wost thy-selve, 400
 This town is ful of ladies al aboute;
 And, to my doom, fairer than swiche
 twelwe
 As ever she was, shal I finde, in som
 route,
 Ye, oon or two, with-uten any doute. 404
 For-ty be glad, myn owene dere brother,
 If she be lost, we shul recovere another.

59. What, god for-bede alway that ech
 plesaunce
 In o thing were, and in non other wight!
 If oon can singe, another can wel daunce;
 If this be goodly, she is glad and light;
 And this is fayr, and that can good
 a-right. 411
 Ech for his vertu holden is for dere,
 Bothe heroner and faucon for rivere.

60. And eek, as writ Zanzis, that was ful
 wys,
 "The newe love out chaceth ofte the
 olde;" 415
 And up-on newe cas lyth newe avys.
 Think eek, thy-self to saven artow holde;
 Swich fyr, by proces, shal of kinde colde.
 For sin it is but casuel plesaunce,
 Som cas shal putte it out of remem-
 braunce. 420

61. For also seur as day cometh after
 night,
 The newe love, labour or other wo,
 Or elles selde seinge of a wight,
 Don olde affeccionns alle over-go.
 And, for thy part, thou shalt have oon of
 tho 425
 To abrigge with thy bittre peynes smerte;
 Absence of hir shal dryve hir out of herte.'

62. Thise wordes seyde he for the nones
 alle,
 To helpe his freend, lest he for sorwe
 deyde.

- For douteles, to doon his wo to falle, 430
 He roughte not what unthrift that he
 seyde.
- But Troilus, that neigh for sorwe deyde,
 Tok litel hede of al that ever he mente ;
 Oon ere it herde, at the other out it
 wente :—
63. But at the laste answerde and seyde,
 ' freend, 435
 This lechecraft, or heled thus to be,
 Were wel sitting, if that I were a feend,
 To traysen hir that trewe is unto me !
 I pray god, lat this consayl never y-thee ;
 But do me rather sterve anon-right
 here 440
 Er I thus do as thou me woldest lere.
64. She that I serve, y-wis, what so thou seyo,
 To whom myn herte enhabit is by right,
 Shal han me holly hires til that I deye.
 For, Pandarus, sin I have trouthe hir
 hight, 445
 I wol not been untrewre for no wight ;
 But as hir man I wol ay live and sterve,
 And never other creaturo serve.
65. And ther thou seyst, thou shalt as faire finde
 As she, lat be, make no comparisoun 450
 To creaturo y-formed here by kinde.
 O leve Pandare, in conclusioun,
 I wol not be of thyn opinioun,
 Touching al this ; for whiche I thee bi-
 seche,
 So hold thy pees ; thou sleest me with thy speche. 455
66. Thou biddest me I sholde love another
 Al freshly newe, and lat Criseyde go !
 It lyth not in my power, leve brother.
 And though I mighte, I wolde not do so.
 But canstow playen raket, to and fro, 460
 Nettle in, dokke out, now this, now that, Pandare ?
 Now foule falle hir, for thy wo that care !
67. Thou farest eek by me, thou Pan-
 darus,
 As he, that whan a wight is wo bi-goon,
- He cometh to him a pas, and seyth right
 thus, 465
 "Think not on smert, and thou shalt fele
 noon."
 Thou most me first transmuwen in a
 stoon,
 And reve me my passiounes alle,
 Er thou so lightly do my wo to falle.
68. The deeth may wel out of my brest departe 470
 The lyf, so longe may this sorwe myne ;
 But fro my soule shal Criseydes darte
 Out never-mo ; but doun with Proserpynce,
 Whan I am deed, I wol go wone in pyne ;
 And ther I wol eternally compleyne 475
 My wo, and how that twinned be we
 tweyne.
69. Thou hast here maad an argument,
 for fyn,
 How that it sholde lasse peyne be Criseyde to for-goon, for she was myn,
 And live in ese and in felicitee. 480
 Why gabbestow, that seydest thus to me
 That "him is wors that is fro wele y-
 throwe,
 Than he hadde orst non of that wele
 y-knowe?"
70. But tel me now, sin that thee thinketh so light
 To chaungen so in love, ay to and fro, 485
 Why hastow not don bisily thy might
 To chaungen hir that doth thee al thy wo ?
 Why niltow lete hir fro thyn herte go ?
 Why niltow love an-other lady swete,
 That may thyn herte sotten in quiete ?
71. If thou hast had in love ay yet mis-
 chaunce, 491
 And canst it not out of thyn herte dryve,
 I, that livede in lust and in plesaunce
 With hir as muche as creaturo on-lyve,
 How sholde I that foryete, and that so
 blyve ? 495
 O where hastow ben hid so longe in muwe,
 That canst so wel and formely arguwe ?
72. Nay, nay, god wot, nought worth is al thy reed,
 For which, for what that ever may bifalle,

With-outen wordes mo, I wol be deed. 500
 O deeth, that endere art of sorwes alle,
 Com now, sin I so ofte after thee calle;
 For sely is that deeth, soth for to seyne,
 That, ofte y-cleped, cometh and endeth
 peyne.

73. Wel wot I, wnyl my lyf was in quiete, Er thou me slowe, I wolde have yeven
 hyre; 506
 But now thy cominge is to me so swete,
 That in this world I no-thing so desyre.
 O deeth, sin with this sorwe I am a-fyre,
 Thou outhur domeanoon in teres drenche,
 Or with thy colde strook myn hete
 quenche! 511

74. Sin that thou sleest so fele in sondry
 wyse
 Ayens hir wil, unpreyed, day and night,
 Do me, at my requeste, this servyse,
 Delivere now the world, so dostow right,
 Of me, that am the wofulleste wight 516
 That ever was; for tyme is that I sterve, Sin in this world of right nought may
 I serve.'

75. This Troilus in teres gan distille,
 As licour out of alamyk ful faste; 520
 And Pandarus gan holde his tunge stille,
 And to the ground his eyen down he
 caste.
 But natheless, thus thoughte he at the
 laste,
 'What, parde, rather than my felawe
 deye,
 Yet shal I som-what more un-to him seye.'

76. And seyde, 'freend, sin thou hast swich distresse, 526
 And sin thee list myn arguments to blame,
 Why nilt thy-selven helpen doon redresse,
 And with thy manhod letten al this grame?
 Go ravisse hir ne canstow not for shame!
 And outhur lat hir out of toune fare, 531
 Or hold hir stille, and leve thy nyce fare.

77. Artow in Troye, and hast non hardi-
 ment
 To take a womman which that loveth
 thee,

And wolde hir-selven been of thyn assent?
 Now is not this a nyce vanitee? 536
 Rys up anoon, and lat this weping be,
 And kyth thou art a man, for in this
 houre
 I wil be deed, or she shal bleven oure.'

78. To this answerde him Troilus ful
 softe, 540
 And seyde, 'parde, leve brother dere,
 Al this have I my-self yet thought ful ofte,
 And more thing than thou devyest here.
 But why this thing is laft, thou shalt wel
 here; 544
 And whan thou me hast yeve an audience,
 Ther-after mayst thou telle al thy sentence.

79. First, sin thou wost this toun hath al
 this werre
 For ravishing of women so by might,
 It sholde not be suffred me to erre, 549
 As it stant now, ne doon so gret unright.
 I sholde han also blame of every wight,
 My fadres graunt if that I so withstode,
 Sin she is chaunged for the tounes goode.

80. I have eek thought, so it were hir
 assent,
 To aske hir at my fader, of his grace; 555
 Than thenke I, this were hir accusement,
 Sin wel I woot I may hir not purchace.
 For sin my fader, in so heigh a place
 As parlement, hath hir eschaunge ensealed,
 He nil for me his lettre be repeled. 560

81. Yet drede I most hir herte to per-tourbe
 With violence, if I do swich a game; 565
 For if I wolde it openly distourbe,
 It moste been disclaundre to hir name.
 And me were lever deed than hir defame,
 As nolde god but-if I sholde have 566
 Hir honour lever than my lyf to save!

82. Thus am I lost, for ought that I can
 see;
 For certeyn is, sin that I am hir knight,
 I moste hir honour lever han than me
 In every cas, as lovere oughte of right. 571
 Thus am I with desyr and reson twight;

Desyr for to distourben hir me redeth,
And reson nil not, so myn herte dredeth.'

88. Thus wepinge that he coude never cesse, 575
He seyde, 'allas! how shal I, wrecche,
fare?

For wel fele I alwey my love encesse,
And hope is lasse and lasse alwey, Pan-
dare!

Encressen eek the causes of my care;
So wel-a-wey, why nil myn herte breste?
For, as in love, ther is but lital reste.' 581

84. Pandare answerde, 'freend, thou mayst, for me,

Don as thee list; but hadde ich it so hote,
And thyn estat, she sholde go with me;
Though al this toun cryede on this thing
by note, 585

I nolde sette at al that noyse a grote.
For when men han wel cryed, than wol
they rounne;

A wonder last but nyne night never in
toun.

85. Devyne not in reson ay so depe
Ne curteysly, but help thy-self anon; 590
Bet is that othere than thy-selven wepe,
And namely, sin ye two been al oon.
Rys up, for by myn heed, she shal not
goon;

And rather be in blame a lyte y-founde
Than sterve here as a gnat, with-oute
wounde. 595

86. It is no shame un-to yow, ne no vyce Hir to with-holden, that ye loveth most.
Paraunter, she mighte holden thee for nyco

To lete hir go thus to the Grekes ost.
Think eek Fortune, as wel thy-selven
wost, 600

Helpeth hardy man to his emprise,
And weyveth wrecches, for hir cowardyse.

87. And though thy lady wolde a lital hir
greve,

Thou shalt thy pees ful wel here-after
make,

But as for me, certayn, I can not leve 605
That she wolde it as now for yvel take.

Why sholde than for ferd thyn herte
quake?

Think eek how Paris hath, that is thy
brother,

A love; and why shaltow not have another?

88. And Troilus, o thing I dar thee
swere, 610

That if Criseyde, whiche that is thy leef,
Now loveth thee as wel as thou dost here,
God helpe me so, she nil not take a-greef, Though thou do bote a-noon in this mischief.

And if she wilneth fro thee for to passe, Thanne is she fals; so love hir wel the
lasse. 616

89. For-thy tak herte, and think, right as
a knight,

Thourgh love is broken alday every lawe.
Kyth now sumwhat thy corage and thy
might,

Have mercy on thy-self, for anyawe. 620
Lat not this wrecched wo thin herte
gnawe,

But manly set the world on sixe and
sevene;

And, if thou doye a martir, go to hevене.

90. I wol my-self be with thee at this
dede,

Though ich and al my kin, up-on a
stounde, 625

Shulle in a strete as dogges ligen dede, Thourgh-girt with many a wyd and blydy
wounde.

In every cas I wol a freend be founde.

And if thee list here sterven as a wrecche,
A-dieu, the devel spede him that it
recche!' 630

91. This Troilus gan with tho wordes quiken,

And seyde, 'freend, graunt mercy, ich
assente;

But certaynly thou mayst not me so
priken,

Ne payne noon ne may me so tormente,
That, for no cas, it is not myn entente,

At shorte wordes, though I dyen sholde,
To ravisshe hir, but-if hir-self it wolde.' 637

92. 'Why, so mene I,' quod Pandarus, 'al
this day.
But tel me than, hastow hir wel assayed,
That sorwest thus?' And he answerde,
'nay.' 640
'Wher-of artow,' quod Pandare, 'than
a-mayed,
That nost not that she wol ben yvel
apayed
To ravisshe hir, sin thou hast not ben
there,
But-if that Jove tolde it in thyn ere?
93. For-thy rys up, as nought ne were,
anoon, 645
And wash thy face, and to the king thou
wende,
Or he may wondren whider thou art goon.
Thou most with wisdom him and others
blende ;
Or, up-on cas, he may after thee sende
Er thou be war; and shortly, brother
dere, 650
Be glad, and lat me werke in this matere.
94. For I shal shape it so, that sikerly Thou shalt this night som tyme, in som
manere,
Com speke with thy lady prevely,
And by hir wordes eek, and by hir chere,
Thou shalt ful sone aparceyve and wel
here 656
Al hir entente, and in this cas the beste ;
And fare now wel, for in this point I
reste.'
95. The swifte Fame, whiche that false
thinges
Egal reporteth lyk the thinges trewe, 660
Was thorough-out Troye y-fled with preste winges
Fro man to man, and made this tale al
newe,
How Calkas daughter, with hir brighte
hewe,
At parlement, with-oute wordes more,
I-graunted was in change of Antenore. 665
96. The whiche tale anoon-right as Cri-
seyde
Had herd, she which that of hir fader
roughte,
- As in this cas, right nought, ne whanne
he deyde,
Ful bisily to Juppiter bisoughto Yeve him mischaunce that this tretis
broughte. 670
But shortly, lest these tales sothe were,
She dorste at no wight asken it, for fere ;
97. As she that hadde hir herte and al hir
minde
On Troilus y-set so wonder faste,
That al this world ne mighte hir love
unbinde, 675
Ne Troilus out of hir herte caste ;
She wol ben his, whyl that hir lyf may
laste.
And thus she brenneth bothe in love and
drede,
So that she niste what was best to redo.
98. But as men seen in toune, and al
aboute, 680
That women usen frendes to visyte,
So to Criseyde of women com a route
For pitous joye, and wenden hir delyte ;
And with hir tales, dere y-nough a myte,
These women, whiche that in the cite
dwelle, 685
They sette hem doun, and seyde as I shal
telle.
99. Quod first that oon, 'I am glad,
'trewely,
By-cause of yow, that shal your fader see.'
A-nother seyde, 'y-wis, so nam not I ;
For al to litel hath she with us be.' 690
Quod tho the thridde, 'I hope, y-wis, that she
Shal bringen us the pees on every syde,
That, whan she gooth, almighty god hir
gyde !'
100. The wordes and the wommannisse
thinges,
She herde hem right as though she thennes were ; 695
For, god it wot, hir herte on other thing
is,
Although the body sat among hem there.
Hir advertence is alwey elles-where ;
For Troilus ful faste hir soule soughte ;
With-uten word, alwey on him she
thoughte. 700

101. Thisse women, that thus wenden
 hir to plesse,
 Aboute nought gonne alle hir tales
 spende ;
 Swich vanitee ne can don hir non ese,
 As she that, al this mene whyle, brende
 Of other passioun than that they wende,
 So that she felte almost hir herte dye 706
 For wo, and wery of that companye.
102. For which no lenger mighte she restreyne
 Hir teres, so they gonnen up to welle,
 That yeven signes of the bitter peyne 710
 In whiche hir spirit was, and moste
 dwelle ;
 Remembring hir, fro heven unto which
 helle
 She fallen was, sith she forgoth the
 sighte
 Of Troilus, and sorowfully she sighte. 714
108. And thilke foles sittinge hir aboute
 Wenden, that she wepte and syked sore
 By-cause that she sholde out of that route
 Departe, and never pleye with hem mora.
 And they that hadde y-knowen hir of yore
 Seye hir so wepe, and thoughte it kinde-
 nesse, 720
 And eche of hem wepte eek for hir dis-
 tresse ;
104. And bisily they gonnen hir conforten
 Of thing, god wot, on which she litel
 thoughte ;
 And with hir tales wenden hir disporten,
 And to be glad they often hir bisoughte.
 But swich an ese ther-with they hir
 wroughte 726
 Right as a man is cesed for to fele,
 For ache of heed, to clawen him on his
 hele !
105. But after al this nyce vanitee
 They took hir leve, and hoom they wenten
 alle. 730
 Criseyde, ful of sorweful pitee,
 In-to hir chaumbre up wente out of the
 halle,
 And on hir bed she gan for deed to falle,
 In purpos never thennes for to ryse ;
 And thus she wroughte, as I shal you
 devyse. 735
106. Hir ounded heer, that sonnish was of hewe,
 She rente, and seek hir fingers longe and
 smale
 She wrong ful ofte, and bad god on hir
 rewe,
 And with the deeth to doon bote on hir
 bale.
 Hir hewe, whylom bright, that tho was pale, 740
 Bar witnes of hir wo and hir constreynte ;
 And thus she spak, sobbinge, in hir com-
 pleynte :
107. 'Alas!' quod she, 'out of this regioun
 I, woful wrecche and infortuned wight,
 And born in corsed constellacioun, 745 Mot goon, and thus departen fro my
 knight ;
 Wo worth, allas ! that ilke dayes light
 On which I saw him first with eyen
 tweyne,
 That causeth me, and I him, al this
 peyne !'
108. Therwith the teres from hir eyen
 two 750
 Doun fille, as shour in Aperill, ful swythe ;
 Hir whyte brest she bet, and for the wo
 After the deeth she cryed a thousand
 sythe,
 Sin he that wont hir wo was for to lythe,
 She mot for-goon ; for which disaventure
 She held hir-self a forlost creature. 756
109. She seyde, 'how shal he doon, and I also ?
 How sholde I live, if that I from him
 twinne ?
 O dere herte cek, that I love so,
 Who shal that sorwe sleen that ye ben
 inne ? 760
 O Calkas, fader, thyn be al this sinne !
 O moder myn, that cleped were Argyve, Wo worth that day that thou me bere on
 lyve !
110. To what fyn sholde I live and sorwen
 thus ?
 How sholde a fish with-oute water dure ?
 What is Criseyde worth, from Troilus ? 766

How sholde a plannte or lyves creature
Live, with-oute his kinde noriture?
For which ful oft a by-word here I seye,
That, "roteles, mot grene sone deye." 770

111. I shal don thus, sin neither swerd ne
darte

Dar I non handle, for the crueltee,
That ilke day that I from yow departe,
If sorwe of that nil not my bane be,
Than shal no mete or drinke come in
me 775

Til I my soule out of my breste unshethe;
And thus my-selven wol I do to dethe.

112. And, Troilus, my clothes everichoon Shul blake bean, in tokeninge, herte
swete,

That I am as out of this world agoon, 780
That wont was yow to setten in quiete;
And of myn ordre, ay til deeth me mete,
The observaunce ever, in your absence,
Shal sorwe bean, compleynte, and abstinence.

113. Myn herte and eek the woful goost
ther-inne 785

Biquethe I, with your spirit to compleyne
Eternally, for they shul never twinne.
For though in erthe y-twinned be we
tweyne,

Yet in the feld of pitee, out of payne,
That hight Elysos, shul we been y-ferre, 790
As Orpheus and Erudice his fere.

114. Thus herte myn, for Antenor, allas!
I sone shal be chaunged, as I wene.
But how shul ye don in this sorwful
cas,

How shal your tendre herte this sustene?
But herte myn, for-yet this sorwe and
tene, 796

And me also; for, soothly for to seye,
So ye wel fare, I recche not to deye.'

115. How mighte it ever y-red ben or y-songe,

The pleynte that she made in hir dis-
tresse? 800

I noot; but, as for me, my litel tonge,
If I discreven wolde hir heviness,
It sholde make hir sorwe seme lesse

Than that it was, and childishly deface
Hir heigh compleynte, and therefore I it
pace. 805

116. Pandare, which that sent from Troilus

Was to Criseyde, as ye han herd devyse,
That for the beste it was accorded thus,
And he ful glad to doon him that servyse,
Un-to Criseyde, in a ful secree wyse, 810
Ther-as she lay in torment and in rage,
Com hir to telle al hoodly his message.

117. And fond that she hir-selven gan to
trete

Ful pitously; for with hir salte teres
Hir brest, hir face y-bathed was ful
wete; 815

The mighty tresses of hir sonnish heres,
Unbroyden, hangen al aboute hir eres;
Which yaf him verray signal of martyre
Of death, which that hir herte gan
desyre.

118. Whan she him saw, she gan for sorwe
anoon 820

Hir tery face a-twixe hir armes hyde,
For which this Pandare is so wo bi-goon,
That in the hous he mighte unnethe
abyde,

As he that pitee felte on every syde.
For if Criseyde hadde erst compleyned
sore, 825

Tho gan she pleyne a thousand tymes
more.

119. And in hir aspre pleynte than she
seyde,

'Pandare first of joyes mo than two
Was cause causinge un-to me,' Criseyde,
That now transmued been in cruel
wo. 830

Wher shal I seye to yow "wel come" or
no,

That alderfirst me broughte in-to servyse
Of love, allas! that endeth in swich wyse?

120. Endeth than love in wo? Ye, or men lyeth! 834

And alle worldly blisse, as thinketh me,
The ende of blisse ay sorwe it occupyeth;
And who-so troweth not that it so be,

Lat him upon me, woful wrecche, y-see,
That my-self hate, and ay my birthe
acorsee,
Felinge alwey, fro wikke I go to worse.

121. Who-so me seeth, he seeth sorwe al
at ones, 841

Payne, torment, pleynte, wo, distresse.
Out of my woful body harm ther noon is,
As anguish, langour, cruel bitternessse,
A-noy, smert, drede, fury, and eek sik-
nesse. 845

I trowe, y-wis, from hevене teres reyne,
For pitee of myn aspre and cruel peyne !'

122. 'And thou, my suster, ful of discomfort,' 848

Quod Pandarus, 'what thenkestow to do?
Why ne hastow to thy-selven som resport,
Why woltow thus thy-selve, allas, for-do?
Leef al this werk and tak now hede to
That I shal seyn, and herkne, of good
entente,
This, which by me thy Troilus thee
sente.'

123. Tored hir tho Criseyde, a wo makinge 855

So greet that it a deeth was for to see :—
'Allas !' quod she, 'what wordes may ye
bringe ?

What wol my dere herte seyn to me,
Which that I drede never-mo to see? 859
Wol he have pleynte or teres, er I wende?
I have y-nowe, if he ther-after sende !'

124. She was right swich to seen in hir visage

As is that wight that men on bere binde ;
Hir face, lyk of Parady's the image,
Was al y-changed in another kinde. 865
The pleye, the laughtre men was wont to
finde

In hir, and eek hir joyes everychone,
Ben fled, and thus lyth now Criseyde
allone.

125. Aboute hir eyen two a purple ring Bi-trent, in sothfast tokninge of hir
peyne, 870

That to biholde it was a dedly thing,
For which Pandare mighte not restreyne

The teres from his eyen for to reyne.
But natheless, as he best mighte, he seydo
From Troilus this wordes to Criseyde. 875

126. 'Lo, nece, I trowe ye han herd al
how

The king, with othere lordes, for the
beste,

Hath mad eschaunge of Antenor and
yow,

That cause is of this sorwe and this
unreste.

But how this cas doth Troilus moleste, 880
That may non erthely mannes tonge
seye ;

For verray wo his wit is al aweye.

127. For which we han so sorwed, he
and I,

That in-to litel bothe it hadde us slawe ;
But thurgh my conseil this day, fynally,
He somwhat is fro weping now with-
drawe. 886

And semeth me that he dasyreth fawo
With yow to been al night, for to devyse
Remede in this, if ther were any wyse.

128. This, short and pleyne, th'effect of my message, 890

As ferforth as my wit can oomprehende,
For ye, that been of torment in swich rage,
May to no long prologe as now entende ;
And her-upon ye may answers him sende.
And, for the love of god, my nece dere,
So leef this wo er Troilus be here.' 896

129. 'Gret is my wo,' quod she, and sighte
sore,

As she that feleth dedly sharp distresse ;
'But yet to me his sorwe is muchel more,
That love him bet than he him-self,
I gesse. 900

Allas ! for me hath he swich hevinessse ?
Can he for me so pitously compleyne ?
Y-wis, this sorwe doubleth al my peyne.

130. Grevous to me, god wot, is for to twinne,'

Quod she, 'but yet it hardere is to me 905
To seen that sorwe which that he is inne ;
For wel wot I, it wol my bane be ;
And deye I wol in certayn,' tho quod she ;

'But bidde him come, or deeth, that thus me threteth,
Dryve out that goost, which in myn herte
beteth.' 910

181. These wordes seyde, she on hir armes
two

Fil gruf, and gan to wepe pitously.
Quod Pandarus, 'allas! why do ye so,
Syn wel ye wot the tyme is faste by,
That he shal come? Arys up hastely, 915
That he yow nat biwopen thus ne finde,
But ye wol han him wood out of his
minde!

182. For wiste he that ye ferde in this
manere,

He wolde him-selve slee; and if I wende
To han this fare, he sholde not come
here 920

For al the good that Pryam may despende.
For to what fyn he wolde anon pretende,
That knowe I wel; and for-thy yet I seye,
So leef this sorwe, or platly he wol deye.

183. And shapeth yow his sorwe for to abregge, 925

And nought encresse, leve nece swete; Beth rather to him cause of flat than egge,

And with som wysdom ye his sorwes bete.
What helpeth it to wepen ful a strete,
Or though ye bothe in salte teres dreynthe?
Bet is a tyme of cure ay than of pleynthe. 931

184. I mene thus; whan I him hider
bringe,

Sin ye ben wyse, and bothe of oon assent,
So shapeth how distourbe your goinge,
Or come ayen, sone after ye be went. 935
Wommen ben wyse in short avysement;
And lat sen how your wit shal now
avayle;
And what that I may helpe, it shal not
fayle.'

185. 'Go,' quod Criseyde, 'and uncle,
trewely,

I shal don al my might, me to restreyne
From weping in his sight, and bisily, 941
Him for to glade, I shal don al my peyne,
And in myn herte seken every veine;

If to this soor ther may be founden salve,
It shal not lakken, certain, on myn
halve.' 945

186. Goth Pandarus, and Troilus he
soughte,

Til in a temple he fond him allone,
As he that of his lyf no lenger roughte;
But to the pitouse goddes everichone Ful tendrely he preyde, and made his
mone, 950
To doon him sone out of this world to
pace;
For wol he thoughte ther was non other
grace.

187. And shortly, al the sothe for to seye,
He was so fallen in despeyr that day,
That outrely he shoop him for to deye. 955
For right thus was his argument alway:
He seyde, he nas but loren, waylawey!
'For al that comth, comth by necessitee;
Thus to be lorn, it is my destinee.

188. For certaynly, this wot I wel,' he
seyde, 960

'That for-sight of divyne purveyaunce
Hath seyn alwey me to for-gon Criseyde, Sin god seeth every thing, out of dout-
aunce,

And hem desponeth, though his orde-
naunce,
In hir merytes sothly for to be, 965
As they shul comen by predestinee.

189. But nathelees, allas! whom shal I
leve?

For ther ben grete clerkes many oon,
That destinee though argumentes preve;
And som men seyn that nedely ther is
noon; 970
But that free chois is yeven us everichoon.
O, welaway! so sleye arn clerkes olde,
That I not whos opinion I may holde.

140 For som men seyn, if god seth al
biforn,

Ne god may not deceyved ben, pardee, 975
Than moot it fallen, though men hadde it
sworn,

That purveyaunce hath seyn bifore to be.
Wherfor I seye, that from eterne if he

- Hath wist biforn our thought eek as our dede,
 We have no free chois, as these clerkes rede. 980
141. For other thought nor other dede also Might never be, but swich as purveyaunce,
 Which may not ben deceyved never-mo,
 Hath feled biforn, with-outen ignoraunce.
 For if ther mighte been a variaunce 985
 To wrythen out fro goddes purveyinge,
 Ther nere no prescience of thing cominge;
142. But it were rather an opinioun
 Uncerteyn, and no stedfast forseinge;
 And certes, that were an abusoun, 990
 That god shuld han no parfit cleer witinge
 More than we men that han doutous weninge.
 But swich an errour up-on god to gesse
 Were fals and foul, and wikked corsesed-
 nesse.
143. Eek this is an opinioun of somme 995
 That han hir top ful heighe and smothe
 y-shore;
 They seyn right thus, that thing is not to come
 For that the prescience hath seyn bifore
 That it shal come; but they seyn, that therfore
 That it shal come, therfore the purvey-
 aunce 1000
 Wot it biforn with-outen ignoraunce;
144. And in this manere this necessitee
 Retorneth in his part contrarie agayn.
 For needfully bihoveth it not to be
 That thilke thinges fallen in certayn 1005
 That ben purveyed; but nedely, as they
 seyn,
 Bihoveth it that thinges, whiche that
 falle,
 That they in certayn ben purveyed alle.
145. I mene as though I laboured me in
 this,
 To enqueren which thing cause of which thing be; 1010
 As whether that the prescience of god is
 The certayn cause of the necessitee
- Of thinges that to comen been, pardee;
 Or if necessitee of thing cominge
 Be cause certeyn of the purveyinge. 1015 146. But now ne enforce I me nat in shewinge
 How the ordre of causes stant; but wel
 wot I,
 That it bihoveth that the bifallinge
 Of thinges wist biforen certeynly
 Be necessarie, al seme it not ther-by 1020
 That prescience put fallinge necessaire
 To thing to come, al falle it foule or faire.
147. For if ther sit a man yond on a see,
 Than by necessitee bihoveth it
 That, certes, thyn opinioun soth be, 1025
 That wenest or conjectest that he sit;
 And ferther-over now ayenward yit,
 Lo, right so it is of the part contrarie,
 As thus; (now herkne, for I wol not
 tarie):
148. I seye, that if the opinioun of thee
 Be sooth, for that he sit, than seye I
 this, 1031
 That he mot sitten by necessitee;
 And thus necessitee in either is.
 For in him nede of sitting is, y-wis,
 And in thee nede of sooth; and thus, for-sothe, 1035
 Ther moot necessitee ben in yow bothe.
149. But thou mayst seyn, the man sit not therfore,
 That thyn opinion of sitting soth is;
 But rather, for the man sit ther bifore,
 Therefore is thyn opinion sooth, y-wis. 1040
 And I seye, though the cause of sooth of
 this Comth of his sitting, yet necessitee
 Is entrechaunged, bothe in him and thee.
150. Thus on this same wyse, out of doutaunce,
 I may wel maken, as it semeth me, 1045
 My resoninge of goddes purveyaunce,
 And of the thinges that to comen be;
 By whiche reson men may wel y-see,
 That thilke thinges that in erthe falle,
 That by necessitee they comen alle. 1050

151. For al-though that, for thing shal come, y-wis,
Therefore is it purveyed, certaynly,
Nat that it comth for it purveyed is :
Yet nathelless, bihoveth it nedfully,
That thing to come be purveyed, trewely ;
Or elles, thinges that purveyed be, 1056
That they bityden by necessitee.
152. And this suffyseth right y-now, carteyn,
For to destroye our free chois every del.—
But now is this abusio[n] to seyn, 1060
That fallinge of the thinges temporal
Is cause of goddes prescience eternal.
Now trewely, that is a fals sentence,
That thing to come sholde cause his prescience.
153. What mighte I wene, and I hadde swich a thought, 1065
But that god purveyeth thing that is to
come
For that it is to come, and elles nought ?
So mighte I wene that thinges alle and
some,
That whylom been bifalle and over-come,
Ben cause of thilke sovereyn purvey-
aunce, 1070
That for-wot al with-uten ignoraunce.
154. And over al this, yet seye I more herto,
That right as whan I woot ther is a
thing,
Y-wis, that thing mot nedefully be so ;
Eek right so, whan I woot a thing
coming, 1075
So mot it come ; and thus the bifalling
Of thinges that ben wist bfore the tyde,
They mowe not been eschewed on no
syde.'
155. Than seyde he thus, 'almighty Jove in trone,
That wost of al this thing the soothfast-
nesse, 1080
Rewe on my sorwe, or do me deye sone,
Or bring Criseyde and me fro this dis-
tresse.'
And whyl he was in al this heviness,
- Disputinge with him-self in this matere,
Com Pandare in, and seyde as ye may
here. 1085
156. 'O mighty god,' quod Pandarus, 'in
trone,
Ey ! who seigh ever a wys man faren so ?
Why, Troilus, what thenkestow to done ?
Hastow swich lust to been thyn owene fo ?
What, parde, yet is not Criseyde a-go ! 1090 Why lust thee so thy-self for-doon for
drede,
That in thyn heed thyn eyen semen dede ?
157. Hastow not lived many a yeer bi-
forn
With-uten hir, and ferd ful wel at ese ?
Artow for hir and for non other born ?
Hath kind thee wroughte al-only hir to
plesa ? 1096
Lat be, and thenk right thus in thydisee :
That, in the dees right as ther fallen
chaunces,
Right so in love, ther come and goon plesaunces.
158. And yet this is a wonder most of alle,
Why thou thus sorwest, sin thou nost not yit, 1101
Touching hir goinge, how that it shal
falle,
Ne if she can hir-self disturben it.
Thou hast not yet assayed al hir wit.
A man may al by tyme his nekke bede 1105
Whan it shal of, and sorwen at the nede.
159. For-thy take hede of that that I shal
seye ;
I have with hir y-spoke and longe y-be,
So as accorded was bitwixe us twaye.
And ever-mo me thinketh thus, that she Hath som-what in hir hertes prevetes,
Wher-with she can, if I shal right arede, Distorbe al this, of which thou art in
drede. 1113
160. For which my counsel is, whan it is
night,
Thou to hir go, and make of this an
ende ;
And blisful Juno, thourgh hir grete
mightes, 1116

- Shal, as I hope, hir grace un-to us sende.
Myn herte seyth, "carteyn, she shal not
wende;"
And for-thy put thyn herte a whyle in
reste; 1119
And hold this purpos, for it is the beste.'
161. This Troilus answerde, and sighte
sore,
'Thou seyst right wel, and I wil do right
so;'
And what him liste, he seyde un-to it
more.
And whan that it was tyme for to go,
Ful prevely him-self, with-outen mo, 1125
Un-to hir com, as he was wont to done;
And how they wroughte, I shal yow telle
sona.
162. Soth is, that whan they gonne first to mete, 1128
So gan the peyne hir hertes for to twiste,
That neither of hem other mighte grete,
But hem in armes toke and after kiste.
The lasse wofulle of hem bothe niste
Wher that he was, ne mighte o word out-bringe,
As I seyde erst, for wo and for sobbinge.
163. The woful teres that they leten
falle 1135
As bittre weren, out of teres kinde,
For peyne, as is ligne-aloës or galle.
So bittre teres weep nought, as I finde,
The woful Myrra through the bark and
rinde.
That in this world ther nis so hard an
herte, 1140
That nolde han rewed on hir peynes
smerte.
164. But whan hir woful wery gostes
tweyne
Retorned been ther-as hem oughte dwelle,
And that som-what to wayken gan the
peyne
By lengthe of pleynte, and ebben gan the
welle 1145
Of hire teres, and the herte unswelle,
With broken voyz, al hoors for-ahright,
Criseyde
To Troilus thise ilke wordes seyde:
165. 'O Jove, I deye, and mercy I be-
seche!
Help, Troilus!' and ther-with-al hir face Upon his brest she leyde, and loste
speche; 1151
Hir woful spirit from his propre place, Right with the word, alway up poynt to
pace.
And thus she lyth with hewes pale and
grene,
That whylom fresh and fairest was to
sene. 1155
166. This Troilus, that on hir gan biholde, Clinge hir name, (and she lay as for
deed,
With-oute answer, and felte hir limes
colde,
Hir eyen throwen upward to hir heed),
This sorwful man can now noon other
reed, 1160
But ofte tyme hir colde mouth he kiste;
Wher him was wo, god and him-self it
wiste!
167. He rist him up, and long streight he hir leyde;
For signe of lyf, for ought he can or
may,
Can he noon finde in no-thing on Cri-
seyde, 1165
For which his song ful ofte is 'weylaway!'
But whan he saugh that specheles she
lay,
With sorwful voyz, and herte of blisse al
bare,
He seyde how she was fro this world
y-fare!
168. So after that he longe hadde hir compleyned, 1170
His hondes wrong, and seyde that was to
seye,
And with his teres salte hir brest bireyned,
He gan tho teres wypen of ful dreye,
And pitously gan for the soule preye,
And seyde, 'O lord, that set art in thy
trone, 1175
Bewe eek on me, for I shal folwe hir
sone!'

169. She cold was and with-uten sente-
ment,
For aught he woot, for breeth ne felte he
noon ;
And this was him a preignant argument
That she was forth out of this world
agoon ; 1180
And whan he seigh ther was non other woon,
He gan hir limes dresse in swich manere
As men don hem that shul be leyd on bere.
170. And after this, with sterne and cruel
herte,
His swerd a-noon out of his shethe he twighte, 1185
Him-self to sleen, how sore that him
smerte,
So that his sowle hir sowle folwen mighte,
Ther-as the doom of Mynos wolde it dighte ;
Sin love and cruel Fortune it ne wolde,
That in this world he lenger liven sholde.
171. Thanne seyde he thus, fulfild of heigh deedayn, 1191
'O cruel Jove, and thou, Fortune adverse,
This al and som, that falsly have ye
slayn
Criseyde, and sin ye may do me no werse,
Fy on your might and werkes so diverse ! 1195
Thus cowardly ye shul me never winne ;
Ther shal no deeth me fro my lady twinne.
172. For I this world, sin ye han slayn hir
thus,
Wollete, and folowe hir spirit lowe or hye ;
Shal never lover seyn that Troilus 1200
Dar not, for fere, with his lady dye ;
For certeyn, I wol bere hir companye.
But sin ye wol not suffre us liven here,
Yet suffreth that our soules ben y-ferre.
173. And thou, citee, whiche that I leve in wo, 1205
And thou, Pryam, and bretheren al y-ferre,
And thou, my moder, farewell ! for I go ;
And Attopos, make redy thou my bere !
And thou, Criseyde, o swete herte dere,
Receyve now my spirit !' wolde he seye,
With swerd at herte, al redy for to deye.
174. But as god wolde, of swongh ther-with she abreyde, 1212
And gan to syke, and 'Troilus' she cryde ;
And he answerde, ' lady myn Criseyde,
Live ye yet ?' and leet his swerd doun
glyde. 1215
'Ye, herte myn, that thanked be Cupyde !'
Quod she, and ther-with-al she sore sighte ;
And he bigan to glade hir as he mighte ;
175. Took hir in armes two, and kiste hir
ofte,
And hir to glade he dide al his entente ;
For which hir goost, that flikered ay
on-lofte, 1221
In-to hir woful herte ayein it wente.
But at the laste, as that hir eyen glente
A-syde, anoon she gan his swerd aspye,
As it lay bare, and gan for fere crye, 1225
176. And asked him, why he it hadde out-drawe ?
And Troilus anoon the cause hir tolde,
And how himself ther-with he wolde have slawe.
For which Criseyde up-on him gan bi-
holde,
And gan him in hir armes faste folde, 1230
And seyde, 'O mercy, god, lo, which a
dede !
Allas ! how neigh we were bothe dede !
177. Thanne if I ne hadde spoken, as grace was,
Ye wolde han slayn your-self anoon ?'
quod she,
'Ye, douteless ;' and she answerde, 'allas !
For, by that ilke lord that made me, 1236
I nolde a forlong wey on-lyve han be,
After your deeth, to han be crowned quene
Of al the lond the sonne on shyneth shene.
178. But with this selve swerd, which that here is, 1240
My-selve I wolde have slayn !'—quod she
tho ;
'But ho, for we han right y-now of this,
And late us ryse and streight to bedde go,
And ther's lat vs spoken of our wo.
For, by the mortar which that I see
brenne, 1245
Knowe I ful wel that day is not fer henne.'

179. When they were in hir bedde, in armes folde,
Nought was it lyk the nightes here-biforn;
For pitously ech other gan biholde, 1249
As they that hadden al hir blisse y-lorn,
Biwaylinge ay the day that they were born.
Til at the last this sorrowful wight Criseyde
To Troilus these ilke wordes seyde:— 180. 'Lo, herte myn, wel wot ye this,
quod she, 1254
'That if a wight alwey his wo compleyne,
And seketh nought how holpen for to be,
It nis but folye and encrees of peyne;
And sin that here assembled be we tweyne
To finde bote of wo that we ben inne,
It were al tyme sone to biginne. 1260
181. I am a womman, as ful wel ye woot,
And as I am avyded sodeynly,
So wol I telle yow, whyl it is hoot.
Me thinketh thus, that neither ye nor I
Oughte half this wo to make skilfully. 1265
For there is art y-now for to redresse
That yet is mis, and sleen this hevynesse.
182. Sooth is, the wo, the whiche that we ben inne,
For ought I woot, for no-thing elles is
But for the cause that we sholden twinne.
Considered al, ther nis no-more amis. 1271
But what is thanne a remede un-to this,
But that we shape us sone for to mete?
This al and som, my dere herte swete.
183. Now that I shal wel bringen it
aboute 1275
To come ayain, sone after that I go,
Ther-of am I no maner thing in doute.
For dredeles, with-inne a wouke or two,
I shal ben here; and, that it may be so
By alle right, and in a wordes fewe, 1280
I shal yow wel an heap of weyes shewe.
184. For which I wol not make long sermoun,
For tyme y-lost may not recovered be;
But I wol gon to my conclusioun, 1284
And to the beste, in ought that I can see.
And, for the love of god, for-yeve it me
If I speke ought ayain your hertes reste;
For trewely, I speke it for the beste;
185. Makinge alwey a protestacioun,
That now these wordes, whiche that I shal
seye, 1290
Nis but to shewe yow my mocion,
To finde un-to our helpe the beste weye;
And taketh it non other wyse, I preye,
For in effect what-so ye me comaunde,
That wol I doon, for that is no demaunde.
186. Now herkeneth this, ye han wel
understonde, 1296
My going graunted is by parlement
So ferforth, that it may not be with-sonde
For al this world, as by my jugement.
And sin ther helpeth noon avysement 1300
To letten it, lat it passe out of minde;
And lat us shape a better way to finde.
187. The sothe is, that the twinnings of us tweyne
Wol us disece and cruelliche anye.
But him bihoveth som-tyme han a peyne,
That serveth love, if that he wol have
joye. 1306
And sin I shal no ferthere out of Troye
Than I may ryde ayein on half a morwe,
It oughte lasse causen us to sorwe:
188. So as I shal not so ben hid in muwe,
That day by day, myn owene herte dere,
Sin wel ye woot that it is now a truwe,
Ye shul ful wel al myn estat y-here. 1313
And er that truwe is doon, I shal ben here,
And thanne have ye bothe Antenor y-
wonne
And me also; beth glad now, if ye conne; 189. And thenk right thus, "Criseyde is now agoon, 1317
But what! she shal come hastely ayeyn;"
And whanne, allas? by god, lo, right
anoon,
Er dayes ten, this dar I sauffy seyn. 1320
And thanne at erste shul we been so fayn,
So as we shulle to-gederes ever dwelle,
That al this world ne mighte our blisse
telle.
190. I see that ofte, ther-as we ben now,
That for the beste, our conseil for to hyde,
Ye speke not with me, nor I with yow 1326
In fourteenight; ne see yow go ne ryde.

May ye not ten dayes thanne abyde,
For myn honour, in swich an aventure?
Y-wis, ye wouen elles lyte endure! 1330

191. Ye knowe eek how that al my kin is
here,

But-if that onliche it my fader be;
And eek myn othere thinges alle y-fere,
And nameliche, my dere herte, ye,
Whom that I nolde leven for to see 1335
For al this world, as wyd as it hath space;
Or elles, see ich never Joves face!

192. Why trowe ye my fader in this wyse
Coveiteth so to see me, but for drede 1339
Lest in this toun that folkes me dispyse
By-cause of him, for his unhappy dede?
What woot my fader what lyf that I lede?
For if he wiste in Troye how wel I fare,
Us neded for my wending nought to care.

198. Ye seen that every day eek, more and more, 1345

Men trete of pees; and it supposed is,
That men the quene Eleyne shal restore,
And Grekes us restore that is mis.
So though ther nere comfourt noon but
this, 1349

That men purposen pees on every syde,
Ye may the bettre at ese of herte abyde.

194. For if that it be pees, myn herte
dare,

The nature of the pees mot nedes dryve
That men moste entrecomunen y-fere,
And to and fro eek ryde and gon as blyve Alday as thikke as been fien from an
hyve; 1356

And every wight han libertee to bleve
Wher-as him list the bet, with-outen leve.

195. And though so be that pees ther may be noon,

Yet hider, though ther never pees ne
were, 1360

I moste come; for whider sholde I goon,
Or how mischaunce sholde I dwelle there
Among tho men of armes ever in fare?
For which, as wisly god my soule rede,
I can not seen wher-of ye sholden drede.

196. Have here another way, if it so be
That al this thing ne may yow not suffyse.

My fader, as ye knowen wel, pardee,
Is old, and elde is ful of coveityse.
And I right now have founden al the
gyse, 1370

With-oute net, wher-with I shal him
hente;
And herkeneth how, if that ye wole
assente.

197. Lo, Troilus, men seyn that hard it is The wolf ful, and the wether hool to have;
This is to seyn, that men ful ofte, y-wis, Mot spenden part, the remenaunt for to
save. 1376

For ay with gold men may the herte
grave

Of him that set is up-on coveityse;
And how I mene, I shal it yow devyse.

198. The moeble which that I have in this toun 1380

Un-to my fader shal I take, and seye,
That right for trust and for savacioun
It sent is from a freend of his or tweye,
The whiche freendes ferventliche him
preye

To senden after more, and that in hye,
Whyl that this toun stant thus in jupartye. 1386

199. And that shal been an huge quantitee,

Thus shal I seyn, but, lest it folk aspyde,
This may be sent by no wight but by me;
I shal eek shewen him, if pees bityde, 1390
What frendes that ich have on every syde Toward the court, to doon the wrathe
pace

Of Priamus, and doon him stonde in
grace.

200. So, what for o thing and for other,
swete,

I shal him so enchaunten with my sawes,
That right in hevене his sowle is, shal he
mete! 1396

For al Appollo, or his clerkes lawes,
Or calculinge awayleth nought three hawes;

Desyr of gold shal so his sowle blende,
That, as me lyst, I shal wel make an
ende. 1400

201. And if he wolde ought by his sort it
preve
If that I lye, in certayn I shal fonde Distorben him, and plukke him by the sleve,
Makinge his sort, and beren him on
honde,
He hath not wel the goddes understonde.
For goddes speken in amphibologyes, 1406
And, for a sooth, they tellen twenty lyes.
202. Eek drede fond first goddes, I suppose,
Thus shal I seyn, and that his coward
herte
Made him amis the goddes text to glose, Whan he for ferde out of his Delphos
sterre. 1411
And but I make him sone to converte,
And doon my reed with-inne a day or
tweye,
I wol to yow oblige me to deye.'
203. And treweliche, as writen wel I finde, That al this thing was seyde of good en-
tente; 1416
And that hir herte trewe was and kinde Towardes him, and spak right as she
mente,
And that she starf for wo neigh, whan
she wente,
And was in purpos ever to be trewe; 1420
Thus writen they that of hir werkes
knewe.
204. This Troilus, with herte and eres
spradde,
Herde al this thing devyssen to and fro;
And verraylich him semed that he hadde
The selve wit; but yet to lete hir go 1425
His herte misforyaf him ever-mo.
But fynally, he gan his herte wreste
To trusten hir, and took it for the besta.
205. For which the grete furie of his
penaunce
Was queynt with hope, and ther-with hem bitwene 1430
Bigan for joye the amoureuse daunce.
And as the briddes, whan the sonne is
shene,
Delyten in hir song in leves grene,
- Right so the wordes that they spake
y-fare
Delyted hem, and made hir hertes clere.
206. But natheles, the wending of Cri-
seyde, 1436
For al this world, may nought out of his
minde;
For which ful ofte he pitously hir preyde,
That of hir heste he might hir trewe
finde. 1439
And seyde hir, 'certes, if ye be unkinde,
And but ye come at day set in-to Troye,
Ne shal I never have hale, honour, ne
joye.
207. For al-so sooth as sonne up-rist on
morwe,
And, god! so wisly thou me, woful
wrecche, 1444
To reste bringe out of this cruel sorwe,
I wol my-selven slee if that ye drecche,
But of my deeth though litel be to recche,
Yet, er that ye me cause so to smerte,
Dwel rather here, myn owene swete herte!
208. For trewely, myn owene lady dere, Tho sleightes yet that I have herd yow
stere 1451
Ful shaply been to failen alle y-fere.
For thus men seyn, "that oon thenketh
the bere,
But al another thenketh his ledere."
Your sire is wys, and seyde is, out of drede,
"Men may the wyse at-renne, and not at-
rede." 1456
209. It is ful hard to halten unespied
Bifore a crepul, for he can the craft;
Your fader is in sleighte as Argus yed;
For al be that his moeble is him biraft,
His olde sleighte is yet so with him laft,
Ye shal not blende him for your woman-
hede, 1462
Ne feyne a-right, and that is al my drede.
210. I noot if pees shal ever-mo bityde;
But, pees or no, for earnest ne for game,
I woot, sin Calkas on the Grekes syde Hath ones been, and lost so foule his
name, 1467

- He dar no more come here ayein for
shame;
For which that weye, for ought I can
espye,
To trusten on, nis but a fantasye. 1470
211. Ye shal eek seen, your fader shal yow glose
To been a wyf, and as he can wel preche,
He shal som Greek so preyse and wel
alose,
That ravishen he shal yow with his
speche, 1474
Or do yow doon by force as he shal teche.
And Troilus, of whom ye nil han routhe,
Shal causeles so sterven in his trouthe!
212. And over al this, your fader shal despyse
Us alle, and seyn this citee nis but lorn;
And that th'assege never shal aryse, 1480
For-why the Grokes han it alle sworn Til we be slayn, and down our walles torn.
And thus he shal you with his wordes
fere,
That ay drede I, that ye wol bleve there.
213. Ye shul eek seen so many a lusty
knight 1485
A-mong the Grokes, ful of worthinesse,
And eche of hem with herte, wit, and
might
To plesen yow don al his besinesse,
That ye shul dullen of the rudenesse
Of us sely Trojanes, but-if routhe 1490
Remorde yow, or vertue of your trouthe.
214. And this to me so grevous is to
thinke,
That for my brest it wol my soule rende;
Ne dredeles, in me ther may not sinke
A good opinioun, if that ye wende; 1495
For-why your faderes sleights wol us
shende.
And if ye goon, as I have told yow yore,
So thank I nam but dood, with-oute more.
215. For which, with humble, trewe, and pitous herte, 1499
A thousand tymes mercy I yow preye;
So reweth on myn aspre paynes smarte,
- And doth somewhat, as that I shal yow
seye,
And lat us stele away bitwixe us tweye;
And think that folye is, whan man may
chese, 1504
For accident his substannce ay to lese.
216. I mene this, that sin we mowe er
day
Wel stele away, and been to-gider so,
What wit were it to putten in assay,
In cas ye sholden to your fader go,
If that ye mighte come ayein or no? 1510
Thus mene I, that it were a gret folye
To putte that sikernesse in jupartye.
217. And vulgarly to speken of substannce
Of tresour, may we bothe with us lede
Y-nough to live in honour and plesaunce,
Til in-to tyme that we shul ben dede;
And thus we may eschewen al this
drede.
For everich other wey ye can recorde, Myn herte, y-wis, may not ther-with acorde. 1519
218. And hardily, ne dredeth no poverté,
For I have kin and freendes elles-where
That, though we comen in our bare sherte,
Us sholde neither lakke gold ne gere,
But been honoured whyl we dwelten
there. 1524
And go we anoon, for, as in myn entente,
This is the beste, if that ye wole assente.'
219. Criseyde, with a syk, right in this
wyse 1527
Answerde, 'y-wis, my dere herte trewe,
We may wel stele away, as ye devyse,
And finde swiche unthrifty weyes newe;
But afterward, ful sore it wol us rewe.
And help me god so at my moste nede
As causeles ye suffren al this drede!
220. For thilke day that I for cherissinghe
Or drede of fader, or of other wight, 1535
Or for estat, delyt, or for weddinge
Be fals to yow, my Troilus, my knight, Saturnes daughter, Juno, thorough hir
might,
As wood as Athamante do me dwelle
Eternaly in Stix, the put of helle! 1540

221. And this on every god celestial
I swere it yow, and eek on eche goddesse,
On every Nymphe and deite infernal,
On Satyre and Fauny more and lesse,
That halve goddes been of wilderness ;
And Áttopos my threed of lyf to-breaste
If I be fals ; now trowe me if thou leste !

222. And thou, Simoys, that as an arwe
clere 1548
Thourgh Tróye rennest ay downward to the see,

Ber witness of this word that seyde is
here, 1550
That thilke day that ich untrewede be
To Troilus, myn owene herte free,
That thou retorne bakwarde to thy welle,
And I with body and soule sinke in helle !

223. But that ye speke, away thus for to go 1555
And leten alle your freendes, god for-
bede,
For any womman, that ye sholden so,
And namely, sin Troye hath now swich
nede
Of help ; and eek of o thing taketh hede,
If this were wist, my lif laye in balounce,
And your honour ; god shilde us fro mis-
chaunce ! 1561

224. And if so be that pees her-after take,
As alday happeth, after anger, game,
Why, lord ! the sorwe and wo ye wolden
make, 1564
That ye ne dorste come ayein for shame !
And er that ye jupartien so your name,
Beth nought to hasty in this hote fare ;
For hasty man ne wanteth never care.

225. What trowe ye the peple eek al
aboute 1569
Wolde of it seye ? It is ful light to arede.
They wolden seye, and swere it, out of
doute,
That love ne droof yow nought to doon
this dede,
But lust voluptuous and coward drede.
Thus were al lost, y-wis, myn herte dere,
Your honour, which that nowshyneth so
clere. 1575

226. And also thenketh on myn honestee,
That floureth yet, how foule I sholde it
shende,
And with what filthe it spotted sholde be,
If in this forme I sholde with yow wende.
Ne though I livede un-to the worldes
ende, 1580
My name sholde I never ayeinward
winne ;
Thus were I lost, and that were routhe
and sinne.

227. And for-thy slee with reson al this
hete ;
Men seyn, "the suffraunt overcometh,"
pardee ;
Eek "who-so wol han leef, he leef mot
lete ;" 1585
Thus maketh vertue of necessitee
By pacience, and thank that lord is he
Of fortune ay, that nought wol of hir
recche ;
And she ne daunteth no wight but a wreocche.

228. And trusteth this, that certes, herte
swete, 1590
Er Phebus suster, Lucina the shene,
The Lecun passe out of this Ariete,
I wol ben here, with-uten any wene.
I mene, as helpe me Juno, hevenes quene,
The tenthe day, but-if that deeth me
assayle, 1595
I wol yow seen, with-uten any fayle.'

229. 'And now, so this be sooth,' quod
Troilus,
'I shal wel suffre un-to the tenthe day,
Sin that I see that nede it moot be thus.
But, for the love of god, if it be may, 1600
So lat us stee prively away ;
For ever in oon, as for to live in reste, Myn herte seyth that it wol been the
beste.'

230. 'O mercy, god, what lyf is this ?'
quod she ; 1604
'Allas, ye slee me thus for verray tene !
I see wel now that ye mistrusten me ;
For by your wordes it is wel y-sena.
Now, for the love of Cynthia the shene,

Mistrust me not thus causeles, for routhe;
Sin to be trewe I have yow plight my
trouthe. 1610

231. And thanketh wel, that som tyme it is wit

To spende a tyme, a tyme for to winne;
Ne, pardes, lorn am I nought fro yow yit,
Though that we been a day or two
a-twinne.

Dryf out the fantasyes yow with-inne; 1615
And trusteth me, and leveth eek your
sorwe,
Or here my trouthe, I wol not live til
morwe.

232. For if ye wiste how sore it doth me
smerte,

Ye wolde cesse of this; for god, thou
wost,

The pure spirit wepeth in myn herte, 1620
To see yow wepen that I love most,
And that I moot gon to the Grekes ost.
Ye, nere it that I wiste remedye
To come ayein, right here I wolde dye!

233. But certes, I am not so nyce a wight
That I ne can imaginen a way 1626

To come ayein that day that I have hight.
For who may holde thing that wol a-way?
My fader nought, for al his queynte pley.
And by my thrift, my wending out of
Troye 1630

Another day shal torne us alle to joye.

234. For-thy, with al myn herte I yow beseke,

If that yow list don ought for my preyere,
And for the love which that I love yow
eke,

That er that I departe fro yow here, 1635
That of so good a comfort and a chere
I may yow seen, that ye may bringe at
reste

Myn herte, which that is at point to breste.

235. And over al this, I pray yow,' quod
she tho, 1639

'Myn owene hertes soothfast suffisaunce,
Sin I am thyn al hool, with-outen mo,
That whyl that I am absent, no plesaunce

Of othere do me fro your remembraunce.
For I am ever a-gast, for-why men rede,
That "love is thing ay ful of bisy drede."

236. For in this world ther liveth lady
noon, 1646

If that ye were untrewes, as god defende!
That so bitraysed were or wo bigoon
As I, that alle trouthe in yow entende.
And douteles, if that ich other wende,
I nere but deed; and er ye cause finde,
For goddes love, so beth me not un-
kinde.'

237. To this answerde Troilus and seyde,
'Now god, to whom ther nis no cause

y-wrye, 1654

Me glade, as wis I never un-to Criseyde,
Sin thilke day I saw hir first with ye,
Was fals, ne never shal til that I dye.
At shorte wordes, wel ye may me leve;
I can no more, it shal be founde at preve.'

238. 'Graunt mercy, goode myn, y-wis,'
quod she, 1660

'And blisful Venus lat me never sterve
Er I may stonde of plesaunce in degree
To quyte him wel, that so wel can deserve;
And whyl that god my wit wol me con-
serve,

I shal so doon, so trewe I have yow
founde, 1665

That ay honour to me-ward shal rebounde.

239. For trusteth wel, that your estat royal

Ne veyn delyt, nor only worthinesse
Of yow in werre, or torney marcial, 1669
Ne pompe, array, nobley, or eek richesse,
Ne made me to rewe on your distresse;
But moral vertue, grounded upon trouthe,
That was the cause I first hadde on yow
routhe!

240. Eek gentil herte and manhod that ye
hadde,

And that ye hadde, as me thoughte, in despyt 1675

Every thing that souned in-to badde,
As rudenesse and poeplish appetyt;
And that your reson brydled your delyt,

This made, aboven every creature,
That I was your, and shal, whyl I may
dure. 1680

241. And this may lengthe of yeres not
for-do,

Ne remuable fortune deface;
But Juppiter, that of his might may do
The sorwful to be glad, so yeve us grace,
Er nightes ten, to meten in this place,
So that it may your herte and myn suf-
fyse; 1686

And fareth now wel, for tyme is that ye
'ryse.'

242. And after that they longe y-pleyned
hadde,

And ofte y-kist and streite in armes folde,
The day gan ryse, and Troilus him
cladde, 1690

And rewfulliche his lady gan biholde,
As he that felte dethes cares colde.
And to hir grace he gan him recomaunde;
Wher him was wo, this holde I no demaunde. 1694

243. For mannes heed imaginen ne can,
Ne entendement considere, ne tonge
telle

The cruel peynes of this sorwful man,
That passen every torment down in
helle. 1698

For whan he sangh that she ne mighte
dwelle,

Which that his soule out of his herte
rente,

With-uten mora, out of the chaumbre
he wente. 1701

Explicit Liber Quartus.

BOOK V.

Incipit Liber Quintus.

1. Aprochen gan the fatal destinee
That Joves hath in disposicioun,
And to yow, angry Parcas, sustren three,
Committeth, to don execucioun;
For which Criseyde moste out of the
toun, 5
And Troilus shal dwelle forth in pyne
Til Lachesis his threed no lenger twyne.—

2. The golden-tressed Phebus heighe on-lofte

Thryes hadde alle with his bemes shene
The snowes molte, and Zephirus as ofte 10
Y-brought ayein the tendre leves grene,
Sin that the sone of Ecuba the quene
Bigan to love hir first, for whom his sorwe
Was al, that she departe sholde a-morwe.

3. Ful redy was at pryme Dyomede, 15
Criseyde un-to the Grekes ost to lede,
For sorwe of which she felte hir herte
blede,

As she that niste what was best to rede.
And trewely, as men in bokes rede,

Men wiste never womman han the care, so
Ne was so looth out of a toun to fare.

4. This Troilus, with-uten reed or lore,
As man that hath his joyes eek forlore,
Was waytinge on his lady ever-more
As she that was the soothfast crop and
more 25

Of al his lust, or joyes here-tofora.
But Troilus, now farewel al thy joye,
For shaltow never seen hir eft in Troye!

5. Soth is, that whyl he bood in this
manere,

He gan his wo ful manly for to hyde, 30
That wel unnethe it seen was in his
chere;

But at the yate ther she sholde oute
ryde

With certeyn folk, he hoved hir t'abyde,
So wo bigoon, al wolde he nought him
pleyna,

That on his hors unnethe he sat for
peyne. 35

6. For ire he quook, so gan his herte gnawe, Whan Diomedes on horse gan him dresse,
And seyde un-to him-self this ilke sawe,
'Allas,' quod he, 'thus foul a wroched-
nesse
Why suffre ich it, why nil ich it re-
dresse? 40
Were it not bet at ones for to dye
Than ever-more in langour thus to drye?
7. Why nil I make at ones riche and pore
To have y-nough to done, er that she go?
Why nil I bringe al Troye upon a rore? 45
Why nil I sleen this Diomedes also?
Why nil I rather with a man or two Stele hir a-way? Why wol I this endure?
Why nil I helpen to myn owene cure?'
8. But why he nolde doon so fel a dede,
That shal I seyn, and why him liste it spare : 51
He hadde in herte alwey a maner drede,
Lest that Criseyde, in rumour of this fare, Sholde han ben slayn; lo, this was al his
care.
And elles, certeyn, as I seyde yore, 55
He hadde it doon, with-outen wordes
more.
9. Criseyde, whan she redy was to ryde,
Ful sorwfully she sighte, and seyde
'allas!'
But forth she moot, for ought that may
bityde,
And forth she rit ful sorwfully a pas. 60
Ther nis non other remedie in this cas.
What wonder is though that hir sore
smerte,
Whan she forgoth hir owene swete herte?
10. This Troilus, in wyse of curteisye, With hauke on hond, and with an huge
route 65
Of knightes, rood and dide hir companye,
Passinge al the valey fer with-oute.
And farther wolde han riden, out of
doute,
Ful fayn, and wo was him to goon so
sone;
But torne he moste, and it was eek to
done. 70
11. And right with that was Antenor
y-come
Out of the Grekes oot, and every wight
Was of it glad, and seyde he was welcome.
And Troilus, al nere his herte light,
He peyned him with al his fulle might 75
Him to with-holde of wepinge at the
leste,
And Antenor he kiste, and made feste.
12. And ther-with-al he moste his leve
take,
And caste his eye upon hir pitously,
And near he rood, his cause for to make,
To take hir by the honde al sobrelly. 81
And lord! so she gan wepen tendrelly!
And he ful softe and sleightly gan hir
seye,
'Now hold your day, and dooth me not to
deye.'
13. With that his courser torded he
a-boute 85
With face pale, and un-to Diomedes
No word he spak, ne noon of al his route;
Of which the sone of Tydeus took hede,
As he that coude more than the crede
In swich a craft, and by the reyne hir
hente; 90
And Troilus to Troye homwarde he wente.
14. This Diomedes, that ladde hir by the brydel,
Whan that he saw the folk of Troye
aweye,
Thoughte, 'al my labour shal not been
on ydel,
If that I may, for somewhat shal I seye. 95
For at the worste it may yet shorte our
weye.
I have herd seyde, eek tymes twyës twelve,
'He is a fool that wol for-yete him-
selve.'"
15. But natheles this thoughte he wel
ynough,
'That certaynly I am aboute nought 100
If that I speke of love, or make it tough;
For douteles, if she have in hir thought Him that I gesse, he may not been y-brought

So sone away ; but I shal finde a mene,
That she not wite as yet shal what I
mene.' 105

16. This Diomeda, as he that coude his
good,
When this was doon, gan fallen forth in
speche
Of this and that, and asked why she stood

In swich disece, and gan hir eek biseche,
That if that he encrease mighte or eche 110
With any thing hir ese, that she sholde Comaunde it him, and seyde he doon it
wolde.

17. For trewely he swoor hir, as a knight,
That ther nas thing with whiche he mighte hir please,
That he nolde doon his peyne and al his
might 115
To doon it, for to doon hir herte an ese.
And preyede hir, she wolde hir sorwe
apece,
And seyde, 'y-wis, we Grekes con have
joye
To honouren yow, as wel as folk of Troye.'

18. He seyde eek thus, 'I woot, yow thinketh straunge, 120
No wonder is, for it is to yow newe, Th'acquaintaunce of these Trojanes to change,
For folk of Grece, that ye never knewe.
But wolde never god but-if as trewe
A Greek ye shulde among us alle finde 125
As any Trojan is, and eek as kinde.

19. And by the cause I swoor yow right, lo, now,
To been your freend, and helply, to my
might,
And for that more acquaintance eek of
yow
Have ich had than another straunger
wight, 130
So fro this forth I pray yow, day and
night,
Comaundeth me, howsore that me smerte,
To doon al that may lyke un-to your
herte ;

20. And that ye me wolde as your brother
trete,
And taketh not my frendship in despyt ;
And though your sorwes be for thinges
grete, 136
Noot I not why, but out of more respyt, Myn herte hath for to amende it greet delyt.
And if I may your harmes not redresse,
I am right sory for your hevynesse. 140

21. And though ye Trojans with us
Grekes wrothe
Han many a day be, alway yet, pardee,
O god of love in sooth we serven botha.
And, for the love of god, my lady free,
Whom so ye hate, as beth not wroth with
me. 145
For trewely, ther can no wight yow
serve,
That half so looth your wraththe wolde
deserve.

22. And nere it that we been so neigh the
tente
Of Calkas, which that seen us bothe
may,
I wolde of this yow telle al myn entente ;
But this enseled til another day. 151
Yeve me your hond, I am, and shal ben
ay,
God help me so, whyl that my lyf may
dure,
Your owene aboven every creature.

23. Thus seyde I never er now to womman
born ; 155
For god myn herte as wisly glade so,
I lovede never womman here-biforn
As paramours, ne never shal no mo.
And, for the love of god, beth not my fo ;
Al can I not to yow, my lady dere, 160
Compleyne aright, for I am yet to lere.

24. And wondreth not, myn owene lady
bright,
Though that I speke of love to you thus
blyve ;
For I have herd or this of many a wight, Hath loved thing he never saugh his
lyve. 165
Eek I am not of power for to stryve

Ayens the god of love, but him obeye
I wol alwey, and mercy I yow praye.

25. Ther been so worthy knightes in this
place, 169
And ye so fair, that everich of hem alle
Wol peynen him to stonden in your graca.
But mighte me so fair a grace falle,
That ye me for your servaunt wolde calle,
So lowly ne so trewely you serve
Nil noon of hem, as I shal, til I sterve.' 175

26. Criseide un-to that purpos lyte an-
swerde,

As she that was with sorwe oppressed so
That, in effect, she nought his tales herde,
But here and there, now here a word or
two.

Hir thoughte hir sorwful herte brast
a-two. 180

For whan she gan hir fader fer aspye, Wel neigh doun of hir hors she gan to sye.

27. But natheles she thonked Diomedé
Of al his travaile, and his goode chere,
And that him liste his friendship hir to
bede; 185

And she accepteth it in good manere,
And wolde do fayn that is him leef and
dere;

And trusten him she wolde, and wel she
mighte,

As seyde she, and from hir hors she
alighte.

28. Hir fader hath hir in his armes nome,
And tweyntye tyme he kiste his daughter
swete, 191

And seyde, 'O dere daughter myn, welcome!'

She seyde eek, she was fayn with him to
mete,

And stood forth mewet, mildé, and man-sueté.

But here I leve hir with hir fader dwelle,
And forth I wol of Troilus yow telle. 196

29. To Troye is come this woful Troilus.
In sorwe aboven alle sorwes smerte,
With felon look, and face dispitous.

Tho sodeinly doun from his hors he sterde, 200

And thorough his paleys, with a swollen
herte,

To chambre he wente; of no-thing took
he hede,

Ne noon to him dar speke a word for
drede.

30. And there his sorwes that he spared
hadde

He yaf an issue large, and 'deeth!' he
cryde; 205

And in his throwes frenetyk and madde
He cursed Jove, Appollo, and eek Cupyde,

He cursed Ceres, Bacus, and Cipryde,
His burthe, him-self, his fate, and eek
nature,

And, save his lady, every creatura. 210

31. To bedde he goth, and weyleth there and torneth

In furie, as dooth he, Ixion, in helle;
And in this wyse he neigh til day sojorneth.

But tho bigan his herte a lyte unswelle Thorgh teres which that gonnen up to
welle; 215

And pitously he cryde up-on Criseyde,
And to him-self right thus he spak, and
seyde:—

32. 'Wher is myn owene lady lief and
dere,

Wher is hir whyte brest, wher is it,
where?

Wher been hir armes and hir eyen clere,
That yesternight this tyme with me
were? 221

Now may I wepe allone many a tere,
And graspe aboute I may, but in this
place,

Save a pilowe, I finde nought t'enbrace.

33. How shal I do? Whan shal she com
aysyn? 225

I noot, allas! why leet ich hir to go?
As wolde god, ich hadde as tho be sleyn!
O herte myn, Criseyde, O swete fo!

O lady myn, that I love and no mo! 230
To whom for ever-mo myn herte I dowe;
See how I deye, ye nil me not rescowe!

84. Who seeth yow now, my righte lode-
sterre?
Who sit right now or stant in your presence?
Who can conforten now your hertes
werre?
Now I am gon, whom yeve ye audience?
Who speketh for me right now in myn
absence? 236
Allas, no wight; and that is al my care;
For wel wot I, as yvel as I ye fare.

85. How shulde I thus ten dayes ful
endure,
Whan I the firste night have al this
tene? 240
How shal she doon eek, sorwful creature?
For tendernesse, how shal she this sus-
tene, Swich wo for me? O pitous, pale, and
grene
Shal been your fresshe wommanliche face
For langour, er ye torne un-to this
place.' 245

86. And whan he fil in any slomeringes,
Anoon biginne he sholde for to grone,
And dremen of the dredfulleste thinges
That mighte been; as, mete he were
allone
In place horrible, makege ay his mone,
Or meten that he was amonges alle 251
His enemys, and in hir hondes falle.

87. And ther-with-al his body sholde
sterte,
And with the stert al sodeinliche awake,
And swich a tremour fele aboute his
herte, 255
That of the feer his body sholde quake;
And there-with-al he sholde a noyse
make,
And seme as though he sholde falle depe
From heighe a-lofte; and than he wolde
wepe,

88. And rewen on him-self so pitously, 260
That wonder was to here his fantasye.
Another tyme he sholde mightily
Conforte him-self, and seyn it was folye,
So causeles swich drede for to drye,

And eft biginne his aspre sorwes newe,
That every man mighte on his sorwes
rewe. 266

89. Who coude telle aright or ful dis-cryve
His wo, his pleynte, his langour, and his pyne?
Nought al the men that han or been on-
lyve.
Thou, redere, mayst thy-self ful wel
devyne 270
That swich a wo my wit can not defyne.
On ydel for to wryte it sholde I swinke,
Whan that my wit is very it to thinke.

40. On hevене yet the sterres were sene,
Al-though ful pale y-waxen was the
mone; 275
And whyten gan the orisonte shene
Al estward, as it woned is to done.
And Phebus with his rosy carte sone
Gan after that to dresse him up to fare,
Whan Troilus hath sent after Pandara.

41. This Pandare, that of al the day
biforn 281
Ne mighte have comen Troilus to see,
Al-though he on his heed it hadde y-sworn,
For with the king Pryam alday was he,
So that it lay not in his libertee 285
No-wher to gon, but on the morwe he
wente
To Troilus, whan that he for him senta.

42. For in his herte he coude wel devyne,
That Troilus al night for sorwe wook;
And that he wolde telle him of his pyne,
This knew he wel y-nough, with-oute
book. 291
For which to chaumbre streight the wey
he took,
And Troilus tho sobrelliche he grette,
And on the bed ful sone he gan him sette.

43. 'My Pandarus,' quod Troilus, 'the
sorwe 295
Which that I drye, I may not longe
endure.
I trowe I shal not liven til to-morwe;
For whiche I wolde alwey, on aventure,
To thee devyssen of my sepulture

The forme, and of my moeble thou dispone 300

Right as thee semeth best is for to done.

44. But of the fyr and flambe funeral
In whiche my body brenne shal to glede,
And of the feste and pleyes palestral 304
At my vigile, I pray thee take good hede
That al be wel; and offre Mars my stede,
My sward, myn helm, and, leve brother
dere,
My sheld to Pallas yef, that shyneth
clere.

45. The poudre in which myn herte ybrend shal torne,
That preye I thee thou take and it conservo 310

In a vessel, that men clepeth an urne,
Of gold, and to my lady that I serve,
For love of whom thus pitously I sterve,
So yeve it hir, and do me this plesaunce,
To preye hir kepe it for a remembraunce.

46. For wel I fele, by my maladye, 316
And by my dremes now and yore ago,
Al certainly, that I mot nedes dye.
The owle eek, which that hight Ascapילו,
Hath after me shrighit alle these nightes
two. 320

And, god Mercurie! of me now, woful
wrecche,
The soule gyde, and, whan thee list, it
fecche!

47. Pandare answerde, and seyde, 'Troilus,
My dere freend, as I have told thee yore,
That it is folye for to sorwen thus, 325
And causeles, for whiche I can no-more.
But who-so wol not trowen reed ne lore,
I can not seen in him no remedye,
But lete him worthen with his fantasye.

48. But Troilus, I pray thee tel me now,
If that thou trowe, er this, that any
wight 331

Hath loved paramours as wel as thou?
Ye, god wot, and fro many a worthy
knight

Hath his lady goon a fourtenight,
And he not yet made halvendel the
fare. 335

What nede is thee to maken al this care?

49. Sin day by day thou mayst thy-selven
see

That from his love, or elles from his wyf,
A man mot twinnen of necessitee,
Ye, though he love hir as his owene lyf; 340
Yet nil he with him-self thus maken
stryf.

For wel thow wost, my leve brother dere,
That alwey freendes may nought been
y-fare.

50. How doon this folk that seen hir loves wedded

By freendes might, as it bi-tit ful ofte, 345
And seen hem in hir spones bed y-bedded?
God woot, they take it wysly, faire and
softe.

For-why good hope halt up hir herte on-
lofte,

And for they can a tyme of sorwe endure;
As tyme hem hurt, a tyme doth hem
cure. 350

51. So sholdestow endure, and late slyde
The tyme, and fonde to ben glad and light.

Ten dayes nis so long not t' abyde.
And sin she thee to comen hath bihight,
She nil hir hestes breken for no wight. 355
For dred thee not that she nil finden weye
To come ayein, my lyf that dorste I leye.

52. Thy swevenes eek and al swich fantasye

Dryf out, and lat hem faren to mis-
chaunce;

For they procede of thy malencolye, 360
That doth thee fele in sleep al this pen-
aunce.

A straw for alle swevenes signifaunce!
God helpe me so, I counte hem not a
bene,
Ther woot no man aright what dremes
mene.

53. For prestes of the temple tellen this,
That dremes been the revelaciouns 366

Of goddes, and as wel they telle, y-wis,
That they ben infernals illusiouns;

And leches seyn, that of complexionis
Proceden they, or fast, or glotonye. 370

Who woot in sooth thus what they signifye?

54. Eek othere seyn that thorough impressiouns,

As if a wight hath faste a thing in minde,
That ther-of cometh swiche avisiouns;
And othere seyn, as they in bokes finde,
That, after tymes of the yeer by kinde, Men dreme, and that th'effect goth by the
mone; 377
But leve no dreem, for it is nought to
done.

55. Wel worth of drames ay thise olde
wyves,
And troweliche eek augurie of thise
foules; 380
For fere of which men wenen lese her
lyves,
As ravens qualm, or shryking of thise
oules.

To trowen on it bothe fals and foul is.
Allas, allas, so noble a creature
As is a man, shal drede swich ordure! 385

56. For which with al myn herte I thee
besече,
Un-to thy-self that al this thou foryive;
And rys up now with-oute more speche,
And lat us caste how forth may best be drive

This tyme, and eek how freshly we may live 390

Whan that she cometh, the which shal
be right sone;
God help me so, the beste is thus to done.

57. Rys, lat us speke of lusty lyf in Troye That we han lad, and forth the tyme
dryve;

And eek of tyme cominge us rejoye, 395
That bringen shal our bliasse nowso blyve;
And langour of these twyys dayes fyve
We shal ther-with so foryete or oppresse,
That wel unnethe it doon shal us duresse.

58. This toun is ful of lordes al aboute,
And trewes lasten al this mene whyle.
Go we pleye us in som lusty route 402
To Sarpedon, not hennes but a myle.
And thus thou shalt the tyme wel bigyle,
And dryve it forth un-to that blisful
morwe, 405
That thou hir see, that cause is of thy
sorwe.

59. Now rys, my dere brother Troilus;
For certes, it noon honour is to thee
To wepe, and in thy bed to jouken thus.
For trewely, of o thing trust to me, 410
If thou thus ligge a day, or two, or thre,
The folk wol wene that thou, for cowardyse,
Thee feynest syk, and that thou darst
not ryse.'

60. This Troilus answerde, 'O brother
dere,
This knowen folk that han y-suffred
payne, 415
That though he wepe and make sorwful
chere,
That feleth harm and smert in every veyne,
No wonder is; and though I ever pleyne,
Or alwey wepe, I am no-thing to blame,
Sin I have lost the cause of al my game.

61. But sin of fyne force I moot aryse,
I shal aryse, as sone as ever I may; 422
And god, to whom myn herte I sacrificyse,
So sende us hastely the tenthe day!
For was ther never fowl so fayn of May,
As I shal been, whan that she cometh in
Troye, 426
That cause is of my torment and my joye.

62. But whider is thy reed,' quod Troilus.
'That we may pleye us best in al this
toun?'

'By god, my conseil is,' quod Pandarus,
'To ryde and pleye us with king Sarpe-
doun.' 431
So longe of this they spoken up and doun,
Til Troilus gan at the laste assente
To ryse, and forth to Sarpedoun they
wente.

63. This Sarpedoun, as he that honourable Was ever his lyve, and ful of heigh
prowesse, 436
With al that mighte y-served been on table,
That deyntee was, al coste it greet
richesse,
He fedde hem day by day, that swich
noblesse,

As seyden bothe the moste and eek the
leste, 440

Was never er that day wist at any feste.

64. Nor in this world ther is non instrument

Delicious, through wind, or touche, or
corde,

As fer as any wight hath ever y-went,
That tonge tells or herte may recorde, 445
That at that feste it nas wel herd acorde;
Ne of ladies eek so fayr a companye
On daunce, er tho, was never y-seyn with
y8.

65. But what avayleth this to Troilus,
That for his sorwe no-thing of it roughte?

For ever in oon his herte pi8tous 451
Ful bisly Criseyde his lady soughte.

On hir was ever al that his herte thoughte.
Now this, now that, so faste imaginige,
That glade, y-wis, can him no festeyinge.

66. These ladies eek that at this feste
been, 456

Sin that he saw his lady was a-weye,
It was his sorwe upon hem for to seen,
Or for to here on instrumentz so pleye.
For she, that of his herte berth the keye,
Was absent, lo, this was his fantasye, 461
That no wight sholde make melodye.

67. Nor ther nas houre in al the day or
night,

Whan he was ther-as no wight mighte
him here,

That he ne seyde, 'O lufsom lady bright,
How have ye faren, sin that ye were
here? 466

Wel-come, y-wis, myn owene lady dere.'
But welaway, al this nas but a mase;
Fortune his howve entended bet to glase.

68. The lettres eek, that she of olde tyme
Hadde him y-sent, he wolde allone rede,
An hundred sythe, a-twixen noon and
pryme; 472

Refigurige hir shap, hir womanhede,
With-inne his herte, and every word and
dede

That passed was, and thus he droof to an
ende 475

The ferthe day, and seyde, he wolde
wende.

69. And seyde, 'leve brother Pandarus,
Intendestow that we shul her8 bleve
Til Sarpedoun wol forth congeyen us?
Yet were it fairer that we toke our leve.
For goddes love, lat us now sone at eve
Our leve take, and homward lat us torne;
For trewely, I nil not thus sojorne.' 483

70. Pandare answerde, 'be we comen hider

To fecchen fyr, and rennen hoom ayeyn?
God helpe me so, I can not tellen whider
We mighten goon, if I shal soothly seyn,
Ther any wight is of us more fayn
Than Sarpedoun; and if we hennes hye
Thus sodeinly, I holde it vilanye, 490

71. Sin that we seyden that we wolde
bleve

With him a wouke; and now, thus sodeinly,

The ferthe day to take of him our leve,
He wolde wondren on it, trewely! 494
Lat us holde forth our purpos fermely;
And sin that ye bihighten him to byde,
Hold forward now, and after lat us ryde.'

72. Thus Pandarus, with alle peyne and
wo,

Made him to dwelle; and at the woukes
ende,

Of Sarpedoun they toke hir leve tho, 501
And on hir wey they spedden hem to
wende.

Quod Troilus, 'now god me grace sende,
That I may finden, at myn hom-cominge, Criseyde comen!' and ther-with gan he
singe.

73. 'Ye, hasel-wode!' thoughte this Pan-
dare, 505

And to him-self ful softly he seyde,
'God woot, refreyden may this hote fare
Er Calkas sende Troilus Criseyde!'

But natheles, he japed thus, and seyde,
And swor, y-wis, his herte him wel
bihighte, 510

She wolde come as sone as ever she
mighte.

74. Whan they un-to the paleys were y-comen

Of Troilus, they doun of hors alighte,

And to the chambre hir wey than han they nomen.

And in-to tyme that it gan to nighte, 515
They spoken of Criseyde the brighte.

And after this, whan that hem bothe
leste,

They spedde hem fro the soper un-to
reste,

75. On morwe, as sone as day bigan to
clere,

This Troilus gan of his sleep t'abreyde, 520
And to Pandare, his owene brother dere,
'For love of god,' ful pitously he seyde,
'As go we seen the paleys of Criseyde ;
'For sin we yet may have namore feste,
So lat us seen hir paleys at the leste.' 525

76. And ther-with-al, his meynee for to
blende,

A cause he fond in toune for to go,
And to Criseydes hous they gonnene wende.
But lord ! this sely Troilus was wo !
Him thoughte his sorweful herte braste
a-two. 530

For whan he saugh hir dores sperred alle, Wel neigh for sorwe a-doun he gan to
falle.

77 Therwith whan he was war and gan
biholde

How shet was every windowe of the place,
As frost, him thoughte, his herte gan to
colde ; 535

For which with chaunged deedlich pale
face,

With-outen word, he forth bigan to pace ;
And, as god wolde, he gan so faste ryde,
That no wight of his contenance aspyde.

78. Than seyde he thus, 'O paleys desolat,
O hous, of houses whylom best y-ight,
O paleys empty and disconsolat, 542
O thou lanterne, of which queynt is the
light,

O paleys, whylom day, that now art night,
Wel oughtestow to falle, and I to dye, 545
Sin she is went that wont was us to gye !

79. O paleys, whylom croune of houses alle,
Enlumined with sonne of alle blisse !

O ring, fro which the ruby is out-falle,
O cause of wo, that cause hast been of lisse ! 550

Yet, sin I may no bet, fayn wolde I kisse
Thy colde dores, dorste I for this route ;
And fare-wel shryne, of which the seynt is oute !'

80. Ther-with he caste on Pandarnus his y8
With chaunged face, and pitous to biholde ;
And whan he mighte his tyme aright
aspye, 556

Ay as he rood, to Pandarus he tolde
His newe sorwe, and eek his joyes olde,
So pitously and with so dede an hewe,
That every wight mighte on his sorwe rew.

81. Fro thennesforth he rydeth up and
doun, 561
And every thing com him to remem-
braunce

As he rood forth by places of the toun
In whiche he whylom hadde al his ples-
saunce. 564

'Lo, yond saugh I myn owene lady daunce ;
And in that temple, with hir eyen clere,
Me caughte first my righte lady dere.

82. And yonder have I herd ful lustily
My dere herte laughe, and yonder pleye
Saugh I hir ones eek ful blisfully. 570

And yonder ones to me gan she seye,
"Now goode swete, love me wel, I preye."
And yond so goodly gan she me biholde,
That to the deeth myn herte is to hir holde.

83. And at that corner, in the yonder hous,
Herde I myn alderlevest lady dere 576
So wommanly, with voys melodious,
Singen so wel, so goodly, and so clere,
That in my soule yet me thinketh I here
The blisful soun ; and, in that yonder
place, 580
My lady first me took un-to hir grace.'

84. Thanne thoughte he thus, 'O blisful lord Cuppyde,

Whanne I the proces have in my memorie,
How thou me hast werreyed on every syde,
Men mighte a book make of it, lyk a storie.
What nede is thee to seke on me victorie,

Sin I am thyn, and hoolly at thy wille?
 What joye hastow thyn owane folk to
 spille? 588

85. Wel hastow, lord, y-wroke on me thyn
 ire,

Thou mighty god, and dredful for to greve!
 Now mercy, lord, thou wost wel I desire
 Thy grace most, of alle lustes leve. 592
 And live and deye I wol in thy bileve;
 For which I n'axe in guerdon but a bone,
 That thou Criseyde aysin me sende sone.

86. Distreyne hir herte as faste to retorne
 As thou dost myn to longen hir to see;
 Than woot I wel, that she nil not sojorne.
 Now, blisful lord, so cruel thou no be Un-to the blood of Troye, I preye thee, 600
 As Juno was un-to the blood Thebane,
 For which the folk of Thebes caughte hir
 bane.'

87. And after this he to the yates wente
 Ther-as Criseyde out-rood a ful good paas,
 And up and down ther made he many a wente, 605
 And to him-self ful ofte he seyde 'allas!
 From hennes rood my blisse and my solas!
 As wolde blisful god now, for his joye,
 I mighte hir seen aysin come in-to Troye.

88. 'And to the yonder hille I gan hir gyde,
 Allas! and there I took of hir my leve!
 And yond I saugh hir to hir fader ryde,
 For sorwe of which myn harte shal tocleve. 613
 And hider hoom I com when it was eve;
 And here I dwelle out-cast from alle joye,
 And shal, til I may seen hir eft in Troye.'

89. And of him-self imagined he ofte
 To ben defet, and pale, and waxen lesse
 Than he was wont, and that men seyde
 softe,
 'What may it be? who can the sothe
 gesse 620
 Why Troilus hath al this heviness?'
 And al this nas but his malencolye,
 That he hadde of him-self swich fantasye.

90. Another tyme imaginen he wolde
 That every wight that wente by the weye

Had of him rounthe, and that they seyen
 sholde, 626

'I am right sory Troilus wol deye.'
 And thus he droof a day yet forth or tweye.
 As ye have herd, swich lyf right gan he lede,
 As he that stood bitwixen hope and drede.

91. For which him lyked in his songes
 shewe 631
 Th'enceson of his wo, as he best mighte,
 And make a song of wordes but a fewe,
 Somwhat his woful herte for to lighte.
 And whan he was from every mannes
 sighte, 635
 With softe voys he, of his lady dere,
 That was absent, gan singe as ye may here.

92. 'O sterre, of which I lost have al the
 light,
 With herte soor wel oughte I to bewayle,
 That ever derk in torment, night by night,
 Toward my deeth with wind in stere I
 sayle; 641
 For which the tenthe night if that I fayle
 The gyding of thy bemes brighte an heure,
 My ship and me Caribdis wol devour.'

93. This song when he thus songen hadde,
 sone 645
 He fl aysin in-to his sykes olde;
 And every night, as was his wone to done,
 He stood the brighte mone to beholde,
 And al his sorwe he to the mone tolde;
 And seyde, 'y-wis, whan thou art horned
 newe, 650
 I shal be glad, if al the world be trewe!

94. I saugh thyn hornes olde eek by the
 morwe,
 Whan hennes rood my righte lady dere,
 That cause is of my torment and mysorwe;
 For whiche, O brighte Lucina the clere, 655
 For love of god, ren faste aboute thyspere!
 For whan thyn hornes newe ginne springe,
 Than shal she come, that may my blisse
 bringe!'

95. The day is more, and lenger every
 night,
 Than they be wont to be, him thoughte
 tho; 660

And that the sonne wente his course
unright

By lenger wey than it was wont to go ;
And seyde, 'y-wis, me dredeth ever-mo,
The sonnes sone, Pheton, be on-lyve,
And that his fadres cartamis he dryve.' 665

96. Upon the walles faste eek wolde he walke,

And on the Grekes ost he wolde see,
And to him-self right thus he wolde talke,
'Lo, yonder is myn owene lady free,
Or elles yonder, ther tho tentes be ! 670
And thennes comth this eyr, that is so sote,

That in my soule I fele it doth me bote.

97. And hardly this wind, that more and
more

Thus stoundemele encreseth in my face,
Is of my ladyes depe sykes sore. 675
I preve it thus, for in non othere place
Of al this toun, save onliche in this space,
Fele I no wind that souneth so lyk payne ;
It seyth, "allas ! why twinned be we
tweyne ?"

98. This longe tyme he dryveth forth right
thus, 680

Til fully passed was the nynthe night ;
And ay bi-syde him was this Pandarus,
That bisily dide alle his fulle might
Him to comforte, and make his herte light ;
Yevingehim hope alwey, the tenthemorwe
That she shal come, and stinten al his
sorwe. 686

99. Up-on that other syde eek was Cri-
seyde,

With women fewe, among the Grekes
stronge ;
For which ful ofte a day 'allas !' she seyde,
'That I was born ! Wel may myn herte
longe 690

After my deeth ; for now live I to longe !
Allas ! and I no may it not amende ;
For now is wors than ever yet I wende.

100. My fader nil for no-thing do me grace
To goon ayein, for nought I can him
queme ; 695

And if so be that I my terme passe,

My Troilus shal in his herte deme 697
That I am fals, and so it may wel seme.
Thus shal I have unthank on every syde ;
That I was born, so weylaway the tyde !

101. And if that I me putte in jupartye,
To stele away by nighte, and it bifalle
That I be caught, I shal be holde a spye ;
Or elles, lo, this drede I most of alle,
If in the hondes of som wreoche I falle,
I am but lost, al be myn herte trewe ; 700
Now mighty god, thou on my sorwe rewte !'

102. Ful pale y-waxen was hir brighte face,
Hir limes lene, as she that al the day Stood whan she dorste, and loked on the
place 710

Ther she was born, and ther she dwelt hadde ay.

And al the night wepinge, allas ! she lay.
And thus despeired, out of alle cure,
She ladde hir lyf, this woful creature.

103. Ful ofte a day she sighte eek for destresse, 715

And in hir-self she wente ay portrayinge
Of Troilus the grete worthynesse,
And alle his goodly wordes recordinge
Sin first that day hir love bigan to springe.
And thus she sette hir woful herte a-fyre
Thorough remembraunce of that she gan
desyre. 721

104. In al this world ther nis so cruel
herte

That hir hadde herd compleynen in hir
sorwe,

That nolde han wopen for hir peynes
smerte,

So tendrely she weep, bothe eve and morwe.
Hir nedede no teres for to borwe. 726

And this was yet the worste of al hir payne, Ther was no wight to whom she dorste hir
pleyne.

105. Ful rewfully she loked up-on Troye, Biheld the toures heighe and eek the
halles ; 730

'Allas !' quod she, 'the plesaunce and the
joye

The whiche that now al torned in-to galle is,

Have I had ofte with-inne yonder walles!
O Troilus, what dostow now,' she seyde;
'Lord! whether yet thou thanke up-on
Criseyde? 735

106. Allas! I ne hadde trowed on your lore,
And went with yow, as ye me radde er this!
Thanne hadde I now not syked half so sore.
Who mighte have seyde, that I had doon
a-mis

To stele away with swich on as he is? 740
But al to late cometh the letnarie,
Whan men the cors un-to the grave carie.

107. To late is now to speke of this matere;
Prudence, allas! oon of thyn eyen three
Me lakked alwey, er that I cam here; 745
On tyme y-passed, wel remembered me;
And present tyme eek coude I wel y-see.
But futur tyme, er I was in the snare, Coude I not seen; that causeth now my
care. 749

108. But natheles, bityde what bityde,
I shal to-morwe at night, by est or weste,
Out of this ost stele on som maner syde,
And go with Troilus wher-as him leste.
This purpos wol I holde, and this is beste.
No fors of wikked tonges janglerye, 755
For ever on love han wrecches had envye.

109. For who-so wole of every word take
hede,
Or rewlen him by every wightes wit,
Ne shal he never thryven, out of drede.
For that that som men blamen ever yit,
Lo, other maner folk commenden it. 761
And as for me, for al swich variaunce,
Felicitee clepe I my suffisaunce.

110. For which, with-outen any wordes mo,
To Troye I wol, as for conclusioun.' 765
But god it wot, er fully monthes two,
She was ful fer fro that entencioun.
For bothe Troilus and Troye tonn Shal knotteles through-out hir herte
slyde;
For she wol take a purpos for t'abyde. 770

111. This Diomede, of whom yow telle
I gan,
Goth now, with-inne him-self ay arguinge

With al the sleighte and al that ever he can,
How he may best, with shortest taryinge,
In-to his net Criseydes herte bringe. 775
To this entente he coude never fyne;
To fisshen hir, he leyde out hook and lynne.

112. But natheles, wel in his herte he
thoughte,
That she nas nat with-oute a love in Troye.
For never, sithen he hir thennes broughte, Ne coude he seen her laughe or make
joye. 781
He niste how best hir herte for t'acoye.
'But for t'assaye,' he seyde, 'it nought
ne greveth;
For he that nought n'assayeth, nought
n'acheveth.'

113. Yet seide he to him-self upon a night,
'Now am I not a fool, that woot wel how Hir wo for love is of another wight,
And here-up-on to goon assaye hir now?
I may wel wite, it nil not been my prow.
For wyse folk in bokes it expresse, 790
'Menshal not wowe a wight in hevinesse.'

114. But who-so mighte winnen swich
a flour
From him, for whom she morneth night
and day,
He mighte seyn, he were a conquerour.'
And right anon, as he that bold was ay,
Thoughte in his herte, 'happe, how happe
may, 796
Al sholde I deye, I wole hir herte seche;
I shal no more lesen but my speche.'

115. This Diomede, as bokes us declare,
Was in his nedes prest and corageous;
With sterne voys and mighty limes square,
Hardy, testif, strong, and chevalrous
Of dedes, lyk his fader Tidenus.
And som men seyn, he was of tunge large;
And heir he was of Calidoine and Arge. 805

116. Criseyde mene was of hir stature,
Ther-to of shap, of face, and eek of chere,
Ther mighte been no fairer creature.
And ofte tyme this was hir manere,
To gon y-tressed with hir heres clere 810

Down by hir coler at hir bak bihinde,
Which with a threde of gold she wolde
binde.

117. And, save hir browes joyned en y-fere,
Ther nas no lak, in ought I can espyen ;
But for to speken of hir eyen clere, 815
Lo, trewely, they writen that hir syen,
That Paradyss stood formed in hir yën.
And with hir riche beautee ever-more Strof love in hir, ay which of hem was
more.

118. She sobre was, eek simple, and wys
with-al, 820
The beste y-norished eek that mighte be,
And goodly of hir speche in general,
Charitable, estatliche, lusty, and free ;
Ne never-mo ne lakkede hir pitee ;
Tendre-herted, slydings of corage ; 825
But trewely, I can not telle hir age.

119. And Troilus wel waxen was in highte,
And complet formed by proporcoun
So wel, that kinde it not amenden mighte ;
Yong, fresshe, strong, and hardy as lyoun ;
Trewes as steel in ech condicioun ; 831
On of the beste enteched creature,
That is, or shal, whyl that the world may
dure.

120. And certainly in storic it is y-founde,
That Troilus was never un-to no wight, 835
As in his tyme, in no degree secunde
In durring don that longeth to a knight.
Al mighte a geaunt passen him of might,
His herte ay with the firste and with the
beste 839
Stod paregal, to durre don that him leste.

121. But for to tellen forth of Diomedé—
It fl that after, on the tenthe day,
Sin that Criseyde out of the citee yede,
This Diomedé, as fresshe as braunche in
May,
Com to the tente ther-as Calkas lay, 845
And feyned him with Calkas han to done ;
But what he mente, I shal yow telle sone.

122. Criseyde, at shorte wordes for to telle,
Welcomed him, and down by hir him sette ;
And he was ethe y-nough to maken dwelle.

And after this, with-outen longe lette, 851
The spyces and the wyn men forth hem
fette ;
And forth they speke of this and that
y-fere,
As freendes doon, of which som shal ye
here.

123. He gan first fallen of the werre in
speche 855
Bitwixe hem and the folk of Troye toun ;
And of th'assege he gan hir eek byseche,
To telle him what was hir opinioun.
Fro that demaunde he so descendeth doun
To asken hir, if that hir straunge thoughte
The Grekes gyse, and werkes that they
wroughte ? 861

124. And why hir fader tarieth so longe
To wedden hir un-to som worthy wight ?
Criseyde, that was in hir peynes stronge
For love of Troilus, hir owane knight, 865
As fer-forth as she conning hadde or
might,
Answerde him tho ; but, as of his entente,
It semed not she wiste what he mente.

125. But natheles, this ilke Diomedé
Gan in him-self assure, and thus he seyde,
' If ich aright have taken of yow hede, 871
Me thinketh thus, O lady myn, Criseyde,
That sin I first hond on your brydel
leyde,
Whan ye out come of Troye by the morwe,
Ne coude I never seen yow but in sorwa.

126. Can I not seyn what may the cause
be 876
But-if for love of som Troyan it were,
The which right sore wolde athinken me
That ye, for any wight that dwelleth
there,
Sholden spille a quarter of a tere, 880
Or pitously your-selven so bigyle ;
For dredelees, it is nought worth the
whyte.

127. The folk of Troye, as who seyth, alle and sone
In preson been, as ye your-selven see ;
For thennes shal not oon on-lyve come 885

For al the gold bitwixen sonne and see.
Trusteth wel, and understondeth me,
Ther shal not oon to mercy goon on-lyve,
Al were he lord of worldes twyës fyve !

128. Swich wreche on hem, for fecching of Eleyne, 890
Ther shal be take, er that we hennes
wande,
That Manes, which that goddes ben of
peyne,
Shal been agast that Grekes wol hem
shende.

And men shul drede, un-to the worldes
ende, 894
From hennes-forth to ravisshe any queene,
So cruel shal our wreche on hem be sene.

129. And but-if Calkas lede us with ambages,
That is to seyn, with double wordes slye, Swich as men clepe a "word with two visages," Ye shul wel knowen that I nought ne
lye, 900
And al this thing right seen it with your yë,
And that anon; ye nil not trowe how
sone;
Now taketh heed, for it is for to done.

130. What wene ye your wyse fader
wolde
Han yeven Antenor for yow anon, 905
If he ne wiste that the citee sholde Destroyed been? Why, nay, so mote
I goon!
He knew ful wel ther shal not scapen oon
That Troyan is; and for the grete fare,
He dorste not, ye dwalte lenger there. 910

131. What wole ye more, lufsom lady
dare?
Lat Troye and Troyan fro your herte
pace!
Dryf out that bittre hope, and make good
chere,
And clepe ayein the beantees of your face,
That ye with salte teres so deface. 915
For Troye is brought in swich a jupartye,
That, it to save, is now no remedya.

132. And thenketh wel, ye shal in Grekes
finde

A more parfitt love, er it be night,
Than any Troyan is, and more kinde, 920
And bet to serven yow wol doon his
might.

And if ye vouche sauf, my lady bright,
I wol ben he to serven yow my-selve,
Ye, lever than be lord of Greces twelve !'

133. And with that word he gan to waxen
reed, 925
And in his speche a litel wight he quook,
And caste a-eyde a litel wight his heed,
And stinte a whyle; and afterward awook,
And sobreliehe on hir he threw his look,
And seyde, 'I am, al be it yow no joye,
As gentil man as any wight in Troye. 931

134. For if my fader Tydeus, he seyde,
'Y-lived hadde, I hadde been, er this,
Of Calidoine and Arge a king, Criseyde!
And so hope I that I shal yet, y-wis. 935
But he was slayn, allas! the more harm
is,
Unhappily at Thebes al to rathes,
Polymites and many a man to scathe.

135. But herte myn, sin that I am your
man,
And been the ferste of whom I seehe
grace, 940
To serven you as hertely as I can,
And ever shal, whyl I to live have space,
So, er that I departe out of this place,
Ye wol me graunte, that I may to-morwe,
At bettre leyser, telle yow my sorwe.' 945

136. What shold I telle his wordes that he
seyde?
He spak y-now, for o day at the meste;
It preveth wel, he spak so that Criseyde
Graunted, on the morwe, at his requeste,
For to speken with him at the leste, 950
So that he nolde speke of swich matere;
And thus to him she seyde, as ye may
here:

137. As she that hadde hir herte on Troilus
So faste, that ther may it noon arace;
And straungely she spak, and seyde thus:

'O Diomedes, I love that ilke place 956
 Ther I was born; and Joves, for his
 grace,
 Deliver it some of al that doth it care!
 God, for thy might, so leve it wel to fare!

138. That Grekes wolde hir wratthe on Troys wreke, 960
 If that they mighte, I knowe it wel,
 y-wis.

But it shal not bifallen as ye speke;
 And god to-forn, and ferther over this,
 I wot my fader wys and redy is;
 And that he me hath bought, as ye me
 tolde, 965
 So dere, I am the more un-to him holde.

139. That Grekes been of heigh con-dicioun,
 I woot eek wel; but certain, men shal
 finde
 As worthy folk with-inne Troys toun,
 As conning, and as parfyt and as kinde,
 As been bitwixen Orcades and Inde. 971
 And that ye coude wel your lady serve,
 I trowe eek wel, hir thank for to deserve.

140. But as to speke of love, y-wis, she
 seyde,
 'I hadde a lord, to whom I wedded was,
 The whos myn herte al was, til that he
 deyde; 976
 And other love, as helpe me now Pallas,
 Ther in myn herte nis, ne never was.
 And that ye been of noble and heigh
 kinrede,
 I have wel herd it tellen, out of drede. 980

141. And that doth me to han so gret a
 wonder,
 That ye wol scornen any womman so.
 Eek, god wot, love and I be fer a-sonder;
 I am disposed bet, so mote I go,
 Un-to my deeth, to pleyne and maken
 wo. 985
 What I shal after doon, I can not seye;
 But trowely, as yet me list not pleye.

142. Myn herte is now in tribulacioun,
 And ye in armes bisy, day by day.
 Here-after, whan ye wonnen han the
 toun, 990

Paraunter, thanne so it happen may,
 That whan I see that I never er say,
 Than wole I werke that I never wroughte!
 This word to yow y-nough suffysen
 oughte.

143. To-morwe eek wol I speke with yow
 fayn, 995
 So that ye touchen nought of this matere.
 And whan yow list, ye may come here
 ayeyn;
 And, er ye gon, thus muche I seye yow
 here:
 As helpe me Pallas with hir heres clere,
 If that I sholde of any Greek han routhe,
 It sholde be your-selven, by my trouthe!

144. I sey not therfore that I wol yow
 love, 1002
 Ne I sey not nay, but in conclusioun,
 I mene wel, by god that sit above:—
 And ther-with-al she caste hir eyen
 doun,
 And gan to syke, and seyde, 'O Troys
 toun, 1006
 Yet bidde I god, in quiete and in reste
 I may yow seen, or do myn herte breste.'

145. But in effect, and shortly for to seye,
 This Diomedes al freshly newe ayeyn 1010
 Gan pressen on, and faste hir mercy
 preye; 1011
 And after this, the sothe for to seyn,
 Hir glove he took, of which he was ful
 fayn.
 And fynally, whan it was waxen eve,
 And al was wel, he roos and took his
 leve. 1015

146. The brighte Venus folwede and ay
 taughte
 The way, ther brode Phebus doun alighte;
 And Cynthea hir char-hors over-raughte
 To whirle out of the Lyon, if she mighte;
 And Signifer his candelessheved brighte, Whan that Criseyde un-to hir bedde
 wente 1021
 In-with hir fadres faire brighte tente.

147. Retorning in hir soule ay up and
 doun
 The wordes of this sodein Diomedes,

His greet estat, and peril of the toun, 1025
 And that she was allone and hadde nede
 Of freendes help; and thus bigan to brede

The cause why, the sothe for to telle,
 That she tok fully purpos for to dwelle.

148. The morwe com, and goostly for to
 speke, 1030

This Diomede is come un-to Criseyde,
 And shortly, lest that ye my tale breke,
 So wel he for him-selve spak and seyde,
 That alle hir sykes sore adoun he leyde.
 And fynally, the sothe for to seyne, 1035
 He refte hir of the grete of al hir peyne.

149. And after this the story telleth us,
 That she him yaf the faire baye stede,
 The which he ones wan of Troilus;
 And eek a broche (and that was litel
 nede) 1040

That Troilus was, she yaf this Diomede.
 And eek, the bet from sorwe him to releve,
 She made him were a pencil of hir sleve.

150. I finde eek in the stories elles-where, Whan through the body hurt was Dio-
 mede 1045

Of Troilus, tho weep she many a tere, Whan that she saugh his wyde woundes
 blede;
 And that she took to kepen him good
 hede,
 And for to hale him of his sorwes smerte.
 Men seyn, I not, that she yaf him hir
 herte. 1050

151. But trewely, the story telleth us,
 Ther made never womman more wo
 Than she, whan that she falsed Troilus.
 She seyde, 'allas! for now is clene a-go
 My name of trouthe in love, for ever-mo!
 For I have falsed oon, the gentileste
 That ever was, and oon the worthieste!

152. Allas, of me, un-to the worldes ende,
 Shal neither been y-writen nor y-songe
 No good word, for thise bokes wol me
 shende, 1060
 O, rolled shal I been on many a tonge!

Through-out the world my belle shal be
 ronge;
 And wommen most wol hate me of alle.
 Allas, that swich a cas me sholde falle!

158. They wol seyn, in as muche as in me is, 1065

I have hem doon dishonour, weylaway!
 Al be I not the firste that dide amis,
 What helpeth that to do my blame away?
 But sin I see there is no bettre way,
 And that to late is now for me to rewte,
 To Diomede algate I wol be trewe. 1071

154. But Troilus, sin I no better may,
 And sin that thus departen ye and I,
 Yet preye I god, so yeve yow right good
 day

As for the gentileste, trewely, 1075
 That ever I say, to serven feithfully,
 And best can ay his lady honour kepe:—
 And with that word she brast anon to
 wepe.

155. 'And certes, yow ne haten shal I never,

And freendes love, that shal ye han of
 me, 1080
 And my good word, al mighte I liven ever.
 And, trewely, I wolde sory be
 For to seen yow in adversitee.
 And giltelees, I woot wel, I yow leve;
 But al shal passe; and thus take I my
 leve.' 1085

156. But trewely, how longe it was bi-
 twene,

That she for-sook him for this Diomede,
 Ther is non auctor telleth it, I wene.
 Take every man now to his bokes hede;
 He shal no terme finden, out of drede.
 For though that he bigan to wowe hir
 sone, 1091
 Er he hir wan, yet was ther more to done.

157. Ne me ne list this sely womman
 chyde

Further than the story wol devyse.
 Hir name, allas! is published so wyde,
 That for hir gilt it oughte y-now suffyse.
 And if I mighte excuse hir any wyse,

For she so sory was for hir untrouthe,
Y-wis, I wolde excuse hir yet for routhe.

158. This Troilus, as I biforn have told, Thus dryveth forth, as wel as he hath
might. 1101

But often was his herte hoot and cold,
And namely, that ilke nynthe night,
Which on the morwe she hadde him
byhight

To come ayein : god wot, ful lital reste
Hadde he that night ; no-thing to slepe him leste. 1106

159. The laurer-crowned Phebus, with his
hete,
Gan, in his course ay upward as he wente,
To warmen of †th' est see the wawes wete ;
And Nisus doughter song with fresh en-
tente, 1110

Whan Troilus his Pandare after sente ;
And on the walles of the toun they
pleyde,
To loke if they can seen ought of Criseyde.

160. Til it was noon, they stoden for to
see

Who that ther come ; and every maner
wight, 1115

That cam fro fer, they seyden it was she,
Til that they coude knowen him a-right,
Now was his herte dul, now was it light ;
And thus by-japed stonden for to stare
Aboute nought, this Troilus and Pandare.

161. To Pandarus this Troilus tho seyde,
'For ought I wot, bi-for noon, sikerly,
In-to this toun ne comth nought here
Criseyde.

She hath y-now to done, hardily, 1124
To winnen from hir fader, so trowe I ;
Hir olde fader wol yet make hir dyne
Er that she go ; god yeve his herte pyne !'

162. Pandare answerde, 'it may wel be,
certeyn ;

And for-thy lat us dyne, I thee biseche ;
And after noon than mayst thou come
ayeyn.' 1130

And hoom they go, with-oute more
speche ;

And comen ayein, but longe may they
seche

Er that they finde that they after cape ;
Fortune hem bothe thenketh for to jape.

168. Quod Troilus, 'I see wel now, that
she 1135

Is taried with hir olde fader so,
That er she come, it wol neigh even be.
Com forth, I wol un-to the yate go.

These portours been unkonninge ever-mo ;
And I wol doon hem holden up the yate
As nought ne were, al-though she come late.' 1141

164. The day goth faste, and after that comth eve,

And yet com nought to Troilus Criseyde.
He loketh forth by hegge, by tree, by
greve,

And fer his heed over the wal he leyde.
And at the laste he torned him, and
seyde, 1146

'By god, I woot hir mening now, Pandare !
Al-most, y-wis, al newe was my care.

165. Now douteles, this lady can hir
good ;

I woot, she meneth ryden prively. 1150
I comede hir wysdom, by myn hood !

She wol not maken peple nyce Gaure on hir, whan she comth ; but softely

By nighte in-to the toun she thenketh
ryde.

And, dere brother, think not longe t'
abyde. 1155

166. We han nought elles for to doon,
y-wis.

And Pandarus, now woltow trowen me ?
Have here my trouthe, I see hir ! yond
she is.

Heve up thyn eyen, man ! maystow not
see ?'

Pandare answerde, 'nay, so mote I thee !
Al wrong, by god ; what seystow, man,
wher art ?' 1161

That I see yond nis but a fare-cart.'

167. 'Allas, thou seist right sooth,' quod
Troilus ;

'But hardely, it is not al for nought 1164

That in myn herte I now rejoyse thus.
It is ayein som good I have a thought.
Noot I not how, but sin that I was
wrought,
Ne felte I swich a confort, dar I seye;
She comth to-night, my lyf, that dorste
I leye!

168. Pandare answerde, 'it may be wel, y-nough'; ¹¹⁷⁰
And held with him of al that ever he
seyde;
But in his herte he thoughte, and softe
lough,
And to him-self ful sobrely he seyde:
'From hasel-wode, ther Joly Robin pleyde, Shal come al that that thou abydest
here; ¹¹⁷⁵
Ye, fare-wel al the snow of ferne yere!'

169. The wardain of the yates gan to calle
The folk which that with-oute the yates
were,
And bad hem dryven in hir bestes alle,
Or al the night they moste bleven there.
And fer with-in the night, with many a tere, ¹¹⁸¹
This Troilus gan hoomward for to ryde;
For wel he seeth it helpeth nought t'a-byda.

170 But natheles, hegladded him in this;
He thoughte he misaccounted hadde his day, ¹¹⁸⁵
And seyde, 'I understonde have al a-mis.
For thilke night I last Criseyde say,
She seyde, "I shal ben here, if that I
may,
Er that the mone, O dere herte swete!
The Lyon passe, out of this Ariete." ¹¹⁹⁰

171. For which she may yet holde al hir
biheste.
And on the morwe un-to the yate he
wente,
And up and down, by west and eek by
este,
Up-on the walles made he many a wente.
But al for nought; his hope alwey him
blente; ¹¹⁹⁵

For which at night, in sorwe and sykkes
sore
He wente him hoom, with-uten any
more.

172. This hope al clene out of his herte fedde,
He nath wher-on now lenger for to honge;
But for the peyne him thoughte his herte
bledde, ¹²⁰⁰
So were his throwes sharpe and wonder
stronge.
For when he saugh that she abood so
longe,
He niste what he juggen of it mighte,
Sin she hath broken that she him bi-
highte.

173. The thridde, ferthe, fifte, sixte day
After the dayes ten, of which I tolde,
Bitwixen hope and drede his herte lay,
Yet som-what trustinge on hir hestes olde.
But whan he saugh she nolde hir terme
holde,
He can now seen non other remedye, ¹²¹⁰
But for to shape him sone for to dye.

174. Ther-with the wikked spirit, god us
blesse,
Which that men clepeth wode jalousye,
Gan in him crepe, in al this heviness; ¹²²⁰
For which, by-cause he wolde sone dye,
He ne eet ne dronk, for his malencolye,
And eek from every companye he fledde;
This was the lyf that al the tyme he
ledde.

175. He so defet was, that no maner man Unnethe mighte him knowe ther he wente; ¹²²⁰
So was he lene, and ther-to pale and wan,
And fable, that he walketh by potente;
And with his ire he thus him-selven
shente.
And who-so axed him wher-of him smerte,
He seyde, his harm was al aboute his herte. ¹²²⁵

176. Pryam ful ofte, and eek his moder
dere,
His bretheren and his sustren gonne him
freyne

Why he so sorwful was in al his chere,
And what thing was the cause of al his
peyne?

But al for nought; he nolde his cause
pleyne, 1230

But seyde, he felte a grevous maladye
A-boute his herte, and fayn he wolde dye.

177 So on a day he leyde him down to
slepe,

And so bifel that in his sleep him
thoughte,

That in a forest faste he welk to wepe 1235
For love of hir that him these peynes
wroughte;

And up and down as he the forest soughte,
He mette he saugh a boor with snakes
grete,

That sleep ayein the bright sonnes hete.

178. And by this boor, faste in his armes
folde, 1240

Lay kissing ay his lady bright Criseyde:
For sorwe of which, whan he it gan
biholde,

And for despyt, out of his slepe he breyde,
And loude he cryde on Pandarus, and
seyde,

'O Pandarus, now knowe I crop and
rote! 1245

I nam but deed, ther nis non other bote!

179. My lady bright Criseyde hath me
bitrayed,

In whom I trusted most of any wight,
She elles-where hath now hir herte
apayed;

The blisful goddes, through hir grete
might, 1250

Han in my dreem y-shewed it ful right.
Thus in my dreem Criseyde I have
biholde'—

And al this thing to Pandarus he tolde.

180. 'O my Criseyde, allas! what subtil-
tee,

What newe lust, what beantee, what science, 1255

What wratthe of juste cause have ye to
me?

What gilt of me, what fel experience
Hath fro me raft, allas! thyn advertence?

O trust, O feyth, O depe assuraunce,
Who hath me raft Criseyde, al my ple-
saunce? 1260

181. Allas! why leest I you from hennes
go,

For which wel neigh out of my wit I
breyde?

Who shal now trowe on any othes mo?
God wot I wende, O lady bright, Criseyde,

That every word was gospel that ye seyde!
But who may bet bigylen, if him liste, 1266

Than he on whom men waneth best to
triste?

182. What shal I doon, my Pandarus, allas!

I fele now so sharpe a newe peyne,
Sin that ther is no remedie in this cas,

That bet were it I with myn hondes
tweyne 1271

My-selven slow, than alwey thus to pleyne.
For through my deeth my wo sholde han

an ende,
Ther every day with lyf my-self I shende.'

183. Pandare answerde and seyde, 'allas the whyle 1275

That I was born; have I not seyde er this,
That dremes many a maner man bigyle?

And why? for folk expounden hem a-mis.
How darstow seyn that fals thy lady is.

For any dreem, right for thyn owene
drede? 1280

Lat be this thought, thou canst no dremes
rede.

184. Paraunter, ther thou dremest of this boor,

It may so be that it may signifye
Hir fader, which that old is and eek hoor,

Ayein the sonne lyth, on poynt to dye, 1285
And she for sorwe ginneth wepe and crye,

And kisseth him, ther he lyth on the
grounde;

Thus shuldestow thy dreem a-right ex-
pounde.'

185. 'How mighte I thanne do?' quod
Troilus,

'To knowe of this, ye, were it never so
lyte?' 1290

'Now seystow wysly,' quod this Pandarus,
 'My reed is this, sin thou canst wel
 endyte,
 That hastely a lettre thou hir wryte,
 Thorough which thou shalt wel bringen it
 aboute,
 To knowe a sooth of that thou art in
 doute. 1295

186. And see now why; for this I dar wel
 seyn,
 That if so is that she untrewed be,
 I can not trowe that she wol wryte ayeyn.
 And if she wryte, thou shalt ful some see,
 As whether she hath any libertee 1300
 To come ayein, or elles in som clause,
 If she be let, she wol assigne a cause.

187. Thou hast not writen hir sin that
 she wente,
 Nor she to thee, and this I dorste leye,
 Ther may swich cause been in hir en-
 tente, 1305
 That hardely thou wolt thy-selven seye,
 That hir a-bood the beste is for yow tweye.
 Now wryte hir thanne, and thou shalt fele some
 A sothe of al; ther is no more to done.'

188. Acorded been to this conclusioun, 1310
 And that anon, these ilke lordes two;
 And hastely sit Troilus adoun,
 And rolleth in his herte to and fro,
 How he may best discryven hir his wo.
 And to Criseyde, his owene lady dere, 1315
 He wroot right thus, and seyde as ye may
 here.

189. 'Right freshe flour, whos I have been and shal,
 With-uten part of elles-where servyse,
 With herte, body, lyf, lust, thought, and
 al;
 I, woful wight, in every humble wyse 1320
 That tonge telle or herte may devyse,
 As ofte as maters occupyeth place,
 Me recomaunde un-to your noble grace.

190. Lyketh it yow to witen, swete herte,
 As ye wel knowe how longe tyme agoon
 That ye me lafte in aspre peynes smerte,

When that ye wente, of which yet bote
 noon 1327
 Have I non had, but ever wers bigoon
 Fro day to day am I, and so mot dwelle, While it yow list, of wele and wo my welle! 1330

191. For which to yow, with dredful
 herte trewe,
 I wryte, as he that sorwe dryfth to wryte,
 My wo, that every houre encreseth newe,
 Complaynyng as I dar or can endyte.
 And that defaced is, that may ye wite 1335
 The teres, which that fro myn eyen reyne,
 That wolde speke, if that they coude, and
 pleyne.

192. Yow first biseche I, that your eyen
 clere
 To look on this defouled ye not holde;
 And over al this, that ye, my lady dere,
 Wol vouches-sauf this lettre to biholde. 1341
 And by the cause eek of my cares colde,
 That sleeth my wit, if ought amis me
 asterte,
 For-yeve it me, myn owene swete herte.

193. If any servant dorste or oughte of
 right 1345
 Up-on his lady pitously compleyne, Than wene I, that ich oughte be that
 wight,
 Considered this, that ye these monthes
 tweyne
 Han taried, ther ye seyden, sooth to
 seyne,
 But dayes ten ye nolde in ost sojournes, 1350
 But in two monthes yet ye not retourne.

194. But for-as-muche as me mot nedes
 lyke
 Al that yow list, I dar not pleyne more,
 But humblyly with sorwful sykes syke;
 Yow wryte ich myn unresty sorwes sore,
 Fro day to day desyring ever-more 1356
 To knowen fully, if your wil it were,
 How ye han ferd and doon, whyl ye be
 there.

195. The whos wel-fare and hele eek god encesse 1359
 In honour swich, that upward in degree

It growe alwey, so that it never cesse ;
Right as your herte ay can, my lady free,
Devyse, I pray to god so mote it be.
And graunte it that ye sone up-on me
rewe

As wisly as in al I am yow trewe. 1365

196. And if yow lyketh knowen of the fare
Of me, whos wo ther may no wight dis-
cryve,

I can no more but, cheste of every care,
At wrytinge of this lettre I was on-lyve,
Al redy out my woful gost to dryve; 1370
Which I delaye, and holde him yet in
honde,

Upon the sight of matere of your sonde.

197. Myn eyen two, in veyn with which I see,

Of sorweful teres salte arn waxen welles ;
My song, in pleynte of myn adversitee ;
My good in harm ; myn ese eek waxen
helle is. 1376

My joye, in wo ; I can sey yow nought
elles,

But turned is, for which my lyf I waris,
Everich joye or ese in his contraria.

198. Which with your cominge hoom ayein to Troye 1380

Ye may redresse, and, more a thousand
sythe

Than ever ich hadde, encreesen in me joye.
For was ther never herte yet so blythe
To han his lyf, as I shal been as swythe
As I yow see ; and, though no maner
routhe 1385

Commeve yow. yet thinketh on your
trouthe.

199. And if so be my gilt hath deeth
deserved,

Or if you list no more up-on me see,
In guerdon yet of that I have you served,
Biseche I yow, myn hertes lady free, 1390
That here-upon ye wolden wryte me,
For love of god, my righte lode-sterre, Ther deeth may make an ende of al my
werre.

200. If other cause aught doth yow for to
dwelle, 1394

That with your lettre ye me recomforte ;

For though to me your absence is an helle,
With pacience I wol my wo comporte,
And with your lettre of hope I wol despote.

Now wryteth, swete, and lat me thus not
pleyne ;

With hope, or deeth, delivereth me fro
peyne. 1400

201. Y-wis, myn owene dere herte trewe,
I woot that, whan ye next up-on me see,
So lost have I myn hele and eek myn hewe,
Criseyde shal nought conne knowe me !
Y-wis, myn hertes day, my lady free, 1405
So thursteth ay myn herte to biholde
Your beautee, that my lyf unnethe I holde.

202. I sey no more, al have I for to seye
To you wel more than I telle may ; 1409
But whether that ye do me live or deye,
Yet pray I god, so yeve yow right good day.
And fareth wel, goodly fayre fresshe may,
As ye that lyf or deeth me may comaunde ;
And to your trouthe ay I me recomaunde

208. With hele swich that, but ye yeven
me 1415
The same hele, I shal noon hele have.

In you lyth, whan yow list that it so be,
The day in which me clothen shal my
grave.

In yow my lyf, in yow might for to save
Me from disese of alle peynes smerte ; 1420
And fare now wel, myn owene swete herte !
Le vostre T.'

204. This lettre forth was sent un-to Criseyde,

Of which hir answeere in effect was this ;
Ful pitously she wroot ayein, and seyde,
That al-so sone as that she might, y-wis,
She wolde come, and mende al that was
mis. 1426

And fynally she wroot and seyde him
thanne,
She wolde come, ye, but she niste whanne.

205. But in hir lettre made she swich
festes,

That wonder was, and swereth she loveth him best, 1430

Of which he fond but botmeles bihestes.

But Troilus, thou mayst now, est or west,
 Pye in an ivy leef, if that thee lest;
 Thus gooth the world; god shilde us fro
 mischaunce,
 And every wight that meneth trouth
 avaunce! 1435

206. Encreesen gan the wo fro day to night
 Of Troilus, for taryinge of Criseyde;
 And lessen gan his hope and eek his
 might,
 For which al down he in his bed him
 leyde;
 He ne eet, ne dronk, ne sleep, ne word he
 seyde, 1440
 Imagininge ay that she was unkinde;
 For which wel neigh he wex out of his
 minde.

207. This dreem, of which I told have eek
 biforn,
 May never come out of his remembrance;
 He thoughte ay wel he hadde his lady
 lorn, 1445
 And that Joves, of his purveyaunce,
 Him shewed hadde in sleep the significance
 Of hir untrouthe and his disaventure,
 And that the boor was shewed him in
 figure.

208. For which he for Sibille his suster
 sente, 1450
 That called was Cassandre eek al aboute;
 And al his dreem he tolde hir er he stente,
 And hir bisonghte assoilen him the doute
 Of the stronge boor, with tuskes stoute;
 And fynally, with-inne a litel stounde, Cassandre him gan right thus his dreem
 expounde. 1456

209. She gan first smyle, and seyde, 'O
 brother dere,
 If thou a sooth of this desyrest knowe,
 Thou most a fewe of olde stories here,
 To purpos, how that fortune over-throwe Hath lordes olde; through which, withinne a throwe, 1461 Thou wel this boor shalt knowe, and of what kinde
 He comen is, as men in bokes finde.

210. Diane, which that wrooth was and in ire
 For Grekes nolde doon hir sacrifyse, 1465
 Ne encans up-on hir auter sette a-fyre,
 She, for that Grekes gonne hir so dyspyse,
 Wrak hir in a wonder cruel wyse.
 For with a boor as greet as oxe in stalle
 She made up frete hir corn and vynes alle.

211. To slee this boor was al the contree
 reysed, 1471
 A-monges which ther com, this boor to see,
 A mayde, oon of this world the best
 y-preysed;
 And Meleagre, lord of that contree,
 He lovede so this freshe mayden free 1475
 That with his manhod, er he wolde stente,
 This boor he slow, and hir the heed he
 sente;

212. Of which, as olde bokes tellen us,
 Ther roos a contek and a greet envye;
 And of this lord descended Tydeus 1480
 By ligne, or elles olde bokes lye;
 But how this Meleagre gan to dye
 Thorough his moder, wol I yow not telle,
 For al to long it were for to dwelle.'

213. She tolde eek how Tydeus, er she
 stente, 1485
 Un-to the stronge citee of Thebes,
 To cleyne kingdom of the citee, wente,
 For his felawe, daun Polymites,
 Of which the brother, daun Ethyocles, Ful wrongfully of Thebes held the
 strengthe; 1490
 This tolde she by proces, al by lengthe.
214. She tolde eek how Hemonides asterte,
 Whan Tydeus slough fifty knightes stoute.
 She tolde eek al the prophesyes by herte,
 And how that sevene kinges, with hir
 route, 1495
 Bisegeden the citee al aboute;
 And of the holy serpent, and the welle,
 And of the furies, al she gan him telle.
215. Of Archimoris buryinge and the pleyes,
 And how Amphiorax fil through the
 grounde, 1500
 How Tydeus was slayn, lord of Argeyes,
 And how Ypomedoun in litel stounde Was dreynt, and deed Parthonope of
 wounde;
 And also how Cappanus the proude
 With thonder-dint was slayn, that cryde
 loude, 1505
216. She gan eek telle him how that either brother,
 Ethyocles and Polimyte also,
 At a scarmyche, eche of hem slough other,
 And of Argyves wepinge and hir wo;
 And how the town was brent she tolde
 eek tho, 1510
 And so descendeth down from gestes olde
 To Diomede, and thus she spak and tolde.
217. 'This ilke boor bitokneth Diomede, Tydeus sone, that down descended is Fro Meleagre, that made the boor to
 blede, 1515
 And thy lady, wher-so she be, y-wis,
 This Diomede hir herte hath, and she his.
 Weep if thou wolt, or leef; for, out of
 doute,
 This Diomede is inne, and thou art onto.'
218. 'Thou seyst nat sooth,' quod he,
 'thou sorceresse,
 With al thy false goost of propheaye! 1521
 Thou wenest been a greet devyneresse;
 Now seestow not this fool of fantasye
 Peyneth hir on ladyes for to lye?
 Away,' quod he, 'ther Joves yeve thee
 sorwe! 1525
 Thou shalt be fals, paraunter, yet to-
 morwe!
219. As wel thou mightest lyen on Alceste, That was of creatures, but men lye,
 That ever weren, kindest and the beste.
 For whanne hir housbonde was in jupartye 1530
 To dye him-self, but-if she wolde dye,
 She chees for him to dye and go to
 helle,
 And starf anoon, as us the bokes telle.' 220. Cassandre goth, and he with cruel
 herte 1534
 For-yat his wo, for angre of hir speche;
 And from his bed al sodeinly he sterte,
 As though al hool him hadde y-mad a
 leche. 1537
 And day by day he gan enquere and seche
 A sooth of this, with al his fulle cure;
 And thus he dryeth forth his aventure.
221. Fortune, whiche that permutacioun
 Of thinges hath, as it is hir committed
 Through purveyaunce and disposicioun
 Of heighe Jove, as regnes shal ben fittid Fro folk in folk, or whan they shal ben smitted, 1545
 Gan pulle away the fetheres brighte of
 Troye
 Fro day to day, til they ben bare of joye.
222. Among al this, the fyn of the parodie
 Of Ector gan approchen wonder blyve;
 The fate wolde his soule sholde unbodie,
 And shapen hadde a mene it out to dryve; Ayeins which fate him helpeth not to
 stryve; 1552
 But on a day to fighten gan he wende,
 At which, alas! he caughte his lyves
 ende.

223. For which me thinketh every maner
wight 1555

That haunteth armes oughte to biwayle
The deeth of him that was so noble
a knight;

For as he drough a king by th'aventayle,
Unwar of this, Achilles through the mayle
And through the body gan him for to ryve; 1560
And thus this worthy knight was brought of lyve.

224. For whom, as olde bokes tellen us,
Was maad swich wo, that tonge it may not telle;

And namely, the sorwe of Troilus, 1564
That next him was of worthinesse welle.
And in this wo gan Troilus to dwelle,
That, what for sorwe, and love, and for
unreste,

Ful ofte a day he bad his herte breste.

225. But natheles, though he gan him dispeyre, 1569

And dradde ay that his lady was untrewe,
Yet ay on hir his herte gan repeyre.
And as these lovers doon, he soughte ay
newe

To gete ayein Criseyde, bright of hewe.
And in his herte he wente hir excusinge,
That Calkas causede al hir tarynges. 1575

226. And ofte tyme he was in purpos
grete

Him-selven lyk a pilgrim to disgyse,
To seen hir; but he may not contrefete
To been unknowen of folk that weren
wyse, 1579

Ne finde excuse aright that may suffyse,
If he among the Grekes knowen were;
For which he weep ful ofte many a tere.

227. To hir he wroot yet ofte tyme al
newe

Ful pitously, he lefte it nought for slouthe,
Biseching hir that, sin that he was trewe,
†She wolde come ayein and holde hir
troutha. 1586

For which Criseyde up-on a day, for
routhe,

I take it so, touchinge al this matere,
Wrot him ayein, and seyde as ye may
here.

228. 'Cupydes sone, ensample of goodli-
hede, 1590

O swerd of knighthod, sours of gentillesse!
How mighte a wight in torment and in
drede

And heleeles, yow sende as yet gladnesse?
I hertelees, I syke, I in distresse; 1594
Sin ye with me, nor I with yow may dele,
Yow neither sende ich herte may nor hele.

229. Your lettres ful, the papir al y-pleynted,

Conseyved hath myn hertes piſtee;
I have eek seyn with teres al depeynted
Your lettre, and how that ye requeren me
To come ayein, which yet ne may not be.
But why, lest that this lettre founden
were, 1602

No mancioun ne make I now, for fere.

230. Grevous to me, god woot, is your
unreste,

Your haste, and that, the goddes ordenaunce, 1605

It semeth not ye take it for the beste.
Nor other thing nis in your remem-
braunce,

As thinketh me, but only your plesauce.
But beth not wrooth, and that I yow
biseche; 1609

For that I tarie, is al for wikked speche.

231. For I have herd wel more than I
wende,

Touchinge us two, how thinges han y-
stonde;

Which I shal with dissimulinge amende.
And beth nought wrooth, I have eek
understonde, 1614

How ye ne doon but holden me in honde.
But now no fors, I can not in yow geese
But alle trouthe and alle gentillesse.

232. Comen I wol, but yet in swich dis-
joynte

I stonde as now, that what yeer or what
day

That this shal be, that can I not apoynte.
But in effect, I prey yow, as I may, 1621
Of your good word and of your frendship
ay.

For trewely, whyl that my lyf may dure,
As for a freend. ye may in me assure.

233. Yet preyte I yow on yve! ye ne take,
That it is short which that I to yow
wryte; 1626

I dar not, ther I am, wel lettres make.
Ne never yet ne coude I wel endyte.
Eek greet effect men wryte in place lyte.
Th'entente is al, and nought the lettres
space; 1630

And fareth now wel, god have you in his
grace!

La vostre C.'

234. This Troilus this lettre thoughte al
straunge,

Whan he it saugh, and sorwefully he
sighte;

Him thoughte it lyk a kalendes of
change;

But fynally, he ful ne trowen mighte 1635
That she ne wolde him holden that she
highte;

For with ful yvel wil list him to leve
That loveth wel, in swich cas, though him greve.

235. But natheles, men seyn that, at the
laste, 1639

For any thing, men shal the sothe see;
And swich a cas bitidde, and that as faste,
That Troilus wel understood that she Nas not so kinde as that hir oughte be.
And fynally, he woot now, out of doute,
That al is lost that he hath been aboute.

236. Stood on a day in his malencolye 1646
This Troilus, and in suspicioun

Of hir for whom he wende for to dye.
And so bifel, that through-out Troye toun,
As was the gyse, y-bore was up and down
A maner cote-armure, as seyth the storie,
Biforn Deiphebe, in signe of his victorie,

237. The whiche cote, as telleth Lollus,
Deiphebe it hadde y-rent from Diomedes
The same day; and whan this Troilus 1655
It saugh, he gan to taken of it hede,
Avysing of the lengthe and of the brede,
And al the werk; but as he gan biholde,
Ful sodeinly his herte gan to colde.

238. As he that on the coler fond with-
inne 1660

A broche, that he Criseyde yaf that morwe
That she from Troye moste nedes twinne,
In remembrance of him and of his sorwe;
And she him leyde ayein hir feyth to
borwe 1664

To kepe it ay; but now, ful wel he wiste,
His lady nas no lenger on to triste.

239. He gooth him hoom, and gan ful some sende

For Pandarus; and al this newe chauce,
And of this broche, he tolde him word and ende, 1669

Compleyning of hir hertes variaunce,
His longe love, his trouthe, and his pen-
aunce;

And after deeth, with-outen wordes more,
Ful faste he cryde, his reste him to restore.

240. Than spak he thus, 'O lady myn
Criseyde,

Wher is your feyth, and wher is your
biheste? 1675

Wher is your love, wher is your trouthe?'
he seyde;

'Of Diomedes have ye now al this feste!
Allas, I wolde have trowed at the laste,
That, sin ye nolde in trouthe to me stonde,
That ye thus nolde han holden me in
honde! 1680

241. Who shal now trowe on any othes
mo?

Allas, I never wolde han wend, er this,
That ye, Criseyde, coude han chaunged so;
Ne, but I hadde a-gilt and doon amis, 1684
So cruel wende I not your herte, y-wis,
To slee me thus; allas, your name of
trouthe

Is now for-doon, and that is al my routhe.

242. Was ther non other broche yow liste
lete

To fefte with your newe love,' quod he, 1689
'But thilke broche that I, with teres wete,
Yow yaf, as for a remembrance of me?
Non other cause, allas, ne hadde ye
But for despyt, and eek for that ye mente
Al-outrely to shewen your entente!

243. Through which I see that clene out of your minde 1695
Ye han me cast, and I ne can nor may,
For al this world, with-in myn herte finde
T' unloven yow a quarter of a day!
In cursed tyme I born was, weylaway!
That ye, that doon me al this wo endure,
Yet love I best of any creature. 1701
244. Now god,' quod he, 'me sende yet the grace
That I may meten with this Diomedé!
And trewely, if I have might and space,
Yet shal I make, I hope, his sydes blede.
O god,' quod he, 'that oughtest taken hede
To fortheren trouthe, and wronges to punyce, 1707
Why niltow doon a vengeance on this
vyce?
245. O Pandare, that in dremes for to triste
Me blamed hast, and wont art ofte up-
breyde, 1710
Now maystow see thy-selve, if that thee
liste,
How trewe is now thy nece, bright Cri-
seyde!
In sondry formes, god it woot,' he seyde,
'The goddes shewen bothe joye and tene
In slepe, and by my dreme it is now sene.
246. And certaynly, with-oute more
speche, 1716
From hennes-forth, as ferforth as I may,
Myn owene deeth in armes wol I seche;
I recche not how sone be the day!
But trewely, Criseyde, swete may, 1720
Whom I have ay with al my might y-
served,
That ye thus doon, I have it nought
deserved.'
247. This Pandarus, that alle these thinges
herde,
And wiste wel he seyde a sooth of this,
He nought a word ayein to him answerde;
For sory of his frendes sorwe he is, 1726
And shamed, for his nece hath doon a-mis;
And stant, astoned of these causes tweye,
As stille as stoon; a word ne coude he
seye.
248. But at the laste thus he spak, and
seyde, 1730
'My brother dere, I may thee do no-more.
What shulde I seyn? I hate, y-wis,
Criseyde!
And god wot, I wol hate hir evermore!
And that thou me bisoughtest doon of
yore, 1734
Havinge un-to myn honour ne my reste
Right no reward, I dide al that thee leste.
249. If I dide ought that mighte lyken
thee,
It is me leef; and of this treson now,
God woot, that it a sorwe is un-to me!
And dredelees, for hertes ese of yow, 1740
Right fayn wolde I amende it, wiste I how.
And fro this world, almighty god I preye,
Delivere hir sone; I can no-more seye.' 250. Gret was the sorwe and pleynt of Troilus;
But forth hir cours fortune ay gan to
holde. 1745
Criseyde loveth the sone of Tydeus,
And Troilus mot wepe in cares colde.
Swich is this world; who-so it can bi-
holde,
In eche estat is litel hertes reste; 1749
God leve us for to take it for the beste!
251. In many cruel batayle, out of drede,
Of Troilus, this ilke noble knight,
As men may in these olde bokes rede,
Was sene his knighthod and his grete
might.
And dredelees, his ire, day and night, 1755
Ful cruelly the Grekes ay aboughte;
And alwey most this Diomedé he soughte.
252. And ofte tyme, I finde that they
mette 1758
With bloody strokes and with wordes grete,
Assayinge how hir speres weren whette;
And god it woot, with many a cruel hete
Gan Troilus upon his helm to-bete.
But natheles, fortune it nought ne wolde,
Of othereshond that either deyen sholde.—
253. And if I hadde y-taken for to wryte
The armes of this ilke worthy man, 1766

- Than wolde I of his batailles endyte.
But for that I to wryte first bigan
Of his love, I have seyde as that I can. 1769
His worthy dedes, who-so list hem here,
Reed Dares, he can telle hem alle y-ferre.
254. Bisechinge every lady bright of hewe,
And every gentil womman, what she be,
That al be that Criseyde was untrewre,
That for that gilt she be not wrooth with
me. 1775
Ye may hir gilt in othere bokes see ;
And gladlier I wol wryten, if yow leste,
Penelope's trouthe and good Alceste.
255. Ne I sey not this al-only for these men,
But most for women that bitraynsed he Through false folk ; god yeve hem sorwe,
amen ! 1781
That with hir grete wit and subtiltee
Bitraynsed yow ! and this comveeth me
To speke, and in effect yow alle I preye, Beth war of men, and herkeneth what
I seye !— 1785
256. Go, litel book, go litel myn tregedie,
Ther god thy maker yet, er that he dye,
So sende might to make in som comedie !
But litel book, no making thou n'envye,
But subgit be to alle poesye ; 1790
And kis the steppes, wher-as thou seest
pace
Virgile, Ovyde, Omer, Lucan, and Stace.
257. And for ther is so greet diversitee
In English and in wryting of our tonge,
So preye I god that noon miswryte thee,
Ne thee mismetre for defaute of tonge. 1796
And red wher-so thou be, or elles songe,
That thou be understonde I god beseche !
But yet to purpos of my rather speche.— 258. The wraththe, as I began yow for to
seye, 1800
Of Troilus, the Grekes boughten dere ;
For thousandes his hondes maden deye,
As he that was with-outen any pere,
Save Ector, in his tyme, as I can here.
But weylaway, save only goddes wille, 1805
Dispitously him slough the fiers Achille.
259. And whan that he was slayn in this
manere,
His lighte goost ful blisfully is went
Up to the holownesse of the seventh spere,
In convers letinge every element ; 1810
And ther he saugh, with ful avysment,
The erratik sterres, herkeninge armonye
With sownes fulle of hevenish melodye.
260. And down from thennes faste he gan
avyse 1814
This litel spot of erthe, that with the see Enbraced is, and fully gan despyse
This wretched world, and held al vanitee
To respect of the pleyn felicitee
That is in hevене above ; and at the laste, Ther he was slayn, his loking down he
caste ; 1820
261. And in him-self he longh right at the wo
Of hem that wepten for his deeth so faste ;
And dampned al our werk that folweth so
The blinde lust, the which that may not
laste, 1824
And sholden al our herte on hevене caste.
And forth he wente, shortly for to telle,
Ther as Mercurie sorted him to dwelle.— 262. Swich fyn hath, lo, this Troilus for
love,
Swich fyn hath al his grete worthinesse ;
Swich fyn hath his estat real above, 1830 Swich fyn his lust, swich fyn hath his
noblesse ;
Swich fyn hath false worldes brotelnesse.
And thus bigan his lovinge of Criseyde,
As I have told, and in this wyse he deyde.
263. O yonge fresshe folkes, he or she, 1835
In which that love up groweth with your
age,
Repeyareth boon from worldly vanitee,
And of your herte up-casteth the visage
To thilke god that after his image Yow made, and thinketh al nis but a fayre 1840
This world, that passeth sone as floures
fayre.
264. And loveth him, the which that right for love
Upon a cros, our sonles for to baye,

First starf, and roos, and sit in hevene
a-bove ;

For he nil falsen no wight, dar I seye, 1845
That wol his herte al hoolly on him leye.
And sin he best to love is, and most meke,
What nedeth feyned loves for to seke ?

265. Lo here, of Payens corsed olde rytes,
Lo here, what alle hir goddes may availle ;
Lo here, these wrecched worldes appet-tytes ; 1851

Lo here, the fyn and guerdon for travaille
Of Jove, Appollo, of Mars, of swich rascaille !

Lo here, the forme of olde clerkes speche
In poetrye, if ye hir bokes seche.— 1855

266. O moral Gower, this book I directe
To thee, and to the philosophical Strode,
To vouchen sauf, ther nede is, to correcte,

Of your benigneites and zeles gode.

And to that sothfast Crist, that starf on rode, 1860

With al myn herte of mercy ever I preye ;
And to the lord right thus I speke and
seye :

267. Thou oon, and two, and three, eterne on-lyve,

That regnest ay in three and two and
oon,

Uncircumscrip, and al mayst circumsoryve, 1865

Us from visible and invisible foon
Defende ; and to thy mercy, everychoon,
So make us, Jesus, for thy grace, digne,
For love of mayde and moder thyn benigne ! Amen.

Explicit Liber Troili et Criseydis.

THE HOUS OF FAME.

BOOK I.

God turne us every dreem to gode !	That no man may him bote bede ;
For hit is wonder, by the rode,	Or elles, that devocioun
To my wit, what causeth swevenes	Of somme, and contemplacioun
Either on morwes, or on evenes ;	Causeth swiche dremes ofte ;
And why th'effect folweth of somme,	Or that the cruel lyf unsofte
And of somme hit shal never come ;	Which these ilke lovers leden
Why that is an avisioun,	That hopen over muche or dreden,
And †this a revelacioun ;	That purely hir impressiouns
Why this a dreem, why that a sweven,	Causeth hem avisiouns ;
And nat to every man liche even ;	Or if that spirits have the might
Why this a fantom, †these oracles,	To make folk to dreme a-night ;
I noot ; but who-so of these miracles	Or if the soule, of propre kinde,
The causes knoweth bet than I,	Be so parfit, as men finde,
Devyne he ; for I certainly	That hit forwot that is to come,
Ne can hem noght, ne never thinke	And that hit warneth alle and somme
To besily my wit to swinke,	Of everiche of hir aventures
To knowe of hir signifaunce	By avisiouns, or by figures,
The gendres, neither the distaunce	But that our flesh ne hath no might
Of tymes of hem, ne the causes	To understonden hit aright,
For-why this †more than that cause is ;	For hit is warned to derkly ;—
As if folkes complexiouns	But why the cause is, noght wot I.
Make hem dreme of reflexiouns ;	Wel worthe, of this thing, grete clerkes,
Or elles thus, as other sayn,	That trete of this and other werkes ;
For to greet feblenesse of †brayn,	For I of noon opinioun
By abstinence, or by seeknesse,	Nil as now make mencioun,
Prison, stewe, or greet distresse ;	But only that the holy rode
Or elles by disordinaunce	Turne us every dreem to gode !
Of naturel acustomaunce,	For never, sith that I was born,
That som man is to curious	Ne no man elles, me biforn,
In studie, or melancolious,	Mette, I trowe stedfastly,
Or thus, so inly ful of drede,	So wonderful a dreem as I

The tenthe day [dide] of Decembre,
The which, as I can now remembre,
I wol yow tallen every del.

The Invocation.

But at my ginning, trusteth wel,
I wol make invocacioun,
With special devocioun,
Unto the god of slepe anon,
That dwalleth in a cave of stoon 70
Upon a stream that comth fro Lete,
That is a flood of helle unswete;
Besyde a folk men clepe Cimerie,
Ther slepeth ay this god unmerie
With his slepy thousand sones 75
That alway for to slepe hir wone is—
And to this god, that I of rede,
Preye I, that he wol me spede
My sweven for to telle aright,
If every dream stonde in his might. 80
And he, that mover is of al
That is and was, and ever shal,
So yive hem joye that hit here
Of alle that they dreme to-yere,
And for to stonden alle in grace 85
Of hir loves, or in what place
That hem wer levest for to stonde,
And shelde hem fro †povert and shonde,
And for unhappe and ech disese,
And sende hem al that may hem plesse, 90
That take hit wel, and scorne hit noght,
Ne hit misdemen in her thought
Through malicious entencioun.
And who-so, through presumpcioun,
Or hate or scorne, or through envye, 95
Dispyt, or jape, or vilanye,
Misdeme hit, preye I Jesus god
That (dreme he barfoot, dreme he shod),
That every harm that any man
Hath had, sith [that] the world began, 100
Befalle him therof, or he sterve,
And graunte he mote hit ful deserve,
Lo! with swich a conclusioun
As had of his avisioun
Cresus, that was king of Lyde, 105
That high upon a gebet dyde!
This prayer shal he have of me;
I am no bet in charite!
Now herkne, as I have you seyde,
What that I mette, or I abreyde. 110

The Dream.

Of Decembre the tenthe day,
Whan hit was night, to slepe I lay
Right ther as I was wont to done,
And fl on slepe wonder sone,
As he that verry was for-go 115
On pilgrimage myles two
To the corseynt Leonard,
To make lythe of that was hard.
But as I †sleep, me mette I was Within a temple y-mad of glas; 120
In whiche ther were mo images
Of gold, stondinge in sondry stages,
And mo riche tabernacles,
And with perree mo pinacles,
And mo curious portreytures, 125
And queynte maner of figures
Of olde werke, then I saw ever.
For certeynly, I niste never Wher that I was, but wel wiste I,
Hit was of Venus redely, 130
The temple; for, in portreyture,
I saw anon-right hir figure
Naked fletinge in a see.
And also on hir heed, pardee,
Hir rose-garland whyt and reed, 135
And hir comb to kembe hir heed,
Hir dowves, and daun Cupido,
Hir blinde sone, and Vulcano,
That in his face was ful broun.
But as I romed up and down, 140
I fond that on a wal ther was Thus writen, on a table of bras:
'I wol now singe, if that I can,
The armes, and al-so the man,
That first cam, through his destinee, 145
Fugitif of Troye contree,
In Itaille, with ful moche pyne,
Unto the strondes of Lavyne.'
And tho began the story anon,
As I shal telle yow echoon. 150
First saw I the destruccioun
Of Troye, through the Greek Sinoun,
[That] with his false forsweringe,
And his chere and his lesinge
Made the hors brought into Troye, 155
Thorgh which Troyens loste al hir joye.
And after this was grave, allas!
How Ilioun assailed was
And wonne, and king Priam y-alayn,

- And Polites his sone, certayn, 160
 Dispitously, of dan Pirrus.
 And next that saw I how Venus,
 Whan that she saw the castel brende,
 Doun fro the hevene gan descende,
 And bad hir sone Eneas flee ; 165
 And how he fledde, and how that he Escaped was from al the pres,
 And took his fader, Anchises,
 And bar him on his bakke away,
 Cryinge, 'Allas, and welaway !' 170
 The whiche Anchises in his honde
 Bar the goddess of the londe, Thilke that unbrende were.
 And I saw next, in alle this fere,
 How Creusa, daun Eneas wyf,
 Which that he lovede as his lyf,
 And hir yonge sone Iulo,
 And eek Ascanius also,
 Fledden eek with drery chere,
 That hit was pitee for to here ; 180
 And in a forest, as they wente,
 At a turninge of a wente,
 How Creusa was y-lost, allas !
 That deed, [but] noot I how, she was ;
 How he hir soughte, and how hir gost 185
 Bad him to flee the Grekes ost,
 And seyde, he moste unto Itaille,
 As was his destinee, sauns faille ;
 That hit was pitee for to here,
 Whan hir spirit gan appere, 190
 The wordes that she to him seyde,
 And for to kepe hir sone him preyde.
 Ther saw I graven eek how he,
 His fader eek, and his meynee,
 With his shippes gan to sayle 195
 Toward the contree of Itaille,
 As streight as that they mighte go.
 Ther saw I thees, cruel Juno,
 That art daun Jupiteres wyf,
 That hast y-hated, al thy lyf, 200
 Al the Troyanishe blood,
 Renne and orye, as thou were wood,
 On Eolus, the god of windes,
 To blowen out, of alle kindes,
 So loude, that he shulde drenche 205
 Lord and lady, grome and wenche
 Of al the Troyan nacioun,
 Withoute any savacioun.
 Ther saw I swich tempeste aryse,
 That every herte mighte agryse, 210
- To see hit peynted on the walle.
 Ther saw I graven eek withalle,
 Venus, how ye, my lady dere,
 Wepinge with ful woful chere,
 Prayen Jupiter an hye 215
 To save and kepe that navye
 Of the Troyan Eneas, Sith that he hir sone was.
 Ther saw I Joves Venus kisse,
 And graunted of the tempest lisse. 220
 Ther saw I how the tempest stente,
 And how with alle pyne he wente,
 And prevely took arrivage
 In the contree of Cartage ;
 And on the morwe, how that he 225
 And a knight, hight Achatee, Metten with Venus that day,
 Goinge in a queynt array,
 As she had ben an hunteresse,
 With wind blowinge upon hir tresse ; 230
 How Eneas gan him to pleyne,
 Whan that he knew hir, of his peyne ;
 And how his shippes dreynete were,
 Or elles lost, he niste where ;
 How she gan him comforte tho, 235
 And bad him to Cartage go,
 And ther he shuld8 his folk finde,
 That in the see were left behinde.
 And, shortly of this thing to pace,
 She made Eneas so in grace 240
 Of Dido, quene of that contree,
 That, shortly for to tellen, she Becam his love, and leet him do
 That that wedding longeth to.
 What shulde I speke more queynte, 245
 Or peyne me my wordes peynte,
 To speke of love? hit wol not be ;
 I can not of that facultee.
 And eek to telle the manere
 How they aqueeynteden in-fere, 250
 Hit were a long proces to telle,
 And over long for yow to dwelle.
 Ther saw I grave, how Eness
 Tolde Dido every cas,
 That him was tid upon the see. 255
 And after grave was, how she Made of him, shortly, at oo word,
 Hir lyf, hir love, hir lust, hir lord :
 And dide him al the reverence,
 And leyde on him al the dispence. 260
 That any woman mighte do,

Weninge hit had al be so,
 As he hir swoor; and her-by demed
 That he was good, for he swich semed.
 Allas! what harm doth apparence, 265
 Whan hit is fals in existense!
 For he to hir a traitour was;
 Werfor she slow hir-self, allas!
 Lo, how a woman doth amis,
 To love him that unknowen is! 270
 For, by Crist, lo! thus hit fareth;
 'Hit is not al gold, that glareth.'
 For, al-so brouke I wel myn heed,
 Ther may be under goodliheed
 Kevered many a shrewed vyce; 275
 Therfor be no wight so nyce,
 To take a love only for chere,
 For speche, or for frendly manere;
 For this shal every woman finde
 That som man, of his pure kinde, 280
 Wol shewen outward the faireste,
 Til he have caught that what him leste;
 And thanne wol he causes finde,
 And swere how that she is unkinde,
 Or fals, or prevy, or double was. 285
 Al this seye I by Eneas
 And Dido, and hir nyce lest,
 That lovede al to sone a gest;
 Therfor I wol seye a proverbe,
 That 'he that fully knoweth th'erbe 290
 May sauffy leys hit to his y8';
 Withoute dreed, this is no lye.
 But let us speke of Eneas,
 How he betrayed hir, allas!
 And lefte hir ful unkindely. 295
 So whan she saw al-utterly,
 That he wolde hir of trouthe faille,
 And wende fro hir to Itaille,
 She gan to wringe hir hondes two.
 'Allas!' quod she, 'what me is wo! 300
 Allas! is every man thus trewe,
 That every yere wolde have a newe,
 If hit so longe tyme dure,
 Or elles three, peraventure?
 As thus: of oon he wolde have fame 305
 In magnifying of his name;
 Another for frendship, seith he;
 And yet ther shal the thridde be,
 That shal be taken for delyt,
 Lo, or for singular profyt.' 310
 In swiche wordes gan to pleyne
 Dido of hir grete peyne,

As me mette redely;
 Non other auctour allegge I.
 'Allas!' quod she, 'my swete herte, 315
 Have pitee on my sorwes smerte,
 And slee me not! go noight away!
 O woful Dido, wel away!
 Quod she to hir-selve tho.
 'O Eneas! what wil ye do? 320
 O, that your love, ne your bonde,
 That ye han sworn with your right honde,
 Ne my cruel deeth,' quod she,
 'May holde yow still heer with me!
 O, haveth of my deeth pitee! 325
 Y-wis, my dere herte, ye
 Knowen ful wel that never yit,
 As fer-forth as I hadde wit,
 Agilte [I] yow in thought ne deed.
 O, have ye men swich goodliheed 330
 In speche, and never a deel of trouthe?
 Allas, that ever hadde routhe
 Any woman on any man!
 Now see I wel, and telle can,
 We wrecched wimmen conne non art; 335
 For carteyn, for the more part,
 Thus we be served everichone.
 How sore that ye men conne grone,
 Anoon, as we have yow receyved,
 Certainly we ben deceyved; 340
 For, though your love laste a sesoun,
 Wayte upon the conclusioun,
 And eek how that ye determynen,
 And for the more part diffynen.
 'O, welaway that I was born! 345
 For through yow is my name lorn,
 And alle myn actes red and songe
 Over al this lond, on every tonge.
 O wikke Fame! for ther nis
 Nothing so swift, lo, as she is! 350
 O, sooth is, every thing is wist,
 Though hit be kevered with the mist,
 Eek, thogh I mighte duren ever,
 That I have doon, rekever I never,
 That I ne shal be seyde, allas, 355
 Y-shamed be through Eneas,
 And that I shal thus juged be—
 "Lo, right as she hath doon, now she Wol do eftsones, hardily;"
 Thus seyth the peple prevely.'— 360
 But that is doon, nis not to done;
 †Al hir compleynt ne al hir mone,
 Certeyn, availeth hir not a stree.

And whan she wiste sothly he Was forth unto his shippes goon,	365	For after this, within a whyle He lefte hir slepinge in an yle, Deserte alone, right in the see, And stal away, and leet hir be ; And took hir suster Phedra tho With him, and gan to shippe go.	415 420
She þin hir chambre wente anon, And called on hir suster Anne, And gan hir to compleyne thanne ; And seyde, that she cause was That she first lovede †Eneas,	370	And yet he had y-sworn to here, On al that ever he mighte swere, That, so she saved him his lyf, He wolde have take hir to his wyf ; For she desired nothing elles,	425
And thus counsellid hir therto. But what ! when this was seyde and do, She roof hir-selve to the herte, And deyde through the wounde smerte. But al the maner how she deyde,	375	In certain, as the book us telles. But to excusen Eneas Fulliche of al his greet trespass, The book seyth, Mercurie, sauns faile, Bad him go into Itaille,	430
And al the wordes that she seyde, Who-so to knowe hit hath purpos, Reed Virgile in Eneides Or the Epistle of Ovyde, What that she wroot or that she dyde :	380	And leve Auffrykes regioun, And Dido and hir faire toun. Tho saw I grave, how to Itaille Daun Eneas is go to saile ; And how the tempest al began,	435
By god, I woldè hit here wryte. But, welaway ! the harm, the routhe, That hath betid for swich untrouthe, As men may ofte in bokes rede,	385	And how he loste his steresman, Which that the stere, or he took keep, Smot over-bord, lo ! as he sleep. And also saw I how Sibyle And Eneas, besyde an yle,	440
And al day seen hit yet in dede, That for to thenken hit, a tene is. Lo, Demophon, duk of Athenis, How he forswor him ful falsly And trayed Phillis wikkedly,	390	To helle wente, for to see His fader, Anchises the free. How he ther fond Palinurus, And Dido, and eek Deiphebus ; And every tourment eek in helle	445
The kinges doghter was of Trace, And falsly gan his terme pace ; And when she wiste that he was fals, She heng hir-self right by the hals, For he had do hir swich untrouthe ;	395	Saw he, which is long to telle. Which who-so willeth for to knowe, He moste rede many a rowe On Virgile or on Claudian, Or Daunte, that hit telle can.	450
Lo ! was not this a wo and routhe ? Eek lo ! how fals and reccheles Was to Briseida Achilles, And Paris to †Oenone ; And Jason to Isiphile ;	400	Tho saw I grave al th'arivaile That Eneas had in Itaille ; And with king Latine his trettee, And alle the batailles that he Was at him-self, and eek his knightes,	455
And eft Jason to Medea ; And Hercules to Dyanira ; For he lefte hir for Iöle, That made him cacche his deeth, pardee. How fals eek was he, Theseus ;	405	Or he had al y-wonne his rightes ; And how he Turnus refte his lyf, And wan Lavyna to his wyf ; And al the marvelous signals Of the goddes celestials ;	460
That, as the story telleth us, How he betrayed Adriane ; The devel be his soules bane ! For had he laughed, had he loured, He mostè have be al devoured,	410	How, maugre Juno, Eneas, For al hir sleighte and hir compas, Acheved al his aventure ; For Jupiter took of him cure At the prayere of Venus	465
If Adriane ne had y-be ! And, for she had of him pitee, She made him fro the dethe escape, And he made hir a ful fals jape ;

The whiche I preye alway save us,
 And us ay of our sorwes lighte !
 When I had seyen al this sighte
 In this noble temple thus,
 'A, Lord !' thoughte I, 'that madest us,
 Yet saw I never swich noblesse 471
 Of images, ne swich richesse,
 As I saw graven in this chirche ;
 But not woot I who dide hem wirche,
 Ne wher I am, ne in what contree. 475
 But now wol I go out and see,
 Right at the wiket, if I can See o-wher stering any man,
 That may me telle wher I am.'
 When I out at the dores cam, 480
 I faste aboute me beheld,
 Then saw I but a large feld,
 As fer as that I mighte see,
 Withouten toun, or hous, or tree,
 Or bush, or gras, or ered lond ; 485
 For al the feld nas but of sond
 As smal as man may see yet lye

In the desert of Lybye ;
 Ne I no maner creature,
 That is y-formed by nature, 490
 Ne saw, me [for] to rede or wisse.
 'O Crist,' thoughte I, 'that art in blisse,
 Fro fantom and illusioun
 Me save !' and with devocioun
 Myn yēn to the heven I caste. 495
 Tho was I war, lo ! at the laste,
 That faste by the sonne, as hyē
 As kenne mighte I with myn yē,
 Me thoughte I saw an egle sore,
 But that hit semed mocha more 500
 Then I had any egle seyn.
 But this as sooth as deeth, certeyn,
 Hit was of golde, and shoon so brighte,
 That never saw men such a sighte,
 But-if the heven hadde y-wonne 505
 Al newe of golde another sonne ;
 So shoon the egles fethres brighte,
 And somewhat downward gan hit lighte.

BOOK II.

Incipit liber secundus.

Proem.

Now herkneth, every maner man
 That English understonde can, 510
 And listeth of my dreem to lere ;
 For now at erste shul ye here
 So þselly an avisioun,
 That Isaye, ne Scipioun,
 Ne king Nabugodonosor, 515
 Pharo, Turnus, ne Eleanor,
 Ne mette swich a dreem as this !
 Now faire blisful, O Cipris, (10)
 So be my favour at this tyme !
 And ye, me to endyte and ryme 520
 Helpeth, that on Parnaso dwelle
 By Elicon the clere well.
 O Thought, that wroot al that I mette,
 And in the tresorie hit shette
 Of my brayn ! now shal men see 525
 If any vertu in thee be,
 To tellen al my dreem aright ;
 Now kythe thyn engyn and might ! (20)

The Dream.

This egle, of which I have yow told,
 That shoon with fethres as of gold, 530
 Which that so hyē gan to sore,
 I gan beholde more and more,
 To see hir beantee and the wonder ;
 But never was ther dint of thonder,
 Ne that thing that men calle foudre, 535
 That smoot somtyme a tour to poudre,
 And in his swifte coming brende,
 That so swythe gan descende, (30)
 As this foul, whan hit behelde
 That I a-roume was in the felde ; 540
 And with his grimme pawes stronge,
 Within his sharpe nayles longe,
 Me, fleinge, at a swappe he hente,
 And with his sours agayn up wente,
 Me caryinge in his clawes starke 545
 As lightly as I were a larke,
 How high, I can not telle yow,
 For I cam up, I niste how. (40)
 For so astonied and a-sweved

- Was every vertu in my heved, 550
 And whider thou shalt, and why I cam
 To †done this, so that thou take Good herte, and not for fere quake.
 'Gladly,' quod I. 'Now wel,' quod he:—
 'First I, that in my feet have thee, 606
 Of which thou hast a feer and wonder,
 Am dwelling with the god of thonder,
 Which that man callen Jupiter, (101)
 That dooth me flee ful ofte fer 610
 To do al his comaundement.
 And for this cause he hath me sent
 To thee: now †herkne, by thy tronthe!
 Certeyn, he hath of thee routhe,
 That thou so longe trewely 615
 Hast served so ententify
 His blinde newew Cupido,
 And fair Venus [goddesse] also, (110)
 Withoute guerdoun ever yit,
 And nevertheles hast set thy wit— 620
 Although that in thy hede ful †lyte is—
 To make bokes, songes, dytees,
 In ryme, or elles in cadence,
 As thou best canst, in reverence
 Of Love, and of his servants eke, 625
 That have his servise soght, and seke;
 And peynest thee to preyse his art,
 Although thou haddest never part; (120)
 Wherfor, al-so god me blesse,
 Joves halt hit greet humbleesse 630
 And vertu eek, that thou wolt make
 A-night ful ofte thyn heed to ake,
 In thy studie so thou wrytest,
 And ever-mo of love endyttest,
 In honour of him and preysinges, 635
 And in his folkes furtheringes,
 And in hir matere al devyest, (129)
 And noght him nor his folk despysest.
 Although thou mayst go in the daunce
 Of hem that him list not avaunce. 640
 'Wherfor, as I seyde, y-wis,
 Jupiter considereth this,
 And also, beau sir, other thinges;
 That is, that thou hast no tydinges
 Of Loves folk, if they be glade, 645
 Ne of noght elles that god made;
 And noght only fro fer contree
 That ther no tyding comth to thee, (140)
 But of thy verray neyghebores,
 That dwellen almost at thy dores, 650
 Thou herest neither that ne this;
- What with his sours and with my drede,
 That al my feling gan to dede;
 For-why hit was to greet affray.
 Thus I longe in his clawes lay,
 Til at the laste he to me spak 555
 In mannes vois, and seyde, 'Awak!
 And be not †so a-gast, for shame!'
 And called me tho by my name. (50)
 And, for I sholde the bet abreyde—
 Me mette—'Awak,' to me he seyde, 560
 Right in the same vois and stevens
 That useth oon I conde nevene;
 And with that vois, soth for to sayn,
 My minde cam to me agayn;
 For hit was goodly seyde to me, 565
 So nas hit never wont to be.
 And herwithal I gan to stere,
 And he me in his feet to bere, (60)
 Til that he felte that I had hete,
 And felte eek tho myn herte beta. 570
 And tho gan he me to disporte,
 And with wordes to comforte,
 And sayde twyȝs, 'Seynte Marie!
 Thou art nouyous for to carie,
 And nothing nedeth hit, pardee! 575
 For al-so wis god helpe me
 As thou non harm shalt have of this;
 And this cas, that betid thee is, (70)
 Is for thy lore and for thy prow;—
 Let see! darst thou yet loke now? 580
 Be ful assured, boldely,
 I am thy frend.' And therwith I Gan for to wondren in my minde.
 'O god,' thoughte I, 'that madest kinde,
 Shal I non other weyes dye? 585
 Wher Joves wol me stellifye,
 Or what thing may this signifye?
 I neither am Enok, ne Elye, (80)
 Ne Romulus, ne Ganymede
 That was y-bore up, as men rede, 590
 To hevене with dan Jupiter,
 And maad the goddes boteler.'
 Lo! this was tho my fantasye!
 But he that bar me gan espye
 That I so thoughte, and seyde this:— 595
 'Thou demest of thy-self amis;
 For Joves is not ther-about—
 I dar wel putte thee out of doute- - (90)
 To make of thee as yet a sterre.
 But er I bere thee moche ferre, 600

For whan thy labour doon al is,
 And hast y-maad thy rekeninges,
 In stede of reste and newe thinges,
 Thou gost hoom to thy hous anoon ; 655
 And, also domb as any stoon,
 Thou sittest at another boke,
 Til fully daswed is thy loke, (150)
 And livest thus as an hermyte,
 Although thyn abstinence is lyte. 660
 'And therfor Joves, through his grace,
 Wol that I bere thee to a place,
 Which that hight THE Hous of FAME,
 To do thee som disport and game,
 In som recompensacioun 665
 Of labour and devocioun
 That thou hast had, lo ! causeles,
 To Cupido, the reccheles ! (160)
 And thus this god, thorgh his meryte,
 Wol with som maner thing thee quyte,
 So that thou wolt be of good chere. 671
 For truste wel, that thou shalt here,
 When we be comen ther I seye,
 Mo wonder thinges, dar I leye,
 Of Loves folke mo tydinges, 675
 Bothe soth-sawes and lesinges ;
 And mo loves newe begonne,
 And longe y-served loves wenne, (170)
 And mo loves casuely
 That been betid, no man wot why, 680
 But as a blind man stert an hare ;
 And more jolytee and fare,
 Why! that they finde love of stele,
 As thinketh hem, and over-al wele ;
 Mo discords, and mo jelousyes, 685
 Mo murmurs, and mo novelryes,
 And mo dissimulaciouns,
 And feyned reparaciouns ; (180)
 And mo berdes in two houres
 Withoute rasour or sisoures 690
 Y-maad, then greynes be of sondes ;
 And eke mo holdinge in hondes,
 And also mo renovelauches
 Of olde forleten aqneyntaunces ;
 Mo love-dayes and acordes 695
 Then on instruments ben cordes ;
 And eke of loves mo eschaunges
 Than ever cornes were in granges ; (190)
 Unethe maistow trowen this ?— (600)
 Quod he. 'No, helpe me god so wis !—
 Quod I. 'No ? why ?' quod he. 'For hit
 Were impossible, to my wit,
 Though that Fame hadde al the pyes
 In al a realme, and al the spyes,
 How that yet she shulde here al this, 705
 Or they espye hit.' 'O yis, yis !'
 Quod he to me, 'that can I prove
 By resoun, worthy for to leve, (200)
 So that thou yeve thyn advertence
 To understonde my sentence. 710
 'First shalt thou heren wher she dwell-
 eth,
 And so thyn owne book hit telleth ;
 Hir paleys stant, as I shal seye,
 Right even in middes of the weye
 Betwixen hevене, erthe, and see ; 715
 That, what-so-ever in al these three
 Is spoken, in privce or aperte,
 The wey therto is so overte, (210)
 And stant eek in so juste a place,
 That every soun mot to hit pace,
 Or what so comth fro any tonge,
 Be hit rouned, red, or songe,
 Or spoke in seurtee or drede,
 Certain, hit moste thider nede.
 'Now herkne wel ; for-why I wille 725
 Tellen thee a propre skile,
 And †worthy demonstracioun
 In myn imagynacioun. (220)
 'Geffrey, thou wost right wel this,
 That every kindly thing that is, 730
 Hath a kindly stede ther he May best in hit conserved be ;
 Unto which place every thing,
 Through his kindly enclynyng,
 Moveth for to come to, 735
 Whan that hit is awaye therfro ;
 As thus ; lo, thou mayst al day see
 That any thing that hevye be, (230)
 As stoon or leed, or thing of wighte,
 And ber hit never so hye on highte, 740
 Let go thyn hand, hit falleth down.
 'Right so seye I by fyre or soun,
 Or smoke, or other thinges lighte,
 Alwey they seke upward on highte ;
 Why! ech of hem is at his large, 745
 Light thing up, and downward charge.
 'And for this cause mayst thou see,
 That every river to the see (240)
 Enclyned is to go, by kinde.
 And by these skilles, as I finde, 750
 Hath fish dwellinge in floode and see,
 And trees eek in erthe be.

Thus every thing, by this resoun,
 Hath his propre mansioun,
 To which hit seketh to repaire, 755
 As ther hit shulde not apaire.
 Lo, this sentence is knowne couthe
 Of every philosophes mouthes, (250)
 As Aristotle and dan Platon,
 And other clerkes many oon ; 760
 And to confirme my resoun,
 Thou wost wel this, that speche is soun,
 Or elles no man mighte hit here ;
 Now þherkne what I wol thee lere.
 ' Soun is nocht but air y-broken, 765
 And every speche that is spoken,
 Loud or privee, foul or fair,
 In his substaunce is but air ; (260)
 For as flaumbe is but lighted smoke,
 Right so soun is air y-broke. 770
 But this may be in many wyse,
 Of which I wil thee two devyse,
 As soun that comth of pype or harpe.
 For whan a pype is blowne sharpe,
 The air is twist with violence, 775
 And rent ; lo, this is my sentence ;
 Eek, whan men harpe-strings smyte,
 Whether hit be moche or lyte, (270)
 Lo, with the strook the air to-brekeþ ; 779
 Right so hit brekeþ whan men spekeþ.
 Thus wost thou wel what thing is speche.
 ' Now hennesforth I wol thee teche,
 How every speche, or noise, or soun,
 Through his multiplicacioun,
 Though hit were pyped of a mouse, 785
 Moot nede come to Fames House.
 I preve hit thus—tak hede now—
 By experience ; for if that thou (280)
 Throws on water now a stoon,
 Wel wost thou, hit wol make anon 790
 A litel roundel as a cercle, Paraventure brood as a covercle ;
 And right anon thou shalt see weel,
 That wheel wol cause another wheel,
 And that the thridde, and so forth,
 brother, 795
 Every cercle causing other,
 Wyder than himselve was ;
 And thus, fro roundel to compas, (290)
 Ech aboute other goinge,
 Caused of otheres steringe, 800
 And multiplying ever-mo,
 Til that hit be so fer y-go

That hit at bothe brinckes be.
 Al-though thou mowe hit not y-see Above, hit goth yet alway under, 805
 Although thou thenke hit a gret wonder.
 And who-so seith of trouthe I varie,
 Bid him proven the contrarie. (300)
 And right thus every word, y-wis,
 That loude or privee spoken is, 810
 Moveth first an air aboute,
 And of this moving, out of doute,
 Another air anon is moved,
 As I have of the water preved,
 That every cercle causeth other. 815
 Right so of air, my leve brother ;
 Everich air in other stereth (309)
 More and more, and speche up bereth,
 Or vois, or noise, or word, or soun,
 Ay through multiplicacioun, 820
 Til hit be atte House of Fame ;—
 Tak hit in earnest or in game.
 ' Now have I told, if thou have minde,
 How speche or soun, of pure kinde,
 Enclyned is upward to meve ; 825
 This, mayst thou fele, wel I preve.
 And that þthe mansioun, y-wis,
 That every thing enclyned to is, (320)
 Hath his kindeliche stede :
 †Than sheweth hit, withouten drede, 830
 That kindlye the mansioun
 Of every speche, of every soun,
 Be hit either foul or fair,
 Hath his kinde place in air.
 And sin that every thing, that is 835
 Out of his kinde place, y-wis,
 Moveth thider for to go
 If hit a-weye be therfro, (330)
 As I before have preved thee,
 Hit seweth, every soun, pardee, 840
 Moveth kindly to pace
 Al up into his kindly place.
 And this place of which I telle,
 Ther as Fame list to dwelle,
 Is set amides of these three, 845
 Heven, ertha, and eek the see,
 As most conservatif the soun.
 Than is this the conclusioun, (340)
 That every speche of every man
 As I thee telle first began, 850
 Moveth up on high to pace
 Kindly to Fames place.
 ' Telle me this feithfully,

Have I not proved thus simply, Withouten any subtiltee Of speche, or gret prolixitee Of termes of philosophye, Of figures of poetrye, Or colours of rethoryke? Pardee, hit oghte thee to lyke ; For hard langage and hard matere Is encombrous for to here At ones ; wost thou not wel this ? And I answerde, and seyde, ' Yis.' ' A ha !' quod he, ' lo, so I can Lewedly to a lewed man Speke, and shewe him swiche skiles, That he may shake hem by the biles, So palpable they shulden be. But tel me this, now pray I thee, How thinkth thee my conclusioun ?' [Quod he]. ' A good persuasioun,' Quod I, ' hit is ; and lyk to be Right so as thou hast proved me.' ' By god,' quod he, ' and as I love, Thou shalt have yit, or hit be eve, Of every word of this sentence A preve, by experiance ; And with thyn eres heren wel Top and tail, and everydel, That every word that spoken is Comth into Fames Hous, y-wis, As I have seyde ; what wilt thou more ?' And with this word upper to sore He gan, and seyde, ' By Seynt Jame ! Now wil we spoken al of game.'— ' How farest thou ?' quod he to me. ' Wel,' quod I. ' Now see,' quod he, (380) ' By thy trouthe, yond adoun, Wher that thou knowest any toun, Or hous, or any other thing. And whan thou hast of ought knowing, Loke that thou warne me, And I anon shal telle thee How fer that thou art now therfro.' 895 And I adoun þgan loken tho, And beheld felde and plaines, (389) And now hilles, and now mountaines, Now valeys, and now forestes, And now, unethes, grete bestes ; 900 Now riveres, now citees, Now tounes, and now grete trees, Now shippes sailinge in the see. But thus sone in a whyle he	Was flouen fro the grounde so hye, 905 That al the world, as to myn ye, No more semed than a prikke ; Or elles was the air so thikke (400) That I ne mighte not discerna. With that he spak to me as yerne, 910 And seyde : ' Seestow any toun Or ought thou knowest yonder doun ?' I seyde, ' Nay.' ' No wonder nis, Quod he, ' for half so high as this Nas Alexander Macedo ; 915 Ne the king, dan Scipio, That saw in dreame, at point devys, Helle and erthe, and paradys ; (410) Ne eek the wrecche Dedalus, Ne his child, nyce Icarus, 920 That fleigh so highte that the hete His wings malt, and he fel weto In-mid the see, and ther he dreynete, For whom was makid mooch compleynte. ' Now turn upward,' quod he, ' thy face, And behold this large place, 926 This air ; but loke thou ne be Adrad of hem that thou shalt see ; (420) For in this regioun, certain, Dwelleth many a citezein, 930 Of which that speketh dan Plato. These ben the eyrish bestes, lo !' And so saw I al that meynee Bothe goon and also fleo. ' Now,' quod he tho, ' cast up thyn ye ; 935 See yonder, lo, the Galaxye, Which men clepeth the Milky Wey, For hit is whyt : and somme, parfey, (430) Callen hit Watlinge Strete : That ones was y-brent with hete, 940 Whan the sonnes sone, the rede, That highte Pheton, wolde lede Algate his fader cart, and gye. The cart-hors gonne wel espye That he ne coude no governance, 945 And gonne for to lepe and launce, And brenen him now up, now doun, Til that he saw the Scorpioun, (440) Which that in heven a signe is yit. And he, for ferde, loste his wit, 950 Of that, and leet the reynes goon Of his hors ; and they anon Gonne up to mounte, and doun descende Til bothe the eyr and erthe brende ; Til Jupiter, lo, atte laste, 955
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

- Him slow, and fro the carte caste.
Lo, is it not a greet mischaunce,
To lete a fole han governaunce (450)
Of thing that he can not demeine ?
And with this word, soth for to seyne,
He gan alway upper to sore, 961
And gladded me ay more and more,
So feithfully to me spak he.
Tho gan I loken under me,
And beheld the eyrysh bestes, 965
Cloudes, mistes, and tempestes,
Snowes, hailes, reines, windes,
And th'engendring in hir kindes, (460)
And al the way through whiche I cam ;
' O god,' quod I, ' that made Adam, 970
Moche is thy might and thy noblesse !'
And tho thoughte I upon Boëce,
That writ, ' a thought may fleo so hyë,
With fetheres of Philosopphye,
To passen everich element ; 975
And whan he hath so fer y-went,
Than may be seen, behind his bak,
Cloud, and al that I of spak.' (470)
Tho gan I wexen in a were,
And seyde, ' I woot wel I am here ; 980
But wher in body or in gost
I noot, y-wis ; but god, thou wost !'
For more cleer entendement
Nadde he me never yit y-sent.
And than thoughte I on Marcian, 985
And eek on Anteaclaudian,
That sooth was hir descripcioun
Of al the hevenes regioun, (480)
As far as that I saw the preve ;
Therfor I can hem now beleve. 990
With that this egle gan to crye :
' Lat be,' quod he, ' thy fantasye ;
Wilt thou lere of sterres aught ?'
' Nay, certainly,' quod I, ' right naught ;
And why ? for I am now to old.' 995
' Elles I wolde thee have told,'
Quod he, ' the sterres names, lo,
And al the hevenes signes to, (490)
And which they been.' ' No fors,' quod I.
' Yis, pardee,' quod he ; ' wostow why ? 1000
For whan thou redest poetrye,
How goddes gonne stellifye
Brid, fish, beste, or him or here,
As the Raven, or either Bere,
Or Ariones harpe fyn, 1005
Castor, Pollux, or Delphyn,
- Or †Atlantes doughtres sevene,
How alle these arn set in hevene ; (500)
For though thou have hem ofte on honde,
Yet nostow not wher that they stonde.'
' No fors,' quod I, ' hit is no nede : 1011
I leve as wel, so god me spede,
Hem that wryte of this matere,
As though I knew hir places here ;
And eek they shynen here so brighte,
Hit shulde shenden al my sighte, 1016
To loke on hem.' ' That may wel be,'
Quod he. And so forth bar he me (510)
A whyl, and than he gan to crye,
That never herde I thing so hye, 1020
' Now up the heed ; for al is wel ;
Seynt Julyan, lo, bon hostel !
See here the House of Fame, lo !
Maistow not heren that I do ?'
' What ?' quod I. ' The grete soun,' 1025
Quod he, ' that rumbleth up and down
In Fames Hous, ful of tydinges,
Bothe of fair speche and chydinges, (520)
And of fals and soth compounded.
Herkne wel ; hit is not rouned. 1030
Herestow not the grete swogh ?'
' Yis, pardee,' quod I, ' wel y-nogh.'
' And what soun is it lyk ?' quod he.
' Peter ! lyk beting of the see,'
Quod I, ' again the roches holowe, 1035
Whan tempest doth the shippes swalowe ;
And lat a man stonde, out of doute,
A myle thens, and here hit route ; (530)
Or elles lyk the last humblinge
After the clappe of a thundringe, 1040
When Joves hath the air y-bete ;
But hit doth me for fere swete.'
' Nay, dred thee not therof,' quod he,
' Hit is nothing wil byten thee ;
Thou shalt non harm have, trewely.' 1045
And with this word bothe he and I
As nigh the place arryved were
As men may casten with a spere. (540)
I nistë how, but in a strete
He sette me faire on my fete, 1050
And seyde, ' Walke forth a pas,
And tak thyn aventure or cas,
That thou shalt finde in Fames place.'
' Now,' quod I, ' whyl we han space
To speke, or that I go fro thee, 1055
For the love of god, tel me,
In sooth that wil I of thee lere,

If this noise that I here Be, as I have herd thee tellen, Of folk that doun in erthe dwellen, And comth here in the same wyse As I thee herde or this devyse ; And that ther lyses body nis In al that hous that yonder is, That maketh al this loude fare ?' 'No,' quod he, 'by Seynte Clare, And also wis god rede me ! But o thinge I wil warne thee Of the which thou wolt have wonder. Lo, to the House of Fame yonder Thou wost how cometh every speche, Hit nedeth nought thee eft to teche. But understond now right wel this ; Whan any speche y-comen is	(550) 1060 1065 1065 1065 1070 1070	Up to the paleys, anon-right Hit wexeth lyk the same wight Which that the word in erthe spak, Be hit clothed reed or blak ; And hath so verray his lyknesse That spak the word, that thou wilt gesse That hit the same body be, Man or woman, he or she. And is not this a wonder thing ?' 'Yis,' quod I tho, 'by hevене king !' And with this worde, 'Farwel,' quod he, 'And here I wol abyden thee ; And god of hevене sende thee grace, Som good to lernen in this place.' And I of him took leve anon, And gan forth to the paleys goon.	1075 1081 1086 1086 1090 1090

Explicit liber secundus.

BOOK III.

Incipit liber tercius.

Invocation.

O god of science and of light,
 Apollo, through thy grete might,
 This lital laste book thou gye !
 Nat that I wilne, for maistrye,
 Here art poetical be shewed ;
 But, for the rym is light and lewed,
 Yit make hit sumwhat agreable,
 Though som vers faille in a sillable ;
 And that I do no diligence
 To shewe craft, but o sentence. (10) 1100
 And if, divyne vertu, thou Wilt helpe me to shewe now
 That in myn hede y-marked is—
 Lo, that is for to menen this,
 The Hous of Fame to descryve—
 Thou shalt see me go, as blyve,
 Unto the nexte laure I see,
 And kisse hit, for hit is thy tree ;
 Now entreth in my breste anon !—

The Dream.

Whan I was fro this egle goon, (20) 1110
 I gan beholde upon this place.

And certain, or I ferther pace,
 I wol yow al the shap devyse
 Of hous and site ; and al the wyse
 How I gan to this place aproche 1115
 That stood upon so high a roche,
 Hyer stant ther noon in Spaine.
 But up I clomb with alle paine,
 And though to climbe hit greved me,
 Yit I ententif was to see, (30) 1120
 And for to pouren wonder lowe,
 If I coude any weyes knowe
 What maner stoon this roche was ;
 For hit was lyk a thing of glas,
 But that hit shoon ful more clere ; 1125
 But of what congeled maters
 Hit was, I niste redely.

But at the laste espyed I,
 And found that hit was, every deel,
 A roche of yse, and not of steel. (40) 1130
 Thoughte I, 'By Seynt Thomas of Kent !
 This were a feble foundement
 To bilden on a place hye ;
 He oughte him lital glorifye
 That her-on bilt, god so me save !' 1135

The saw I al the half y-grave
 With famous folkes names fele,
 That had y-been in mochel wele,

And hir fames wyde y-blowe.
 But wel unethes coude I knowe (50) 1140
 Any lettres for to rede
 Hir names by ; for, out of drede,
 They were almost-of-thowed so,
 That of the lettres oon or two
 Was molte away of every name, 1145
 So unfamous was wexe hir fame ;
 But men seyn, ' What may ever laste ? '
 Tho gan I in myn herte caste,
 That they were molte away with hete,
 And not away with stormes bete. (60) 1150
 For on that other syde I sey
 Of this hille, that northward lay,
 How hit was writen ful of names
 Of folk that hadden grete fames
 Of olde tyme, and yit they were 1155
 As fresshe as men had writen hem
 there
 The selve day right, or that houre
 That I upon hem gan to poure.
 But wel I wiste what lit made ;
 Hit was conserved with the shade— (70)
 Al this wrytinge that I sy— 1161
 Of a castel, that stood on hy,
 And stood eek on so cold a place,
 That hete mighte hit not deface.
 Tho gan I up the hille to goon, 1165
 And fond upon the coppe a woon,
 That alle the men that ben on lyve
 Ne han the cunning to descryve
 The beantee of that ilke place,
 Ne coude casten no compace (80) 1170
 Swich another for to make,
 That mighte of beantee be his make,
 Ne [be] so wonderliche y-wrought ;
 That hit astonieth yit my thought,
 And maketh al my wit to swinke 1175
 On this castel to bethinke.
 So that the grete craft, beantee,
 The cast, the curiositee
 Ne can I not to yow devyse,
 My wit ne may me not suffyse. (90) 1180
 But natheles al the substance
 I have yit in my remembrance ;
 For-why me thoughte, by Seynt Gyle !
 Al was of stone of beryle,
 Bothe castel and the tour, 1185
 And eek the halle, and every bour,
 Withouten peces or joininges.
 But many subtil compassinges,

† Babewinnes and pinacles,
 Imageries and tabernacles, (100) 1190
 I saw ; and ful eek of windowes,
 As flakes falle in grote snowes.
 And eek in ech of the pinacles
 Weren sondry habitacles,
 In whiche stoden, al withoute— 1195
 Ful the castel, al aboute—
 Of alle maner of minstrales,
 And gestiours, that tellen tales
 Bothe of weping and of game,
 Of al that longeth unto Fame. (110) 1200
 Ther herde I pleyen on an harpe
 That souned bothe wel and sharpe, Orpheus ful craftely,
 And on his syde, faste by,
 Sat the harper Orion, 1205
 And Escides Chiron,
 And other harpers many oon,
 And the Bret Glascurion ;
 And smale harpers with her glees
 † Seten under hem in sees, (120) 1210
 And gonne on hem upward to gape,
 And countrefete hem as an ape,
 Or as craft countrefeteth kinde.
 Tho saugh I stonden hem behinde,
 A-fer fro hem, al by hemselve, 1215
 Many thousand tymes twelve,
 That maden loude menstralcyes
 In cornemuse, and shalmyes,
 And many other maner pype,
 That craftely begunne pype (130) 1220
 Bothe in doucet and in rede,
 That ben at festes with the brede ;
 And many floute and liltting-horne,
 And pypes made of grene corne,
 As han thise litel herde-gromes, 1225
 That kepen bestes in the bromes.
 Ther saugh I than Atiteris,
 And of Athenes dan Psenstis,
 And Marcia that lost her skin,
 Bothe in face, body, and chin, (140) 1230
 For that she wolde envyen, lo !
 To pyppen bet then Apollo.
 Ther saugh I famous, olde and yonge,
 Pypers of the Duché tonge,
 To lerne love-daunces, springes, 1235
 Reyes, and these straunge things.
 Tho saugh I in another place
 Stonden in a large space,
 Of hem that maken bloody soun

In trumpe, beme, and clarioun ; (150) 1240
 For in fight and blood-shedinge
 Is used gladly clarioninge.

Ther herde I trumpen Messenus,
 Of whom that speketh Virgilius.
 Ther herde I Joab trumpe also, 1245
 Theodomas, and other mo ;
 And alle that used clarion
 In Cataloigne and Aragon,
 That in hir tyme famous were
 To lerne, saugh I trumpe there. (160) 1250

Ther saugh I sitte in other sees,
 Pleyenge upon sondry glees,
 Whiche that I cannot nevene,
 Mo then sterres been in hevене,
 Of whiche I nil as now not ryme, 1255
 For ese of yow, and losse of tyme :
 For tyme y-lost, this knowen ye,
 By no way may recovered be.

Ther saugh I †pleyen jogelours,
 Magiciens and tregetours, (170) 1260
 And phitonesses, charmeresses,
 Olde wiches, sorceresses,
 That use exorsisaciouns
 And eek thise fumigaciouns ;
 And clerkes eek, which conne wel 1265
 Al this magyke naturel,

That craftely don hir ententes,
 To make, in certeyn ascendentes,
 Images, lo, through which magyk
 To make a man ben hool or syk. (180) 1270
 Ther saugh I †thee, queen Medea,
 And Circes eke, and Calipsa ;
 Ther saugh I Hermes Ballenus,
 Lymote, and eek Simon Magus. 1274

Ther saugh I, and knew hem by name,
 That by such art don men han fame.
 Ther saugh I Colle tregetour
 Upon a table of sicamour
 Pleye an uncouthe thing to telle ;
 I saugh him carien a wind-melle (190) 1280
 Under a walsh-note shale.

What shuld I make lenger tale
 Of al the peple that I say,
 Fro hennes in-to domesday ?
 Whan I had al this folk beholde, 1285
 And fond me lous, and noght y-holde,
 And eft y-mused longe whyle
 Upon these walles of beryle,
 That shoon ful lighter than a glas,
 And made wel more than hit was (200)

To semen, every thing, y-wis, 1291
 As kinde thing of fames is ;
 I gan forth romen til I fond
 The castel-yate on my right hond,
 Which that so wel corven was 1295
 That never swich another nas ;
 And yit hit was by aventure
 Y-wrought, as often as by cure.

Hit nedeth noght yow for to tellen,
 To make yow to longe dwellen, (210) 1300
 Of this yates florisahinges,
 Ne of compasses, ne of kervinges,
 Ne how they †hatte in masoneries,
 As, corbets full of imageries.

But, lord ! so fair hit was to shewe, 1305
 For hit was al with gold behewe.
 But in I wente, and that anon ;
 Ther mette I crying many oon,—
 ‘ A larges, larges, hold up wel !

God save the lady of this pel, (220) 1310
 Our owne gentil lady Fame,
 And hem that wilnen to have name
 Of us !’ Thus herde I cryen alle,
 And faste comen out of halle,
 And shoken nobles and sterlinges. 1315
 And somme crowned were as kinges,
 With crownes wrought ful of losenges ;
 And many riban, and many franges
 Were on hir clothes trewely.

Tho atte laste aspyed I (230) 1320
 That pursevauntes and heraudes,
 That cryen riche folkes laudes,
 Hit weren alle ; and every man
 Of hem, as I yow tellen can,
 Had on him throwen a vesture, 1325

Which that men clepe a cote-armure,
 Enbrowded wonderliche riche,
 Al-though they nere nought y-liche.
 But noght nil I, so mote I thryve,
 Been aboute to discoryve (240) 1330

Al these armes that ther weren,
 That they thus on hir cotes beren,
 For hit to me were impossible ;
 Men mighte make of hem a bible
 Twenty foot thikke, as I trowe. 1335
 For certeyn, who-so coude y-knowe
 Mighte ther alle the armes seen
 Of famous folk that han y-been
 In Auffrike, Europe, and Asye,
 Sith first began the chevalrye. (250) 1340
 Lo ! how shulde I now telle al this ?

Ne of the halle eek what nede is
 To tellen yow, that every wal
 Of hit, and floor, and roof and al
 Was plated half a fote thikke 1345
 Of gold, and that nas no-thing wikke,
 But, for to prove in alle wyse,
 As fyn as ducat in Venyse,
 Of whiche to lyte al in my pouche is?
 And they wer set as thikke of nouchis (260)
 Fulle of the fynest stones faire, 1351
 That men rede in the Lapidaire,
 As greses growen in a mede;
 But hit wer alle to longe to rede
 The names; and therefore I pace. 1355
 But in this riche lusty place,
 That Fames halle called was,
 Ful moche prees of folk ther nas,
 Ne crowding, for to mochil prees.
 But al on hye, above a dees, (270) 1360 †Sitte in a see imperial,
 That maad was of a rubee al,
 Which that a carbuncle is y-called,
 I saugh, perpetually y-stalled,
 A femynye creaturo; 1365
 That never formed by nature
 Nas swich another thing y-seya.
 For altherfirst, soth for to seye,
 Me thoughte that she was so lyte,
 That the lengthe of a cubyte (280) 1370
 Was lenger than she semed be;
 But thus sone, in a whyle, she Hir tho so †wonderliche streighte,
 That with hir fet she th'erthe reighte,
 And with hir heed she touched hevене,
 Ther as shynen sterres sevene. 1376
 And ther-to eek, as to my wit,
 I saugh a gretter wonder yit,
 Upon hir eye to beholde;
 But certeyn I hem never tolde; (290) 1380
 For as fele eyen hadde she
 As fetheres upon foules be,
 Or weren on the bestes foure,
 That goddes trone gunne honoure,
 As John writ in th'apocalips. 1385
 Hir heer, that oundy was and crips,
 As burned gold hit shoon to see.
 And sooth to tellen, also she Had also fele up-standing eres
 And tonges, as on bestes heres; (300) 1390
 And on hir feet wexen saugh I Partriches wings redely

But, lord! the perrie and the richesse
 I saugh sitting on this goddesse!
 And, lord! the hevenish melodye 1395
 Of songes, ful of armonye,
 I herde aboute her trone y-songe,
 That al the paleys-walles ronge!
 So song the mighty Muse, she
 That cleped is Caliopee, (310) 1400
 And hir eighte sustren eke,
 That in hir face semen meke;
 And evermo, eternally,
 They songe of Fame, as tho herde I:—
 'Heried be thou and thy name, 1405
 Goddesse of renoun and of fame!'

Tho was I war, lo, atte laste,
 As I myn eyen gan up caste,
 That this ilke noble quene
 On hir shuldres gan sustene (320) 1410
 Bothe th'armes and the name
 Of tho that hadde large fame;
 Alexander, and Hercules
 That with a sherte his lyf lees!
 †Thus fond I sitting this goddesse, 1415
 In nobley, honour, and richesse;
 Of which I stinte a whyle now,
 Other thing to tellen yow.
 Tho saugh I stonde on either ayde,
 Streight doun to the dores wyde, (330) 1420
 Fro the dees, many a pileer
 Of metal, that shoon not ful cleer;
 But though they nere of no richesse,
 Yet they were maad for greet noblesse,
 And in hem greet [and hy] sentence; 1425
 And folk of digne reverence,
 Of whiche I wol yow telle fonde,
 Upon the piler saugh I stonde.
 Alderfirst, lo, ther I sigh,
 Upon a piler stonde on high, (340) 1430
 That was of lede and yren fyn,
 Him of secte Saturnyn,
 Th' Ebrayk Josephus, the olde,
 That of Jewes gestes tolde;
 And bar upon his shuldres hye 1435
 The fame up of the Jewerye.
 And by him stoden other sevene,
 Wyse and worthy for to nevene,
 To helpen him bere up the charge,
 Hit was so hevye and so large. (350) 1440
 And for they written of batailles,
 As wel as other olde mervailles,
 Therfor was, lo, this pileer,

- Of which that I yow telle heer,
Of lede and yren bothe, y-wis. 1445
For yren Martes metal is,
Which that god is of bataile;
And the leed, withouten faile,
Is, lo, the metal of Saturne,
That hath ful large wheel to turne. (360) 1451
Tho stoden forth, on every rowe,
Of hem which that I coude knowe,
Thogh I hem noght by ordre telle,
To make yow to long to dwelle.
These, of whiche I ginne rede, 1455
Ther saugh I stonden, out of drede:
Upon an yren piler strong,
That peynted was, al endelong,
With tygres blode in every place,
The Tholosan that highte Stace, (370) 1460
That bar of Thebes up the fame
Upon his shuldres, and the name
Also of cruel Achilles.
And by him stood, withouten lees,
Ful wonder hye on a pileer 1465
Of yren, he, the gret Omeer;
And with him Dares and Tytus
Before, and eek he, Lolluis,
And Guido eek de Columpnis,
And English Gaufride eek, y-wis; (380) 1470
And ech of these, as have I joye,
Was besy for to bere up Troye.
So hevye ther-of was the fame,
That for to bere hit was no game.
But yit I gan ful wel espye, 1475
Betwix hem was a litel envye.
Oon seyde, Omere made lyes,
Feyninge in his poetryes,
And was to Grekes favorable;
Therfor held he hit but fable. (390) 1480
Tho saugh I stonde on a pileer,
That was of tinned yren cleer,
That Latin poete, [dan] Virgyle,
That bore hath up a longe whyle
The fame of Pius Eneas. 1485
And next him on a piler was,
Of copur, Venus clerk, Ovyde,
That hath y-sowen wonder wyde
The grete god of Loves name.
And thur he bar up wel his fame, (400)
Upon this piler, also hye 1491
As I might see hit with myn y8:
For-why this halle, of whiche I rede
Was woxe on þhighte, lengthe and brede,
Wel more, by a thousand del, 1495
Than hit was erst, that saugh I wel.
Tho saugh I, on a piler by,
Of yren wrought ful sternely,
The grete poete, daun Lucan,
And on his shuldres bar up than, (410)
As highe as that I mighte see, 1501
The fame of Julius and Pompee.
And by him stoden alle these clerkes,
That writen of Romes mighty werkes,
That, if I wolde hir names telle, 1505
Al to longe moste I dwelle.
And next him on a piler stood
Of soulfre, lyk as he were wood,
Dan Claudian, the soth to telle,
That bar up al the fame of helle, (420) 1510
Of Pluto, and of Proserpyne,
That quene is of the derke pyne.
What shulde I more telle of this?
The halle was al ful, y-wis,
Of hem that writen olde gestes, 1515
As ben on trees rokes nestes;
But hit a ful confus matere
Were al the gestes for to here,
That they of write, and how they
highte.
But whyl that I beheld this sighte, (430)
I herde a noise aprochen blyve, 1521
That ferde as been don in an hyve,
Agen her tyme of out-fleyinge;
Right swiche a maner murmuringe,
For al the world, hit semed me. 1525
Tho gan I loke aboute and see,
That ther com entring þin the halle
A right gret company with-alle,
And that of sondry regiouns,
Of alleskinnes condiciouns, (440) 1530
That dwelle in erthe under the mone,
Pore and ryche. And also sone
As they were come into the halle,
They gonne down on kneës falle
Before this ilke noble quene, 1535
And seyde, 'Graunte us, lady shene,
Ech of us, of thy grace, a bone!'
And somme of hem she graunted
sone,
And somme she werned wel and faire;
And somme she graunted the contraire
Of hir axing utterly. (451) 1541
But thus I seye yow trewely,
What hir cause was, I niste.

For this folk, ful wel I wiste,
They hadde good fame ech deserved, 1545
Although they were diversly served ;
Right as hir suster, dame Fortune,
Is wont to serven in comune.

Now herkne how she gan to paye
That gonne hir of hir grace praye ; (460)
And yit, lo, al this companye 1551
Seyden sooth, and noght a lye.

'Madame,' seyden they, 'we be Folk that heer besechen thee,
That thou graunte us now good fame, 1555
And lete our werkes han that name ;
In ful recompensacioun

Of good werk, give us good renoun.'
'I werne yow hit,' quod she anon,
'Ye gete of me good fame noon, (470) 1560
By god ! and therfor go your way.'

'Alas,' quod they, 'and welaway !
Telle us, what may your cause be ?'
'For me list hit noght,' quod she ;
'No wight shal speke of yow, y-wis, 1565
Good ne harm, ne that ne this.'

And with that word she gan to calle
Hir messenger, that was in halle,
And bad that he shulde faste goon,
†Up peyne to be blind anon, (480) 1570
For Eolus, the god of winde ;—

'In Trace ther ye shul him finde,
And bid him bringe his clarioun,
That is ful dyvers of his soun,
And hit is cleped Clare Laude, 1575
With which he wont is to heraude
Hem that me list y-preised be :
And also bid him how that he Bringe his other clarioun,
That highte Sclaundre in every toun, (490)
With which he wont is to diffame 1581
Hem that me list, and do hem shame.'

This messenger gan faste goon,
And found wher, in a cave of stoon,
In a contree that highte Trace, 1585
This Eolus, with harde grace,
Held the windes in distresse,
And gan hem under him to presse,
That they gonne as beres rore,
He bond and pressed hem so sore. (500)

This messenger gan faste crye, 1591
'Rys up,' quod he, 'and faste hye,
Til that thou at my lady be ;
And tak thy clarions eek with thee,

And speed thee forth.' And he anon 1595
Took to a man, that hight Triton,
His clariouns to bere tho,
And leet a certeyn wind to go,
That blew so hidously and hye,
That hit ne lefte not a skye (510) 1600
In al the welken longe and brood.

● This Eolus no-wher abood
Til he was come at Fames feet,
And eek the man that Triton heet ;
And ther he stood, as still as stoon. 1605
And her-withal ther com anon

Another huge companye
Of gode folk, and gunne crye,
'Lady, graunte us now good fame,
And lat our werkes han that name (520)
Now, in honour of gentilese, 1611
And also god your soule blesse !

For we han wel deserved hit,
Therfor is right that we ben quit.'
'As thryve I,' quod she, 'ye shal
faile,

Good werkes shal yow noght availe 1616
To have of me good fame as now,
But wite ye what ? I graunte yow,
That ye shal have a shrewed fame 1619
And wikked loos, and worse name, (530)
Though ye good loos have wel deserved.

Now go your way, for ye be served ;
And thou, dan Eolus, let see !
Tak forth thy trumpe anon,' quod she,
'That is y-cleped Sclaundre light, 1625
And blow hir loos, that every wight
Speke of hem harm and shrewednesse,
In stede of good and worthinesse.
For thou shalt trumpe al the contraire
Of that they han don wel or faire.' 1630

'Alas,' thoughte I, 'what adventures
Han these sory creatures ! (542)
For they, amonges al the pres,
Shul thus be shamed gilteles !
But what ! hit moste nedes be.' 1635

What did this Eolus, but he Tok out his blakke trumpe of bras,
That fouler than the devil was,
And gan this trumpe for to blowe,
As al the world shulde overthrowe ; (550)
That through-out every regioun 1641
Wente this foule trumpes soun,
As swift as pelet out of gonne,
Whan fyr is in the poudre ronne.

And swiche a smoke gan out-wende 1645
 Out of his foule trumpes ende,
 Blak, blo, grenish, swartish reed,
 As doth wher that men melte leed,
 Lo, al on high fro the tuel!
 And therto oo thing saugh I wel, (560) 1650
 That, the ferther that hit ran,
 The gretter waxen hit began,
 As doth the river from a welle,
 And hit stank as the pit of helle.
 Alas, thus was hir shame y-ronge, 1655
 And gulteles, on every tonge.

Tho com the thridde companye,
 And gunne up to the dees to hye,
 And down on knees they fille anon,
 And seyde, 'We ben everichon (570) 1660
 Folk that han ful trewely
 Deserved fame rightfully,
 And praye yow, hit mot be knowe,
 Right as hit is, and forth y-blowe.'
 'I graunte,' quod she, 'for me list 1665
 That now your gode †werk be wist;
 And yit ye shul han better loos,
 Right in dispyt of alle your foos,
 Than worthy is; and that anon:
 Lat now,' quod she, 'thy trumpe goon, (580)
 Thou Eolus, that is so blak; 1671
 And out thyn other trumpe tak
 That highte Laude, and blow hit so
 That through the world hir fame go Al esely, and not to faste, 1675
 That hit be known atte laste.'

'Ful gladly, lady myn,' he seyde;
 And out his trumpe of golde he brayde
 Anon, and sette hit to his mouthe,
 And blew hit est, and west, and southe, (590)
 And north, as loude as any thunder, 1681
 That every wight hadde of hit wonder,
 So brode hit ran, or than hit stenta.
 And, certes, al the breeth that wente
 Out of his trumpes mouthe smelde 1685
 As men a pot-ful †bawme helde
 Among a basket ful of roses;
 This favour dide he til hir loses.

And right with this I gan aspye,
 Ther com the ferthe companye— (600) 1690
 But certeyn they were wonder fewe—
 And gonne stonden in a rewe,
 And seyden, 'Certes, lady brighte,
 We han don wel with al our mighte;
 But we ne kepen have no fame. 1695

Hyd our werkes and our name,
 For goddes love! for certes we Han certeyn doon hit for bountee,
 And for no maner other thing.'
 'I graunte yow al your asking,' (610) 1700
 Quod she; 'let your †werk be deed.'

With that aboute I clew myn heed,
 And saugh anon the fiftte route
 That to this lady gonne loute,
 And down on knees anon to falle; 1705
 And to hir tho besoughten alle
 To hyde hir gode werkes eek,
 And seyde, they yeven noght a leek
 For fame, ne for swich renoun;
 For they, for contemplacioun (620) 1710
 And goddes love, hadde y-wrought;
 Ne of fame wolde they nought.

'What?' quod she, 'and be ye wood?
 And wene ye for to do good,
 And for to have of that no fame? 1715
 Have ye dispyt to have my name?
 Nay, ye shul liven everichoon!
 Blow thy trumpe and that anon,'
 Quod she, 'thou Eolus, I hote,
 And ring this folkes †werk by note, (630)
 That al the world may of hit here.' 1721
 And he gan blowe hir loos so clere
 In his golden clarioun,
 That through the world wente the soun,
 †So kenely, and eek so softe; 1725
 But atte laste hit was on-lofte.

Thoo com the sexte companye,
 And gonne faste on Fame crye.
 Right verraily, in this manere
 They seyden: 'Mercy, lady dere! (640) 1730
 To telle certein, as hit is,
 We han don neither that ne this,
 But ydel al our lyf y-be.
 But, natheles, yit preye we,
 That we mowe han so good a fame, 1735
 And greet renoun and known name,
 As they that han don noble gestes,
 And acheved alle hir lestes,
 As wel of love as other thing;
 Al was us never broche ne ring, (650) 1740
 Ne elles nought, from wimmen sent,
 Ne ones in hir herte y-ment
 To make us only frendly chere,
 But mighte temen us on bere;
 Yit lat us to the peple seme 1745
 Swiche as the world may of us deme,

That wimmen loven us for wood.
 Hit shal don us as moche good,
 And to our herte as moche availe
 To countrepeise ese and travaile, (660) 1750
 As we had wonne hit with labour;
 For that is dere boght honour
 At regard of our grete ese.
 And yit thou most us more plesse;
 Let us be holden eek, therto, 1755
 Worthy, wyse, and gode also,
 And riche, and happy unto love.
 For goddes love, that sit above,
 Though we may not the body have
 Of wimmen, yet, so god yow save! (670) 1760
 Let men glewe on us the name;
 Suffyceth that we han the fame.'

'I graunte,' quod she, 'by my trouthe!
 Now, Eolus, with-outen slouthe,
 Tak out thy trumpe of gold, †let see, 1765
 And blow as they han axed me,
 That every man wene hem at ese,
 Though they gon in ful badde lese.'
 This Eolus gan hit so blowe, (679) 1769
 That through the world hit was y-
 knowe.

Tho com the seventh route anon,
 And fel on knets everichoon,
 And seyde, 'Lady, graunte us sone
 The same thing, the same bone,
 That [ye] this nexte folk han doon.' 1775
 'Fy on yow,' quod she, 'everichoon!
 Ye masty swyn, ye ydel wrecches,
 Ful of roten slowe tecches!
 What? false theves! wher ye wolde
 Be famous good, and no-thing nolde (690)
 Deserve why, ne never roughte? 1781
 Men rather yow to-hangen oughte!
 For ye be lyk the sweynte cat,
 That wolde have fish; but wostow what?
 He wolde no-thing wete his clowes. 1785
 Yvel thrift come on your jowes,
 And eek on myn, if I hit graunte,
 Or do yow favour, yow to avaunte!
 Thou Eolus, thou king of Trace!
 Go, blow this folk a sory grace,' (700) 1790
 Quod she, 'anon; and wostow how?
 As I shal telle thee right now;
 Sey: "These ben they that wolde honour
 Have, and do noskinnes labour,
 Ne do no good, and yit han laude; 1795
 And that men wende that bele Isaude

Ne coude hem noght of love werne;
 And yit she that grint at a querne
 Is al to good to ese hir herte."
 This Eolus anon up sterte, (710) 1800
 And with his blakke clarion
 He gan to blasen out a soun,
 As loude as belweth wind in helle.
 And eek therwith, [the] sooth to telle,
 This soun was [al] so ful of japes, 1805
 As ever mowes were in apes.
 And that wente al the world aboute,
 That every wight gan on hem shoute,
 And for to laughe as they were wode;
 Such game fonde they in hir hode. (720)
 Tho com another companye, 1811
 That had y-doon the traiterye,
 The harm, the †greatest wikkednesse
 That any herte conthe gesse;
 And preyed hir to han good fame, 1815
 And that she nolde hem doon no
 shame,

But yewe hem loos and good renoun,
 And do hit blowe in clarion.
 'Nay, wis!' quod she, 'hit were a
 vyce;

Al be ther in me no justyce, (730) 1820
 Me listeth not to do hit now,
 Ne this nil I not graunte you.'

Tho come ther lepinge in a route,
 And gonne choppen al aboute
 Every man upon the croune, 1825
 That al the halle gan to sounne,
 And seyden: 'Lady, lefe and dere,
 We ben swich folk as ye mowe here.
 To tellen al the tale aright,
 We ben shrewes, every wight, (740) 1830
 And han delyt in wikkednesse,
 As gode folk han in goodnesse;
 And joye to be knowen shrewes,
 And fulle of vyce and wikked thewes;
 Wherfor we preyen yow, a-rowe, 1835
 That our fame swich be knowe
 In alle thing right as hit is.'

'I graunte hit yow,' quod she, 'y-wis.
 But what art thou that seyst this tale,
 That werest on thy hose a pale, (750) 1840
 And on thy tipet swiche a belle!
 'Madame,' quod he, 'sooth to telle,
 I am that ilke shrewe, y-wis,
 That brande the temple of Isisid
 In Athenes, lo, that citee.' 1845

'And wherfor didest thou so?' quod she.

'By my thrift,' quod he, 'madame,
I wolde fayn han had a fame,
As other folk hadde in the toun,
Al-though they were of greet renoun (760)

For hir vertu and for hir thewes; 1851

Thoughte I, as greet a fame han shrewes,

Thogh hit be †but for shrewednesse,

As gode folk han for goodnesse;

And sith I may not have that oon, 1855

That other nil I noght for-goon.

And for to gette of Fames hyre,

The temple sette I al a-fyre.

Now do our loos be blownen swythe,

As wisly be thou ever blythe.' (770) 1860

'Gladly,' quod she; 'thou Eolus,

Herestow not what they preyen us?'

'Madame, yis, ful wel,' quod he,

'And I wil trumpen hit, parde!'

And tok his blakke trumpe faste, 1865

And gan to puffen and to blaste,

Til hit was at the worldes ende.

With that I gan aboute wende;

For oon that stood right at my bak,

Me thoughte, goodly to me spak, (780) 1870

And seyde: 'Frend, what is thy name?'

Artow come hider to han fame?'

'Nay, for-sothe, frend!' quod I;

'I cam noght hider, graunt mercy!

For no swich cause, by my heed! 1875

Suffyceth me, as I were deed,

That no wight have my name in

honde.

I woot my-self best how I stonde;

For what I drye or what I thinke,

I wol my-selven al hit drinke, (790) 1880

Certeyn, for the more part,

As ferforth as I can myn art.'

'But what dost thou here than?' quod he.

Quod I, 'that wol I tellen thee,

The cause why I stonds here:— 1885

Som newe tydings for to lere:—

Som newe †things, I not what,

Tydings, other this or that,

Of love, or swiche things glade.

For certeynly, he that me made (800) 1890

To comen hider, seyde me,

I shulde bothe here and see,

In this place, wonder things;

But these be no swiche tydinges

As I mene of.' 'No?' quod he. 1895

And I answerde, 'No, pardee!

For wel I †wiste, ever yit,

Sith that first I hadde wit,

That som folk han desyred fame

Dyversly, and loos, and name; (810) 1900

But certeynly, I niste how

Ne wher that Fame †dwelte, er now;

Ne eek of hir descripcioun,

Ne also hir condicioun,

Ne the ordre of hir dome, 1905

Unto the tyme I hider come.'

'†Whiche be, lo, these tydinges,

That thou now (thus) hider bringes,

That thou hast herd?' quod he to me;

'But now, no fors; for wel I see (820) 1910

What thou desyrest for to hera.

Com forth, and stond no longer here,

And I wol thee, with-outen drede,

In swich another place lede,

Ther thou shalt here many oon.' 1915

The gan I forth with him to goon

Out of the castel, soth to seye.

The saugh I stonde in a valeye,

Under the castel, faste by,

An hous, that domus Dedali, (830) 1920

That Laborintus cleped is,

Nas maad so wonderliche, y-wis,

Ne half so queynteliche y-wrought.

And evermo, so swift as thought,

This queynte hous aboute wente, 1925

That never-mo hit stille stente.

And ther-out com so greet a noise,

That, had hit stonden upon Oise,

Men mighte hit han herd esely

To Rome, I trowe sikerly. (840) 1930

And the noyse which that I herde,

For al the world right so hit ferde,

As doth the routing of the stoon

That from th'engyn is leten goon.

And al this hous, of whiche I rede, 1935

Was made of twigges, falwe, rede,

And grene eek, and som weren whyte,

Swiche as men to these cages thwyte,

Or maken of these paniers,

Or elles †hottes or dossers; (850) 1940

That, for the swough and for the twigges,

This hous was also ful of gigges,

And also ful eek of chirkinges,

And of many other werkinges;

- And eek this hous hath of entrees 1945
 As fele as leves been on trees
 In somer, whan they grene been ;
 And on the roof men may yit seen
 A thousand holes, and wel mo,
 To leten wal the soun out go. (860) 1950
 And by day, in every tyde,
 Ben al the dores open wyde,
 And by night, echoon, unshette ;
 Ne porter ther is non to lette
 No maner tydings in to pace ; 1955
 Ne never reste is in that place,
 That hit nis fld ful of tydinges,
 Other loude, or of whispringes ;
 And, over alle the houses angles,
 Isful of rouninges and of jangles (870) 1960
 Of †werre, of pees, of mariages,
 Of †reste, of labour of viages,
 Of abood, of deeth, of lyfe,
 Of love, of hate, acoorde, of stryfe,
 Of loos, of lore, and of winninges, 1965
 Of hele, of sekeneesse, of bildinges,
 Of faire windes, †of tempestes,
 Of qualme of folk, and eek of bestes ;
 Of dyvers transmucioun
 Of estats, and eek of regions ; (880) 1970
 Of trust, of drede, of jelousye,
 Of wit, of winnunge, of folye ;
 Of plentee, and of greet famyne,
 Of chepe, of derth, and of ruyne ;
 Of good or †mis government, 1975
 Of fyr, of dyvers accident.
 And lo, this hous, of whiche I wryte,
 Siker be ye, hit nas not lyte ;
 For hit was sixty myle of lengthe ;
 Al was the timber of no strengthe, (890)
 Yet hit is founded to endure 1981
 Whyl that it list to Aventure,
 That is the moder of tydinges,
 As the see of welles and springes,—
 And hit was shapen lyk a cage. 1985
 ‘ Certes,’ quod I, ‘ in al myn age,
 Ne saugh I swich a hous as this.’
 And as I wondred me, y-wis,
 Upon this hous, tho war was I
 How that myn egle, faste by, (900) 1990
 Was perched hye upon a stoon ;
 And I gan streighte to him goon
 And seyde thus : ‘ I preye thee
 That thou a whyl abyde me
 For goddes love, and let me seen 1995
- What wondres in this place been ;
 For yit, paraventure, I may lere
 Som good ther-on, or sumwhat here
 That leef me were, or that I wente.’
 ‘ Peter ! that is myn entente,’ (910) 2000
 Quod he to me ; ‘ therfor I dwelle ;
 But certain, oon thing I thee telle,
 That, but I bringe thee ther-inne,
 Ne shalt thou never kunne ginne
 To come in-to hit, out of doute, 2005
 So faste hit whirlleth, lo, aboute.
 But sith that Joves, of his grace,
 As I have seyde, wol thee solace
 Fynally with †swiche thinges,
 Uncouthe sightes and tydinges, (920) 2010
 To passe with thyn hevinesse ;
 Suche routhe hath he of thy distresse,
 That thou suffrest debonairly—
 And worst thy-selven utterly Disesperat of alle blis, 2015
 Sith that Fortune hath maad a-mis
 The †fruit of al thyn hertes reste
 Languishe and eek in point to breste—
 That he, through his mighty meryte,
 Wol do thee ese, al be hit lyte, (930) 2020
 And †yaf expres commaundement,
 To whiche I am obedient,
 To furthre thee with al my might,
 And wisse and teche thee aright
 Wher thou maist most tydinges here ; 2025
 Shaltow †anoon heer many oon lere.’
 With this worde he, right anooun,
 Hente me up bitwene his toon,
 And at a windowe in me broghte, 2030
 That in this hous was, as methoghte—(940)
 And ther-withal, me thoghte hit stente.
 And no-thing hit aboute wente—
 And me sette in the flore adoun.
 But which a congregacioun
 Of folk, as I saugh rome aboute, 2035
 Some within and some withoute,
 Nas never seen, ne shal ben eft ;
 That, certes, in the world nis left
 So many formed by Nature,
 Ne deed so many a creature ; (950) 2040
 That wel unethe, in that place,
 Hadde I oon foot-brede of space ;
 And every wight that I saugh there Rouned ech in others ere
 A newe tyding prevely, 2045
 Or elles tolde al openly

Right thus, and seyde : ' Nost not
thou

That is betid, lo, late or now ? '

' No, ' quod †the other, ' tel me what ; '—

And than he tolde him this and that, (960)

And swoor ther-to that hit was sooth—

' Thus hath he seyð '—and ' Thus he
dooth '— 2052

' †Thus shal hit be '—†Thus herde I
seye '—

' That shal be found '—' That dar I
leye : '—

That al the folk that is a-lyve 2055

Ne han the cunning to discryve

The thinges that I herde there,

What aloude, and what in ere.

But al the wonder-most was this :—

Whan con had herd a thing, y-wis, (970)

He com †forth to another wight, 2061

And gan him tellen, anoon-right,

The same that to him was told,

Or hit a furlong-way was old,

But gan somewhat for to eche 2065

To this tyding in this speche

More than hit ever was.

And nat so sone departed nas

That he fro him, that he ne mette

With the thridde ; and, or he lette (980)

Any stoude, he tolde him als ; 2071

Were the tyding sooth or fals,

Yit wolde he telle hit natheless.

And evermo with more encrees

Than hit was erst. Thus north and soothe 2075

Went every †word fro mouth to mouthe,

And that oncreasing ever-mo,

As fyr is wont to quikke and go

From a sparke spronge amis,

Til al a citee brent up is. (990) 2080

And, whan that was ful y-spronge,

And woxen more on every tonge

Than ever hit was, †hit wente anoon

Up to a windowe, out to goon ;

Or, but hit mighte out ther pace, 2085

Hit gan out crepe at som crevace,

And fleigh forth faste for the nones.

And somtyme saugh I tho, at ones,

A losing and a sad soth-sawe,

That gonne of aventure drawe (1000) 2090

Out at a windowe for to pace ;

And, when they metten in that place,

They were a-chekked bothe two,

And neither of hem moste out go ;

For other so they gonne croude, 2095

Til eche of hem gan cryen loude,

' Lat me go first ! ' ' Nay, but lat me !

And here I wol ensuren thee

With the nones that thou wolt do so,

That I shal never fro thee go, (1010) 2100

But be thyn owne sworn brother !

We wil medle us ech with other,

That no man, be he never so wrothe,

Shal han †that oon of two, but bothe

At ones, al beside his love, 2105

Come we a-morwe or on eve,

Be we cryed or stille y-rounded.'

Thus saugh I fals and sooth com-pouned

Togeder fleo for oo tydinge.

Thus out at holes gonne wringe (1020)

Every tyding streight to Fame ; 2111

And she gan yeven eche his name,

After hir disposicioun,

And yaf hem eek duracioun,

Some to wexe and wane sone, 2115

As dooth the faire whyte mone,

And leet hem gon. Ther mighte I seen

Wenged wondres faste fleen,

Twenty thousand in a route,

As Eolus hem blew aboute. (1030) 2120

And, lord ! this hous, in alle tymes,

Was ful of shipmen and pilgrymes,

With scrippes Bret-ful of lesinges,

Entremedled with tydinges,

And eek alone by hem-selve. 2125

O, many a thousand tymes twelve

Saugh I eek of these pardoneres,

Curours, and eek messangeres,

With boistes crammed ful of lyes

As ever vessel was with lyea. (1040) 2130

And as I alther-fastest wente

Aboute, and dide al myn entente

Me for to pleye and for to lere,

And eek a tyding for to here.

That I had herd of som cонтree 2135

That shal not now be told for me ;—

For hit no nede is, redely ;

Folk can singe hit bet than I ;

For al mot out, other late or rathe,

Alle the sheres in the lathe ;— (1050) 2140

I herde a gret noise withalle

In a corner of the halle,
 Ther men of love tydings tolde,
 And I gan thiderward beholde;
 For I saugh renninge every wight, 2145
 As faste as that they hadden might;
 And everich cryed, 'What thing is that?'
 And som seyde I not never what.
 And whan they were alle on an hepe,
 Tho behinde gonne up lepe, (1060) 2150

And clamben up on othere faste,
 And up the þnose on hye caste,
 And troden faste on othere heles
 And stampe, as men don after eles.
 Atte laste I saugh a man, 2155
 Which that I [nevene] naught ne can;
 But he samed for to be
 A man of greet auctoritee . . . (1068) 2158

And I acorde wel that hit is so ;
But natheles, yit wot I wel also,
That ther nis noon dwelling in this
contree, 5
That either hath in heven or helle y-be,
Ne may of hit non other weyes witen,
But as he hath herd seyde, or founde hit

For by assay ther may no man hit preve.
But god forbode but men shulde leve 10
Wel more thing then men han seen with
y8 !
Men shal nat wenen every-thing a ly8
But-if him-self hit seeth, or elles dooth ;
For, god wot, thing is never the lasse
sooth, 14
Thogh every wight ne may hit nat y-see.
Bernard the monk ne saugh nat al, parde !
Than mote we to bokes that we finde,
Through which that olde thinges been in minda,
And to the doctrine of these olde wyse,
Yeve credence, in every skilful wyse, 20
That tellen of these olde aproved stories,
Of holinesse, of regnes, of victories,
Of love, of hate, of other sundry thinges,
Of whiche I may not maken rehersinges.
And if that olde bokes were a-weye, 25
Y-loren were of remembraunce the keye.
Wel oghte us than honouren and beleve

Ther-as ther is non other assay by preve.

And, as for me, though that my wit be lyte,

On bokes for to rede I me delyte, 30
And in myn herte have hem in reverence;

And to hem yeve swich lust and swich credence,

That ther is wel unethe game noon
That from my bokes make me to goon,
But hit be other up-on the haly-day, 35
Or elles in the joly tyme of May;

Whan that I here the smale foules singe,

And that the floures ginne for to springe,
Farwel my studie, as lasting that sesoun!

Now have I therto this condicioun 40
That, of alle the floures in the mede,
Than love I most these floures whyte and rede,

Swiche as men callen daysies in our toun.
To hem have I so greet affeccioun, 44
As I seyde erst, whan comen is the May,
That in my bed ther daweth me no day
That I nam up, and walking in the mede
To seen these floures agein the sonne sprede,

Whan it up-riseth by the morwe shene, 49
The longe day, thus walking in the grene.
And whan the sonne ginneth for to weste,
Than closeth hit, and draweth hit to reste.
So sore hit is afered of the night,
Til on the morwe, that hit is dayes light.
This dayesye, of alle floures flour, 55
Fulfld of vertu and of alle honour,
And ever y-lyke fair and fresh of hewe,
As wel in winter as in somer newe,

[Cf. ll. 51-3, above.]

These bokes, ther we han non other preve.

And as for me, thogh that I can but lyte,

On bokes for to rede I me delyte, 30
And to hem yeve I feyth and ful credence,

And in myn herte have hem in reverence

So hertely, that ther is game noon
That fro my bokes maketh me to goon,

But hit be seldom, on the holyday; 35
Save, certeynly, whan that the month of May

Is comen, and that I here the foules singe,

And that the floures ginnen for to springe,
Farwel my book and my devocioun!

Now have I than swich a condicioun,
That, of alle the floures in the mede, 41
Than love I most these floures whyte and rede,

Swiche as men callen daysies in our toun.
To hem have I so greet affeccioun, 44
As I seyde erst, whan comen is the May,
That in my bed ther daweth me no day
That I nam up, and walking in the mede
To seen this flour agein the sonne sprede,

Whan hit upryseth erly by the morwe;
That blisful sighte softneth al my sorwe,
So glad am I whan that I have presence
Of hit, to doon al maner reverence, 52

As she, that is of alle floures flour,
Fulfilled of al vertu and honour, 54
And ever y-lyke fair, and fresh of hewe;
And I love hit, and ever y-lyke newe,
And ever shal, til that myn herte dye;
Al swere I nat, of this I wol nat lye,
Ther loved no wight hotter in his lyve.

And whan that hit is eve, I renne blyve, 60

As some as ever the sonne ginneth weste,
To seen this flour, how it wol go to reste,
For fere of night, so hateth she derknesse!
Hir chere is pleynly sprad in the brightnesse

Of the sonne, for ther hit wol unclose. 65
Allas! that I ne had English, ryme or prose,

Fain wolde I preisen, if I coude aright; 59
But wo is me, hit lyth nat in my might!

For wel I wot, that folk han her-beforn
Of making ropen, and lad a-wey the corn;
And I come after, glening here and
there,
And am ful glad if I may finde an ere
Of any goodly word that they han left. 65
And, if hit hadde me rehersen eft
That they han in her freshe songes sayd,
I hope that they wil nat ben evel apayd,
Sith hit is seid in forthering and honour
Of hem that either serven leef or flour. 70

[Cf. p. 354, col. 2, ll. 188-196.]

For trusteth wel, I ne have nat under-
take

As of the leef, ageyn the flour, to make;
Ne of the flour to make, ageyn the leef,
No more than of the corn ageyn the
sheef.

For, as to me, is leifer noon ne lother; 75
I am with-holde yit with never nother.
I not who serveth leef, ne who the flour;
That nis nothing the entent of my labour.
For this werk is al of another tunne, 79
Of olde story, er swich stryf was begunne.

But wherfor that I spak, to yeve credence

To bokes olde and doon hem reverence,
Is for men shulde autoritees beleve, Ther as ther lyth non other assay by
preve.

For myn entent is, or I fro yow fare, 85
The naked text in English to declare
Of many a story, or elles of many a geste,
As autours seyn; levethe hem if yow leste!

Suffisant this flour to preyse aright!
But helpeth, ye that han conning and
might,

Ye lovers, that can make of sentement;
In this cas oghte ye be diligent 70
To forthren me somewhat in my labour, Whether ye ben with the leef or with the flour.

For wel I wot, that ye han her-biforn
Of making ropen, and lad away the corn;
And I come after, glening here and
there, 75

And am ful glad if I may finde an ere
Of any goodly word that ye han left.
And thogh it happen me rehersen eft
That ye han in your freshe songes sayd,
For-bereth me, and beth nat evel apayd,
Sin that ye see I do hit in the honour 81
Of love, and eek in service of the flour, Whom that I serve as I have wit or
might.

She is the clernesse and the verray light,
That in this derke worlde me wynt and ledeth, 85

The herte in-with my sorowful brest yow
dredeth,

And loveth so sore, that ye ben verrayly
The maistresse of my wit, and nothing I.
My word, my werk, is knit so in your
bonde,

That, as an harpe obeyeth to the honde 90
And maketh hit soune after his finger-
inge,

Right so mowe ye out of myn herte
bringe

Swich vois, right as yow list, to laughe or pleyne.

Be ye my gyde and lady sovereyne;
As to myn erthly god, to yow I calle, 95
Bothe in this werke and in my sorwes
alle.

But wherfor that I spak, to give credence

To olde stories, and doon hem reverence,
And that men mosten more thing beleve
Then men may seen at eye or elles preve?

That shal I seyn, whan that I see my
tyme; 101

I may not al at ones speke in ryme.
My beay gost, that thrusteth alwey newe

Whan passed was almost the month of
May,

And I had romed, al the someres day, 90
The grene medew, of which that I yow
tolds,

Upon the fresshe daysy to beholde,
And that the sonne out of the south gan
weste,

And closed was the flour and goon to
reste

For derknesse of the night, of which she
dredde, 95

Hoom to myn hous ful swiftly I me
spedde ;

And, in a lital erber that I have,
Y-benched newe with turves fresshe y-
grave,

I bad men shulde me my couche make ;
For deyntee of the newe someres sake, 100
I bad hem strowes floures on my bed.

Whan I was layd, and had myn eyen hed,
I fel a-slepe with-in an houre or two.

Mê mette how I was in the medew tho,
And that I romed in that same gyse, 105
To seen that flour, as ye han herd devyse.
Fair was this medew, as thoughte me
overal ;

With floures swote enbrowded was it al ;

As for to speke of gomme, or erbe, or
tree,

Comparisoun may noon y-maked be. 110
For hit surmounted pleylnly alle odoures,
And eek of riche beaute alle floures.

Forgeten had the erthe his pore estat
Of winter, that him naked made and mat,
And with his sward of cold so sore had greved. 115

Now had the atempre sonne al that re-
leved,

And clothed him in grene al newe agayn.
The smale foules, of the seson fayn,
That from the panter and the net ben
scaped, 119

Upon the fouler, that hem made a-whaped
In winter, and distroyed had hir brood,

To seen this flour so yong, so fresh of
hewe,

Constreyned me with so gledy desyr, 105
That in my herte I fele yit the fyr,
That made me to ryse er hit wer day—
And this was now the firste morwe of
May—

With dredful herte and glad devocioun,
For to ben at the resureccioun 110
Of this flour, whan that it shuld uncloze Agayn the sonne, that roos as rede as
rose,

That in the brest was of the beste that
day,

That Agenores doghter ladde away. 114
[Cf. p. 354, col. 2, ll. 197-210.]

And down on knees anon-right I me sette,
And, as I coude, this fresshe flour I grette ;
Kneling alwey, til hit uncloosed was,
Upon the smale softe swote gras,
That was with floures swote enbrouded al,

Of swich swetnesse and swich odour
over-al, 120

That, for to speke of gomme, or herbe, or
tree,

Comparisoun may noon y-maked be ;
For hit surmountath pleylnly alle odoures,
And eek of riche beantes alle floures.

Forgeten had the erthe his pore estat 125
Of winter, that him naked made and mat,
And with his sward of cold so sore greved ;

Now hath the atempre sonne al that re-
leved

That naked was, and clad hit new agayn.
The smale foules, of the seson fayn, 130
That from the panter and the net ben
scaped,

Upon the fouler, that hem made a-whaped
In winter, and distroyed had hir brood,

In his despyt, hem thoughte hit did hem
good

To singe of him, and in hir song despyse
The foule cherl that, for his covetyse, 124
Had hem betrayed with his sophistrye.
This was hir song—'the fouler we defye!'
Somme songen [layes] on the braunches
clere

Of love and [May], that joye hit was to
here,

In worship and in preysing of hir make,
And of the newe blisful someres sake, 130

That songen, 'blissed be seynt Valentyn!
[For] at his day I chees yow to be myn,
With-oute repenting, myn herte swete!
And therwith-al hir bekes gonnen mete.
†They dide honour and humble obei-saunces, 135

And after diden other observaunces

Right [plesing] un-to love and to nature;
So ech of hem [doth wel] to creature.

This song to herkne I dide al myn
entente, 139

For-why I mette I wiste what they mente.

In his despyt, hem thoughte hit did hem
good 134

To singe of him, and in hir song despyse
The foule cherl that, for his covetyse,
Had hem betrayed with his sophistrye.
This was hir song—'the fouler we defye,
And al his craft!' And somme songen
clere 139

Layes of love, that joye hit was to here,

In worshipinge and preisinge of hir make.
And, for the newe blisful somers sake,
Upon the braunches ful of blosmes softe,
In hir delyt, they turned hem ful ofte, 144
And songen, 'blessed be seynt Valentyn!
For on his day I chees yow to be myn,
Withouten repenting, myn herte swete!
And therwith-al hir bekes gonnen mete,
Yelding honour and humble obeisaunces

To love, and diden hir other obser-vaunces 150

That longeth unto love and to nature;
Construeth that as yow list, I do no cure.

And tho that hadde doon unkinde-
nesse—

As dooth the tydif, for new-fangelnesse—
Besoghte mercy of hir trespassinge, 155
And humbly songen hir repentinge,
And sworn on the blosmes to be trewe,
So that hir makes wolde upon hem rewe,
And at the laste maden hir acord.

Al founde they Daunger for a tyme a
lord, 160

Yet Pitee, through his stronge gentil
might,

Forgaf, and made Mercy passen Right,
Through innocence and ruled curtesye.

But I ne clepe nat innocence folye,
Ne fals pitee, for 'vertu is the mene,' 165
As Etik saith, in swich manere I mene.

And thus thise foules, voide of al malyce,
Acorleden to love, and laften vyce

Of hate, and songen alle of oon acord,
'Welcome, somer, our governour and
lord!' 170

And Zephirus and Flora gentilly
Yaf to the floures, softe and tenderly, Hir swote breth, and made hem for to
sprede,

As god and goddesse of the floury mede;

[Cf. p. 351, col. 1, ll. 71-80.]

[Cf. p. 352, col. 1, ll. 93-106.]

Til at the laste a larke song above: 141
 'I see,' quod she, 'the mighty god of love!
 Lo! yond he cometh, I see his winges
 sprede!'

The gan I loken endelong the mede,

In which me thoghte I mighte, day by
 day, 175
 Dwellen alwey, the joly month of May,
 Withouten sleep, withouten mete or
 drinke.

A-doun ful softly I gan to sinke;
 And, leninge on myn elbowe and my
 syde, 179

The longe day I shoop me for to abyde
 For nothing elles, and I shal nat lye,
 But for to loke upon the dayesye,
 That wel by reson men hit calle may
 The 'dayesye' or elles the 'ye of day,'
 The emperice and flour of floures alle. 185
 I pray to god that faire mot she falle,
 And alle that loven floures, for hir sake!
 But natheles, ne wene nat that I make
 In preysing of the flour agayn the leef,
 No more than of the corn agayn the
 sheef: 190

For, as to me, nis lever noon ne lother;
 I nam with-holden yit with never nother.
 Ne I not who serveth leef, ne who the
 flour;

Wel brouken they hir service or labour;
 For this thing is al of another tonne, 195
 Of olde story, er swich thing was begone.

Whan that the sonne out of the south
 gan weste,

And that this flour gan close and goon to
 reste

For derknesse of the night, the which she
 dredde,

Hoom to myn hous ful swiftly I me
 spedde 200

To goon to reste, and erly for to ryse,
 To seen this flour to sprede, as I devyse.

And, in a lital herber that I have,
 That benched was on turves fresshe y-
 grave, 204

I had men sholde me my couche make;
 For deyntee of the newe someres sake,
 I had hem strawen floures on my bed.
 Whan I was leyd, and had myn eyen hed,

I fel on slepe in-with an houre or two;
 Me mette how I lay in the medew tho, 210
 To seen this flour that I so love and drede.

And from a-fer com walking in the mede

And saw him come, and in his hond a
quene, 145

Clothed in ryal abite al of grene.

A fret of gold she hadde next hir heer,
And up-on that a whyt coroun she bear
With many floures, and I shal nat lye;
For al the world, right as the dayesye 150
I-coroned is with whyte leves lyte, Swich were the floures of hir coroun
whyte.

For of o perle fyn and oriental
Hir whyte coroun was y-maked al;
For which the whyte coroun, above the
grene, 155

Made hir lyk a daysie for to sene,
Considered eek the fret of gold above.

Y-clothed was this mighty god of love
Of silk, y-brouded ful of grene greves;
A garlond on his heed of rose-leves 160
Steked al with lillie floures newe;
But of his face I can nat seyn the hewe.

For sekirly his face shoon so brighte,

That with the gleem a-stoned was the
sighte; 164

A furlong-wey I mighte him nat beholde.
But at the laste in hande I saw him
holde

Two fyry dartes, as the gledes rede;
And aungellich his wenges gan he sprede.

And al be that men seyn that blind is he,
Al-gate me thoughte he mighte wel y-see;
For sternely on me he gan biholde, 171
So that his lokyng doth myn herte colde.
And by the hande he held the noble
quene,

Corowned with whyte, and clothed al in
grene,

So womanly, so benigne, and so meke, 175
That in this world, thogh that men wolde
seke,

Half hir beautee shulde men nat finde
In creature that formed is by kinde,
Hir name was Alceste the debonayre;
I prey to god that ever falle she fayre! 180
For ne hadde confort been of hir presence,

I had be deed, withouten any defence,

The god of love, and in his hande a
quene;

And she was clad in real habit grene.

A fret of gold she hadde next hir heer, 215
And upon that a whyt coroun she bear
With floures smale, and I shal nat lye;
For al the world, ryght as a dayesye
Y-corowned is with whyte leves lyte, 219
So were the floures of hir coroun
whyte.

For of o perle fyne, oriental,
Hir whyte coroun was y-maked al;
For which the whyte coroun, above the
grene,

Made hir lyk a daysie for to sene,
Considered eek hir fret of gold above. 225

Y-clothed was this mighty god of love
In silke, enbrouded ful of grene greves,
In-with a fret of rede rose-leves,
The freshest ain the world was first bigonna. 229

His gilte heer was corowned with a sonne,
In-stede of gold, for hevynesse and wighte;
Therwith me thoughte his face shoon so
brighte

That wel unnethes mighte I him beholde;
And in his hande me thoughte I saugh him holde

Two fyry dartes, as the gledes rede; 235
And aungellyke his winges saugh I
sprede.

And al be that men seyn that blind is he,
Al-gate me thoughte that he mighte see;
For sternely on me he gan biholde,
So that his lokyng doth myn herte colde.
And by the hande he held this noble
quene, 241

Corowned with whyte, and clothed al in
grene,

So womanly, so benigne, and so meke,
That in this world, thogh that men wolde
seke,

Half hir beautee shulde men nat finde 245
In creature that formed is by kinde.

[Cf. p. 357, col. 2, ll. 276-9.]

For drede of Loves wordes and his chere,
 As, whan tyme is, her-after ye shal here.
 Byhind this god of love, up-on this grene,
 I saw cominge of ladyes nyntene 186
 In ryal abite, a ful esy pas,
 And after hem com of wemen swich a tras
 That, sin that god Adam made of erthe,
 The thredde part of wemen, ne the farthe,
 Ne wende I nat by possibilittee 191
 Hadden ever in this world y-be ;
 And trewe of love thise wemen were schoon.

Now whether was that a wonder thing
 or noon,
 That, right anoon as that they gonne
 espye 195
 This flour, which that I clepe the dayesye,
 Ful sodeinly they stinten alle at-ones,
 And kneled adoun, as it were for the
 nones.
 And after that they wenten in compas,
 Daunsinge aboute this flour an esypas, 200
 And songen, as it were in carole-wyse,
 This balade, which that I shal yow devyse.

Balade.

Hyd, Absolon, thy gilte tresses clere ;
 Ester, ley thou thy meknesse al a-doun ;
 Hyd, Jonathas, al thy frendly manere ; 205
 Penalopee, and Marcia Catoun,
 Mak of your wyfhod no comparisoun ;
 Hyde ye your beautes, Isoude and Eleyne,
 Alceste is here, that al that may desteyne.

Thy faire bodye, lat hit nat appere, 210
 Lavyne ; and thou, Lucesse of Rome
 toun,
 And Polixene, that boghte love so dere,
 Eek Cleopatre, with al thy passioun, Hyde ye your trouthe in love and your
 renoun ;
 And thou, Tisbe, that hast for love swich
 peyne : 215
 Alceste is here, that al that may desteyne.

Herro, Dido, Laudomia, alle in-fere,
 Eek Phyllis, hanging for thy Demophoun,
 And Canace, espyed by thy chere,
 Yaiphile, betrayed with Jason, 220

[Cf. p. 357, col. 2, ll. 280-296.]

And therfor may I seyn, as thinketh me,
 This song, in preysing of this lady fre.

Balade.

Hyd, Absolon, thy gilte tresses clere ; 240
 Ester, ley thou thy meknesse al a-doun ;
 Hyd, Jonathas, al thy frendly manere ;
 Penalopee, and Marcia Catoun,
 Mak of your wyfhod no comparisoun ;
 Hyde ye your beautes, Isoude and Eleyne,
 My lady cometh, that al this may dis-
 teyne. 255

Thy faire body, lat hit nat appere, Lavyne ; and thou, Lucesse of Rome
 toun,
 And Polixene, that boghten love so dere,
 And Cleopatre, with al thy passioun, Hyde ye your trouthe of love and your
 renoun ; 260
 And thou, Tisbe, that hast of love swich
 peyne ;
 My lady cometh, that al this may dis-
 teyne.

Herro, Dido, Laudomia, alle y-fere,
 And Phyllis, hanging for thy Demophoun,
 And Canace, espyed by thy chere, 265
 Yaiphile, betrayed with Jason,

Mak of your trouthe in love no best ne
soun ;

Nor Ypermistre or Adriane, ne pleyne ;
Alceste is here, that al that may desteyne.

Whan that this balade al y-songen was,

[Cf. pp. 355-6, col. 1, ll. 179-198.]

Upon the softe and swote grene gras, 225
They setten hem ful softly adoun,
By ordre alle in compas, alle enverroun.
First sat the god of love, and than this
quene

With the whyte coroun, clad in grene ;
And sithen al the remenant by and by,
As they were of degree, ful curteisly ; 231

Maketh of your trouthe neyther boost ne
soun ;

Nor Ypermistre or Adriane, ye tweyne ;
My lady cometh, that al this may disteyne.

This balade may ful wel y-songen be, 270
As I have seyde erst, by my lady free ;
For certeynly, alle these mow nat suffyse
To apperen with my lady in no wyse.
For as the sonne wol the fyr disteyne,
So paeseth al my lady sovereyne, 275
That is so good, so fair, so debonaire ;
I prey to god that ever falle hir faire !
For, nadde comfourt been of hir presence,
I had ben deed, withouten any defence,
For drede of Loves wordes and his chere ;
As, when tyme is, her-after ye shal here.

Behind this god of love, upon the grene,
I saugh cominge of ladyes nyntene
In real habit, a ful esy paas ;

And after hem com of women swich a traas, 285

That, sin that god Adam had maad of erthe,

The thridde part of mankynd, or the ferthe,

Ne wende I nat by possibilitee,
Had ever in this wyde worlde y-be ;

And trewe of love these women were echoon. 290

Now whether was that a wonder thing
or noon,

That, right anon as that they gonne
espye

This flour, which that I clepe the dayesye,
Ful sodeinly they stinten alle at ones,

And kneled down, as it were for the
nones, 295

And songen with o vois, ' Hele and honour
To trouthe of womanhede, and to this flour

That berth our alder prys in figuringe !
Hir whyte coroun berth the witnessinge !'

And with that word, a-compas enviroun, 300

They setten hem ful softly adoun.
First sat the god of love, and sith his

quene
With the whyte coroun, clad in grene ;

And sithen al the remenant by and by,
As they were of estaat, ful curteisly ; 305

Ne nat a word was spoken in the place
The mountance of a furlong-wey of space.

I, lening faste by under a bente,
Abood, to knowen what this peple mente,
As stille as any stoon; til at the laste, 236
The god of love on me his eye caste,
And seyde, 'who resteth ther?' and I
answerde

Un-to his axing, whan that I him herde,
And seyde, 'sir, hit am I'; and cam him
neer, 240

And salued him. Quod he, 'what dostow
heer

In my presence, and that so boldely?
For it were better worthy, trewely,
A worm to comen in my sight than
thou.'

'And why, sir,' quod I, 'and hit lyke
yow?' 245

'For thou,' quod he, 'art ther-to nothing
able.

My servaunts been alle wyse and honourable.

Thou art my mortal fo, and me warreyest,

And of myne olde servaunts thou mis-
seyest,

And hinderest hem, with thy translacioun,
And lettest folk to han devocioun 251

To serven me, and haldest hit folye
To troste on me. Thou mayst hit nat denye;

For in pleyn text, hit nedeth nat to
glose,

Thou hast translated the Romauns of the Rose, 255

That is an heresyse ageyns my lawe,
And makest wyse folk fro me withdrawe.
And thinkest in thy wit, that is ful cool,
That he nis but a verray propre fool
That loveth paramours, to harde and hote. 260

Wel wot I ther-by thou beginnest dote
As olde foles, whan hir spirit fayleth;
Than blame they folk, and wite nat what hem ayleth.

Hast thou nat mad in English eek the
book

How that Criseyde Troilus forrook, 265
In shewing how that wemen han don mis?

Ne nat a word was spoken in the place
The mountance of a furlong-wey of space.

I kneling by this flour, in good entente
Abood, to knowen what this peple mente,
As stille as any stoon; til at the laste, 310
This god of love on me his eyen caste,
And seyde, 'who kneleth ther?' and I
answerde

Unto his asking, whan that I hit herde,
And seyde, 'sir, hit am I'; and com him
neer,

And salued him. Quod he, 'what dostow
heer 315

So nigh myn owne flour, so boldely?
For it were better worthy, trewely,
A worm to neghen near my flour than
thou.'

'And why, sir,' quod I, 'and hit lyke
yow?' 320

'For thou,' quod he, 'art ther-to nothing
able. 320

Hit is my relik, digne and delytable,

And thou my fo, and al my folk wer-reyest,

And of myn olde servaunts thou mis-
seyest,

And hindrest hem, with thy translacioun,
And lettest folk from hir devocioun 325

To serve me, and holdest hit folye
To serve Love. Thou mayst hit nat denye;

For in pleyn text, with-outen nede of
glose,

Thou hast translated the Romaunce of the Rose,

That is an heresyse ageyns my lawe, 330
And makest wyse folk fro me withdrawe.

And of Criseyde thou hast seyde as thee
liste,

That maketh men to wommen lasse triste,
That ben as trewe as ever was any steel.

But natheles, answer me now to this,
Why noldest thou as wel han seyde good-
nesse

Of women, as thou hast seyde wikkednesse?
Was ther no good matere in thy minde,
Ne in alle thy bokes coudest thou nat
finde 271

Sum story of women that were goode and
trewe?

Yis! god wot, sixty bokes olde and newe
Hast thou thy-self, alle fulle of stories
grete,

That bothe Romains and eek Grekes
trete 275

Of sundry women, which lyf that they
ladde,

And ever an hundred gode ageyn oon
badde.

This knoweth god, and alle clerkes eke,
That usen swiche materes for to seke. 279

What seith Valerie, Titus, or Claudian?

What seith Jerome ageyns Jovinian?

How clene maydens, and how trewe
wyves, 282

How stedfast widwes during al hir lyves,
Tellethe Jerome; and that nat of a fewe,

But, I dar seyn, an hundred on a rewe;
That hit is pitee for to rede, and routhe,

The wo that they enduren for hir trouthe.
For to hir love were they so trewe,

That, rather than they wolde take a
newe,

They chosen to be dede in sundry wyse,
And deyden, as the story wol devyse; 291

And some were brend, and some were cut the hals,

And some dreynt, for they wolden nat be
fals.

For alle keped they hir maydenhed,
Or elles wedlok, or hir widwehed. 295

And this thing was nat kept for holi-
nesse,

But al for verray vertu and clenness,
And for men shulde sette on hem no lak;

And yit they weren hethen, al the pak,
That were so sore adrad of alle shame. 300

These olde women kepte so hir name,
That in this world I trow men shal nat

finde

A man that coude be so trewe and kinde,
As was the leste woman in that tyde.

Of thyn answer avyse thee right weel;

What seith also the epistels of Ovyde 305
Of trewe wyves, and of hir labour?

What Vincent, in his Storial Mirour?

Eek al the world of autours maystow
here,

Cristen and hethen, trete of swich matere ;

It nedeth nat alday thus for t'endyte. 310

But yit I sey, what eyleth thee to wryte

The draf of stories, and forgo the corn?

By seint Venus, of whom that I was born,

Although [that] thou reneyed hast my
lay,

As othere olde foles many a day, 315

Thou shalt repente hit, that hit shal be
sene !'

Than spak Alceste, the worthieste
quene,

And seyde, 'god, right of your curtesaye,

Ye moten herknen if he can repleye

Ageyns these points that ye han to him
meved ; 320

A god ne sholde nat be thus agreved,

But of his deitee he shal be stable,

And therto rightful and eek merciable.

He shal nat rightfully his yre wreke 324

Or he have herd the tother party speke.

Al ne is nat gospel that is to yow pleyned ;

The god of love herth many a tale
y-feyned.

For in your court is many a losengeour,

And many a queynte totelere accusour,

That tabouren in your eres many a thing

For hate, or for jelous imagining, 331

And for to han with yow som daliaunce.

Envye (I prey to god yeve hir mischaunce !)

Is lavender in the grete court alway.

For she ne parteth, neither night ne day,

Out of the hous of Cesar ; thus seith

Dante ; 336

Who-so that goth, alwey she moot [nat]
wante.

This man to yow may wrongly been accused,

Ther as by right him oghte been excused.

Or elles, sir, for that this man is nyce, 340

He may translate a thing in no malyce,

But for he useth bokes for to make,

For, thogh that thou reneyed hast my
lay, 336

As other wrecches han doon many a day,

By seynt Venus, that my moder is,

If that thou live, thou shalt repenten
this

So cruelly, that hit shal wel be sene !' 340

Thou spak this lady, clothed al in grene,

And seyde, 'god, right of your curtesaye,

Ye moten herknen if he can repleye

Ageyns al this that ye han to him
meved ;

A god ne sholde nat be thus agreved, 345

But of his deitee he shal be stable,

And therto gracious and merciable.

And if ye nere a god, that knowen al,

Than mighte hit be, as I yow tellen shal ;

This man to you may falsly been accused, 350

Ther as by right him oghte been excused

For in your court is many a losengeour,

And many a queynte totelere accusour,

That tabouren in your eres many a soun,

Right after hir imaginacioun, 355

To have your daliaunce, and for envye ;

These been the causes, and I shall nat
lye.

Envye is lavender of the court alway ;

For she ne parteth, neither night ne day,

Out of the hous of Cesar ; thus seith

Dante ; 360

Who-so that goth, algate she wol nat
wante.

[Cf. ll. 350-1 above.]

And eek, paraunter, for this man is nyce,

He mighte doon hit, gessing no malyce,

But for he useth thinges for to make ;

And takth non heed of what matere he
take ;
Therfor he wroot the Roes and eek
Crisseyde
Of innocence, and niste what he seyde ;
Or him was boden make thilke tweye 346
Of som persone, and durste hit nat with-
seye ;
For he hath writen many a book er this.
He ne hath nat doon so greuously amis
To translaten that olde clerkes wryten, 350
As thogh that he of malice wolde endyten
Despyt of love, and hadde him-self y-
wroght.
This shulde a rightwys lord han in his
thought,
And nat be lyk tiraunts of Lombardye,
That usen wilfulhed and tirannye, 355
For he that king or lord is naturel,
Him oghte nat be tiraunt ne cruel,
As is a fermour, to doon the harm he can.
He moste thinke hit is his lige man,
And that him oweth, of verray duetee, 360
Shewen his peple pleyn benignitee,
And wel to here hir excusaciouns,
And hir compleyntes and peticiouns,
In duewe tyme, whan they shal hit profre.
This is the sentence of the philosophe :
A king to kepe his liges in justyce ; 366
With-outen doute, that is his offyce.
And therto is a king ful depe y-sworn,
Ful many an hundred winter heer-biforn ;
And for to kepe his lordes hir degree, 370
As hit is right and skilful that they be Enhanced and honoured, and most
dere—
For they ben half-goddes in this world
here—
This shal he doon, bothe to pore [and]
riche,
Al be that her estat be nat a-liche, 375
And han of pore folk compassion.
For lo, the gentil kind of the lionn !
For whan a flye offendeth him or byteth,
He with his tayl away the flye smyteth
Al esily ; for, of his gentyrte, 380
Him deyneth nat to wreke him on a flye,
As doth a curre or elles another beste.
In noble corage oghte been areste,
And weyen every thing by equitee,
And ever han reward to his owen degree.

Him rekketh noght of what matere he
take ; 365
Or him was boden maken thilke tweye
Of som persone, and durste hit nat with-
seye ;
Or him repenteth utterly of this.
He ne hath nat doon so greuously amis
To translaten that olde clerkes wryten, 370
As thogh that he of malice wolde endyten
Despyt of love, and had him-self hit
wroght.
This shulde a rightwys lord have in his
thought,
And nat be lyk tiraunts of Lombardye,
Than han no reward but at tirannye. 375
For he that king or lord is naturel,
Him oghte nat be tiraunt ne cruel,
As is a fermour, to doon the harm he can.
He moste thinke hit is his lige man,
And is his tresour, and his gold in cofre.
This is the sentence of the philosophe : 381
A king to kepe his liges in justyce ;
With-outen doute, that is his offyce.
Al wol he kepe his lordes hir degree,
As hit is right and skilful that they be 385
Enhanced and honoured, and most
dere—
For they ben half-goddes in this world
here—
Yit mot he doon bothe right, to pore and
riche,
Al be that hir estat be nat y-liche, 390
And han of pore folk compassion.
For lo, the gentil kynd of the leoun !
For whan a flye offendeth him or byteth,
He with his tayl away the flye smyteth
Al esily ; for, of his gentyrte, 394
Him deyneth nat to wreke him on a flye,
As doth a curre or elles another beste.
In noble corage oghte been areste,
And weyen every thing by equitee,
And ever han reward to his owen degree.

For, sir, hit is no maystrie for a lord 386
To dampne a man with-oute answer of
word;

And, for a lord, that is ful foul to use.
And if so be he may him nat excuse,
[But] axeth mercy with a sorweful herte,
And profreth him, right in his bare
sherte, 391

To been right at your owne jugement,
Than oghte a god, by short avysement,
Considre his owne honour and his trespas.
For sith no cause of deeth lyth in this
cas, 395

Yow oghte been the lighter merciabile;
Leteth your yre, and beth somewhat tretable!

The man hath served yow of his conning,
And fortherd your lawe with his making.
Whyl he was yong, he kepte your estat;
I not wher he be now a renegat. 401

But wel I wot, with that he can endyte,
He hath makid lewed folk delyte
To serve you, in preysing of your name.
He made the book that hight the Hous of Fame, 405

And eek the Deeth of Blaunche the Duchesse,

And the Parlement of Foules, as I gesse,
And al the love of Palamon and Arcyte
Of Thebes, though the story is knowen lyte;
And many an ympne for your halydayes,
That highten Balades, Roundels, Vire-
layes; 411

And for to speke of other businesse,
He hath in prose translated Boëce;
And of the Wroched Engending of Man-
kinde,

As man may in pope Innocent y-finde; 415
And mad the Lyf also of seynt Cecyle;
He made also, goon sithen a greet whyl,
Origenes upon the Maudeleyne;
Him oghte now to have the lesse payne;
He hath mad many a lay and many a
thing. 420

Now as ye been a god, and eek a king,
I, your Alceste, whylom quene of Trace,
I axe yow this man, right of your grace,
That ye him never hurte in al his lyve;
And he shal sweren yow, and that as
blyve, 425

He shal no more agilten in this wyse;

For, sir, hit is no maystrie for a lord 400
To dampne a man with-oute answer of
wamp;

And, for a lord, that is ful foul to use.
And if so be he may him nat excuse,
But asketh mercy with a dredful herte,
And profreth him, right in his bare
sherte, 405

To been right at your owne jugement,
Than oghte a god, by short avysement,
Considre his owne honour and his trespas.
For sith no cause of deeth lyth in this
cas, 410

Yow oghte been the lighter merciabile;
Leteth your yre, and beth somewhat tret-
able!

The man hath served yow of his conning,
And forthred wel your lawe in his making.

Al be hit that he can nat wel endyte,
Yet hath he makid lewed folk delyte 415
To serve you, in preysing of your name.
He made the book that hight the Hous of Fame,

And eek the Deeth of Blaunche the Duchesse,

And the Parlement of Foules, as I gesse,

He made also, goon sithen a greet whyl,
Origenes upon the Maudeleyne;
Him oghte now to have the lesse payne;
He hath mad many a lay and many a
a thing. 430

'Now as ye been a god, and eek a king,
I, your Alceste, whylom quene of Trace,
I aske yow this man, right of your grace,
That ye him never hurte in al his lyve;
And he shal sweren yow, and that as
blyve, 435

He shal no more agilten in this wyse;

But he shal maken, as ye wil devyse,
Of women trewe in lovinge al hir lyve,
Wher-so ye wil, of maiden or of wyve,
And forthren yow, as muche as he mis-
seyde 430

Or in the Rose or elles in Criseyde.'

The god of love answerde hir thus
anoon,

'Madame,' quod he, 'hit is so long agoon
That I yow knew so charitable and trewe, That never yit, sith that the world was
newe, 435

To me ne fond I better noon than ye.

That, if that I wol save my degree,

I may ne wol nat warne your requeste;

Al lyth in yow, doth with him what yow
leste, 439

And al foryeve, with-uten lenger space;

For who-so yeveth a yift, or doth a grace,

Do hit by tyme, his thank is wel the
more;

And demeth ye what he shal do therfore.

Go thanke now my lady heer,' quod he.

I roos, and doun I sette me on my knee, 445

And seyde thus: 'Madame, the god above

Foryelde yow, that ye the god of love

Han makid me his wrathe to foryive;

And yeve me grace so long for to live,

That I may knowe soothly what ye be, 450

That han me holpen, and put in swich
degree.

But trewely I wende, as in this cas,

Naught have agilt, ne doon to love
trespas.

Forwhy a trewe man, with-uten drede,

Hath nat to parten with a theves dede;

Ne a trewe lover oghte me nat blame, 456

Thogh that I speke a fals lover som shame.

They oghte rather with me for to holde,

For that I of Creseyde wroot or tolde,

Or of the Rose; what-so myn auctour
mente, 460

Algate, god wot, hit was myn entente

To forthren trouthe in love and hit cheryce;

And to be war fro falsnesse and fro vyce

By swich ensample; this was my men-
inge.'

And she answerde, 'lat be thyn argu-
inge; 465

But he shal maken, as ye wil devyse,
Of women trewe in lovinge al hir lyve,
Wher-so ye wil, of maiden or of wyve,
And forthren yow, as muche as he mis-

And she answerde, 'lat be thyn argu-
inge; 475

For Love ne wol nat countrepleted be
 In right ne wrong ; and lerne this at me !
 Thou hast thy grace, and hold thee right
 ther-to.
 Now wol I seyn what penance thou shalt
 do
 For thy trespas, and understand hit here :
 Thou shalt, whyl that thou livest, yeer by
 yere, 471
 The moste party of thy lyve spende
 In making of a glorious Legende
 Of Gode Wemen, maidenes and wyves, 474
 That were trewe in lovinge al hir lyves ;
 And telle of false men that hem bitrayen,
 That al hir lyf ne doon nat but assayen
 How many wemen they may doon a
 shame ;
 For in your world that is now holden
 game.
 And thogh thee lesteth nat a lover be, 480
 Spek wel of love ; this penance yeve
 I thee.
 And to the god of love I shal so preye,
 That he shal charge his servants, by any
 weye,
 To forthren thee, and wel thy labour
 quyte ;
 Go now thy wey, thy penance is but lyte.'

The god of love gan smyle, and than he
 seyde, 486

'Wostow,' quod he, 'wher this be wyf or
 mayde,

Or quene, or countesse, or of what degree,
 That hath so lital penance yeven thee,
 That hast deserved sorer for to smerte ?
 But pittee renneth sone in gentil herte ;
 That mayst thou seen, she kytheth what
 she is.'

And I answerde, 'nay, sir, so have I blis,
 No more but that I see wel she is good.'

'That is a trewe tale, by myn hood,' 495
 Quod Love, 'and that thou knowest wel,
 pardee,

If hit be so that thou avyse thee. 500
 Hastow nat in a book, lyth in thy cheste,
 The gret goodness of the quene Alceste,
 That turned was into a dayesye :
 She that for hir husbonde chees to dye,

For Love ne wol nat countrepleted be
 In right ne wrong ; and lerne that of me !
 Thou hast thy grace, and hold thee right
 ther-to.

Now wol I seyn what penance thou shalt
 do

For thy trespas, and understand hit here:
 Thou shalt, whyl that thou livest, yeer
 by yere, 481

The moste party of thy tyme spende
 In making of a glorious Legende
 Of Gode Wommen, maidenes and wyves,
 That weren trewe in lovinge al hir lyves ;
 And telle of false men that hem bitrayen,
 That al hir lyf ne doon nat but assayen
 How many wommen they may doon a
 shame ;

For in your world that is now holde a
 game.

And thogh thee lyke nat a lover be, 490
 Spek wel of love ; this penance give I
 thee.

And to the god of love I shal so preye,
 That he shal charge his servants, by any
 weye,

To forthren thee, and wel thy labour
 quyte ;

Go now thy wey, this penance is but lyte.
 And whan this book is maad, give hit the
 quene 496

On my behalfe, at Eltham, or at Shene.' The god of love gan smyle, and than he
 seyde,

'Wostow,' quod he, 'wher this be wyf or
 mayde,

Or quene, or countesse, or of what degree,
 That hath so lital penance yeven thee, 501
 That hast deserved sorer for to smerte ?
 But pittee renneth sone in gentil herte ;
 That maystow seen, she kytheth what
 she is.' 504

And I answerde, 'nay, sir, so have I blis,
 No more but that I see wel she is good.'

'That is a trewe tale, by myn hood,'
 Quod Love, 'and that thou knowest wel,
 pardee,

If hit be so that thou avyse thee. 509
 Hastow nat in a book, lyth in thy cheste,
 The grete goodness of the quene Alceste,
 That turned was into a dayesye :
 She that for hir husbonde chees to dye,

And eek to goon to helle, rather than he,
And Ercules rescued hir, pardee,
And broghte hir out of helle agayn to
blis? 504

And I answerde ageyn, and seyde, 'yis,
Now knowe I hir! And is this good
Alceste,

The dayesye, and myn owne hertes reste?
Now fele I wel the goodnesse of this wyf,
That bothe after hir deeth, and in hir lyf,
Hir grete bountee doubleth hir renoun!
Wel hath she quit me myn affeccion
That I have to hir flour, the dayesye!
No wonder is thogh Jove hir stellifye,
As telleth Agaton, for hir goodnesse!
Hir whyte coroun berth of hit witanesse;
For also many vertues hadde she, 516
As smale floures in hir coroun be.

In remembraunce of hir and in honour,
Cibella made the dayesye and the flour 519
Y-coroned al with whyt, as men may see;
And Mars yaf to hir coroun reed, pardee,
In stede of rubies, set among the whyte.'

Therwith this quene wex reed for shame
a lyte, 523

Whan she was preyssed so in hir presence.
Than seyde Love, 'a ful gret negligence
Was hit to thee, to write unstedfastnesse
Of women, sith thou knowest hir good-
nesse

By preef, and eek by stories heer-biforn;
Let be the chaf, and wryt wel of the corn.
Why noldest thou han writen of Alceste,
And leten Criseide been a-slepe and
reste? 531

For of Alceste shulde thy wryting be,
Sin that thou wost that kalender is she
Of goodnesse, for she taughte of fyn
lovinge,

And namely of wyfhood the livinge, 535
And alle the boundes that she oghte kepe;
Thy litel wit was thilke tyme a-slepe.
But now I charge thee, upon thy lyf,
That in thy Legend thou make of this
wyf,

Whan thou hast othere smale maad before; 540
And fare now wel, I charge thee no more.

And eek to goon to helle, rather than he,
And Ercules rescowed hir, pardee, 515
And broghte hir out of helle agayn to
blis?'

And I answerde ageyn, and seyde, 'yis,
Now knowe I hir! And is this good
Alceste, 518

The dayesye, and myn owne hertes reste?
Now fele I wel the goodnesse of this wyf,
That bothe after hir deeth, and in hir lyf,
Hir grete bountee doubleth hir renoun!
Wel hath she quit me myn affeccion
That I have to hir flour, the dayesye!
No wonder is thogh Jove hir stellifye, 525
As telleth Agaton, for hir goodnesse!

Hir whyte coroun berth of hit witanesse;
For also many vertues hadde she,
As smale floures in hir coroun be. 529
In remembraunce of hir and in honour,
Cibella made the dayesye and the flour
Y-coroned al with whyt, as men may see;
And Mars yaf to hir coroun reed, pardee,
In stede of rubies, set among the whyte.'

Therwith this quene wex reed for shame
a lyte, 535

Whan she was preyssed so in hir presence.
Than seyde Love, 'a ful gret negligence
Was hit to thee, that ilke tyme thou
made 538

"Hyd, Absolon, thy tresses," in balade,
That thou forgete hir in thy song to sette,
Sin that thou art so gretly in hir dette,

And wost so wel, that kalender is she
To any woman that wol lover be
For she taughte al the craft of fyn
lovinge,

And namely of wyfhood the livinge, 545
And alle the boundes that she oghte kepe;
Thy litel wit was thilke tyme a-slepe.
But now I charge thee, upon thy lyf,
That in thy Legend thou make of this
wyf,

Whan thou hast othere smale y-maad before; 550
And fare now wel, I charge thee no more.

But er I go, thus muche I wol thee
telle,
Ne shal no trewe lover come in helle.

At Cleopatre I wol that thou beginne;
And so forth; and my love so shalt thou winne.'

543

And with that word of sleep I gana-awake,
And right thus on my Legend gan I make.

These other ladies sittinge here arowe
Ben in thy balade, if thou canst hem
knowe, 555
And in thy bokes alle thou shalt hem
finde;
Have hem now in thy Legend alle in
minde,
I mene of hem that been in thy knowinge.
For heer ben twenty thousand mo sittinge
Than thou knowest, that been good wommen alle 560
And trowe of love, for aught that may
befalle;
Make the metres of hem as the leste.
I mot gon hoom, the sonne draweth weste,
To Paradys, with al this companye;
And serve alwey the fresshe dayesye. 565
At Cleopatre I wol that thou beginne;
And so forth; and my love so shalt thou
winne.

For lat see now what man that lover be,
Wol doon so strong a peyne for love as
she.

I wot wel that thou mayst nat al hit
ryme, 570

That swiche lovers diden in hir tyme;
It were to long to reden and to here;
Sufficeth me, thou make in this manere,
That thou reherce of al hir lyf the grete,
After these olde auctours listen to treta.
For who-so shal so many a storie telle, 576
Sey shortly, or he shal longe dwelle.'

And with that word my bokes gan I take.
And right thus on my Legend gan I make.

Explicit prohemium.

I. THE LEGEND OF CLEOPATRA.

Incipit Legenda Cleopatrie, Martiris, Egipti regina.

After the death of Tholomee the king, 580
That al Egipte hadde in his governing,
Regned his queene Cleopataras;
Til on a tyme befel ther swiche a cas,
That out of Rome was sent a senatour,
For to conqueren regnes and honour 585
Unto the toun of Rome, as was ussance,
To have the world unto her obeisance;

And, sooth to seye, Antonius was his
name.

So fl hit, as Fortune him oghte a
shame (10)

Whan he was fallen in prosperitee, 590
Rebel unto the toun of Rome is he.

And over al this, the suster of Cesar,
He lafte hir falsly, er that she was war,
And wolde algates han another wyf;
For whiche he took with Rome and Cesar
stryf. 595

Natheles, for-sooth, this ilke senatour
Was a ful worthy gentil werreyour,
And of his deeth hit was ful greet damage.
But love had broght this man in swiche
a rage, (30)

And him so narwe bounden in his las,
Al for the love of Cleopataras, 601
That al the world he sette at no value.
Him thoughte, nas to him no thing so due

As Cleopatras for to love and serve; 604
Him roghte nat in armes for to serve
In the defence of hir, and of hir right.

This noble queene eek lovede so this
knight,

Through his desert, and for his chivalrye;
As certainly, but-if that bokes lye, (30)

He was, of persone and of gentillesse, 610
And of discrecioun and hardinesse,
Worthy to any wight that liven may.

And she was fair as is the rose in May.
And, for to maken shortly is the beste,
She wex his wyf, and hadde him as hir
leste. 615

The wedding and the feste to devyse,
To me, that have y-take swiche empryse

Of so many a storie for to make, (39)
Hit were to long, lest that I sholde slake

Of thing that bereth more effect and
charge; 620

For men may overlade a ship or barge;
And forthly to th'effect than wol I skippe,
And al the remenant, I wol lete hit slippe.

Octovian, that wood was of this dede,
Shoop him an ost on Antony to lede 625

Al-outerly for his destruccioun,
With stoute Romains, cruel as leoun;

To ship they wente, and thus I let hem
saile.

Antonius was war, and wol nat faille (50)
To meten with thise Romains, if he
may; 630

Took eek his reed, and bothe, upon
a day,

His wyf and he, and al his ost, forth
wente

To shippe anon, no lenger they ne stente;
And in the see hit happed hem to mete—

Up goth the trompe—and for to shoute and shete, 635

And peynen hem to sette on with the
sonne.

With grisly soun out goth the grete
gonne,

And heterly they hurtlen al at ones,
And fro the top down cometh the grete
stones. (60)

In goth the grapnel so ful of crokes 640
Among the ropes, and the shering-hokes.

In with the polax presseth he and he;
Behind the maast beginneth he to flec,

And out agayn, and dryveth him overborde; 644

He stingeth him upon his speres orde;
He rent the sail with hokes lyke a sythe;

He bringeth the cuppe, and biddeth hem
be blythe;

He poureth pesen upon the hacches slider;
With pottes ful of lym they goon to-gider; (70)

And thus the longe day in fight they
spende 650

Til, at the laste, as every thing hath ende, Antony is shent, and put him to the flighte,

And al his folk to-go, that best go mighte.
Fleeth eek the queen, with al her
purpre sail,

For strokes, which that wente as thikke
as hail; 655

No wonder was, she mighte hit nat endure.
And whan that Antony saw that aven-
ture,

'Allas!' quod he, 'the day that I was
born!

My worshipe in this day thus have I
lorn!' (80)

And for dispeyr out of his witte he sterte,
And roof him-self anon through-out the
herte 661

Er that he ferther wente out of the
place.

His wyf, that coude of Cesar have no
grace,

To Egipte is fled, for drede and for dis-
tresse;

But herkneth, ye that speke of kinde-
nesse. 665

Ye men, that falsly sweran many an ooth
That ye wol dye, if that your love be
wrooth,

Heer may ye seen of women whiche a
trouthe!
This woful Cleopatre hath mad swich
routhe (90)
That ther nis tonge noon that may hit
telle. 670
But on the morwe she wol no lenger
dwelle,
But made hir subtil werkmen make a shryne
Of alle the rubies and the stones fyne
In al Egipte that she coude espye;
And putte ful the shryne of spycerye, 675
And leet the cors embaume; and forth
she fette
This dede cors, and in the shryne hit
shette.
And next the shryne a pit than doth she
grave;
And alle the serpents that she mighte
have, (100)
She putte hem in that grave, and thus
she seyde: 680
'Now love, to whom my sorweful herte
obeyde
So ferforthly that, fro that blisful houre
That I yow swor to been al frely youre,
I mene yow, Antonius my knight! 684
That never waking, in the day or night.

Ye nere out of myn hertes remembraunce
For wele or wo, for carole or for daunce;
And in my-self this covenant made I
tho, (109)
That, right swich as ye felten, wele or wo,
As ferforth as hit in my power lay, 690
Unreprovable unto my wyfhood ay,
The same wolde I felen, lyf or deeth.
And thilke covenant, whyl me lasteth
breeth,
I wol fulfillle, and that shal wel be sene;
Was never unto hir love a trewer quene.
And with that word, naked, with ful
good herte, 696
Among the serpents in the pit she sterte,
And ther she chees to han hir buryng.
Anoon the neddres gonne hir for to stinge, (120)
And she hir deeth receyveth, with good
chere, 700
For love of Antony, that was hir so dere:—
And this is storial sooth, hit is no fable.
Now, er I finde a man thus trewe and
stable,
And wol for love his deeth so freely
take,
I pray god lat our hedes never ake! 705
Explicit Legenda Cleopatrie. Martiris.

II. THE LEGEND OF THISBE OF BABYLON.

Incipit Legenda Tesbe Babilonie, Martiris.

Ar Babiloine whylom fil it thus,
The whiche toun the queen Semiramus
Leet dichen al about, and walles make Ful hye, of harde tyles wel y-bake.
Ther weren dwellinge in this noble toun
Two lordes, which that were of greet
renoun, 711
And woneden so nigh, upon a grene,
That ther nas but a stoon-wal hem bi-
twene,
As ofte in grete tounes is the wone.
And sooth to seyn, that o man hadde
a sone, 715
Of al that londe oon of the lustieste. (11)
That other hadde a doghter, the faireste,

That estward in the world was tho dwel-
linge.
The name of everich gan to other springe
By wommen, that were neighebores
aboute. 720
For in that contree yit, withouten doute,
Maidens been y-kept, for jelosye,
Ful streite, lest they diden som folye.
This yonge man was cleped Piramus,
And Tisbe hight the maid, Naso seith
thus; 725
And thus by report was hir name y-shove
That, as they waxe in age, wax hir
love; (12)
And certein, as by reson of hir age,
Ther mighte have been bitwix hem marriage, 729

But that hir fadres nolde hit nat assente ;
And bothe in love y-lyke sore they brente ;
That noon of alle hir frendes mighte hit
lette

But prively somtyme yit they mette
By sleighte, and speken som of hir desyr ;
As, wry the glee, and hotter is the fyr ;
Forbode a love, and it is ten so wood. 736

This wal, which that bitwix hem bothe
stood, (32)

Was cloven a-two, right fro the toppe
adoun,

Of olde tyme of his fundacioun ;
But yit this clifte was so narwe and
lyte, 740

It nas nat sene, dere y-nogh a myte.
But what is that, that love can nat espye ?

Ye lovers two, if that I shal nat lye,
Ye founden first this litel narwe clifte ;
And, with a soun as softe as any shrifte,
They lete hir wordes through the clifte
pace, (41) 746

And tolden, whyl that they stode in the
place,

Al hir compleynt of love, and al hir wo,
At every tyme whan they dorste so.

Upon that o syde of the wal stode he,
And on that other syde stood Tisbe, 751
The swote soun of other to receyve,
And thus hir wardeins wolde they de-ceyve.

And every day this wal they wolde threte,
And wisshede to god, that it were doun
y-beta. (50) 755

Thus wolde they seyn—'allas ! thou
wikked wal,

Through thyn envye thou us lettest al !
Why nilt thou cleve, or fallen al a-two ?
Or, at the leste, but thou woldest so,
Yit woldestow but ones lete us mete, 760
Or ones that we mighte kissen swete,
Than were we covered of our cares colda.
But natheles, yit be we to thee holde
In as muche as thou suffrest for to goon
Our wordes through thy lyme and eek thy stoon. (60) 765

Yit oghte we with thee ben wel apayd.'

And whan thise ydel wordes weren sayd,
The colde wal they wolden kisse of stoon,
And take hir leve, and forth they wolden
goon.

And this was gladly in the even-tyde 770
Or wonder erly, lest men hit espyde ;
And longe tyme they wroghte in this
manere

Til on a day, whan Phebus gan to clere,
Aurora with the stremes of hir hete
Had dried up the dew of herbes wete ; 775
Unto this clifte, as it was wont to be, (71)

Com Pyramus, and after com Tisbe,
And plighthen trouthe fully in hir fey
That ilke same night to stele away,
And to begyle hir wardeins everichoon, 780
And forth out of the citee for to goon ;
And, for the faldes been so brode and
wyde,

For to mete in o place at o tyde,
They sette mark hir meting sholde be Ther king Ninus was graven, under a
tree ; (80) 785

For olde payens that ydoles heried
Useden tho in feldes to ben beried ;
And faste by this grave was a welle.
And, shortly of this tale for to telle,
This covenant was affermed wonder
faste ; 790

And longe hem thoughte that the sonne
laste,

That hit nere goon under the see adoun.

This Tisbe hath so greet affeccioun
And so greet lyking Piramus to see,
That, whan she seigh her tyme mighte
be, (90) 795

At night she stal away ful prively
With her face y-wimpled subtilly ;
For alle her frendes—for to save her
trouthe—

She hath for-sake ; allas ! and that is
routhe

That ever woman wolde be so trewe 800
To trusten man, but she the bet him
knewe !

And to the tree she goth a ful good pas,
For love made her so hardy in this cas ;
And by the welle adoun she gan her
dresse. 804

Allas ! than comth a wilde leonesse (100)
Out of the wode, withouten more areste,
With bloody monthes, of strangling of a
beste,

To drinken of the welle, ther as she sat ;
And, whan that Tisbe had espyed that,

She rist her up, with a ful drery herte, 810
 And in a cave with dredful foot she sterte,
 For by the mone she seigh hit wel with-
 alle. 812

And, as she ran, her wimpel leet she falle,
 And took noon heed, so sore she was a-whaped. (109)

And eek so glad of that she was escaped ;
 And thus she sit, and darketh wonder
 stille. 816

When that this leonesse hath dronke her
 fille,

Aboute the welle gan she for to winde,
 And right anon the wimpel gan she
 finde,

And with her bloody mouth hit al to-
 rente. 820

When this was doon, no lenger she ne
 stente,

But to the wode her way than hath she nome.

And, at the laste, this Piramus is come,
 But al to longe, allas ! at hoom was he.
 The mone shoon, men mighte wel y-see, 825
 And in his weye, as that he com ful
 faste, (121)

His eyen to the grounde adoun he caste,
 And in the sonde, as he beheld adoun,
 He seigh the steppes brode of a leoun,
 And in his herte he sodeinly agroos, 830
 And pale he wex, therwith his heer
 aroos,

And near he com, and fond the wimpel torn.

'Allas !' quod he, 'the day that I was
 born !

This o night wol us lovers bothe slee !
 How sholde I axen mercy of Tisbe 835
 Whan I am he that have yow slain, allas !
 My bidding hath yow slain, as in this
 cas. (132)

Allas ! to bidde a woman goon by nighte
 In place ther as peril fallen mighte,
 And I so slow ! allas, I ne hadde be 840
 Here in this place a furlong-wey or ye !
 Now what leoun that be in this foreste,
 My body mote he †renden, or what beste
 That wilde is, gnawen mote he now myn
 herte !'

And with that worde he to the wimpel
 sterte, (140) 845

And kiste hit ofte, and weep on hit ful
 sore,

And seide, 'wimpel, allas ! ther nis no
 more

But thou shalt fele as wel the blood of me

As thou hast felt the bleding of Tisbe !'

And with that worde he smoot him to the
 herte. 850

The blood out of the wounde as brode
 sterte

As water, whan the conduit broken is.

Now Tisbe, which that wiste nat of
 this,

But sitting in her drede, she thoughte thus,
 'If hit so falle that my Piramus 855

Be comen hider, and may me nat y-finde,
 He may me holden fals and eek unkinde.'

And out she comth, and after him gan
 espyen (153)

Bothe with her herte and with her yen,
 And thoughte, 'I wol him tellen of my
 drede 860

Bothe of the leonesse and al my dede.'

And at the laste her love than hath she
 founde

Beting with his heles on the grounde,
 Al bloody, and therwith-al a-bak she sterte,

And lyke the wawas quappe gan her
 herte, (160) 865

And pale as box she wex, and in a throwe
 Avysed her, and gan him wel to knowe,

That hit was Piramus, her herte dere.
 Who coude wryte whiche a deedly chere

Hath Tisbe now, and how her heer she
 rente, 870

And how she gan her-selve to turmente,
 And how she lyth and swowneth on the
 grounde,

And how she weep of teres ful his wounde,
 How medeeth she his blood with her compleynte,

And with his blood her-selven gan she peynte ; (170) 875

How clippeth she the dede cors, allas !
 How doth this woful Tisbe in this cas !

How kisseth she his frosty mouth so cold !
 'Who hath doon this, and who hath been so bold 879

To sleen my leef? O spek, my Piramus !
 I am thy Tisbe, that thee calleth thus !'

And therwith-al she lifteþ up his heed.

This woful man, that was nat fully
deed,

Whan that he herde the name of Tisbe
cryen,

On her he caste his hevvy deedly yēn 885
And doun again, and yeldeth up the
gost. (181)

Tisbe rist up, withouten noise or bost,
And seigh her wimpel and his empty
shethe,

And eek his sward, that him hath doon
to dethe;

Than spak she thus: 'My woful hand,'
quod she, 890

'Is strong y-nogh in swiche a werk to
me;

For love shal give me strengthe and hardinesse

To make my wounde large y-nogh, I gesse.
I wol thee folwen deed, and I wol be Felawe and cause eek of thy deeth,' quod
she. (190) 895

'And thogh that nothing save the deeth only

Mighte thee fro me departe trewely,
Thou shalt no more departe now fro
me

Than fro the deeth, for I wol go with
thee!

'And now, ye wrecched jelous fadres
oure, 900

We, that weren whylom children yours,
We prayen yow, withouten more envye,
That in o grave y-fere we moten lye,
Sin love hath brought us to this pitous
ende! (199)

And rightwis god to every lover sende, 905
That loveth trewely, more prosperitee

Than ever hadde Piramus and Tisbe!

And lat no gentil woman her assure
To putten her in swiche an aventure.

But god forbede but a woman can 910
Been as trewe and loving as a man!

And, for my part, I shal anon it kythe!'
And, with that worde, his sward she took
as swythe,

That warm was of her loves blood and
hoot, (209)

And to the herte she her-selven smoot. 915
And thus ar Tisbe and Piramus ago.

Of trewe men I finde but fewe mo
In alle my bokes, save this Piramus,

And therfor have I spoken of him thus.
For hit is deyntee to us men to finde 920

A man that can in love be trewe and
kinde.

Heer may ye seen, what lover so he be,
A woman dar and can as wel as he.

III. THE LEGEND OF DIDO, QUEEN OF CARTHAGE.

Incipit Legenda Didonis Martiris, Cartaginis regine.

GLOER and honour, Virgil Mantuan,
Be to thy name! and I shal, as I can, 925
Folow thy lantern, as thou gost biforn,
How Eneas to Dido was forsworn.
In thyn Eneid and Naso wol I take The tenour, and the grete effectes
make.

Whan Troye broght was to destructi-
cioun 930

By Grekes sleighte, and namely by Sinoun,

Feyning the hors y-offred to Minerve,
Through which that many a Troyan
moste starve; (10)

And Ector had, after his deeth, appered,
And fyr so wood, it mighte nat be stered, 935

In al the noble tour of Ilioun,
That of the citee was the cheef dungeoun;
And al the contree was so lowe y-broght,
And Piramus the king fordoon and
nought;

And Eneas was charged by Venus 940
To fleen away, he took Ascanius,

That was his sone, in his right hand, and fiedde;

And on his bakke he bar and with him
ledde (20)

His olde fader, cleped Anchises,
And by the weye his wyf Creusa he
lees. 945

And mochel sorwe hadde he in his minde
Er that he coude his felawshippe finde.

But, at the laste, whan he had hem
founda, 948

He made him redy in a certain stounde,
And to the see ful faste he gan him hye,
And sailleth forth with al his companye
Toward Itaille, as wolde destinee.

But of his aventures in the see (30)

Nis nat to purpos for to speke of here,
For hit acordeth nat to my matere. 955

But, as I seide, of him and of Dido
Shal be my tale, til that I have do.

So longe he sailed in the salte see Til in Libye unnethe aryved he,
With shippes seven and with no more navye; 950

And glad was he to londe for to hye,
So was he with the tempest al to-shake.

And whan that he the haven had y-
take, (40)

He had a knight, was called Achates; 964
And him of al his felawshippe he chees
To goon with him, the contre for tespye;
He took with him no more companye.

But forth they goon, and lafte his shippes
ryde,

His fere and he, with-uten any gyde. 969

So longe he walketh in this wilderness
Til, at the laste, he mette an hunteresse.

A bowe in honde and arwes hadde she,
Her clothes cutted were unto the knee; (50)

But she was yit the fairest creature
That ever was y-formed by nature; 975

And Eneas and Achates she grette,
And thus she to hem spak, whan she hem
mette.

'Sawe ye,' quod she, 'as ye han walked
wyde,

Any of my sustren walke yow besyde,
With any wilde boor or other beste 980
That they han hunted to, in this foreste,
Y-tukked up, with arwes in her cas?' (59)

'Nay, soothly, lady,' quod this Eneas;
'But, by thy beaute, as hit thinketh me,

Thou mightest never erthely womman be,
But Phebus suster artow, as I gesse. 986

And, if so be that thou be a goddesse,
Have mercy on our labour and our wo.'

'I nam no goddes, soothly,' quod she
tho;

'For maidens walken in this contree here,
With arwes and with bowe, in this
manere. 991

This is the regne of Libie, ther ye been,
Of which that Dido lady is and queen'—
And shortlytolde him al the occasioun (71)

Why Dido com into that regioun, 995
Of which as now me lusteth nat to ryme;

Hit nedeth nat; hit nere but los of tyme.
For this is al and som, it was Venus,

His owne moder, that spak with him thus;
And to Cartage she bad he sholde him
dighte, 1000

And vanished anon out of his sighte.
I coude folwe, word for word, Virgyle,

But it wolde lasten al to longe a wyle. (80)

This noble queen, that cleped was Dido,
That whylom was the wyf of Sitheo, 1005

That fairer was then is the brighte sonne,
This noble toun of Cartage hath begonne;

In which she regneth in so greet honour,
That she was holde of alle quenes flour,

Of gentillesse, of freedom, of beautee; 1010
That wel was him that mighte her ones
see;

Of kinges and of lordes so desyred, (89)

That al the world her beaute hadde y-fyred;

She stood so wel in every wightes grace.

Whan Eneas was come un-to that
place, 1015

Unto the maister-temple of al the toun
Ther Dido was in her devocioun,

Ful prively his wey than hath he nome.

Whan he was in the large temple come,
I can nat seyn if that hit be possible, 1020

But Venus hadde him maked invisible—
Thus seith the book, with-uten any lees.

And whan this Eneas and Achates (100)

Hadden in this temple been over-al,
Than founde they, depeynted on a wal,

How Troye and al the lond destroyed was.
'Allas! that I was born,' quod Eneas, 1027

'Through-out the world our shame is kid
so wyde,

Now it is peynted upon every syde!

We, that weren in prosperitee, 1030
Be now dislaundred, and in swich degree,
No lenger for to liven I ne kepe!

And, with that worde, he brast out for to
wepe (110)

So tendrely, that routhe hit was to sene.

This freshe lady, of the citee quene, 1035
Stood in the temple, in her estat royal,
So richely, and eek so fair with-al,
So yong, so lusty, with her eyen glade,
That, if that god, that heven and erthe
made,

Wolde han a love, for beaute and good-
nesse, 1040

And womanhod, and trouthe, and seemli-
nesse,

Whom sholde he loven but this lady
swete ?

There nis no womman to him half so
mete. (120)

Fortune, that hath the world in govern-
aunce,

Hath sodeinly broght in so newe a
chaunce, 1045

That never was ther yit so fremd a cas.

For al the companye of Eneas,

Which that he wende han loren in the
see,

Aryved is, nat fer fro that citee ;

For which, the grettest of his lordes some
By aventure ben to the citee come, 1051

Unto that same temple, for to seke

The quene, and of her socour her beseke ;
Swich renoun was ther spronge of her goodnesse. (131)

And, whan they hadden told al hir dis-
tresse, 1055

And al hir tempest and hir harde cas,

Unto the quene appered Eneas,

And openly beknew that hit was he.

Who hadde joye than but his meynee,

That hadden founde hir lord, hir gover-nour ? 1060

The quene saw they dide him swich
honour,

And had herd ofte of Eneas, er tho,

And in her herte she hadde routhe and
wo 1065

That ever swich a noble man as he Shal been disherited in swich degree ; 1065

And saw the man, that he was lyk a
knight,

And suffisaunt of persone and of might,

And lyk to been a veray gentil man ;

And wel his wordes he besette can,

And had a noble visage for the nones, 1070
And formed wel of braunes and of bones.

For, after Venus, hadde he swich fair-
nesse,

That no man might be half so fair, I
gease. (150)

And wel a lord he semed for to be.

And, for he was a straunger, somewhat
she 1075

Lyked him the bet, as, god do bote,

To som folk ofte newe thing is swote.

Anoon her herte hath pitee of his wo,

And, with that pitee, love com in also ;

And thus, for pitee and for gentillesse, 1080

Refreshed moste he been of his distresse.

She seide, certes, that she sory was

That he hath had swich peril and swich
cas ; (160)

And, in her frendly speche, in this manere
She to him spak, and seide as ye may
here. 1085

' Be ye nat Venus sone and Anchises ?
In good feith, al the worship and encreas
That I may goodly doon yow, ye shul
have.

Your shippes and your meynee shal I
save ;'

And many a gentil word she spak him to ;
And comanded her meesageres go 1091

The same day, with-outen any faille,

His shippes for to seke, and hem vitails.

She many a beste to the shippes sente, (171)

And with the wyn she gan hem to pre-
sente ; 1095

And to her royal paleys she her spedde,

And Eneas alwey with her she ledde.

What nedeth yow the feste to descryve ?

He never beter at ese was his lyve.

Ful was the feste of deyntees and rich-
esse, 1100

Of instruments, of song, and of gladnesse,
And many an amorous loking and devys.

This Eneas is come to Parady's (180)

Out of the swolow of helle, and thus in
joye 1104

Remembreth him of his estat in Troye.

To dauncing-chambres ful of parements,

Of riche beddes, and of ornaments,

This Eneas is lad, after the mete.

And with the quene whan that he had sete,

And spyces parted, and the wyn agoon,
Unto his chambres was he lad anoon 1111
To take his esse and for to have his reste,
With al his folk, to doon what so hem
leste. (190)

Ther nas coursere wel y-bryddled noon,
Ne stede, for the justing wel to goon, 1115
Ne large palfrey, esy for the nones,
Ne juwel, fretted ful of riche stones,
Ne sakkis ful of gold, of large wighte,
Ne ruby noon, that shynede by nighte,
Ne gentil hautein fauoon heronere, 1120
Ne hound, for hert or wilde boor or
dere,

Ne coupe of gold, with florins newe y-bete,
That in the lond of Libie may be gete,
That Dido ne hath hit Eneas y-sent; (201)
And al is payed, what that he hath spent.
Thus can this †noble quene her gastes
calle, 1126

As she that can in freedom passen alle.
Eneas sothly eek, with-outen lees,
Hath sent un-to his shippe, by Achates,
After his sone, and after riche thinges,
Both ceptre, clothes, broches, and eek
ringes, 1131

Som for to were, and som for to presente
To her, that all thise noble thinges him
sente; (210)

And had his sone, how that he sholde
make
The presenting, and to the quene hit
take. 1135

Repaired is this Achates again,
And Eneas ful blisful is and fain
To seen his yonge sone Ascanius.
But natheles, our autour telleth us,
That Cupido, that is the god of love, 1140
At preyere of his moder, hye above,
Hadde the lyknes of the child y-take,
This noble quene enamoured to make (220)
On Eneas; but, as of that scripture,
Be as be may, I make of hit no cure. 1145
But sooth is this, the quene hath mad
swich chere

Un-to this child, that wonder is to here;
And of the present that his fader sente
She thanked him ful ofte, in good entente.

Thus is this quene in plesaunce and in
joye, 1150
With al this newe lusty folk of Troye.

And of the dedes hath she more en-quered
Of Eneas, and al the story lered (230)
Of Troye; and al the longe day they
tweye

Entendeden to speken and to pleye; 1155
Of which ther gan to bredden swich a fyr,
That sely Dido hath now swich desyr
With Eneas, her newe gest, to dele,
That she hath lost her hewe, and eek her
hele.

Now to th'effect, now to the fruit of al, 1160
Why I have told this story, and tellen
shal.

Thus I beginne; hit fil, upon a night,
When that the mone up-reysed had her
light, (240)

This noble quene un-to her reste wente;
She syketh sore, and gan her-self tur-
mente. 1165

She waketh, walweth, maketh many a brayd,

As doon this loveres, as I have herd sayd.
And at the laste, unto her suster Anne
She made her moon, and right thus spak
she thanne.

'Now, dere suster myn, what may hit
be 1170

That me agasteth in my dreame?' quod
she.

'This ilke Troyan is so in my thought,
For that me thinketh he is so wel
y-wrought, (250)

And eek so lykly for to be a man,
And therwithal so mikel good he can, 1175
That al my love and lyf lyth in his cure.
Have ye not herd him telle his aventure?
Now certes, Anne, if that ye rede hit me,
I wolde fain to him y-wedded be; 1179
This is th'effect; what sholde I more seye?
In him lyth al, to do me live or deye.'

Her suster Anne, as she that coude her
good,

Seide as her thoughte, and somdel hit with-stood. (260)

But her-of was so long a sermoning,
Hit were to long to make rehersing; 1185
But fynally, hit may not been with-
stonde;

Love wol love—for no wight wol hit wonde.

The dawening up-rist out of the see ;
This amorous quene chargeth her meynee
The nettes dresse, and speres brode and
kene ; 1190

An hunting wol this lusty fresshe quene ;
So priketh her this newe joly wo.

To hors is al her lusty folk y-go ; (270)

Un-to the court the houndes been y-brought,
And up-on coursers, swift as any thought,
Her yonge knightes hoven al aboute, 1196
And of her women eek an huge routa.

Up-on a thikke palfrey, paper-whyt,
With sadel rede, enbrouded with delyt,
Of gold the barres up-enbossed hye, 1200
Sit Dido, al in gold and perre wrye ;
And she is fair, as is the brighte morwe,
That helethseke folk of nightes sorwe. (280)

Up-on a courser, startling as the fyr,
Men mighte turne him with a litel wyr,
Sit Eneas, lyk Phebus to devyse ; 1206
So was he fresshe arayed in his wyse.
The fomy brydel with the hit of gold Governeth he, right as him-self hath wold.

And forth this noble quene thus lat I
ryde 1210

An hunting, with this Troyan by her syde.

The herd of hertes founden is anoon,
With 'hey ! go bet ! prik thou ! lat goon,
lat goon ! (290)

Why nil the leoun comen or the bere,
That I mighte ones mets him with this
spere ? 1215

Thus seyn thise yonge folk, and up they
kille

These † hertes wilde, and han hem at hir
wille.

Among al this to-romblen gan the heven,

The thunder rored with a grisly steven ;
Doun com the rain, with hail and sleet
so faste, 1220

With hevenes fyr, that hit so sore agaste
This noble quene, and also her meynee,
That ech of hem was glad a-wey to flee. (300)
And shortly, fro the tempest her to save,
She fledde her-self into a litel cave, 1225
And with her wente this Eneas al-so ;
I noot, with hem if ther wente any mo ;
The autour maketh of lit no mencionn.
And heer began the depe affeccionn

Betwix hem two ; this was the firste
morwe 1230

Of her gladnesse, and ginning of her
sorwe.

For ther hath Eneas y-kneled so, (309)
And told her al his herte, and al his wo,
And sworn so depe, to her to be trewe,
For wele or wo, and change for no
newe, 1235

And as a fals lover so wel can pleyne,
That sely Dido rewed on his peyne,
And took him for husband, † to been his
wyf

For ever-mo, whyl that hem laste lyf.
And after this, whan that the tempest
stente, 1240

With mirth out as they comen, hoom
they wente.

The wikked fame up roos, and that
anon, (319)

How Eneas hath with the quene y-gon
In-to the cave ; and demed as hem liste ;
And whan the king, that Yarbas hight, hit wiste, 1245

As he that had her loved ever his lyf,
And wowed her, to have her to his wyf,
Swich sorwe as he hath makend, and swich
chere,

Hit is a routhe and pitee for to here.
But, as in love, al-day hit happeth so, 1250

That oon shal laughen at anothers wo ;
Now laugheth Eneas, and is in joye
And more richesse than ever he was in Troya. (320)

O sely womman, ful of innocence, 1254
Ful of pitee, of trouthe, and conscience,
What makend yow to men to trusten so ?
Have ye swich routhe upon hir feined wo,
And han swich olde ensamples yow beforen ?

See ye nat alle, how they been for-sworn ?
Wher see ye oon, that he ne hath laft his
leef, 1260

Or been unkinde, or doon hir som mis-
cheef,

Or pilled her, or bosted of his dede ? (329)
Ye may as wel hit seen, as ye may rede ;
Tak heed now of this grete gentil-man,
This Troyan, that so wel her plesen can,
That feineth him so trewe and obeising,
So gentil and so privy of his doing, 1267

And can so wel doon alle his obeisaunces,
And waiten her at festes and at daunces,
And when she goth to temple and hoom
ageyn, 1270

And fasten til he hath his lady seyn,
And bere in his devyces, for her sake, Noot I nat what; and songes wolde he
make, (350)

Justen, and doon of armes many thinges,
Sende her lettres, tokens, broches, ringes—
Now herkneth, how he shal his lady
serve! 1276

Ther-as he was in peril for to sterve
For hunger, and for mischeef in the
see,

And desolat, and fled from his contree,
And al his folk with tempest al-to-driven,
She hath her body and eek her reame
yiven 1281

In-to his hond, ther-as she mighte have been

Of other lond than of Cartage a queen,
And lived in joye y-nogh; what wolde ye
more? (361)

This Eneas, that hath so depe y-swore,
Is very of his craft with-in a throwe; 1286
The hote earnest is al over-blowe.

And prively he doth his shippes dighte,
And shapeth him to stele a-vey by nighte.

This Dido hath suspeioun of this, 1290
And thoughte wel, that hit was al a-mis;
For in his bedde he lyth a-night and
syketh;

She asketh him anoon, what him mis-
lyketh— (370)

'My dere herte, which that I love most?'
'Certes,' quod he, 'this night my fadres
gost 1295

Hath in my sleep so sore me tormented,
And eek Mercurie his message hath presented,

That nedes to the conquest of Itaile
My destinee is sone for to saile;

For which, me thinketh, brosten is myn
herte!' 1300

Ther-with his false teres out they sterte;
And taketh her with-in his armes two.

'Is that in earnest,' quod she; 'wil ye
so? (380)

Have ye nat sworn to wyve me to take,
Alas! what womman wil ye of me make?

I am a gentil-woman and a queen, 1306
Ye wil nat fro your wyf thus foule fleeen?
That I was born! allas! what shal I do?'

To telle in short, this noble queen Dido,
She seketh halwes, and doth sacrificyse;
She kneleth, cryeth, that routhe is to
devyse; 1311

Conjureth him, and profreth him to be
His thral, his servant in the leste gree;
She falleth him to fote, and swowneth
there (391)

Dischevele, with her brighte gilte here,
And seith, 'have mercy! let me with yow ryde! 1316

These lordes, which that wonen me besyde
Wil me destroyen only for your sake.

And, so ye wil me now to wyve take,
As ye han sworn, than wol I yive yow
leve 1320

To sleen me with your swerd now sone at eve!

For than yit shal I dyen as your wyf.
I am with childe, and yive my child his
lyf. (400)

Mercy, lord! have pite in your thoght!
But al this thing availeth her right noght;
For on a night, slepinge, he let her lye,
And stal a-vey un-to his companye, 1327
And, as a traitour, forth he gan to saile
Toward the large contree of Itaile.

Thus hath he laft Dido in wo and pyne;
And wedded ther a lady hight Lavyne.

A cloth he lafte, and eek his swerd standing, (409) 1332

Whan he fro Dido stal in her sleping,
Right at her beddes heed, so gan he hye
Whan that he stal a-vey to his navye;

Which cloth, whan sely Dido gan awake,
She hath hit kist ful ofte for his sake;
And seide, 'O cloth, why! Jupiter hit
leste,

Tak now my soule, unbind me of this
unreste! 1339

I have fulfid of fortune al the cours.'
And thus, allas! with-uten his socours,

Twenty tyme y-swowned hath she thanne.
And, whan that she un-to her suster

Anne (420)

Compleyned had, of which I may nat
wryte— 1344

So greet a routhe I have hit for t'endyte—

And had her norice and her suster goon
To fecchen fyr and other thing anoon,
And seide, that she wolde sacrificye.

And, whan she mighte her tyme wel
espye,

Up-on the fyr of sacrificys she sterte, 1350

And with his sward she roof her to the
herte.

But, as myn antour seith, right thus
she seyde; (429)

Or she was hurt, before that she deyde,
She wroot a lettre anoon, that thus began —

'Right so,' quod she, 'as that the whyte
swan 1355

Ayens his deeth beginneth for to singe,
Right so to yow make I my compleyninge.

Nat that I trowe to geten yow again,
For wel I woot that it is al in vain,
Sin that the goddes been contraire to me.
But sin my name is lost through yow,'
quod she, 1361

'I may wel less a word on yow, or letter,
Al-be-it that I shal be never the better;

For thilke wind that blew your ship
a-wey, (441)

The same wind hath blowe a-wey your fey,— 1365

But who wol al this letter have in
minde,

Rede Ovide, and in him he shal hit finde.

Cartaginis regine.*

IV. THE LEGEND OF HYPISYPLE AND MEDEA.

Incipit Legenda Ysiphile et Medee, Martirum.

PART I. THE LEGEND OF HYPISYPLE.

Thou rote of false lovers, duk Jasoun !
Thou sly devourer and confusioun
Of gentil-wommen, tender creatures, 1370 Thou madest thy reclaiming and thy lures

To ladies of thy statly apparaunce,
And of thy wordes, farced with plesaunce,
And of thy feyned trouthe and thy
manere,

With thyn obeissaunce and thy humble
chere, (8) 1375

And with thy counterfeted payne and wo.
Ther other falsen oon, thou falsest two !

O ! ofte swore thou that thou woldest dye
For love, whan thou ne feltest maladye
Save foul dalyt, which that thou callest
love ! 1380

If that I live, thy name shal be shove
In English, that thy sleighte shal be
knowe !

Have at thee, Jasoun ! now thyn horn is
blowe !

But certes, hit is bothe routhe and wo
That love with false lovers werketh so ;

For they shul have wel better love and
chere 1386

Than he that hath aboght his love ful
dere, (20)

Or had in armes many a blydy box.

For ever as tendre a capoun et the fox, Though he be fals and hath the foul betrayed, 1390

As shal the good-man that ther-for hath
payed ;

Al have he to the capoun skille and
right,

The false fox wol have his part at night.

On Jasoun this ensample is wel y-sene
By Isiphile and Medea the quene. 1395

In Tessalye, as Guido telleth us,
Ther was a king that highte Pelleus, (30)

That had a brother, which that highte
Eson ;

And, whan for age he mighte unnethes
gon,

He yaf to Pelleus the governing 1400
Of al his regne, and made him lord and king.

Of which Eson this Jasoun geten was,
That, in his tyme, in al that lond, ther nas

Nat swich a famous knight of gentlesse,
Of freedom, and of strengthe and lusti-
nesse. 1405

After his fader deeth, he bar him so (39)
That ther nas noon that liste been his fo,
But dide him al honour and companye;
Of which this Pelleus hath greet envye,
Imagining that Jasoun mighte be 1410
Enhaunsed so, and put in swich degree
With love of lordes of his regioun,
That from his regne he may be put adoun.
And in his wit, a-night, compassed he
How Jasoun mighte best destroyed be 1415
Withoute slaunder of his compasment.

And at the laste he took avisement (50)
To senden him in-to som fer contree
Ther as this Jasoun may destroyed be.
This was his wit; al made he to Jasoun
Gret chere of love and of affecciou, 1421
For drede lest his lordes hit espyde.
So fil hit so, as fame renneth wyde,
Ther was swich tyding over-al and swich los,

That in an yle that called was Colcos, 1425
Beyonde Troye, estward in the see,
That ther-in was a ram, that men mighte
see, (60)

That had a flees of gold, that shoon so
bryghte,

That no-wher was ther swich an-other
sighte; 1429

But hit was kept alway with a dragoun,
And many others merveils, up and down,
And with two boles, maked al of bras,
That spitten fyr, and moche thing ther
was.

But this was eek the tale, nathelees,
That who-so wolde winne thilke flees, 1435
He moste bothe, or he hit winne mighte,
With the boles and the dragoun fighte;
And king Oestes lord was of that yle. (71)

This Pelleus bethoghte upon this wyle;
That he his newew Jasoun wolde enhorte
To sailen to that lond, him to disporte,
And seide, 'Newew, if hit mighte be
That swich a worship mighte fallen thee,
That thou this famous tresor mightest
winne, 1444

And bringen hit my regioun with-inne,
Hit were to me gret plesaunce and honour;
Than were I holde to quyte thy labour. (80)
And al the cost I wol my-selven make;
And chees what folk that thou wilt with thee take; 1449

Lat see now, darstow taken this viage?'
Jasoun was yong, and lusty of corage,
And under-took to doon this ilke empryse.

Anoon Argus his shippes gan devyise;
With Jasoun wente the stronge Ercules,
And many an-other that he with him
chees. 1455

But who-so axeth who is with him gon,
Lat him go reden Argonauticon, (90)
For he wol telle a tale long y-now.
Philotetes anoon the sail up-drow, Whan that the wind was good, and gan him hye 1460

Out of his contree called Tessalye.
So long he sailed in the salte see Til in the yle † Lemnoun aryved he—Al be this nat rehersed of Guido,
Yet seith Ovyde in his Epistles so— 1465
And of this yle lady was and quene
The faire yonge Isiphilee, the shene, (100)
That whylom Thoas doghter was, the king.

Isiphilee was goon in her playing; 1469
And, roming on the clyves by the see,
Under a banke anoon espyde she Wher that the ship of Jasoun gan aryve.
Of her goodnesse adoun she sendeth blyve
To witen yif that any straunge wight 1474
Withtremst thider were y-blowe a-night,
To doon him socour; as was her usaunce
To forthren every wight, and doon ple-
saunce (110)

Of veray bountee and of curtesye.

This messagere adoun him gan to hye,
And fond Jasoun, and Ercules also, 1480
That in a cogge to londe were y-go
Hem to refresshen and to take the eyr.
The morwening atempre was and fair;
And in his wey the messagere hem mette.
Ful cunningly these lordes two he grette,
And dide his message, axing hem anoon
Yif they were broken, or oght wo begoon,
Or hadde nede of lodesmen or vitaille; (121)
For of socour they shulde no-thing faile,
For hit was utterly the quenes will. 1490

Jasoun answerde, mekely and stille,
'My lady,' quod he, 'thanke I hertely
Of hir goodnesse; us nedeth, trewely,
No-thing as now, but that we very be,
And come for to pleye, out of the see, 1495

Til that the wind be better in our weye.'

This lady rometh by the clif to pleye, (130)
With hir meynes, endelong the stronde,
And fynt this Jasoun and this other
stonde, 1499

In spekinge of this thing, as I yow tolde.

This Erceules and Jasoun gan beholde
How that the quene hit was, and faire her grette

Anon-right as they with this lady mette;
And she took heed, and knew, by hir
manere,

By hir aray, by wordes and by chere, 1505
That hit were gentil-men, of greet degree.
And to the castel with her ledeth she These straunge folk, and doth hem greet
honour, (141)

And axeth hem of travail and labour
That they han suffred in the salte see; 1510
So that, within a day, or two, or three,

She knew, by folk that in his shippes be,
That hit was Jasoun, ful of renomee,

And Erceules, that had the grete los, 1514
That soghten the aventures of Colcos;

And dide hem honour more then before,
And with hem deled ever lenger the
more, (150)

For they ben worthy folk, with-outen lees.
And namely, most she spak with Erceules;

To him her herte bar, he sholde be 1520
Sad, wys, and trewe, of wordes avisee,
With-outen any other affeccioun

Of love, or evil imaginacioun.

This Erceules hath so this Jasoun preyssed,
That to the sonne he hath him up
areysed, 1525

That half so trewe a man ther nas of love
Under the cope of heven that is above;

And he was wys, hardy, secree, and
riche.— (161)

Of these three pointes ther nas noon him
liche;

Of freedom passed he, and lustihede, 1530
Alle tho that liven or ben dede;

Ther-to so greet a gentil-man was he,
And of Tessalie lykly king to be.

Ther nas no lak, but that he was agast
To love, and for to speke shamefast. 1535

He hadde lever him-self to mordre, and
dye (169)

Than that men shuldea lover him espye:—

'As wolde almighty god that I had yive
My blood and flesh, so that I mighte live,
With the nones that he hadde o-wher
a wyf 1540

For his estat; for swich a lusty lyf
She sholde lede with this lusty knight!'

And al this was compassed on the
night

Betwixe him Jasoun and this Erceules.
Of these two heer was mad a shrewed lees

To come to hous upon an innocent; 1546
For to be-dote this quene was hir assent.

And Jasoun is as coy as is a maide, (181)
He loketh pitously, but noight he saide,

But frely yaf he to her conseileres 1550
Yiftes grete, and to her officeres.

As wolde god I leiser hadde, and tyme,
By proces al his wowing for to ryme.

But in this hous if any fals lover be,
Right as him-self now doth, right so dide
he, 1555

With feyning and with every sotil dede.
Ye gete no more of me, but ye wil rede

Th'original, that telleth al the cas. (191)

The somme is this, that Jasoun wedded
was

Unto this quene, and took of her substance 1560

What-so him liste, unto his purveyaunce;
And upon her begat he children two,

And drow his sail, and saw her never-mo.
A lettre sente she to him certein,

Which were to long to wryten and to sein, 1565

And him repreveth of his grete untrouthe,
And preyeth him on her to have som
routhe. (200)

And of his children two, she seide him
this,

That they be lyke, of alle thing, y-wis,
To Jasoun, save they coude nat begyle;

And preyed god, or hit were longe whyle,
That she, that had his herte y-raft her fro,

Moste finden him to her untrewe al-so,
And that she moste bothe her children
spille, 1574

And alle tho that suffreth him his wille.
And trew to Jasoun was she al her lyf,

And ever kepthe her chast, as for his wyf;
Ne never had she joye at her herte, (211)

But dyed, for his love, of sorwes smerte.

PART II. THE LEGEND OF MEDEA.

To Colcos comen is this duk Jasoun,
That is of love devourer and dragoun. 1581
As matare appetyteth forme al-vey,
And from forme in-to forme hit passen
may,

Or as a walle that were botomlees,
Right so can fals Jasoun have no pees.
For, to desyren, through his appetyt, 1586
To doon with gentil women his delyt,
This is his lust and his felicitee. (221)

Jasoun is romed forth to the citez,
That whylom cleped was Jaconthos, 1590
That was the maister-toun of al Colcos,
And hath y-told the cause of his coming
Un-to Oetes, of that contre king, Preying him that he moste doon his assay 1594

To gete the flees of gold, if that he may;
Of which the king assenteth to his bone,
And doth him honour, as hit is to done,
So ferforth, that his doghter and his eyr,
Medea, which that was so wys and fair
That fairer saw ther never man with y8,
He made her doon to Jasoun companye
At meta, and sitte by him in the halla.

Now was Jasoun a semely man with-
alle, (236)

And lyk a lord, and had a greet renoun,
And of his loke as real as leoun, 1605
And goodly of his speche, and famulere,
And coude of love al craft and art plener
With-oute boke, with everich observaunce.
And, as fortune her oghte a foul mes-
chaunce,

She wex enamoured upon this man. 1610
'Jasoun,' quod she, 'for ought I see or
can,

As of this thing the which ye been aboute,
Ye han your-self y-put in moche doute.
For, who-so wol this aventure acheve,
He may nat wel asterten, as I leve, 1615
With-uten deeth, but I his helpe be. (249)
But natheles, hit is my wille,' quod she,
'To forthren yow, so that ye shal nat dye,
But turnen, sound, hoom to your Tessalye.'

'My righte lady,' quod this Jasoun tho,
'That ye han of my dethe or of my wo
Any reward, and doon me this honour,
I wot wel that my might ne my labour

May nat deserve hit in my lyves day; 1624
God thanke yow, ther I ne can ne may.
Your man am I, and lowly you beseche,
To been my help, with-oute more speche;
But certes, for my deeth shal I nat
spare.' (261)

Tho gan this Medea to him declare
The peril of this cas, fro point to point,
And of his batail, and in what disjount
He mote stande, of which no creature,
Save only she, ne mighte his lyf assure.
And shortly, to the point right for to go,
They been accorded ful, betwix hem two,
That Jasoun shal her wedde, as trewe
knight; 1636
And term y-set, to come sone at night (270) Unto her chambre, and make ther his
ooth,

Upon the goddes, that he, for leef ne
looth, 1639
Ne sholde her never falsen, night ne day,
To been her husbond, whyl he liven may,
As she that from his deeth him saved
here.

And her-upon, at night they mette y-fere,
And doth his ooth, and goth with her to
bedde. 1644

And on the morwe, upward he him spedde;
For she hath taught him how he shal
nat faile (279)

The flees to winne, and stinten his bataile;
And saved him his lyf and his honour;
And gat him greet name as a conquerour Right through the sleight of her enchantement. 1650

Now hath Jasoun the flees, and hoom is went

With Medea, and tresor ful gret woon.
But unwist of her fader is she goon
To Tessaly, with duk Jasoun her leef,
That afterward hath broght her to mes-
cheef. 1655

For as a traitour he is from her go,
And with her lafte his yonge children
two, (290)

And falsly hath betrayed her, allas!
And ever in love a cheef traitour he was;
And wedded yit the thridde wyf anon, 1660
That was the doghter of the king Creon.

This is the meed of loving and guerdoun
That Medea received of Jasoun

Right for her trouthe and for her kinde-
nesse,
That loved him better than her-self, I
gesse, 1665
And lafte her fader and her heritage.
And of Jasoun this is the vassalage, (300)
That, in his dayes, nas ther noon y-founde
So fals a lover going on the grounde.
And therfor in her lettre thus she
seyde 1670
First, whan she of his falsnesse him um-
breyde,
'Why lyked me thy yelow hear to see
More then the boundes of myn honestee,

Why lyked me thy youthe and thy fair-
nesse,
And of thy tonge the infinit gracious-
nesse? 1675
O, haddest thou in thy conquest deed
y-be,
Ful mikel untrouthe had ther dyed with
thee! (310)
Wel can Ovyde her lettre in vers endyte,
Which were as now to long for me to
wryte.

Explicit Legenda Ysiphile et Medee, Martirum.

V. THE LEGEND OF LUCRETIA.

Incipit Legenda Lucretie Roma, Martiris.

Now moot I seyn the exiling of kinges
Of Rome, for hir horrible doinges, 1681
And of the laste king Tarquinius,
As saith Ovyde and Titus Livius.
But for that cause telle I nat this storie,
But for to praise and drawn to memorie
The verray wyf, the verray trewe Lucesse,
That, for her wyfhood and her stedfast-
nesse, 1687
Nat only that thise payens her comende,
But he, that cleped is in our legende (10)
The grete Austin, hath greet compas-
sioun 1690
Of this Lucesse, that starf at Rome toun;
And in what wyse, I wol but shortly trete,
And of this thing I touche but the grete.
Whan Ardes beseged was aboute With Romains, that ful sterne were and stoute, 1695
Ful longe lay the sege, and lital wroghte,
So that they were half ydel, as hem
- thoghte; (18)
And in his pley Tarquinius the yonge
Gan for to jape, for he was light of tonge,
And seyde, that 'it was an ydel lyf; 1700
No man did ther no more than his wyf;
And lat us speke of wyves, that is best;
Praise every man his owne, as him lest,
And with our speche lat us ese our herte.'
A knight, that highte Colatyne, up
sterte, 1705

And seyde thus, 'nay, for hit is no nede
To trowen on the word, but on the
dede.
I have a wyf,' quod he, 'that, as I trowe,
Is holden good of alle that ever her
knowe; (30)
Go we to-night to Rome, and we shul
see.' 1710
Tarquinius answerde, 'that lyketh me.' To Rome be they come, and faste hem
dighte
To Colatynes hous, and down they lighte, Tarquinius, and eek this Colatyne.
The husbond knew the estres wel and
fyne, 1715
And prively into the hous they goon;
Nor at the gate porter was ther noon;
And at the chambre-dore they abyde. (39)
This noble wyf sat by her beddes syde
Dischevele, for no malice she ne thoghte;
And softe wolle our book seith that she
wroghte 1721
To kepen her fro slouthe and ydelnesse;
And bad her servants doon hir businesse,
And axeth hem, 'what tydings heren ye?
How seith men of the sege, how shal hit
be? 1725
God wolde the walles weren falle adoun;
Myn husbond is so longe out of this toun,
For which the dreed doth me so sore
smerte,
Right as a sward hit stingeth to myn
herte (50)

Whan I think on the sege or of that place;
God save my lord, I preye him for his
grace :— 1731

And ther-with-al ful tenderly she weep,
And of her werk she took no more keep,
But mekely she leet her eyen falle;
And thilke semblant sat her wel with-alle,
And eek her teres, ful of honestee, 1736
Embelished her wyfly chastitee;
Her countenance is to her herte digne,
For they acordeden in dede and signe. (60)
And with that word her husband Colatyn,
Or she of him was war, com stering in,
And seide, 'dreed thee noht, for I am
here!' 1742

And she anon up roos, with blisful chere,
And kiste him, as of wyves is the wone.

Tarquinius, this proude kinges sone,
Conceived hath her beautee and her
chere, 1746

Her yelow heer, her shap, and her manere,
Her hew, her wordes that she hath com-
pleyned,

And by no crafte her beautee nas nat
feyned; (70)

And caughte to this lady swich desyr,
That in his herte brende as any fyr 1751
So woodyly, that his wit was al forgeten.
For wel, thoghte he, she sholde nat be geten;

And ay the more that he was in dispair,
The more he coveteth and thoghte her fair. 1755

His blinde lust was al his covetinge.

A-morwe, whan the brid began to singe,
Unto the sege he comth ful privily,
And by himself he walketh sobrelly, (80)
Th'image of her recording alwey newe;
'Thus lay her heer, and thus fresh was her hewe; 1761

Thus sat, thus spak, thus span; this was her chere,

Thus fair she was, and this was her
manere.'

All this conceit his herte hath now y-take.
And, as the see, with tempest al to-shake,
That, after whan the storm is al ago, 1766
Yet wol the water quappe a day or two,
Right so, thogh that her forme wer absent, (89)

The plessaunce of her forme was present;

But natheles, nat plessaunce, but delyt,
Or an unrightful talent with despyt; 1771
'For, maugre her, she shal my lemman
be;

Hap helpeth hardy man alday,' quod he;
'What ende that I make, hit shal be so;
And girt him with his swerde, and gan
to go; 1775

And forth he rit til he to Rome is come,
And al aloon his wey than hath he nome
Unto the house of Colatyn ful right.

Down was the sonne, and day hath lost his light; (100)

And in he com un-to a privy halke, 1780
And in the night ful theefly gan he stalke,
Whan every night was to his reste broght,
Ne no wight had of tresoun swich a
thoght.

Were hit by window or by other gin, 1784
With swerde y-drawe, shortly he comth in Ther as she lay, this noble wyf Lucesse.
And, as she wook, her bed she felte presse.
'What beste is that,' quod she, 'that weyeth thus?'

'I am the kinges sone, Tarquinius,' (110)
Quod he, 'but and thou crye, or noise
make, 1790

Or if thou any creature awake,
By thilke god that formed man on lyve,
This swerd through-out thyn herte shal
I ryve.'

And ther-withal unto her throte he sterte,
And sette the point al sharp upon her
herte. 1795

No word she spak, she hath no might
therto.

What shal she sayn? her wit is al ago.
Right as a wolf that fynt a lomb aloon,
To whom shal she compleyne, or make moon? (120)

What! shal she fighte with an hardy
knight? 1800

Wel wot men that a woman hath no
might.

What! shal she crye, or how shal she asterie

That hath her by the throte, with swerde
at herte?

She axeth grace, and seith al that she can.
'Ne wolt thou nat,' quod he, this cruel
man, 1805

'As wisly Jupiter my soule save,
As I shal in the stable slee thy knave,
And leye him in thy bed, and loude crye,
That I thee finde in suche avouterye; (130)
And thus thou shalt be deed, 'and also
lese 1810

Thy name, for thou shalt non other chese.'
Thise Romain wyves loveden so hir
name

At thilke tyme, and dredden so the shame,
That, what for fere of alsandre and drede
of death, 1814

She loste bothe at-ones wit and breeth,
And in a swough she lay and wex so
deed,

Men mighte smyten of her arm or heed;
She feleth no-thing, neither foul ne fair.

Tarquinius, that art a kinges eyr, (140)
And sholdest, as by linage and by right,
Doon as a lord and as a verray knight,
Why hastow doon dispyt to chivalrye?
Why hastow doon this lady vilanye?
Allas! of thee this was a vileins dede!

But now to purpos; in the story I rede, Whan he was goon, al this mischaunce is
falle. 1826

This lady sente after her frendes alle,
Fader, moder, husbond, al y-fere; (149)
And al dischevele, with her heres clere,
In habit swich as women used tho 1830
Unto the burying of her frendes go,
She sit in halle with a sorweful sighte.
Her frendes axen what her aylen mighte,
And who was deed? And she sit ay wepinge,

A word for shame ne may she forth out-
bringe, 1835

Ne upon hem she dorste nat beholde.
But atte laste of Tarquiny she hem tolde,
This rewful cas, and al this thing horrible.
The wo to tellen hit were impossible, (160)
That she and alle her frendes made
stones. 1840

Al hadde folkes hertes been of stones, Hit mighte have makid hem upon her
rewe,

Her herte was so wyfly and so trewe.
She seide, that, for her gilt ne for her
blame,

Her husbond sholde nat have the foule
name, 1845

That wolde she nat suffre, by no wey.
And they answerden alle, upon hir fey,
That they foryeve hit her, for hit was
right; (169)

Hit was no gilt, hit lay nat in her might;
And seiden her ensamples many oon. 1850
But al for noght; for thus she seide
anoon,

'Be as be may,' quod she, 'of forgyving,
I wol nat have no forgift for no-thing.'
But prively she caughte forth a knyf, 1854
And therwith-al she rafte her-self her lyf;
And as she fel adoun, she caste her look,
And of her clothes yit she hede took;
For in her falling yit she hadde care
Lest that her feet or swiche thing lay
bare; (180)

So welshe loved clenness and eek trouthe.
Of her had al the toun of Rome rounthe,
And Brutus by her chaste blode hath swore 1862

That Tarquin sholdey-banisht bether-fore,
And al his kin; and let the peple calle,
And openly the tale he tolde hem alle,
And openly let carie her on a bere 1866
Through al the toun, that men may see and here

The horrible deed of her oppressioun.
Ne never was ther king in Rome toun (190)
Sin thilke day; and she was holden there
A seint, and ever her day y-halwed dere
As in hir lawe: and thus endeth Lucesse,
The noble wyf, as Titus bereth witness.

I tell hit, for she was of love so trewe,
Ne in her wille she changed for no newe.
And for the stable herte, sad and kinde,
That in these women men may alday
finde; 1877

Ther as they caste hir herte, ther hit dwelleth.

For wel I wot, that Crist †him-selfe
telleth, (200)

That in Israel, as wyd as is the lond, 1880
That so gret feith in al the lond he ne
fond

As in a woman; and this is no lye.
And as of men, loketh which tirannye
They doon alday; assay hem who so liste,
The trewest is ful brotel for to triste. 1885

Explicit Legenda Lucretie Rome, Martiris.

VI. THE LEGEND OF ARIADNE.

Incipit Legenda Adriane de Athenes.

Jueꝝ infernal, Minos, of Crete king,
Now cometh thy lot, now comestow on the ring ;

Nat for thy sake only wryte I this storie,
But for to clepe agein unto memorie 1889
Of Theseus the grete untrouthe of love ;
For which the goddes of the heven above
Ben wrothe, and wreche han take for thy
sinne.

Be reed for shame ! now I thy lyf beginne.
Minos, that was the mighty king of Crete,

That hadde an hundred citees stronge
and grete, (10) 1895

To scole hath sent his sone Androgeus,
To Athenes ; of the whiche hit happed
thus,

That he was slayn, lerning philosophye,
Right in that citee, nat but for envye.

The grete Minos, of the whiche I speke,
His sones deeth is comen for to wreke ;
Alcathoe he bisegeth harde and longe.

But natheles the walles be so stronge,
And Nisus, that was king of that citee,
So chivalrous, that litel dredeth he ; 1905
Of Minos or his ost took he no cure, (21)
Til on a day befel an aventure,

That Nisus doghter stood upon the wal,
And of the sege saw the maner al. 1909

So happed hit, that, at a scarmishing,
She caste her herte upon Minos the king,
For his beantees and for his chivalrye,
So sore, that she wende for to dye.

And, shortly of this proces for to pace,
She made Minos winnen thilke place, 1915

So that the citee was al at his wille, (31)
To saven whom him list, or elles spille ;
But wikkedly he quitte her kindenesse,
And let her drenche in sorowe and dis-
tresse, 1919

Nere that the goddes hadde of her pite ;
But that tale were to long as now for me.

Athenes wan this king Minos also,
And Alcathoe and other tounes mo ;

And this th'effect, that Minos bath so driven

Hem of Athenes, that they mote him
yiven (40) 1925

Fro yere to yere her owne children dare
For to be slayn, as ye shul after here.

This Minos hath a monstre, a wikked
beste,

That was so cruel that, without areste, Whan that a man was broght in his presence, 1930

He wolde him ete, ther helpeth no defence.

And every thridde yeer, with-uten doute,
They casten lot, and, as hit com aboute

On riche, on pore, he moste his sone
take, (49) 1934

And of his child he moste present make Unto Minos, to save him or to spille,

Or lete his beste devoure him at his
wille.

And this hath Minos don, right in despyt ;
To wreke his sone was set al his delyt,

And maken hem of Athenes his thral 1940
Fro yere to yere, whyl that he liven shal ;

And hoom he sailleth whan this toun is
wonne.

This wikked custom is so longe y-ronne
Til that of Athenes king Egeus

Mot sende his owne sone, Theseus, 1945
Sith that the lot is fallen him upon, (61)

To be devoured, for grace is ther non.

And forth is lad this woful yonge knight
Unto the court of king Minos ful right,

And in a prison, fetered, cast is he 1950 Til thilke tyme he sholde y-freten be.

Wel maystow wepe, O woful Theseus,
That art a kinges sone, and dampned
thus.

Me thinketh this, that thou were depe
y-holde 1954

To whom that saved thee fro cares colde !
And now, if any woman helpe thee, (71)

Wel oughtestow her servant for to be,
And been her trewe lover yeer by yere !

But now to come ageyn to my maters.

The tour, ther as this Theseus is throwe Doun in the botom derke and wonder
lowe, 1961

Was joyning in the walle to a foreyne ;
And hit was longing to the doghtren
tweyne

Of king Minos, that in hir chambres grete Dwelten above, toward the maister-
strete, (80) 1965

In mochel mirthe, in joye and in solas.
Not I nat how, hit happed ther, per cas,
As Theseus compleyned him by nighte,
The kinges doghter, Adrian that highte,
And eek her suster Phedra, herden al 1970
His compleyning, as they stode on the wal
And lokeden upon the brighte mone ;
Ham leste nat to go to bedde sone.

And of his wo they had compassioun ;
A kinges sone to ben in swich prisoun
And be devoured, thoughte hem gret
pitee. (91) 1976

Than Adrian spak to her suster free,
And seyde, ' Phedra, leve suster dere,
This woful lordes sone may ye nat here,
How pitously compleyneth he his kin,
And eek his pore estat that he is in, 1981
And gilteless ? now certes, hit is routhe !
And if ye wol assenten, by my trouthe,
He shal be helpen, how so that we do !'

Phedra answerde, ' y-wis, me is as wo
For him as ever I was for any man ; 1986
And, to his help, the beste reed I can (102)
Is that we doon the gayler prively
To come, and speke with us hastily,
And doon this woful man with him to
come. 1990

For if he may this monstre overcome,
Than were he quit ; ther is noon other
bote.

Let us wel taste him at his herte-rote,
That, if so be that he a wepen have,
Wher that he dar, his lyf to kepe and
save, (110) 1995

Fighten with this fend, and him defende.
For, in the prison, ther he shal descende,
Ye wite wel, that the beste is in a place
That nis nat derk, and hath roum eek and space

To welde an ax or swerd or staf or knyf,
So that, me thinketh, he sholde save his
lyf ; 2001

If that he be a man, he shal do so.
And we shul make him balles eek also
Of wexe and towe, that, whan he gapeth
faste, 2004

Into the bestes throte he shal hem caste To slake his hunger and encombre his teeth ; (121)

And right anon, whan that Theseus seeth
The beste achoked, he shal on him lepe
To sleen him, or they comen more to-hepe.
This wepen shal the gayler, or that tyde,
Ful privly within the prison hyde ; 2011
And, for the hous is crinkled to and fro,
And hath so queinte weyes for to go—

For hit is shapen as the mase is wrought—
Therto have I a remedie in my thought,
That, by a clewe of twyne, as he hath
goon, (131) 2016

The same way he may returne anon, Folwing alway the threed, as he hath
come.

And, whan that he this beste hath over-
come,

Then may he fleen away out of this drede,
And eek the gayler may he with him
lede, 2021

And him avaunce at hoom in his contree,
Sin that so greet a lordes sone is he.
This is my reed, if that he dar hit take.'

What sholde I langer sermoun of hit
make ? 2025

The gayler cometh, and with him Theseus.
And whan thise thinges been accorded
thus, (142)

Adoun sit Theseus upon his knee :—
'The righte lady of my lyf,' quod he,
'I, sorweful man, y-dampned to the deeth,
Fro yow, whyl that me lasteth lyf or
breeth, 2031

I wol nat twinne, after this aventure,
But in your servise thus I wol endure,
That, as a wrecche unknowe, I wol yow
serve 2034

For ever-mo, til that myn herte sterve.
Forsake I wol at hoom myn heritage, (151)
And, as I seide, ben of your court a page,
If that ye vouche-sauf that, in this place,
Ye graunte me to han so gret a grace
That I may han nat but my mete and
drinke ; 2040

And for my sustenance yit wol I swinke,

Right as yow list, that Minos ne no
wight—

Sin that he saw me never with eyen
sight—

Ne no man elles, shal me conne espye;
So slyly and so wel I shal me gye, 2045
And me so wel disfigure and so lowe, (161)
That in this world ther shal no man me
knowe,

To han my lyf, and for to han presence
Of yow, that doon to me this excellence.
And to my fader shal I senden here 2050
This worthy man, that is now your gay-
lere,

And, him to guerdon, that he shal wel be Oon of the grettest men of my contree.
And yif I dorste seyn, my lady bright,
I am a kinges sone, and eek a knight;
As wolde god, yif that hit mighte be (171)
Ye weren in my contree, alle three,
And I with yow, to bere yow companye,
Than shulde ye seen yif that I ther-of lye!
And, if I profre yow in low manere 2060
To ben your page and serven yow right
here,

But I yow serve as lowly in that place,
I pray to Mars to yive me swiche a grace
That shames deeth on me ther mote
falle,

And deeth and povert to my frendes
alle; 2065

And that my spirit by nighte mote go (181)
After my deeth, and waike to and fro;
That I mote of a traitour have a name,
For which my spirit go, to do me shame!
And yif I ever claime other degree, 2070
But-if ye vouche-sauf to yive hit me,
As I have seid, of shames deeth I deye!
And mercy, lady! I can nat elles seye!

A seemly knight was Theseus to see,
And yong, but of a twenty year and
three; 2075

But who-so hadde y-seyn his counten-
aunce, (191)

He wolde have wept, for routhe of his
penaunce;

For which this Adriane in this manere
Answerde to his profre and to his chere.

'A kinges sone, and eek a knight,'
quod she, 2080

'To been my servant in so low degree,

God shilde hit, for the shame of women
alle!

And leve me never swich a cas befallē!
But sende yow grace and sleighte of herte also,

Yow to defende and knightly sleen your fo, 2085

And leve herafter that I may yow finde
To me and to my suster here so kinde,
That I repente nat to give yow lyf! (209) Yit were hit better that I were your
wyf,

Sin that ye been as gentil born as I, 2090
And have a rēaume, nat but faste by,
Then that I suffred giltles yow to sterve,
Or that I let yow as a page serve;
Hit is not profit, as unto your kinrede;
But what is that that man nil do for
drede? 2095

And to my suster, sin that hit is so (211)
That she mot goon with me, if that I go,
Or elles suffre deeth as wel as I,
That ye unto your sone as trewely 2099
Doon her be wedded at your hoom-coming.
This is the fynal ende of al this thing;
Ye swere hit heer, on al that may be sworn.'

'Ye, lady myn,' quod he, 'or elles torn Mote I be with the Minotaur to-morwe!
And haveth her-of my herte-blood to borwa, (220) 2105

Yif that ye wile; if I had knyf or spere,
I wolde hit leten out, and ther-on swere,
For than at erst I wot ye wil me leve.

By Mars, that is the cheef of my bileve,
So that I mighte liven and nat faille 2110
To-morwe for t'acheve my bataille,
I nolde never for this place flee,
Til that ye shuld the verray prove see.

For now, if that the sooth I shal yow say,
I have y-loved yow ful many a day, 2115
Though ye ne wiste hit nat, in my contree.

And aldermost desyred yow to see (232)
Of any erthly living creature; 2118

Upon my trouthe I swere, and yow assure,
This seven year I have your servant be;
Now have I yow, and also have ye me,
My dere herte, of Athenes duchesse!

This lady smyleth at his stedfastnesse,
And at his hertly wordes, and his chere,
And to her suster seide in this manere,

Al softly, 'now, suster myn,' quod she,
 'Now be we duchesses, bothe I and ye,
 And sikered to the regals of Athenes, (243)
 And bothe her-after lykly to be quenes,
 And saved fro his deeth a kinges sone,
 As ever of gentil women is the wone 2131
 To save a gentil man, emforth hir might,
 In honest cause, and namely in his right.
 Me thinketh no wight oghte her-of us
 blame,

Ne beren us ther-for an evel nama.' 2135
 And shortly of this matere for to make,
 This Theseus of her hath leve y-take, (252)
 And every point performed was in dede
 As ye have in this covenant herd me rede.
 His wepen, his clew, his thing that I have said, 2140

Was by the gayler in the hous y-laid Ther as this Minotaur hath his dwelling,
 Right faste by the dore, at his entring.
 And Theseus is lad unto his deeth, 2144
 And forth un-to this Minotaur he geeth,
 And by the teching of this Adriane (261)
 He overcom this beste, and was his bane;
 And out he cometh by the clewe again
 Ful prevely, whan he this beste hath slain; 2149

And by the gayler geten hath a barge,
 And of his wyves tresor gan hit charge,
 And took his wyf, and eek her suster free,
 And eek the gayler, and with hem alle
 three

Is stole away out of the lond by nighte,
 And to the contre of Ennopye him
 dighte 2155

Ther as he had a frend of his knowinge.
 Ther festen they, ther dauncen they and
 singe; (272)

And in his armes hath this Adriane,
 That of the beste hath kept him from his bane; 2159

And gat him ther a newe barge anon,
 And of his contree-folk a ful gret woon,
 And taketh his leve, and hoomward sail-eth he.

And in an yle, amid the wilde see,
 Ther as ther dwalte creature noon
 Save wilde bestes, and that ful many
 oon, 2165

He made his ship a-londe for to sette;
 And in that yle half a day he lette, (282)

And seide, that on the lond he moeste him
 reste.

His mariniers han doon right as him
 leste;

And, for to tallen shortly in this cas, 2170
 Whan Adriane his wyf a-slepe was,
 For that her suster fairer was than she,
 He taketh her in his hond, and forth goth he

To shippe, and as a traitour stal his way
 Whyl that this Adriane a-slepe lay, 2175
 And to his contree-ward he saileth
 blyve— (291)
 A twenty devil way the wind him
 dryve!—

And fond his fader drenched in the see.
 Me list no more to speke of him, parde;
 These false lovers, poison be hir bane!
 But I wol turne again to Adriane 2181
 That is with alepe for werinesse atake.
 Ful sorwefully her herte may awake.
 Allas! for thee my herte hath now
 pite!

Right in the dawening awaketh she, 2185
 And gropeth in the bedde, and fond right
 noght. (301)

'Allas!' quod she, 'that ever I was
 wrought!

I am betrayed!' and her heer to-rente,
 And to the stronde bar-fot faste she
 wente,

And cryed, 'Theseus! myn herte swete!
 Wher be ye, that I may nat with yow
 mete, 2191
 And mighte thus with bestes been y-
 slain?'

The holwe rokkes answerde her again;
 No man she saw, and yit shynd the
 mone, 2194

And hye upon a rokke she wente sone,
 And saw his barge sailing in the see. (311)
 Cold wex her herte, and right thus seide
 she.

'Meker than ye finde I the bestes wilde!
 Hadde he nat sinne, that her thus begylded?

She cryed, 'O turne again, for routhe and
 sinne! 2200

Thy barge hath nat al his meiny inne!
 Her kerchef on a pole up stikked she,
 Ascaunce that he shold hit wel y-see,

And him remembre that she was behinde,
 And turne again, and on the stronde her
 finde; (320) 2205
 But al for noght; his way he is y-noon.
 And down she fil a-swown upon a stoon;
 And up she rist, and kiste, in al her care,
 The steppes of his feet, ther he hath fare,
 And to her bedde right thus she speketh
 tho :— 2210
 'Thou bed,' quod she, 'that hast receyved
 two,
 Thou shalt answere of two, and nat of
 oon!
 Wher is thy gretter part away y-noon?
 Allas! wher shal I, wrecched wight, become!
 For, thogh so be that ship or boot heer
 come, 2215

Hoom to my contree dar I nat for
 drede; (331)
 I can my-selven in this cas nat rede!
 What shal I telle more her complein-ing?
 Hit is so long, hit were an hevye thing.
 In her epistle Našo telleth al; 2220
 But shortly to the ende I telle shal.
 The goddes have her holpen, for pitee;
 And, in the signe of Taurus, men may
 see
 The stones of her coroun shyne clere.—
 I wol no more speke of this matere;
 But thus this false lover can begyle 2226
 His trewe love. The devil †him quyte his whyle! (342)

VII. THE LEGEND OF PHILOMELA.

Incipit Legenda Philomene.

Deus dator formarum.

Tuou yiver of the formes, that hast
 wroght
 The faire world, and bare hit in thy
 thoght
 Eternally, or thou thy werk began, 2230
 Why madest thou, unto the slaundre of
 man,
 Or—al be that hit was not thy doing,
 As for that fyn to make swiche a
 thing—
 Why suffrest thou that Terens was bore,
 That is in love so fals and so forswore,
 That, fro this world up to the firste
 hevене, 2236
 Corrupeth, whan that folk his name
 nevене? (10)
 And, as to me, so grisly was his dede,
 That, whan that I his foule story rede,
 Myn eyen wexen foule and sore also; 2240
 Yit last the venim of so longe ago,
 That hit enfecteth him that wol beholde
 The story of Terens, of which I tolde.
 Of Trace was he lord, and kin to Marte,
 The cruel god that stant with bloody
 darte; 2245

And wedded had he, with a blisful chere,
 King Pandiones faire doghter dere, (20)
 That highte Progne, flour of her contree, Thogh Juno list nat at the feste be,
 Ne Ymeneus, that god of wedding is;
 But at the feste redy been, y-wis, 2251
 The furies three, with alle hir mortal
 brond.
 The owle al night aboute the balkes wond,
 That prophet is of wo and of mischaunce.
 This revel, ful of songs and ful of daunce,
 Lasteth a fourtenight, or litel lasse. 2256
 But, shortly of this story for to passe, (30)
 For I am wery of him for to telle,
 Five year his wyf and he togeder dwelle,
 Til on a day she gan so sore longe 2260
 To seen her suster, that she saw nat longe,
 That for desyr she niste what to seye.
 But to her husband gan she for to preye,
 For goddes love, that she moste ones
 goon 2264
 Her suster for to seen, and come anon,
 Or elles, but she moste to her wende,
 She preyde him, that he wolde after her
 sende; (40)
 And this was, day by day, al her prayere
 With al humblesse of wyfhood, word, and
 chere. 2269

This Tereus let make his shippes yare,
 And into Grece him-self is forth y-fare Unto his fader in lawe, and gan him
 preye
 To vouche-sauf that, for a month or
 tweye,
 That Philomene, his wyves suster, mighte
 On Progne his wyf but ones have a
 sighte— 2275
 'And she shal come to yow again anoon.
 Myself with her wol bothe come and
 goon, (50)
 And as myn hertes lyf I wol her kepe.'
 This olde Pandion, this king, gan
 wepe
 For tendernesse of herte, for to leve 2280
 His doghter goon, and for to yive her
 leve;
 Of al this world he lovede no-thing so;
 But at the laste leve hath she to go.
 For Philomene, with salte teres eke,
 Gan of her fader grace to beseke 2285
 To seen her suster, that her longeth so;
 And him embraceth with her armes two.
 And therwith-also yong and fair was she
 That, whan that Teræus saw her beautee,
 And of array that ther was noon her
 liche, (63) 2290
 And yit of bountee was she two so riche,
 He caste his fyry herte upon her so
 That he wol have her, how so that hit go,
 And with his wyles kneled and so preyde,
 Til at the laste Pandion thus seyde:—
 'Now, sone,' quod he, 'that art to me
 so dere, 2296
 I thee betake my yonge doghter here, (70)
 That bereth the key of al my hertes lyf.
 And grete wel my doghter and thy wyf,
 And yive her leve somtyme for to pleye,
 That she may seen me ones er I deye.'
 And soothly, he hath mad him riche
 feste, 2302
 And to his folk, the moste and eek the
 leste,
 That with him com; and yaf him yiftes
 grete,
 And him conveyeth through the maister-
 strete 2305
 Of Athenes, and to the see him broghte,
 And turneth hoom; no malice he ne
 thoghte. (80)

The ores pulleth forth the vessel faste,
 And into Trace arriveth at the laste,
 And up into a forest he her ledde, 2310
 And to a cave privily him spedde;
 And, in this derke cave, yif her leste,
 Or leste noight, he had her for to reste;
 Of whiche her herte agroos, and seyde
 thus,
 'Wher is my suster, brother Terens?' 2315
 And therwith-al she wepte tenderly,
 And quook for fere, pale and pitously, Right as the lamb that of the wolf is biten;
 Or as the colver, that of the egle is smiten,
 And is out of his claws forth escaped, 2320
 Yet hit is asered and awhaped
 Lest hit be hent eft-sones, so sat she.
 But utterly hit may non other be.
 By force hath he, this traitour, doon that
 dede,
 That he hath reft her of her mayden-
 hede, 2325
 Mangree her heed, by strengthe and by his might. (99)
 Lo! here a dede of men, and that a right!
 She cryeth 'suster!' with ful loud
 stevene,
 And 'fader dere!' and 'help me, god in
 hevене!' 2329
 Al helpeth nat; and yet this false thief
 Hath doon this lady yet a more mischeef,
 For fere lest she sholde his shame crye,
 And doon him openly a vilanye,
 And with his sward her tong of kerveth
 he,
 And in a castel made her for to be 2335
 Ful privily in prison evermore,
 And kepte her to his usage and his store, (110)
 So that she mighte him nevermore asterte.
 O sely Philomene! wo is thyn herte;
 God wreke thee, and sende thee thy
 bone! 2340
 Now is hit tyme I make an ende sone.
 This Tereus is to his wyf y-come,
 And in his armes hath his wyf y-nome,
 And pitonaly he weep, and shook his
 heed,
 And swor her that he fond her suster
 deed; 2345

For which this sely Progne hath swich
wo, (119) 2346

That ny her sorweful herte brak a-two;
And thus in teres lete I Progne dwelle,
And of her suster forth I wol yow tella.

This woful lady lerned had in youthe
So that she werken and enbrouden couthe,
And weven in her stole the radevore
As hit of women hath be woned yore.
And, shortly for to seyn, she hath her
fille

Of mete and drink, and clothing at her
wille, 2355

And coude eek rede, and wel y-nogh
endyte,

But with a penne coude she nat wryte;
But lettres can she weven to and fro, (131)
So that, by that the year was al a-go,

She had y-woven in a stamin large 2360
How she was broght from Athenes in a barge,

And in a cave how that she was broght;
And al the thing that Tereus hath wrought,
She waf hit wel, and wroot the story
above,

How she was served for her suster love;
And to a knave a ring she yaf anon, 2366
And prayed him, by signes, for to goon (140)
Unto the quene, and beren her that clooth,
And by signes swor him many an ooth,
She sholde him yeve what she geten
mighte. 2370

This knave anon unto the quene him
dighte,

And took hit her, and al the maner tolde.
And, whan that Progne hath this thing
beholde,

No word she spak, for sorwe and eek for
rage;

But feyned her to goon on pilgrimage 2375
To Baachus temple; and, in a lital
stounde,

Her dombe suster sitting hath she founde,
Weping in the castel her aloon. (151) Allas! the wo, the compleint, and the moon

That Progne upon her dombe suster
maketh! 2380

In armes everich of hem other taketh,
And thus I lete hem in hir sorwe dwelle.

The remenant is no charge for to
talle,

For this is al and som, thus was she
served,

That never harm a-gilte ne deserved 2385
Unto this cruel man, that she of wiste.

Ye may be war of men, yif that yow
liste. (160)

For, al be that he wol nat, for his shame,
Doon so as Tereus, to lese his name,
Ne serve yow as a mordroure or a knave,
Ful lital whyle shul ye trewe him have,
That wol I seyn, al were he now my
brother, 2392

But hit so be that he may have non
other. (166)

Explicit Legenda Philomene.

VIII. THE LEGEND OF PHYLLIS.

Incipit Legenda Phyllis.

By preve as wel as by auctoritee,
That wikked fruit cometh of a wikked
tree, 2395

That may ye finde, if that it lyketh
yow.

But for this ende I speke this as now,
To telle you of false Demophon.

In love a falsur herde I never non,
But-if hit were his fader Theseus. 2400

'God, for his grace, fro swich oon kepe
us!'

Thus may thise women prayen that hit
here. (9)

Now to th'effect turne I of my matere.

Destroyed is of Troye the citee; 2404
This Demophon com sailing in the see

Toward Athenes, to his paleys large;
With him com many a ship and many a
barge

Ful of his folk, of which ful many oon
Is wounded sore, and seek, and wo be-
goon. 2409

And they han at the sege longe y-lain.
Behinde him com a wind and eek a rain
That shoof so sore, his sail ne mighte
stonde, (19)

Him were lever than al the world a-londe,
So hunteth him the tempest to and fro.
So derk hit was, he coude nowher go; 2415
And with a wawe brosten was his stera.
His ship was rent so lowe, in swich
manere,

That carpenter ne coude hit nat amende.
The see, by nighte, as any torche brende
For wood, and posseth him now up now down, 2420

Til Neptune hath of him compassioun,
And Thetis, Chorus, Triton, and they
alle,

And maden him upon a lond to falle, (30)
Wher-of that Phillis lady was and quene,
Ligurgus doghter, fairer on to sene 2425
Than is the flour again the brighte sonne.
Unnethe is Demophon to londe y-wonne, Wayk and eek wery, and his folk forpynd

Of werinesse, and also enfamyned; 2429
And to the deeth he almost was y-driven.
His wyse folk to conseil han him yiven
To seken help and socour of the queen,
And loken what his grace mighte been, (40)
And maken in that lond som chevisaunce,
To kepen him fro wo and fro mischaunce.
For seek was he; and almost at the deeth; Unnethe mighte he speke or drawe his
breeth, 2437

And lyth in Rodopeya him for to reste.
Whan he may walke, him thoughte hit was the beste

Unto the court to seken for socour. 2440
Men knewe him wel, and diden him
honour;

For at Athenes duk and lord was he,
As Theseus his fader hadde y-be, (50)
That in his tyme was of greet renoun,
No man so greet in al his regioun; 2445
And lyk his fader of face and of stature,
And fals of love; hit com him of nature;
As doth the fox Renard, the foxes sone,
Of kinde he coude his olde faders wone

Withoute lore, as can a drake swimme, Whan hit is caught and caried to the brimma. 2451

This honourable Phillis doth him chere,
Her lyketh wel his port and his manere.
But for I am agroted heer-biforn (61)
To wryte of hem that been in love for-
sworn, 2455

And eek to haste me in my legende,
Which to performe god me grace sende,
Therfor I passe shortly in this wyse;
Ye han wel herd of Theseus devyse
In the betraying of fair Adriane, 2460
That of her pite kepte him from his bane.

At shorte wordes, right so Demophon
The same wey, the same path hath gon (70)
That dide his false fader Theseus.

For unto Phillis hath he sworn thus, 2465
To wedden her, and her his trouthe
plighte,

And piked of her al the good he mighte,
Whan he was hool and sound and hadde
his reste;

And doth with Phillis what so that him
leste.

And wel coude I, yif that me leste so, 2470
Tellen al his doing to and fro.

He seide, unto his contree moste he
saile,

For ther he wolde her wedding apparaile
As fil to her honour and his also. (81)

And openly he took his leve tho, 2475
And hath her sworn, he wolde nat sojorne,
But in a month he wolde again retorne.
And in that lond let make his ordinaunce
As verray lord, and took the obeisaunce Wel and hoonly, and let his shippes
dighte, 2480

And hoom he goth the nexte wey he
mighte;

For unto Phillis yit ne com he noght.
And that hath she so harde and sore
aboght, (90)

Allas! that, as the stories us recorde,
She was her owne deeth right with a
corde, 2485

Whan that she saw that Demophon her
trayed.

But to him first she wroot and fasto him prayed

He wolde come, and her deliver of peyne,
As I reherse shal a word or tweyne.

Me list nat vouchesauf on him to swinke,
Nespende on him a penne ful of inke, 2491
For fals in love was he, right as his syre;
The devil sette hir soules bothe a-fyre!
But of the lettre of Phillis wol I wryte
A word or tweyne, al-though hit be but
lyte. (102) 2495

'Thyn hostesse,' quod she, 'O Demophon,
Thy Phillis, which that is so wo begon,
Of Rodopeya, upon yow moot compleyne,
Over the terme set betwix us tweyne,
That ye ne holden forward, as ye seyde;
Your anker, which ye in our haven
leyde, 2501

Highte us, that ye wolde comen, out of
doute,

Or that the mone ones wente aboute. (110)
But tymes foure the mone hath hid her
face

Sin thilke day ye wente fro this place, 2505
And foure tymes light the world again.
But for al that, yif I shal soothly sain, Yit hath the stream of Sitho nat y-brought From Athenes the ship; yit comth hit
noght.

And, yif that ye the terme rekne wolde,
As I or other trewe lovers sholde, 2511
I pleyne not, god wot, befor my day.'—

But al her lettre wryten I ne may (120)
By ordre, for hit wens to me a charge;
Her lettre was right long and ther-to large; 2515

But here and thore in ryme I have hit laid,
Ther as me thoughte that she wel hath said.—

She seide, 'thy sailles comen nat again,
Ne to thy word ther nis no fey certain;
But I wot why ye come nat,' quod she;
'For I was of my love to you so free. 2521
And of the goddess that ye han forswore, Yif that hir vengeance falle on yow ther-
fore, (130)

Ye be nat suffisaunt to bere the peyne.
To moche trusted I, wel may I pleyne, 2525

Upon your linage and your faire tonge,
And on your teres falsly out y-wronge.
How coude ye wepe so by craft?' quod
she;

'May ther swiche teres feyned be?
Now certes, yif ye wolde have in memorie,
Hit oghte be to yow but lital glorie, 2531
To have a sely mayde thus betrayed!
To god,' quod she, 'preye I, and ofte have prayed, (140)

That hit be now the grettest prys of alle,
And moete honour that ever yow shal
befalle! 2535
And whan thyn olde auncestres peynted
be,

In which men may hir worthinesse see,
Than, preye I god, thou peynted be also,
That folk may reden, for-by as they go,
"Lo! this is he, that with his flaterye 2540
Betrayed hath and doon her vilanye That was his trewe love in thoghte and
dede!"

But sothly, of oo point yit may they rede,
That ye ben lyk your fader as in this; (151)
For he begyled Adriane, y-wis, 2545
With swiche an art and swiche sotelte
As thou thy-selven hast begyled me.

As in that point, al-though hit be nat fayr,
Thou folwest him, certein, and art his eyr.
But sin thus sinfully ye me begyle, 2550
My body mote ye seen, within a whyle,
Right in the haven of Athenes fletinge,
With-outen sepulture and buryinge; (160)
Thogh ye ben harder then is any stoon.'

And, whan this lettre was forth sent
anoon, 2555
And knew how brotel and how fals he
was,

She for dispeyr for-dide herself, allas!
Swich sorwe hath she, for she besette her
so.

Be war, ye women, of your sotil fo, 2559
Sin yit this day men may ensample see;
And trusteth, as in love, no man but
me. (168)

Explicit Legenda Phillis.

IX. THE LEGEND OF HYPERMNESTRA.

Incipit Legenda Ypermistre.

In Grece whylom weren brethren two,
 Of whiche that oon was called Danao,
 That many a sone hath of his body wonne,
 As swiche false lovers ofte conne. 2565
 Among his sones alle ther was oon
 That aldermost he lovede of everichoon.
 And when this child was born, this Danao
 Shoop him a name, and called him Lino.
 That other brother called was Egiste, 2570
 That was of love as fals as ever him
 liste, (10)
 And many a doghter gat he in his lyve;
 Of which he gat upon his righte wyve
 A doghter dere, and dide her for to calle
 Ypermistra, yongest of hem alle; 2575
 The whiche child, of her nativitee,
 To alle gode thewes born was she,
 As lyked to the goddess, or she was born,
 That of the shefe she sholde be the corn; (18)
 The Wirde, that we clepen Destinee, 2580
 Hath shapen her that she mot nedes be Pitouse, sadde, wyse, and trewe as steel;
 And to this woman hit accordeth weel.
 For, though that Venus yaf her greet beantee,
 With Jupiter compounded so was she 2585
 That consciens, trouthe, and dreed of
 shame,
 And of her wyfhood for to kepe her name,
 This, thoughte her, was felicitee as here.
 And rede Mars was, that tyme of the
 yere,
 So feble, that his malice is him raft, 2590
 Repressed hath Venus his cruel craft; (30)
 †What with Venus and other oppressioun
 Of houses, Mars his venim is adoun,
 That Ypermistra dar nat handle a knyf
 In malice, thogh she sholde lese her lyf.
 But natheles, as heven gan the turne, 2596
 To badde aspectes hath she of Saturne,

That made her for to deyen in prisoun,
 As I shal after make mencionioun.

To Danao and Egistes also— 2600
 Al-thogh so be that they were brethren
 two, (40)
 For thilke tyme nas spared no linage—
 Hit lyked hem to maken mariage
 Betwix Ypermistra and him Lino,
 And casten swiche a day hit shal be so; 2605
 And ful accorded was hit witterly;
 The array is wrought, the tyme is faste by.
 And thus Lino hath of his fadres brother
 The doghter wedded, and eche of hem hath other.

The torches brennen and the lampes
 brighte, 2610
 The sacrifices been ful redy dighte; (50)
 Th'encens out of the fyre reketh sote,
 The flour, the leef is rent up by the
 rote

To maken garlands and coronnes hye;
 Ful is the place of soun of minstralcye,
 Of songes amorous of mariage, 2616
 As thilke tyme was the pleyn usage.
 And this was in the paleys of Egiste,
 That in his hous was lord, right as him
 liste;

And thus the day they dryven to an
 ende; 2620
 The frondes taken leve, and hoom they
 wende. (60)
 The night is come, the bryd shal go to
 bedde;

Egiste to his chambre faste him spedde,
 And privily he let his doghter calle.

Whan that the hous was voided of hem
 alle, 2625
 He loked on his doghter with glad
 chere,

And to her spak, as ye shul after here.

'My righte doghter, tresor of myn
 herte!

Sin first that day that shapen was my
 sherte,

Or by the fatal sustren had my dom, 2630
So ny myn herte never thing me com (70)
As thou, myn Ypermistra, doghter
dere!

Tak heed what I thy fader sey thee
here,

And werk after thy wyser ever-mo.
For alderfirste, doghter, I love thee so 2635
That al the world to me nis half so leef;
Ne I nolde rede thee to thy mischeef
For al the gode under the colde mone;
And what I mene, hit shal be seid right
sone,

With protestacioun, as in this wyse, 2640
That, but thou do as I shal thee devyse, Thou shalt be deed, by him that al hath
wrought! (81)

At shorte wordes, thou n'escapest nocht
Out of my paleys, or that thou be deed,
But thou consente and werke after my
reed; 2645

Tak this to thee for ful conclusioun.
This Ypermistra caste her eyen down,
And quook as dooth the leef of aspe
grene;

Deed wax her hewe, and lyk as ash to
sene, 2649

And seyde, 'lord and fader, al your wille,
After my might, god wot, I shal fulfille,
So hit to me be no confusioun.' (91)

'Inil,' quod he, 'have noon excepcioun';
And out he caughte a knyf, as rasour kene;
'Hyd this,' quod he, 'that hit be nat y-
sene; 2655

And, whan thyn husbond is to bedde y-go,
Why! that he slepeth, cut his throte a-two.
For in my dremes hit is warned me
How that my nevew shal my bane be,
But whiche I noot, wherfor I wol be siker. 2660

Yif thou sey nay, we two shul have a biker (100)

As I have seyde, by him that I have sworn.'

This Ypermistra hath ny her wit forlon;
And, for to passen harmles of that place,
She graunted him; ther was non other
grace. 2665

And therwith-al a costrel taketh he,
And seyde, 'herof a draught, or two or
three;

Yif him to drinke, whan he goth to
reste,
And he shal slepe as longo as ever thee
leste,

The narootiks and opies been so stronge:
And go thy wey, lest that him thinke
longe.' (110) 2671

Out comth the bryd, and with ful sober
chere,

As is of maidens ofte the manere,
To chambre is broght with revel and with
songe,

And shortly, lest this tale be to longe, 2675
This Lino and she ben sone broght to
bedde;

And every wight out at the dore him
spedde.

The night is wasted, and he fel a-slepe;
Ful tenderly beginneth she to wepe.

She rist her up, and dredfully she
quaketh, 2680

As doth the braunche that Zephrus
shaketh, (120)

And huast were alle in Argon that citee.
As cold as any frost now waxeth she;

For pite by the herte her streyneth so,
And dreded of deeth doth her so moche wo,
That thryes down she fil in swiche a
were. 2686

She rist her up, and stakereth heer and
there,

And on her handes faste loketh she.
'Allas! and shul my handes bloody be?

I am a maid, and, as by my nature, 2690
And by my semblant and by my vesture,

Myn handes been nat shapen for a knyf,
As for to reve no man fro his lyf. (132)

What devil have I with the knyf to do?
And shal I have my throte corve a-two?

Then shal I blede, allas! and me be-
shende; 2696

And nedes cost this thing mot have an
ende;

Or he or I mot nedes lese our lyf.
Now certes,' quod she, 'sin I am his wyf,

And hath my feith, yit is it bet for me
For to be deed in wyfly honestee (140) 2701

Than be a traitour living in my shame.
Be as be may, for earnest or for game,

He shal awake, and ryse and go his way
Out at this goter, or that hit be day!—

And weep ful tenderly upon his face, 2706
 And in her armes gan him to embrace,
 And him she roggeth and awaketh softe ;
 And at the window leep he fro the
 lofte

Whan she hath warned him, and doon him bote. 2710

This Lino swifte was, and light of fote,
 And from his wyf he ran a ful good pas.

This sely woman is so wayk, allas ! (152)

And helpes so, that, or that she fer
 wente,

Her cruel fader dide her for to hente. 2715

Allas ! Lino ! why art thou so unkinde ?
 Why ne haddest thou remembred in thy
 minde

To taken her, and lad her forth with
 thee ?

For, whan she saw that goon away was he,
 And that she mighte nat so faste go, 2720

Ne folwen him, she sette her down right
 tho, (160)

Til she was caught and fetored in prisoun.

This tale is seid for this conclusioun. . .

A TREATISE ON THE ASTROLABE.

PROLOGUS.

LITTEL Lowis my sone, I have perceived wel by certeyne evidences thyn abillite to lerne sciencenz touchinge noumbres and proporciouns; and as wel considere I thy 5 biay preyere in special to lerne the Tretis of the Astrolabie. Than, for as mechel as a filosofre seith, 'he wrappeth him in his frend, that condescendeth to the rightful prayers of his frend,' ther-for 10 have I geven thee a suffisaunt Astrolabie as for oure orizonte, compowned after the latitude of Oxenford; up-on which, by mediacion of this litel tretis, I purpose to teche thee a certein nombre of conclu-15 sions apertening to the same instrument.
I seye a certein of conclusiouns, for three causes. The furste cause is this: truste wel that alle the conclusiouns that han ben founde, or elles possibly mighten be 20 founde in so noble an instrument as an Astrolabie, ben un-knowe perfitly to any mortal man in this regionn, as I suppose.
A-nother cause is this; that sothly, in any tretis of the Astrolabie that I have seyn, 25 there ben some conclusions that wole nat in alle thinges performen hir bihestes;
and some of hem ben to harde to thy tendre age of ten yer to conseyyve. This tretis, divided in fyve parties, wole I shewe 30 thee under ful lighte rawles and naked wordes in English; for Latin ne canstow yit but smal, my lyte sone. But natheles, suffyse to thee thise trewe conclusiouns in English, as wel as suffyseth to these noble

clerkes Grekes these same conclusiouns in 35
Graek, and to Arabiens in Arabik, and to Jewes in Ebrew, and to the Latin folk in Latin; whiche Latin folk han hem furst out of othre diverse langages, and writen in hir owne tonge, that is to sein, in 40 Latin. And god wot, that in alle these langages, and in many mo, han these conclusiouns ben suffisantly lerned and taught, and yit by diverse rawles, right as diverse pathes leden diverse folk the 45 righte way to Rome. Now wol I prey meekly every discreet persons that redeth or hereth this litel tretis, to have my rewde endyting for excused, and my superfuite of wordes, for two causes. The 50 firste cause is, for that ourious endyting and hard sentence is ful hevvy atones for swich a child to lerne. And the seconde cause is this, that sothly me semeth betre to wryten un-to a child twyes a good 55 sentence, than he forgete it ones. And Lowis, yif so be that I shewe thee in my lighte English as trewe conclusiouns touching this matere, and naught only as trewe but as many and as subtil con- 60 clusiouns as ben shewed in Latin in any commune tretis of the Astrolabie, con me

the more thank; and preye god save the king, that is lord of this langage, and alle 65 that him feyth bereth and obeyeth, ever-ech in his degree, the more and the lasse.
 But considere wel, that I ne usurpe nat to have founde this werk of my labour or of myn engyn. I nam but a lewd com-70 pilatour of the labour of olde Astrologiens, and have hit translated in myn English only for thy doctrine; and with this swerd shal I sleen envye.

I. The firste partie of this tretis shal 75 reherse the figures and the membres of thyn Astrolabe, bi-cause that thou shalt han the gettre knowing of thyn owne instrument.

II. The second partie shal teche thee
 80 werken the verrey practik of the forseide conclusiouns, as ferforth and as narwe as may be shewed in so smal an instrument portatif aboute. For wel wot every astrologien that smalest fracciouns ne wol 85 nat ben shewed in so smal an instrument, as in subtil tables calculated for a cause.

III. The thridde partie shal contienen diverse tables of longitudes and latitudes of sterres fixe for the Astrolabe, and 90 tables of declinacions of the sonne, and tables of longitudes of citees and of townes; and as wel for the governance of a clokke as for to finde the altitude meridian; and many another notable conclusioun, after the kalendres of the 95

 reverent clerkes, frere I. Somer and frere
 N. Lenna.

IV. The ferthe partie shal ben a theorik to declare the moevings of the celestial bodies with the causes. The whiche 100 ferthe partie in special shal shewen a table of the verray moeving of the mone from houre to houre, every day and in every signe, after thyn almenak; upon which table ther folwith a canon, suffi- 105 sant to teche as wel the maner of the wyrking of that same conclusioun, as to knowe in oure orizonte with which degree of the zodiac that the mone ariseth in any latitude; and the arising of any 110 planete after his latitude fro the ecliptik lyne.

V. The fiftte partie shal ben an introductorie after thestatute of oure doctours, in which thou maist lerne a gret part of 115
 the general rewles of theorik in astrologie.
 In which fiftte partie shaltow finde tables of equacions of houses aftur the latitude of Oxenford; and tables of dignetes of planetes, and other noteful thinges, yif 120 god wol vouche-sauf and his modur the mayde. mo than I behete. &c.

PART I.

HERE BEGINNETH THE DESCRIPCION OF THE ASTROLABIE.

1. Thyn Astrolabe hath a ring to putten on the thombe of thy right hand in taking the heighte of thinges.
 And tak keep, for from hennes-forthward,
 5 I wol clepe the heighte of any thing that is taken by thy rewle, the altitude, with-oute mo wordes.

2. This ring renneth in a maner turet, fast to the moder of thyn Astrolabe, in so rowm a space that hit desturbeth nat
 the instrument to hangen after his righte
 5 centre.

3. The Moder of thyn Astrolabe is the thikkeste plate, perced with a large hole, that resseyveth in hir wombe the thinne plates compowned for diverse clymatz, and thy riet shapen in manere of a net or 5
 of a webbe of a loppe; and for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

4. This moder is devyded on the bak-half with a lyne, that cometh dessendinge fro the ring down to the nethereste bordure. The whiche lyne, fro the for-seide ring un-to the centre of the large 5 hole amidde, is clyped the south lyne, or elles the lyne meridional. And the remenant of this lyne downe to the bor-

10 dure is cleped the north lyne, or elles the lyne of midnight. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

5. Over-thwart this for-seide longe lyne, ther crosseth him another lyne of the same lengthe from est to west. Of the whiche lyne, from a litel croys + in 5 the bordure un-to the centre of the large hole, is cleped the Est lyne, or elles the lyne Orientale; and the remenant of this lyne fro the forseide + un-to the bordure, is cleped the West lyne, or the lyne Occi-10 dentala. Now hastow here the foure quarters of thin astrolabie, devyded after the foure principals plages or quarters of the firmament. And for the more declar-acioun, lo here thy figure.

6. The est side of thyn Astrolabie is cleped the right side, and the west side is cleped the left side. Forget nat this, lital Lewis. Put the ring of thyn Astro-5 labie upon the thoubme of thy right hand, and thanne wole his right syde be toward thy left syde, and his left syde wol be toward thy right syde; tak this rewle general, as wel on the bak as on 10 the wombe-side. Upon the ende of this est lyne, as I first seide, is marked a litel +, wher-as evere-mo generally is considered the entering of the first degree in which the sonne aryseth. And for the 15 more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

7. Fro this litel + up to the ende of the lyne meridional, under the ring, shaltow finden the bordure devyded with 90 degrees; and by that same proporcioun
5 is every quarter of thin Astrolabie de-vyded. Over the whiche degrees ther ben nombres of augrim, that devyden thilke same degrees fro fyve to fyve, as sheweth by longe strykes by-twene. Of 10 whiche longe strykes the space by-twene contienith a mile-wey. And every degree of the bordure contieneth foure minutes,
that is to seyn, minutes of an heure.
And for more declaracioun, lo here the 15 figure.

8. Under the compas of thilke degrees ben writen the names of the Twelve Signes, as Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer,
Leo, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius,

Capricornus, Aquarius, Pisces; and the 5 nombres of the degrees of the signes ben writen in augrim above, and with longe devisiouns, fro fyve to fyve; devyded fro tyme that the signe entreth un-to the laste ende. But understond wel, that 10 these degrees of signes ben everich of hem considered of 60 minutes, and every minute of 60 secondes, and so forth in-to smale fraccions infinit, as seith Alkabucius. And ther-for, know wel, that 15 a degree of the bordure contieneth foure minutes, and a degree of a signe con-tieneth 60 minutes, and have this in minde. And for the more declaracioun,
lo here thy figure. 20

9. Next this folweth the Cercle of the Dayes, that ben figured in maner of degrees, that contienen in nombre 365;
divyded also with longe strykes fro fyve to fyve, and the nombres in augrim 5 writen under that cercle. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

10. Next the Cercle of the Dayes, fol-weth the Cercle of the names of the Monthes; that is to seyn, Januare,
Februare, Marcius, Aprile, Mayus, Juin,
Julius, Augustus, Septembre, October, 5 Novembre, Decembre. The names of these monthes were cleped in Arabiens, somme for hir propretees, and some by statutz of lordes, some by other lordes of Rome. Eek of these monthes, as lyked 10 to Julius Cesar and to Cesar Augustus, some were compowned of diverse nom-bres of dayes, as Jul and August. Thanne hath Januare 31 dayes, Februare 28,
15 March 31, Aprile 30, May 31, Junius 30,
Julius 31, Augustus 31, September 30,
Octobre 31, Novembre 30, December 31.
Natheles, al-though that Julius Cesar took 2 dayes out of Feverer and put hem in his moneth of Juille, and Augustus 20 Cesar cleped the moneth of August after his name, and ordeyned it of 31 dayes, yit truste wel, that the sonne dwelleth ther-for nevere the more ne lesse in oon
signe than in another. 25

11. Than folwen the names of the Halidayes in the Kalender, and next hem the lettres of the Abc. on which they fallen. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

12. Next the forseide Cercle of the Abc., under the cros-lyne, is marked the scale, in maner of two squyres, or elles in manere of laddres, that serreth by hise 5 12 poyntes and his devisiouns of ful many a subtil conclusionn. Of this forseide scale, fro the cros-lyne un-to the verre angle, is cleped †umbra versa, and the nether partie is cleped the †umbra 10 recta, or elles umbra extensa. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

13. Thanne hastow a brood Rewle, that hath on either ende a square plate perced with a certain holes, some more and some lesse, to resseyven the stremes 5 of the sonne by day, and seek by mediacioun of thyn eye, to knowe the altitude of starres by nighte. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

14. Thanne is ther a large Pyn, in maner of an extree, that goth thorow the hole, that halt the tables of the clymates and the riet in the wombe of 5 the Moder, thorw which Pyn ther goth a lital wegge which that is cleped 'the horn,' that streyneth alle these parties to-hepe; this forseide grete Pyn, in maner of an extree, is imagined to be the Pol 10 Artik in thyn Astrolabe. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

15. The wombe-side of thyn Astrolabe is also devyded with a longe croys in foure quarters from est to west, fro south to north, fro right syde to left syde, as is 5 the bak-syde. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

16. The bordure of which wombe-side is devyded fro the poynt of the est lyne un-to the poynt of the south lyne under the ring, in 90 degrees; and by that same 5 proporcioun is every quarter devyded as is the bak-syde, that amonteth 360 degrees. And understand wel, that degrees of this bordure ben answering and consentrik to the degrees of the Equinoxial, 10 that is devyded in the same nombre as every othere cercle is in the heye hevene. This same bordure is devyded also with 23 lettres capitals and a smal croys +

above the south lyne, that sheweth the 24 houres equals of the klokke; and, as 15 I have said, 5 of these degrees maken a mile-wey, and 3 mile-wey maken an houre. And every degree of this bordure contenech 4 minutes, and every minut 60 secondes; now have I told thee twye. 20 And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

17. The plate under thy riet is descryved with 3 principal cercles; of whiche the leste is cleped the cercle of Cancer, by-cause that the hevred of Cancer turneth evermor consentrik up-on the same 5 cercle. In this hevred of Cancer is the grettest declinacioun northward of the sonne. And ther-for is he cleped the Solsticioun of Somer; whiche declinacioun, aftur Ptholome, is 23 degrees 10 and 50 minutes, as wel in Cancer as in Capricorne. This signe of Cancer is cleped the Tropik of Somer, of tropos, that is to seyn 'agaynward;' for thanne by-ginneth the sonne to passe fro us- 15 ward. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

The middel cercle in wydensse, of these 3, is cleped the Cercle Equinoxial; up-on whiche turneth evermo the hedes of 20 Aries and Libra. And understand wel, that evermo this Cercle Equinoxial turneth justly fro verrey est to verrey west; as I have shewed thee in the spere solide. This same cercle is cleped also the Weyere, 25 equator, of the day; for when the sonne is in the hevredes of Aries and Libra, than ben the dayes and the nightes iylke of lengthe in al the world. And therefore ben these two signes called the 30 Equinoxies. And alle that moeveth within the hevredes of these Aries and Libra, his moeving is cleped north-ward; and alle that moeveth with-oute these hevredes, his moeving is cleped south-ward as fro 35 the equinoxial. Tak keep of these latitudes north and south, and forget it nat. By this Cercle Equinoxial ben considered the 24 houres of the klokke; for evermo the arysing of 15 degrees of the equinoxial 40 maketh an houre equal of the klokke. This equinoxial is cleped the girdel of the firste moeving, or elles of the angulus primi motus vel primi mobilis. And nota, 45 that firste moeving is cleped 'moeving' of the firste moevable of the 8 spero, whiche moeving is fro est to west, and eft agayn in-to est; also it is clepid 'girdel' of the first moeving, for it 50 departeth the firste moevable, that is to seyn, the spero, in two ilyke parties, evene-distantz fro the poles of this world.

The wydeste of these three principal cercles is cleped the Cercle of Capricorne, 55 by-cause that the heved of Capricorne turneth evermo consentrik up-on the same cercle. In the heved of this forseide Capricorne is the grettest declina- 60 cion southward of the sonne, and ther-for is it cleped the Solsticioun of Winter. This signe of Capricorne is also cleped the Tropik of Winter, for thanne bygin- 65 thy figure. And for the more declaracioun, lo here

18. Upon this forseide plate ben compassed certain cercles that highten Almicanteras, of which som of hem semen 5 perfitt cercles, and somme semen inperfit. The centre that standith a-middes the narrowest cercle is cleped the Senith; and the netherest cercle, or the firste cercle, 10 is clepid the Orisonte, that is to seyn, the cercle that devydeh the two emisperies, that is, the partie of the hevене a-bove the erthe and the partie be-nethes. These Almicanteras ben compowned by two and two, al-be-it so that on divers 15 Astrolabies some Almicanteras ben devyded by oon, and some by two, and somme by three, after the quantite of the Astrolabie. This forseide senith is imageden to ben the verrey point over the crowne of thyn heved; and also this 20 senith is the verrey pool of the orisonte in every regioun. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

19. From this senith, as it semeth, ther come a maner crokede strykes lyke to the clawes of a loppe, or elles like to the werk of a womanes calle, in kerving over- 5 thwart the Almikanteras. And this same strykes or divisionns ben cleped

Azimuthz. And they devyden the orisonte of thyn Astrolabie in four and twenty devisiouns. And this Azimutz serven to knowe the costes of the firma- 10 ment, and to othre conclusiouns, as for to knowe the cenith of the sonne and of every sterre. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

20. Next thise azimutz, under the Cercle of Cancer, ben ther twelve devisiouns embelif, moche like to the shap of the azimutes, that shewen the spaces of the heures of planetes; and for more 5 declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

21. The Riet of thyn Astrolabie with thy zodiak, shapen in maner of a net or of a loppe-webbe after the olde descripcioun, which thow mayst tornen up and down as thy-self lyketh, conteneth 5 certain nombre of sterres fixes, with hir longitudes and latitudes determinat; yif so be that the makere have nat erred. The names of the sterres ben written in the margin of the riet ther as they sitte; 10 of whiche sterres the smale poynt is cleped the Centre. And understond also that alle sterres sittinge with-in the zodiak of thyn Astrolabie ben cleped 'sterres of the north,' for they arysene 15 by northe the est lyne. And alle the remenant fixed, out of the zodiak, ben cleped 'sterres of the south;' but I sey nat that they arysene alle by southe the est lyne; witnesse on Aldeberan and 20 Algomeysa. Generally understond this rewle, that thilke sterres that ben cleped sterres of the north arysene rather than the degree of hir longitude, and alle the sterres of the south arysene after the 25 degree of hir longitude; this is to seyn, sterres fixed in thyn Astrolabie. The mesure of this longitude of sterres is taken in the lyne ecliptik of hevене, under which lyne, whan that the sonne 30 and the mone ben lyne-right or elles in the superface of this lyne, than is the eclips of the sonne or of the mone; as I shal declare, and eek the cause why. But sothly the Ecliptik Lyne of thy 35 zodiak is the outtereste bordure of thy zodiak, ther the degrees ben marked.

Thy Zodiac of thyn Astrolabe is shapen as a compas which that conteneth a large brede, as after the quantite of thyn Astrolabe; in ensample that the zodiak in hevne is imagened to ben a superfice contening a latitude of twelve degrees, wheras al the remenant of cercles in the hevne ben imagined verrey lynes with-oute eny latitude. Amiddes this celestial zodiak ys imagined a lyne, which that is cleped the Ecliptik Lyne, under which lyne is evermo the way of the sonne.
 Thus ben ther six degrees of the zodiak on that oon side of the lyne, and six degrees on that other. This zodiak is divided in twelve principal devisiouns, that departen the twelve signes. And,
 for the streitnes of thin Astrolabe, than is every smal devisioun in a signe departid by two degrees and two; I mene degrees contening sixty minutes. And this forseide hevenish zodiak is cleped
 the Cercle of the Signes, or the Cercle of the Bestes; for zodia in langage of Greek sowneth 'bestes' in Latin tonge;
 and in the zodiak ben the twelve signes that han names of bestes; or elles, for whan the sonne entreth in any of the signes, he taketh the propretee of swich bestes; or elles, for that the sterres that ben there fixed ben disposed in signes of bestes, or shape like bestes; or elles, whan the planetes ben under thilke signes, they causen us by hir influence operaciouns and effectes lyk to the operaciouns of bestes. And understonde also, that whan an hot planete cometh in-to an hot signe, than encreseth his hete;

and yif a planete be cold, thanne amen-
 useth his coldnesse, by-cause of the hote signe. And by this conclusioun maystow take ensample in alle the signes, be they moist or drye, or moeble or fix; rekening the qualitees of the planetes as I first seide. And everich of these twelve signes hath respecte to a certain parcelle of the body of a man and hath it in governance;
 as Aries hath thyn heved, and Taurus thy nekke and thy throte, Gemini thyn armholes and thyn armes, and so forth;
 as shal be shewed more pleyn in the fift partie of this tretis. This zodiak, which that is part of the eighte spere, overkerveth the equinoxial; and he overkerveth him again in evens parties; and that on half declineth southward, and that other northward, as pleynly declareth the tretis of the spere. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

22. Thanne hastow a label, that is schapen lyk a rewle, save that it is streit and hath no plates on either ende with holes; but, with the smale point of the forseide label, shaltow calcule thyne equaciouns in the bordure of thin Astrolabie, as by thyn almury. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

23. Thyn Almury is cleped the Denticle of Capricorne, or elles the Calculator. This same Almury sit fix in the heed of Capricorne, and it serveth of many a neces-sarie conclusioun in equaciouns of thinges, as shal be shewed; and for the more
 declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

Here endeth the description of the Astrolabe.

PART II.

HERE BYGINNEN THE CONCLUSIONS OF THE ASTROLABIE.

1. To fynde the degree in which the sonne is day by day, after hir cours a-boute.

Rekene and knowe which is the day of thy monthe; and ley thy rewle up that same day; and thanne wol the verrey point of thy rewle sitten in the bordure, up-on the degree of thy sonne.

 Ensamble as thus; the yeer of oure lord
 1391, the 12 day of March at midday,
 I wolde knowe the degree of the sonne.
 I soughte in the bak-half of myn Astrolabie, and fond the cercle of the dayes, the which I knowe by the names of the monthes writen under the same cercle.
 Tho leide I my rewle over this forseide

day, and fond the point of my rewle in 15 the bordure up-on the firste degree of Aries, a lital with-in the degree; and thus knowe I this conclusioun. Another day, I wolde knowe the degree of my sonne, and this was at midday in the 20 13 day of Decembre; I fond the day of the monthe in maner as I seide; tho leide I my rewle up-on this forseide 13
 day, and fond the point of my rewle in the bordure up-on the first degree of 25 Capricorne, a lite with-in the degree;
 and than hadde I of this conclusioun the ful experience. And for the more declar-acioun, lo here thy figure.

2. To knowe the altitude of the sonne, or of othre celestial bodies.

Put the ring of thyn Astrolabie up-on thy right thoumbe, and turne thy lift syde agayn the light of the sonne. And remove thy rewle up and down, til that 5 the stremes of the sonne shyne thorgh bothe holes of thy rewle. Loke thanne how many degrees thy rewle is areised fro the lital crois up-on thyn est line, and tak ther the altitude of thy sonne. And 10 in this same wyse maistow knowe by nighte the altitude of the mone, or of brightesterrea. This chapitre is so general ever in oon, that ther nedith no more declaracion; but forget it nat. And for 15 the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

3. To knowe every tyme of the day by light of the sonne, and every tyme of the night by the sterres fixe, and eke to knowe by night or by day the degree of any signe that ascendeth on the Est Orisonte, which that is cleped commonly the Assendent, or elles Oruscupum.

Tak the altitude of the sonne whan thee list, as I have said; and set the degree of the sonne, in cas that it be by-forne the middel of the day, among 5 thyn almikanteras on the est side of thyn Astrolabie; and yif it be after the middel of the day, set the degree of thy sonne up-on the west side; tak this manere of setting for a general rewle, ones for 10 evere. And whan thou hast set the degree of thy sonne up as many almi-kanteras of heyghte as was the altitude of the sonne taken by thy rewle, ley over thy label, up-on the degree of the sonne;

 and thanne wol the point of thy label 15
 sitten in the bordure, up-on the verrey tyd of the day. Ensamble as thus: the year of oure lord 1391, the 12 day of March, I wold knowe the tyd of the day.
 I took the altitude of my sonne, and 20 fond that it was 25 degrees and 30 of minutes of heyghte in the bordure on the bak-syde. Tho turnede I myn Astrola-bie, and by-cause that it was by-forne midday, I turnede my riet, and sette the 25 degree of the sonne, that is to seyn, the 1 degree of Aries, on the right syde of myn Astrolabie, up-on that 25 degrees and 30 of minutes of heyghte among myn almikanteras; tho leide I my label up-on 30 the degree of my sonne, and fond the poynte of my label in the bordure, up-on a capital lettre that is cleped an X; tho rekened I alle the capitalles lettres fro the lyne of midnight un-to this forseide 35 lettre X, and fond that it was 9 of the clokke of the day. Tho loked I down up-on the est orisonte, and fond there the 20 degree of Geminis assending;
 which that I tok for myn assendent. 40
 And in this wyse hadde I the experience for ever-mo in which maner I sholde knowe the tyd of the day, and eek myn assendent. Tho wolde I wite the same night folwing the hour of the night, and 45 wroughte in this wyse. Among an heep of sterris fixe, it lyked me for to take the altitude of the feire white sterre that is cleped Alhabor; and fond hir sitting on the west side of the lyne of midday, 50 †18 degrees of heichte taken by my rewle on the bak-syde. Tho sette I the centre of this Alhabor up-on †18 degrees among myn almikanteras, up-on the west syde;
 by-cause that she was founden on the 55 west syde. Tho leide I my label over the degree of the sonne that was descended under the weste orisonte, and rikened alle the lettres capitals fro the lyne of midday un-to the point of my 60 label in the bordure; and fond that it was passed †8 of the klokke the space of †2 degrees. The loked I down up-on myn est orisonte, and fond ther †23 degrees of 65 Libra assending, whom I tok for myn assendent; and thus lerned I to knowe ones for ever in which manere I shuld come to the houre of the night and to myn assendent; as verreyly as may be 70 taken by so smal an instrument. But natheles, in general, wolde I warne thee for evere, ne mak thee nevere bold to have take a just ascendent by thyn Astrolabie, or elles to have set justly 75 a klokke, whan any celestial body by which that thow wenest governe thilke thinges ben ney the south lyne; for trust wel, whan that the sonne is ney the meridional lyne, the degree of the sonne 80 renneth so longe consenstriek up-on the almikanteras, that sothly thou shalt erre fro the just assendent. The same conclusioun sey I by the centre of any sterre fix by night; and more-over, by experi- 85 ence, I wot wel that in oure orisonte, from 11 of the klokke un-to oon of the klokke, in taking of a just assendent in a portatif Astrolabie, hit is to hard to knowe. I mene, from 11 of the klokke 90 biforn the houre of noon til oon of the klokke next folwing. And for the more declaracion, lo here thy figure.

4. Special declaracion of the assendent.

The assendent sothly, as wel in alle nativitez as in questiouns and elecciouns of tymes, is a thing which that these astrologiens gretly observen; wherfore 5 me semeth convenient, sin that I speke of the assendent, to make of it special declaracioun. The assendent sothly, to take it at the largeste, is thilke degree that assendeth at any of these forseide 10 tymes upon the est orisonte; and therefore, yif that any planet assende at that same tyme in thilke for-seide †degree of his longitude, men sey that thilke 15 planet is in horoscopo. But sothly, the hous of the assendent, that is to sey, the firste hous or the est angle, is a thing more brood and larga. For after the statutz of astrologiens, what celestial body that is 5 degree above thilke degree that assendeth, or with-in that noubre, that 20 is to sey, nere the degree that assendeth, yit rikne they thilke planet in the assendent. And what planete that is under thilke degree that assendith the space of †25 degrees, yit sey they that thilke 25 planete is lyk to him that is in the hous of the assendent; but sothly, yif he passe the bondes of these forseide spaces, above or byneth, they sey that the planete is failling fro the assendent. Yit sein these 30 astrologiens, that the assendent, and eke the lord of the assendent, may be shapen for to be fortunat or infortunat, as thus: a fortunat assendent clepen they whan that no wikkid planete, as Saturne or 35 Mars, or elles the Tail of the Dragoun, is in the hous of the assendent, ne that no wikked planete have non aspecte of enemite up-on the assendent; but they wol caste that they have a fortunat 40 planete in hir assendent and yit in his felicitee, and than sey they that it is wel. Further-over, they sey that the infortunating of an assendent is the contrarie of these forseide thinges. The lord of 45 the assendent, sey they, that he is fortunat, whan he is in good place for the assendent as in angle; or in a succedent, where-as he is in his dignitee and con- 50 forted with frendly aspectes of planetes and wel received, and eek that he may seen the assendent, and that he be nat retrograd ne combust, ne joigned with no shrewe in the same signe; ne that he be nat in his descencioun, ne joigned with 55 no planete in his discencioun, ne have up-on him non aspecte infortunat; and than sey they that he is wel. Natheles, these ben observaunces of judicial matiere and rytes of payens, in which my spirit 60 ne hath no feith, ne no knowing of hir horoscopum; for they sey that every signe is departed in 3 evene parties by 10 degrees, and thilke porcioun they clepe a Faca. And al-though that a planete 65 have a latitude fro the ecliptik, yit sey some folk, so that the planete aryse in that same signe with any degree of the forseide face in which his longitude is 70 rekned, that yit is the planete in horoscopo, be it in nativite or in eleccioun, &c. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

5. To knowe the verrey equacioun of the degree of the sonne, yif so be that it falle by-twize thyn Almikanteras.

For as moche as the almikanteras in thyn Astrolabie been compounded by two and two, where-as some almikanteras in sondry Astrolabies ben compounded by 5 oon and oon, or elles by two and two, it is necessarie to thy lerning to teche thee first to knowe and worke with thyn owne instrument. Wher-for, whan that the degree of thy sonne falleth by-twize 10 two almikanteras, or elles yif thyn almikanteras ben graven with over grot a point of a compas, (for bothe thise thinges may causen error as wel in knowing of the tyd of the day as of the 15 verrey assendent), thou most werken in this wyse. Set the degree of thy sonne up-on the heyer almikanteras of bothe, and waite wel wher as thin almyr toucheth the bordure, and set 20 ther a prikke of inke. Set down agayn the degree of thy sonne up-on the nethere almikanteras of bothe, and set ther another prikke. Remewe thanne thyn almyr in the bordure evene amid- 25 des bothe prikkes, and this wol lede justly the degree of thy sonne to sitte by-twize bothe almikanteras in his right place. Ley thanne thy label over the degree of thy sonne; and find in the 30 bordure the verrey tyde of the day or of the night. And as verreyly shaltow finde up-on thyn est orisonte thyn assendent. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

6. To knowe the spring of the dawing and the ende of the evening, the which ben called the two crepusculis:

Set the nadir of thy sonne up-on 18 degrees of heighte among thyn almikanteras on the west syde, and ley thy label on the degree of thy sonne, and thanne 5 shal the poynt of thy label schewe the spring of day. Also set the nadir of thy sonne up-on 18 degrees of heighte a-mong thyn almikanteras on the est side, and ley over thy label up-on the degree of the sonne, and with the point of thy label 10 find in the bordure the ende of the evening, that is, verrey night. The nadir of the sonne is thilke degree that is opposit to the degree of the sonne, in the seventhe signe, as thus: every degree 15 of Aries by ordre is nadir to every degree of Libra by ordre; and Taurus to Scorpion; Gemini to Sagittare; Cancer to Capricorne; Leo to Aquarie; Virgo to Pisces; and yif any degree in thy zodiak 20 be dirk, his nadir shal declare him. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

7. To knowe the arch of the day, that some folk callen the day artificial, from the sonne arysing til hit go to reste.

Set the degree of thy sonne up-on thyn est orisonte, and ley thy label on the degree of the sonne, and at the poynt of thy label in the bordure set a prikke. Turn thanne thy rist aboute til the 5 degree of the sonne sit up-on the west orisonte, and ley thy label up-on the same degree of the sonne, and at the point of thy label set a-nother prikke. Bekne thanne the quantitee of tyme in 10 the bordure by-twize bothe prikkes, and tak ther thyn ark of the day. The remenant of the bordure under the orisonte is the ark of the night. Thus maistow rekne bothe arches, or every porcion, 15 of whether that thee lyketh. And by this manere of wyrking maistow see how longe that any sterre fix dwelleth a-bove the erthe, fro tyme that he ryseth til he go to reste. But the day natural, that 20 is to seyn 24 houres, is the revolucioun of the equinoxial with as moche partie of the zodiak as the sonne of his propre moevinge passeth in the mene whyle. And for the more declaracioun, lo here 25 thy figure.

8. To turn the houres in-euales in houres equales.

Knowe the nombre of the degrees in the houres in-euales, and departe hem

by 15, and tak ther thyn houres equales. And for the more declaracioun, lo here 5 thy figure.

9. To knowe the quantites of the day vulgare, that is to seyn, from spring of the day un-to verrey night.

Know the quantites of thy crepusculis, as I have taught in the chapitre bi-forn, and adde hem to the arch of thy day artificial; and tak ther the space of alle 5 the hole day vulgar, un-to verrey night. The same manere maystow worke, to knowe the quantites of the vulgar night. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

10. To knowe the quantite of houres inequales by day.

Understond wel, that these houres inequales ben cleped houres of planetes, and understond wel that som-tyme ben they lengere by day than by night, and 5 som-tyme the contrarie. But understond wel, that evermo, generally, the hour in-equal of the day with the hour in-equal of the night contenen 30 degrees of the bordure, whiche bordure is ever-mo 10 answering to the degrees of the equinoxial; wher-for departe the arch of the day artificial in 12, and tak ther the quantites of the hour in-equal by day. And yif thow abate the quantites of the 15 hour in-equal by daye out of 30, than shal the remenant that leveh performe the hour in-equal by night. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

11. To knowe the quantite of houres equales.

The quantites of houres equales, that is to seyn, the houres of the klokke, ben departed by 15 degrees al-redy in the bordure of thyn Astrolabe, as wel by 5 night as by day, generally for evere. What nedeth more declaracioun? Wher-for, whan thee list to know how manye houres of the klokke ben passed, or any part of any of these houres that ben 10 passed, or elles how many houres or partie of houres ben to come, fro swich a tyme to swich a tyme, by day or by nighte, knowe the degree of thy sonne, and ley thy label on it; turne thy rist aboute joyntly with thy label, and with 15 the point of it rekne in the bordure fro the sonne aryse un-to the same place ther thou desirest, by day as by nighte. This conclusion wol I declare in the laste chapitre of the 4 partie of this tretis 20 so openly, that ther shal lakke no worde that nedeth to the declaracioun. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

12. Special declaracioun of the houres of planetes.

Understond wel, that ever-mo, fro the arysing of the sonne til it go to reste, the nadir of the sonne shal shewe the hour of the planetes, and fro that tyme forward al the night til the sonne aryse; than 5 shal the verrey degree of the sonne shewe the hour of the planetes. Ensample as thus. The 13 day of March fil up-on a Saterdag per aventure, and, at the arising of the sonne, I fond the secoude 10 degree of Aries sitting up-on myn est orisonte, al-be-it that it was but lite; than fond I the 2 degree of Libra, nadir of my sonne, descending on my west orisonte, up-on which west orisonte every 15 day generally, at the sonne ariste, entreth the hour of any planetes, after which planetes the day bereth his name; and endeth in the nexte stryk of the plate under the forseide west orisonte; and 20 evere, as the sonne climbeth uppere and uppere, so goth his nadir downere and downere, teching by swich strykes the houres of planetes by ordre as they sitten in the hevене. The first hour in-equal 25 of every Saterdag is to Saturne; and the secoude, to Jupiter; the 3, to Mars; the 4, to the Sonne; the 5, to Venus; the 6, to Mercurius; the 7, to the Mone; and thanne agayn, the 8 is to Saturne; the 9, 30 to Jupiter; the 10, to Mars; the 11, to the Sonne; the 12, to Venus; and now is my sonne gon to reste as for that Saterdag. Thanne sheweth the verrey degree of the sonne the hour of Mercurie 35 entring under my west orisonte at eve; and next him succedeth the Mone; and so forth by ordre, planete after planete, in 40^h hour after hour, al the night longe til the sonne aryse. Now ryseth the sonne that Sunday by the morwe; and the nadir of the sonne, up-on the west orizonte, sheweth me the entring of the houre of the forseide sonne. And in this maner 45^h succedeth planete under planete, fro Saturne un-to the Mone, and fro the Mone up a-gayn to Saturne, houre after houre generally. And thus knowe I this conclusionn. And for the more declara-50^h cionn, lo here the figure.

18. To knowe the altitude of the sonne in middes of the day, that is cleped the altitude meridian.

Set the degree of the sonne up-on the lyne meridional, and rikene how many degrees of almikanteras ben by-twix thyn est orizonte and the degree of the 5^h sonne. And tak ther thyn altitude meridian; this is to seyne, the heyest of the sonne as for that day. So maystow knowe in the same lyne, the heyest cours that any sterre fix climbeth by 10^h night; this is to seyn, that whan any sterre fix is passed the lyne meridional, than by-ginneth it to descende, and so doth the sonne. And for the more

14. To knowe the degree of the sonne by thy riet, for a maner curiositee, &c.

Sek bysily with thy rewle the heyest of the sonne in middes of the day; turne thanne thyn Astrolabie, and with a prikke of ink marke the nombre of that 5^h same altitude in the lyne meridional.
 Turne thanne thy riet aboute til thou fynde a degree of thy zodiak acordig with the prikke, this is to seyn, sittinge on the prikke; and in sooth, thou shalt 10^h finde but two degrees in al the zodiak of that condicioun; and yit thilke two degrees ben in diverse signes; than maistow lightly by the secon of the yere knowe the signe in whiche that is the 15^h sonne. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

15. *To know which day is lyk to which day
 as of lengthe, &c.*

Loke whiche degrees ben y-lyke fer fro the hevedes of Cancer and Capricorn; and lok, whan the sonne is in any of thilke degrees, than ben the dayes y-lyke of lengthe. This is to seyn, that as long 5^h is that day in that monthe, as was swich
 a day in swich a month; ther varieth but lite. Also, yif thou take two dayes naturally in the yeer y-lyke fer fro eyther pointe of the equinoxial in the opposit parties, than as long is the day artificial of that on day as is the night of that other, and the contrarie. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

16. This chapitre is a maner declaracioun to conclusiouns that folwen.

Understand wel that thy zodiak is departid in two halfe cerces, as fro the heved of Capricorne un-to the heved of Cancer; and agaynward fro the heved of Cancer un-to the heved of Capricorne.
 5^h The heved of Capricorne is the lowest point, wher-as the sonne goth in winter;
 and the heved of Cancer is the heyest point, in whiche the sonne goth in somer.
 And ther-for understand wel, that any 10^h two degrees that ben y-lyke fer fro any of these two hevedes, truste wel that thilke two degrees ben of y-lyke declinacioun, be it southward or northward;
 and the dayes of hem ben y-lyke of 15
 lengthe, and the nightes also; and the shadwes y-lyke, and the altitudes y-lyke at midday for evere. And for more
 declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

17. To knowe the verrey degree of any maner sterre straunge or unstraunge after his longitude, though he be indeterminat in thyn Astrolabie; sothly to the trouthe, thus he shal be knowe.

Tak the altitude of this sterre whan he is on the est side of the lyne meridional, as ney as thou mayst gesse; and tak an assendent a-non right by som maner sterre fix which that thou knowest; and 5^h for-get nat the altitude of the firste sterre, ne thyn assendent. And whan that this is don, espye diligently whan this same

10 firste sterre passeth any-thing the south westward, and hath him a-non right in the same noubre of altitude on the west side of this lyne meridional as he was caught on the est side; and tak
 a newe assendent a-non right by som 15 maner sterre fixe which that thou know-est; and for-get nat this secoude as-sendent. And whan that this is don, rikne thanne how manye degrees ben by-twixe the firste assendent and the 20 secoude assendent, and rikne wel the middel degree by-twene bothe assententes, and set thilke middel degree up-on thin est orisonte; and waite thanne what degree that sit up-on the lyne meri-25 dional, and tak ther the verrey degree of the ecliptik in which the sterre stondeth for the tyme. For in the ecliptik is the longitude of a celestial body rekened, evene fro the heved of Aries 30 un-to the ende of Pisces. And his latitude is rikned after the quantitee of his declinacion, north or south to-ward the poles of this world; as thus. Yif it be of the sonne or of any fixe sterre, re-35 his latitude or his declinacioun fro the equinoxial cercele; and yif it be of a planete, rekne than the quantitee of his latitude fro the ecliptik lyne. Al-be-it so that fro the equinoxial may the decli-40 nacion or the latitude of any body celestial be rikned, after the site north or south, and after the quantitee of his declinacion. And right so may the latitude or the declinacion of any body celestial, 45 save only of the sonne, after his site north or south, and after the quantitee of his declinacioun, be rekened fro the ecliptik lyne; fro which lyne alle planetes som tyme declynen north or south, save 50 only the for-seide sonne. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

18. To knowe the degrees of the longitudes of fixe sterres after that they ben determinat in thin Astrolabe, yif so be that they ben trewly set.

Set the centre of the sterre up-on the lyne meridional, and tak keep of thy zodiak, and loke what degree of any signe that sit on the same lyne meridional at that same tyme, and tak the degree in 5 which the sterre standeth; and with that same degree comth that same sterre un-to that same lyne fro the orisonte.

 And for more declaracioun, lo here thy
 figure. 10

19. To knowe with which degree of the zodiak any sterre fixe in thyn Astrolabe aryseth up-on the est orisonte, al-though his dwelling be in a-nother signe.

Set the centre of the sterre up-on the est orisonte, and loke what degree of any signe that sit up-on the same orisonte at that same tyme. And understond wel, that with that same degree aryseth that 5
 same sterre; and this mervyllous arysing with a strange degree in another signe is by-cause that the latitude of the sterre fix is either north or south fro the equi-noxial. But sothly, the latitudes of 10 planetes ben comunly rekned fro the ecliptik, bi-cause that non of hem de-clineth but fewe degrees out fro the brede of the zodiak. And tak good keep of this chapitre of arysing of the celestial 15 bodies; for truste wel, that neyther mone ne sterre as in oure embelif orisonte aryseth with that same degree of his longitude, save in oo cas; and that is,
 whan they have no latitude fro the 20 ecliptik lyne. But natheles, som tyme is everiche of these planetes under the same lyne. And for more declaracioun,
 lo here thy figure.

20. *To knowe the declinacioun of any degree
 in the zodiak fro the equinoxial cercele, &c.*

Set the degree of any signe up-on the lyne meridional, and rikne his altitude in almikanteras fro the est orisonte up to the same degree set in the forside lyne, and set ther a prikke. Turne up 5 thanne thy riet, and set the heved of Aries or Libra in the same meridional lyne, and set ther a-nother prikke. And whan that this is don, considere the altitudes of hem bothe; for sothly the 10 difference of thilke altitudes is the declinacion of thilke degree fro the equinoxial.
 And yif so be that thilke degree be northward fro the equinoxial, than is his 15 declinacion north; yif it be southward, than is it south. And for the more

declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

21. To knowe for what latitude in any region the almikanteras of any table ben compouned.

Rikne how manye degrees of almikanteras, in the meridional lyne, be fro the cercle equinoxial un-to the senith; or elles fro the pool artik un-to the north 5 orisonte; and for so gret a latitude or for so smal a latitude is the table compouned.
And for more declaracion, lo here thy
figure.

22. To knowe in special the latitude of oure countray, I mene after the latitude of Oxenford, and the heighte of oure pol.

Understond wel, that as far is the heved of Aries or Libra in the equinoxial from oure orisonte as is the senith from the pole artik; and as hey is the pol artik fro the 5 orisonte, as the equinoxial is fer fro the senith. I prove it thus by the latitude of Oxenford. Understond wel, that the heyghte of oure pool artik fro oure north orisonte is 51 degrees and 50 minutes;
10 than is the senith from oure pool artik 38 degrees and 10 minutes; than is the equinoxial from oure senith 51 degrees and 50 minutes; than is oure south orisonte from oure equinoxial 38 degrees 15 and 10 minutes. Understond wel this rekning. Also for-get nat that the senith is 90 degrees of heyghte fro the orisonte, and oure equinoxial is 90 degrees from oure pool artik. Also this shorte rewle 20 is soth, that the latitude of any place in a region is the distance from the senith unto the equinoxial. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

23. *To prove evidently the latitude of any place in a region, by the prove of the heyghte of the pol artik in that same
place.*

In some winters night, whan the firmament is clere and thikke-sterred, waite a tyme til that any sterre fix sit lyne-right perpendicular over the pol artik, and 5 clepe that sterre A. And wayte a-nother sterre that sit lyne-right under A, and under the pol, and clepe that sterre F.

And understond wel, that F is nat considered but only to declare that A sit evens overe the pool. Tak thanne a-non 10 right the altitude of A from the orisonte, and forget it nat. Lat A and F go farwel til agayns the dawening a gret whyle;
and come thanne agayn, and abyd til that A is evens under the pol and under 15 F; for sothly, than wol F sitte over the pool, and A wol sitte under the pool.
Tak than eft-sones the altitude of A from the orisonte, and note as wel his secounde altitude as his firste altitude; and whan 20 that this is don, rikne how manye degrees that the firste altitude of A excedeth his secounde altitude, and tak half thilke porcioun that is exceded, and adde it to his secounde altitude; and tak ther the 25 elevacioun of thy pool, and eke the latitude of thy region. For thise two ben of a nombre; this is to seyn, as many degrees as thy pool is elevat, so michel is the latitude of the region. 30 Ensample as thus: par aventure, the altitude of A in the evening is 56 degrees of heyghta. Than wol his secounde altitude or the dawing be 48; that is 8 lasse than 56, that was his firste altitude at even. 35
Take thanne the half of 8, and adde it to 48, that was his secounde altitude, and than hastow 52. Now hastow the heyghte of thy pol, and the latitude of the region.
But understond wel, that to prove this 40
conclusionioun and many a-nother fair conclusionioun, thou most have a plomet hanging on a lyne heyer than thin heved on a perche; and thilke lyne mot hange evens perpendicular by-twix the 45 pool and thyn eye; and thanne shaltow seen yif A sitte evens over the pool and over F at evens; and also yif F sitte evens over the pool and over A or day.
And fur more declaracion, lo here thy 50
figure.

24. Another conclusionioun to prove the heyghte of the pool artik fro the orisonte.

Tak any sterre fixe that nevere dis-sendeth under the orisonte in thilke region, and considere his heyest altitude and his lowest altitude fro the orisonte; and make a nombre of bothe thise altitudes. Tak thanne and abate half that nombre, and tak ther the elevacioun of the pol artik in that same region. And fro more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

25. A nother conclusioun to prove the latitude of the region, &c.

Understond wel that the latitude of any place in a region is verreyly the space by-twix the senith of hem that dwellen there and the equinoxial cerkle, north or southe, taking the mesure in the meridional lyne, as sheweth in the almikanteras of thyn Astrolabe. And thilke space is as moche as the pool artik is hey in the same place fro the orisonte. And than is the depressioun of the pol antartik, that is to seyn, than is the pol antartik by-nethe the orisonte, the same quantite of space, neither more ne lasse. Thanne, yif thou desire to knowe this latitude of the region, tak the altitude of the sonne in the middel of the day, whan the sonne is in the hevedes of Aries or of Libra; (for thanne moeveth the sonne in the lyne equinoxial); and abate the nombre of that same sonnes altitude out of 90, and thanne is the remenaunt of the noubre that leveh the latitude of the region. As thus: I suppose that the sonne is thilke day at noon 38 degrees and 10 minutes of heyghte. Abate thanne thise degrees and minutes out of 90; so leveh there 51 degrees and 50 minutes, the latitude. I sey nat this but for ensample; for wel I wot the latitude of Oxenforde is certain minutes lasse, as I mighte prove. Now yif so be that thee semeth to long a taryng, to abyde til that the sonne be in the hevedes of Aries or of Libra, thanne waite whan the sonne is in any other degree of the zodiak, and considere the degree of his declinacion fro the equinoxial lyne; and yif it so be that the sonnes declinacion be northward fro the equinoxial, abate thanne fro the sonnes altitude at noon the nombre of his declinacion, and thanne hastow the heyghte of the hevedes of Aries and Libra. As thus: my sonne is, par aventure, in the firste degree of Leoun, 45 degrees and 10 minutes of heyghte at noon and his declinacion is almost 40 degrees northward fro the equinoxial; abate thanne thilke 40 degrees of declinacion out of the altitude at noon, than leveh thee 38 degrees and odde minutes; lo ther the heved of Aries or Libra, and thyn equinoxial in that region. Also yif so be that the sonnes declinacion be southward fro the equinoxial, adde thanne thilke declinacion to the altitude of the sonne at noon; and tak ther the hevedes of Aries and Libra, and thyn equinoxial. Abate thanne the heyghte of the equinoxial out of 90 degrees, and thanne leveh there the distans of the pole, 51 degrees and 50 minutes, of that region fro the equinoxial. Or elles, yif thee lest, take the heyest altitude fro the equinoxial of any sterre fix that thou knowest, and tak his nethere elongacioun lengthing fro the same equinoxial lyne, and wirke in the maner forseid. And fro more declaracion, lo here thy figure.

26. Declaracioun of the assentioun of signes, &c.

The excellence of the spere solide, amonges other noble conclusiouns, sheweth manifeste the diverse assenciouns of signes in diverse places, as wel in the righte cercle as in the embelif cercle. Thise auctours wryten that thilke signe is cleped of right ascensioun, with which more part of the cercle equinoxial and lasse part of the zodiak ascendeth; and thilke signe assendeth embelif, with whiche lasse part of the equinoxial and more part of the zodiak assendeth. Farther-over they seyn, that in thilke cuntrey where as the senith of hem that dwellen there is in the equinoxial lyne, and her orisonte passing by the poles of this world, thilke folke han this right cercle and the right orisonte; and everemo the arch of the day and the arch of the night is ther y-like long, and the sonne twyes every yeer passinge thorow the senith of her heved; and two someres and two winteres in a yeer han this forseide poeple. And the almikanteras in her Astrolabies ben streighte as a lyne, so as sheweth in this figura. The utilite to knowe the assenciouns in the righte cercele is this: truste wel that by mediacion of thilke assenciouns these astrologiens, by hir tables and hir instrumentz, knowen verreyly the assencioun of every degree and minut in al the zodiak, as shal be shewed. And nota, that this forseid righte orisonte, that is cleped orison rectum, divydeth the equinoxial in-to right angles; and the embelif orisonte, wher-as the pol is enhaused up-on the orisonte, overkerveth the equinoxial in embelif angles, as sheweth in the figura. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figura.

27. This is the conclusioun to knowe the assenciouns of signes in the right cercele, that is, circulus directus, &c.

Set the heved of what signe thee liste to knowe his assending in the right cercele up-on the lyne meridional; and waite wher thyn almury toucheth the bordure, and set ther a prikke. Turne thanne thy riet westward til that the ende of the forseide signe sitte up-on the meridional lyne; and eft-sones waite wher thyn almury toucheth the bordure, and set ther another prikke. Rikne thanne the nombre of degrees in the bordure by-twixe bothe prikkes, and tak the assencioun of the signe in the right cercele. And thus maystow wyrke with every porcioun of thy zodiak, &c. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figura.

28. To knowe the assencions of signes in the embelif cercele in every regioun, I mene, in circulo obliquo.

Set the heved of the signe which as thee list to knowe his ascensioun up-on the est orisonte, and waite wher thyn almury toucheth the bordure, and set ther a prikke. Turne thanne thy riet upward til that the ende of the same

signe sitte up-on the est orisonte, and waite eft-sones wher as thyn almury toucheth the bordure, and set ther another prikke. Rikne thanne the noubre of degrees in the bordure by-twixe bothe prikkes, and tak ther the assencioun of the signe in the embelif cercele. And understond wel, that alle signes in thy zodiak, fro the heved of Aries unto the ende of Virgo, ben cleped signes of the north fro the equinoxial; and these signes arysen by-twixe the verrey est and the verrey north in oure orisonte generally for evere. And alle signes fro the heved of Libra un-to the ende of Pisces ben cleped signes of the south fro the equinoxial; and these signes arysen ever-mo by-twixe the verrey est and the verrey south in oure orisonte. Also every signe by-twixe the heved of Capricorne un-to the ende of Geminis aryseth on oure orisonte in lasse than two houres equales; and these same signes, fro the heved of Capricorne un-to the ende of Geminis, ben cleped 'tortuos signes' or 'croked signes,' for they arisen embelif on oure orisonte; and these crokede signes ben obedient to the signes that ben of right assencioun. The signes of right assencioun ben fro the heved of Cancer to the fende of Sagittare; and these signes arysen more upright, and they ben called eke sovereyn signes; and everich of hem aryseth in more space than in two houres. Of which signes, Gemini obeyeth to Cancer; and Taurus to Leo; Aries to Virgo; Pisces to Libra; Aquarius to Scorpioun; and Capricorne to Sagittare. And thus ever-mo two signes, that ben y-lyke fer fro the heved of Capricorne, obeyen everich of hem til other. And for more declaracioun, lo here the figura.

29. To knowe justly the foure quarters of the world, as est, west, north, and south.

Take the altitude of thy sonne whan thee list, and note wel the quarter of the world in which the sonne is for the tyme by the aximutz. Turne thanne thyn Astrolabe, and set the degree of the 5

sonne in the almikanteras of his altitude, on thilke side that the sonne stant, as is the manere in taking of houres; and ley thy label on the degree of the sonne, and rikene how many degrees of the bordure ben by-twice the lyne meridional and the point of thy label; and note wel that noubra. Turne thanne a-gayn thyn Astrolabie, and set the point of thy gret 15 rewle, ther thou takest thyne altitudes, up-on as many degrees in his bordure fro his meridional as was the point of thy label fro the lyne meridional on the wombe-syde. Tak thanne thyn Astro-
 20 labie with bothe handes sadly and aley, and lat the sonne shyne thorow bothe holes of thy rewle; and aleyly, in thilke shyninge, lat thyn Astrolabie couch adoun evene up-on a smothe grond, and thanne
 25 wol the verrey lyne meridional of thyn Astrolabie lye evene south, and the est lyne wole lye est, and the west lyne west, and north lyne north, so that thou werke softly and avisely in the couching; and 30 thus hastow the 4 quarters of the firmament. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figura.

80. To knowe the altitude of planetes fro the wey of the sonne, whether so they be north or south fro the forside wey.

Lok whan that a planete is in the lyne meridional, yif that hir altitude be of the same heyghte that is the degree of the sonne for that day, and than is the planete
 5 in the verrey wey of the sonne, and hath no latitude. And yif the altitude of the planete be heyere than the degree of the sonne, than is the planete north fro the wey of the sonne swich a quantite of lati-
 10 tude as sheweth by thyn almikanteras. And yif the altitude of the planete be lesse than the degree of the sonne, thanne is the planete south fro the wey of the sonne swich a quantite of latitude as sheweth 15 by thyn almikanteras. This is to seyn, fro the wey wher-as the sonne wente thilke day, but nat from the wey of the sonne in every place of the zodiak. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the
 20 figure.

81. To knowe the senith of the arysing of the sonne, this is to seyn, the partie of the orizonte in which that the sonne aryseth.

Thou most first considere that the sonne aryseth nat al-wey verrey est, but some tyme by north the est, and som tyme by southe the est. Sothly, the sonne aryseth never-mo verrey est in oure ori- 5 sonte, but he be in the heved of Aries or Libra. Now is thyn orizonte departed in 24 parties by thy azimutz, in significacion of 24 parties of the world; al-be-it so that shipmen rikne thilke parties in 32. 10 Thanne is ther no more but waite in which azimut that thy sonne entreth at his arysing; and take ther the senith of the arysing of the sonne. The manere of the devisioun of thyn Astrolabie is this; 15 I mene, as in this cas. First is it divided in 4 plagis principals with the lyne that goth from est to west, and than with a-nother lyne that goth fro south to north. Than is it divided in smale parties of 20 azimutz, as est, and est by southe, whereas is the firste azimut above the est lyne; and so forth, fro partie to partie, til that thou come agayn un-to the est lyne. Thus maistow understand also the senith of 25 any sterre, in which partie he ryseth, &c. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figura.

82. To knowe in which partie of the firmament is the conjunccion.

Considere the tyme of the conjunccion by thy kalender, as thus; lok how many houres thilke conjunccion is fro the mid-day of the day precedent, as sheweth by the canoun of thy kalender. Rikne 5 thanne thilke nombre of houres in the bordure of thyn Astrolabie, as thou art wont to do in knowing of the houres of the day or of the night; and ley thy label over the degree of the sonne; and thanne 10 wol the point of thy label sitte up-on the hour of the conjunccion. Loke thanne in which azimut the degree of thy sonne sitteth, and in that partie of the firmament is the conjunccion. And for the 15 more declaracioun, lo here thy figura.

88. To knowe the semith of the altitude of the sonne, &c.

This is no more to seyn but any tyme of the day tak the altitude of the sonne; and by the azimut in which he stondeth, maystou seen in which partie of the firmament he is. And in the same wyse maystou seen, by the night, of any sterre, whether the sterre sitte est or west or north, or any partie by-twene, after the name of the azimut in which is the sterre. And for the more declaracioun, lo here the figure.

84. To knowe sothly the degree of the longitude of the mone, or of any planete that hath no latitude for the tyme fro the ecliptik lyne.

Tak the altitude of the mone, and rikne thyn altitude up among thyn almikanteras on which syde that the mone stande; and set there a prikke. Tak thenne anon-right, up-on the mones syde, the altitude of any sterre fix which that thou knowest, and set his centre up-on his altitude among thyn almikanteras ther the sterre is founde. Waite thanne which degree of the zodiak toucheth the prikke of the altitude of the mone, and tak ther the degree in which the mone standeth. This conclusioun is verrey sooth, yif the sterres in thyn Astrolabie stonden after the trowthe; of comune, tretis of Astrolabie ne make non exceptioun whether the mone have latitude, or non; ne on whether syde of the mone the altitude of the sterre fix be taken. And nota, that yif the mone shewe himself by light of day, than maystow wyrke this same conclusioun by the sonne, as wel as by the fix sterre. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

85. This is the workinge of the conclusioun, to knowe yif that any planete be directe or retrograde.

Tak the altitude of any sterre that is cleped a planete, and note it wel. And tak eek anon the altitude of any sterre fix that thou knowest, and note it wel also. Come thanne agayn the thridde or the ferthe night next folwing; for thanne shaltow aperceyve wel the moeving of a planete, whether so he moeve forthward or bakward. Awaite wel thanne whan that thy sterre fix is in the same altitude that she was whan thou toke hir firste altitude; and tak than eftsones the altitude of the forseide planete, and note it wel. For trust wel, yif so be that the planete be on the right syde of the meridional lyne, so that his seconde altitude be lasse than his firste altitude was, thanne is the planete directe. And yif he be on the west syde in that condicion, thanne is he retrograd. And yif so be that this planete be up-on the est syde whan his altitude is taken, so that his seconde altitude be more than his firste altitude, thanne is he retrograde, and yif he be on the west syde, than is he directe. But the contrarie of these parties is of the cours of the mone; for sothly, the mone moeveth the contrarie from others planetes as in hir episiclie, but in non other manera. And for the more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

86. The conclusiouns of equaciouns of houses, after the Astrolabie, &c.

Set the by-ginning of the degree that assendeth up-on the ende of the 8 houre inequal; thanne wol the by-ginning of the 2 hous sitte up-on the lyne of midnight. Remove thanne the degree that assendeth, and set him on the ende of the 10 hour inequal; and thanne wol the by-ginning of the 3 hous sitte up-on the midnight lyne. Bring up agayn the same degree that assendeth first, and set him up-on the orisonte; and thanne wol the beginning of the 4 hous sitte up-on the lyne of midnight. Tak thanne the nadir of the degree that first assendeth, and set him on the ende of the 2 houre inequal; and thanne wol the beginning of the 5 hous sitte up-on the lyne of midnight; set thanne the nadir of the assendent on the ende of the 4 houre, than wol the beginning of the 6 house sitte on the midnight lyne. The beginning of the 7 hous is nadir of the assendent, and the beginning of the 8 hous is nadir of the 2; and the beginning of the 9 hous is nadir of the 3; and the beginning of the 10 hous is the nadir of the 4; and the beginning of the 11 hous is nadir of the 5; and the beginning of the 12 hous is nadir of the 6. And for the more declaracion, 30 lo here the figure.

87. A-nother maners of equacionns of houses by the Astrolabe.

Tak thyn assendent, and thanne hastow thy 4 angles; for wel thou wost that the opposit of thyn assendent, that is to seyn, thy beginning of the 7 hous, sit up-on the 5 west orizonte; and the beginning of the 10 hous sit up-on the lyne meridional; and his opposit up-on the lyne of midnight. Thanne ley thy label over the degree that assendeth, and rekne fro the 10 point of thy label alle the degrees in the bordure, til thou come to the meridional lyne; and departe alle thilke degrees in 3 evene parties, and take the evene equacion of 3; for ley thy label over 15 everich of 3 parties, and than maistow see by thy label in which degree of the zodiak [is] the beginning of everich of these same houses fro the assendent: that is to seyn, the beginning of the 20 12 house next above thyn assendent; and thanne the beginning of the 11 house; and thanne the 10, up-on the meridional lyne; as I first seide. The same wyse wirke thou fro the assendent down to the 25 lyne of midnight; and thanne thus hastow other 3 houses, that is to seyn, the beginning of the 2, and the 3, and the 4 houses; thanne is the nadir of these 3 houses the beginning of the 3 houses 30 that folwen. And for the more declaracion, lo here thy figure.

88. To finde the lyne merydional to dwelle fix in any certein place.

Tak a rond plate of metal; for warping, the brodere the better; and make ther-upon a just compas, a lite with-in the bordure; and ley this ronde plate up-on 5 an evene grond, or on an evene ston, or on an evene stok fix in the gronde; and

ley it even by a level. And in centre of the compas stike an evene pin or a wyrr upright; the smallere the betere. Set thy pin by a plom-rewle evene upright; 10 and let this pin be no lengere than a quarter of the diametre of thy compas, fro the centre. And waite biaily aboute 10 or 11 of the klokke; and whan the sonne shyneth, whan the shadwe of the 15 pin entreth any-thing with-in the cercle of thy plate an heer-mele, and mark ther a prikke with inke. Abyde thanne stille waiting on the sonne after 1 of the klokke, til that the schadwe of the wyrr or of the 20 pin passe ony-thing out of the cercle of the compas, be it never so lyte; and set ther a-nother prikke of inke. Take than a compas, and mesure evene the middel by-twixe bothe prikkes; and set ther a 25 prikke. Take thanne a rewle, and draw a stryke, evene a-lyne fro the pin un-to the middel prikke; and tak ther thy lyne meridional for evere-mo, as in that same place. And yif thou drawe a cros-lyne 30 over-thwart the compas, justly over the lyne meridional, than hastow est and west and south; and, par consequence, than the nadir of the south lyne is the north lyne. And for more declaracion, 35 lo here thy figure.

89. Description of the meridional lyne, of longitudes, and latitudes of citees and townes from on to a-nother of clymatz.

This lyne meridional is but a maner descripcion of lyne imagined, that passeth upon the poles of this world and by the senith of oure heved. And hit is y-cleped the lyne meridional; for in what place 5 that any maner man is at any tyme of the year, whan that the sonne by moeving of the firmament cometh to his verrey meridian place, than is hit verrey midday, that we clepen oure noon, as to thilke 10 man; and therefore is it cleped the lyne of midday. And nota, for evermo, of 2 citees or of 2 townes, of whiche that o toun aprocheth more toward the est than doth that other toun, truste wel that 15 thilke townes han diverse meridians. Nota also, that the arch of the equinoxial, that is conteyned or bounded by-twix the 2 meridians, is cleped the longitude of the toun. And yif so be that two tounes 20 have y-lyke meridian, or oon meridian, than is the distance of hem bothe y-lyke fer for the est; and the contraria. And in this manere they chaunge nat her 25 meridian, but sothly they chaungen her almikanteras; for the enhansing of the pool and the distance of the sonne. The longitude of a clymat is a lyne imagined fro est to west, y-lyke distant by-twene 30 them alle. The latitude of a clymat is a lyne imagined from north to south the space of the erthe, fro the bygynning of the firste clymat unto the verrey ende of the same climat, evens directe agayns 35 the pole artik. Thus seyn some anctours; and somme of hem seyn that yif men clepen the latitude, they mene the arch meridian that is contiened or intercept by-twix the senith and the equinoxial.

 40 Thanne sey they that the distaunce fro
 the equinoxial unto the ende of a clymat, evens agayns the pole artyk, is the latitude of a clymat for sothe. And for more declaracioun, lo here thy figure.

40. To knowe with which degree of the zodiak that any planete assendith on the orisonte, whether so that his latitude be north or south.

Knowe by thyn almenak the degree of the ecliptik of any signe in which that the planete is rekned for to be, and that is cleped the degree of his longitude; and 5 knowe also the degree of his latitude fro the ecliptik, north or south. And by these samples folwinge in special, maystow wirke † for sothe in every signe of the zodiak. The degree of the longitude, 10 par aventure, of Venus or of another planete, was 6 of Capricorne, and the latitude of him was northward 2 degrees fro the ecliptik lyne. I tok a subtil compas, 15 compas A, and that other poynt F. Than tok I the point of A, and set it in the ecliptik lyne evens in my zodiak, in the degree of the longitude of Venus, that is to seyn, in the 6 degree of Capricorne;

and thanne sette I the point of F upward 20
 in the same signe, bycause that the latitude was north, up-on the latitude of Venus, that is to seyn, in the 6 degree fro
 the heved of Capricorne; and thus have
 I 2 degrees by-twix my two prikkes. 25
 Than leide I down softly my compas, and sette the degree of the longitude up-on the orisonte; tho tok I and wexede my label in maner of a peyre tables to receeveye distinctly the prikkes of my 30 compas. Tho tok I this forseide label, and leide it fix over the degree of my longitude; tho tok I up my compas, and sette the point of A in the wax on my label, as evens as I coude gesse over the 35
 ecliptik lyne, in the ende of the longitude; and sette the point of F endlang in my label up-on the space of the latitude, inwarde and over the zodiak, that is to seyn, north-ward fro the ecliptik. 40
 Than leide I down my compas, and lokede wel in the wey upon the prikke of A and of F; tho turned I my riet til that the prikke of F sat up-on the orisonte; than saw I wel that the body of Venus, in hir 45
 latitude of 2 degrees septentrionalis, assended, in the ende of the 6 degree,
 in the heved of Capricorne. And nota, that in the same maner maistow wirke with any latitude septentrional in alle 50 signes; but sothly the latitude meridional of a planete in Capricorne may not be take, by-cause of the lital space by-twix
 the ecliptik and the bordure of the Astrolabie; but sothly, in alle other signes it 55
 may.

Also the degree, par aventure, of Jupiter or of a-nother planete, was in the first degree of Pisces in longitude, and his latitude was 3 degrees meridional; 60 tho tok I the point of A, and sette it in the firste degree of Pisces on the ecliptik, and thanne sette I the point of F downward in the same signe, by-cause that the latitude was south 3 degrees, that is to 65 seyn, fro the heved of Pisces; and thus have I 3 degrees by-twix bothe prikkes;
 thanne sette I the degree of the longitude up-on the orisonte. Tho tok I my label, and leide it fix upon the degree of the 70

longitude; tho sette I the point of A on my label, evens over the ecliptik lyne, in the ende evens of the degree of the longitude, and sette the point of F endlang in 75 my label the space †of 3 degrees of the latitude fro the zodiak, this is to seyn, southward fro the ecliptik, toward the bordure; and turned my riet til the prikke of F sat np-on the orisonte;
 80 thanne saw I wel that the body of Jupiter, in his latitude of 3 degrees meridional, ascended with 14 degrees of Pisces in horoscopo. And in this maner maistow wirko with any latitude meridional, as I first seide, save in Capricorne.
 85 And yif thou wolt pleye this craft with the arysing of the mone, loke thou rekne wel hir cours houre by houre; for she ne dwelleth nat in a degree of hir longitude but a lital whyle, as thou wel knowest; 90 but natheles, yif thou rekne hir verreye moeving by thy tables houre after houre, †thou shalt do wel y-now.

SUPPLEMENTARY PROPOSITIONS.

41. Umbra Recta.

Yif it so be that thou wilt werke by umbra recta, and thou may come to the bas of the toure, in this maner thou schalt werke. Tak the altitude of the 5 tour by bothe holes, so that thy rewle ligge even in a poynt. Ensample as thus: I see him thorw at the poynt of 4; than mete I the space between me and the tour, and I finde it 20 feet; than 10 be-holde I how 4 is to 12, right so is the space betwixe thee and the tour to the altitude of the tour. For 4 is the thridde part of 12, so is the space between thee and the tour the thridde part of the 15 altitude of the tour; than thryes 20 feet is the heyghte of the tour, with adding of thyn owne persone to thyn eye. And this rewle is so general in umbra recta, fro the poynt of oon to 12. And yif thy 20 rewle falls upon 5, than is 5 12-partyes of the heygth the space between thee and the toure; with adding of thyn owne heygth.

42. Umbra Versa.

Another maner of werkinge, by umbra versa. Yif so be that thou may nat come to the bas of the tour, I see him thorw the nombre of 1; I sette ther a prikke at my fote; than go I near to the tour, and 5 I see him thorw at the poynt of 2, and there I sette a-nother prikke; and I beholde how 1 hath him to 12, and ther finde I that it hath him twelfe sythes; than beholde I how 2 hath him to 12, and 10 thou shalt finde it sexe sythes; than thou shalt finde that as 12 above 6 is the nombre of 6, right so is the space between thy two prikkes the space of 6 tymes thyn altitude. And note, that at 15 the ferste altitude of 1, thou settest a prikke; and afterward, when thou seest him at 2, ther thou settest an-other prikke; than thou findest between two prikkys 60 feet; than thou shalt finde

 20 that 10 is the 6-party of 60. And then is 10 feet the altitude of the tour. For other poyntis, yif it fille in umbra versa, as thus: I sette caas it fill upon †2, and at the secunde upon †3; than schalt thou 25 finde that 2 is 6 partyes of 12; and 3 is 4 partyes of 12; than passeth 6 4, by nombre of 2; so is the space between two prikkes twyes the heyghte of the tour. And yif the differens were thryes, than 30 shulde it be three tymes; and thus mayst thou werke fro 2 to 12; and yif it be 4, 4 tymes; or 5, 5 tymes; et sic de ceteris.

43. Umbra Recta.

An-other maner of wyrking be umbra recta. Yif it so be that thou mayst nat come to the baas of the tour, in this maner thou schalt werke. Sette thy rewle upon 1 till thou see the altitude, and sette at thy foot a prikke. Than sette thy rewle upon 2, and beholde what is the differense be-tween 1 and 2, and thou shalt finde that it is 1. Than mete the space be-tween two prikkes, and that is the 12 partie of the altitude of the tour. And yif ther were 2, it were the 6 partye; and yif ther were 3, the 4 partye; et sic deinceps. And note, yif it were 5, it were the 5 party of 12; and 7, 7 party of 12; and note, at the altitude of thy conclusioun, adde the stature of thyn heyghte to thyn eye.

* * * * *

44. Another maner conclusion, to knowe the mene mote and the argumentis of any planete. To knowe the mene mote and the argumentis of every planete fro yere to yere, from day to day, from houre to houre, and from smale fraccionis infinite.

In this maner shalt thou worche: consider thy rote first, the whiche is made the beginning of the tables fro the yere of oure lord 1397, and entere hit in-to thy slate for the laste meridie of December; and than consider the yere of oure lord, what is the date, and be-hold whether thy date be more or lesse than the yere 1397. And yf hit so be that hit be more, loke how many yeres hit passeth, and with so many entere into thy tables in the first lyne ther-as is written anni collecti et expansi. And loke where the same planet is written in the hede of thy table, and than loke what thou findest in directe of the same yere of oure lord whiche is passid, be hit 8, or 9, or 10, or what nombre that evere it be, till the tyme that thou come to 20, or 40, or 60. And that thou findest in directe wryte in thy slate under thy rote, and adde hit to-geder, and that is thy mene mote, for the laste meridian of the December, for the same yere whiche that thou hast purposed. And if hit so be that hit passe 20, consider wel that fro 1 to 20 ben anni expansi, and fro 20 to 3000 ben anni collecti; and if thy nombre passe 20, than take that thou findest in directe of 20, and if hit be more, as 6 or 18, than take that thou findest in directe there-of, that is to sayen, signes, degrees, minutes, and seconds, and adde to-gedere un-to thy rote; and thus to make rote. And note, that if hit so be that the yere of oure lord be 1397, than shalt thou wryte in the same wyse furst thy rote in thy slate, and after entere in-to thy table in the same yere that be lasse, as I taught before; and than consider how many signes, degrees, minutes, and seconds thyn entringe conteyneth. And so be that ther be 2 entrees, than adde hem to-geder, and after with-drawe hem from the rote, the yere of oure lord 1397; and the residue that levethe is thy mene mote fro the laste meridie of December, the whiche thou hast purposed; and if hit so be that thou wolt weten thy mene mote for any day, or for any fraccioun of day, in this maner thou shalt worche. Make thy rote for the laste day of Decembere in the maner as I have taught, and afterward behold how many monethes, dayes, and houres ben passid from the meridie of Decembere, and with that entere with the laste moneth that is ful passed, and take that thou findest in directe of him, and wryte hit in thy slate; and entere with as many dayes as be more, and wryte that thou findest in directe of the same planete that thou worchest for; and in the same wyse in the table of houres, for houres that ben passed, and adde alle these to thy rote; and the residue is the mene mote for the same day and the same houre.

45. Another manere to knowe the mene mote.

Whan thou wolt make the mene mote of eny planete to be by Arsechieles tables, take thy rote, the whiche is for the yere of oure lord 1397; and if so be that thy yere be passid the date, wryte that date, and than wryte the numbere of the yeres. Than with-drawe the yeres out of the yeres that ben passed that rote. Ensampl as thus: the yere of oure lord 10 1400, †I wolde witen, precise, my rote; than wroot I furst 1400. And under that numbere I wrote a 1397; than withdraw I the laste numbere out of that, and than fond I the residue was 3 yere; I wiste 15 that 3 yere was passed fro the rote, the whiche was written in my tables. Than after-ward soghte I in my tables the annis collectis et expansis, and amonge myn expanse yeres fond I 3 year. Than tok 20 I alle the signes, degrees, and minutes, that I fond directe under the same planete that I wroghte for, and wroot so many signes, degrees, and minutes in my slate, and after-ward added I to signes, 25 degrees, minutes, and seconundes, the whiche I fond in my rote the yere of oure lord 1397; and kepte the residue; and than had I the mene mote for the laste day of Decembere. And if thou woldest 30 wete the mene mote of any planete in March, Aprile, or May, other in any other tyme or moneth of the yere, loke how many monethes and dayes ben passed from the laste day of Decembere, the yere 35 of oure lord 1400; and so with monethes and dayes entere in-to thy table ther thou findest thy mene mote y-written in monethes and dayes, and take alle the signes, degrees, minutes, and seconundes 40 that thou findest y-write in directe of thy monethes, and adde to signes, degrees, minutes, and seconundes that thou findest with thy rote the yere of oure lord 1400, and the residue that leveth is the mene 45 mote for that same day. And note, if hit so be that thou woldest wete the mene mote in any yere that is lasse than thy rote, with-drawe the numbere of so many yeres as hit is lasse than the yere of oure lord a 1397, and kepe the residue; and so 50 many yeres, monethes, and dayes entere in-to thy tabelis of thy mene mote. And take alle the signes, degrees, and minutes, and seconundes, that thou findest in directe of alle the yeres, monethes, and 55 dayes, and wryte hem in thy slate; and above thilke numbere wryte the signes, degrees, minutes, and seconundes, the whiche thou findest with thy rote the yere of oure lord a 1397; and with-drawe 60 alle the nethere signes and degrees fro the signes and degrees, minutes, and seconundes of other signes with thy rote; and thy residue that leveth is thy mene 65 mote for that day.

46. For to knowe at what houre of the day, or of the night, shal be fiodr or ebbe.*

First wite thou certainly, how that haven stondest, that thou list to werke for; that is to say in whiche place of the firmament the mone being, maketh fulle see. Than awayte thou redily in what 5 degree of the zodiak that the mone at that tyme is inne. Bringe furth than the labelle, and set the point therof in that same cost that the mone maketh fiodr, and set thou there the degree of 10 the mone according with the egge of the label. Than afterward awayte where is than the degree of the sonne, at that tyme. Remeve thou than the label fro the mone, and bringe and sette it justly 15 upon the degree of the sonne. And the point of the label shal than declare to thee, at what houre of the day or of the night shal be fiodr. And there also maist thou wite by the same point of the 20 label, whether it be, at that same tyme, fiodr or ebbe, or half fiodr, or quarter fiodr, or ebbe, or half or quarter ebbe; or ellis at what houre it was last, or shal be next by night or by day, thou than 25 shalt esely knowe, &c. Furthermore, if it so be that thou happe to werke for this matere aboute the tyme of the conjuncioun, bringe furthe the degree of the

* Perhaps not genuine.

30 mone with the labelle to that coste as it is before seyd. But than thou shalt understonde that thou may not bringe furthe the label fro the degree of the mone as thou dide before; for-why the 35 sonne is than in the same degree with the mone. And so thou may at that tyme by the point of the labelle un-remeved knowe the hours of the fode or of the ebbe, as it is before seyd, &c. And 40 evermore as thou findest the mone passe fro the sonne, so remeve thou the labelle than fro the degree of the mone, and bringe it to the degree of the sonne.
And worke thou than as thou dide before,
&c. Or elles knowe thou what houre it 45 is that thou art inne, by thyn instrument. Than bringe thou furth fro thennes the labelle and ley it upon the degree of the mone, and therby may thou wite also whan it was fode, or whan 50
it wol be next, be it night or day; &c.

THE CANTERBURY TALES.

GROUP A. THE PROLOGUE.

Here biginneth the Book of the Tales of Caunterbury.

WHAN that Aprille with his shoures sote
The droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote,

And bathed every veyne in swich licour,
Of which vertu engandred is the flour ;
Whan Zephirus eek with his swete breeth 5
Inspired hath in every holt and heeth
The tendre croppes, and the yonge sonne
Hath in the Ram his halfe cours y-ronne,
And smale fowles maken melodye,
That slepen al the night with open yē, 10
(So priketh hem nature in hir corages) :
Than longen folk to goon on pilgrimages (And palmers for to seken strange strondes)

To ferne halwes, couthe in sondry londes ;
And specially, from every shires ende 15
Of Engelond, to Caunterbury they wende,
The holy blisful martir for to seke,
That hem hath holpen, whan that they were seke.

Bifel that, in that seson on a day,
In Southwerk at the Tabard as I lay 20
Redy to wenden on my pilgrimage
To Caunterbury with ful devout corage,
At night was come in-to that hostelrye
Wel nyne and twenty in a companye,
Of sondry folk, by aventure y-falle 25
In felawshipe, and pilgrims were they alle,
That toward Caunterbury wolden ryde ;
The chambres and the stables weren wyde,
And wel we weren eesed atte beste.
And shortly, whan the sonne was to reste,

So hadde I spoken with hem everichon, 31
That I was of hir felawshipe anon,
And made forward erly for to ryse,
To take our wey, ther as I yow devyze.

But natheles, whyl I have tyme and
space, 35

Er that I ferther in this tale pace,
Me thinketh it acordaunt to resoun,
To telle yow al the condicioun
Of ech of hem, so as it semed me,
And whiche they weren, and of what
degree ; 40

And eek in what array that they were
inne :

And at a knight than wol I first biginne.
A KNIGHT ther was, and that a worthy man, Knight

That fro the tyme that he first bigan
To ryden out, he loved chivalrye, 45
Trouthe and honour, fredom and cur-teisye.

Ful worthy was he in his lordes werre,
And therto hadde he riden (no man ferre)

As wel in Cristendom as hethenesse,
And ever honoured for his worthinesse. 50
At Alisaundre he was, whan it was
wonne ;

Ful ofte tyme he hadde the bord bigonne
Aboven alle naciouns in Pruce.

In Lettow hadde he reysed and in Ruce,
No Cristen man so ofte of his degree. 55
In Gernade at the sege eek hadde he be

Of Algezir, and riden in Belmarye.
At Lyeys was he, and at Satalye, Whan they were wonne; and in the Grete See

At many a noble aryve hadde he be. 60
At mortal batailles hadde he been fiftene,
And foughten for our faith at Tramissene
In listes thryes, and ay slayn his fo.
This ilke worthy knight had been also Somtyme with the lord of Palatye, 65
Ageyn another hethen in Turkye :

And evermore he hadde a sovereyn pry.
And though that he were worthy, he was
wys,

And of his port as meke as is a mayde.
He never yet no vileinye ne sayde 70
In al his lyf, un-to no maner wight.
He was a verray parfit gentil knight.

But for to tellen yow of his array,
His hors were gode, but he was nat gay.
Of fustian he wered a gipoun 75

Al bismotered with his habergeoun;
For he was late y-come from his viage,
And wente for to doon his pilgrimage.

With him ther was his sone, a yong
Squyer, Squyer,

A lovyere, and a lusty bacheler, 80
With lokkes crulle, as they were leyd in presse.

Of twenty yeer of age he was, I gesse.
Of his stature he was of evene lengthe,
And wonderly deliver, and greet of
strengthe.

And he had been somtyme in chivachye, 85
In Flaundes, in Artoys, and Picardye,
And born him wel, as of so lital space,
In hope to stonden in his lady grace.

Embrouded was he, as it were a mede
Al ful of freshe floures, whyte and rede, 90
Singinge he was, or floytinge, al the day;
He was as fresh as is the month of May.
Short was his goune, with sleeves longe and wyde.

Wel coude he sitte on hors, and faire ryde.
He coude songes make and wel endyte, 95
Juste and eek daunce, and wel purtreys and wryte.

So hote he lovede, that by nightertale
He sleep namore than dooth a nightingale.
Curteys he was, lowly, and servisable,
And carf biforn his fader at the tabla. 100

A YEMAN hadde he, and servaunts namo
At that tyme, for him liste ryde so;
And he was clad in cote and hood of grene; Yeman.

A sheef of pecock-arwes brighte and
kene

Under his belt he bar ful thriftily; 105
(Wel coude he dresse his takel yemanly :
His arwes drouped nocht with fettheres
lowe),

And in his hand he bar a mighty bowe.
A not-heed hadde he, with a broun visage.
Of wode-craft wel coude he al the usage. 110
Upon his arm he bar a gay bracer,
And by his syde a swerd and a bokeler,
And on that other syde a gay dagger, Harneised wel, and sharp as point of
spere;

A Cristofre on his brest of silver shene. 115
An horn he bar, the bawdrik was of
grene;

A forster was he, soothly, as I gesse.
Ther was also a Nonne, a PRIORRESSE,
That of hir amyng was ful simple and coy; Prioress.

Hir gretteste ooth was but by seynt
Loy; 120

And she was cleped madame Eglentyne.
Ful wel she song the service divyne,
Entuned in hir nose ful semely;
And Frensh she spak ful faire and fetisly,
After the soole of Stratford atte Bowe, 125
For Frensh of Paris was to hir unknowe.
At mete wel y-taught was she with-alle;
She leet no morsel from hir lippes falle,
Ne wette hir fingers in hir sauce depe.
Wel coude she carie a morsel, and wel
kepe, 130

That no drope ne fille up-on hir brest.
In curteisye was set ful muche hir leet.
Hir over lippe wyped she so clene,
That in hir coppe was no ferthing sene
Of grece, whan she dronken hadde hir
draughte. 135

Ful semely after hir mete she raughte,
And sikerly she was of greet disport,
And ful plesaunt, and amiable of port,
And peyned hir to countrefete chere
Of court, and been estatlich of manere, 140
And to ben holden digne of reverence.
But, for to speken of hir conscienee,

She was so charitable and so pitous,
 She wolde wepe, if that she sawe a mous Caught in a trappe, if it were deed or
 bledde. 145

Of smale houndes had she, that she fedde
 With rosted fleah, or milk and wastelbreed.

But sore weep she if oon of hem were
 deed,

Or if men smoot it with a yerde smerte :
 And al was conscience and tendre herte.
 Ful semely hir wimpel pinched was ; 151
 Hir nose tretys ; hir eyen greye as glas ;
 Hir mouth ful smal, and ther-to softe and
 reed ;

But sikerly she hadde a fair forheed ;
 It was almost a spanne brood, I trowe ; 155
 For, hardily, she was nat undergrowe.
 Ful fetis was hir cloke, as I was war.

Of smal coral aboute hir arm she bar
 A peire of bedes, gauded al with grene ;
 And ther-on heng a broche of gold ful
 shene, 160

On which ther was first write a crowned A,
 And after, Amor vincit omnia. Nonne.

Another Nonne with hir hadde she,
 That was hir chapeleyn, and PREESTRES
 THREE. 3 Preestes.

A Monk ther was, a fair for the maistrye,
 An out-rydere, that lovede venerye ; 166
 A manly man, to been an abbot able.

Ful many a deyntee hors hadde he in stable : Monk.

And, whan he rood, men mighte his brydel here

Ginglen in a whistling wind as clere, 170
 And eek as loude as dooth the chapel-
 belle

Ther as this lord was keper of the celle.
 The reule of saint Maure or of saint Beneit,

By-cause that it was old and som-del
 streit,

This ilke monk leet olde thinges pace, 175
 And held after the newe world the space.

He yaf nat of that text a pulled hen,
 That seith, that hunters been nat holy
 men ;

Ne that a monk, whan he is cloisterlees,
 Is lykned til a fish that is waterlees ; 180

This is to seyn, a monk out of his cloistre.
 But thilke text held he nat worth an oistre ;

And I seyde, his opinioun was good.
 What sholde he studie, and make himselven wood,

Upon a book in cloistre alwey to poure, 185
 Or swinken with his handes, and laboure, As Austin bit ? How shal the world be served ?

Let Austin have his swink to him reserved.
 Therefore he was a pricasour aright ;
 Grahoundes he hadde, as swiftes as fowel
 in flight ; 190

Of priking and of hunting for the hare
 Was al his lust, for no cost wolde he spare.

I seigh his sleeves purfled at the hond
 With grys, and that the fyneste of a lond ;
 And, for to festne his hood under his chin, 195

He hadde of gold y-wrought a curious pin :
 A love-knotte in the gretter ende ther was.
 His heed was balled, that shoon as any glas,

And eek his face, as he had been anoint.
 He was a lord ful fat and in good point ; 200
 His eyen stepe, and rollinge in his heed,
 That stemed as a forneys of a leed ;

His botes souple, his hors in greet estat.
 Now certainly he was a fair prelat ;
 He was nat pale as a for-pyned goost. 205
 A fat swan loved he best of any roost.

His palfrey was as broun as is a berye.

A FRAZE ther was, a wantown and a merye, Frere.

A limitour, a ful solempne man. 209
 In alle the ordres foure is noon that can
 So muche of daliaunce and fair langage.

He hadde maad ful many a mariage
 Of yonge women, at his owne cost.
 Un-to his ordre he was a noble post.

Ful wel biloved and famulier was he 215
 With frankeleyns over-al in his contree,
 And eek with worthy women of the
 toun ;

For he had power of confessioun,
 As seyde him-self, more than a curat,
 For of his ordre he was licentiat. 220

Ful swetely herde he confessioun,
 And pleasaunt was his absolucioun ;

He was an esy man to yeve penaunce
 Ther as he wiste to han a good pitaunce ;
 For unto a povre ordre for to yive 225
 Is signe that a man is wel y-shrive.
 For if he yaf, he dorste make avaunt,
 He wiste that a man was repentaunt.
 For many a man so hard is of his herte,
 He may nat wepe al-thogh him sore
 smerte. 230

Therefore, in stede of weping and preyeres,
 Men moot yeve silver to the povre freres.
 His tipet was ay farsed ful of knyves
 And pinnes, for to yeven faire wyves.
 And certainly he hadde a mery note ; 235
 Wel coude he singe and pleyen on a rote.
 Of yeddinges he bar utterly the prys.
 His nekke whyt was as the flour-de-lys ;
 Ther-to he strong was as a champioun.
 He knew the tavernes wel in every toun,
 And everich hostiler and tappestere 241
 Bet than a lazar or a beggestere ;
 For un-to swich a worthy man as he Acorded nat, as by his facultee, 244
 To have with seke lazars aqueyntaunce.
 It is nat honest, it may nat avaunce
 For to delen with no swich poraille,
 But al with riche and sellers of vitaille.
 And over-al, ther as profit sholde aryse,
 Curteys he was, and lowly of servyse. 250
 Ther nas no man no-wher so vertuous.
 He was the beste beggere in his hous ;
 †And yaf a certeyn ferme for the graunt ; 252 b †Noon of his bretheren cam ther in his haunt ; 252 c
 For thogh a widwe hadde noght a sho,
 So plesaunt was his 'In principio,' Yet wolde he have a ferthing, er he
 wente. 255
 His purchas was wel bettre than his rente.
 And rage he coude, as it were right a whelpe.
 In love-dayes ther coude he muchel
 helpe. (260)
 For there he was nat lyk a cloisterer,
 With a thredbar cope, as is a povre
 scoler, 260
 But he was lyk a maister or a pope.
 Of double worsted was his semi-cope,
 That rounded as a belle out of the presse.
 Somwhat he lipped, for his wantownesse,

To make his English swete up-on his
 tonge ; 265
 And in his harping, whan that he had
 songe,
 His eyen twinkled in his heed aright,
 As doon the sterres in the frosty
 night. (270)

This worthy limitour was cleped Huberd.
 A MERCHANT was ther with a forked berd, Marchant.
 In mottellee, and hye on horse he sat, 271
 Up-on his heed a Flaundrish bever hat ;
 His botes clasped faire and fetisly.
 His reasons he spak ful solempnely, 274
 Souninge alway th'encrees of his winning.
 He wolde the see were kept for any thing
 Bitwixe Middelburgh and Orewelle.

Wel coude he in eschaunge sheeldes
 selle. (280)
 This worthy man ful wel his wit bisette ;
 Ther wiste no wight that he was in dette,
 So estatly was he of his governaunce, 281
 With his bargaynes, and with his chevi-
 saunce.

For sothe he was a worthy man with-alle,
 But sooth to seyn, I noot how men him calle. Clerk.

A CLERK ther was of Oxenford also,
 That un-to logik hadde longe y-go. 286
 As lene was his hors as is a rake,
 And he nas nat right fat, I undertake ; (290)
 But loked holwe, and ther-to soberly.
 Ful thredbar was his overest courtepy ; 290
 For he had geten him yet no benefyce,
 Ne was so worldly for to have offyce.
 For him was lever have at his beddes
 heed

Twenty bokes, clad in blak or reed,
 Of Aristotle and his philosophye, 295
 Than robes riche, or fithele, or gaysaurye.
 But al be that he was a philosophre,
 Yet hadde he but litel gold in cofre ; (300)
 But al that he mighte of his freendes
 hente,

On bokes and on lerninge he it spente, 300
 And bisily gan for the soules preye
 Of hem that yaf him wher-with to scoleye.
 Of studie took he most cure and most
 hede.

Noght o word spak he more than was
 nede,

And that was seyde in forme and reverence,
305

And short and quik, and ful of hy
sentence.

Souninge in moral vertu was his speche,
And gladly wolde he lerne, and gladly teche. Man of Lawe. (310)

A SERGEANT OF THE LAWE, war and wys,
That often hadde been at the parvyys, 310
Ther was also, ful riche of excellence.

Discreet he was, and of greet reverence :
He semed swich, his wordes weren so wysse.

Justyce he was ful often in assyse, 314
By patente, and by pleyn commissioun ;
For his science, and for his heigh re-
noun

Of fees and robes hadde he many oon.
So greet a purchasour was no-wher
noon. (320)

Al was fee simple to him in effect,
His purchasynge mighte nat been infect. 320
No-wher so bisy a man as he ther nas,
And yet he semed bisier than he was.
In termes hadde he caas and domes alle,
That from the tyme of king William were
falle.

Therto he coude endyte, and make a
thing, 325

Ther coude no wight pinche at his wryting ;

And every statut coude he pleyn by rote.
He rood but boomy in a medlee cote (330)
Girt with a ceint of silk, with barres
smale ;

Of his array telle I no lenger tale. 330

A FRANKLEYN was in his companye ;
Whyt was his berd, as is the dayesye.
Of his complexioun he was sangwyn.
Wel loved he by the morwe a sop in
wyn. Frankeleyn.

To liven in delyt was ever his wone, 335
For he was Epicurus owne sone,
That heeld opinioun, that pleyn delyt
Was verrailly felicitie parfyt. (340)

An housholders, and that a greet, was he ;
Seint Julian he was in his contree. 340
His breed, his ale, was alwey after oon ;
A bettre envyned man was no-wher noon.
With-oute bake mete was never his hous,
Of fish and flesh, and that so plentevous,

It snewed in his hous of mete and
drinke, 345

Of alle deyntees that men coude thinke.
After the sondry seasons of the year, (349)
So chaunged he his mete and his soper.
Ful many a fat partrich hadde he in
mewe,

And many a breem and many a luce in stewe. 350

Wo was his cook, but-if his sauce were Poynaunt and sharp, and redy al his gerc.
His table dormant in his halle alwey
Stood redy covered al the longe day.

At sessionns ther was he lord and sire ; 355
Ful ofte tyme he was knight of the shire.
An anlas and a gipser al of silk (359)
Heng at his girdel, whyt as morne milk.

A shirreve hadde he been, and a countour ;
Was no-wher such a worthy vavasour. 360

AN HABERDASSHER and a CARPENTER, Haberdascher. Carpenter.

A WEBBE, a DYERE, and a TAPICER, Webbe. Dyere. Tapicer.

Were with us eek, clothed in o liverree,
Of a solempne and greet fraternitee. 364
Ful fresh and newe hir gere apyked was ;
Hir knyves were y-chaped noght with
bras,

But al with silver, wrought ful clene and
weel, (369)

Hir girdles and hir pouches every-deel.
Wel semed ech of hem a fair burgeys,
To sitten in a yeldhalle on a deys. 370
Everich, for-the wisdom that he can,
Was shaply for to been an alderman.

For catel hadde they y-nogh and rente,
And eek hir wyves wolde it wel assente ;
And elles certein were they to blame. 375
It is ful fair to been y-clept 'ma dame,'
And goon to vigilyes al bifore,
And have a mantel royalliche y-bore. (380)

A Cook they hadde with hem for the nones, Cook.

To boille the chiknes with the mary-
bones, 380

And poudre-marchant tart, and galingale.
Wel coude he knowe a draughte of London ale.

He coude roste, and sethe, and broille,
and frye,

Maken mortreux, and wel bake a pye.

But greet harm was it, as it thoughte
me, 385
That on his shine a mormal hadde he ;
For blankmanger, that made he with the
beste. (389)
A SHIPMAN was ther, woning fer by weste : Shipman.
For aught I woot, he was of Dartemouthe.
He rood up-on a rouncy, as he couthe, 390
In a gowne of falding to the knee.
A daggere hanging on a laas hadde he Aboute his nekke under his arm adoun.
The hote somer had maad his hewe al
broun ;
And, certainly, he was a good felawe. 395 Ful many a draughte of wyn had he y-drawe
From Burdeux-ward, whyl that the chapman sleep.
Of nyce conscience took he no keep. (400)
If that he faught, and hadde the hyer
hond,
By water he sente hem hoom to every
lond. 400
But of his craft to rekene wel his tydes,
His stremes and his daungers him bisydes,
His herberwe and his mone, his lodemenage,
Ther nas noon swich from Hulle to Cartage.
Hardy he was, and wys to undertake ; 405
With many a tempest hadde his berd been shake.
He knew wel alle the havenes, as they
were, (409)
From Gootlond to the cape of Finistere,
And every cryke in Britayne and in Spayne ; 409
His barge y-cleped was the Maudelayne.
With us ther was a Doctour of Phisike,
In al this world ne was ther noon him
lyk Doctour.
To speke of phisik and of surgerye ;
For he was grounded in astronomye.
He kepte his pacient a ful greet del 415
In houres, by his magik naturel.
Wel coude he fortunen the ascendent
Of his images for his pacient. (420)
He knew the cause of everich maladye,
Were it of hoot or cold, or moiste, or
drye, 420

And where engendred, and of what humour ;
He was a verrey parfit practisour.
The cause y-knowe, and of his harm the
rote,
Anon he yaf the seke man his bote.
Ful redy hadde he his apothecaries, 425
To sende him drogges and his letuaries,
For ech of ham made other for to
winne ;
Hir frendschipe nas nat newe to biginne.
Wel knew he th'olde Esculapius, (431)
And Deiscorides, and eek Rufus, 430
Old Ypocras, Haly, and Galien ;
Serapion, Raxis, and Avicen ;
Averrois, Damascien, and Constantyn ;
Bernard, and Gatesden, and Gilbertyn.
Of his diete mesurable was he, 435
For it was of no superfluitee,
But of greet norissing and digestible.
His studie was but litel on the bible. (440)
In sangwin and in pers he clad was al,
Lyned with taffata and with sendal ; 440
And yet he was but esy of dispence ;
He kepte that he wan in pestilence.
For gold in phisik is a cordial,
Therefore he lovede gold in special. 444
A good Wyf was ther of bisyde BATHE,
But she was som-del deaf, and that was scathe. Wyf of Bathe.
Of clooth-making she hadde swiche an haunt, (459)
She passed hem of Ypres and of Gaunt.
In al the parissh wyf ne was ther
noon
That to th' offering bfore hir sholde
goon ; 450
And if ther dide, certeyn, so wrooth was
she,
That she was out of alle charites.
Hir coverchiefs ful fyne were of ground ;
I dorste swere they weyeden ten pound
That on a Sunday were upon hir heed. 455
Hir hosen weren of fyn scarlet reed, Ful streite y-teyd, and shoos ful moiste
and newe.
Bold was hir face, and fair, and reed of
hewe. (460)
She was a worthy womman al hir lyve, Honsbondes at chirche-dore she hadde
fyve, 460

Withouten other companye in youthe ;
But therof nedeth nat to speke as nouth.
And thryes hadde she been at Jerusalem ;
She hadde passed many a straunge
stroom ; 464

At Rome she hadde been, and at Boloigne,
In Galice at saint Jame, and at Coloigne.
She coude muche of wandring by the
weye :

Gat-tothed was she, soothly for to seye.
Up-on an ambler esily she sat, (471)
Y-wimpled wel, and on hir heed an hat
As brood as is a bokeler or a targe ; 471
A foot-mantel aboute hir hipis large,
And on hir feet a paire of spores sharpe.
In felawship wel coude she laughe and carpe.

Of remedies of love she knew per-
chaunce, 475
For she coude of that art the olde daunce.

Persoun.

A good man was ther of religioun,
And was a povre PERSOUN of a toun ; (480)
But riche he was of holy thought and werk.
He was also a lerned man, a clerk, 480
That Cristes gospel trewely wolde preche ;
His parissheis devoutly wolde he teche.
Benigne he was, and wonder diligent,
And in adversitee ful pacient ;
And swich he was y-preved ofte sythes.

Ful looth were him to cursen for his tythes, 486
But rather wolde he yeven, out of doute,
Un-to his povre parissheis aboute (490)
Of his offering, and eek of his substaunce.
He coude in lital thing han suffisaunce.
Wyd was his parisshe, and houses fer
a-sonder, 491

But he ne lafte nat, for reyn ne thonder,
In siknes nor in meeschief, to visyte
The ferreste in his parisshe, muche and
lyte,

Up-on his feet, and in his hand a staf. 495
This noble ensample to his sheep he yaf,
That first he wroghte, and afterward he
taughte ;

Out of the gospel he tho wordes caughte ;
And this figure he added eek ther-to, (501)
That if gold ruste, what shal iren do ? 500
For if a preest be foul, on whom we truste,
No wonder is a lewed man to ruste ;

And shame it is, if a preest take keep,
A shiten shepherde and a clenre sheep.
Wel oghte a preest ensample for to yive,
By his clenness, how that his sheep
shold live. 506

He sette nat his benefice to hyre,
And leet his sheep encombred in the
myre, (510)

And ran to London, un-to seynt Poules,
To seken him a chaunterie for soules, 510
Or with a brethered to been withholde ;
But dwelte at hoom, and kepte wel his
folde,

So that the wolf ne made it nat miscarie ;
He was a shepherde and no mercenarie.
And though he holy were, and vertuous,
He was to sinful man nat despitous, 516
Ne of his speche daungerous ne digne,
But in his teching discreet and benigne.

To drawn folk to heven by fairnesse (521)
By good ensample, was his businesse : 520
But it were any persone obstinat,
What-so he were, of heigh or lowe estat,
Him wolde he snibben sharply for the
nones.

A bettre preest, I trowe that nowher
noon is.

He wayted after no pompe and reverence,
Ne maked him a spyced conscience, 526
But Cristes lore, and his apostles twelve,
He taughte, and first he folwed it him-
selve. (530)

With him ther was a FLOWMAN, was his brother, Flowman.
That hadde y-lad of dong ful many a fother, 530

A trewe swinker and a good was he,
Livings in pees and parfit charitee.
God loved he best with al his hole herte
At alle tymes, thogh him gamed or
smerte,

And thanne his neighebour right as him-
selve. 535
He wolde thresshe, and ther-to dyke and delve,

For Cristes sake, for every povre wight,
Withouten hyre, if it lay in his might.
His tythes payed he ful faire and wel, (541)
Bothe of his propre swink and his catel.
In a tabard he rood upon a mere. 541
Ther was also a Reve and a Millere,

A Somnour and a Pardoner also,
A Maunciple, and my-self; ther were nomo.

The MILLER was a stout carl, for the nones, Miller.
Ful big he was of braun, and eek of
bones; 546

That proved wel, for over-al ther he cam,
At wrastling he wolde have alwey the ram. (550)

He was short-sholdred, brood, a thikke
knarre,
Ther nas no dore that he nolde heve of harre, 550

Or breke it, at a renning, with his heed.
His berd as any gowe or fox was reed,
And ther-to brood, as though it were a spade.

Up-on the cop right of his nose he hade
A werte, and ther-on stood a tuft of heres,
Reed as the bristles of a-sowes eres; 556
His nose-thirles blake were and wyde.

A sword and bokeler bar he by his syde;
His mouth as greet was as a greet forneys.
He was a jangler and a goliardeys, 560
And that was most of sinne and harlotryes. (563)

Wel coude he stelen corn, and tollen
thryes;
And yet he hadde a thombe of gold,
pardee.

A whyt cote and a blew hood wered he.
A baggepype wel coude he blowe and sowne, 565
And ther-with-al he broghte us out of towne. Maunciple.

A gentil MAUNCIPLE was ther of a temple,
Of which achatours mighte take exemple
For to be wyse in bying of vitaille (571)
For whether that he payde, or took by taille, 570

Algate he wayted so in his achat,
That he was ay biforn and in good stat.
Now is nat that of God a ful fair grace,
That swich a lewed mannes wit shal pace
The wisdom of an heep of lerned men? 575
Of maistres hadde he mo than thryes ten,

That were of lawe expert and curious;
Of which ther were a doseyn in that
hous

Worthy to been stiwardes of rente and
lond (581)

Of any lord that is in Engelond, 580
To make him live by his propre good,
In honour dettelees, but he were wood,
Or live as scarily as him list desire;
And able for to helpen al a shire
In any cas that mighte falle or happe; 585
And yit this maunciple sette hir aller cappe. Reve.

The REVE was a sclendre colerik man,
His berd was shave as ny as ever he
can. (590)

His heer was by his eres round y-shorn.
His top was dokked lyk a preest biforn.
Ful longe were his legges, and ful lene,
Y-lyk a staf, ther was no calf y-sene.
Wel coude he kepe a gerner and a binne;
Ther was noon auditour coude on him
winne.

Wel wiste he, by the droghte, and by the
reyn, 595
The yelding of his seed, and of his greyn.

His lordes sheep, his neet, his dayerye,
His swyn, his hors, his stoor, and his pultrye, (600)
Was hoolly in this reves governing, 599
And by his covenannt yaf the rekenyng,
Sin that his lord was twenty yeer of age;
Ther coude no man bringe him in arrerage.

Ther nas baillif, ne harde, ne other hyne,
That he ne knew his sleighte and his covyne; 604

They were adrad of him, as of the deeth.
His wonyng was ful fair up-on an heeth,
With grene trees shadwed was his place.
He coude bettre than his lord purchace.
Ful riche he was astored prively, (611)
His lord wel coude he plesen subtilly, 610
To yeve and lene him of his owne good,
And have a thank, and yet a cote and
hood.

In youthe he lerned hadde a good mister;
He was a wel good wrighte, a carpenter.
This reve sat up-on a ful good stot, 615
That was al pomely grey, and highte Scot.

A long surcote of pers up-on he hade,
And by his syde he bar a rusty blade. (620)

Of Northfolk was this reve, of which I
telle, 619

Biwyde a toun men clepen Baldeswelle.
Tukked he was, as is a frere, aboute,
And ever he rood the hindreste of our
route.

A Somnour was ther with us in that place, Somnour.

That hadde a fyr-reed cherubynnes face,
For sawcefeem he was, with eyen narwe.
As hoot he was, and lecherous, as a sparwe; 626

With scalled browes blake, and piled berd;
Of his visage children were aferd. (630)
Ther nas quik-silver, litarge, ne brimston,

Boras, ceruce, ne oille of tartre noon, 630 Ne oynement that wolde clense and
byte,

That him mighte helpen of his whelkes
whyte,

Nor of the knobbes sittinge on his chekes.
Wel loved he garleek, oynons, and eek
lekes,

And for to drinken strong wyn, reed as
blood. 635

Than wolde he speke, and crye as he were wood.

And whan that he wel dronken hadde the
wyn, (639)

Than wolde he speke no word but Latyn.
A fewe termes hadde he, two or three,

That he had lerned out of som decree; 640
No wonder is, he herde it al the day;

And eek ye knowen wel, how that a jay Can clepen 'Watte,' as well as can the pope.

But who-so coude in other thing him
grop, 644

Thanne hadde hespent al his philosophye;
Ay 'Questio quid iuris' wolde he crye.

He was a gentil harlot and a kinde; (649)
A better felawe sholde men nocht finde.

He wolde suffre, for a quart of wyn,
A good felawe to have his concubyn 650

A twelf-month, and excuse him atte fulle:
Ful prively a finch eek coude he pulle.

And if he fond o-wher a good felawe,
He wolde techen him to have non awe,

In swich cas, of the archedeeknes curs, 655
But-if a mannes soule were in his purs;

For in his purs he sholde y-punished be.
'Purs is the archedeeknes halle,' seyde
he. (660)

But wel I woot he lyed right in dede;
Of cursing oghte ech gilty man him
drede— 660

For curs wol slee, right as assoulling saveth—

And also war him of a significavit.
In daunger hadde he at his owne gyse

The yonge girles of the diocyse,
And knew hir counsell, and was al hir

reed. 665
A gerland hadde he set up-on his heed,
As greet as it were for an ale-stake;

A bokeler hadde he-maad him of a cake.
With him ther rood a gentil PARDONER

Of Rouncival, his freend and his compeer,
That streight was comen fro the court of Rome. Pardonere.

Ful loude he song, 'Com hider, love, to
me.' (670) 672

This somnour bar to him a stif burdoun,
Was never trompe of half so greet a soun.

This pardonere hadde heer as yelow as wex, 675

But smothe it heng, as dooth a strike of flex;

By ounces henge his lokkes that he hadde,
And ther-with he his shuldres over-
spradde; (680)

But thinne it lay, by colpons oon and
oon;

But hood, for jolitee, ne wered he noon,
For it was trussed up in his walet. 681

Him thoughte, he rood al of the newe jet;
Dischevele, save his cappe, he rood al
bare.

Swiche glaringe eyen hadde he as an hare.

A vernicle hadde he sowed on his cappe.
His walet lay biforn him in his lappe, 686

Bret-ful of pardoun come from Rome al
hoot. (689)

A voys he hadde as smal as hath a goot.
No berd hadde he, ne never sholde have,

As smothe it was as it were late y-shave;
I trowe he were a gelding or a mare. 691

But of his craft, fro Berwik into Ware,
Ne was ther swich another pardonere.

For in his male he hadde a pilwe-beer,

Which that, he seyde, was our lady
veyl ; 695

He seyde, he hadde a gobet of the seyl
That seynt Peter hadde, whan that he
wente (699)

Up-on the see, til Jesu Crist him hente.
He hadde a croys of latoun, ful of stones,
And in a glas he hadde pigges bones. 700
But with these reliques, whan that he
fond

A povre person dwelling up-on lond,
Up-on a day he gat him more moneye
Than that the person gat in monthes
tweye.

And thus, with feyned flaterye and japes,
He made the person and the peple his apes. 706

But trewely to tellen, atte laste, (709)
He was in chirche a noble ecclesiaste.

Wel coude he rede a lessoun or a storie,
But alderbest he song an offertorie ; 710
For wel he wiste, whan that song was
songe,

He moste preche, and wel affyle his
tonge,

To winne silver, as he ful wel coude ;
Therefore he song so meriely and loude.

Now have I told yon shortly, in a clause, Th'estat, th'array, the nombre, and seek the cause 716

Why that assembled was this companye
In Southwerk, at this gentil hostelrye,
That highte the Tabard, faste by the Bella. (721)

But now is tyme to yow for to telle 720
How that we baren us that ilke night,
Whan we were in that hostelrye alight.

And after wol I telle of our viage,
And al the remenaunt of our pilgrimage.

But first I pray yow, of your curteisye, 725
That ye n'arste it nat my vileinye, Thogh that I pleynly speke in this
matere, (729)

To telle yow hir wordes and hir chere ;
Ne thogh I speke hir wordes properly.

For this ye knowen al-so wel as I, 730
Who-so shal telle a tale after a man,
He moot reherce, as ny as ever he can,

Everich a word, if it be in his charge,
Al speke he never so rudeliche and
large ;

Or elles he moot telle his tale untrewe, 735
Or feyne thing, or finde wordes newe.

He may nat spare, al-though he were his
brother ; (739)

He moot as wel seye o word as another.
Crist spak him-self ful brode in holy writ,

And wel ye woot, no vileinye is it. 740
Eek Plato seith, who-so that can him
rede,

The wordes mote be cosin to the dede.
Also I pray yow to foryeve it me,
Al have I nat set folk in hir degree
Here in this tale, as that they sholde
stonde ; 745

My wit is short, ye may wel understonde.
Greet chere made our hostes us everichon,

And to the soper sette us anon ; (750)
And served us with vitaille at the beste.
Strong was the wyn, and wel to drinke us leste. 750

A semely man our hoste was with-alle
For to han been a marshal in a halle ;

A large man he was with eyen stepe,
A fairer burgeys is ther noon in Chepe :
Bold of his speche, and wys, and wel
y-taught, 755

And of manhod him lakkede right naught.
Eek therto he was right a mery man,
And after soper pleyen he bigan, (760)

And spak of mirthe amonges othere
thinges,

Whan that we hadde maad our reken-
inges ; 760

Andseyde thus : ' Now, lordinges, trewely,
Ye been to me right welcome hertely :
For by my trouthe, if that I shal nat
lye,

I ne saugh this year so mery a companye
At ones in this herberwe as is now. 765
Fayn wolde I doon yow mirthe, wiste
I how.

And of a mirthe I am right now bithoght,
To doon yow ese, and it shal coste
nought. (770)

Ye goon to Caunterbury ; God yow
spede,

The blisful martir quyte yow your
mede. 770

And wel I woot, as ye goon by the weye,
Ye shapen yow to talen and to pleye ;

For trewely, confort ne mirthe is noon
 To ryde by the weye doumb as a stoon ;
 And therfore wol I maken yow disport,
 As I seyde erst, and doon yow som con-
 fort. 776

And if yow lyketh alle, by oon assent,
 Now for to stonden at my jugement, (780)
 And for to werken as I shal yow seye,
 To-morwe, whan ye ryden by the weye,
 Now, by my fader soule, that is deed, 781
 But ye be merye, I wol yeve yow myn
 heed.

Hold up your hond, withouten more
 speche.'

Our counseil was nat longe for to
 seche;

Us thoughte it was nocht worth to make it wys, 785

And graunted him withouten more
 avys,

And bad him seye his verdit, as him
 leste.

'Lordinges,' quod he, 'now herkneth
 for the beste ; (790)

But tak it not, I prey yow, in desdeyn ;
 This is the poynt, to speken short and
 pleyn, 790

That ech of yow, to shorte with your
 weye,

In this viage, shal telle tales tweye,

To Caunterbury-ward, I mene it so,

And hom-ward he shal tellen othere
 two,

Of aventures that whylom han bifalle. 795
 And which of yow that bereth him best of alle,

That is to seyn, that telleth in this cas
 Tales of best sentence and most solas, (800)
 Shal have a soper at our aller cost

Here in this place, sitting by this post, Whan that we come agayn fro Caunter-bury. 801

And for to make yow the more mery,
 I wol my-selven gladly with yow ryde, Right at myn owne cost, and be your
 gyde.

And who-so wol my jugement withseye Shal paye al that we spenden by the
 weye. 806

And if ye vouche-sauf that it be so,
 Tel me anon, with-outen wordes mo, (810)

And I wol erly shape me therfore.'

This thing was graunted, and our othes
 swore 810

With ful glad herte, and preyden him
 also

That he wold vouche-sauf for to do so,
 And that he wolde been our governour,
 And of our tales juge and reportour,
 And sette a soper at a certeyn prys ; 815
 And we wold reuled been at his devys,
 In heigh and lowe ; and thus, by oon
 assent,

We been accorded to his jugement. (820)

And ther-up-on the wyn was fet anon ;

We dronken, and to reste wente echon ;

With-outen any lenger tarynge. 821

A-morwe, whan that day bigan to springe,

Up roos our host, and was our aller
 cok,

And gadrede us togidre, alle in a flok,

And forth we riden, a litel more than
 pas, 825

Un-to the watering of seint Thomas.

And there our host bigan his hors areste,

And seyde ; ' Lordinges, herkneth, if yow
 leste. (830)

Ye woot your forward, and I it yow re-
 corde.

If even-song and morwe-song acorde, 830

Lat see now who shal telle the firste
 tale.

As ever mote I drinke wyn or ale,

Who-so be rebel to my jugement

Shal paye for al that by the weye is spent.

Now draweth cut, er that we ferrer
 twinne ; 835

He which that hath the shortest shal
 biginne.

Sire knight,' quod he, ' my maister and my lord, (839)

Now draweth cut, for that is myn acord.

Cometh neer,' quod he, ' my lady prior-
 esse ;

And ye, sir clerk, lat be your shamfast-
 nesse, 840

Ne studieth nocht ; ley hond to, every
 man.'

Anon to drawnen every wight bigan,

And shortly for to tellen, as it was,
 Were it by aventure, or sort, or cas,

The sothe is this, the cut fil to the knight,
 Of which ful blythe and glad was every
 wight; 846
 And telle he moeste his tale, as was resoun,
 By forward and by composicioun, (850)
 As ye han herd; what nedeth wordes mo?
 And whan this gode man saugh it
 was so, 850
 As he that wys was and obedient
 To kepe his forward by his free assent,

He seyde: 'Sin I shal beginne the
 game,
 What, welcome be the cut, a Goddes
 name!
 Now lat us ryde, and herkneth what I
 seye.' 855
 And with that word we riden forth our
 weye; (858)
 And he bigan with right a mery chere
 His tale anon, and seyde in this manere.

Here endeth the prolog of this book; and here biginneth the first tale, which is the Knightes Tale.

THE KNIGHTES TALE.

Iamque domos patrias, Scythice post aspera gentis

Prelia, laurigero, &c.

[Statius, Theb. xii. 519.]

WYRLow, as olde stories tellen us,
 Ther was a duk that highte Theseus; 860
 Of Athenes he was lord and governour,
 And in his tyme swich a conquerour,
 That gretter was ther noon under the
 sonne.
 Ful many a riche contree hadde he
 wonne; 864
 What with his wisdom and his chivalrye,
 He conquered al the regne of Femenye,
 That whylom was y-cleped Scithia;
 And weddede the quene Ipolita, (10)
 And broghte hir hoom with him in his
 contree 869
 With muchel glorie and greet solempnitee,
 And eek hir yonge suster Emelye.
 And thus with victorie and with melodye

Lete I this noble duk to Athenes
 ryde,
 And al his hoost, in armes, him bisyde.
 And certes, if it nere to long to here, 875
 I wolde han told yow fully the manere,
 How wonnen was the regne of Femenye
 By Theseus, and by his chivalrye; (20)
 And of the grete bataille for the nones
 Bitwixen Athenes and Amazones; 880
 And how assaged was Ipolita,
 The faire hardy quene of Scithia;
 And of the feste that was at hir weddinge,
 And of the tempest at hir hoom-cominge;
 But al that thing I moot as now forbere.
 I have, God woot, a large feeld to ere, 886
 And wayke been the oxen in my plough.
 The remenant of the tale is long y-nough.

I wol nat letten eek noon of this route ;
 Lat every felawe telle his tale aboute, 890
 And lat see now who shal the soper
 winne ; (33)

And ther I lefte, I wol ageyn biginne.

This duk, of whom I make mencioum,
 When he was come almost unto the
 toun,

In al his wele and in his moste pryde, 895
 He was war, as he caste his eye asyde,
 Wher that ther kneled in the hye weye
 A compagne of ladies, tweye and tweye,
 Ech after other, clad in clothes blake ; (41)
 But swich a cry and swich a wo they
 make, 900

That in this world nis creature livinge,
 That herde swich another weymentinge ;
 And of this cry they nolde never stenten,
 Til they the reynes of his brydel henten.

'What folk ben ye, that at myn hoomcominge 905

Perturben so my feste with cryinge ?'
 Quod Theseus, 'have ye so greet envye
 Of myn honour, that thus compleyne and
 crye ? (50)

Or who hath yow misboden, or offended ?
 And telleth me if it may been amended ;
 And why that ye ben clothed thus in
 blak ?' 911

The eldest lady of hem alle spak,
 When she hadde swowned with a deedly
 chere,
 That it was routhe for to seen and here,
 And seyde : 'Lord, to whom Fortune hath given 915

Victorie, and as a conquerour to liven, Nocht greveth us your glorie and your
 honour ;

But we biseken mercy and socour. (60)
 Have mercy on our wo and our distresse.
 Som drope of pitee, thurgh thy gentil-
 esse, 920

Up-on us wrecched women lat thou falle.
 For certes, lord, ther nis noon of us alle,
 That she nath been a duchesse or a queene ;
 Now be we caitifs, as it is wel sene :
 Thanked be Fortune, and hir false wheel,
 That noon estat assureth to be weel. 926
 And certes, lord, t'abyden your presence,
 Here in the temple of the goddesse
 Clemence (70)

We han ben waytinge al this fourteenight ;
 Now help us, lord, sith it is in thy might.

I wrecche, which that wepe and waille
 thus, 931

Was whylom wyf to king Capaneus,
 That starf at Thebes, cursed be that day !
 And alle we, that been in this array,
 And maken al this lamentacioun, 935
 We losten alle our housbondes at that
 toun,

Why! that the sege ther-aboute lay.
 And yet now th'olde Creon, weylaway !
 The lord is now of Thebes the citee, (81)
 Fulfild of ire and of iniquitee, 940

He, for despyt, and for his tyrannye,
 To do the dede bodyes vileinye,
 Of alle our lordes, which that ben slawe,
 Hath alle the bodyes on an heep y-drawe,
 And wol nat suffren hem, by noon assent,
 Neither to been y-buried nor y-brent, 946
 But maketh houndes ete hem in despyt.'
 And with that word, with-uten more respyt, (90)

They fillen gruf, and cryden pitously,
 'Have on us wrecched women som mercy, 950
 And lat our sorwe sinken in thyn herte.'

This gentil duk down from his courser
 sterte
 With herte pitous, whan he herde hem
 speke.

Him thoughte that his herte wolde breke, Whan he saugh hem so pitous and so
 mat, 955

That whylom weren of so greet estat.
 And in his armes he hem alle up hente,
 And hem comforteth in ful good entente ;
 And swoor his ooth, as he was trewe
 knight, (101)

He wolde doon so ferforthly his might 960
 Up-on the tyraunt Creon hem to wreke,
 That al the peple of Grece sholde speke
 How Creon was of Theseus y-served,
 As he that hadde his deeth ful wel de-
 served. 964

And right anon, with-uten more abood,
 His baner he displayeth, and forth rood
 To Thebes-ward, and al his host bysye ;
 No neer Athenes wolde he go ne ryde,
 Ne take his ese fully half a day, (111)
 But onward on his wey that night he lay ;

And sente anon Ipolita the quene, 971
 And Emelye hir yonge suster shene,
 Un-to the town of Athenes to dwelle;
 And forth he rit; ther nis namore to
 telle.

The rede statue of Mars, with spere
 and targe, 975

So shyneth in his whyte baner large,
 That alle the feeldes glitern up and down;
 And by his baner born is his penoun (120)
 Of gold ful riche, in which ther was y-bete

The Minotaur, which that he slough in Crete. 980

Thus rit this duk, thus rit this conquerour,
 And in his host of chivalrye the flour,
 Til that he cam to Thebes, and alighte
 Faire in a feeld, ther as he thoghte fighte.
 But shortly for to spoken of this thing, 985
 With Creon, which that was of Thebes
 king,

He faught, and slough him manly as
 a knight

In pleyn bataille, and putte the folk to flight; (130)

And by assant he wan the citee after,
 And rente adoun bothe wal, and sparre,
 and rafter; 990

And to the ladyes he restored agayn
 The bones of hir housbondes that were
 slayn,

To doon obsequies, as was tho the gyse.
 But it were al to long for to devyse 994

The grete clamour and the waymentinge
 That the ladyes made at the brenninge
 Of the bodyes, and the grete honour

That Theseus, the noble conquerour, (140)
 Doth to the ladyes, whan they from him
 wente; 999

But shortly for to telle is myn entente.

Whan that this worthy duk, this Theseus,
 Hath Creon slayn, and wonne Thebes
 thus,

Stille in that feeld he took al night his
 reste,

And dide with al the contree as him
 leste. 1004

To ransake in the tas of bodyes dede,
 Hem for to strepe of harneys and of wede,
 The pilours diden businesse and cure,
 After the bataille and disconfiture. (150)

And so bifal, that in the tas they founde, Thurgh-girt with many a grevous bloody
 wounde, 1010

Two yonge knightes liggyn by and by,
 Bothe in oon armes, wrought ful richely,
 Of whiche two, Arcita hight that oon,
 And that other knight hight Palamon.

Nat fully quike, ne fully dede they were,
 But by hir cote-armures, and by hir gere,
 The heraudes knewe hem best in special,
 As they that weren of the blood royal (160)
 Of Thebes, and of sustren two y-born.

Out of the tas the pilours han hem torn,
 And han hem caried softe un-to the
 tente 1021

Of Theseus, and he ful sone hem sente
 To Athenes, to dwellen in prisoun
 Perpetually, he nolde no raunsoun.

And whan this worthy duk hath thus y-don, 1025

He took his host, and hoom he rood anon
 With laurer crowned as a conquerour;

And there he liveth, in joye and in
 honour, (170)

Terme of his lyf; what nedeth wordes
 mo?

And in a tour, in angwish and in wo, 1030
 Dwellen this Palamoun and eek Arcite,
 For evermore, ther may no gold hem
 quyte.

This passeth yeer by yeer, and day by
 day,

Til it fil ones, in a morwe of May,
 That Emelye, that fairer was to sene 1035
 Than is the lillie upon his stalke grene,
 And fressher than the May with floures
 newe— (179)

For with the rose colour stroof hir hewe,
 I noot which was the fairer of hem two—

Er it were day, as was hir wone to do,
 She was arisen, and al redy dight; 1041

For May wol have no slogardye a-night.
 The sesoun priketh every gentil herte,

And maketh him out of his sleep to sterte,
 And seith, 'Arys, and do thyn obser-vaunce.' (187) 1045

This maked Emelye have remembraunce
 To doon honour to May, and for to ryse.

Y-clothed was she fresh, for to devyse;
 Hir yelow heer was broyded in a tresse,

Bihinde hir bak, a yerde long, I gesse.

And in the gardin, at the sonne up-riste,
She walketh up and down, and as hir
liste

She gadereth floures, party whyte and
rede,

To make a sotil gerland for hir hede,
And as an angel hevenly she song. 1055
The grete tour, that was so thikke and
strong,

Which of the castel was the chief dongeoun, (199)

(Ther-as the knightes weren in prisoun,
Of whiche I tolde yow, and tellen shal)

Was evene joynant to the gardin-wal, 1060
Ther as this Emelye hadde hir pleyng.
Bright was the sonne, and cleer that morweninge,

And Palamon, this woful prisoner,
As was his wone, by leve of his gayler,
Was risen, and romed in a chambre on
heigh, 1065

In which he al the noble citee seigh,
And eek the gardin, ful of branches
grene, (209)

Ther-as this freshe Emelye the shene
Was in hir walk, and romed up and down. 1069

This sorweful prisoner, this Palamoun,
Goth in the chambre, roming to and fro,
And to him-self compleyning of his wo ;
That he was born, ful ofte he seyde, 'alas !'
And so bifel, by aventure or cas,

That thurgh a window, thikke of many a barre 1075

Of yran greet, and square as any sparre,
He caste his eye upon Emelya,
And ther-with-al he bleynte, and cryde
'a !' (220)

As though he stongen were un-to the
herte. 1079

And with that cry Arcite anon up-sterde,
And seyde, 'Cosin myn, what eyleth
thee,

That art so pale and deedly on to see ?
Why crydestow ? who hath thee doon
offence ?

For Goddes love, tak al in psience 1084
Our prisoun, for it may non other be ;
Fortune hath yeven us this adversitee.
Som wikke aspect or disposicioun
Of Saturne, by sum constellacioun, (230)

Hath yeven us this, al-though we hadde it sworn ;

So stode the heven whan that we were
born ; 1090

We moste endure it: this is the short and
pleyn.'

This Palamon answerde, and seyde
ageyn,

'Cosyn, for sothe, of this opinioun
Thou hast a veyn imaginacioun.

This prison caused me nat for to crye. 1095
But I was hurt right now thurgh-out
myn ys

In-to myn herte, that wol my bane be.
The fairnesse of that lady that I see (240)

Yond in the gardin romen to and fro,
Is cause of al my crying and my wo. 1100

I noot wher she be womman or goddesse ;
But Venus is it, soothly, as I gesse.'

And ther-with-al on knees down he flil,
And seyde : 'Venus, if it be thy wil

Yow in this gardin thus to transfigure 1105
Bifore me, sorweful wrecche creature,

Out of this prisoun help that we may scapan.

And if so be my destinee be shapen (250)
By eterne word to dyen in prisoun,

Of our linage have som compassioun, 1110
That is so lowe y-brought by tirannye.'

And with that word Arcite gan espye
Wher-as this lady romed to and fro.

And with that sighte hir beautee hurte
him so, 1114

That, if that Palamon was wounded sore,
Arcite is hurt as muche as he, or more.

And with a sigh he seyde pitonaly : (259)
'The freshe beautee sleeth me sodeynly

Of hir that rometh in the yonder place ;
And, but I have hir mercy and hir grace,

That I may seen hir atte leeste weye, 1121
I nam but deed ; ther nis namore to seye.'

This Palamon, whan he tho wordes
herde,

Dispitously he loked, and answerde :
'Whether seistow this in earnest or in pley ?' 1125

'Nay,' quod Arcite, 'in earnest, by my
fey !

God help me so, me list ful yvele pleye.'
This Palamon gan knitte his browes
tweye : (270)

'It nere,' quod he, 'to thee no greet honour

For to be fals, ne for to be traytoure 1130
To me, that am thy cosin and thy brother
Y-sworn ful depe, and ech of us til other,
That never, for to dyan in the peyne,
Til that the deeth departe shal us tweyne,
Neither of us in love to hindren other, 1135
Ne in non other cas, my leve brother ;
But that thou sholdest trewely forthren me
In every cas, and I shal forthren thee. (280)
This was thyn ooth, and myn also, certeyn ;
I wot right wel, thou darst it nat withseyn.
Thus artow of my counseil, out of doute.
And now thou woldest falsly been aboute
To love my lady, whom I love and serve,
And ever shal, til that myn herte starve.
Now certes, fals Aroite, thou shalt nat so.
I loved hir first, and tolde thee my wo 1146
As to my counseil, and my brother sworn
To forthre me, as I have told biforn. (290)
For which thou art y-bounden as a knight
To helpen me, if it lay in thy might, 1150
Or elles artow fals, I dar wel seyn.'

This Arcite's ful proudly spak ageyn,
'Thou shalt,' quod he, 'be rather fals
than I ;

But thou art fals, I telle thee utterly ;
For par amour I loved hir first er thow. 1155
What wilow seyn ? thou wistest nat yet
now

Whether she be a womman or goddeesse !
Thyn is affeccioun of holinesse, (300)
And myn is love, as to a creature ;
For which I tolde thee myn aventure 1160
As to my cosin, and my brother sworn.
I pose, that thou lovedest hir biforn ;
Wostow nat wel the olde clerkes sawe,
That " who shal yeve a lover any lawe ? "
Love is a gretter lawe, by my pan, 1165
Than may be yeve to any erthly man.
And therefore positif lawe and swich decree

Is broke al-day for love, in ech degree. (310)
A man moot nedes love, maugres his heed.
He may nat fleen it, though he sholde be
deed, 1170

Al be she mayde, or widwe, or elles wyf.
And eek it is nat lykly, al thy lyf,
To stonden in hir grace ; namore shal I ;
For wel thou woost thy-selven, verraily,

That thou and I be dampned to prisoun
Perpetnelly ; us gayneth no raunsoun.

We stryve as dide the houndes for the boon, 1177

They foughte al day, and yet hir part was
noon ; (320)

Ther cam a kyte, whyl that they were
wrothe,

And bar away the boon bitwixe hem
bothe. 1180

And therfore, at the kinges court, my
brother,

Ech man for him-self, ther is non other.
Love if thee list ; for I love and ay shal ;
And soothly, love brother, this is al.

Here in this prisoun mote we endure, 1185
And everich of us take his aventure.'

Greet was the stryf and long bitwixe
hem tweye,

If that I hadde leyser for to seye ; (330)
But to th'effect. It happed on a day,

(To telle it yow as shortly as I may) 1190
A worthy duk that highte Perotheus,

That felawe was un-to duk Theseus Sin thilke day that they were children
lyte,

Was come to Athenes, his felawe to visyte,
And for to pleye, as he was wont to do,

For in this world he loved no man so : 1196
And he loved him as tendrely ageyn.

So wel they loved, as olde bokes seyn, (340)
That when that oon was deed, sothly to
talle,

His felawe wente and soghte him down in
helle ; 1200

But of that story list me nat to wryte.
Duk Perotheus loved wel Aroite,

And hadde him knowe at Thebes yeer by
yere ;

And fynally, at requeste and prayere 1204
Of Perotheus, with-oute any raunsoun,

Duk Theseus him leet out of prisoun,
Freely to goon, wher that him liste over-al,

In swich a gyse, as I you tellen shal. (350)
This was the forward, pleynly for t'en-dyte,

Bitwixen Theseus and him Arcite : 1210
That if so were, that Aroite were y-founde

Ever in his lyf, by day or night or stounde
In any contree of this Theseus,

And he were caught, it was acorded thus,

That with a sword he sholde lese his
heed; 1215

Ther nas non other remedye ne reed,
But taketh his leve, and homward he him
spedde; (359)

Let him be war, his nekke lyth to wedde!
How greet a sorwe suffreth now Arcite!
The deeth he feleth thurgh his herte
smyte; 1220

He wepeth, wayleth, cryeth pitouly;
To sleen him-self he wayteth prively.
He seyde, 'Allas that day that I was born!
Now is my prison worse than biforn;
Now is me shape eternally to dwelle 1225
Noght in purgatorie, but in helle.

Allas! that ever knew I Perotheus!
For elles hadde I dwelled with Theseus
Y-fetered in his prison ever-mo. (371)
Than hadde I been in blisse, and nat in wo.
Only the sighte of hir, whom that I serve,
Though that I never hir grace may deserve,
Wolde han sufficed right y-nough for me.
O dere cosin Palamon,' quod he,

'Thyn is the victorie of this aventure, 1235
Ful blisfully in prison maistow dure;
In prison? certes nay, but in paradys!
Wel hath fortune y-turned thee the dys,
That hast the sighte of hir, and I th'ab-
sence. (381) 1239

For possible is, sin thou hast hir presence,
And art a knight, a worthy and an able,
That by som cas, sin fortune is change-
able,

Thou mayst to thy desyr som-tyme atteyne.
But I, that am exyled, and bareyne
Of alle grace, and in so greet despeir, 1245
That ther nis erthe, water, fyr, ne eir,
Ne creature, that of hem makid is,
That may me helpe or doon confort in this:
Wel oughte I sterve in wanhope and dis-
tresse; (391)

Farwel my lyf, my lust, and my gladnesse!
Allas, why playnen folk so in commune
Of purveyaunce of God, or of fortune,
That yeveth hem ful ofte in many a gyse
Wel bettre than they can hem-self devyse?
Som man desyreth for to han richesse, 1255
That cause is of his mordre or greet sik-
nesse.

And som man wolde out of his prison fayn,
That in his hous is of his meynce slayn.

Infinite harmes been in this matere; (401)
We witen nat what thing we preyen here.
We faren as he that dronke is as a mous; 1261

A dronke man wot wel he hath an hous,
But he noot which the righte wey is thider;
And to a dronke man the way is alider.
And certes, in this world so faren we;
We seken faste after felicittee, 1266
But we goon wrong ful often, trewely.
Thus may weseyen alle, and namely I, (410)
That wende and hadde a greet opinioun,
That, if I mighte escapen from prisonn,
Than hadde I been in joye and perfit
hela, 1271

Ther now I am exyled fro my wela.
Sin that I may nat seen yow, Emelye,
I nam but deed; ther nis no remedye.'
Up-on that other syde Palamon, 1275
Whan that he wiste Arcite was agon, Swich sorwe he maketh, that the grete
tour

Resouneth of his youling and clamour.
The pure fettres on his shynes grete (421)
Weren of his bitter salte teres wete. 1280
'Allas!' quod he, 'Arcite, cosin myn,
Of al our stryf, God woot, the fruyt is thyn.
Thow walkest now in Thebes at thy large,
And of my wo thou yevest lital charge.
Thou mayst, sin thou hast wisdom and manhede, 1285

Assemblen alle the folk of our kinrede,
And make a werre so sharp on this citee,
That by som aventure, or som trettee,
Thou mayst have hir to lady and to wyf,
For whom that I mot nedes lese my lyf.
For, as by wey of possibilitee, (433) 1291
Sith thou art at thy large, of prison free,
And art a lord, greet is thyn avauntage,
More than is myn, that sterve here in a cage. 1294

For I mot wepe and wayle, whyl I live,
With al the wo that prison may me yive,
And eek with payne that love me yiveth
also, (439)
That doubleth al my torment and my wo.'
Ther-with the fyr of jelousye up-sterete
With-inne his brest, and hente him by
the herte 1300

So woody, that he lyk was to biholde
The box-tree, or the asshen dede and colde.

The seyde he; 'O cruel goddes, that governe

This world with binding of your word eterne,

And wryten in the table of athamaunt 1305
Your parlement, and your eterne graunt,
What is mankinde more un-to yow holde
Than is the sheep, that rouketh in the
folde? (450)

For slayn is man right as another beste,
And dwelleth eek in prison and areste,
And hath siknesse, and greet adversitee,
And ofte tymes giltelees, pardee! 1312

What governaunce is in this prescience,
That giltelees tormenteth innocence?
And yet encreaseth this al my penaunce,
That man is bounden to his observaunce,
For Goddes sake, to letten of his wills,
Ther as a beest may al his lust fulfillle. (460)
And whan a beest is deed, he hath no
peyne;

But man after his deeth moot wepe and
pleyne, 1320

Though in this world he have care and wo:
With-outen doute it may stonden so.
Th' answeere of this I lete to divynis,
But wel I woot, that in this world gret pyne is.

Allas! I see a serpent or a theef, 1325
That many a trewe man hath doon mes-
cheef,

Goon at his large, and wher him list may
turne. (469)

But I mot been in prison thurgh Saturne,
And eek thurgh Juno, jealous and eek wood,
That hath destroyed wel ny al the blood
Of Thebes, with his waste walles wyde.
And Venus sleeth me on that other syde
For jealousye, and fere of him Arcite.'

Now wol I stinte of Palamon a lyte,
And lete him in his prison stille dwelle,
And of Arcite forth I wol yow telle. 1336

The somer passeth, and the nightes
longe (479)

Encreesen double wyse the peynes stronge
Bothe of the lovere and the prisoner.

I noot which hath the wofullere mester.
For shortly for to seyn, this Palamoun
Perpetuelly is dampned to prison, 1342
In cheynes and in fetteres to ben deed;
And Arcite is exyled upon his heed

For ever-mo as out of that contree, 1345
Ne never-mo he shal his lady see.

Yow lovers axe I now this questioun,
Who hath the worse, Arcite or Palamoun?
That oon may seen his lady day by day,
But in prison he moot dwelle alway. 1350
That other wher him list may ryde or go,
But seen his lady shal he never-mo. (494)
Now demeth as yow liste, ye that can,
For I wol telle forth as I bigan.

Explicit prima Pars.

Sequitur pars secunda.

Whan that Arcite to Thebes comen was,
Ful ofte a day he swele and seyde 'allas,'
For seen his lady shal he never-mo. 1357
And shortly to concluden al his wo, (500)
So muche sorwe had never creature
That is, or shal, whyl that the world may
dure. 1360

His sleep, his mete, his drink is him biraft,
That lene he wex, and drye as is a shaft.
His eyen holwe, and grisly to biholde;
His hewe falwe, and pale as asshen colde,
And solitarie he was, and ever allone, 1365
And wailling al the night, making his
mone.

And if he herde song or instrument,
Then wolde he wepe, he mighte nat be stent; (510)

So feble eek were his spirits, and so
lowe, 1369

And chaunged so, that no man coude knowe
His speche nor his vois, though men it
herde.

And in his gere, for al the world he ferde
Nat oonly lyk the lovers maladye
Of Hereos, but rather lyk manye
Engendred of humour malencolyk, 1375
Biforen, in his celle fantastyk.

And shortly, turned was al up-so-doun
Bothe habit and eek disposicioun (520)
Of him, this woful lovere daun Arcite.

What sholde I al-day of his wo endyte?
Whan he endured hadde a yeer or two
This cruel torment, and this peyne and wo,
At Thebes, in his contree, as I seyde,
Up-on a night, in sleep as he him leyde,
Him thoughts how that the winged god
Mercurie 1385

Biforn him stood, and bad him to be murye.

His slepy yerde in hond he bar uprighte ;
 An hat he werede up-on his heres brighte.
 Arrayed was this god (as he took keep)
 As he was whan that Argus took his sleep ;
 And seyde him thus : ' T' Athénés shalton
 wende ; (533) 1391

Ther is thee shapen of thy wo an ende.
 And with that word Arcite wook and sterte.
 ' Now trowely, how sore that me smerte,
 Quod he, ' t' Athénés right now wol I fare ;
 Ne for the drede of deeth shal I nat spare
 To see my lady, that I love and serve ;
 In hir presence I recche nat to sterve. ' (540)

And with that word he caughte a greet mirour, 1399

And saugh that changed was al his colour,
 And saugh his visage al in another kinde.
 And right anon it ran him in his minde,
 That, sith his face was so disfigured
 Of maladye, the which he hadde endured,
 He mighte wel, if that he bar him lowe,
 Live in Athénés ever-more unknowe, 1406
 And seen his lady wel ny day by day.

And right anon he chaunged his array,
 And cladde him as a povre laborer, (551)
 And al allone, save only a squyer, 1410
 That knew his privetee and al his cas,
 Which was disgysed povrely, as he was,
 T' Athénés is he goon the nexte way.

And to the court he wente up-on a day,
 And at the gate he profreth his servyse,
 To drugge and drawe, what so men wol
 devyse. 1416

And shortly of this matere for te seyn,
 He fil in office with a chamberleyn, (560)
 The which that dwelling was with Emelye ;
 For he was wys, and coude soon aspye 1420
 Of every servaunt, which that serveth
 here.

Wel coude he hewen wode, and water bere,
 For he was yong and mighty for the nones,
 And ther-to he was strong and big of bones
 To doon that any wight can him devyse.
 A yeer or two he was in this servyse,
 Page of the chambre of Emelye the brighte ;
 And ' Philostrate ' he seide that he highte.
 But half so wel bilowed a man as he (571)
 Ne was ther never in court, of his degree ;
 He was so gentil of condicoun, 1431
 That thurghout al the court was his re-
 noun.

They seyden, that it were a charitee
 That Theseus wolde enhanncen his degree,
 And putten him in worshipful servyse,
 Ther as he mighte his vertu exercyse.
 And thus, with-inne a whyle, his name is spronge 1437

Bothe of his dedes, and his goode tonge,
 That Theseus hath taken him so neer (581)
 That of his chambre he made him a squyer,
 And yaf him gold to mayntene his degree ;
 And eek men broghte him out of his
 contree

From yeer to yeer, ful prively, his rente ;
 But honestly and slyly he it spente,
 That no man wondred how that he it
 hadde. 1445

And three yeer in this wyse his lyf he laddé,
 And bar him so in pees and eek in werre,
 Ther nas no man that Theseus hath derre.
 And in this blisse leté I now Arcite, (591)
 And speke I wol of Palamon a lyte. 1450

In derknesse and horrible and strong
 prisoun

This seven yeer hath seten Palamoun,
 Forpyned, what for wo and for distresse
 Who feleth double soor and hevynesse
 But Palamon ? that love destreyneyth so,
 That wood out of his wit he gooth for wo ;
 And eek therto he is a prisoner 1457

Perpetually, noght only for a year. (600)
 Who coude ryme in English proprely
 His martirdom ? for sothe, it am nat I ;
 Therefore I passe as lightly as I may.

It fel that in the seventhe year, in May,
 The thridde night, (as olde bokes seyn,
 That al this storie tallen more pleyn,)

Were it by aventure or destinee, 1465
 (As, whan a thing is shapen, it shal be.)
 That, sone after the midnight, Palamoun,
 By helping of a freend, brak his prisoun,

And fleeth the citee, faste as he may go ;
 For he had yive his gayler drinke so 1470
 Of a clarree, maad of a certeyn wyn, (613)
 With narcotikes and opie of Thebes fyn,

That al that night, thogh that men wolde
 him shake,

The gayler sleep, he mighte nat awake ;
 And thus he fleeth as faste as ever he
 may. 1475

The night was short, and faste by the day,

That nedes-cost he moste him-selven hyde,
And til a grove, faste ther beyde, (620)
With dredful foot than stalketh Pala-moun.

For shortly, this was his opinioun, 1480
That in that grove he wolde him hyde al
day,
And in the night than wolde he take his
way

To Thebes-ward, his freendes for to preye
On Theseus to helpe him to werreye;
And shortly, outhur he wolde lese his lyf,
Or winnen Emelye un-to his wyf; 1486
This is th'effect and his entente pleyn.

Now wol I torne un-to Arcite ageyn, (630)
That litel wiste how ny that was his
care,
Til that fortune had broght him in the
snare. 1490

The bisy larke, messenger of day,
Salueth in hir song the morwe gray;
And fyry Phebus ryseth up so brighte,
That al the orient laugheth of the lighte,
And with his stremes dryeth in the greves
The silver drops, hanging on the leves.
And Arcite, that is in the court royal
With Theseus, his squyer principal, (640)
Is risen, and loketh on the myrie day.
And, for to doon his observaunce to May,
Remembring on the poynt of his desyr,
He on a courser, starting as the fyr, 1502
Is riden in-to the feeldes, him to pleye,
Out of the court, were it a myle or tweye;
And to the grove, of which that I yow
tolde, 1505

By aventure, his way he gan to holde,
To maken him a garland of the greves,
Were it of wodebinde or hawethorn-leves,
And loude he song ageyn the sonne shene:
'May, with alle thy flouris and thy grene,
Wel-come be thou, faire freshe May, 1511
I hope that I som grene gete may.' (654)
And from his courser, with a lusty herte,
In-to the grove ful hastily he sterte,
And in a path he rometh up and down,
Ther-as, by aventure, this Palamoun 1516
Was in a bush, that no man mighte him
see,

For sore afered of his death was he. (660)
No-thing ne knew he that it was Arcite:
God wot he wolde have trowed it ful lyte.

But sooth is seyde, gon sithen many yeres,
That 'feild hath eyen, and the wode hath eres.' 1522

It is ful fair a man to bere him evene,
For al-day meteth men at unset stevene.
Ful litel woot Arcite of his felawe, 1525
That was so ny to herkennen al his sawe,
For in the bush he sitteth now ful stille.

Whan that Arcite had romed al his fille,
And songen al the roundel lustily, (671)
In-to a studie he fil sodeynly, 1530
As doon thise lovers in hir queynte geres,
Now in the croppe, now down in the breres,
Now up, now down, as boket in a wellle.
Right as the Friday, soothly for to telle,
Now it shyneth, now it reyneth faste, 1535
Right so can gery Venus overcaste
The hertes of hir folk; right as hir day
Is garful, right so chaungeth she array.
Selde is the Friday al the wyke y-lyke.

Whan that Arcite had songe, he gan to
syke, (682) 1540
And sette him down with-outen any more:
'Alas!' quod he, 'that day that I was bore!
How longe, Juno, thurgh thy crueltie,
Woltow werreyen Thebes the citee?
Allas! y-broght is to confusioun 1545
The blood royal of Cadme and Amphion;
Of Cadmus, which that was the firste
man (689)

That Thebes bulte, or first the toun bigan,
And of the citee first was crowned king,
Of his linage am I, and his of-spring 1550
By verrey lignie, as of the stok royal:
And now I am so caitif and so thral,
That he, that is my mortal enemy,
I serve him as his squyer povrely. 1554
And yet doth Juno me wel more shame,
For I dar nocht biknowe myn owne name;
But ther-as I was wont to highte Arcite,
Now highte I Philostrate, nocht worth a myte. (700)

Allas! thou falle Mars, allas! Juno, 1559
Thus hath your ire our kinrede al fordo,
Save only me, and wrecched Palamoun,
That Theseus martyreth in prisoun.
And over al this, to slean me utterly,
Love hath his fyry dard so brenningly
Y-stiked thurgh my trewe careful herte,
That shapen was my deeth erst than my
sherte. 1566

Ye sleen me with your eyen, Emelye;
Ye been the cause wherfor that I dye. (710)
Of al the remenant of myn other care
Ne sette I nat the mounsaunce of a tare,
So that I coude don aught to your ple-
saunce!' 1571

And with that word he fl down in a traunce

A longe tyme; and after he up-sterte.

This Palamoun, that thoughte that thurch his herte (716) 1574

He felte a cold sward sodeynliche glyde,
For ire he quook, no lenger wolde he byde.

And whan that he had herd Arcites tale,
As he were wood, with face deed and pale,
He sterte him up out of the buskes thikke,
And seyde: 'Arcite, false traitour wikke,
Now artow hent, that lovest my lady so,
For whom that I have al this peyne and
wo, 1582

And art my blood, and to my counsell
sworn,

As I ful ofte have told thee heer-biforn,
And hast by-japed here duk Theseus, 1585
And falsly chaunged hast thy name thus;
I wol be deed, or elles thou shalt dye.

Thou shalt nat love my lady Emelye, (730)
But I wol love hir only, and name;

For I am Palamoun, thy mortal fo. 1590
And though that I no wepne have in this
place,

But out of prison am astart by grace,
I drede noght that outhur thou shalt dye,
Or thou ne shalt nat loven Emelye.

Chees which thou wilt, for thou shalt nat
asterte.' 1595

This Arcite, with ful despitous herte, Whan he him knew, and hadde his tale
herd,

As fiers as leoun, pulled out a sward, (740)
And seyde thus: 'by God that sit above,

Nere it that thou art sik, and wood for love,
And eek that thou no wepne hast in this
place, 1601

Thou sholdest never out of this grove pace,
That thou ne sholdest dyen of myn hond.

For I defye the seurtee and the bond
Which that thou seyest that I have maad to thee. 1605

What, verray fool, think wel that love is
free, (748)

And I wol love hir, maugre al thy might!
But, for as muche thou art a worthy knight,
And wilnest to darreyne hir by batayle,
Have heer my trouthe, to-morwe I wol
nat fayle, 1610

With-uten witing of any other wight,
That here I wol be founden as a knight,
And bringen harneys right y-nough for
thee;

And chees the beste, and leve the worste
for me.

And mete and drinke this night wol I
bringe 1615

Y-nough for thee, and clothes for thy beddinge. (758)

And, if so be that thou my lady winne,
And slee me in this wode ther I am inne,
Thou mayst wel have thy lady, as for me.'
This Palamon answerde: 'I graunte it
thee.' 1620

And thus they been departed til a-morwe,
When ech of hem had leyd his feith to
borwe.

O Cupide, out of alle charitee!

O regne, that wolt no felawe have with
thee!

Ful sooth is seyde, that love ne lordshipe
Wol noght, his thankes, have no felaweshipe; 1626

Wel finden that Arcite and Palamoun.
Arcite is riden anon un-to the toun, (770)

And on the morwe, er it were dayes
light,

Ful prively two harneys hath he dight, 1630
Bothe suffisaunt and mete to darreyne

The bataille in the feeld bitwix hem
tweyne.

And on his hors, allone as he was born,
He carieth al this harneys him biforn;
And in the grove, at tyme and place y-set,
This Arcite and this Palamon ben met.

The chaungen gan the colour in hir face;
Right as the hunter in the regne of Trace,
That stondest at the gappe with a spere,
Whan hunted is the leoun or the bere,
And hereth him come rushing in the greves, (783) 1641

And breketh bothe bowes and the leves,
And thinketh, 'heer cometh my mortel enemy,

With-oute faille, he moot be deed, or I;

For outhir I mot sleen him at the gappe,
Or he mot sleen me, if that me mishappe :'
So ferden they, in chaunging of hir
hewe, 1647

As fer as everich of hem other knewe. (790)
Ther nas no good day, ne no saluing ;
But streight, with-ouren word or rehersing,
Everich of hem halp for to armen other,
As frendly as he were his owne brother ;
And after that, with sharpe speres stronge
They foynen ech at other wonder longe.
Thou mightest wene that this Palamoun
In his fighting were a wood leoun, 1656
And as a cruel tygre was Aroite :
As wilde bores gonne they to smyte, (800)
That frothen whyte as foom for ire
wood.

Up to the ancle foghte they in hir blood.
And in this wyse I lete hem fighting dwelle ;
And forth I wol of Theseus yow telle.

The destinee, ministre general,
That executeth in the world over-al
The purveyaunce, that God hath seyn
biforn, 1665
So strong it is, that, though the world had sworn

The contrarye of a thing, by ye or nay,
Yet somtyme it shal fallen on a day (810)
That falleth nat eft with-inne a thousand
yere.

For certainly, our appetytes here, 1670
Be it of werre, or pees, or hate, or love,
Al is this reuled by the sighte above.
This mene I now by mighty Theseus,
That for to honten is so desirous,
And namely at the grete hert in May, 1675
That in his bed ther daweth him no
day,

That he nis clad, and redy for to ryde
With hunte and horn, and houndes him
bisyde. (820)

For in his hunting hath he swich delyt,
That it is al his joye and appetyt 1680
To been him-self the grete hertes bane :
For after Mars he serveth now Diane.

Cleer was the day, as I have told er this,
And Theseus, with alle joye and blis,
With his Ipolita, the fayre quene, 1685
And Emelye, clothed al in grene,
On hunting be they riden royally.
And to the grove, that stood ful faste by,

In which ther was an hert, as men him
tolde, (831)

Duk Theseus the streighte wey hath
holde. 1690

And to the launde he rydeth him ful right,
For thider was the hert wont have his fight,

And over a brook, and so forth on his weye.
This duk wol han a cours at him, or tweye,
With houndes, swiche as that him list
comaunde. 1695

And whan this duk was come un-to the launde,

Under the sonne he loketh, and anon
He was war of Arcite and Palamon, (840)
That foughten breme, as it were bores two ;
The brighteswerdes wenten to and fro 1700
So hidously, that with the leeste strook
It seemed as it wolde felle an ook ;
But what they were, no-thing he ne woot.
This duk his courser with his spores
smoot,

And at a stert he was bitwix hem two, 1705
And pulled out a swerd and cryed, 'ho !'
Namore, up peyne of lesing of your heed.
Bymighty Mars, he shal anon be deed, (850)
That smyteth any strook, that I may see !
But telleth me what mister men ye been,
That been so hardy for to fighten here 1711
With-ouren juge or other officers,
As it were in a listes royally ?'

This Palamon answerde hastily
And seyde : 'sire, what nedeth wordes
mo ? 1715

We have the deeth deserved bothe two.

Two woful wrecches been we, two cay-tyves, (859)

That been encumbred of our owne lyves ;
And as thou art a rightful lord and juge,
Ne yeve us neither mercy ne refuge, 1720
But slee me first, for seynte charitee ;
But slee my felawe eek as wel as me.
Or slee him first ; for, though thou knowe
it lyte,

This is thy mortal fo, this is Arcite, 1724
That fro thy lond is banished on his heed,
For which he hath deserved to be deed.

For this is he that cam un-to thy gate,
And seyde, that he highte Philostrate. (870)
Thus hath he japed thee ful many a yeer,
And thou has makid him thy chiefsquyer :

And this is he that loveth Emelye. 1731
 For with the day is come that I shal dye,
 I make playnly my confessioun,
 That I am thilke woful Palamoun,
 That hath thy prison broken wikkedly.
 I am thy mortal fo, and it am I. 1736
 That loveth so hote Emelye the brighte,
 That I wol dye present in hir sighte. (880)
 Therefore I axe death and my jwysse;
 But alee my felawe in the same wyse, 1740
 For bothe han we deserved to be slayn.'

This worthy duk answerde anon agayn,
 And seyde, 'This is a short conclusioun:
 Youre owne mouth, by your confessioun,
 Hath dampned you, and I wol it recorde,
 It nedeth noght to pyne yow with the
 corde. 1746

Ye shul be deed, by mighty Mars the
 rede!'

The quene anon, for verray womman-
 hede, (890)

Gan for to wepe, and so dide Emelye,
 And alle the ladies in the companye. 1750
 Gret pitee was it, as it thoughte hem alle,
 That ever swich a chaunce sholde falle;
 For gentil men they were, of greet estat,
 And no-thing but for love was this debat;
 And sawe hir bloody woundes wyde and
 sore; 1755

And alle cryden, bothe lasse and more,
 'Have mercy, lord, up-on us womman
 alle!'

And on hir bare knees adoun they falle,
 And wolde have kist his feet ther-as he
 stood, (901)

Til at the laste aslaked was his mood; 1760
 For pitee renneth sone in gentil herte.

And though he first for ire nook and
 sterte,

He hath considered shortly, in a clause,
 The trespas of hem bothe, and eek the
 cause:

And al-though that his ire hir gilt
 accused, (907) 1765

Yet in his reson he hem bothe excused;
 As thus: he thoughte wel, that every man
 Wol helpe him-self in love, if that he can,
 And eek delivers him-self out of prisoun;
 And eek his herte had compassioun 1770
 Of wommen, for they wepen ever in oon;
 And in his gentil herte he thoughte anon,

And softe un-to himself he seyde: 'fy
 Up-on a lord that wol have no mercy,
 But been a leoun, bothe in word and
 dede, 1775
 To hem that been in repentaunce and
 drede

As wel as to a proud despitous man (919)
 That wol maynteyne that he first bigan!
 That lord hath litel of discrecioun,
 That in swich cas can no divisoun, 1780
 But weyeth pryde and humblease after
 oon.'

And shortly, whan his ire is thus agoon,
 He gan to loken up with eyen lighte,
 And spak thise same wordes al on
 highte:—

'The god of love, a! benedicite, 1785
 How mighty and how greet a lord is he!
 Ayeins his might ther gayneth none obstacles,

He may be cleped a god for his miracles;
 For he can maken at his owne gyse (931)
 Of everich herte, as that him list devyse.
 Lo heer, this Arcite and this Palamoun,
 That quilty weren out of my prisoun, 1792
 And mighte han lived in Thebes royally,
 And witen I am hir mortal enemy,
 And that hir deeth lyth in my might
 also; 1795

And yet hath love, maugree hir eyen two,
 Y-brought hem hider bothe for to dye!
 Now loketh, is nat that an heigh folye?
 Who may been a fool, but-if he love? (941)
 Bihold, for Goddes sake that sit above, 1800
 Se how they blede! be they noght wel arrayed?

Thus hath hir lord, the god of love,
 y-payed

Hir wages and hir fees for hir servyse!
 And yet they wenen for to been ful wyse
 That serven love, for aught that may bifalle! 1805

But this is yet the beste game of alle,
 That she, for whom they han this jolitee,
 Can hem ther-for as muche thank as me;
 She woot namore of al this hote fare, (951)
 By God, than woot a cokkow or an hare!
 But al mot been assayed, hoot and cold;
 A man mot been a fool, or yong or old;
 I woot it by my-self ful yore agoon: 1813
 For in my tyme a servant was I oon.

And therefore, sin I knowe of loves payne,
 And woot how sore it can a man distreyne,
 As he that hath ben caught ofte in his las,
 I yow foryeve al hoolly this trespas, (960)
 Atrequeste of the quene that kneleth here,
 And eek of Emelye, my suster dere. 1820
 And ye shul bothe anon un-to me swere,
 That never-mo ye shul my contree dere,
 Ne make werre up-on me night ne day,
 But been my freendes in al that ye may ;
 I yow foryeve this trespas every del.' 1825
 And thay him swore his axing fayre and
 wel,

And him of lordshipe and of mercypreyde,
 And he hem graunteth grace, and thus he
 seyde : (970)

'To speke of royal linage and richesse, Though that she were a quene or a prin-
 cesse, 1830

Ech of yow bothe is worthy, doutelees,
 To wedden whan tyme is, but nathelees
 I speke as for my suster Emelye,
 For whom ye have this stryf and jelousye;
 Ye woot your-self, she may not wedden two
 At ones, though ye fighten ever-mo : 1836
 That oon of yow, al be him looth or leef,
 He moot go pypen in an ivy-leef ; (980)
 This is to seyn, she may nat now han
 bothe,

Al be ye never so jelous, ne so wrothe. 1840
 And for-thy I yow putte in this degree,
 That ech of yow shal have his destinee
 As him is shape ; and herkneith in what
 wyse ;

Lo, heer your ende of that I shal devyse.

My wil is this, for plat conclusioun, 1845

With-uten any replicacioun,
 If that yow lyketh, tak it for the beste,
 That everich of yow shal gon wher him
 leste (990)

Frely, with-uten raunson or daunger ;
 And this day fifty wykes, fer ne ner, 1850
 Everich of yow shal bringe an hundred
 knightes,

Armed for listes up at alle rightes,
 Al redy to darreyne hir by bataille.
 And this bihote I yow, with-uten faille,
 Up-on my trouthe, and as I am a knight,
 That whether of yow bothe that hath
 might, (998) 1856

This is to seyn, that whether he or thou

May with his hundred, as I spak of now,
 Sleen his contrarie, or out of listes dryve,
 Him shal I yewe Emelya to wyve, 1860
 To whom that fortune yeveth so fair a
 grace.

The listes shal I maken in this place,
 And God so wisly on my soule rewte,
 As I shal even juge been and trewe. 1864
 Ye shul non other ende with me maken,
 That oon of yow ne shal be deed or taken.
 And if yow thinketh this is wel y-sayd,
 Seyeth your avys, and holdeth yow apayd.
 This is your ende and your conclusioun.'

Who loketh lightly now but Palamoun?
 Who springeth up for joye but Arcite? 1871
 Who couthe telle, or who couthe it endyte,
 The joye that is maken in the place
 Whan Theseus hath doon so fair a grace?
 But doun on knees wente every maner
 wight, 1875

And thanked him with al her herte and
 might,

And namely the Thebens ofte sythe.
 And thus with good hope and with herte
 blythe (1020)

They take hir leve, and hom-ward gonne
 they ryde

To Thebes, with his olde walles wyde. 1880

Explicit secunda pars.

Sequitur pars tercia.

I trowe men wolde deme it negligence,
 If I foryete to tellen the dispence
 Of Theseus, that goth so bisily
 To maken up the listes royally ;
 That swich a noble theatre as it was, 1885
 I dar wel seyn that in this world ther nas.

The circnit a myle was aboute, (1029)
 Walled of stoon, and diked al with-oute.
 Round was the shap, in maner of compas,
 Ful of degrees, the heighte of sixty pas, 1890
 That, whan a man was set on o degree,
 He letted nat his felawe for to see.

Est-ward ther stood a gate of marbel
 whyt,

West-ward, right swich another in the opposit. 1894

And shortly to concluden, swich a place
 Was noon in erthe, as in so litel space ;
 For in the lond ther nas no crafty man,
 That geometrie or ars-metrik can, (1040)

Ne purtreyour, ne kerver of images,
That Theseus ne yaf him mete and wages
The theatre for to maken and devyse. 1901
And for to doon his ryte and sacrificyse,
He est-ward hath, up-on the gate above,
In worship of Venus, goddessse of love,
Don make an auter and an oratorie; 1905
And west-ward, in the minde and in memorie

Of Mars, he maketh hath right swich
 another,

That coste largely of gold a fother. (1050)
And north-ward, in a touret on the wal,
Of alabastre whyt and reed coral 1910
An oratorie riche for to see,
In worship of Dyane of chastitee,
Hath Theseus don wrought in noble wyse.

But yet hadde I foryeten to devyse
The noble kerving, and the portreitures,
The shap, the countenance, and the figures, 1916
That weren in these oratories three.

First in the temple of Venus maystow
 see (1060)

Wrought on the wal, ful pitous to biholde,
The broken sleses, and the sykkes colde;
The sacred teres, and the waymenting;
The fyrr strokes of the desiring, 1922
That loves servaunts in this lyf enduren;
The othes, that hir covenants assuren;
Plessaunce and hope, desyr, fool-hardi-
 nesse, 1925

Beautee and youthe, bauderie, richesse,
Charmes and force, lesinges, flaterye,
Dispense, bisynesse, and jelousye, (1070)
That wered of yelwe golde a gorland,
And a cokkow sitting on hir hand; 1930
Festes, instruments, caroles, daunces, Lust and array, and alle the circumstaunces

Of love, whiche that I rekne and rekne
 shal,

By ordre weren peynted on the wal, 1934
And mo than I can make of mencion.
For soothly, al the mount of Citheroun,
Ther Venus hath hir principal dwelling,
Was shewed on the wal in portreyng,
With al the gardin, and the lustinesse.
Nat was foryeten the porter Ydelnesse,
Ne Narcisus the faire of yore agon, 1941
Ne yet the folye of king Salamon, (1084)

Ne yet the grete strengthe of Hercules—
Th'enchautements of Medea and Circes—
Ne of Turnus, with the hardy fiers corage,
The riche Cresus, caytif in servage. 1946
Thus may ye seen that wisdom ne
 richesse,

Beautee ne sleighte, strengthe, ne hardi-
 nesse, (1090)

Ne may with Venus holde champartye;
For as hir list the world than may she
 gve. 1950

Lo, alle these folk so caught were in hir las,

Til they for wo ful ofte seyde 'allas!'
Suffyceth heer ensamples oon or two,
And though I coude rekne a thousand mo.

The statue of Venus, glorious for to see,
Was naked fleting in the large see, 1956
And fro the navelle down all covered
 was

With wawes grene, and brighte as any glaa. (1100)

A citole in hir right hand hadde she,
And on hir heed, ful semely for to see, 1960
A rose gerland, fresh and wel smellinge;
Above hir heed hir dowves flikeringe.

Biforn hir stood hir some Cupido,
Up-on his shuldres winges hadde he two;
And blind he was, as it is ofte sene; 1965
And bowe he bar and arwes brighte and
 kene.

Why sholde I nocht, as wel eek telle
 yow al

The portreiture, that was up-on the wal
With-inne the temple of mighty Mars the
 rede? (1111)

Al peynted was the wal, in lengthe and
 brede, 1970

Lyk to the estres of the grisly place,
That highte the grete temple of Mars in Trace,

In thilke colde frosty regioun,
Ther-as Mars hath his sovereyn mansioun.

First on the wal was peynted a foreste,
In which ther dwelleth neither man ne
 beste, 1976

With knotty knarry bareyn trees olde
Of stubbes sharpe and hidous to biholde;
In which ther ran a rumbel and a swough,
As though a storm sholde bresten every bough: 1980

And downward from an hille, under a
bente, (1123) 1981
Ther stood the temple of Mars armi-potente,
Wrought al of burned steel, of which thentree
Was long and streit, and gastly for to see.
And ther-out cam a rage and such a vese,
That it made al the gates for to reese. 1986
The northren light in at the dores shoon,
For windowe on the wal ne was ther noon,
Thurgh which men mighten any light
discerne. (1131)
The dores were alle of adamant eterne,
Y-clenched overthwart and endelong 1991
With iren tough; and, for to make it
strong,
Every piler, the temple to sustene,
Was tonne-greet, of iren bright and shene.
Ther saugh I first the derke imagining
Of felonye, and al the compassing; 1996
The cruel ire, reed as any glede; (1139)
The pykepura, and eek the pale drede;
The smylr with the knyf under the cloke;
The shepne brenning with the blake smoke; 2000
The treson of the mordring in the bedde;
The open werre, with woundes al bi-
bledde;
Contek, with bloody knyf and sharp
manace;
Al ful of chirking was that sory place.
The sleere of him-self yet saugh I ther, 2005
His herte-blood hath bathed al his heer;
The nayl y-driven in the shode a-night;
The colde deeth, with mouth gaping ur-
right. (1150)
Amiddes of the temple sat meschaunce,
With disconfort and sory contenaunce.
Yet saugh I woodnesse laughing in his
rage; 2011
Armed compleint, out-hees, and fiers outrage.
The careyne in the bush, with throte
y-corve;
A thousand slayn, and nat of qualm
y-storve; 2014
The tiraunt, with the prey by force y-raft;
The toun destroyed, ther was no-thing left.
Yet saugh I brent the shippes hoppesteres;
The hunte strangled with the wilde beres:

The sowe freten the child right in the cradel; (1161)
The cook y-scalded, for al his longe ladel.
Noght was foryeten by th'infortune of Marte; 2021
The carter over-riden with his carte,
Under the wheel ful lowe he lay adoun.
Ther were also, of Martes divisoun,
The barbour, and the bocher, and the smith 2025
That forgeth sharpe swerdes on his stith.
And al above, depeynted in a tour, (1169)
Saw I conquest sittinge in greet honour,
With the sharpe swerde over his heed
Hanginge by a sotil twynes threed. 2030
Depeynted was the slaugthre of Julius,
Of grete Nero, and of Antonius;
Al be that thilke tyme they were unborn,
Yet was hir deeth depeynted ther-biforn,
By manasings of Mars, right by figure;
So was it shewed in that portreiture
As is depeynted in the sterres above, (1179)
Who shal be slayn or elles deed for love.
Suffyoeth oon ensample in stories olde,
I may not rekne hem alle, thogh I wolde.
The statue of Mars up-on a carte stood,
Armed, and loked grim as he were wood;
And over his heed ther shynen two figures
Of sterres, that been cleped in scriptures,
That oon Puella, that other Rubeus. 2045
This god of armes was arrayed thus:—
A wolf ther stood biforn him at his feet
With eyen rede, and of a man he eet; (1190)
With sotil pencil was depeynt this storie,
In redoutinge of Mars and of his gloria.
Now to the temple of Diane the obaste
As shortly as I can I wol me haste, 2052
To telle yow al the descripcioun.
Depeynted been the walles up and doun
Of hunting and of shamfast chastitee. 2055
Ther saugh I how woful Calistopee, (1198)
Whan that Diane agreved was with here,
Was turned from a womman til a bere,
And after was she maad the lode-sterre;
Thus was it peynt, I can say yow no
ferre; 2060
Hir sone is eek a sterre, as men may see.
Ther saugh I Dane, y-turned til a tree,
I mene nat the goddesse Diane,
But Penneus daughter, which that lighte
Dane. 2064

Ther saugh I Attheon an hert y-maked,
For vengeance that he saugh Diane al
naked;

I saugh how that his houndes have him
caught,
And freten him, for that they knewe him
naught. (1210)

Yet peynted was a lital forther-moor,
How Athalante hunted the wilde boor,
And Meleagre, and many another mo, 2071
For which Diane wroughte him care and wo.
Ther saugh I many another wonder storie,
The whiche me list nat drawn to
memorie. 2074

This goddessse on an hert ful hie seet,
With smale houndes al aboute hir feet;
And underne the hir feet she hadde a
mone, (1219)

Wexing it was, and sholde wanie sone.
In gaude grene hir statue clothed was,
With bowe in honde, and arwes in a cas.
Hir eyen caste she ful lowe adoun, 2081
Ther Pluto hath his derke region.
A woman travailing was hir biforn,
But, for hir child so longe was unborn,
Ful pitously Lucyna gan she calle, 2085
And seyde, 'help, for thou mayst best of
alle.'

Wel couthe he peynten lyfy that it
wroughte, (1229)

With many a florin he the hewes boghte.
Now been these listes maad, and Theseus,

That at his grete cost arrayed thus 2090
The temples and the theatre every del, Whan it was doon, him lyked wonder
wel.

But stinte I wol of Theseus a lyte,
And speke of Palamon and of Arcite.

The day approacheth of hir retourninge,
That everich sholde an hundred knightes
bringe, 2096

The bataille to darreyne, as I yow tolde;
And til Athènes, hir covenant for to holde, Hath everich of hem broght an hundred
knightes (1241)

Wel armed for the werre at alle rightes.
And sikerly, ther trowed many a man 2101
That never, sithen that the world bigan,
As for to speke of knightthod of hir hond,
As fer as God hath makid see or lond,

Nas, of so fewe, so noble a companye. 2105
For every wight that lovede chivalrye,
And wolde, his thankes, han a passant
name,

Hath preyed that he mighte ben of that
game; (1250)

And wel was him, that ther-to chosen was.
For if ther fille to-morwe swich a cas, 2110
Ye knowen wel, that every lusty knight,
That loveth paramours, and hath his
might,

Were it in Engelond, or elles-where,
They wolde, hir thankes, wilnen to be
there.

To fighte for a lady, ben'cite! 2115
It were a lusty sighte for to see.

And right so ferden they with Palamon.
With him ther wenten knightes many
oon; (1260)

Som wol ben armed in an habergoun,
In a brest-plat and in a light gipoun; 2120
And somme woln have a peyre plates
large;

And somme woln have a Puce shield, or a targe;

Somme woln ben armed on hir legges weel,
And have an ax, and somme a mace of steel. 2124

Ther nis no newe gyse, that it nas old.

Armed were they, as I have you told,
Everich after his opinioun.

Ther maistow seen coming with Pala-
moun (1270)

Ligurge him-self, the grete king of Trace; Blak was his berd, and manly was his
face.

The cercles of his eyen in his heed, 2131

They gloweden bitwixe yelow and reed.
And lyk a griffon loked he aboute,

With kempe heres on his browes stoute;
His limes grete, his braunes harde and
stronge, 2135

His shuldres brode, his armes rounde and
longe.

And as the gyse was in his contree,
Ful hie up-on a char of gold stood he,
With foure whyte boles in the trays. (1281)

In-stede of oote-armure over his harnays,
With nayles yelwe and brighte as any gold, 2141

He hadde a beres skin, col-blak, for-old.

His longe heer was kembd bihinde his bak,
As any ravenes fether it shoon for-blak :

A wrethe of gold arm-greet, of huge
wighte, 2145

Upon his heed, set ful of stones brighte,
Of fyne rubies and of dyamaunts.

Aboute his char ther wenten whyte
alaunts, (1290)

Twenty and mo, as grete as any steer,
To hunten at the leoun or the deer, 2150
And folwed him, with mosel faste
y-bounde,

Colers of gold, and torets fyled rounde.
An hundred lordes hadde he in his route Armed ful wel, with hertes sterne and stoute.

With Arcita, in stories as men finde, 2155
The grete Emetreus, the king of Inde,
Up-on a stede bay, trapped in steel,
Covered in cloth of gold disprad weel, (1300)
Cam ryding lyk the god of armes, Mars.
His cote-armure was of cloth of Tars, 2160
Couched with perles whyte and rounde
and grete.

His sadal was of brend gold newe y-bete ;
A mantelet upon his shuldre hanginge
Bret-ful of rubies rede, as fyr sparklinge.
His crisper heer lyk ringes was y-ronne, 2165
And that was yelow, and glitered as the
sonne.

His nose was heigh, his eyen bright citryn,
His lippes rounde, his colour was sangwyn,
A fewe fraknes in his face y-spreynd, (1311)
Betwixen yelow and somdel blak y-meynd,
And as a leoun he his loking caste. 2171

Of fyve and twenty yeer his age I caste.
His berd was wel bigonne for to springe ;
His voys was as a trompe thunderinge.

Up-on his heed he wered of laurer grene
A gerland fresh and lusty for to sene. 2176
Up-on his hand he bar, for his deduyt,
An egle tame, as eny lillie whyt. (1320)
An hundred lordes hadde he with him
there,

Al armed, sauf hir heddes, in al hir gere,
Ful richely in alle maner thinges. 2181
For trusteth wel, that dukes, erles, kinges,
Were gadered in this noble companye,
For love and for ancrees of chivalrye.
Aboute this king ther ran on every part
Ful many a tame leoun and lepart. 2186

And in this wyse thise lordes, alle and
some,

Ben on the Sunday to the citee come (1330)
Aboute pryme, and in the toun alight.

This Theseus, this duk, this worthy
knight, 2190

Whan he had broght hem in-to his citee,
And inned hem, everich in his degree,
He festeth hem, and dooth so greet labour
To esen hem, and doon hem al honour,
That yet men weneth that no mannes wit
Of noon estat ne coude amenden it. 2196

The ministralcye, the service at the feste,
The grete yiftes to the moste and leste,
The riche array of Theseus paleys, (1341)
Ne who sat first ne last up-on the deys,
What ladies fairest been or best daunsinge,
Or which of hem can dauncen best and
singe, 2202

Ne who most felingly speketh of love :
What haukes sitten on the perche above,
What houndes ligen on the floor adoun :
Of al this make I now no mencionn ; 2206
But al th'effect, that thinketh me the
beste ;

Now comth the poynt, and herkneth if yow leste. (1350)

The Sunday night, er day bigan to
springe,

When Palamon the larke herde singe, 2210
Although it nere nat day by houres two,
Yet song the larke, and Palamon also.
With holy herte, and with an heigh corage
He roos, to wenden on his pilgrimage
Un-to the blisful Citherea benigne, 2215
I mene Venus, honourable and digne.
And in hir houres he walketh forth a pas
Un-to the listes, ther hir temple was, (1360)
And doun he kneleth, and with humble
chere 2219

And herte soor, he seyde as ye shul here.

Faireste of faire, o lady myn, Venus,
Doughter to Jove and spouse of Vulcann,
Thou glader of the mount of Citheroun,
For thilke love thou haddest to Adoun,
Have pitee of my bittre teres smerte, 2225
And tak myn humble preyer at thyn herte.
Allas ! I ne have no langage to telle (1369)
Th'effectes ne the torments of myn helle ;
Myn herte may myne harmes nat biwreye ;
I am so confus, that I can nocht seye. 2230

But mercy, lady bright, that knowest weel
My thought, and seest what harmes that I feel,

Consideres al this, and rewe up-on my
sore,

As wisely as I shal for evermore, 2234
Emforth my might, thy trewe servant be,
And holden werre alwey with chastitee;
That make I myn avow, so ye me helpe.
I kepe noght of armes for to yelpe, (1380)
Ne I ne axe nat to-morwe to have victorie,
Ne renoun in this cas, ne veyne glorie 2240
Of pris of armes blowen up and down,
But I wolde have fully possessioun
Of Emelye, and dye in thy servyse; Find thou the maner how, and in what
wyse.

I recche nat, but it may bettre be, 2245
To have victorie of hem, or they of me,
So that I have my lady in myne armes.
For though so be that Mars is god of
armes, (1390)

Your vertu is so greet in hevne above,
That, if yow list, I shal wel have my love.
Thy temple wol I worshipe evermo, 2251
And on thyn auter, wher I ryde or go,
I wol don sacrifice, and fyres bete.
And if ye wol nat so, my lady swete, 2254
Than preyte I thee, to-morwe with a spere
That Arcita me thurgh the herte bere.
Thanne rekke I noght, whan I have lost
my lyf, (1399)

Though that Arcita winne hir to his wyf.
This is th'effect and ende of my preyere,
Yif me my love, thou blisful lady dere.'

Whan th'orisoun was doon of Palamon,
His sacrifice he dide, and that anon 2262
Ful pitounly, with alle circumstannes,
Al telle I noght as now his observaunces.
But atte laste the statue of Venus shook,
And made a signe, wher-by that he took
That his preyere accepted was that day.
For thogh the signe shewed a delay, (1410)
Yet wiste he wel that graunted was his
bone;

And with glad herte he wente him hoom
ful sone. 2270

The thridde houre inequal that Palamon
Bigan to Venus temple for to goon,
Up roos the sonne, and up roos Emelye,
And to the temple of Diane gan hye.

Hir maydens, that she thider with hir
ladde, 2275

Ful redily with hem the fyr they hadde, Th'encens, the clothes, and the remenant
al

That to the sacrificye longen shal; (1420)
The hornes fulle of meth, as was the gyse;
Ther lakked noght to doon hir sacrificye.
Smoking the temple, ful of clothes faire,
This Emelye, with herte debonaire, 2282
Hir body wessah with water of a welle;
But how she dide hir ryte I dar nat telle,
But it be any thing in general; 2285
And yet it were a game to heren al;
To him that meneth wel, it were no
charge:

But it is good a man ben at his large. (1430)
Hir brighte hear was kempt, untressed al;
A coroune of a grene ook cerial 2290
Up-on hir heed was set ful fair and mete.
Two fyres on the auter gan she bete,
And dide hir thinges, as men may biholde
In Stace of Thebes, and thise bokes olde.
Whan kindled was the fyr, with pitous
chere 2295

Un-to Diane she spak, as ye may here.
'O chaste goddesse of the wodes grene,
To whom bothe heven and erthe and see is sene, (1440)

Queene of the regne of Pluto derk and
lowe,
Goddess of maydens, that myn herte hast
knowe 2300

Ful many a yeer, and woost what I desire,
As keep me fro thy vengeance and thyn
ire,

That Attheon aboughte cruelly.
Chaste goddesse, wel wostow that I Desire to been a mayden al my lyf, 2305
Ne never wol I be no love ne wyf.
I am, thou woost, yet of thy companye,
A mayde, and love hunting and venerye,
And for to walken in the wodes wilde,
And noght to been a wyf, and be with childe. (1452) 2310

Noght wol I knowe companye of man.
Now help me, lady, sith ye may and can,
For tho thre formes that thou hast in thee.
And Palamon, that hath swich love to me,
And eek Arcite, that loveth me so sore,
This grace I preyte thee with-oute more,

As sende love and pees bitwixe hem two ;
 And fro me turne away hir hertes so, (1460)
 That al hir hote love, and hir desyr,
 And al hir busy torment, and hir fyr 2320
 Be queynt, or turned in another place ;
 And if so be thou wolt not do me grace,
 Or if my destinee be shapen so,
 That I shal nedes have oon of hem two,
 As sende me him that most desireth me.
 Bihold, goddesse of clene chastitee, 2326
 The bitter teres that on my chekes falle.
 Sin thou are mayde, and keper of us alle,
 My maydenhede thou kepe and wel conserve, (1471)
 And whyl I live a mayde, I wol thee
 serve.' 2330

The fyres brenne up-on the auter clere,
 Whyl Emelye was thus in hir preyere ;
 But sodeinly she saugh a sighte queynte,
 For right anon oon of the fyres queynte,
 And quiked agayn, and after that anon
 That other fyr was queynt, and al agon ;
 And as it queynte, it made a whistelinge,
 As doon thise wete bronδες in hir bren-
 ninge, (1480)

And at the bronδες ende out-ran anon
 As it were bloody dropes many oon ; 2340
 For which so sore agast was Emelye,
 That she was wel ny mad, and gan to crye,
 For she ne wiste what it signified ;
 But only for the fere thus hath she cryed,
 And weep, that it was pitee for to here.
 And ther-with-al Diane gan appere, 2346 With bowe in hond, right as an hunter-
 esse,

And seyde : 'Doghter, stint thyn hevi-
 nesse. (1490)

Among the goddes hye it is affermed,
 And by eterne word write and confermed,
 Thou shalt ben wedded un-to oon of tho
 That han for thee so muchel care and wo ;
 But un-to which of hem I may nat telle.
 Farwel, for I ne may no lenger dwelle.
 The fyres which that on myn auter
 brenne 2355

Shul thee declaren, er that thou go henne,
 Thyn aventure of love, as in this cas.'
 And with that word, the arwes in the cas
 Of the goddesse clateren faste and ringe,
 And forth she wente, and made a vanissh-
 inge ; (1502) 2360

For which this Emelye astoned was,
 And seyde, 'What amounteth this, allas !
 I putte me in thy proteccioun,
 Diane, and in thy disposicioun.'
 And hoom she gooth anon the nexte
 weya. 2365

This is th'effect, ther is namore to seye.

The nexte houre of Mars folwinge this,
 Arcite un-to the temple walked is (1510)
 Of fierse Mars, to doon his sacrificyse,
 With alle the rytes of his payen wyse. 2370
 With pitous herte and heigh devocioun,
 Right thus to Mars he seyde his orisoun :
 'O stronge god, that in the regnes colde
 Of Trace honoured art, and lord y-holde,
 And hast in every regne and every lond
 Of armes al the brydel in thyn hond, 2376
 And hem fortunest as thee list devyze,
 Accept of me my pitous sacrificyse. (1520)
 If so be that my youthe may deserve,
 And that my might be worthy for to
 serve 2380

Thy godhede, that I may been oon of thyne,

Than preyre I thee to rewe up-on my pyna.
 For thilke peyne, and thilke hote fyr,
 In which thou whylom brendest for desyr,
 Whan that thou usedest the grete beautee
 Of fayre yonge freshe Venus free, 2386
 And haddest hir in armes at thy wille,
 Al-though thee ones on a tyme misfille Whan Vulcanus had caught thee in his
 las, (1531)

And fond thee liggig by his wyf, allas !
 For thilke sorwe that was in thyn herte,
 Have ronthe as wel up-on my peynes
 smerte. 2392

I am yong and unkonning, as thou wost,
 And, as I trowe, with love offended
 most,

That ever was any lyves creature ; 2395
 For she, that dooth me al this wo endure,
 Ne reccheth never wher I sinke or flete
 And wel I woot, er she me mercy fete,
 I moot with strengthe winne hir in the
 place ; (1541)

And wel I woot, withouten help or grace
 Of thee, ne may my strengthe noght
 availle. 2401

Than help me, lord, to-morwe in my bataille,

hilke fyr that whylom brente thee,
 el as thilke fyr now brenneth me;
 do that I to-morwe have victorie. 2405 be the travaille, and thyn be the
 glorie!
 sovereign temple wol I most honouren ny place, and alwey most labouren thy plesaunce and in thy craftes
 stronge, (1551)
 d in thy temple I wol my baner honge,
 d alle the armes of my companye; 2411
 d evere-mo, un-to that day I dye,
 erne fyr I wol biforn thee finde.
 d eek to this avow I wol me binde:
 y berd, myn heer that hongeth long
 adoun, 2415
 nat never yet ne felte offensiuon
 f rasour nor of shere, I wol thee yive, nd been thy trewe servant why! I live.
 ow lord, have rounthe up-on my sorwes
 sore, (1561)
 if me victorie, I aske thee namore.' 2420
 The prayere stinte of Arcita the stronge,
 The ringes on the temple-dore that honge,
 And eek the dores, clatereden ful faste,
 Of which Arcita som-what him agaste.
 The fyres brende up-on the auter brighte,
 That it gan al the temple for to lighte;
 And swete smel the ground anon up-yaf,
 And Arcita anon his hand up-haf, (1570)
 And more encens in-to the fyr he caste,
 With othere rytes mo; and atte laste 2430
 The statue of Mars bigan his hauberk
 ringe.
 And with that soun he herde a murmur-
 inge
 Ful lowe and dim, that sayde thus,
 'Victorie':
 For which he yaf to Mars honour and gloria.
 And thus with joye, and hope wel to fare,
 Arcite anon un-to his inne is fare, 2436
 As fayn as fowel is of the brighte sonne.
 And right anon swich stryf ther is bi-
 gonne (1580)
 For thilke granting, in the hevене above,
 Bitwixe Venus, the goddesse of love, 2440
 And Mars, the sterne god armipotent,
 That Jupiter was busy ito stente;
 Til that the pale Saturnus the colde,
 That knew so manye of aventures olde,

Fond in his olde experience an art, 2445
 That he ful some hath plesed every part.
 As sooth is sayd, elde hath greet advantage;
 In elde is bothe wisdom and usage; (1590)
 Men may the olde at-renne, and noght at-rede.
 Saturne anon, to stinten stryf and drede,
 Al be it that it is agayn his kynde, 2451
 Of al this stryf he gan remedie fynde.
 'My dere doghter Venus,' quod Saturne,
 'My cours, that hath so wyde for to turne,
 Hath more power than wot any man. 2455
 Myn is the drenching in the see so wan;
 Myn is the prison in the derke cote;
 Myn is the strangling and hanging by the throte; (1600)
 The murmure, and the cherles rebelling,
 The groynig, and the pryvee empoysoning:
 2460
 I do vengeance and pleyn correccioun
 Why! I dwelle in the signe of the Leoun.
 Myn is the ruine of the hye halles,
 The falling of the toures and of the walles
 Up-on the mynour or the carpenter. 2465
 I slow Sampson in shaking the piler;
 And myne be the maladyes colde,
 The derke treons, and the castes olde;
 My lokig is the fader of pestilence. (1611)
 Now weep namore, I shal doon diligence
 That Palamon, that is thyn owne knight,
 Shal have his lady, as thou hast him hight.
 Though Mars shal helpe his knight, yet nathelees
 Bitwixe yow ther moot be som tyme pees,
 Al be ye noght of o complexioun, 2475
 That causeth al day swich divisioun.
 I am thin ayel, redy at thy wille;
 Weep thou namore, I wol thy lust ful-
 fille.' (1620)
 Now wol I stinten of the goddes above,
 Of Mars, and of Venus, goddesse of love,
 And telle yow, as pleynly as I can, 2481
 The grete effect, for which that I bigan.
 Explicit tercia pars.
 Sequitur pars quarta.
 Greet was the feste in Athenes that day,
 And eek the lusty seson of that May Made every wight to been in swich
 plesaunce, 2485
 That al that Monday justen they and
 daunce,

And spenden it in Venus heigh servyse.
 But by the cause that they sholde ryse
 Erly, for to seen the grete fight, (1631)
 Unto hir reste wente they at night. 2490
 And on the morwe, whan that day gan
 springe,
 Of hors and harneys, noyse and clateringe
 Ther was in hostelryes al aboute ;
 And to the paleys rood ther many a
 route
 Of lordes, up-on stedes and palfreys. 2495
 Ther maystow seen devysing of herneys
 So uncouth and so riche, and wrought so
 weel
 Of goldsmithrie, of browding, and of steel ; (1640)
 The sheeldes brighte, testers, and trap-pures ;
 Gold-hewen helmes, hauberks, cote-ar-mures ; 2500
 Lordes in paraments on hir courseres,
 Knightes of retenue, and eek squyeres
 Nailinge the speres, and helmes bokelinge, Gigginge of sheeldes, with layneres la-cinge ;
 Ther as need is, they weren no-thing ydel ;
 The fomy stedes on the golden byrdel 2506
 Gnawinge, and faste the armurers also With fyle and hamer prikinge to and fro ; (1650)
 Yemen on fote, and communes many oon
 With shorte staves, thikke as they may
 goon ; 2510
 Pypes, trompes, nakers, clariounes,
 That in the bataille blowen bloody sounes ;
 The paleys ful of peples up and down,
 Heer three, ther ten, holding hir questioun,
 Divyninge of this Theban knightes two.
 Somme seyden thus, somme seyde it shal
 be so ; 2516
 Somme helden with him with the blake
 berd,
 Somme with the balled, somme with the thikke-hard ; (1660)
 Somme sayde, he loked grim and he wolde fighte ;
 He hath a sparth of twenty pound of
 wighte. 2520
 Thus was the halle ful of divyninge,
 Longe after that the sonne gan to springe.

The grete Theseus, that of his sleep
 awaked
 With minstrelcye and noyse that was makid,
 Held yet the chambre of his paleys riche, Til that the Thebane knightes, bothe y-
 liche 2526
 Honoured, were into the paleys fet.
 Duk Theseus was at a window set, (1670)
 Arrayed right as he were a god in trone.
 The peple preeseth thider-ward ful some
 Him for to seen, and doon heigh reverence,
 And eek to herkne his heest and his sentence.
 An heraud on a scaffold made an ho,
 Til al the noyse of peple was y-do ;
 And whan he saugh the peple of noyse al
 stille, 2535
 Tho showed he the mighty dukes wille.
 'The lord hath of his heigh discrecioun
 Considered, that it were destruccioun (1680)
 To gentil blood, to fighten in the gyse
 Of mortal bataille now in this emprise ;
 Wherfore, to shapen that they shul hot
 dye, 2541
 He wol his firste purpos modifye.
 No man therfor, up payne of los of lyf,
 No maner shot, ne pollax, ne short knyf
 Into the listes sende, or thider bringe ; 2545
 Ne short swerd for to stoke, with poynt
 bytinge,
 No man ne drawe, ne bere it by his syde.
 Ne no man shal un-to his felawe ryde (1690)
 But o cours, with a sharp y-grounde spere ; Foyne, if him list, on fote, him-self to
 were. 2550
 And he that is at meschief, shal be take,
 And noht slayn, but be brought un-to the stake
 That shal ben ordeyned on either syde ;
 But thider he shal by force, and ther
 abyde.
 And if so falle, the chieftayn be take 2555
 On either syde, or elles slee his make,
 No lenger shal the turneyinge laste.
 God spede yow ; goth forth, and ley on
 faste. (1700)
 With long swerd and with maces fight your filla.
 Goth now your wey ; this is the lordes
 willa.' 2560

The voys of peple touchede the hevене,
 So loude cryden they with mery stevene :
 ' God save swich a lord, that is so good,
 He wilneth no destruccioun of blood !'
 Up goon the trompes and the melodye. 2565
 And to the listes rit the companye
 By ordinaunce, thurgh-out the citee large, Hanged with cloth of gold, and nat with sarge. (1710)

Ful lyk a lord this noble duk gan ryde,
 These two Thebanes up-on either syde ; 2570
 And after rood the quene, and Emelye,
 And after that another companye
 Of oon and other, after hir degree.
 And thus they passen thurgh-out the
 citee,
 And to the listes come they by tyme. 2575
 It nas not of the day yet fully pryme,
 Whan set was Theseus ful riche and hye,
 Ipolita the quene and Emelye, (1720)
 And other ladies in degrees aboute.
 Un-to the seetes precesseth al the route. 2580
 And west-ward, thurgh the gates under Marte,
 Arcite, and eek the hundred of his parte,
 With baner reed is entred right anon ;
 And in that selve moment Palamon
 Is under Venus, est-ward in the place, 2585 With baner whyt, and hardy chere and
 face.
 In al the world, to seken up and down,
 So even with-outen variacioun, (1730)
 Ther nere swiche companyes tweye.
 For ther nas noon so wys that coude
 seye, 2590
 That any hadde of other avauntage
 Of worthinesse, ne of estaat, ne age,
 So even were they chosen, for to gesse.
 And in two renges faire they hem dresse.
 Whan that hir names rad were everlchoon, 2595
 That in hir nombre gyle were ther noon,
 The were the gates shet, and cryed was
 loude :
 ' Do now your devoir, yonge knightes
 proude !' (1740)
 The heraudes lefte hir priking up and
 down ; 2599
 Now ringen trompes loude and clarioun ;
 Ther is namore to seyn, but west and est
 In goon the speres ful sadly in arest ;

In goth the sharpe spore in-to the syde.
 Ther seen men who can juste, and who can ryde ;
 Ther shiveren shaftes up-on sheeldes
 thikke ; 2605
 He feleth thurgh the herte-spoon the
 prikke.
 Up springen speres twenty foot on highte ;
 Out goon the swerdes as the silver
 brighte. (1750)
 The helmes they to-hewen and to-ahrede ;
 Out brest the blood, with sterne streemes
 rede. 2610
 With mighty maces the bones they to-
 breste.
 He thurgh the thikkeste of the throng
 gan threata.
 Ther stomblen stedes stronge, and doun goth al.
 He rolleth under foot as dooth a bal. 2614
 He foyneth on his feet with his tronchoun,
 And he him hurtleth with his hors adoun.
 He thurgh the body is hurt, and sithen
 y-take,
 Maugree his heed, and broght un-to the
 stake, (1760)
 As forward was, right ther he moste
 abyde ;
 Another lad is on that other syde. 2620
 And som tyme dooth hem Theseus to reste, Hem to refresshe, and drinken if hem
 leste.
 Ful ofte a-day han thise Thebanes two Togidre y-met, and wroght his felawe wo ;
 Unhorsed hath ech other of hem tweye.
 Ther nas no tygre in the vale of Galgopheye, 2626
 Whan that hir whelp is stole, whan it is
 lyte,
 So cruel on the hunte, as is Arcite (1770)
 For jelous harte upon this Palamoun :
 Ne in Belmarye ther nis so fel leoun, 2630
 That hunted is, or for his hunger wood,
 Ne of his praye desireth so the blood,
 As Palamon to sleen his fo Arcite.
 The jelous strokes on hir helmes byte ;
 Out renneth blood on both hir sydes
 rede. 2635
 Som tyme an ende ther is of every dede ;
 For er the sonne un-to the reste wente,
 The stronge king Emetreus gan hente

This Palamon, as he faught with Arcite,
And made his swerd depe in his flesh to
byte; (1782) 2640

And by the force of twenty is he take Unyolden, and y-drawe unto the stake.
And in the rescous of this Palamoun
The stronge king Ligurge is born adoun;
And king Emetreus, for al his strengthe,
Is born out of his sadel a swerdes lengthe,
So hitte him Palamon er he were take;
But al for noght, he was broght to the
stake. (1790)

His hardy herte mighte him helpe naught;
He moste abyde, whan that he was caught
By force, and eek by composicioun. 2651

Who sorweth now but woful Palamoun,
That moot namore goon agayn to fighte?
And whan that Theseus had seyn this
sighte, 2654

Un-to the folk that foghten thus echoon
He cryde, 'Ho! namore, for it is doon!
I wol be trewe juge, and no partye.
Arcite of Thebes shal have Emelye, (1800)
That by his fortune hath hir faire ywonna.'

Anon ther is a noyse of peple bigonne 2660
For joye of this, so loude and heigh with-
alle,

It semed that the listes sholde falle.

What can now faire Venus doon above?
What seith she now? what dooth this quene of love?

But wepeth so, for wanting of hir wille,
Til that hir teres in the listes fille; 2666
She seyde: 'I am sahamed, doutelees.'
Saturnus seyde: 'Doghter, hold thy pees.
Mars hath his wille, his knight hath al
his bone, (1811)

And, by myn heed, thou shalt ben cesd
sona.' 2670

The trompes, with the loude minstral-
eye,
The herandes, that ful loude yolle and
crye,

Been in hir wele for joye of daun Arcite.
But herkneth me, and stinteth now a
lyte,

Which a miracle ther bifel anon. 2675

This fierse Arcite hath of his helm y-don,
And on a courser, for to shewe his face,
He priketh endelong the large place, (1820)

Loking upward up-on this Emelye; 2679
And she agayn him caste a freendlich y^e,
(For wommen, as to spoken in comune,
They folwen al the favour of fortune);
And she was al his chere, as in his herte.
Out of the ground a furie infernal sterthe,
From Pluto sent, at requeste of Saturne,
For which his hors for fere gan to turne,
And leep asyde, and foundred as he leep;
And, er that Arcite may taken keep, (1830)
He pighte him on the pomel of his heed,
That in the place he lay as he were
deed, 2690

His brest to-brosten with his sadel-bowe.
As blak he lay as any cole or crowe,
So was the blood y-ronnen in his face.
Anon he was y-born out of the place
With herte soor, to Theseus paleys. 2695
Tho was he corven out of his harneys,
And in a bed y-brought ful faire and
blyve,

For he was yet in memorie and alyve, (1840)
And alway crying after Emelye.

Duk Theseus, with al his companye, 2700
Is comen hoom to Athenes his citee,
With alle blisse and greet solempnitee.
Al be it that this aventure was falle,
He nolde noght disconforten hem alle.
Men seyde eek, that Arcite shal nat dye;
He shal ben heled of his maladye. 2706
And of another thing they were as fayn,
That of hem alle was ther noon y-slayn,
Al were they sore y-hurt, and namely con,
That with a spere was thirled his brest-
boon. (1852) 2710

To othere woundes, and to broken armes,
Some hadden salves, and some hadden
charmes;

Fermacies of herbes, and eek save
They drunken, for they wolde hir limes
have.

For which this noble duk, as he wel can,
Conforteth and honoureth every man, 2716
And made revel al the longe night,
Un-to the straunge lordes, as was right.
Ne ther was holden no disconfitinge, (1861)
But as a justes or a tourneyinge; 2720
For soothly ther was no disconfiture,
For falling nis nat but an aventure;
Ne to be lad with fors un-to the stake
Unyolden, and with twenty knightes take,

O persone allone, with-outen mo, 2725
 And haried forth by arme, foot, and to,
 And eek his stede driven forth with staves,
 With footmen, bothe yemen and eek
 knaves, (1870)

It nas aretted him no vileinye, 2729
 Ther may no man clepen it cowardya.

For which anon duk Theseus leet crye,
 To stinten alle rancour and envye,
 The gree as wel of o syde as of other,
 And either syde y-lyk, as otheres brother;
 And yaf hem yiftes after hir degree, 2735
 And fully heeld a feste dayes three;
 And conveyed the kinges worthily
 Out of his toun a journee largely. (1880)
 And hoom wente every man the righte
 way.

Ther was namore, but 'far wel, have good
 day!' 2740

Of this bataille I wol namore endyte,
 But speke of Palamon and of Arcite.

Swelthe the brest of Arcite, and the
 sore

Encresseth at his herte more and more.
 The clothered blood, for any lechecraft,
 Corrupteth, and is in his bouk y-laft, 2746
 That neither veyne-blood, ne ventusinge,
 Ne drinks of herbes may ben his helpinge.
 The vertu expulsif, or animal, (1891)
 Fro thilke vertu cleped natural 2750

Ne may the venim voyden, ne expelle.
 The pyperes of his longes gonne to swelle,
 And every lacerte in his brest adoun
 Is shent with venim and corrupcioun.
 Him gayneth neither, for to gete his lyf,
 Vomyt upward, ne downward laxatif; 2756
 Al is to-brosten thilke regioun,
 Nature hath now no dominacioun. (1900)
 And certainly, ther nature wol nat wirche, Far-wel, phisyk! go ber the man to
 chirche! 2760

This al and som, that Arcite mot dye,
 For which he sendeth after Emelye,
 And Palamon, that was his cosin dere;
 Than seyde he thus, as ye shul after
 here.

'Naught may the woful spirit in myn
 herte 2765

Declare o poynt of alle my sorwes smerte
 To yow, my lady, that I love most;
 But I biquethe the service of my gost (1910)

To yow aboven every creature,
 Sin that my lyf may no lenger dure. 2770
 Allas, the wo! allas, the peynes stronge,
 That I for yow have suffred, and so longe!
 Allas, the deeth! allas, myn Emelye!
 Allas, departing of our companye! 2774
 Allas, myn hertes quene! allas, my wyf!
 Myn hertes lady, endere of my lyf!
 What is this world? what asketh men to
 have?

Now with his love, now in his colde grave
 Allone, with-outen any companye. (1921)
 Far-wel, my swete fo! myn Emelye! 2780
 And softe tak me in your armes tweye,
 For love of God, and herkneth what I seye.

I have heer with my cosin Palamon
 Had stryf and rancour, many a day a-gon,
 For love of yow, and for my jelousye. 2785
 And Jupiter so wis my soule gye,
 To speken of a servaunt proprely,
 With alle circumstaunces trewely, (1930)
 That is to seyn, trouthe, honour, and knighthede,

Wisdom, humblesse, estaat, and heigh
 kinrede, 2790
 Freedom, and al that longeth to that art,
 So Jupiter have of my soule part,
 As in this world right now ne knowe I non
 So worthy to ben loved as Palamon, 2794
 That servoth yow, and wol don al his lyf.
 And if that ever ye shul been a wyf,
 Foryet nat Palamon, the gentil man.' (1939)
 And with that word his speche faille gan,
 For from his feet up to his brest was come
 The cold of deeth, that hadde him over-
 come. 2800

And yet more-over, in his armes two
 The vital strengthe is lost, and al ago.
 Only the intellect, with-outen more,
 That dwelled in his herte syk and sore,
 Gan failen, when the herte felte deeth,
 Dusked his eyen two, and failed breeth.
 But on his lady yet caste he his y8; (1949)
 His laste word was, 'mercy, Emelye!'
 His spirit chaunged hous, and wente ther,
 As I cam never, I can nat tellen wher. 2810
 Therfor I stinte, I nam no divinistre;
 Of soules finde I nat in this registre,
 Ne me ne list thilke opiniouns to telle
 Of hem, though that they wryten wher
 they dwelle.

Arcite is cold, ther Mars his soule gye ;
 Now wol I speken forth of Emelye. 2816
 Shrighte Emelye, and howleth Palamon,
 And Theseus his suster took anon (1960)
 Swowninge, and bar hir fro the corps away.
 What helpoth it to tarien forth the day,
 To tallen how she weep, bothe eve and
 morwe? 2821
 For in swich cas wommen have swich
 sorwe,
 Whan that hir housbonds been from hem
 ago,
 That for the more part they sorwen so,
 Or elles fallen in swich maladye, 2825
 That at the laste certainly they dye.
 Infinite been the sorwes and the teres
 Of olde folk, and folk of tendre yeres, (1970)
 In al the toun, for deeth of this Theban ;
 For him ther wepeth bothe child and
 man ; 2830
 So greet a weping was ther noon, certayn,
 Whan Ector was y-brought, al fresh y-slayn,
 To Troye ; allas ! the pitee that was ther,
 Cracching of chakes, rending eek of heer.
 ' Why woldestow be deed,' thise wommen
 crye, 2835
 ' And haddest gold y-nough, and Emelye ?'
 No man mighte gladen Theseus,
 Savinge his olde fader Egeus, (1980)
 That knew this worldes transmutacioun,
 As he had seyn it chaungen up and down,
 Joye after wo, and wo after gladnesse :
 And shewed hem ensamples and lyknesse.
 ' Right as ther deyed never man,' quod
 he, 2843
 ' That he ne livede in erthe in som degree,
 Right so ther livede never man,' he seyde,
 ' In al this world, that som tyme he ne
 deyde. (1988) 2846
 This world nis but a thurghfare ful of wo,
 And we ben pilgrimes, passinge to and fro ;
 Deeth is an ende of every worldly sore.'
 And over al this yet seyde he muchel more
 To this effect, ful wysly to enhorte 2851
 The peple, that they sholde hem reconforte.
 ' Duk Theseus, with al his bisy cure,
 Caste now wher that the sepulture
 Of good Arcite may best y-maked be, 2855
 And eek most honourable in his degree.
 And at the laste he took conclusioun, (1999)
 That ther as first Arcite and Palamoun

Hadden for love the bataille hem bitwene,
 That in that selve grove, swote and grene,
 Theras he hadde his amorous desires, 2861
 His compleynt, and for love his hote fires,
 He wolde make a fyr, in which th'office
 Funeral he mighte al accomlice ;
 And leet comaunde anon to hakke and
 hewe (2007) 2865
 The okes olde, and leye hem on a rewe
 In colpons wel arrayed for to brenne ;
 His officers with swiftte feet they renne
 And ryde anon at his comaundement.
 And after this, Theseus hath y-sent 2870
 After a bere, and it al over-spradde
 With cloth of gold, the richest that he
 hadde.
 And of the same suyte he cladde Arcite ;
 Upon his hondes hadde he gloves whyte ;
 Eek on his heed a croune of laurer
 grene, 2875
 And in his hond a swerd ful bright and
 kene. (2018)
 He leyde him bare the visage on the bere,
 Therwith he weep that pitee was to here.
 And for the peple sholde seen him alle, Whan it was day, he broghte him to the
 halle, 2880
 That roreth of the crying and the soun.
 The cam this woful Theban Palamoun,
 With flotery berd, and ruggy ashy heres,
 In clothes blake, y-dropped al with teres ;
 And, passing othere of weping, Emelye,
 The rewfulleste of al the companye. 2886
 In as muche as the service sholde be
 The more noble and riche in his degree,
 Duk Theseus leet forth three stedes bringe,
 That trapped were in steel al glitteringe,
 And covered with the armes of daun
 Arcite. (2033) 2891
 Up-on this stedes, that weren grete and
 whyte,
 Ther seten folk, of which oon bar his sheeld,
 Another his spere up in his hondes heeld ;
 The thridde bar with him his bowe Turkeys, 2895
 Of brend gold was the cas, and eek the harneys ; (2038)
 And riden forth a pas with sorweful chere
 Toward the grove, as ye shul after here.
 The nobleste of the Grekes that ther were Upon hir shuldres carieden the bere, 2900

With slakke pas, and eyen rede and wete,
Thurgh-out the citee, by the maister-strete,
That sprad was al with blak, and wonder
hye

Right of the same is al the strete y-wrye.
Up-on the right hond wente old Egeus, 2905
And on that other syde duk Theseus,
With vessels in hir hand of gold ful fyn,
Al ful of hony, milk, and blood, and wyn ;
Eek Palamon, with ful greet companye ;
And after that cam woful Emelye, 2910
With fyr in honde, as was that tyme the
gyse, (2903)

To do th'office of funeral servyse.

Heigh labour, and ful greet apparailinge
Was at the service and the fyr-makinge,
That with his grene top the heven raughte,
And twenty fadme of brede the armes
straughte ; 2916

This is to seyn, the bowes were so brode.
Of stree first ther was leyd ful many a lode. (2906)

But how the fyr was maked up on highte,
And eek the names how the tresse highte,
As ook, firre, birch, asp, alder, holm,
popler, 2921

Wilow, elm, plane, ash, box, chasteyn,
lind, laurer,

Mapul, thorn, beech, hasel, ew, whippel-
tree,

How they weren feld, shal nat be told for
me ;

Ne how the goddes ronnen up and doun,
Disherited of hir habitacioun, 2926

In which they woneden in reste and pees,
Nymphes, Faunes, and Amadrides ; (2970)

Ne how the bestes and the briddes alle
Fledden for fere, whan the wode was falle ;

Ne how the ground agast was of the light,
That was nat wont to seen the sonne bright ;

Ne how the fyr was couched first with stree,
And than with drye stokkes cloven a thre,

And than with grene wode and spycerye,
And than with cloth of gold and with perrye, 2936

And gerlandes hanging with ful many
a flour,

The mirre, th'encens, with al so greet odour ;

Ne how Arcite lay among al this, (2981)
Ne what richesse aboute his body is ; 2940

Ne how that Emelye, as was the gyse,
Putte in the fyr of funeral servyse ;
Ne how she swowned whan men made the fyr,

Ne what she spak, ne what was hir desyr ;
Ne what jeweles men in the fyr tho caste,
Whan that the fyr was greet and brente
faste ; 2946

Ne how som caste hir sheeld, and som hir
spere,

And of hir vestiments, whiche that they
were, (2990)

And cuppes ful of wyn, and milk, and
blood,

Into the fyr, that brente as it were wood ;
Ne how the Grekes with an huge route

Thryes riden al the fyr aboute 2952
Up-on the left hand, with a loud shoutinge,

And thryes with hir speres clateringe ;
And thryes how the ladies gonne crye ; 2955

Ne how that lad was hom-ward Emelye ;
Ne how Arcite is brent to asshen colde ;

Ne how that liche-wake was y-holde (2100)
Al thilke night, ne how the Grekes pleye

The wake-pleyes, ne kepe I nat to seye ; 2960
Who wrastleth best naked, with oille

enoynt,
Ne who that bar him best, in no disjoynt.

I wol nat tellen eek how that they goon
Hoom til Athenes, whan the pley is doon ;

But shortly to the poynt than wol I wende,
And maken of my longe tale an ende. 2966

By processs and by lengthe of certeyn
yeres

Al stinted is the moorning and the teres.
Of Grekes, by oon general assent, (2111)

Than semed me ther was a parlement 2970
At Athenes, up-on certeyn poynts and cas ;

Among the whiche poynts y-spoken was
To have with certeyn contrees alliance,

And have fully of Thebans obeisaunce.
For which this noble Theseus anon 2975

Leet senden after gentil Palamon, Unwist of him what was the cause and
why ;

But in his blake clothes sorwefully (2120)
He cam at his comaundement in hye.

Tho sente Theseus for Emelye. 2980 Whan they were set, and hust was al the
place,

And Theseus abiden hadde a space

Er any word cam from his wyse brest,
His eyen sette he ther as was his lest,
And with a sad visage he syked stille, 2985
And after that right thus heseide his willa.

'The frste moevere of the cause above, Whan he first made the faire cheyne of
love, (2130)

Greet was th'effect, and heigh was his
entente ;

Wel wiste he why, and what ther-of he
mente ; 2990

For with that faire cheyne of love he bond
The fyr, the eyr, the water, and the
lond

In certeyn boundes, that they may nat fle ;
That same prince and that moevere, quod
he,

'Hath stablised, in this wroched world
adoun, 2995

Certeine dayes and duracioun
To al that is engendred in this place, (2139)

Over the whiche day they may nat pace,
Al mowe they yet tho dayes wel abregge ;
Ther needeth non auctorites allegge, 3000
For it is proved by experience,

But that me list declaren my sentence.
Than may men by this ordre wel discernen,

That thilke moevere stable is and eterne.
Wel may men knowe, but it be a fool, 3005

That every part deryveth from his hool.
For nature hath nat take his beginning

Of no party ne cantel of a thing, (2150)
But of a thing that parfit is and stable,

Descending so, til it be corruppable. 3010
And therefore, of his wyse purveyaunce,

He hath so wel beset his ordinaunce,
That speses of thinges and progressiouns

Shullen enduren by successiouns,
And nat eterne be, with-oute ly8 : 3015

This maistow understonde and seen at y8.
'Lo the ook, that hath so long a noris-shinge

From tyme that it first biginneth springe,
And hath so long a lyf, as we may see, (2161)

Yet at the laste wasted is the tree. 3020
'Considereth eek, how that the harde
stoon

Under our feet, on which we trede and
goon,

Yit wasteth it, as it lyth by the weya.
The brode river somtyme wexeth dreya.

The grete tounes see we wane and wende.
Than may ye see that al this thing hath
ende. 3026

'Of man and womman seen we wel also,
That nedeth, in oon of thise termes two,

This is to seyn, in youthe or elles age, (2171)
He moot ben deed, the king as shal a page ;

3030
Som in his bed, som in the depe see,
Som in the large feeld, as men may se ;

Ther helpeth noght, al goth that ilke weya.
Thanne may I seyn that al this thing moot
deya. 3034

What maketh this but Jupiter the king?
The which is prince and cause of alle thing,

Converting al un-to his propre welle,
From which it is deryved, sooth to telle.

And here-agayns no creature on lyve (2181)
Of no degree availleth for to stryve. 3040

'Thanne is it wisdom, as it thinketh me,
To maken vertu of necessitee,

And take it wel, that we may nat eschue,
And namely that to us alle is due.

And who-so gruccheth ought, he dooth
folye, 3045

And rebel is to him that al may gye.
And certainly a man hath most honour

To dyen in his excellence and flour, (2190)
Whan he is siker of his gode name ;

Than hath he doon his freend, ne him, no
shame. 3050

And gladder oghte his freend ben of his
deeth,

Whan with honour up-yolden is his breeth,
Than whan his name apalled is for age ;

For al forgotten is his vasselage.
Than is it best, as for a worthy fame, 3055

To dyen whan that he is best of name.
The contrarie of al this is wilfulnesse.

Why grucchen we? why have we hev-
nesse, (2200)

That good Arcite, of chivalrye flour
Departed is, with duetee and honour, 3060

Out of this foule prison of this lyf?
Why gruchchen heer his cosin and his wyf

Of his wel-fare that loved hem so weel?
Can he hem thank? nay, God wot, never
a deel,

That bothe his soule and eek hem-self offende, 3065

And yet they mowe hir lustes nat amende.

'What may I conclude of this longe serie,
 But, after wo, I rede us to be merie, (2210)
 And thanken Jupiter of al his grace?
 And, er that we departen from this
 place, 3070
 I rede that we make, of sorwes two,
 O parfyt joye, lasting ever-mo;
 And loketh now, wher most sorwe is her-
 inne,
 Ther wol we first amenden and biginne.
 'Suster,' quod he, 'this is my fulle assent,
 With al th'avys heer of my parlement, 3076
 That gentil Palamon, your owne knight, That serveth yow with wille, herte, and
 might, (2220)
 And ever hath doon, sin that ye first him
 knewe, 3079
 That yeshul, of your grace, up-on him rewe,
 And taken him for housbonde and for
 lord:
 Leen me your hond, for this is our acord.
 Let see now of your wommanly pitee.
 He is a kinges brother sone, pardee;
 And, though he were a povre bachelor, 3085
 Sin he hath served yow so many a year,

And had for yow so greet adversitee,
 It moste been considered, leveth me; (2230)
 For gentil mercy oghte to passen right.'
 Than seyde he thus to Palamon ful right;
 'I trowe ther nedeth lital sermoning 3091
 To make yow assente to this thing.
 Com neer, and tak your lady by the hond.'
 Bitwixen hem was maad anon the bond,
 That highte matrimoine or mariage, 3095
 By al the counseil and the baronage.
 And thus with alle blisse and melodye
 Hath Palamon y-wedded Emelye. (2240)
 And God, that al this wyde world hath
 wrought,
 Sende him his love, that hath it dere
 a-boght. 3100
 For now is Palamon in alle wale,
 Living in blisse, in richesse, and in hele;
 And Emelye him loveth so tendrely,
 And he hir serveth al-so gentilly,
 That never was ther no word hem bitwene
 Of jelousye, or any other tene. 3106
 Thus endeth Palamon and Emelye;
 And God save al this faire companye!—
 Amen. (2250)

Here is ended the Knightes Tale.

THE MILLER'S PROLOGUE.

Here folwen the wordes bitwene the Host and the Millere.

WHAN that the Knight had thus his tale
 y-told,
 In al the route nas ther yong ne old 3110
 That he ne seyde it was a noble storie,
 And worthy for to drawen to memorie;
 And namely the gentils everichoon.
 Our Hoste lough and swoor, 'so moot I goon,
 This gooth aright; unboked is the male;
 Let see now who shal telle another tale:
 For trewely, the game is wel bigonne. 3117
 Now telleth ye, sir Monk, if that yo conne,

Somwhat, to quyte with the Knightes
 tale.' (11)
 The Miller, that for-dronken was al
 pale, 3120
 So that unnethe up-on his hors he sat,
 He nolde avalen neither hood ne hat,
 Ne abyde no man for his curteisye,
 But in Pilates vois he gan to crye,
 And swoor by armes and by blood and
 bones, 3125
 'I can a noble tale for the nones,

With which I wol now quyte the Knightes
tale.'

Our Hoste saugh that he was dronke of
ale, (20)

And seyde : 'abyd, Robin, my leve brother,
Som better man shal telle us first another :
Abyd, and lat us werken thriftily.' 3131

'By goddes soul,' quod he, 'that wol
nat I ;

For I wol speke, or elles go my wey.'

Our Hoste answerde : 'tel on, a devel
wey !

Thou art a fool, thy wit is overcome.' 3135
'Now herkneth,' quod the Miller, 'alle and some !

But first I make a protestacioun

That I am dronke, I knowe it by my
soun ; (30)

And therefore, if that I misspeke or seye, Wyte it the ale of Southwerk, I yow
preye ; 3140

For I wol telle a legende and a lyf
Bothe of a Carpenter, and of his wyf,
How that a clerk hath set the wrightes
cappe.'

The Reve answerde and seyde, 'stint thy clappe,

Lat be thy lewed dronken harlotrye. 3145
It is a sinne and eek a greet folye

To apeiren any man, or him diffame,
And eek to bringen wyves in swich
fama. (40)

Thou mayst y-nogh of othere thinges
seyn.'

This dronken Millerspak ful sone ageyn,
And seyde, 'leve brother Osewold, 3151
Who hath no wyf, he is no cokewold.

But I sey nat therefore that thou art oon ;
Ther been ful gode wyves many oon,

†And ever a thousand gode ayeyns oon
badde, 3155

†That knowestow wel thy-self, but-if thou
madde.

Why artow angry with my tale now ?
I have a wyf, pardee, as well as thou, (50)
Yet nolde I, for the oxen in my plough,
Taken up-on me more than y-nogh, 3160
As demen of my-self that I were oon ;
I wol beleve wel that I am noon.

An housbond shal nat been inquisitif
Of goddes privetee, nor of his wyf.
So he may finde goddes foyson there, 3165
Of the remenant nedeth nat enquere.'

What sholde I more seyn, but this Millere

He nolde his wordes for no man forbere, (60)
But tolde his cherles tale in his manere ;
Me thinketh that I shal reherce it here. 3170
And ther-fore every gentil wight I
preye,

For goddes love, demeth nat that I seye
Of evel entente, but that I moot reherce
Hir tales alle, be they better or worse,
Or elles falsen som of my matere. 3175
And therfors, who-so list it nat y-here, Turne over the leef, and chese another
tale ; (69)

For he shal finde y-nowe, grete and smale,
Of storial thing that toucheth gentiltee,
And eek moralitee and holinesse ; 3180
Blameth nat me if that ye chese amis.
The Miller is a cherl, ye knowe wel
this ;

So was the Reve, and othere many mo,
And harlotrye they tolden bothe two.
Avyseth yow and putte me out of blame ;
And eek men shal nat make earnest of
game. (78) 3186

Here endeth the prologe.

THE MILLERES TALE.

Here biginneth the Millere his tale.

Whylom ther was dwellinge at Oxenford
A riche gnof, that gestes heeld to bord,
And of his craft he was a Carpenter.
With him ther was dwellinge a povre
scoler, 3190

Had lerned art, but al his fantasye
Was turned for to lerne astrologye,
And coude a certeyn of conclusiouns
To demen by interrogaciouns,
If that men axed him in certain houres, 3195
Whan that men sholde have droghte or elles shoures, (10)

Or if men axed him what sholde bifalle
Of every thing, I may nat rekene hem alle.

This clerk was cleped hende Nicholas;
Of derne love he coude and of solas; 3200
And ther-to he was sleigh and ful privee,
And lyk a mayden meke for to see.

A chambre hadde he in that hostelrye
Allone, with-outen any companye,
Ful fetialy y-dight with herbes wote; 3205
And he him-self as swete as is the rote (20)
Of licorys, or any cetewale.

His Almageste and bokes grete and smale,
His astrelabie, longinge for his art,

His augrim-stones layen faire a-part 3210
On shelves couched at his beddes heed:
His presse y-covered with a falding reed.
And al above ther lay a gay sautrye,

On which he made a nightes melodye
So swetely, that al the chambre rong; 3215
And Angelus ad virginem he song; (30)
And after that he song the kinges note;

Ful often blessed was his mery throte.
And thus this swete clerk his tyme spent
After his freendes finding and his rente.

This Carpenter had wedded newe a wyf
Which that he lovede more than his lyf;
Of eightetene yeer she was of age.

Jalous he was, and heeld hir narwe in cage,

For she was wilde and yong, and he was old, (39) 3225

And demed him-self ben lyk a cokewold.
He knew nat Catoun, for his wit was rude,
That bad man sholde wedde his similitude.

Men sholde wedden after hir estaat,
For youthe and elde is often at debaat. 3230
But sith that he was fallen in the snare,
He moste endure, as other folk, his care.

Fair was this yonge wyf, and ther-with-al
As any welese hir body gent and smal.

A ceynt she werede barred al of silk, 3235
A barmclooth eek as whyt as morne milk
Up-on hir lendes, ful of many a gora. (51)

Whyt was hir smok and brouded al bifore
And eek bihinde, on hir coler aboute,
Of col-blak silk, with-inne and eek with-
oute. 3240

The tapes of hir whyte voluper
Were of the same suyte of hir coler;
Hir filet brood of silk, and set ful hie:
And sikerly she hadde a likerous y^e. 3244
Ful smale y-pulled were hir browes two,
And tho were bent, and blake as any sloo. (60)

She was ful more blisful on to see
Than is the newe pere-jonette tree; 3248
And softer than the wolle is of a wether.
And by hir girdel heeng a purs of lether
Tasseld with silk, and perled with latoun.
In al this world, to seken up and doun,
There nis no man so wys, that coude
thenche

So gay a popelote, or swich a wenche. 3254
Ful brighter was the shyning of hir hewe
Than in the tour the noble y-forged newe.
But of hir song, it was as loude and yerne
As any swalwe sittinge on a berne. (72)
Ther-to she coude skippe and make game,
As any kide or calf folwinge his dame. 3260

Hir mouth was swete as bragot or the meeth,

Or hord of apples leyd in hey or heeth.

Wingshe she was, as is a joly colt,

Long as a mast, and upright as a bolt.

A brooch she bear up-on hir lowe coler, 3265

As brood as is the bos of a bocler. (80)

Hir shoes were laced on hir legges hye ;

She was a prymerole, a pigges-nye

For any lord to leggen in his bedde,

Or yet for any good yeman to wedde. 3270

Now sire, and eft sire, so bifel the cas,

That on a day this hende Nicholas

Fil with this yonge wyf to rage and pleye,

Whyt that hir housbond was at Oseneye,

As clerkes ben ful subtile and ful queynte ;

And prively he caughte hir by the queynte,

And seyde, 'y-wis, but if ich have my

wille, (91) 3277

For derne love of thee, lemman, I spilla.'

And heeld hir harde by the haunche-bones,

And seyde, 'lemman, love me al at-ones,

Or I wol dyen, also god me save !' 3281

And she sprong as a colt doth in the trave,

And with hir heed she wryed faste away,

And seyde, 'I wol nat kisse thee, by my fey,

Why, lat be,' quod she, 'lat be, Nicholas,

Or I wol crye out "harrow" and "allas."

Do wey your handes for your curteisye !'

This Nicholas gan mercy for to crye,

And spak so faire, and profred hir so faste,

That she hir love him graunted atte

laste, (104) 3290

And swoor hir ooth, by seint Thomas of

Kent,

That she wol been at his comandement,

Whan that she may hir leyser wel espye.

'Myn housbond is so ful of jealousye,

That but ye wayte wel and been privee, 3295

I woot right wel I nam but deed,' quod she.

'Ye moste been ful derne, as in this cas.'

'Nay ther-of care thee noght,' quod

Nicholas, (112)

'A clerk had litherly biset his whyle,

But-if he coude a carpenter bigyle.' 3300

And thus they been acorded and y-sworn

To wayte a tyme, as I have told biforn.

Whan Nicholas had doon thus everydeel,

And thakked hir aboute the lendes weel,

He kist hir swete, and taketh his sautrye,

And pleyeth faste, and maketh melodye.

Than fil it thus, that to the parish-
chirche, (121)

Cristes owne werkes for to wirche,

This gode wyf wente on an holiday ;

Hir forheed shoon as bright as any day, 3310

So was it wasshen whan she leet hir werk.

Now was ther of that chirche a parish-

clerk,

The which that was y-cleped Absolon.

Crul was his heer, and as the gold it shoon,

And strouted as a fanne large and brode ;

Ful streight and even lay his joly shode ;

His rode was reed, his eyen greye as goos ;

With Powles window corven on his shooes,

In hoses rede he wente fetisly. (133)

Y-clad he was ful smal and proprely, 3320

Al in a kirtel of a light wachet ;

Ful faire and thikke been the poyntes set.

And ther-up-on he hadde a gay surplys

As whyt as is the blozme up-on the rys.

A mery child he was, so god me save, 3325

Wel coude he laten blood and clippe and shave, (140)

And make a chartre of lond or acquitaunce.

In twenty manere coude he trippe and

daunce

After the scole of Oxenforde tho,

And with his legges casten to and fro, 3330

And pleyen songs on a small rubile ;

Ther-to he song som-tyme a loud quynible ;

And as wel coude he pleye on his giterne.

In al the toun nas brewhous ne tavernne

That he ne visited with his solas, 3335

Ther any gaylard tappestere was. (150)

But sooth to seyn, he was somdel squaymons

Of farting, and of speche daungerous.

This Absolon, that jolif was and gay,

Gooth with a sencer on the holiday, 3340

Sensing the wyves of the pariah faste ;

And many a lovely look on hem he caste,

And namely on this carpenteres wyf.

To loke on hir him thoughte a mery lyf,

She was so propre and swete and likerous.

I dar wel seyn, if she had been a mous, (160)

And he a cat, he wolde hir hente anon.

This parish-clerk, this joly Absolon,

Hath in his herte swich a love-longinge,

That of no wyf ne took he noon offringe ;

For curteisye, he seyde, he wolde noon.

The mone, whan it was night, ful brighte

shoon, 3352

And Absolon his giterne hath y-take,
 For paramours, he thoughte for to wake.
 And forth he gooth, jolif and amorous, 3355
 Til he cam to the carpenteres hous (170)
 A litel after cokkes hadde y-crowe;
 And dressed him up by a shot-windowe
 That was up-on the carpenteres wal
 He singeth in his vois gentil and smal,
 'Now, dere lady, if thy wille be, 3361
 I preye yow that ye wol rewe on me,'
 Ful wel acordant to his giterninge.
 This carpenter awook, and herde him
 singe,
 And spak un-to his wyf, and seyde
 anon, 3365
 'What! Alision! herestow nat Absolon That chaunteth thus under our boures
 wal?' (181)
 And she answerde hir housbond ther-
 with-al,
 'Yis, god wot, John, I here it every-del.'
 This passeth forth; what wol ye bet than wel? 3370
 Fro day to day this joly Absolon
 So woveth hir, that him is wo bigon.
 He waketh al the night and al the day;
 He kempte hise lokkes brode, and made him gay; 3374
 He woveth hir by menes and brocage,
 And swoor he wolde been hir owne
 page; (190)
 He singeth, brokkinge as a nightingale;
 He sente hir piment, meeth, and spyced
 ale,
 And wafres, pyping hote out of the glede;
 And for she was of toune, he profred
 mede. 3380
 For som folk wol ben wonnen for richesse,
 And som for strokes, and som for gentil-lease.
 Somtyme, to shewe his lightnesse and
 maistrye,
 He pleyeth Herodes on a scaffold hye.
 But what availleth him as in this cas? 3385
 She loveth so this hende Nicholas, (200)
 That Absolon may blowe the bukkes horn;
 He ne hadde for his labour but a scorn:
 And thus she maketh Absolon hir ape,
 And al his earnest turneth til a jape. 3390
 Ful sooth is this proverbe, it is no lye,
 Men seyn right thus, 'alwey the nye slye

Maketh the ferre leve to be looth.'
 For though that Absolon be wood or
 wrooth, 3394
 By-cause that he fer was from hir sighte,
 This nye Nicholas stood in his lighte. (210)
 Now bere thee wel, thou hende Nicholas!
 For Absolon may waille and singe 'allas.'
 And so bifel it on a Saturday,
 This carpenter was goon til Osenay; 3400
 And hende Nicholas and Alisoun
 Accorded been to this conclusioun,
 That Nicholas shal shapen him a wyle
 This sely jalous housbond to bigyle;
 And if so be the game wente aright, 3405
 She sholde alepen in his arm al night,
 For this was his desyr and hir also. (221)
 And right anon, with-outen wordes mo,
 This Nicholas no lenger wolde tarie,
 But doth ful softe un-to his chambre
 carie 3410
 Bothe mete and drinke for a day or
 tweye,
 And to hir housbonde bad hir for to seye,
 If that he axed after Nicholas,
 She sholde seye she niste where he was,
 Of al that day she saugh him nat with yē;
 She trowed that he was in maladye, (230)
 For, for no cry, hir mayde coude him
 calle; 3417
 He nolde answer, for no-thing that mighte falle.
 This passeth forth al thilke Saturday,
 That Nicholas stille in his chambre lay,
 And eet and sleep, or dide what him
 leste, 3421
 Til Sunday, that the sonne gooth to reste.
 This sely carpenter hath greet merveyle
 Of Nicholas, or what thing mighte him
 eyle, 3424
 And seyde, 'I am adrad, by seint Thomas,
 It stondesth nat aright with Nicholas. (240)
 God shilde that he deyde sodeynly!
 This world is now ful tikel, sikerly;
 I saugh to-day a cors y-born to chirche
 That now, on Monday last, I saugh him
 wirche. 3430
 Go up,' quod he un-to his knave anon,
 'Clepe at his dore, or knokke with a stoon,
 Loke how it is, and tel me boldely.'
 This knave gooth him up ful sturdily,

And at the chambre-dore, whyl that he
stood, 3435
He cryde and knocked as that he were
wood :— (250)

'What! how! what do ye, maister
Nicholay?

How may ye slepen al the longe day?'
But al for noght, he herde nat a word;
An hole he fond, ful lowe up-on a bord, Ther as the cat was wont in for to crepe; 3441

And at that hole he looked in ful depe,
And at the laste he hadde of him a sighte.
This Nicholas sat gaping ever up-righte,
As he had kyked on the newe mone. 3445
Adoun he gooth, and tolde his maister
sone (260)

In what array he saugh this ilke man.
This carpenter to blessen him bigan,
And seyde, 'help us, seinte Frideswyde!
A man woot litel what him shal bityde.
This man is falle, with his astromye, 3451

In som woodnesse or in som agonye;
I thoughte ay wel how that it sholde be!
Men sholde nat knowe of goddes privete.
Ye, blessed be alwey a lewed man, 3455
That noght but only his bilve can! (270)
So ferde another clerk with astromye;
He walked in the feeldes for to pry
Up-on the sterres, what ther sholde bifalle,
Til he was in a marle-pit y-falle; 3460
He saugh nat that. But yet, by seint
Thomas,

Me reweth sore of hende Nicholas,
He shal be rated of his studying,
If that I may, by Jesus, hevене king!

Get me a staf, that I may underspore, Whyl that thou, Robin, hevest up the dore. (280) 3466

He shal out of his studying, as I geese'—
And to the chambre-dore he gan him
dresse.

His knave was a strong carl for the nones,
And by the haspe he haf it up atones;
In-to the floor the dore fil anon. 3471
This Nicholas sat ay as stille as stoon,
And ever gaped upward in-to the eir.
This carpenter wende he were in despair,
And hente him by the sholdres mightily,
And shook him harde, and cryde spitonsly, (290) 3476

'What! Nicholay! what, how! what!
loke adoun!

Awake, and thenk on Cristes passioun;
Ierouchethee from elves and fro wightes!'
Ther-with the night-spel seyde he anonrightes 3480

On foure halves of the hous aboute,
And on the threshfold of the dore with-
oute :—

'Jesu Crist, and seynt Benedight, Blesse this hous from every wikked
wight,
For nightes verye, the white paternoster!— 3485

Where wentestow, seynt Petres soster?'
And atte laste this hende Nicholas (301)
Gan for to syke sore, and seyde, 'allas!
Shal al the world be lost eftsones now?'

This carpenter answerde, 'what seystow? 3490
What! thenk on god, as we don, men that swinke.'

This Nicholas answerde, 'fecche me
drinke;
And after wol I speke in privete
Of certeyn thing that toucheth me and
thee; 3494
I wol telle it non other man, certeyn.'

This carpenter goth down, and comth
ageyn, (310)
And broghte of mighty ale a large quart;
And whan that ech of hem had dronke
his part,

This Nicholas his dore faste shette, 3499
And doun the carpenter by him he sette.

He seyde, 'John, myn hoste lief and
dere,
Thou shalt up-on thy trouthe swere me
here,

That to no wight thou shalt this conseil
wreye;

For it is Cristes conseil that I seye, 3504
And if thou telle it man, thou art forlore;
For this vengance thou shalt han ther-
fore, (320)

That if thou wreye me, thou shalt be
wood!'

'Nay, Crist forbede it, for his holy blood!'
Quod tho this sely man, 'I nam no labbe, Ne, though I seye, I nam nat lief to gabbe. 3510

Sey what thou wolt, I shal it never telle
To child ne wyf, by him that harwed
helle!

'Now John,' quod Nicholas, 'I wol nat
lye;

I have y-founde in myn astrologye,
As I have loked in the mone bright, 3515
That now, a Monday next, at quarter-
night, (330)

Shal falle a reyn and that so wilde and
wood,

That half so greet was never Noës flood.
This world,' he seyde, 'in lasse than in an hour

Shal al be dreynt, so hidous is the shour;
Thus shal mankynde drenche and lese
hir lyf.' 3521

This carpenter answerde, 'allas, my wyf!
And shal she drenche? allas! myn Ali-
soun!'

For sorwe of this he fil almost adoun,
And seyde, 'is ther no remedie in this
cas?' 3525

'Why, yis, for gode,' quod hende
Nicholas, (340)

'If thou wolt werken after lore and reed;
Thou mayst nat werken after thyn owene
heed.

For thus seith Salomon, that was ful
trewe,

"Werk al by conseil, and thou shalt nat
rewa." 3530

And if thou werken wolt by good conseil,
I undertake, with-uten mast and seyl,
Yet shal I saven hir and thee and me.

Hastow nat herd how saved was Noë, Whan that our lord had warned him
biforn 3535

That al the world with water sholde be lorne?' (350)

'Yis,' quod this carpenter, 'ful yore
ago.'

'Hastow nat herd,' quod Nicholas, 'also
The sorwe of Noë with his felawshipe, 3539
Er that he mighte gete his wyf to shipe?
Him had be lever, I dar wel undertake,

At thilke tyme, than alle hise wetheres
blake,

That she hadde had a ship hir-self allone.
And ther-fore, wostou what is best to
done? 3544

This asketh haste, and of an hastif thing
Men may nat preche or maken taryng.

Anon go gete us faste in-to this in (361)
A kneding-trogh, or elles a kimelin,
For ech of us, but loke that they be
large,

In whiche we mowe swimme as in a barge,
And han ther-inne vitaille suffisant 3551
But for a day; fy on the remenant!

The water shal aslake and goon away
Aboute pryme up-on the nexte day.

But Robin may nat wite of this, thy
knave, (369) 3555

Ne eek thy mayde Gille I may nat save;
Axe nat why, for though thou aske me,
I wol nat tellen goddes privetee.

Suffiseth thee, but if thy wittes madde,
To han as greet a grace as Noë hadde. 3560
Thy wyf shal I wel saven, out of doute, Go now thy wey, and speed thee heer-
aboute.

But whan thou hast, for hir and thee
and me,

Y-geten us thise kneding-tubbes thre,
Than shaltow hange hem in the roof ful
hye, 3565

That no man of our purveyaunce spye.
And whan thou thus hast doon as I have seyd, (381)

And hast our vitaille faire in hem y-leyd,
And eek an ax, to smyte the corde atwo

When that the water comth, that we may go, 3570

And broke an hole an heigh, up-on the gable,

Unto the gardin-ward, over the stable,
That we may frely passen forth our way

Whan that the grete shour is goon away—
Than shaltow swimme as myrie, I under-
take, 3575

As doth the whyte doke after hir drake.
Than wol I clepe, "how! Alison! how!

John! (391)

Be myrie, for the flood wol passe anon."
And thou wolt seyn, "hayl, maister

Nicholay!

Good morwe, I se thee wel, for it is day."
And than shul we be lordes al our lyf 3581
Of al the world, as Noë and his wyf.

But of o thyng I warne thee ful right,
Be wel avysed, on that ilke night 3584

That we ben entred in-to shippes bord,
That noon of us ne speke nat a word, (400)
Ne clepe, ne crye, but been in his prayere;
For it is goddes owne heste dera.

Thy wyf and thou mote hange fer
a-twinne,
For that bitwixe yow shal be no sinne
No more in looking than ther shal in
dede; 3591

This ordinance is seyde, go, god thee spede!
Tomorrow at night, whan men bon alle
aslepe,

In-to our kneding-tubbes wol we crepe,
And sitten ther, abyding goddes grace.
Go now thy way, I have no lenger space
To make of this no lenger sermoning. (411) Men seyn thus, "send the wyse, and sey no-thing;" 3598

Thou art so wys, it nedeth thee nat teche;
Go, save our lyf, and that I thee biseche.'

This sely carpenter goth forth his way.
Ful ofte he seith 'allas' and 'weylawaye',
And to his wyf he tolde his privetee;
And she was war, and knew it bet than
he, (418) 3604

What al this queynte cast was for to seye,
But natheles she ferde as she wolde deye,
And seyde, 'allas! go forth thy wey anon,
Help us to scape, or we ben lost echon;
I am thy trewe verray wedded wyf;
Go, dere spouse, and help to save our
lyf.' 3610

Lo! which a greet thyng is affeccioun!
Men may dye of imaginacioun,
So depe may impressioun be take.
This sely carpenter biginneth quake; 3614
Him thinketh verrailly that he may see
Noes flood come walwing as the see (430)
To drenchen Alisoun, his hony dera.
He wepeth, weyleth, maketh sory chere,
He syketh with ful many a sory swogh.
He gooth and geteth him a kneding-trogh,
And after that a tubbe and a kimelin, 3621
And prively he sente hem to his in,
And heng hem in the roof in privetee.
His owne hand he made laddres three,
To climben by the ronges and the stalkes
Un-to the tubbes hanginge in the balkes,
And hem vitailed, bothe trogh and tubbe,
With breed and chese, and good ale in a jubbe, (442) 3628

Suffysinge right y-nogh as for a day.
But er that he had maad al this array,
He sente his knave, and eek his wenche
also, 3631

Up-on his nede to London for to go.
And on the Monday, whan it drow to
night,

He shette his dore with-oute candal-light,
And dressed al thing as it sholde be. 3635
And shortly, up they clomben alle three;
They sitten stille wel a furlong-way. (451)

'Now, Pater-noster, clom!' seyde Nicho-
lay,
And 'clom,' quod John, and 'clom,' seyde
Alisoun.

This carpenter seyde his devocioun, 3640
And stille he sit, and biddeth his prayere,
Awaityng on the reyn, if he it here.

The dede sleep, for wery bisinesse,
Fil on this carpenter right, as I gesse,
Aboute corfew-tyme, or litel more; 3645
For travail of his goost he groneth
sore, (460)

And eft he routeth, for his heed mislay.
Doun of the laddre stalketh Nicholay;
And Alisoun, ful softe adoun she spedde;
With-outen wordes mo, they goon to
bedde 3650

Ther-as the carpenter is wont to lye.
Ther was the revel and the melodye;
And thus lyth Alison and Nicholas,
In bisinesse of mirthe and of solas, 3654
Til that the belle of laudes gan to ringe,
And freres in the chauncel gonne singe.

This parish-clerk, this amorous Ab-
solon, (471)

That is for love alway so wo bigon,
Up-on the Monday was at Oseneye With companye, him to disporte and
pleye, 3660

And axed up-on cas a cloisterer
Ful prively after John the carpenter;
And he drough him a-part out of the
chirche,

And seyde, 'I noot, I saugh him here nat
wirche

Sin Saterdag; I trow that he be went 3665
For timber, ther our abbot hath him
sent; (480)

For he is wont for timber for to go,
And dwellen at the garge a day or two;

Or elles he is at his hous, certeyn ; 3669
Wher that he be, I can nat sothly seyn.'

This Absolon ful joly was and light,
And thoghte, 'now is tyme wake al night ;
For sikirly I saugh him nat stringe 3673
Aboute his dore sin day bigan to springe.
So moot I thryve, I shal, at cokkes crowe,
Ful prively knocken at his windowe (490)
That stant ful lowe up-on his boures wal.
To Alison now wol I tellen al
My love-longing, for yet I shal nat
misse

That at the leste wey I shal hir kisse. 3680
Som maner confort shal I have, parfay,
My month hath ioched al this longe
day ;

That is a signe of kissing atte leste.
Al night me mette eek, I was at a feste.
Therfor I wol gon slepe an heure or
tweye, 3685
And al the night than wol I wake and
pleye.' (500)

'Whan that the firste cok hath crowe,
anon

Up rist this joly lover Absolon,
And him arrayeth gay, at point-devya.
But first he cheweth greyn and lycorys,
To smellen swete, er he had kembd his
heer. 3691

Under his tonge a trewe love he beer,
For ther-by wende he to ben gracios.
He rometh to the carpenteres hous,
And stille he stant under the shotwindowe ; (509) 3695

Un-to his brest it raughte, it was so lowe ;
And softe he cogheth with a semi-soun—
'What do ye, hony-comb, swete Alisoun ?
My faire brid, my swete cinamome, Awaketh, lemman myn, and speketh to
me ! 3700

Wel lital thenken ye up-on my wo,
That for your love I swete ther I go.
No wonder is thogh that I swelte and
swete ;

I moorne as doth a lamb after the tete.
Y-wis, lemman, I have swich love-long-
inge, 3705

That lyk a turtel trewe is my moorninge ;
I may nat ete na more than a mayde.' (521)
'Go fro the window, Jakke fool,' she
sayde,

'As help me god, it wol nat be "com be
me," 3709

I love another, and elles I were to blame,
Wel bet than thee, by Jesu, Absolon !
Go forth thy wey, or I wol caste a ston,
And lat me slepe, a twenty devel wey !'

'Allas,' quod Absolon, 'and weylawey !
That trewe love was ever so yvel biset !
Than kisse me, sin it may be no bet, (530)
For Jesus love and for the love of me.'

'Wiltow than go thy wey ther-with ?'
quod she.

'Ye, certes, lemman,' quod this Ab-
solon.

'Thanne make thee redy,' quod she,
'I come anon ;' 3720

†And un-to Nicholas she seyde stille, †'Now hust, and thou shalt laughen al thy fille.'

This Absolon doun sette him on his knees,

And seyde, 'I am a lord at alle degrees ;
For after this I hope ther cometh more !
Lemman, thy grace, and swete brid, thyn
ore !' (540) 3726

The window she undoth, and that in haste,

'Have do,' quod she, 'com of, and speed
thee faste,

Lest that our neighebores thee espye.'

This Absolon gan wype his mouth ful
drye ; 3730

Derk was the night as pich, or as the cole,
And at the window out she putte hir hole,
And Absolon, him fil no bet ne wers,
But with his mouth he kiste hir naked
ers

Ful savourly, er he was war of this. 3735 Abak he sterte, and thoghte it was
amis, (550)

For wel he wiste a womman hath no
berd ;

He felte a thing al rough and long y-herd,
And seyde, 'fy ! allas ! what have I do ?'

'Tehee !' quod she, and clapte the window to ; 3740

And Absolon goth forth a sory pas.

'A berd, a berd !' quod hende Nicholas,
'By goddes corpus, this goth fairo and
weel !'

This sely Absolon herde every deel, 3744

And on his lippe he gan for anger byte;
And to him-self he seyde, 'I shal thee
quyte!' (560)

Who rubbeth now, who froteth now his lippes

With dust, with sond, with straw, with cloth, with chippes,

But Absolon, that seith ful ofte, 'allas!

My soule bitake I un-to Sathanas, 3750

But me wer lever than al this toun,'
quod he,

'Of this despyt awroken for to be!

Allas!' quod he, 'allas! I ne hadde ybleynt!'

His hote love was cold and al y-queynt;

For fro that tyme that he had kiste hir
ers, 3755

Of paramours he sette nat a kers, (570)

For he was heled of his maladye;

Ful ofte paramours he gan deffye,

And weep as dooth a child that is y-bete.

A softe paas he wente over the strete 3760

Un-til a smith men cleped daun Gerveys,

That in his forge smithed plough-harneys;

He sharpeth shaar and culter bisily.

This Absolon knokketh al esily,

And seyde, 'undo, Gerveys, and that
anon.' 3765

'What, who artow?' 'It am I, Ab-
solon.' (580)

'What, Absolon! for Cristes swete tree,

Why ryse ye so rathe, ey, ben'cite!

What eyleth yow? som gay gerl, god it
woot, 3669

Hath brought yow thus up-on the viritoot;
By seynt Note, ye woot wel what I mene.'

This Absolon ne roghte nat a bene

Of al his pley, no word agayn he yaf;

He hadde more tow on his distaf

Than Gerveys knew, and seyde, 'freend
so dere, (589) 3775

That hote culter in the chimenee here,'

As lene it me, I have ther-with to done,

And I wol bringe it thee agayn ful sone.'

Gerveys answerde, 'certes, were it gold,
Or in a poke nobles alle untold, 3780

Thou sholdest have, as I am trewe smith;
Ey, Cristes foo! what wol ye do ther-with?'

'Ther-of,' quod Absolon, 'be as be may;
I shal wel telle it thee to-morwe day'—

And caughte the culter by the colde
stele. 3785

Ful softe out at the dore he gan to stele,

And wente un-to the carpenteres wal. (601)

He cogheth first, and knokketh ther-
with-al

Upon the windowe, right as he dide er.

This Alison answerde, 'Who is ther 3790

That knokketh so? I warante it a theef.'

'Why, nay,' quod he, 'god woot, my swete leef,

I am thyn Absolon, my dereling!

Of gold,' quod he, 'I have thee broght
a ring;

My moder yaf it me, so god me save, 3795

Ful fyn it is, and ther-to wel y-grave; (610)

This wol I yeve thee, if thou me kisse!'

This Nicholas was risen for to pisse,

And thoughte he wolde amenden al the
jape, 3799

He sholde kisse his ers er that he scape.

And up the windowe dide he hastily,

And out his ers he putteth prively

Over the buttock, to the haunche-bon;

And ther-with spak this clerk, this

Absolon,

'Spek, swete brid, I noot nat wher thou art.' 3805

This Nicholas anon leet flee a fart, (620)

As greet as it had been a thonder-dent,

That with the strook he was almost
y-blent;

And he was redy with his iren hoot,

And Nicholas amide the ers he smoot.

Of gooth the skin an hande-brede
aboute, 3811

The hote culter brende so his tonte,

And for the smert he wende for to dye.

As he were wood, for wo he gan to crye—

'Help! water! water! help, for goddes
herte!' 3815

This carpenter out of his slomber sterte,

And herde oon cryen 'water' as he were
wood, (631)

And thoughte, 'Allas! now comth Nowelis flood!'

He sit him up with-uten wordes mo, 3819

And with his ax he smoot the corde a-two,
And down goth al; he fond neither to

selle,

Ne breed ne ale, til he cam to the selle

Up-on the floor; and ther aswowne he lay.

Up sterte hir Alison, and Nicholay, And cryden 'out' and 'harrow' in the
strete. (630) 3825

The neighebores, bothe smale and grete,
In ronnen, for to gauren on this man,
That yet aswowne he lay, bothe pale and
wan;

For with the fal he brosten hadde his arm;

But stonde he moste un-to his owne
harm. 3830

For whan he spak, he was anon bore
doun

With hende Nicholas and Alisoun.
They tolden every man that he was
wood,

He was agast so of 'Nowélis flood'
Thurgh fantasye, that of his vanitee 3835
He hadde y-boght him kneding-tubbes
three, (650)

And hadde hem hanged in the roof above;
And that he preyed hem, for goddes love,
To sitten in the roof, par compaigne. 3839

The folk gan laughen at his fantasye;
In-to the roof they kyken and they gape,
And turned al his harm un-to a jape.

For what so that this carpenter answerde,
It was for noght, no man his reson herde;
With othes grete he was so sworn adoun;
That he was holden wood in al the toun;
For every clerk anon-right heeld with
other. (661) 3847

They seyde, 'the man is wood, my leve
brother;'

And every wight gan laughen of this stryf.

Thus swyved was the carpenteres wyf,
For al his keping and his jalousye; 3851
And Absolon hath kist hir nether y8;
And Nicholas is scalded in the tonte.

This tale is doon, and god save al the
route! (668) 3854

Here endeth the Millere his tale

THE REEVE'S PROLOGUE.

The prologe of the Reves tale.

WHAN folk had laughen at this nyce cas
Of Absolon and hende Nicholas, 3856
Diverse folk diversely they seyde;
But, for the more part, they longhe and
pleyde,

Ne at this tale I saugh no man him greve,
But it were only Osewold the Reve, 3860
By-cause he was of carpenteres craft.

A litel ire is in his herte y-laft,
He gan to grucche and blamed it a lyte.

'So thee'k,' quod he, 'ful wel coude
I yow quyte (10)

With blering of a proud milleres y8, 3865
If that me liste speke of ribandye.

But ik am old, me list not pley for age;
Gras-tyme is doon, my fodder is now forage,

This whyte top wryteth myne olde yeres,
Myn herte is al-so mowled as myne heres,
But-if I fare as dooth an open-ers; 3871
That ilke fruit is ever leng the wers,
Til it be roten in mullok or in stree.

We olde men, I drede, so fare we; (20)
Til we be roten, can we nat be rype; 3875
We hopen ay, whyl that the world wol pype.

For in oure wil ther stiketh ever a nayl,
To have an hoor heed and a grene tayl,
As hath a leak; for thogh our might be
goon,

Our wil desireth folie ever in con. 3880
For whan we may nat doon, than wol we
speke;

Yet in our asshen olde is fyr y-reake.

Foure gledes han we, whiche I shal
 devyse,
 Avaunting, lying, anger, coveityse; (30)
 These foure sparkles longen un-to elde.
 Our olde lemes mowe wel been unwelde,
 But wil ne shal nat failen, that is sooth.
 And yet ik have alwey a coltes tooth, 3888
 As many a yeer as it is passed henne
 Sin that my tappe of lyf bigan to renne.
 For sikerly, whan I was bore, anon 3891
 Deeth drogh the tappe of lyf and leet it
 gon;
 And ever sith hath so the tappe y-ronne,
 Til that almost al empty is the tonne. (40)
 The stream of lyf now droppeth on the chimbe; 3895
 The sely tonge may wel ringe and chimbe
 Of wrecchednesse that passed is ful yore;
 With olde folk, save dotage, is namore.
 Whan that our host hadde herd this sermoning,
 He gan to speke as lordly as a king; 3900

He seide, 'what amounteth al this wit?
 What shul we speke alday of holy writ?
 The devel made a reve for to preche,
 And of a souter a shipman or a lecha. (50)
 Sey forth thy tale, and tarie nat the tyme,
 Lo, Depeford! and it is half-way pryme.
 Lo, Grenewich, ther many a shrewe is
 inne; 3907
 It were al tyme thy tale to biginne.'
 'Now, sires,' quod this Osewold the Reve,
 'I pray yow alle that ye nat yow greve, Though I answeere and somdel sette his howve; 3911
 For leveful is with force force of-showve.
 This dronke millere hath y-told us heer,
 How that bigyled was a carpenteer, (60)
 Peraventure in scorn, for I am oon. 3915
 And, by your leve, I shal him quyte anon;
 Right in his cherles termes wol I speke.
 I pray to god his nekke mote brake;
 He can wel in myn y8 seen a stalke, 3919
 But in his owne he can nat seen a balke.

THE REVES TALE.

Here biginneth the Reves tale.

At Trumpington, nat fer fro Cantebrigge,
 Ther goth a brook and over that a brigge,
 Up-on the whiche brook thorstant a melle;
 And this is verray soth that I yow telle.
 A Miller was ther dwelling many a day;
 As eny peock he was proud and gay. 3926
 Pypen he coude and ffishhe, and nettes
 bete,
 And turne coppes, and wel wrestle and
 shete;
 And by his belt he baar a long panade,
 And of a sward ful trenchant was the blade. 3930
 A joly popper baar he in his pouche; (11)
 Ther was no man for peril dorste him touche.

A Sheffield thwitel baar he in his hose; Round was his face, and camuse was his nose.
 As piled as an ape was his skulle. 3935
 He was a market-beter atte fulla.
 Ther dorste no wight hand up-on him
 legge,
 That he ne swoor he sholde anon abegge.
 A thief he was for sothe of corn and mele,
 And that a sly, and ussant for to stele.
 His name was hoten dēynous Simkin. (21)
 A wyf he hadde, y-comen of noble kin;
 The person of the toun hir fader was.
 With hir he yaf ful many a panne of bras,
 For that Simkin sholde in his blood allye.
 She was y-fostrid in a nonnerye; 3946

For Simkin wolde no wyf, as he sayde,
 But she were wel y-norissed and a mayde,
 To saven his estaat of yomanrye. 3949
 And she was proud, and pert as is a pye.
 A ful fair sighte was it on hem two; (31)
 On haly-dayes biforn hir wolde he go
 With his tipet bounden about his heed,
 And she cam after in a gyte of reed;
 And Simkin hadde hosen of the same.
 Ther dorste no wight clepen hir but
 'dame.' 3956

Was noon so hardy that wente by the weyo

That with hir dorste rage or ones pleye,
 But-if he wolde be slayn of Simkin 3959
 With panade, or with knyf, or boydekin.
 For jalous folk ben perilous evermo, (41)
 Algate they wolde hir wyves wenden so.
 And eek, for she was somdel smoterlich,
 She was as dignes as water in a dich;
 And ful of hoker and of bisemare. 3965
 Hir thoughte that a lady sholde hir
 spare,

What for hir kinrede and hir nortelrye
 That she had lerned in the nonnerye.

A doghter hadde they bitwixe hem two
 Of twenty yeer, with-outen any mo, 3970
 Savinge a child that was of half-yeer age;
 In cradel it lay and was a propre page.
 This wenche thikke and wel y-growen
 was, (53)

With camuze nose and yēn greye as glas;
 With buttokes brode and brestes rounde and hye, 3975

But right fair was hir heer, I wol nat lye.

The person of the toun, for she was feir,
 In purpos was to maken hir his heir
 Bothe of his catel and his messuage, 3979
 And straunge he made it of hir mariage.
 His purpos was for to bistowe hir hye (61)
 In-to som worthy blood of auncestrye;
 For holy chirches good moot been de-spended

On holy chirches blood, that is descended.
 Therefore he wolde his holy blood honoure,
 Though that he holy chirche sholde de-voure. 3986

Gret soken hath this miller, out of doute,
 With whete and malt of al the land aboute;
 And nameliche ther was a greet collegge,
 Men clepen the Soler-halle at Cantebregge,

Ther was hir whete and eek hir malt
 y-grounde. (71) 3991

And on a day it happed, in a stounde,
 Sik lay the maunciple on a maladye;
 Men wenden wisly that he sholde dye.
 For which this miller stal bothe mele and
 corn 3995

An hundred tyme more than biforn;
 For ther-biforn he stal but curteisly,
 But now he was a thief outrageously,
 For which the wardeyn chidde and made
 fare. (79)

But ther-of sette the miller nat a tare; 4000
 He craketh boost, and swoor it was nat so.

Than were ther yonge povre clerkes two,
 That dwelten in this halle, of which I seye.
 Testif they were, and lusty for to pleye,
 And, only for hir mirthe and revelrye,
 Up-on the wardeyn bisily they crye, 4006
 To yeve hem leve but a litel stounde
 To goon to mille and seen hir corn ygrounde;

And hardily, they dorste leye hir nekke,
 The miller shold nat stele hem half a pekke (90) 4010

Of corn by sleighte, ne by force hem reve;
 And at the laste the wardeyn yaf hem leve.
 John hight that oon, and Aleyn hight that other;

Of o toun were they born, that highte
 Strother, 4014

Fer in the north, I can nat telle where.

This Aleyn maketh redy al his gere,
 And on an hors the sak he caste anon.
 Forth goth Aleyn the clerk, and also John,
 With good sward and with bokeler by hir
 syde. (99) 4019

John knew the wey, hem nedede no gyde,
 And at the mille the sak adoun he layth.
 Aleyn spak first, 'al hayl, Symond, y-fayth;
 How fares thy faire doghter and thy wyf?'
 'Aleyn! welcome,' quod Simkin, 'by my
 lyf,

And John also, how now, what do ye heer?'
 'Symond,' quod John, 'by god, nede has na peer; 4026

Him boës serve him-selve that has na
 swayn,

Or elles he is a fool, as clerkes sayn.
 Our manciple, I hope he wil be doed, 4029
 Swa werkis ay the wanges in his heed.

And forthy is I come, and eek Alayn, (111)
To grinde our corn and carie it ham agayn;
I pray you spede us hethen that ye
may.'

'It shal be doon,' quod Simkin, 'by my fay; 4034

What wol ye doon whyl that it is in hande?'

'By god, right by the hoper wil I stande,' Quod John, 'and se how that the corn gas in;

Yet saugh I never, by my fader kin, 4038
How that the hoper wagges til and fra.'

Aleyn answerde, 'John, and wiltow swa,
Than wil I be byneth, by my croun, (121)
And se how that the mele falles down
In-to the trough; that sal be my disport.
For John, in faith, I may been of your sort;

I is as ille a miller as are ye.' 4045

This miller smyled of hir nycetes,
And thoughte, 'al this nis doon but for a
wyle;

They wene that no man may hem bigyle;
But, by my thrift, yet shal I blere hir y8
For al the sleighte in hir filosofye. 4050
The more queynte creakes that they make,
The more wol I stele whan I take. (132)
In stede of flour, yet wol I yeve hem bren.

"The gretteste clerkes been noight the wysest men,"

As whylom to the wolf thus spak the mare; 4055

Of al hir art I counte noight a tare.'

Out at the dore he gooth ful prively,
Whan that he saugh his tyme, softly;
He loketh up and down til he hath founde
The clerkes hors, ther as it stood y-bounde
Bihinde the mille, under a levesel; 4061
And to the hors he gooth him faire and
wel; (142)

He strepeth of the brydel right anon.
And whan the hors was loos, he ginneth
gon

Toward the fen, ther wilde mares renne, Forth with wehee, thurgh thikke and thurgh thenne. 4066

This miller gooth agayn, no word he
seyde,

But dooth his note, and with the clerkes
pleyde,

Til that hir corn was faire and wel ygrounde.

And whan the mele is sakked and ybounde, (150) 4070

This John gooth out and fynt his hors away,
And gan to crye 'harrow' and 'weylaway!
Our hors is lorn! Alayn, for goddes banes,
Step on thy feet, com out, man, al at ones!
Allas, our wardeyn has his palfrey lorn.'
This Aleyn al forgat, bothe male and oorn,
Al was out of his mynde his housbondrye.
'What? whilk way is he geen?' he gan to crye.

The wyf cam leping inward with a ren,
She seyde, 'allas! your hors goth to the fen (160) 4080

With wilde mares, as faste as he may go.
Unthank come on his hand that bond
him so,

And he that bettre sholde han knit the
reyn.'

'Allas,' quod John, 'Aleyn, for Cristes
peyne,

Lay down thy sward, and I wil myn als wa;
I is ful wight, god waat, as is a raa; 4086
By goddes herte he sal nat scape us bathe.
Why nadstow pit the capul in the lathe?
Il-hayl, by god, Aleyn, thou is a fonne!'

This sely clerkes han ful faste y-ronne
To-ward the fen, bothe Aleyn and eek
John. (171) 4091

And whan the miller saugh that they were gon,

He half a bussel of hir flour hath take,
And bad his wyf go knede it in a cake.

He seyde, 'I trows the clerkes were aferd;
Yet can a miller make a clerkes berd 4096
For al his art; now lat hem goon hir weye.
Lo wher they goon, ye, lat the children
pleye;

They gete him nat so lightly, by my croun!'

Thise sely clerkes rennen up and down
With 'keep, keep, stand, stand, jossa, warderere, (181) 4101

Ga whistle thou, and I shal kepe him
here!'

But shortly, til that it was verray night,
They coude nat, though they do al hir
might, 4104

Hir capul cacche, he ran alwey so faste,
Til in a dich they caughte him atte laste.

Wery and weet, as beste is in the reyn,
Comth sely John, and with him comth Aleyn.

'Allas,' quod John, 'the day that I was
born!

Now are we drive til hething and til soorn. (190) 4110

Our corn is stole, men wil us foles calle,
Bathe the wardeyn and our felawes alle,
And namely the miller; weylaway!

Thus pleyneth John as he goth by the
way

Toward the mille, and Bayard in his hond.
The miller sitting by the fyr he fond, 4116
For it was night, and forther mighte they
noght;

But, for the love of god, they him bisoght
Of herberwe and of ese, as for hir peny.

The miller seyde agayn, 'if ther be eny,
Swich as it is, yet shal ye have your part.
Myn hous is streit, but ye han lerned art;
Ye conne by argumentes make a place
A myle brood of twenty foot of spaca. (204)
Lat see now if this place may suffyse, 4125
Or make it roum with speche, as is youre
gyse.'

'Now, Symond,' seyde John, 'by saint Cutberd,

Ay is thou mery, and this is faire answerd.
I have herd seyde, man sal taa of twa
thinges 4129

Slyk as he fyndes, or taa slyk as he bringes.
But specially, I pray thee, hoste dere, (211) Get us som mete and drinke, and make us chere,

And we wil payen trewely atte fulle.

With empty hand men may na haukes
tulle;

Lo here our silver, redy for to spende.' 4135

This miller in-to toun his doghter sende
For ale and breed, and rosted hem a goos,
And bond hir hors, it sholde nat gon loos;
And in his owne chambre hem made a bed (219) 4139

Withshetes and with chalons faire y-sprede,
Noght from his owne bed ten foot or twelve.
His doghter hadde a bed, al by hir-selve,
Right in the same chambre, by and by;
It mighte be no bet, and cause why, 4144
Ther was no roumer herberwe in the place.
They soupen and they spoke, hem to solace,

And drinken ever strong ale atte beste.
Aboute midnight wente they to reste.

Wel hath this miller vernisshed his
heed;

Ful pale he was for-dronken, and nat
reed. 4150

He yexeth, and he speketh thurgh the nose (231)

As he were on the quakke, or on the
pose.

To bedde he gooth, and with him goth
his wyf.

As any jay she light was and jolyf,
So was hir joly whistle wel y-wet. 4155

The cradel at hir beddes feet is set,
To rokken, and to yeve the child to souke.

And whan that dronken al was in the crouke,

To bedde went the doghter right anon;
To bedde gooth Aleyn and also John; 4160

Ther nas na more, hem nedede no dwale.
This miller hath so wisly bibbed ale, (242)

That as an hors he smorteth in his sleep,
Ne of his tayl bihinde he took no keep.

His wyf bar him a burdon, a ful strong,
Men mighte hir routing here two furlong;

The wanche routeth eek par compaigne.

Aleyn the clerk, that herd this melodye,
He poked John, and seyde, 'slepestow?

Herdestow ever slyk a sang er now? 4170
Lo, whilk a compline is y-mel hem alle!

A wilde fyr up-on thair bodyes falle! (252)
Wha herkned ever slyk a ferly thing?

Ye, they sal have the flour of il ending.
This lange night ther tydes me na reste;

But yet, na fors; al sal be for the beste.
For John,' seyde he, 'als ever moot I
thryve,

If that I may, yon wanche wil I swyve.
Som csement has lawe y-shapen us; 4179

For John, ther is a lawe that says thus,
That gif a man in a point be y-greved, (261)

That in another he sal be releved.
Our corn is stoln, shortly, it is na nay,

And we han had an il fit al this day.
And sin I sal have neen amendement, 4185

Agayn my los I wil have esement.
By goddes saule, it sal neen other be!

This John answerde, 'Alayn, avyse thee,
The miller is a perilous man,' he seyde,

'And gif that he out of his sleep abryde

He mighte doon us bathe a vileinye.' (271)

Aleyn answerde, 'I count him nat a
fye;' 4192

And up he rist, and by the wenche he crepte.

This wenche lay upright, and faste slepte,
Til he so ny was, er she mighte ospye, 4195
That it had been to late for to crye,
And shortly for to seyn, they were at on ;
Now play, Aleyn ! for I wol speke of John.

This John lyth stille a furlong-wey or
two,

And to him-self he maketh routhe and
wo : (280) 4200

'Allas !' quod he, 'this is a wikked jape ;
Now may I seyn that I is but an ape.

Yet has my felawe som-what for his harm ;
He has the milleris doghter in his arm.
He aunted him, and has his nedes sped,
And I lye as a draf-sek in my bed ; 4206
And when this jape is tald another day,
I sal been halde a daf, a cokenay !

I wil aryse, and aunte it, by my fayth !
"Unhardy is unsely," thus men sayth.'

And up he roos and softly he wente (291)
Un-to the cradel, and in his hand it hente,
And bear it softe un-to his beddes feet.

Some after this the wyf hir routing leet,
And gan awake, and wente hir out to pisse, 4215

And cam agayn, and gan hir cradel misse,
And groped heer and ther, but she fond
noon.

'Allas !' quod she, 'I hadde almost mis-
goon ;

I hadde almost gon to the clerkes bed.
Ey, ben'cite! thanne hadde I foule y-sped :'
And forth she gooth til she the cradel
fond. (301) 4221

She gropeth alwey forther with hir hond,
And fond the bed, and thoghte noght but
good,

By-cause that the cradel by it stood, 4224
And niste wher she was, for it was derk ;
But faire and wel she creep in to the clerk,
And lyth ful stille, and wolde han caught a sleep.

With-inne a whyl this John the clerk up leep, 4228

And on this gode wyf he leyth on sore.
So mery a fit ne hadde she nat ful yore ;

He priketh harde and depe as he were
mad. (311)

This joly lyf han thise two clerkes lad
Til that the thriddie cok bigan to singe.

Aleyn wex wery in the dawenings, 4234
For he had swonken al the longe night ;
And seyde, 'far wel, Malin, swete wight !
The day is come, I may no lenger byde ;
But evermo, wher so I go or ryde,
I is thyn awen clerk, swa have I seel !'

'Now dere lemman,' quod she, 'go, far
weel ! (320) 4240

But er thou go, o thing I wol thee telle, Whan that thou wendeest homward by the melle,

Right at the entree of the dore bihinde,
Thou shalt a cake of half a bussel finde
That was y-maked of thyn owne mele,
Which that I heelp my fader for to stele.
And, gode lemman, god thee save and
kepe !' 4247

And with that word almost she gan to
wepe.

Aleyn up-rist, and thoughte, 'er that it dawe,

I wol go crepen in by my felawe ; 4250
And fond the cradel with his hand anon,
'By god,' thoghte he, 'al wrang I have misgon ; (332)

Myn heed is toty of my swink to-night,
That maketh me that I go nat aright. 4254
I woot wel by the cradel, I have misgo, Heer lyth the miller and his wyf also.'
And forth he goth, a twenty devel way,
Un-to the bed ther-as the miller lay.

He wende have copen by his felawe John ;
And by the miller in he creep anon, 4260
And caughte hym by the nekke, and softe
he spak : (341)

He seyde, 'thou, John, thou swynes-heed, awak

For Cristes saule, and heer a noble game.
For by that lord that called is seint
Jame,

As I have thryes, in this shorte night, 4265
Swyved the milleres doghter bolt-upright,
Whyl thou hast as a coward been agast.'
'Ye, false harlot,' quod the miller,
'hast ?

A ! false traitour ! false clerk !' quod he,
'Thou shalt be deed, by goddes dignitee !

Who dorste be so bold to disparage (351)
 My doghter, that is come of swich linage?
 And by the throte-bolle he caughte Alayn.
 And he hente hym despitously agayn,
 And on the nose he smoot him with his fest. 4275

Doun ran the bloddy stream up-on his brest;
 And in the floor, with nose and mouth
 to-broke,

They walwe as doon two pigges in a poke.
 And up they goon, and doun agayn anon,
 Til that the miller sporned at a stoon, 4280
 And doun he fl bakward up-on his wyf,
 That wiste no-thing of this nyce stryf;
 For she was falle aslepe a lyte wight (363)
 With John the clerk, that waked hadde
 al night.

And with the fal, out of hir sleep she
 breyde— 4285
 'Help, holy croys of Bromeholm,' she
 seyde,

'In manus tuas! lord, to thee I calle!
 Awak, Symond! the feend is on us falle, Myn herte is broken, help, I nam but
 deed;

There lyth oon up my wombe and up
 myn heed; 4290

Help, Simkin, for the false clerkes fighte.'
 This John sterte up as faste as ever he
 mighte, (372)

And graspeþ by the walles to and fro,
 To finde a staf; and she sterte up also,
 And knew the estres bet than dide this
 John, 4295

And by the wal a staf she fond anon,

And saugh a lital shimmering of a light,
 For at an hole in shoon the mone bright;
 And by that light she saugh hem bothe
 two,

But sikerly she niste who was who, 4300
 But as she saugh a whyt thing in hir ye.
 And whan she gan the whyte thing espye,
 She wende the clerk hadde wered a volu-peer. (383)

And with the staf she drough ay neer and
 neer, 4304

And wende han hit this Aleyn at the fulle,
 And smoot the miller on the pyled skulle,
 That doun he gooth and cryde, 'harrow!
 I dye!'

These clerkes bete him weel and lete him
 lye;

And greythen hem, and toke hir horsanon,
 And eek hir mele, and on hir wey they
 gon. (390) 4310

And at the mille yet they toke hir cake
 Of half a busshel flour, ful wel y-bake.

Thus is the proude miller wel y-bete,
 And hath y-lost the grinding of the whete,
 And payed for the soper every-deel 4315
 Of Aleyn and of John, that bette him weel.
 His wyf is swyved, and his doghter als;
 Lo, swich it is a miller to be fals!

And therefore this proverbe is seyð ful
 sooth, 4319

'Him thar nat wene wel that yvel dooth;
 A gylour shal him-self bigyled be.' (401)
 And God, that sitteth heighe in magestee,
 Save al this companye grete and smale!
 Thus have I quit the miller in my tale.

Here is ended the Reves tale.

THE COOK'S PROLOGUE.

The prologe of the Cokes tale.

THE Cook of London, whyl the Reve spak,
For joye, him thoughte, he clawed him
on the bak, 4326

'Ha! ha!' quod he, 'for Cristes passiou, n,
This miller hadde a sharp conclusioun
Upon his argument of herbergage!
Wel seyde Salomon in his langage, 4330
"Ne bringe nat every man in-to thyn
hous;"

For herberwing by nighte is perilous.
Wel oghte a man avyded for to be (9)
Whom that he broghte in-to his privetee.
I pray to god, so yeve me sorwe and care,
If ever, sith I highte Hogge of Ware, 4336
Herde I a miller bettere y-set a-werk.
He hadde a jape of malice in the derk.
But god forbede that we stinten here;
And therefore, if ye vouche-sauf to here
A tale of me, that am a povre man, 4341
I wol yow telle as wel as ever I can
A litel jape that fil in our citee.'

Our host answerde, and seide, 'I graunte
it thee; (20) 4344

Now telle on, Roger, loke that it be good;
For many a pastee hastow laten blood,
And many a Jakke of Dover hastow sold
That hath been twyes hoot and twyes cold.
Of many a pilgrim hastow Cristes curs,
For of thy persly yet they fare the wors,
That they han eten with thy stubbel-goos;
For in thy shoppe is many a flye loos. (28)
Now telle on, gentil Roger, by thy name.
But yet I pray thee, be nat wrooth for game,
A man may seye ful sooth in game and
pley.' 4355

'Thou seist ful sooth,' quod Roger, 'by my fey,
But "sooth pley, quaad pley," as the Fleming seith; (33)
And ther-fors, Harry Bailly, by thy feith,
Be thou nat wrooth, er we departen heer,
Though that my tale be of an hostileer.
But natheles I wol nat telle it yit, 4361
But er we parte, y-wis, thou shalt be quit.'
And ther-with-al he lough and made chere,
And seyde his tale, as ye shul after here.

Thus endeth the Prologe of the Cokes tale.

THE COKES TALE.

Heer bigynneth the Cokes tale.

A PRENTIS whylom dwelled in our citee,
And of a craft of vitailers was he; 4366
Gaillard he was as goldfinch in the shawe,
Broun as a berie, a propre short felawe,
With lokkes blake, y-kempt ful fetisly.
Dauncen he coude so wel and jolily, 4370
That he was cleped Perkin Revelour.
He was as ful of love and paramour

As is the hyve ful of hony swete;
Wel was the wenche with him mighte
meta. (10)
At every brydale wolde he singe and hoppe, 4375
He loved bet the tavern than the shoppe.
For whan ther any ryding was in Chepe,
Out of the shoppe thider wolde he lepe.

Til that he hadde al the sighte y-seyn,
And daunced wel, he wolde nat come
ageyn. 4380

And gadered him a meinee of his sort
To hoppe and singe, and maken swich disport.

And ther they setten steven for to mete
To pleyen at the dys in swich a strete. (20)

For in the toune nas ther no prentys, 4385

That fairer coude caste a paire of dys
Than Perkin coude, and ther-to he was free
Of his dispense, in place of privetee.

That fond his maister wel in his chaffare ;
For often tyme he fond his box ful bare.

For sikerly a prentis revelour, 4391
That haunteth dys, rict, or paramour,

His maister shal it in his shoppes abyen,
Al have he no part of the ministralleys ; (30)

For thefte and riot, they ben convertible,
Al conne he plays on giterne or ribible.

Revel and trouthe, as in a low degree,
They been ful wrothe al day, as men may
see.

This joly prentis with his maister bood,
Til he were ny out of his prentishood, 4400

Al were he snibbed bothe erly and late,
And somtyme lad with revel to Newgate ;
But atte lasto his maister him bithoghte,

Up-on a day, whan he his paper soghte, (40)
Of a proverbe that seith this same word,

' Wel bet is roten appel out of hord 4406
Than that it rotie al the remenaunt.'

So fareth it by a riotous servaunt ;
It is wel lasse harm to leto him pace,

Than he shende alle the servants in the
place. 4410

Therefore his maister yaf him acquitaunce,
And bad him go with sorwe and with
meschance ;

And thus this joly prentis hadde his
leve.

Now lat him riote al the night or leve. (50)

And for ther is no theef with-oute a louke, 4415

That helpeth him to wasten and to souke
Of that he brybe can or borwe may,

Anon he sente his bed and his array
Un-to a compeer of his owne sort,

That lovede dys and revel and disport, 4420
And hadde a wyf that heeld for counteenance (57)

A shoppes, and swyed for hir sustenance.

GROUP B.

INTRODUCTION TO THE MAN OF LAW'S PROLOGUE.

The wordes of the Hoost to the companye.

OUR Hoste sey wel that the brighte sonne
Th'ark of his artificial day had ronne
The fourthe part, and half an houre, and
more ;

And though he were not depe expert in
lore,

He wiste it was the eightetethe day 5
Of April, that is messenger to May ;

And sey wel that the shadwe of every tree
Was as in lengthe the same quantitee
That was the body erect that caused it.
And therfor by the shadwe he took his wit
That Phebus, which that shoon so clere and brighte, 11

Degrees was fyve and fourty clombe on
highte ;

And for that day, as in that latitude,
It was ten of the clokke, he gan conclude,
And so deynly he plighte his hors aboute.

'Lordinges,' quod he, 'I warne yow, al
this route, 16

The fourthe party of this day is goon ;
Now, for the love of god and of seint
John,

Leseth no tyme, as ferforth as ye may ;
Lordinges, the tyme wasteth night and
day, 20

And stoleth from us, what prively slepinge,
And what thurgh negligence in our wakinge,

As dooth the stream, that turneth never
agayn,

Descending fro the montaigne in-to playn.
Wel can Senek, and many a philosopre 25
Biwallen tyme, more than gold in cofre.

"For los of catel may recovered be,
But los of tyme shendeth us," quod he.

It wol nat come agayn, with-outen drede,
Na more than wol Malkins maydenhede,
Whan she hath lost it in hir wantownesse ;
Let us nat moulen thus in ydelnesse. 32

Sir man of lawe,' quod he, 'so have ye
blis,

Tel us a tale anon, as forward is ;
Ye been submitted thurgh your free
assent 35

To stonde in this cas at my jugement.
Acquiteth yow, and holdeth your biheste,
Than have ye doon your devoir atte leste.'

'Hoste,' quod he, 'departieux ich as-
sente,

To breke forward is not myn entente. 40
Biheste is dette, and I wol holde fayn
Al my biheste ; I can no better seyn.

For swich lawe as man yeveth another
wight,

He sholde him-selven usen it by right ; 44
Thus wol our text ; but natheles certeyn
I can right now no thrifty tale seyn,

†But Chaucer, though he can but lewedly
On metres and on ryming craftily,
Hath seyde hem in swich English as he can
Of olde tyme, as knoweth many a man. 50

And if he have not seyde hem, leve brother,
In o book, he hath seyde hem in another.
For he hath told of lovers up and doun
Mo than Ovyde made of mencion

In his Epistelles, that been ful olde. 55
What sholde I tellen hem, sin they ben
tolde ?

In youthe he made of Ceys and Alcion,
And sithen hath he spoke of everichon,
This noble wyves and this lovers eke.

Who-so that wol his large volume seke 60
Clepeth the Seintes Legende of Cupyde,
Ther may he seen the large woundes wyde
Of Lucesse, and of Babilan Tisbee ;

The swerd of Dido for the false Enee ;
The tree of Phillis for hir Demophon ; 65
The pleinte of Dianire and Hermion,
Of Adriane and of Isiphilee ;

The bareyne yle standing in the see ;
The dreynthe Leander for his Erro ;
The teres of Eleyne, and eek the wo 70

Of Brixseyde, and of thee, Ladomēta ;
The crueltee of thee, queen Medēa,
Thy litel children hanging by the hals
For thy Jason, that was of love so fals !

O Ypermestra, Penelopee, Alceste, 75
Your wyfthod he comendeth with the beste !
But certainly no word ne wryteth he
Of thilke wikke ensample of Canacee,

That lovede hir owne brother sinfully ;
Of swiche cursed stories I sey "fy" ; 80
Or elles of Tyro Apollonius,
How that the cursed king Antiochus

Birafte his doghter of hir maydenhede,
That is so horrible a tale for to rede,
Whan he hir throw up-on the pavement.
And therfor he, of ful avysement, 86

Nolde never wryte in none of his sermons
Of swiche unkinde abhominaciouns,
Ne I wol noon reherse, if that I may.

But of my tale how shal I doon this day ?
Me were looth be lykned, doutelees, 91
To Muses that men clepe Pierides—
Metamorphoseos wot what I mene :—

But nathelees, I recche nought a bene 94
Though I come after him with hawe-bake ;
I speke in prose, and lat him rymes make.
And with that word he, with a sobre chere,
Bigan his tale, as ye shal after here.

But of my tale how shal I doon this day ?
Me were looth be lykned, doutelees, 91
To Muses that men clepe Pierides—
Metamorphoseos wot what I mene :—

But nathelees, I recche nought a bene 94
Though I come after him with hawe-bake ;
I speke in prose, and lat him rymes make.
And with that word he, with a sobre chere,
Bigan his tale, as ye shal after here.

And with that word he, with a sobre chere,
Bigan his tale, as ye shal after here.

The Prologe of the Mannes Tale of Lawe.

O hateful harm ! condicion of poverté .
With thurst, with cold, with hunger so confounded ! 100

To asken help thee shameth in thyn herte ;
 If thou noon aske, with nede artow so wounded,
 That verray nede unwrappeth al thy wounde hid !
 Maugree thyn heed, thou most for indigence 104
 Or stele, or begge, or borwe thy despence !
 Thou blamest Crist, and seyst ful bitterly,
 He misdeparteth richesse temporal ;
 Thy neighebour thou wytest sinfully, (10)
 Andseyst thou hast to lyte, and he hath al.
 'Parfay,' seistow, 'somytyme he rekne shal,
 Whan that his tayl shal brennen in the glede, 111
 For he nocht helpeth needfulle in hir nede.'
 Herkne what is the sentence of the wyse :—
 'Bet is to dyen than have indigence ;' 114
 'Thy selve neighebour wol thee despyse ;'

If thou be povre, farwel thy reverence !
 Yet of the wyse man tak this sentence :—
 'Alle the dayes of povre men ben wikke ;'
 Be war therfor, er thou come in that prikke ! (21)

'If thou be povre, thy brother hateth thee, 120
 And alle thy freendes fleen fro thee, alas !'
 O riche marchaunts, ful of wele ben ye,
 O noble, o prudent folk, as in this cas !
 Your bagges ben nat filled with ambes as,
 But with sis cink, that renneth for your chaunce ; 125
 At Cristemasse merie may ye daunce !

Ye seken lond and see for your winninges,
 As wyse folk ye knowen al th'estaat (30)
 Of regnes ; ye ben fadres of tydinges
 And tales, bothe of pees and of debat. 130
 I were right now of tales desolat,
 Nere that a marchaunt, goon is many a yere,
 Me taughte a tale, which that yeshal here.

THE TALE OF THE MAN OF LAWE.

Here beginneth the Man of Lawe his Tale.

In Surrie whylom dwelte a compayne
 Of chapmen riche, and therto sadde and trewe, 135
 That wyde-wher sonten her spycerye,
 Clothes of gold, and satins riche of hewe ;
 Herchaffar was so thrifty and so newe, (40)
 That every wight hath deyntee to chaffare
 With hem, and eek to sellen hem hir ware. 140
 Now fel it, that the maistres of that sort
 Han shapen hem to Rome for to wende ;
 Were it for chapmanhode or for disport,
 Non other message wolde they thider sende,

But comen hem-self to Rome, this is the ende ; 145
 And in swich place, as thoughte hem avantage
 For her entente, they take her herbergage.
 Sojourned han this marchants in that toun (50)
 A certein tyme, as fel to hir plesance.
 And so bifel, that th'excellent renoun 150
 Of th'emperoures doghter, dame Custance,
 Reported was, with every circumstance,
 Un-to this Surrien marchants in swich wyse,
 Fro day to day, as I shal yow devyse.

This was the commune vois of every
man— 155

'Our Emperour of Rome, god him see,
A doghter hath that, sin the world bigan,
To rekne as wel hir goodnesse as beautee,
Nas never swich another as is she; (61)
I prey to god in honour hir sustene, 160
And wolde she were of al Europe the
quene.

In hir is heigh beautee, with-oute pryde,
Yowthe, with-oute grenehede or foye;
To alle hir werkes vertu is hir gyde,
Humbleesse hath slayn in hir al tyrannye.
She is mirour of alle curteisye; (68) 166
Hir herte is verray chambre of holinesse,
Hir hand, ministre of fredom for almesse.'

And al this vois was soth, as god is trewe,
But now to purpos lat us turne agayn; 170
These marchants han doon fraught hir
shippes newe,
And, whan they han this blisful mayden
seyn,

Hoom to Surrye been they went ful'fayn,
And doon her nedes as they han don yore,
And liven in wele; I can sey yow no more.

Now fel it, that these marchants stode in
grace 176

Of him, that was the sowdan of Surrye;
For whan they came from any strange
place, (80)

He wolde, of his benigne curteisye,
Make hem good chere, and bisily espye 180
Tydings of sondry regnes, for to lere
The wondres that they mighte seen or here.

Amonges othere thinges, specially
These marchants han him told of dame
Custance,

So gret noblesse in earnest, seriously, 185
That this sowdan hath caught so gret
plesance

To han hir figure in his remembrance,
That al his lust and al his bisy cure (90)
Was for to love hir whyl his lyf may dure.

Paraventure in thilke large book 190
Which that men clepe the heven, y-written
was

With sterres, whan that he his birthe took,
That he for love shulde han his deeth, allas!
For in the sterres, clerer than is glas,
Is written, god wot, who-so coude it rede, 195
The deeth of every man, withouten drede.

In sterres, many a winter ther-biforen,
Was written the deeth of Ector, Achilles,
Of Pompey, Julius, er they were born; (101)
The stryf of Thebes; and of Ercules, 200
Of Sampson, Turnus, and of Socrates
The deeth; but mennes wittes been so
dulle,
That no wight can wel rede it atte fulla.

This sowdan for his privee consell sente,
And, shortly of this mater for to pace, 205
He hath to hem declared his entente,
And seyde hem certein, 'but he mighte have grace (109)

To han Custance with-inne a litel space,
He nas but deed;' and charged hem, in
hys,
To shapen for his lyf som remedya. 210

Diverse men diverse thinges seyden;
They argumenten, casten up and dooun
Many a subtil resoun forth they leyden,
They speken of magik and abusioun;
But finally, as in conclusioun, 215
They can not seen in that non avantage,
Ne in non other wey, save mariage. (119)

Than sawe they ther-in swich difficultee
By wey of resoun, for to speke al playn,
By-cause that ther was swich diversitee 220
Bitwene hir bothe lawes, that they sayn,
They trowe 'that no cristen prince wolde
fayn

Wedden his child under oure lawes swete That us were taught by Mahoun our prophete.'

And he answerde, 'rather than I lese 225
Custance, I wol be cristned douteles;
I mot ben hires, I may non other chese.
I prey yow holde your arguments in
pees; (130)

Saveth my lyf, and beeth nocht reccheles
To geten hir that hath my lyf in cure; 230
For in this wo I may not longe endura.'

What nedeth gretter dilatacioun ?
 I seye, by tretis and embassadrye,
 And by the popes mediacioun,
 And al the chirche, and al the chivalrye,
 That, in destruccioun of Maumetrye, 236
 And in encroes of Cristes lawe dere,
 They ben acorded, so as ye shal here ; (140)

How that the sowdan and his baronage
 And alle his liges shulde y-cristned be, 240
 And he shal han Custance in mariage,
 And certein gold, I noot what quantitee,
 And her-to founden suffisant seurtee ;
 This same acord was sworn on eyther syde ;
 Now, faire Custance, almighty god thee
 gyde ! 245

Now wolde som men waiten, as I gesse,
 That I shulde tellen al the purveyance
 That th'empour, of his grete noblesse,
 Hath shapen for his doghter dame Custance. (151)

Wel may men knowe that so gret ordinance 250

May no man tellen in a lital clause
 As was arrayed for so heigh a cause.

Bisshopes ben shapen with hir for to wende,

Lordes, ladyes, knightes of renoun,
 And other folk y-nowe, this is the ende ;
 And notified is thurgh-out the toun 256
 That every wight, with gret devocioun,
 Shulde preyen Crist that he this mariage
 Receyve in gree, and spede this viage. (161)

The day is comen of hir departinge, 260
 I seye, the woful day fatal is come,
 That ther may be no lenger taryinge,
 But forthward they hem dresen, alle and some ;

Custance, that was with sorwe al overcome, 264

Ful pale arist, and dresseth hir to wende ;
 For wel she seeth ther is non other ende.

Allas ! what wonder is it though she wepte,
 That shal be sent to strange nacioun (170)
 Fro freendes, that so tendrely hir kepte,
 And to be bounden under subieccioun 270
 Of oon, she knoweth not his condicioun.

Housbondes been alle gode, and han ben yore,

That knownen wyves, I darsay yow no more.

'Fader,' she sayde, 'thy wrecched child Custance,

Thy yonge doghter, fostred up so softe, 275
 And ye, my moder, my soverayn plesance
 Over alle thing, out-taken Crist on-lofte,
 Custance, your child, hir recomandeth ofte (180)

Un-to your grace, for I shal to Surrye,
 Neshal I never seen yow more with ye. 280

Allas ! un-to the Barbre nacioun
 I moste anon, sin that it is your wille ;
 But Crist, that starf for our redempcioun,
 So yeve me grace, his hestes to fulfille ;
 I, wrecche womman, no fors though I spille. 285

Women are born to thraldom and penance,

And to ben under mannes governance.'

I trowe, at Troye, whan Pirrus brak the wal (190)

Or Ylion brende, at Thebes the citee, 289
 N'at Rome, for the harm thurgh Hanibal
 That Romayns hath venquished tymes three,

Nas herd swich tendre weping for pitee
 As in the chambre was for hir departinge ;
 Bot forth she moot, wher-so she wepe or singe.

O firste moeving cruel firmament, 295

With thy diurnal sweigh that crowdest ay
 And hurlest al from Est til Occident, (199)
 That naturally wolde holde another way,
 Thy crowding set the heven in swich array
 At the beginning of this fiers viage, 300
 That cruel Mars hath slayn this mariage.

Infortunat ascendent tortuous,
 Of which the lord is helples falle, alas !

Out of his angle in-to the derkest hous.
 O Mars, O Atasir, as in this cas ! 305

O feble mone, unhappy been thy pas !
 Thou knittest thee ther thou art nat receyved,

Ther thou were weel, fro thennes artow weyved. (210)

Imprudent emperor of Rome, allas ! 309
 Was ther no philosophre in al thy toun ?
 Is no tyme bet than other in swich cas ?
 Of viage is ther noon eleccioun,
 Namely to folk of heigh condicioun,
 Nat whan a rote is of a birthe y-knowe ?
 Allas ! we ben to lewed or to slowe. 315

To shippe is brought this woful faire mayde Solempnely, with every circumstance.
 'Now Jesu Crist be with yow alle,' she
 sayde ; (220)
 Ther nis namore but 'farewel ! faire
 Custance !' 319
 She peyneth hir to make good countenance,
 And forth I lete hir sayle in this manere,
 And turne I wol agayn to my matere.

The moder of the sowdan, wells of vyces,
 Espyed hath hir sones pleyn entente,
 How he wol lete his olde sacrifices, 325
 And right anon she for hir conseil sente ;
 And they ben come, to knowe what she
 mente.

And when assembled was this folk in-ferre,
 She sette hir down, and sayde as ye shal
 here. (231)

'Lordes,' quod she, 'ye knowen everichon,
 How that my sone in point is for to lete 331
 The holy lawes of our Alkaron,
 Yeven by goddes message Makometa,
 But oon avow to grete god I hete, 334
 The lyf shal rather out of my body sterte
 Than Makometes lawe out of myn herte !

What shulde us tyden of this newe lawe
 But thraldom to our bodies and penance ?
 And afterward in helle to be drawe (241)
 For we reneyed Mahoun our creance ? 340
 But, lordes, wol ye maken assurance,
 As I shal seyn, assenting to my lore,
 And I shall make us sanz for evermore ?'

They sworn and assenten, every man, 344
 To live with hir and dye, and by hir stonde ;
 And everich, in the beste wyse he can,
 To strengthen hir shal alle his freendes
 fonde ;
 And she hath this empryse y-take on
 honde, (250)

Which ye shal heren that I shal devyse,
 And to hem alle she spak right in this
 wyse. 350

'We shul first feyne us cristendom to take,
 Cold water shal not greve us but a lyte ;
 And I shal swich a feste and revel make,
 That, as I trowe, I shal the sowdan quyte.
 For though his wyf be cristned never so
 whyte, 355
 She shal have nede to wasshe away the
 rede,
 Thogh she a font-ful water with hir lede.'

O sowdanesse, rote of iniquitee, (260)
 Virago, thou Semyram the secounde,
 O serpent under femininitee, 360
 Lyk to the serpent depe in helle y-bounde,
 O feyned womman, al that may confounde
 Vertu and innocence, thurgh thy malyce,
 Is bred in thee, as nest of every vyce !

O Satan, envious sin thilke day 365
 That thou were chased from our heritage,
 Wel knowestow to wommen the olde way !
 Thou madest Eva bringe us in servage. (270)
 Thou wolt fordoon this cristen mariage.
 Thyn instrument so, weylaway the whyle !
 Makestow of wommen, whan thou wolt
 begyle. 371

This sowdanesse, whom I thus blame and
 warie,
 Leet prively hir conseil goon hir way.
 What sholde I in this tale lenger tarie ?
 She rydeth to the sowdan on a day, 375
 And seyde him, that she wolde reneye hir lay,
 And cristendom of preestes handes fonge,
 Repenting hir she hethen was so longe, (280)

Biseching him to doon hir that honour,
 That she moste han the cristen men to
 feste ; 380
 'To plesen hem I wol do my labour.'
 The sowdan seith, 'I wol don at your heste,'
 And kneeling thanketh hir of that requeste.
 So glad he was, he niste what to seye ;
 She kiste hir sone, and hoom she gooth
 hir weye. 385

Explicit prima para. Sequitur para secunda.

Arryved ben this Cristen folk to londe,
 In Surrie, with a greet solempne route,
 And hastily this sowdan sente his sonde,
 First to his moder, and al the regne
 aboute, (291)
 And seyde, his wyf was comen, out of
 doute, 390
 And preyde hir for to ryde agayn the
 quene,
 The honour of his regne to sustene.

Gret was the prees, and riche was th'array
 Of Surriens and Romayns met y-ferre;
 The moder of the sowdan, riche and gay,
 Receyveth hir with al-so glad a chere 396
 As any moder mighte hir doghter dere,
 And to the nexte citee ther biayde (300)
 A softe pas solempnely they ryde.

Noght trowe I the triumpe of Julius, 400
 Of which that Lucan maketh swich a bost,
 Was royaller, ne more curious
 Than was th'assemblee of this blisful host.
 But this scorpion, this wikked gost,
 The sowdanesse, for al hir flateringe, 405
 Caste under this ful mortally to stinge.

The sowdan comth him-self sone after this
 So royally, that wonder is to telle, (310)
 And welcometh hir with alle joye and blis.
 And thus in merthe and joye I lete hem
 dwelle. 410
 The fruyt of this matere is that I telle.
 When tyme cam, men thoughte it for the
 beste
 That revel stinte, and men goon to hir resta.

The tyme cam, this olde sowdanesse 414
 Ordeyned hath this feste of which I tolde,
 And to the feste Cristen folk hem dresse
 In general, ye! bothe yonge and olde. (319)
 Here may men feste and royaltee biholde,
 And deyntees mo than I can yow devyse,
 But al to dere they boughte it er they ryse.

Osodeyn wo! that ever art successour 421
 To worldly blisse, spreyned with bitter-
 nesse;
 Th'ende of the joye of our worldly labour;
 Wo occupieth the fyn of our gladnesse.
 Herke this conseil for thy sikernes, 425

Up-on thy glade day have in thy minde
 The unwar wo or harm that comth bi-hinde.

For shortly for to tellen at o word, (330)
 The sowdan and the Cristen everichone
 Ben al to-hewe and stiked at the bord, 430
 But it were only dame Custance allone.
 This olde sowdanesse, cursed crone,
 Hath with hir frendes doon this cursed
 dede,
 For she hir-self wolde al the contree lede.

Ne ther was Surrien noon that was converted 435
 That of the conseil of the sowdan woot,
 That he nas al to-hewe er he asterted.
 And Custance han they take anon, foot-
 hoot, (340)
 And in a shippe al steresles, god woot,
 They han hir set, and bidde hir lerne
 sayle 440
 Out of Surrye agaynward to Itayle.

A certain tresor that she thider ladde,
 And, sooth to sayn, vitaille gret plentes
 They han hir yeven, and clothes eek she
 hadde,
 And forth she sayleth in the salte see. 445
 O my Custance, ful of benignitee,
 O emperoures yonge doghter dere, (349)
 He that is lord of fortune be thy stere!

She blesseth hir, and with ful pitous voys
 Un-to the croys of Crist thus seyde she,
 'O clere, o welful auter, holy croys, 451
 Reed of the lambes blood full of pitee,
 That wesch the world fro the olde iniquitee,
 Me fro the feend, and fro his clawes kepe,
 That day that I shal drenchen in the
 depe. 455

Victorious tree, proteccioun of trewe,
 That only worthy were for to bere (359)
 The king of heven with his woundes newe,
 The whyte lamb, that hurt was with the
 spere, 459
 Flemer of feendes out of him and here
 On which thy limes faithfully extenden,
 Me keep, and yif me might my lyf t'amen-den.'

Yeres and dayes fleet this creature Thurghout the see of Grece un-to the strayte

Of Marrok, as it was hir aventure; 465
On many a sory meel now may she bayte;
After her deeth ful often may she wayte,
Er that the wilde wawes wol hir dryve
Un-to the place, ther she shal arryve. (371)

Men mighten asken why she was not
slayn? 470

Eek at the feste who mighte hir body save?
And I answer to that demaunde agayn,
Who saved Daniel in the horrible cave, Ther every wight save he, maister and knaue, 474
Was with the leoun frete er he asterte?
No wight but god, that he bar in his herte.

God liste to shewe his wonderful miracle
In hir, for we sholde seen his mighty werkes; (380)

Crist, which that is to every harm triacle,
By certain menes ofte, as knowen clerkes,
Doth thing for certain ende that ful
derk is 481

To mannes wit, that for our ignorance
Ne conne not knowe his prudent purveyance.

Now, sith she was not at the feste y-slawe,
Who kepte hir fro the drenching in the
see? 485

Who kepte Jonas in the fisshes mawe
Til he was spouted up at Ninivee?
Wel may men knowe it was no wight
but he (390)

That kepte peple Ebraik fro hir drench-
inge,
With drye feet thurgh-out the see pass-
inge. 490

Who bad the foure spirits of tempest,
That power han t'anoyen land and see,
'Bothe north and south, and also west
and est,

Anoyeth neither see, ne land, ne tree?
Sothly, the comaundour of that was he,
That fro the tempest ay this womman
kepte 496

As wel whan [that] she wook as whan she
slepte.

Wher mighte this womman mete and drinke have? (400)

Three yeer and more how lasteth hir
vitaille? 499

Who fedde the Egipcien Marie in the cave,
Or in desert? no wight but Crist, sans faill.

Fyve thousand folk it was as gret mervaille

With loves fyve and fisshes two to fed.

God sente his foison at hir grete nede.

She dryveth forth in-to our ocean 505
Thurgh-out our wilde see, til, atte laste,
Under an hold that nempnen I ne can,
Fer in Northumberlond the wawe hir
caste, (410)

And in the sond hir ship stiked so faste,
That thennes wolde it noght of al a tyde,
The wille of Crist was that she shulde
'abyde. 511

The constable of the castel down is fare
To seen this wrak, and al the ship he
soghte,

And fond this wery womman ful of care;
He fond also the tresor that she broghte.
In hir langage mercy she bisoghte 516
The lyf out of hir body for to twinne, (419)
Hir to delivere of wo that she was inne.

A maner Latin corrupt was hir speche,
But algates ther-by was she understonde;
The constable, whan him list no lenger
seche, 521

This woful womman broghte he to the
londe;
She kneleth down, and thanketh goddes
sonde.

But what she was, she wolde no man seye,
For foul ne fair, thogh that she shulde
deye. 525

She seyde, she was so mased in the see
That she forgat hir minde, by hir trouthe;
The constable hath of hir so greet pitee,
And eek his wyf, that they wepen for
routhe, (431) 529

She was so diligent, with-onten slouthe,
To serve and plesen everich in that place,
That alle hir loven that loken on hir face.

This constable and dame Hermengild his
wyf

Were payens, and that contree every-
where;

But Hermengild lovede hir right as hir
lyf, 535

And Custance hath so longe sojourned
there,

In orisons, with many a bitter tere,
Til Jesu hath converted thurgh his grace Dame Hermengild, constablesse of that
place. (441) 539

In al that lond no Cristen durste route,
Alle Cristen folk ben fled fro that contree Thurgh payens, that conquereden al
aboute

The plagis of the North, by land and see;
To Wallis fled the Cristianitee

Of olde Britons, dwellinge in this yle; 545
Ther was hir refut for the mene whyle.

But yet nere Cristen Britons so exyled (449)
That ther nere somme that in hir privetees
Honoured Crist, and hethen folk bigyled;
And ny the castel swiche ther dwelten
three. 550

That oon of hem was blind, and mighte
nat see

But it were with thilke yēn of his minde,
With whiche men seen, after that they ben blinde.

Bright was the sonne as in that someres
day, 554

For which the constable and his wyf also
And Custance han y-take the righte way

Toward the see, a furlong wey or two,
To playen and to romen to and fro; (460)

And in hir walk this blinde man they
mette 559

Croked and old, with yēn faste y-shette.

'In name of Crist,' cryde this blinde Britoun,

'Dame Hermengild, yif me my sighte
agayn.'

This lady wex affrayed of the soun, Lest that hir housbond, shortly for to
sayn,

Wolde hir for Jesu Cristes love han slayn,

Til Custance made hir bold, and bad hir
werche 566

The wil of Crist, as doghter of his chirche.

The constable wex abashed of that sight,
And seyde, 'what amounteth al this fare?'

Custance answerde, 'sire, it is Cristes
might, (472) 570

That helpeth folk out of the feendes snare.'

And so ferforth she gan our lay declare,
That she the constable, er that it were eve,
Converted, and on Crist made him beleve.

This constable was no-thing lord of this
place (477) 575

Of which I speke, ther he Custance fond,
But kepte it strongly, many wintres space,

Under Alla, king of al Northumberlond,
That was ful wys, and worthy of his hond

Agayn the Scottes, as men may wel here,
But turne I wol agayn to my matere. 581

Sathan, that ever us waiteth to bigyle,
Saugh of Custance al hir perfeccioun,

And caste anon how he mighte quyte hir
whyle,

And made a yong knight, that dwelte in that toun, 585

Love hir so hote, of foul affeccioun,
That verraily him thoughte he shulde

spille (489)
But he of hir mighte ones have his wille.

He woweth hir, but it availleth noght,
She wolde do no sinne, by no weye; 590

And, for despyt, he compassed in his
thoght

To maken hir on shamful deth to deye.
He wayteth whan the constable was aweye,

And prively, up-on a night, he crepte 594
In Hermengildes chambre whyl she slepte.

Very, for-waked in her orisouns, Slepeth Custance, and Hermengild also.

This knight, thurgh Sathanas tempta-
ciouns, (500)

Al softly is to the bed y-go,
And kitte the throte of Hermengild a-two,

And leyde the bloody knyf by dame
Custance, 601

And wente his wey, ther god yeve him
meschance!

Sone after comth this constable hoom
agayn,

And eek Alla, that king was of that lond,
And saugh his wyf despitously y-slayn, 605
For which ful ofte he weep and wrong his
hond,

And in the bed the bloody knyf he fond
By dame Custance; allas! what mighte
she seye? (510)

For verray wo hir wit was al awaye.

To king Alla was told al this meschance,
And eek the tyme, and where, and in what wyse 611

That in a ship was founden dame Custance,
As heer-biforn that ye han herd devyse.
The kinges herte of pitee gan agryse,
Whan he saugh so benigne a creature 615
Falle in disese and in misaventura.

For as the lomb toward his deeth is broght,
So stant this innocent bifore the king;
This false knight that hath this tresoun
wroght (521)

Berth hir on hond that she hath doon
this thing. 620

†But natheles, ther was [ful] greet moorning

Among the peple, and seyn, 'they can not
gesse

That she hath doon so greet a wikked-
nesse. 623

For they han seyn hir ever so vertuous,
And loving Hermengild right as her lyf.
Of this bar witnessse everich in that hous
Save he that Hermengild slow with his
knyf.

This gentil king hath caught a gret motyf
Of this witnessse, and thoghte he wolde
enquere (531)
Depper in this, a trouthe for to lere. 630

Allas! Custance! thou hast no champioun,
Ne fighte canstow nought, so weylaway!
But he, that starf for our redempeioun And hond Sathan (and yit lyth ther he lay)

So be thy stronge champioun this day! 635
For, but-if Crist open miracle kythe, Withouten gilt thou shalt be slayn as swythe.

She sette her doun on knees, and thus she sayde, (540)

'Immortal god, that savedest Susanne Fro false blame, and thou, merciful
mayde, 640

Mary I mene, doghter to Saint Anne,
Bifore whos child aungeles singe Osanne,
If I be gilteles of this felonye,
My socour be, for elles I shal dye!' 644

Have ye nat seyn som tyme a pale face,
Among a prees, of him that hath be lad
Toward his deeth, wher-as him gat no
grace,

And swich a colour in his face hath had,
Men mighte knowe his face, that was bistad, (551)

Amonges alle the faces in that route: 650
So stant Custance, and loketh hir aboute.

O quenes, livinge in prosperitee,
Duchesses, and ye ladies everichone,
Haveth som routhe on hir adversitee;
An emperoures doghter stant allone; 655
She hath no wight to whom to make hir
mone.

O blood royal, that stondest in this drede,
Fer ben thy freendes at thy grete nede!

This Alla king hath swich compassioun,
As gentil herte is fullfd of pitee, (562) 660
That from his yē ran the water doun.

'Now hastily do fecche a book,' quod he,
'And if this knight wol sweren how that
she

This womman slow, yet wole we us avyse Whom that we wole that shal ben our justyse.' 665

A Briton book, writen with Evangyles,
Was fet, and on this book he swoor anon
She gilte was, and in the mene whyles
A hand him smoot upon the nekke-boon,
That doun he fil stones as a stoon, (572) 670
And bothe his yē broste out of his face
In sight of every body in that place.

A vois was herd in general audience,
And seyde, 'thou hast desclaundred
gilteles

The doghter of holy chirche in hey
presence: 675

Thus hastou doon, and yet holde I my
pees.'

Of this mervaille agast was al the prees ;
As mased folk they stoden everichone, (580)
For drede of wreche, save Custance allone.

Greet was the drede and eek the repentance 680

Of hem that hadden wrong suspeioun
Upon this sely innocent Custance ;
And, for this miracle, in conclusioun,
And by Custances mediacioun,
The king, and many another in that
place, 685

Converted was, thanked be Cristes grace !

This false knight was slayn for his un-
trouthe

By jugement of Alla hastify ; (590)
And yet Custance hadde of his deeth gret
routhe.

And after this Jesus, of his mercy, 690
Made Alla wedden ful solempnely
This holy mayden, that is so bright and
shene,

And thus hath Crist y-maad Custance
a quene.

But who was woful, if I shal nat lye,
Of this wedding but Donegild, and na mo,
The kinges moder, ful of tirannye ? 696
Hir thoughte hir cursed herte brast a-two ;
She wolde noght hir sone had do so ; (600)
Hir thoughte a despit, that he sholde take
So strange a creature un-to his make. 700

Me list nat of the chaf nor of the stree
Maken so long a tale, as of the corn.
What sholde I tellen of the royaltee
At mariage, or which cours gooth biforn,
Who bloweth in a trompe or in an horn ?
The fruit of every tale is for to seye ; 706
They ete, and drinke, and daunce, and singe, and pleya.

They goon to bedde, as it was skile and
right ; (610)

For, thogh that wyves been ful holy
thinges,

They moste take in pacience at night 710
Swich maner necessities as been plesinges
To folk that han y-wedded hem with
ringes,

And leye a lyte hir holinesse asyde
As for the tyme ; it may no bet bityde.

On hir he gat a knave-child anon, 715
And to a bishop and his constable eke
He took his wyf to kepe, whan he is goon
To Scotland-ward, his fo-men for to seke ;
Now faire Custance, that is so humble and make, (621)
So longe is goon with childe, til that stille
She halt hir chambre, abyding Cristes
wille. 721

The tyme is come, a knave-child she ber ;
Mauricius at the font-stoon they him calle ;
This constable dooth forth come a mes-
sager,

And wroot un-to his king, that cleped
was Alle, 725

How that this blisful tyding is bifalle,
And othere tydings speedful for to seye ;
He tak 'th the lettre, and forth he gooth
his weye. (630)

This messenger, to doon his avantage, 729
Un-to the kinges moder rydeyth swythe,
And salueth hir ful faire in his langage,
'Madame,' quod he, 'ye may be glad and
blythe,

And thanke god an hundred thousand
sythe ;

My lady quene hath child, with-outen
doute, 734

To joye and blisse of al this regne aboute.

Lo, heer the lettres seled of this thing,
That I mot bere with al the haste I may ;
If ye wol saught un-to your sone the king,
I am your servant, bothe night and day.'
Donegild answerde, 'as now at this tyme,
nay ; (642) 740

But hear al night I wol thou take thy
reste,

Tomorwe wol I seye thee what me leste.'

This messenger drank sadly ale and wyn,
And stolen were his lettres prively
Out of his box, whyl he sleep as a swyn ;
And countrefeted was ful subtilly 746
Another lettre, wrought ful sinfully,
Un-to the king direct of this matere (650)
Fro his constable, as ye shul after here.

The lettre spak, 'the queen delivered was
Of so horrible a feendly creature, 751
That in the castel noon so hardy was
That any whyle dorste ther endure.
The moder was an elf, by aventure
Y-come, by charmes or by sorcerye, 755
And every wight hateth hir companye.'

We was this king whan he this lettre had seyn, (659)

But to no wighte he tolde his sorwes sore,
But of his owene honde he wroot ageyn,
'Welcome the sonde of Crist for evermore
To me, that am now lerned in his lore; 761 Lord, welcome be thy lust and thy
plesaunce,
My lust I putte al in thyn ordinaunce !

Kepeth this child, al be it foul or fair,
And eek my wyf, un-to myn hoom-oominge; 765
Crist, whan him list, may sende me an heir

More agreable than this to my lykinge.'
This lettre he sebeth, prively wepinge, (670)
Which to the messenger was take sone,
And forth he gooth; ther is na more to
done. 770

O messenger, fullid of dronkenesse,
Strong is thy breath, thy limes faltren ay,
And thou biwreyest alle secrenenesse.
Thy mind is lorn, thou janglest as a jay,
Thy face is turned in a newe array! 775
Ther dronkenesse regneth in any route,
Ther is no conseil hid, with-outen doute,

O Donegild, I ne have noon English digne
Un-to thy malice and thy tiranye! (681)
And therfor to the feend I thee resigne,
Let him endyten of thy traitorye! 781
Fy, mannish, fy! o nay, by god, I lye,
Fy, feendly spirit, for I dar wel telle, Though thou heer walke, thy spirit is in
helle! 784

This messenger comth fro the king agayn,
And at the kinges modres court he lighte,
And she was of this messenger ful fayn,
And plesed him in al that over she
mighte. (690)
He drank, and wel his girdel underpighte.

He slepeth, and he snoreth in his gyse 790
Al night, †un-til the sonne gan aryse.

Eft were his lettres stolen everichon
And countrefeted lettres in this wyse;
'The king comandeth his constable anon,
Up peyne of hanging, and on heigh juyse,
That he ne sholde suffren in no wyse 796
Custance in-with his regne for t'abyde
Thre dayes and a quarter of a tyde; (700)

But in the same ship as he hir fond,
Hir and hir yonge sone, and al hir gere,
He sholde putte, and croude hir fro the
lond, 801
And charge hir that she never eft come
there.'

O my Custance, wel may thy goost have
fere
And sleping in thy dreem been in penance,
When Donegild caste al this ordinaunce !

This messenger on morwe, whan he wook,
Un-to the castel halt the nexte wey, (709)
And to the constable he the lettre took;
And whan that he this pitous lettre sey,
Ful ofte he seyde 'allas!' and 'wey-
lawey!' 810

'Lord Crist,' quod he, 'how may this world endure?
So ful of sinne is many a creature !

O mighty god, if that it be thy wille,
Sith thou art rightful juge, how may it be
That thou wolt suffren innocents to spille,
And wikked folk regne in prosperitee? 816
O good Custance, allas! so wo is me
That I mot be thy tormentour, or deye
On shames deeth; ther is noon other
weye!' (721)

Wepen bothe yonge and olde in al that
place, 820
Whan that the king this cursed lettre
sente,

And Custance, with a deedly pale face,
The ferthe day toward hir ship she wente.
But natheles she taketh in good entente
The wille of Crist, and, kneling on the
stronde, 825
She seyde, 'lord! ay wel-com be thy
sonde !

Hir that me kepte fro the false blame
 Why! I was on the londe amonges yow,
 He can me kepe from harme and eek fro
 shame (731)
 In salte see, al-thogh I see nat how. 830
 As strong as ever he was, he is yet now.
 In him triste I, and in his moder dere,
 That is to me my seyl and eek my stere.'

Hir litel child lay weping in hir arm, 834
 And kneling, pitously to him she seyde,
 'Pees, litel sone, I wol do thee non
 harm.'

With that hir kerchef of hir heed she
 breyde,
 And over his litel yēn she it leyde; (740)
 And in hir arm she lulleth it ful faste,
 And in-to heven hir yēn up she caste. 840

'Moder,' quod she, 'and mayde bright,
 Marye,
 Sooth is that thurgh wommannes egge-
 ment

Mankind was lorn and damned ay to dye,
 For which thy child was on a croys y-
 rent;
 Thy blissful yēn sawe al his torment; 845
 Than is ther no comparisoun bitwene
 Thy wo and any wo man may sustene.

Thou sawe thy child y-slayn bifor thyn
 yēn, (750)
 And yet now liveth my litel child, parfay!
 Now, lady bright, to whom alle woful
 cryēn, 850

Thou glorie of wommanhede, thou faire
 may,
 Thou haven of refut, brighte sterre of day,
 Rewe on my child, that of thy gentillesse
 Rewest on every rewful in distresse!

O litel child, allas! what is thy gilt, 855
 That never wroughtest sinne as yet,
 pardee,

Why wil thyn harde fader han thee spilt?
 O mercy, dere constable!' quod she; (760)
 'As lat my litel child dwelle heer with
 thee;

And if thou darst not saven him, for
 blame, 860
 So kis him ones in his fadres name!'

Ther-with she loketh bakward to the
 londe,
 And seyde, 'far-wel, housbond rounthe-
 lees!'

And up she rist, and walketh doun the
 stronde

Toward the ship; hir folweth al the prees,
 And ever she preyeth hir child to holde
 his pees; 866

And taketh hir leve, and with an holy
 entente

She blesseth hir; and in-to ship she
 wente. (870)

Vitailed was the ship, it is no drede,
 Habundantly for hir, ful longe space, 870
 And other necessaries that sholde nede
 She hadde y-nogh, heried be goddes grace!
 For wind and weder almighty god pur-
 chace,

And bringe hir hoom! I can no better
 seye; 874
 But in the see she dryveth forth hir weye.

Explicit secunda pars.
 Sequitur pars tercia.

Alla the king comth hoom, sone after this,
 Unto his castel of the which I tolde, (779)
 And axeth wher his wyf and his child is.
 The constable gan aboute his herte colde,
 And pleynty al the maner he him tolde 880
 As ye han herd, I can telle it no bettere,
 And sheweth the king his seel and [eek]
 his lettre,

And seyde, 'lord, as ye comanded me
 Up peyne of deeth, so have I doon, certain.'
 This messenger tormented was til he 885
 Moete biknowe and tellen, plat and plein, Fro night to night, in what place he had leyn.

And thus, by wit and subtil enqueringe,
 Ymaged was by whom this harm gan
 springe. (891)

The hand was knowe that the lettre wroot,
 And al the venim of this cursed dede, 891
 But in what wyse, certainly I noot.

Th'effect is this, that Alla, out of drede,
 His moder slow, that men may plainly
 rede,

For that she traitour was to hir ligeaunce.
 Thus endeth olde Donegild with mes-
 chaunce. 896

The sorwe that this Alla, night and day,
 Maketh for his wyf and for his child also,
 Ther is no tonge that it telle may. (801)
 But now wol I un-to Custance go, 900
 That fleteth in the see, in peyne and wo, Fyve year and more, as lyked Cristes
 sonde,
 Er that hir ship approached un-to londe.

Under an hethen castel, atte laste,
 Of which the name in my text nocht
 I finde, 905
 Custance and eek hir child the see up-
 caste.

Almighty god, that saveth al mankind,
 Have on Custance and on hir child som
 minde, (810)
 That fallen is in hethen land eft-sonne, 909
 In point to spille, as I shal telle yow sonne.

Down from the castel comth ther many a wight

To gauren on this ship and on Custance.
 But shortly, from the castel, on a night,
 The lordes styward—god yeve him mes-
 chaunce!— 914

A theef, that had reneyed our creauunce,
 Com in-to ship allone, and seyde he sholde Hir lemman be, wher-so she wolde or
 nolde. (819)

Wo was this wrecched womman tho bigon,
 Hir child cryde, and she cryde pitouly;
 But blisful Marie heelp hir right anon;
 For with hir strugling wel and mightily
 The theef fil over bord al sodeinly, 922
 And in the see he dreynete for vengeance;
 And thus hath Crist unwemmed kept Custance.

Auctor.

O foule lust of luxurie! lo, thyn ende!
 Nat only that thou feyntest mannes
 minde, 926
 But verrailly thou wolt his body shende;
 Th'ende of thy werk or of thy lustes
 blinde (830)
 Is compleynyng, how many-oon may men
 finde

That nocht for werk som-tyme, but for th'entente 930
 To doon this sinne, ben outhur sleyn or
 shente!

How may this wayke womman han this
 strengthe

Hir to defende agayn this renegat?
 O Goliath, unmesurable of lengthe,
 How mighte David make thee so mat, 935
 So yong and of armure so desolat?
 How dorste he loken up-on thy dredful face?
 Wel may men seen, it nas but goddes
 grace! (840)

Who yaf Judith corage or hardinesse
 To sleen him, Olofernus, in his tente, 940
 And to deliveren out of wrecchednesse
 The peple of god? I seye, for this entente,
 That, right as god spirit of vigour sente
 To hem, and saved hem out of meschance,
 So sente he might and vigour to Custance.

Forth goth hir ship thurgh-out the narwe mouth 946

Of Jubaltar and Septe, dryving ay, Som-tyme West, som-tyme North and South, (850)

And som-tyme Est, ful many a very
 day,

Til Cristes moder (blessed be she ay!) 950
 Hath shapen, thurgh hir endeless good-
 nesse,

To make an ende of al hir hevinesse.

Now lat us stinte of Custance but a throwe,
 And speke we of the Romain Emperour,
 That out of Surrie hath by lettres knowe
 The slaughtre of Cristen folk, and dis-
 honour 956

Don to his doghter by a fals traitour,
 I mene the cursed wikked sowdanesse,
 That at the feste leet sleen both more and
 lesse. (861)

For which this emperour hath sent anon
 His senatour, with royal ordinance, 961
 And othere lordes, got wot, many oon,
 On Surriens to taken heigh vengeance.
 They brannen, sleen, and bringe hem to
 meschance

Ful many a day; but shortly, this is the ende, 965
Homward to Rome they shapen hem to
wende.

This senatour repaireth with victorie
To Rome-ward, sayling ful royally, (870)
And mette the ship dryving, as seith the storie,

In which Custance sit ful pitously. 970
No-thing ne knew he what she was, ne
why

She was in swich array; ne she nil seye
Of hir estaat, although she sholde deye.

He bringeth hir to Rome, and to his wyf
He yaf hir, and hir yonge sone also; 975
And with the senatour she ladde her lyf.
Thus can our lady bringen out of wo (879)
Woful Custance, and many another mo.
And longe tyme dwelled she in that place,
In holy werkes ever, as was hir grace. 980

The senatoures wyf hir aunte was,
But for al that she knew hir never the
more;

I wol no lenger tarien in this cas,
But to king Alla, which I spak of yore,
That for his wyf wepeth and syketh
sore, 985

I wol retourne, and lete I wol Custance
Under the senatoures governance.

King Alla, which that hadde his moder
slayn, (890)

Upon a day fil in swich repentance,
That, if I shortly tellen shal and plain, 990
To Rome he comth, to receyven his penance;

And putte him in the popes ordinance
In heigh and low, and Jesu Crist bisoghte Foryeve his wikked werkes that he
wroghte. 994

The fame anon thurgh Rome toun is born,
How Alla king shal come in pilgrimage,
By herbergeours that wenten him biforn;
For which the senatour, as was usage, (900)
Rood him ageyn, and many of his linage,
As wel to shewen his heighe magnificence
As to don any king a reverence. 1001

Greet chere dooth this noble senatour
To king Alla, and he to him also;
Everich of hem doth other greet honour;
And so bifel that, in a day or two, 1005
This senatour is to king Alla go
To feste, and shortly, if I shal nat lye, Custances sone wente in his companye.

Som men wolde seyn, at requeste of
Custance, (911)

This senatour hath lad this child to feste;
I may nat tellen every circumstance, 1011
Be as be may, ther was he at the leste.
But both is this, that, at his modres heste,
Biforn Alla, during the metes space,
The child stood, loking in the kinges face.

This Alla king hath of this child greet
wonder, 1016

And to the senatour he seyde anon,
'Whos is that faire child that stondeth
yonder?' (920)

'I noot,' quod he, 'by god, and by seint
John! 1019

A moder he hath, but fader hath he non
That I of woot'—but shortly, in a stounde, He tolde Alla how that this child was
founde.

'But god wot,' quod this senatour also,
'So vertuous a livers in my lyf, 1024

Ne saugh I never as she, ne herde of no
Of worldly women, mayden, nor of wyf;
I dar wel seyn hir hadde lever a knyf

Thurgh-out her breste, than been a womman wikke; (930)

Ther is no man coude bringe hir to that prikke.'

Now was this child as lyk un-to Custance
As possible is a creature to be. 1031

This Alla hath the face in remembrance
Of dame Custance, and ther-on mused he
If that the childes moder were aught she
That was his wyf, and prively he sighte,
And spedde him fro the table that he migte. 1036

'Parfay,' thoughte he, 'fantome is in myn
heed!

I oghte dame, of skilful jugement, (940)

That in the salte see my wyf is deed.
 And afterward he made his argument—
 'What woot I, if that Crist have hidre
 y-sent 1041
 My wyf by see, as wel as he hir sente
 To my contree fro thennes that she
 wente?'

And, after noon, hoom with the senatour
 Goth Alla, for to seen this wonder chaunce.
 This senatour dooth Alla greet honour,
 And hastily he sente after Custaunce.
 But trustath weel, hir liste nat to daunce Whan that she wiste wherefor was that
 sonde. (951) 1049
 Unnethe up-on hir feet she mighte stonde.

When Alla saugh his wyf, faire he hir
 grette,
 And weep, that it was routhe for to see.
 For at the firste look he on hir sette
 He knew wel verrailly that it was she.
 And she for sorwe as domb stant as a tree;
 So was hir herte shet in hir distresse 1056
 Whan she remembered his unkindenesse.

Twytes she swowned in his owne sighte;
 He weep, and him excuseth pitously:—
 'Now god,' quod he, 'and alle his halwes
 brighte (962) 1060
 So wisly on my soule as have mercy,
 That of your harm as gileteles am I
 As is Maurice my sone so lyk your face;
 Elles the feend me fecche out of this place!'

Long was the sobbing and the bitter peyne
 Er that hir woful hertes mighte cesse;
 Greet was the pitee for to here hem pleyne, Thurgh whiche pleintes gan hir wo encresse. (970)
 I prey yow al my labour to releese;
 I may nat telle hir wo un-til tomorwe, 1070
 I am so wery for to speke of sorwe.

But fynally, when that the sooth is wist
 That Alla gileteles was of hir wo,
 I trowe an hundred tymes been they kist,
 And swich a blisse is ther bitwix hem two
 That, save the joye that lasteth evermo,
 Ther is non lyk, that any creature 1077
 Hath seyn or shal, whyl that the world may dure. (980)

The preyde she hir housbond makely,
 In relief of hir longe pitous pyne, 1080
 That he wold preyde hir fader specially
 That, of his magestee, he wolde enclyne
 To vouches-sauf som day with him to dyne;
 She preyde him eek, he sholde by no weye
 Un-to hir fader no word of hir seye. 1085

Som men wold seyn, how that the child
 Maurice
 Dooth this message un-to this emperour;
 But, as I gesse, Alla was nat so nyce (990)
 To him, that was of so sovereyn honour
 As he that is of Cristen folk the flour, 1090
 Sente any child, but it is bet to deme
 He wente him-self, and so it may wel seme.

This emperour hath graunted gentilly
 To come to diner, as he him bisoghte;
 And wel rede I, he loked bisily 1095
 Up-on this child, and on his doghter
 thoghte.
 Alla goth to his in, and, as him oghte,
 Arrayed for this feste in every wyse (1000)
 As ferforth as his conning may suffyse.

The morwe cam, and Alla gan him dresse,
 And eek his wyf, this emperour to mete;
 And forth they ryde in joye and in glad-
 nesse. 1102
 And whan she saugh hir fader in the strete,
 She lighte down, and falleth him to fete.
 'Fader,' quod she, 'your yonge child
 Custance 1105
 Is now ful cleue out of your remembrance.

I am your doghter Cüstancë,' quod she,
 'That whylom ye han sent un-to Surrye.
 It am I, fader, that in the salte see (1011)
 Was put allone and dampned for to dye.
 Now, gode fader, mercy I yow crye, 1111
 Send me namore un-to non hethenesse,
 But thonketh my lord hear of his kinde-
 nesse.'

Who can the pitous joye tellen al Bitwix hem three, sin they ben thus y-mette? 1115
 But of my tale make an ende I shal;
 The day goth faste, I wol no lenger lette.
 This glade folk to diner they hem sette;

In joye and blisse at mete I lete hem
dwellē (1021) 1119
A thousand fold wel more than I can telle.

This child Maurice was sithen emperour
Maad by the pope, and lived Cristenly.
To Cristes chirche he dide greet honour;
But I lete al his storie passen by,
Of Custance is my tale specially. 1125
In olde Romayn gestes may men finde
Maurices lyf; I bere it noight in minde.

This king Alla, whan he his tymesey, (1030)
With his Custance, his holy wyf so swete,
To Engelond been they come the righte
wey, 1130
Wher-as they live in joye and in quieta.
But litel whyl it lasteth, I yow hete,
Joye of this world, for tyme wol nat
abyde;
Fro day to night it changeth as the tyde.

Who lived ever in swich delyt o day 1135
That him ne moeved outhur conscience,
Or ire, or talent, or som kin affray, (1039)
Envye, or pryde, or passion, or offence?
I ne seye but for this ende this sentence,
That litel whyl in joye or in plesance 1140
Lasteth the blisse of Alla with Custance.

For deeth, that taketh of heigh and low
his rente,

When passed was a yeer, even as I gesse,
Out of this world this king Alla he hente,
For whom Custance hath ful gret hevinessē.
1145
Now lat us preyen god his soule blesse!
And dame Custance, fynally to seye,
Towards the toun of Rome gooth hir weye.

To Rome is come this holy creature, (1051)
And fyndeth ther hir frendes hole and sounde: 1150

Now is she scaped al hir aventure;
And whan that she hir fader hath y-founde,
Down on hir knees falleth she to grounde;
Weping for tandrenesse in herte blythe,
She herieth god an hundred thousand sytha. 1155

In vertu and in holy almes-dede (1058)
They liven alle, and never a-sonder wende;
Til deeth departed hem, this lyf they lede.
And fareth now weel, my tale is at an ende.
Now Jesu Crist, that of his might may
sende 1160
Joye after wo, governe us in his grace,
And kepe us alle that ben in this place!
Amen.

Our hoste up-on his stiropes stood anon, And seyde, 'good men, herkneth everich on; This was a thrifty tale for the nones! 1165 Sir parish prest,' quod he, 'for goddes bones, Tel us a tale, as was thy forward yore. I see wel that ye lerned men in lore Can moche good, by goddes dignitee!' The Personhimanswerde, 'ben'cite! 1170 What eyleth the man, so sinfully to swere?' Our hoste answerde, 'O Jankin, be ye there? (10) I smelle a loller in the wind,' quod he. 'How! good men,' quod our hoste, 'herkneth me;	Abydeth, for goddes digne passoun, 1175 For we shal han a predicacioun; This loller heer wil prechen us som-what.' 'Nay, by my fader soule! that shal be nat,' Seyde the Shipman; 'heer he shal nat preche, He shal no gospel glosen heer ne teche. 1180 We leve alle in the grete god,' quod he, 'He wolde sowen som difficultee, (20) Or springen cokkel in our clene corn; And therfor, hoste, I warne thee biforn, My joly body shal a tale telle, 1185 And I shal clinken yow so mery a belle, That I shal waken al this companye; But it shal nat ben of philosophye, Ne †physices, ne termes queinte of lawe; Ther is but litel Latin in my mawe.' 1190

THE SHIPMANNES TALE.

Here biginneth the Shipmannes Tale.

A MARCHANT whylom dwelled at Seint Denys, That riche was, for which men helde him wys; A wyf he hadde of excellent beautee, And compaignable and revelous was she, Which is a thing that causeth more dispence 1195 Than worth is al the chere and reverence That men hem doon at festes and at daunces; Swiche salutaciouns and contenaunces Passen as dooth a shadwe up-on the wal.	But wo is him that payen moot foral; 1200 The sely housbond, algate he mot paye; He moot us clothe, and he moot us arraye, (12) Al for his owene worship richely, In which array we daunce jolily. 1204 And if that he noght may, par-aventure, Or elles, list no swich dispence endure, But thinketh it is wasted and y-lost, Than moot another payen for our cost, Or lene us gold, and that is perilous. This noble Marchant heeld a worthy hous, (20) 1210
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

For which he hadde alday so greet repair
 For his largesse, and for his wyf was fair,
 That wonder is ; but herkneith to my tale.
 Amonges alle his gastes, grete and smale,
 Ther was a monk, a fair man and a bold,
 I trowe of thrifty winter he was old, 1216
 That ever in oon was drawing to that place.
 This yonge monk, that was so fair of face,
 Aqueinted was so with the gode man,
 Sith that hir firste knoweliche bigan, 1220
 That in his hous as famulier was he (31)
 As it possible is any freend to be.

And for as muchel as this gode man
 And eek this monk, of which that I bigan,
 Were bothe two y-born in o village, 1225
 The monk him claimeth as for cosinage ;
 And he again, he seith nat ones nay,
 But was as glad ther-of as fowel of day ;
 For to his herte it was a greet plesaunce.
 Thus been they knit with eterne alliaunce,
 And ech of hem gan other for t'assure 1231
 Of bretherhede, whyl that hir lyf may
 dure. (42)

Free was daun John, and namely of dispence,
 As in that hous ; and ful of diligence 1234
 To doon plesaunce, and also greet costage.
 He noht forgat to yeve the leeste page
 In al that hous ; but, after hir degree,
 He yaf the lord, and sitthe al his meynee,
 When that he cam, som maner honest
 thing ; 1239
 For which they were as glad of his coming
 As fowel is fayn, whan that the sonne up-ryseth. (51)

Na more of this as now, for it suffyseth.
 But so bifel, this marchant on a day
 Shoop him to make redy his array
 Toward the toun of Brugges for to fare, 1245
 To byen ther a porcioun of ware ;
 For which he hath to Paris sent anon
 A messenger, and preyed hath daun John That he sholde come to Seint Denys to
 pleye 1249
 With him and with his wyfa day or tweye,
 Er he to Brugges wente, in alle wyse. (61)

This noble monk, of which I yow devyse,
 Hath of his abbot, as him list, licence,
 By-cause he was a man of heigh prudence,
 And eek an officer, out for to ryde, 1255
 To seen hir graunges and hir bernes wyde ;

And un-to Seint Denys he comth anon.
 Who was so welcome as my lord daun
 John,
 Our dere cosin, ful of curteisye ? 1259
 With him broghte he a jubbe of Malvesye,
 And eek another, ful of fyn Vernage, (71)
 And volatyl, as ay was his usage.
 And thus I lete hem ete and drinke and
 pleye,
 This marchant and this monk, a day or
 tweye.

The thridde day, this marchant up aryseth, 1265
 And on his nedes sadly him avyseth,
 And up in-to his countour-hous goth he
 To rekene with him-self, as wel may be,
 Of thilke yeer, how that it with him stood,
 And how that he despended hadde his
 good ; 1270

And if that he encessed were or noon. (81)
 His bokes and his bagges many oon
 He leith biforn him on his counting-bord ;
 Ful riche was his tresor and his hord,
 For which ful faste his countour-dore he
 shette ; 1275
 And eek he nolde that no man sholde him
 lette

Of his accountes, for the mene tyme ;
 And thus he sit til it was passed pryme.
 Daun John was risen in the morwe also,
 And in the gardin walketh to and fro, 1280
 And hath his thinges seyde ful curteisly.

This gode wyf cam walking prively (92)
 In-to the gardin, ther he walketh softe,
 And him saleweth, as she hath don ofte.
 A mayde child cam in hir companye, 1285
 Which as hir list she may governe and gye,
 For yet under the yerde was the mayde.
 ' O dere cosin myn, daun John,' she sayde,
 ' What eyleth yow so rathe for to ryse ?'
 ' Nece,' quod he, ' it oghte y-nough suffyse
 Fyve houres for to slepe up-on a night, (101)
 But it were for an old appalled wight,
 As been thise wedded men, that lye and
 dare

As in a forme sit a very hare,
 Were al for-straight with houndes grete and smale. 1295
 But dere nece, why be ye so pale ?
 I trowe certes that our gode man (107)
 Hath yow laboured sith the night bigan,

That yow were neded to resten hastily? 1299
And with that word he lough ful merily,
And of his owene thought he wex al reed.

This faire wyf gan for to shake hir heed,
And seyde thus, 'ye, god wot al,' quod she;
'Nay, cosin myn, it stant nat so with me.
For, by that god that yaf me soule and lyf,
In al the reme of France is ther no wyf 1306
That lasse lust hath to that sory pley.

For I may singe "allas" and "weylaway,
That I was born," but to no wight,' quod she,
'Dar I nat telle how that it stant with me.
Wherefore I thinke out of this land to
wende, (121) 1311

Or elles of my-self to make an ende,
So ful am I of drede and eek of care.'

This monk bigan up-on this wyf to stare,
And seyde, 'allas, my nece, god forbede
That ye, for any sorwe or any drede, 1316
Fordo your-self; but telleth me your grief;
Paraventure I may, in your meschief,
Conseille or helpe, and therfore telleth me
Al your any, for it shal been secree; 1320
For on my porthors here I make an ooth,
That never in my lyf, for lief ne looth, (132)
Ne shal I of no conseil yow biwreye.'

'The same agayn to yow,' quod she,
'I seye; 1324

By god and by this porthors, I yow swere,
Though men me wolde al in-to peces tere,
Ne shal I never, for to goon to helle,
Biwreye a word of thing that ye me telle,
Nat for no cosinage ne alliance,
But verrally, for love and affiance.' 1330

Thus been they sworn, and heer-upon they
kiste, (141)

And ech of hem tolde other what hem list.
'Cosin,' quod she, 'if that I hadde
a space,

As I have noon, and namely in this place,
Than wolde I telle a legende of my lyf, 1335
What I have suffred sith I was a wyf
With myn housbonde, al be he your cosyn.'
'Nay,' quod this monk, 'by god and seint
Martyn,

He is na more cosin un-to me 1339
Than is this leef that hangeth on the tree!
I clepe him so, by Saint Denys of France,
To have the more cause of aqweintance
Of yow, which I have loved specially (153)
Aboven alle wommen sikerly;

This swere I yow on my professioun. 1345
Telleth your grief, lest that he come adoun,
And hasteth yow, and gooth your way
anon.'

'My dere love,' quod she, 'o my dunn
John, (158)

Ful lief were me this conseil for to hyde,
But out it moot, I may namore abyde. 1350
Myn housbond is to me the worste man

That ever was, sith that the world bigan.
But sith I am a wyf, it sit nat me
To tellen no wight of our privetee, 1354
Neither a-bedde, ne in non other place;
God shilde I sholde it tellen, for his grace!
A wyf ne shal nat seyn of hir housbonde
But al honour, as I can understonde;
Save un-to yow thus muche I tellen
shal;

As help me god, he is noght worth at al 1360
In no degree the value of a flye. (171)

But yet me greveth most his nigardye;
And wel ye woot that wommen naturely
Desyren thinges sixe, as wel as I. 1364
They wolde that hir housbondes sholde be Hardy, and wyse, and riche, and ther-to
free,

And buxom to his wyf, and fresh a-bedde.
But, by that ilke lord that for us blede,
For his honour, my-self for to arraye,
A Sunday next, I moste nedes paye 1370
An hundred frankes, or elles am I lorn.
Yet were me lever that I were unborn (182)
Than me were doon a solaundre or vil-einye;

And if myn housbond eek it mighte espye,
I nere but lost, and therefore I yow preye Lene me this somme, or elles moot I
deye. 1376

Daun John, I seye, lene me thise hundred frankes;

Pardee, I wol nat faille yow my thankes,
If that yow list to doon that I yow praye.
For at a certein day I wol yow paye, 1380
And doon to yow what plesance and servyce (191)

That I may doon, right as yow list devyse.
And but I do, god take on me vengeance
As foul as ever had Geniloun of France!'

This gentil monk answerde in this
manere; 1385

'Now, trewely, myn owene lady dere,

I have,' quod he, 'on yow so greet a routhe,
That I yow swere and plichte yow my
trouthe,

That than your housbond is to Flaundres
fare,

I wol delivere yow out of this care; 1390
For I wol bringe yow an hundred frankes.'

And with that word he caughte hir by the flankes, (202)

And hir embraceth harde, and kiste hir
ofte.

'Goth now your wey,' quod he, 'al stille
and softe,

And lat us dyne as sone as that ye may;
For by my chilindre it is pryme of day. 1396
Goth now, and beeth as trowe as I shal be.'

'Now, elles god forbede, sire,' quod she,
And forth she gooth, as jolif as a pye,

And bad the cokes that they sholde her
hye, 1400

So that men mighte dyne, and that anon,
Up to hir housbonde is this wyf y-gon, (212)
And knocketh at his countour boldely.

'Qui la ?' quod he. 'Peter ! it am I,' Quod she, 'what, sire, how longe wol ye
faste? 1405

How longe tyme wol ye rekene and caste Your sommes, and your bokes, and your
thinges?

The devel have part of alle swiche reken-
inges !

Ye have y-nough, pardee, of goddes sonde;
Com down to-day, and lat your bagges
stonde. 1410

Ne be ye nat ashamed that daun John (221)
Shal fasting al this day elenge goon ?

What ! lat us here a messe, and go we dyna.'

'Wyf,' quod this man, 'litel canstow
devyne

The curious businessse that we have. 1415
For of us chapmen, al-so god me save,

And by that lord that cleped is Seint
Yve,

Scarly amonges twelve ten shul thryve,
Continuelly, lastinge un-to our age. 1419

We may wel make chere and good visage,
And dryve forth the world as it may be,

And kepen our estaat in privetee, (232)
Til we be deed, or elles that we pleye

A pilgrimage, or goon out of the weye.

And therfor have I greet necessitee 1425
Up-on this queinte world t'avvyse me;

For evermore we mote stonde in drede
Of hap and fortune in our chapmanhede.

To Flaundres wol I go to-morwe at day,
And come agayn, as sone as ever I may.

For which, my dere wyf, I thee biseke, (241)
As be to every wight buxom and meke,

And for to kepe our good be curious,
And honestly governe wel our hous. 1434

Thou hast y-nough, in every maner wyse,
That to a thrifty household may suffice.

Thee lakketh noon array ne no vitaille,
Of silver in thy purs shaltow nat faille.'

And with that word his countour-dore he
shette,

And down he gooth, no lenger wolde he
lette, 1440

But hastily a messe was ther seyde, (251)
And spedily the tables were y-leyde,

And to the diner faste they hem spedde;
And richely this monk the chapman fedde.

At-after diner daun John sobrelly 1445
This chapman took a-part, and prively

He seyde him thus, 'cozyn, it standeth so,
That wel I see to Brugges wol ye go.

God and seint Austin spede yow and gyde !
I prey yow, cosin, wyaly that ye ryde; 1450

Governeth yow also of your diete (261)
Atemprely, and namely in this hete.

Bitwix us two nedeth no strange fare;
Fare-wel, cozyn; god shilde yow fro
care.

If any thing ther be by day or night, 1455
If it lye in my power and my might,

That ye me wol comande in any wyse,
It shal be doon, right as ye wol devyse.

O thing, er that ye goon, if it may be,
I wolde prey yow; for to lene me 1460

An hundred frankes, for a wyke or tweye,
For certain beestes that I moste beye, (272)

To store with a place that is ourea.
God help me so, I wolde it were youres !

I shal nat faille surely of my day, 1465
Nat for a thousand frankes, a myle-way.

But lat this thing be secree, I yow preye,
For yet to-night thise beestes moot I beye;

And fare-now wel, myn owene cosin
dere,

Graunt mercy of your cost and of your
chere.' (280) 1470

This noble marchant gentilly anon
Answerde, and seyde, 'o cosin myn, daun
John,

Now sikerly this is a smal requeste;
My gold is youre, whan that it yow leste.
And nat only my gold, but my chaffare;
Take what yow list, god shilde that ye
spare. 1476

But o thing is, ye knowe it wel y-nogh,
Of chapmen, that hir moneye is hir plogh.
We may creauce whyl we have a name,
But goldless for to be, it is no game. 1480
Paye it agayn whan it lyth in your ese;
After my might ful fayn wolde I yow
plese.' (292)

This hundred frankes he fette forth
anon,

And prively he took hem to daun John.
No wight in al this world wiste of this lone, 1485

Savinge this marchant and daun John
allone.

They drinke, and speke, and rome a whyle
and pleye,
Til that daun John rydeth to his abbeye.

The morwe cam, and forth this marchant
rydeth

To Flaundes-ward; his prentis wel him
gvdeth, 1490

Til he cam in-to Brugges merily. (301)

Now gooth this marchant faste and bisily Aboute his nede, and byeth and creauceth.

He neither pleyeth at the dees ne daun-
ceth;

But as a marchant, shortly for to telle, 1495
He let his lyf, and there I lete him dwelle.

The Sunday next this Marchant was agon,

To Seint Denys y-comen is daun John,
With crowne and berd all fresh and newe
y-shave.

In al the housther nas so litel a knave, 1500
Ne no wight elles, that he nas ful fayn, (311)
For that my lord daun John was come
agayn.

And shortly to the point right for to gon,
This faire wyf accorded with daun John,
That for this hundred frankes he sholde
al night 1505

Have hir in his armes bolt-upright;

And this aord parfourned was in dede.
In mirthe al night a bisy lyf they lede Til it was day, that daun John wente his
way,

And bad the meynee 'fare-wel, have good
day!' (320) 1510

For noon of hem, ne no wight in the toun,
Hath of daun John right no suspicioun.
And forth he rydeth hoom to his abbeye,
Or where him list; namore of him I seye.

This marchant, whan that ended was the faire, 1515

To Seint Denys he gan for to repaire,
And with his wyf he maketh feste and
chere,

And telleth hir that chaffare is so dere,
That nedes moste he make a chevisaunce.

For he was bounde in a reconissaunce 1520
To paye twenty thousand sheeld anon. (331)

For which this marchant is to Paris gon,
To borwe of certein frendes that he hadde
A certein frankes; and somme with him
he ladde.

And whan that he was come in-to the toun,
Forgreet chertee and greet affeccioun, 1526
Un-to daun John he gooth him first, to
pleye;

Nat for to axe or borwe of him moneye,
But for to wite and seen of his welfare,
And for to tellen him of his chaffare, 1530
As frendes doon whan they ben met y-fore. (341)

Daun John him maketh feste and mery
chere;

And he him tolde agayn ful specially,
How he hadde wel y-boght and graciously,
Thanked be god, al hool his marchandyse.
Savo that he moste, in alle maner wyse, 1536
Maken a chevisaunce, as for his beste,
And thanne he sholde been in joye and
reste.

Daun John answerde, 'certes, I am fayn
That ye in hele ar comen hoom agayn. 1540
And if that I were riche, as have I blisse,
Of twenty thousand sheeld shold ye nat
misse, (352)

For ye so kindly this other day
Lente me gold; and as I can and may,
I thanke yow, by god and by seint Jame!
But natheless I took un-to our dame, 1546
Your wyf at hoom, the same gold ageyn

Upon your bench; she woot it wel, certeyn,
By certain tokenes that I can hir teile.
Now, by your leve, I may no lenger dwelle,
Our abbot wol out of this toun anon; (361)
And in his companye moot I gon. 1552
Grete wel our dame, myn owene nece
swete,

And fare-wel, dere cosin, til we mete!

This Marchant, which that was ful war
and wys, 1555

Creounced hath, and payd eek in Parys,
To certeyn Lumbardes, redy in hir hond,
The somme of gold, and gat of hem his bond;

And hoom he gooth, mery as a papejay.

For wel he knew he stood in swich array,
That nedes moste he winne in that viage (371)

A thousand frankes above al his costage.

His wyf ful redy mette him atte gate,
As she was wont of old usage algate, 1564
And al that night in mirthe they bisette;
For he was riche and cleerly out of dette.
When it was day, this marchant gan embrace

His wyf al newe, and kiste hir on hir face,
And up he gooth and maketh it ful tough.

'Namore,' quod she, 'by god, ye have
y-nough!' 1570

And wantounly agayn with him she
pleyde; (381)

Til, atte laste, that this Marchant seyde,
'By god,' quod he, 'I am a litel wrooth
With yow, my wyf, al-thogh it be me
looth.

And woot ye why? by god, as that I
gesse, 1575

That ye han maad a maner straungenesse
Bitwixen me and my cosyn daun John.

Ye sholde han warned me, er I had gon,
That he yow hadde an hundred frankes
payd

By redy tokene; and heeld him yvel
apayed, 1580

For that I to him spak of chevisaunce,
Me semed so, as by his contenaunce. (392)

But nathclees, by god our hevenc king,
I thoughte nat to axe of him no-thing.

I prey thee, wyf, ne do namore so; 1585
Tel me alwey, er that I fro thee go,
If any dettour hath in myn absence
Y-payed thee; lest, thurgh thy negligence,
I mighte him axe a thing that he hath
payed.' (399) 1589

This wyf was nat afered nor affrayed,
But boldely she seyde, and that anon:
'Marie, I defye the falsemonk, daun John!
I kepe nat of hise tokenes never a deel;
He took me certein gold, that woot I weel!
What! yvel thedom on his monkes smoute!
For, god it woot, I wende, withouten doute,
That he had yeve it me bycause of yow,
To doon ther-with myn honour and my
prow,

For cosinage, and eek for bele chere
That he hath had ful ofte tymes here. 1600
But sith I see I stonde in this disjoint, (411)

I wol answere yow shortly, to the point.
Ye han mo slakker dettours than am I!

For I wol paye yow wel and redily
Fro day to day; and, if so be I faille, 1605
I am your wyf; score it up-on my taille,
And I shal paye, as sone as ever I may.
For, by my trouthe, I have on myn array,
And nat on wast, bistowed every deel.

And for I have bistowed it so weel 1610
For your honour, for goddes sake, I seye,
As be nat wrooth, but lat us laughe and
pleye. (422)

Ye shal my joly body have to wedde;
By god, I wol nat paye yow but a-bedde.
Forgive it me, myn owene spouse dere;
Turne hiderward and maketh bettre
chere.' 1616

This marchant saugh ther was no
remedye,

And, for to chyde, it nere but greet folye,
Sith that the thing may nat amended be.
'Now, wyf,' he seyde, 'and I foryeve it
thee; 1620

But, by thy lyf, ne be namore so large;
Keep bet our good, this yeve I thee in
charge.' (432)

Thus endeth now my tale, and god us
sende

Taling y-nough, un-to our lyves ende.
Amen.

Here endeth the Shipmannes Tale.

THE PRIORESS'S PROLOGUE.

Bihold the mery wordes of the Host to the Shipman and to the lady Prioresse.

'WEL seyde, by corpus dominus,' quod our hoste, 1625
'Now longe moot thou sayle by the coste,
Sir gentil maister, gentil marineer!
God yeve this monk a thousand last quad
year!
A ha! felawes! beth ware of swiche a
jape!
The monk putte in the mannes hood an ape, 1630
And in his wyves eek, by seint Austin!
Draweth no monkes more un-to your in.
But now passe over, and lat us seke
aboute,

Who shal now telle first, of al this
route, (10)
Another tale;' and with that word he
sayde, 1635
As curteisly as it had been a mayde,
'My lady Prioresse, by your leve,
So that I wiste I sholde yow nat greve,
I wolde demen that ye tellen sholde
A tale next, if so were that ye wolde. 1640
Now wol ye vouche-sauf, my lady dere?'
'Gladly,' quod she, and seyde as ye shal here. (18)

THE PRIORESSES TALE.

The Prologe of the Prioresses Tale.

Domine, dominus noster.

O Lord our lord, thy name how merveillous
Is in this large worlde y-sprad—quod
she :—
For nocht only thy laude precious 1645
Parfourned is by men of dignitee,
But by the mouth of children thy bountee
Parfourned is, for on the brest soukinge
Som tyme shewen they thyn heryinge.
Wherfor in laude, as I best can or may,
Of thee, and of the whyte lily flour 1651
Which that thee bar, and is a mayde
alway, (10)

To telle a storie I wol do my labour;
Not that I may encressen hir honour;
For she hir-self is honour, and the rote
Of bountee, next hir sone, and soules
bote.— 1656
O moder mayde! o mayde moder free!
O bush unbrent, breninge in Moyyses
sighte,
That ravisedest down fro the deitee, Thurgh thyn humblesse, the goost that in th'alighte, 1660
Of whos vertu, whan he thyn herte
lighte,
Conceived was the fadres sapience, (20)
Help me to telle it in thy reverence!

Lady! thy bountee, thy magnificence,
 Thy vertu, and thy grete humilitee 1665
 Ther may no tonge expresse in no science;
 For som-tyme, lady, er men praye to thee,
 Thou goost biforn of thy benignitee,
 And getest us the light, thurgh thy preyere,
 To gyden us un-to thy sone so dere. 1670

My conning is so wayk, o blisful quene,
 For to declare thy grete worthinesse, (30)
 That I ne may the weighte nat sustene,
 But as a child of twelf monthe old, or
 lesse, 1674
 That can unnethes any word expresse,
 Right so fare I, and therfor I yow preye,
 Gydeh my song that I shal of yow seye.

Explicit.

Here biginneth the Prioresses Tale.

Ther was in Asie, in a greet citee,
 Amonges Cristen folk, a Jewerye, Sustened by a lord of that contree 1680
 For foule usure and lucre of vilanye,
 Hateful to Crist and to his companye;
 And thurgh the strete men mighte ryde or wende, (41)
 For it was free, and open at either ende.

A litel scole of Cristen folk ther stood Doun at the ferther ende, in which ther
 were 1686
 Children an heep, y-comen of Cristen
 blood,
 That lerned in that scole yeer by yeer
 Swich maner doctrine as men used there,
 This is to seyn, to singen and to rede, 1690
 As smale children doon in hir childhede.

Among these children was a widwes sone,
 A litel clergeon, seven yeer of age, (51)
 That day by day to scole was his wone,
 And eek also, wher-as he saugh th' image
 Of Cristes moder, hadde he in usage,
 As him was taught, to knele adoun and
 seye
 His Ave Marie, as he goth by the weye.

Thus hath this widwe hir litel sone y-taught
 Our blisful lady, Cristes moder dere, 1700
 To worshipec ay, and he forgat it naught,

For sely child wol alday sone lere; (60)
 But ay, whan I remembre on this matere,
 Seint Nicholas stant ever in my presence,
 For he so yong to Crist did reverence. 1705

This litel child, his litel book lerninge,
 As he sat in the scole at his prymer,
 He Alma redemptoris herde singe,
 As children lerned hir antiphoner;
 And, as he dorste, he drough him ner and ner, 1710
 And herkned ay the wordes and the note,
 Til he the firste vers coude al by rote. (70)

Noght wiste he what this Latin was to
 seye,

For he so yong and tendre was of age;
 But on a day his felaw gan he preye 1715
 T'expounden him this song in his langage,
 Or telle him why this song was in usage;
 This preyde he him to construe and declare
 Ful ofte tyme upon his knowes bare.

His felaw, which that elder was than he,
 Answerde him thus: 'this song, I have herd seye,
 Was maked of our blisful lady free, (80)
 Hir to salue, and eek hir for to preye
 To been our help and socour whan we
 deye. 1724
 I can no more expounde in this matere;
 I lerne song, I can but smal grammere.'

'And is this song maked in reverence
 Of Cristes moder?' seyde this innocent;
 'Now certes, I wol do my diligence 1729
 To conne it al, er Cristemasse is went;
 Though that I for my prymer shal be
 shent,
 And shal be beten thryes in an houre, (90)
 I wol it conne, our lady for to honoure.'

His felaw taughte him homward prively,
 Fro day to day, til he coude it by rote,
 And than he song it wel and boldly
 Fro word to word, acording with the note;
 Twyès a day it passed thurgh his throte,
 To scoleward and homward whan he
 wente; 1739
 On Cristes moder set was his entente.

As I have seyde, thurgh-out the Jewerye
This litel child, as he cam to and fro, (100)
Ful morily than wolde he singe, and crye
O Alma redemptoris ever-mo.
The swetnes hath his herte perced so 1745
Of Cristes moder, that, to hir to preye,
He can nat stinte of singing by the weye.

Our firste fo, the serpent Sathanas,
That hath in Jewes herte his waspes nest,
Up swal, and seide, 'O Hebraik peple,
allas! 1750
Is this to yow a thing that is honest,
That swich a boy shal walken as him lest
In your despyt, and singe of swich sentence, (111)
Which is agayn your lawes reverence?'

Fro thennes forth the Jewes han conspyred 1755
This innocent out of this world to chace;
An homicyde ther-to han they hyred,
That in an aley hadde a privee place;
And as the child gan for-by for to pace,
This cursed Jew him hente and heeld him faste, 1760
And kitte his throte, and in a pit him
caste.

I seye that in a wardrobe they him threwe
Wher-as these Jewes purgen hir entraille.
O cursed folk of Herodes al newe, (122)
What may your yvel entante yow availle?
Mordre wol out, certein, it wol nat falle,
And namely ther th'onour of god shal
sprede,
The blood out cryeth on your cursed dede.

'O martir, souted to virginitee, 1769
Now maystou singen, folwing ever in oon
The whyte lamb celestial, quod she,
'Of which the grete evangelist, saint John,
In Pathmos wroot, which seith that they that goon (131)
Biforn this lamb, and singe a song al newe,
That never, fleshy, wommen they ne
knewe.' 1775

This povre widwe awaiteth al that night
After hir litel child, but he cam noght;
For which, as sone as it was dayes light,

With face pale of drede and biay thought,
She hath at scole and elles-wher him sought,
Til finally she gan so for espye 1781
That he last seyn was in the Jewerye. (140)

With modres pitee in hir brest enclosed,
She gooth, as she were half out of hir
minde,

To every place wher she hath supposed
By lyklihedde hir litel child to finde; 1786
And ever on Cristes moder meke and
kinde

She cryde, and atte laste thus she wroghte,
Among the cursed Jewes she him soghte.

She frayneth and she preyeth pitously
To every Jew that dwelte in thilke place,
To telle hir, if hir child wente oght for-by.
They seyde, 'nay'; but Jesu, of his grace,
Yaf in hir thought, inwith a litel space,
That in that place after hir sone she cryde,
Wher he was casten in a pit bisyde. 1796

O grete god, that parfournest thy laude
By mouth of innocents, lo heer thy might!
This gemme of chastitee, this emeraude,
And eek of martirdom the ruby bright,
Ther he with throte y-corven lay upright,
He 'Alma redemptoris' gan to singe (160)
So loude, that al the place gan to ringe.

The Cristen folk, that thurgh the strete
wente, 1804
In coomen, for to wondre up-on this thing,
And hastily they for the provost sente;
He cam anon with-outen taryng,
And herieth Crist that is of heven king,
And eek his moder, honour of mankinde,
And after that, the Jewes leet he binde.

This child with pitous lamentacioun 1811
Up-taken was, singing his song alway;
And with honour of greet processioun
They carien him un-to the nexte abbay.
His moder swowning by the bere lay;
Unnethe might the peple that was there
This newe Rachel bringe fro his bere.

With torment and with shamful deth
echon (176)
This provost dooth thise Jewes for to
sterve 1819

That of this mordre wiste, and that anon ;
 He nolde no swich cursednesse observe.
 Yvel shal have, that yvel wol deserve.
 Therfor with wilde hors he dide hem
 drawe, (181)
 And after that he heng hem by the lawe.

Up-on his bere ay lyth this innocent 1825
 Biforn the chief auter, whyl masse laste,
 And after that, the abbot with his covent
 Han sped hem for to burien him ful faste ;
 And whan they holy water on him
 caste,
 Yet spak this child, whan spreynd was holy water, 1830
 And song—' O Alma redemptoris mater! '

This abbot, which that was an holy man
 As monkes been, or elles oghten be, (191)
 This yonge child to conjure he bigan,
 And seyde, 'o dere child, I halse thee,
 In vertu of the holy Trinitee, 1836
 Tel me what is thy cause for to singe, Sith that thy throte is out, to my sem-
 inge?'

' My throte is cut un-to my nekke-boon,'
 Seyde this child, 'and, as by wey of kinde,
 I sholde have deyed, ye, longe tyme agoon,
 But Jesu Crist, as ye in bokes finde, (200)
 Wil that his glorie laste and be in minde ;
 And, for the worship of his moder dere,
 Yet may I singe "O Alma" loude and
 clere. 1845

This welle of mercy, Cristes moder swete,
 I lovede alwey, as after my conninge ;
 And whan that I my lyf sholde forlete,
 To me she cam, and bad me for to singe
 This antem verrailly in my deyinge, 1850

As ye han herd, and, whan that I had
 songe,
 Me thoughte, she leyde a greyn up-on my
 tonge. (210)

Wherfor I singe, and singe I moot certeyn
 In honour of that blisful mayden free,
 Til fro my tonge of-taken is the greyn ;
 And afterward thus seyde she te me,
 " My litel child, now wol I fecche thee Whan that the greyn is fro thy tonge
 y-take ; 1858
 Be nat agast, I wol thee nat forsake. "

This holy monk, this abbot, him mene I,
 Him tonge out-caughte, and took a-wey
 the greyn,
 And he yaf up the goost ful softly. (220)
 And whan this abbot had this wonder
 seyn,
 His salte teres triklid down as reyn, 1864
 And gruf he fil al plat up-on the grounde,
 And stille he lay as he had been y-bounde.

The covent eek lay on the pavement
 Weping, and herien Cristes moder dere,
 And after that they ryse, and forth ben
 went, 1869
 And toke away this martir fro his bere,
 And in a tombe of marbul-stones clere
 Enclosen they his litel body swete ; (230)
 Ther he is now, god leve us for to mete.

O yonge Hugh of Lincoln, slayn also
 With cursed Jewes, as it is notable, 1875
 For it nis but a litel whyle ago ;
 Preye eek for us, we sinful folk unstable,
 That, of his mercy, god so merciabie
 On us his grete mercy multiplie, (237)
 For reverence of his moder Marye. Amen.

Here is ended the Prioresses Tale.

PROLOGUE TO SIR THOPAS.

Bihold the murye wordes of the Host to Chaucer.

WHAN seyde was al this miracle, every man
 As sobre was, that wonder was to see,
 Til that our hoste jopen tho bigan,
 And than at erst he loked up-on me,
 And seyde thus, 'what man artow?' quod
 he; 1885
 'Thou lokest as thou woldest finde an
 hare,
 For ever up-on the ground I see thee stare.

Approche neer, and loke up meryly.
 Now war yow, sirs, and lat this man have
 place;
 He in the waast is shape as wel as I; 1890
 This were a popet in an arm t'enbrace (11)

For any womman, smal and fair of face.
 He semeth elvish by his contenance,
 For un-to no wight dooth he daliaunce.

Sey now somewhat, sin other folk han
 sayd; 1895
 Tel us a tale of mirthe, and that anon;—
 'Hoste,' quod I, 'ne beth nat yvel apayd,
 For other tale certes can I noon,
 But of a ryme I lerned longe agoon.'
 'Ye, that is good,' quod he; 'now shul
 we here 1900
 Som deyntee thing, me thinketh by his
 chere.' (21)

Explicit.

SIR THOPAS.

Here biginneth Chaucers Tale of Thopas.

LISTETH, lordes, in good entent,
 And I wol telle verrayment
 Of mirthe and of solas;
 Al of a knyght was fair and gent 1905
 In bataille and in tourneyment,
 His name was sir Thopas.

Y-born he was in fer contree,
 In Flaundes, al biyonde the see,
 At Popering, in the place; 1910
 His fader was a man ful free, (10)
 And lord he was of that contree,
 As it was goddes grace.

Sir Thopas wax a doghty swayn,
 Whyt was his face as payndemayn, 1915
 His lippes rede as rose;

His rode is lyk scarlet in grayn,
 And I yow telle in good certayn,
 He hadde a semely nose.

His heer, his berd was lyk saffroun, 1920
 That to his girdel raughte adoun; (20)
 His shoon of Cordewane.
 Of Brugges were his hosen broun,
 His robe was of ciolatoun, 1925
 That cooste many a jane.

He coude hunte at wilde deer,
 And ryde an hauking for riveer,
 With grey goshawk on honde;
 Ther-to he was a good archeer,
 Of wrastling was ther noon his peer, 1930
 Ther any ram shal stonde. (30)

Ful many a mayde, bright in bour,
They moorne for him, paramour,
Whan hem were bet to slepe;
But he was chast and no lechour,
And sweet as is the bremble-flour
That bereth the rede hepe.

1935

And so bifel up-on a day,
For sothe, as I yow telle may,
Sir Thopas wolde out ryde;
He worth upon his stede gray,
And in his honde a launcegay,
A long sward by his syde.

1940

(40)

He priketh thurgh a fair forest,
Ther-inne is many a wilde best,
Ye, bothe bukke and hare;
And, as he priketh north and est,
I telle it yow, him hadde almost Bitid a sory care.

1945

1949

Ther springen herbes grete and smale,
The lycorys and cetewale,
And many a clowe-gilofre;
And notemuge to putte in ale,
Whether it be moyste or stale,
Or for to lye in cofre.

(50)

1955

The briddes singe, it is no nay,
The sparhawk and the papejay,
That joye it was to here;
The thrustelook made eek his lay,
The wodedowve upon the spray
She sang ful loude and clere.

1960

(60)

Sir Thopas fil in love-longinge
Al whan he herde the thrustel singe,
And priked as he were wood:
His faire stede in his prikinge
So swatte that men mighte him wringe,
His sydes were al blood.

1965

Sir Thopas eek so wery was
For prikinge on the softe gras,
So fiers was his corage,
That doun he leyde him in that plas
To make his stede som solas,
And yaf him good forage.

1970

(70)

'O seinte Marie, ben'cite!
What eyleth this love at me
To binde me so sore?

1975

Me dremed al this night, pardee,
An elf-queen shal my lemman be,
And slepe under my gora.

An elf-queen wol I love, y-wis, 1980
For in this world no womman is (80)
Worthy to be my make [T. 13722
In tounne; [T. 13722
Alle othere women I forsake, [T. 13723
And to an elf-queen I me take 1985
By dale and eek by doune!'

In-to his sadel he clamb anoon,
And priketh over style and stoon
An elf-queen for t'espye,
Til he so longe had riden and goon 1990
That he fond, in a privee woon, (90)
The contree of Fairye [T. 13731
So wilde; [T. 13734
For in that contree was ther noon
†That to him dorste ryde or goon, 1995
Neither wyf ne childe.

Til that ther cam a greet geaunt,
His name was sir Olifaunt,
A perilous man of dede;
He seyde, 'child, by Termagaunt, 2000
But-if thou prike out of myn haunt, (100)
Anon I alec thy stede [T. 13743
With mace. [T. 13743

Heer is the queen of Fayÿrye,
With harpe and pype and simphonye 2005
Dwelling in this place.'

The child seyde, 'al-so mote I thee,
Tomorwe wol I mete thee
Whan I have myn armoure;
And yet I hope, par ma fay, 2010
That thou shalt with this launcegay (110)
Abyen it ful soure; [T. 13752
Thy mawe [T. 13752

Shal I percen, if I may,
Er it be fully prynde of day, 2015
For heer thou shalt be slawe.'

Sir Thopas drow abak ful faste;
This geaunt at him stonnes caste
Out of a fel staf-alinge;
But faire escapeth child Thopas, 2020
And al it was thurgh goddes gras, (120)
And thurgh his fair beringe.

Yet listeth, lordes, to my tale Merier than the nightingale, For now I wol yow rounne How sir Thopas with sydes smale, Priking over hil and dale, Is come agayn to tounne.	2025	His sadel was of rewel-boon, His brydel as the sonne shoon, Or as the mone light.	2070
His merie men comanded he To make him bothe game and glee, For nedes moste he fighte With a gaunt with hevedes thre, For paramour and jolitee Of oon that shoon ful brighte.	2030 (130)	His spere was of fyn ciprees, That bodeth werre, and no-thing pees, The heed ful sharpe y-grounde; His stede was al dappel-gray, It gooth an ambel in the way Ful softely and rounde In londe.	(170) 2075 [T. 13815 [T. 13815
'Do come,' he seyde, 'my minstrales, And gestours, for to tellen tales Anon in myn arminge; Of romances that been royales, Of popes and of cardinales, And eek of love-lykinge.'	2035	Lo, lordes myne, heer is a fit! If ye wol any more of it, To telle it wol I fonde.	2080
They fette him first the swete wyn, And mede eek in a maselyn, And royal spicerye Of gingebreed that was ful fyn, And lycorys, and eek comyn, With sugre that is so trye.	(140) 2045	[The Second Fit.] Now hold your mouth, par charitee , Bothe knight and lady free, And herkneeth to my spally; Of bataille and of chivalry, And of ladyes love-drury Anon I wol yow telle.	(180) 2085
He dide next his whyte lere Of clooth of lake fyn and clore A breech and eek a sherte; And next his sherte an aketoun, And over that an habergeoun For percinge of his herte;	2050 (150)	Men speke of romances of prys, Of Horn child and of Ypotyis, Of Bevis and sir Gy, Of sir Libeux and Pleyn-damour; But sir Thopas, he bereth the flour Of royal chivalry.	2090 (190)
And over that a fyn hauberk, Was al y-wroght of Jewes werk, Ful strong it was of plate; And over that his cote-armour As whyt as is a lily-flour, In which he wol debate.	2055	His gode stede al he bistrood, And forth upon his way he glood As sparkle out of the bronde; Up-on his cress he bar a tour, And ther-in stiked a lily-flour, God shilde his cors fro shonde!	2095
His sheeld was al of gold so reed, And ther-in was a bores heed, A charboele bisyde; And there he swoor, on ale and breed, How that 'the gaunt shal be deed, Bityde what bityde!'	2060 (160)	And for he was a knight auntrous, He nolde slepen in non hous, But ligen in his hode; His brighte helm was his wonger, And by him baiteth his dextrer Of herbes fyne and gode.	2100 (200)
His jambeux were of quirboilly, His swerdes shethe of ivory, His helm of laton bright;	2065	Him-self drank water of the wel, As did the knight sir Percivel, So worthy under wede, Til on a day—	2105 (207)

Here the Host stinteth Chaucer of his Tale of Thopas.

PROLOGUE TO MELIBEUS.

'No more of this, for goddes dignitee,
 Quod oure hoste, 'for thou makest me 2110
 So wery of thy verray lewednesse
 That, also wisly god my soule blesse,
 Myn eres aken of thy drasty speche ;
 Now swiche a rym the devel I biteche !
 This may wel be rym dogerel,' quod he.

'Why so?' quod I, 'why wiltow lette me
 More of my tale than another man,
 Sin that it is the beste rym I can?' (10)

'By god,' quod he, 'for pleynly, at
 a word,

Thy drasty ryming is nat worth a tord ;
 Thou doost nought elles but despendest
 tyme, 2121

Sir, at o word, thou shalt no lenger
 ryme.

Lat see wher thou canst tellen aught in
 geste,

Or telle in prose somewhat at the leste
 In which ther be som mirthe or som doctryne.' 2125

'Gladly,' quod I, 'by goddes swete pyne,
 I wol yow telle a litel thing in prose,
 That oghte lyken yow, as I suppose, (20)
 Or elles, certes, ye been to daungerous.

It is a moral tale vertuous, 2130
 Al be it told som-tyme in sondry wyse
 Of sondry folk, as I shal yow devyse.

As thus; ye woot that every evangelist,
 That telleth us the peyne of Jesu Crist,
 Ne saith nat al thing as his felaw dooth,
 But natheles, hir sentence is al sooth, 2136
 And alle acorden as in hir sentence,
 Al be ther in hir telling difference. (30)
 For somme of hem seyn more, and somme
 lesse,

Whan they his pitous passioun expresse ;
 I mene of Mark [and] Mathew, Luk and
 John ; 2141

But douteles hir sentence is al con.
 Therfor, lordinges alle, I yow biseche,
 If that ye thinke I varie as in my speche,
 As thus, thogh that I telle som-what more
 Of proverbes, than ye han herd bifore,
 Comprehended in this litel tretis here,
 To enforce with the th'effect of my matere,
 And thogh I nat the same wordes seye (41)
 As ye han herd, yet to yow alle I preye,
 Blameth me nat; for, as in my sentence,
 Ye shul not fynden moche difference
 Fro the sentence of this tretis lyte
 After the which this mery tale I wryte.
 And therfor herkneth what that I shal
 seye, 2155

And lat me tellen al my tale, I preye.' (48)

THE TALE OF MELIBEUS.

Here biginneth Chaucers Tale of Melibeus.

§ 1. A yong man called Melibeus, mighty and riche, bigat up-on his wyf that called was Prudence, a doghter which that called was Sophie./

§ 2. Upon a day bifel, that he for his desport is went in-to the feeldes him to pleye./ His wyf and eek his doghter hath he left inwith his hous, of which the dores weren fast y-shetta. / Three of his olde foos han it espyed, and setten laddres to the walles of his hous, and by the windowes been entred, / and betten his 2160

 wyf, and wounded his doghter with fyve mortal woundes in fyve sondry places; /

this is to seyn, in hir feet, in hir handes, in hir eres, in hir nose, and in hir mouth; and leften hir for deed, and wenten away. /

§ 3. Whan Melibeus returned was un-to his hous, and saugh al this meschief, he, lyk a mad man, rendinge his clothes, gan to wepe and crye. /

§ 4. Prudence his wyf, as ferforth as she dorste, bisoghte him of his weping for to stinte; / but nat for-thy he gan to 2165 crye and wepen ever lenger the more. /

§ 5. This noble wyf Prudence remembered hir upon the sentence of Ovide, in his book that cleped is The Remedie of Love, wher-as he seith; / 'he is a fool that destourbeth the moder to wepen in the deeth of hir child, til she have wept hir fille, as for a certain tyme; / and thanne shal man doon his diligence with amiable wordes hir to reconforte, and preyen hir of hir weping for to stinte.' / For which resoun this noble wyf Prudence suffred hir housbond for to wepe and crye as for a certain space; / and whan she saugh hir tyme, she seyde him in this wyse. 'Alas, my lord,' quod she, 'why 2170 make ye your-self for to be lyk a fool? / For sothe, it aperteneth nat to a wys man, to maken swiche a sorwe. / Your doghter, with the grace of god, shal warishe and escape. / And al were it so that she right now were deed, ye ne oghte nat as for hir deeth your-self to destroye. / Senek seith: "the wise man shal nat take to greet discomfort for the deeth of his children, / but certes he sholde sufferen it in pacience, as wel as he abydeh the 2175 deeth of his owene propre persone." /

§ 6. This Melibeus answerde anon and seyde, 'What man,' quod he, 'sholde of his weping stinte, that hath so greet a cause for to wepe? / Jesu Crist, our lord, him-self wepte for the deeth of Lazarus his freend.' / Prudence answerde, 'Certes, wel I woot, attempree weping is no-thing defended to him that sorweful is, amonges folk in sorwe, but it is rather graunted him to wepe. / The Apostle Paul un-to the Romayns wryteth, "man shal rejoyse with hem that maken joye, and wepen with swich folk as wepen." / But though attempree weping be y-graunted, outrageous weping certes is defended. / Mesure of weping sholde be 2180 considered, after the lore that techeth us Senek. / "Whan that thy freend is deed," quod he, "lat nat thyne eyen to moyste been of teres, ne to muche drye; although the teres come to thyne eyen, lat hem nat falle." / And whan thou hast for-goon thy freend, do diligence to gete another freend; and this is more wysdom than for to wepe for thy freend which that thou hast lorn; for ther-inne is no bote. / And therefore, if ye governe yow by sapience, put away sorwe out of your herte. / Remembre yow that Jesus Syrak seith: "a man that is joyous and glad in herte, it him conserveth florissing in his age; but soothly sorweful herte maketh his bones drye." / He seith eek thus: 2185 "that sorwe in herte sleeth ful many a man." / Salomon seith: "that, right as motthes in the shepes flees anoyeth to the clothes, and the smale wormes to the tree, right so anoyeth sorwe to the herte." / Wherfore us oghte, as wel in the deeth of our children as in the losse of our goodes temporels, have pacience. /

§ 7. Remembre yow up-on the pacient Job, whan he hadde lost his children and his temporel substance, and in his body endured and receyved ful many a grevous tribulacioun; yet seyde he thus: / "our lord hath yeven it me, our lord hath biraft it me; right as our lord hath wold, right so it is doon; blessed be the name of our lord." / To thise foresaide thinges 2190 answerde Melibeus un-to his wyf Prudence: 'Alle thy wordes,' quod he, 'been sothe, and ther-to profitable; but trewely myn herte is troubled with this sorwe so grevously, that I noot what to done.' / 'Lat calle,' quod Prudence, 'thy trewe freendes alle, and thy linage whiche that been wyse; telleth your cas, and herkneht what they seye in consailing, and yow governe after hir sentence. / Salomon seith: "werk alle thy thinges by conseil, and thou shalt never repenta." /

§ 8. Thanne, by the conseil of his wyf

Prudence, this Melibeus leet callen a greet congregacioun of folk; / as surgiens, phisiciens, olde folk and yonge, and somme of hise olde enemys reconciled as by hir semblaunt to his love and in-to his 2195 grace; / and ther-with-al ther comen somme of hise neighebores that diden him reverence more for drede than for love, as it happeth ofte. / Ther comen also ful many subtil flatereres, and wyse advocats lerned in the lawe. /

§ 9. And whan this folk togidre assembled weren, this Melibeus in sorweful wyse shewed hem his cas; / and by the manere of his speche it semed that in herte he bar a cruel ire, redy to doon vengeance up-on hise foos, and sodeynly desired that the warre sholde biginne; / but natheles yet axed he hir conseil upon 2205 this matere. / A surgien, by licence and assent of swiche as weren wyse, up roos and un-to Melibeus seyde as ye may here. /

§ 10. 'Sir,' quod he, 'as to us surgiens aperteneth, that we do to every wight the beste that we can, wher-as we been with-holde, and to our pacients that we do no damage; / wherfore it happeth, many tyme and ofte, that whan twey men han everich wounded other, oon same surgien heleth hem bothe; / wherfore un-to our art it is nat pertinent to norice werre, ne parties to supporte. / But certes, as to the warisshinge of your doghter, al-be-it so that she perilously be wounded, we shullen do so ententif businesse fro day to night, that with the grace of god she shal be hool and sound as sone as is 2205 possible.' / Almost right in the same wyse the phisiciens answerden, save that they seyden a fewe wordes more: / 'That, right as maladyes been cured by hir contraries, right so shul men warisshere werre by vengeance.' / His neighebores, ful of envye, his feyned freendes that semeden reconciled, and his flatereres, / maden semblant of weping, and empeireden and agreggeden muchel of this matere, in praising greetly Melibee of might, of power, of richesse, and of freendes, despysinge the power of his adversaries, / and seiden outrely that he anon sholde wreken him on his foos and biginne werre. /

§ 11. Up roos thanne an advocat that was wys, by leve and by conseil of othere that were wyso, and seyde: / 'Lordinges, the nede for which we been assembled in this place is a ful hevy thing and an heigh matere, / by-cause of the wrong and of the wikkednesse that hath be doon, and eek by resoun of the grete damages that in tyme cominge been possible to fallen for this same cause; / and eek by resoun of the grete richesse and power of the parties bothe; / for the whiche resouns it were a ful greet peril to arren in this matere. / Wherfore, 2215 Melibeus, this is our sentence: we counseille yow aboven alle thing, that right anon thou do thy diligence in kepinge of thy propre persone, in swich a wyse that thou ne wante noon espye ne wacche, thy body for to save. / And after that we counseille, that in thyn hous thou sette suffisant garnisoun, so that they may as wel thy body as thyn hous defende. / But certes, for to moeve werre, or sodeynly for to doon vengeance, we may nat demen in so litel tyme that it were profitable. / Wherfore we axen leysur and espace to have deliberacioun in this cas to deme. / For the commune proverbe seith thus: "he that some demeth, sone shal repent." / And eek men seyn that 2220 thilke juge is wys, that sone understandeth a matere and juggeth by leysur. / For al-be-it so that alle taryng be anyoful, algates it is nat to repreve in yevinge of jugement, ne in vengeance-taking, whan it is suffisant and resonable. / And that shewed our lord Jesu Crist by ensample; for whan that the womman that was taken in avoutrie was brought in his presence, to known what sholde be doon with hir persone, al-be-it so that he wiste wel him-self what that he wolde answer, yet ne wolde he nut answer sodeynly, but he wolde have deliberacioun, and in the ground he wroot twyes. / And by thise causes we axen deliberacioun, and we shal thanne,

by the grace of god, conssille thee thing that shal be profitable./

§ 12. Up stirten thanne the yonge folk at-ones, and the moste partie of that companye han scorned the olde wyse men, and bigonnen to make noyse, and 2225 seyden : that, / right so as whyl that iren is hoot, men sholden smyte, right so, men sholde wreken hir wronges whyle that they been fresshe and newe; and with loud voys they cryden, 'werre! werre!'/

Up roos the oon of thise olde wyse, and with his hand made contenance that men sholde holden hem stille and yeven him audienca. / 'Lordinges,' quod he, 'ther is ful many a man that cryeth "werre! werre!" that woot ful lital what werre amounteth. / Werre at his biginning hath so greet an tree and so large, that every wight may entre whan him lyketh, and lightly finde werre. / But, certes, what ende that shal ther-of 2230 bifalle, it is nat light to knowe. / For sothly, whan that werre is ones bigonne, ther is ful many a child unborn of his moder, that shal sterve yong by-cause of that ilke werre, or elles live in sorwe and dye in wrochednesse. / And ther-fore, er that any werre biginne, men moste have greet conseil and greet delibera-cioun. / And whan this olde man wende to enforoen his tale by reons, wel ny alle at-ones bigonne they to ryse for to breken his tale, and beden him ful ofte his wordes for to abregge. / For soothly, he that precheth to hem that listen nat heren his wordes, his sermon hem anoyeth. / For Jesus Syrak seith : that 'musik in wepinge is anoyous thing'; this is to seyn : as muche availleth to speken bifore folk to whiche his speche anoyeth, as dooth to singe 2235 biforn him that wepeth. / And whan this wyse man saugh that him wanted audienca, al shamefast he sette him doun agayn. / For Salomon seith : 'ther-as thou ne mayst have noon audienca, enforce thee nat to speke. / 'I see wel,' quod this wyse man, 'that the commune proverbe is sooth; that "good conseil wanteth whan it is most nede."/

§ 13. Yet hadde this Melibens in his conseil many folk, that prively in his ere conssilled him certeyn thing, and conssilled him the contrarie in general audienca. /

Whan Melibens hadde herd that the gretteste partie of his conseil weren accorded that he sholde maken werre, anon he consented to hir conssilling, and fully affermed hir sentenca. / Thanne 2240 dame Prudence, whan that she saugh how that hir housbonde shoop him for to wreken him on his foo, and to biginne werre, she in ful humble wyse, when she saugh hir tyme, seide him thise wordes : / 'My lord,' quod she, 'I yow biseche as hertely as I dar and can, ne haste yow nat to faste, and for alle guerdons as yeveth me audienca. / For Piers Alfonca seith : "who-so that dooth to that other good or harm, haste thee nat to quyten it; for in this wyse thy freend wol abyde, and thyn enemy shal the longer live in drede." / The proverbe seith : "he hasteth wel that wysely can abyde"; and in wikked haste is no profit. /

§ 14. This Melibee answerde un-to his wyf Prudence : 'I purpose nat,' quod he, 'to werke by thy conseil, for many causes and resouns. For certes every wight wolde holde me thanne a fool; / this is 2245 to seyn, if I, for thy conssilling, wolde chaungen thinges that been ordeyned and affermed by so manye wysa. / Secoundly I seye, that alle wommen been wikke and noon good of hem alle. For "of a thousand men," seith Salomon, "I fond a good man : but certes, of alle wommen, good womman fond I never." / And also certes, if I governed me by thy conseil, it sholde seme that I hadde yeve to thee over me the maistris; and god forbode that it so were. / For Jesus Syrak seith ; "that if the wyf have maistris, she is contrarious to hir housbonde." / And Salomon seith : "never in thy lyf, to thy wyf, ne to thy child, ne to thy freend, ne yeve no power over thyself. For bettre it were that thy children aske of thy persone thinges that hem nedeth, than thou see thy-self in the

2250 handes of thy children." / And also, if I wolde werke by thy conserilling, certes iny conserilling moste som tyme be secrete, til it were tyme that it moste be knowe; and this ne may nocht be. / [†For it is writen, that "the janglerie of wommen can hyden thinges that they witen nocht." / Furthermore, the philosophre seith, "in wikked conseil wommen venquisshe men"; and for these resonns I ne ow nat usen thy conseil.]/

§ 15. Whanne dame Prudence, ful debonairly and with greet pacience, hadde herd al that hir housbonde lyked for to seye, thanne axed she of him licence for to speke, and seyde in this wyse. / 'My lord,' quod she, 'as to your firste resoun, certes it may lightly been answered. For I seye, that it is no folie to chaunge conseil whan the thing is changed; or elles whan the thing 2255 semeth otherweyes than it was biforn. / And more-over I seye, that though ye han sworn and bihight to perfourne your emprise, and natheless ye weyve to perfourne thilke same emprise by juste cause, men sholde nat seyn therefore that ye were a lyer ne forsworn. / For the book seith, that "the wyse man maketh no lesing whan he turneth his corage to the bettre." / And al-be-it so that your emprise be establised and ordeyned by greet multitude of folk, yet thar ye nat accomlice thilke same ordinaunce but yow lyke. / For the trouthe of thinges and the profit been rather founden in fewe folk that been wyse and ful of resoun, than by greet multitude of folk, ther every man cryeth and clatereth what that him lyketh. Soothly swich multitude is nat honeste. / As to the seconde resoun, where-as ye seyn that "alle wommen been wikke," save your grace, certes ye despysen alle wommen in this wyse; and "he that alle despyseth alle 2260 displeaseth," as seith the book. / And Senek seith that "who-so wole have sapience, shal no man dispreise; but he shal gladly techen the science that he can, with-outen presumpcioun or pryde. / And swiche thinges as he nought ne can,

he shal nat been ashamed to lerne hem and enquere of lasse folk than him-self." / And sir, that ther hath been many a good womman, may lightly be preved. / For certes, sir, our lord Jesu Crist wolde never have descended to be born of a womman, if alle wommen hadden ben wikke. / And after that, for the grete bountee that is in wommen, our lord Jesu Crist, whan he was risen fro deeth to lyve, appeered rather to a womman than to his apostles. / And though that 2265 Salomon seith, that "he ne fond never womman good," it folweth nat therfore that alle wommen ben wikke. / For though that he ne fond no good womman, certes, ful many another man hath founden many a womman ful good and trewe. / Or elles per-aventure the entente of Salomon was this; that, as in sovereyn bountee, he fond no womman; / this is to seyn, that ther is no wight that hath sovereyn bountee save god alone; as he him-self recordeth in his Evaungelia. / For ther nis no creature so good that him ne wanteth somwhat of the perfeioun of god, that is his maker. / 2270 Your thridde resoun is this: ye seyn that "if ye governe yow by my conseil, it sholde seme that ye hadde yewe me the maistrie and the lordshipe over your persone." / Sir, save your grace, it is nat so. For if it were so, that no man sholde be conselled but only of hem that hadden lordshipe and maistrie of his persone, men wolden nat be conselled so ofte. / For soothly, thilke man that asketh conseil of a purpos, yet hath he free chois, whether he wole werke by that conseil or noon. / And as to your fourthe resoun, ther ye seyn that "the janglerie of wommen hath hid thinges that they woot nocht," as who seith, that "a womman can nat hyde that she woot"; / sir, these wordes been understonde of wommen that been jangleresses and wikked; / of whiche wom- 2275 men, men seyn that "three thinges dryven a man out of his hous; that is to seyn, smoke, dropping of reyn, and wikked wyves"; / and of swiche wommen seith Salomon, that "it were bettre

dwelle in desert, than with a womman that is riotous." / And sir, by your leve, that am nat I; / for ye han ful ofte assayed my grete silence and my gret pacience; and eek how wel that I can hyde and hele thinges that men oghte secreely to hyde. / And soothly, as to your fifthe resoun, wher-as ye seyn, that "in wikked conseil wommen venquisshen men"; god woot, thilke resoun stant here in no steda. / For understond now, ye asken conseil to do wikkednesse; / and if ye wole werken wikkednesse, and your wyf restreyneth thilke wikked purpos, and overcometh yow by resoun and by good conseil; / certes, your wyf oghte rather to be praised than y-blamed. / Thus sholde ye understonde the philosophre that seith, "in wikked conseil wommen venquisshen hir housbondes." / And ther-as ye blamen alle wommen and hir resouns, I shal shewe yow by manye onsamples that many a womman hath ben ful good, and yet been; and hir 2280 conssils ful hoolsome and profitable. / Eek som men han seyð, that "the conssillinge of wommen is outhur to dere, or elles to litel of prys." / But al-be-it so, that ful many a womman is badde, and hir conseil vile and nocht worth, yet han men founde ful many a good womman, and ful discrete and wise in conssillinge. / Lo, Jacob, by good conseil of his moder Bebekka, wan the benisoun of Ysaak his fader, and the lordshipe over alle his bretheren. / Judith, by hir good conseil, delivered the citee of Bethulie, in which she dwelled, out of the handes of Olofernus, that hadde it biseged and wolde have al destroyed it. / Abigail delivered Nabal hir housbonde fro David the king, that wolde have slayn him, and apayed the ire of the king by hir wit and by hir 2290 good conssilling. / Hester by hir good conseil enhaunced greatly the peple of god in the regne of Assuerus the king. / And the same bountee in good conssilling of many a good womman may men telle. / And moreover, whan our lord hadde creat Adam our forme-fader, he seyde in this wyse: / "it is nat good to been a man allone; make we to him an help semblable to himself." / Here may ye se that, if that wommen were nat goode, and hir conssils goode and profitable, / our lord 2295 god of hevене wolde never han wrought hem, ne called hem help of man, but rather confusioun of man. / And ther seyde ones a clerk in two vers: "what is bettre than gold? Jaspre. What is bettre than jaspre? Wisdom. / And what is bettre than wisdom? Womman. And what is bettre than a good womman? No-thing." / And sir, by manye of othre resons may ye seen, that manye wommen been goode, and hir conssils goode and profitable. / And therefore sir, if ye wol triste to my conseil, I shal restore yow your doghter hool and sound. / And eek 2300 I wol do to yow so muche, that ye shul have honour in this cause. /

§ 16. Whan Melibee hadde herd the wordes of his wyf Prudence, he seyde thus: / 'I see wel that the word of Salomon is sooth; he seith, that "wordes that been spoken discreetly by ordinaunce, been honycombes; for they yeven swetnesse to the soule, and hoolsomnesse to the body." / And wyf, by-cause of thy swete wordes, and eek for I have assayed and preved thy grete sapience and thy grete trouthe, I wol governe me by thy conseil in alle thing. /

§ 17. 'Now sir,' quod dame Prudence, 'and sin ye vouchesauf to been governed by my conseil, I wol enforme yow how ye shul governe your-self in chesinge of your conssillours. / Ye shul first, in alle your 2305 werkes, mekely biseken to the heighe god that he wol be your conssillour; / and shapeth yow to swich entente, that he yeve yow conseil and confort, as taughte Thobie his sone: / "at alle tymes thou shalt blesse god, and praye him to dresse thy weyes"; and looke that alle thy conssils been in him for evermore. / Seint Jame eek seith: "if any of yow have nede of sapience, axe it of god." / And afterward thanne shul ye taken conseil in your-self, and examine wel your thoghtes, of swich thing as yow thinketh that is best for your profit. / And thanne 2310

shul ye dryve fro your herte three thinges that been contrarionse to good conseil, / that is to sefn, ire, coveitise, and hastifnesse. /

§ 18. First, he that axeth conseil of him-self, certes he moste been with-uten ire, for manye causes. / The firste is this: he that hath greet ire and wratthe in him-self, he wensþ alwey that he may do t'ing that he may nat do. / And secondely, he that is irous and wroth, 2315 he ne may nat wel deme; / and he that may nat wel deme, may nat wel conseil. / The thridde is this; that "he that is irous and wroth," as seith Senek, "ne may nat speke but he blamethinges"; / and with his vicious wordes he stirith other folk to angre and to ire. / And eek sir, ye moste dryve coveitise out of your herte. / For the apostle seith, that 2320 "coveitise is rote of alle harmes." / And trust wel that a covetous man ne can nocht deme ne thinke, but only to fulfillle the ende of his coveitise; / and certes, that ne may never been accompliced; for ever the more habundaunce that he hath of richesse, the more he desyreth. / And sir, ye moste also dryve out of your herte hastifnesse; for certes, / ye ne may nat deme for the beste a sodeyn thought that falleth in youre herte, but ye moste avyse yow on it ful ofte. / For as ye herde biforen, the commune proverbe is this, that "he that sone demeth, sone 2325 repenteth." /

§ 19. Sir, ye ne be nat alwey in lyke disposicion; / for certes, som thing that somtyme semeth to yow that it is good for to do, another tyme it semeth to yow the contrarie. /

§ 20. When ye han taken conseil in your-self, and han damed by good deliberacion swich thing as you semeth best, / thanne rede I yow, that ye kepe it secree. / Biwrey nat your conseil to no persone, but-if so be that ye wenen sik-erly that, thurgh your biwreying, your condicion shal be to yow the more 2330 profitabile. / For Jesus Syrak seith: "neither to thy foo ne to thy freend discovere nat thy secree ne thy folie; /

for they wol yeve yow audiance and loking and supportacion in thy presence, and scorne thee in thyn absence." / Another clerk seith, that "scarly shaltou finden any persone that may kepe conseil secreely." / The book seith: "whyl that thou kepest thy conseil in thyn herte, thou kepest it in thy prisoun; / and whan thou biwreyest thy conseil to any wight, he holdeth thee in his snare." / And therefore yow is bettre 2335 to hyde your conseil in your herte, than praye him, to whom ye han biwreyed your conseil, that he wole kepen it cloos and stille. / For Seneca seith: "if so be that thou ne mayst nat thyn owene conseil hyde, how darstou prayen any other wight thy conseil secreely to kepe?" / But natheles, if thou wene sikarly that the biwreying of thy conseil to a persone wol make thy condicion to stonden in the bettre plyt, thanne shaltou tellen him thy conseil in this wyse. / First, thou shalt make no semblant whether thee were lever pees or werre, or this or that, ne shewe him nat thy wille and thyn entente; / for trust wel, that comunly these conseilours been flater-eres, / namely the conseilours of grete 2340 lordes; / for they enforcen hem alwey rather to speken plesante wordes, enclyn-inge to the lordes lust, than wordes that been trewe or profitable. / And therefore men seyn, that "the riche man hath sold good conseil but-if he have it of him-self." / And after that, thou shalt considere thy freendes and thyne enemys. / And as touchinge thy freendes, thou shalt considere whiche of hem been most feithful and most wyse, and eldest and most approved in conseil. / And of 2345 hem shalt thou aske thy conseil, as the cas requireth. /

§ 21. I seye that first ye shul clepe to your conseil your freendes that been trewe. / For Salomon seith: that "right as the herte of a man delyteth in savour that is sote, right so the conseil of trewe freendes yeveth swetenesse to the soule." / He seith also: "ther may no-thing be lykned to the trewe freend." / For

certes, gold ne silver beth nat so muche 2350 worth as the gode wil of a trewe freend. /
 And eek he seith, that "a trewe freend is a strong defense; who-so that it findeth, certes he findeth a greet tresour." / Thanne shul ye eek considere, if that your trewe freendes been discrete and wyse. For the book seith:
 "axe alway thy conseil of hem that been wyse." / And by this same resoun shul ye clepen to your conseil, of your freendes that been of age, swiche as han seyn and been expert in manye thinges, and been approved in conseilinges. / For the book seith, that "in olde men is the sapience and in longe tyme the prudence." / And Tullius seith: that "grete thinges ne been nat ay accompliched by strengthe, ne by deliverness of body, but by good conseil, by auctoritee of per-2355 sones, and by science; the whiche three thinges ne been nat feble by age, but certes they enforen and encreesen day by day." / And thanne shul ye kepe this for a general reule. First shul ye clepen to your conseil a fewe of your freendes that been especiale; / for Salomon seith: "manys freendes have thou;
 but among a thousand chese thee oon to be thy conseilour." / For al-be-it so that thou first ne telle thy conseil but to a fewe, thou mayst afterward telle it to mo folk, if it be nede. / But loke alway that thy conseilours have thilke
 three condicions that I have seyd bifore;
 that is to seyn, that they be trewe, wyse,
 and of old experiance. / And werke nat
 alway in every nede by oon conseilour allone; for somtyme bihoveth it to been 2360 counselled by manye. / For Salomon seith: "salvacioun of thinges is wher-as ther been manye conseilours." /

§ 22. Now sith that I have told yow of which folk ye sholde been counselled, now wol I teche yow which conseil ye oghte to eschewe. / First ye shul eschewe
 the conseilinge of foles; for Salomon seith:
 "taak no conseil of a fool, for he ne can nocht conseilte but after his owene lust and his affeccioun." / The book seith:
 that "the proprete of a fool is this; he troweth lightly harm of every wight, and lightly troweth alle bountee in himself." / Thou shalt eek eschewe the con-seilling of alle flatereres, swiche as enforen hem rather to preise your persone by flaterye than for to telle yow the sothfastnesse of thinges. /

2365

§ 23. Wherefore Tullius seith: "amonges alle the pestilences that been in freendshipe, the gretteste is flaterye." And therefore is it more nede that thou eschewe and drede flatereres than any other peple. /
 The book seith: "thou shalt rather drede and fleo fro the swete wordes of flateringe preiseres, than fro the egre wordes of thy freend that seith thee thy sothes." / Salomon seith, that "the wordes of a flaterere is a snare to cacche with innocents." / He seith also, that "he that speketh to his freend wordes of swetnesse and of plessaunce, setteth a net biforn his feet to cacche him." / And therefore seith Tullius: "enclyne nat thyne eres to flatereres, ne taketh no conseil of wordes of flaterye." / And Caton seith: "avyse 2370 thee wel, and eschewe the wordes of swetnesse and of plessaunce." / And eek thou shalt eschewe the conseilinge of thyne olde enemys that been reconciled. /
 The book seith: that "no wight retourneth sauily in-to the grace of his olde enemy." / And Isope seith: "ne trust nat to hem to whiche thou hast had som-tyme warre or enmittee, ne telle hem nat thy conseil." / And Seneca telleth the cause why. "It may nat be," seith he, "that, where greet fyr hath longe tyme endured, that ther ne dwelleth som vapour of warmnesse." / And 2375 therefore seith Salomon: "in thyn olde foo trust never." / For sikerly, though thyn enemy be reconciled and maketh thee chere of humilitee, and louteth to thee with his heed, ne trust him never. / For certes, he maketh thilke feyned humilitee more for his profit than for any love of thy persone; by-cause that he demeth to have victorie over thy persone by swich feyned contenance, the which victorie he mighte nat have by stryf or warre. / And Peter Alfonse seith: "make no felawshipe with thyne olde enemys; for if thou do hem bountee, they wol perverten it in-to wikkednesse." / And eek thou most eschewe the conseilling of hem that been thy servants, and boren thee greet reverence; for peradventure they

2380 seyn it more for drede than for love. / And therefore seith a philosopre in this wyse: "ther is no wight partilly trewe to him that he to sore dredeth." / And Tullius seith: "ther nis no might so greet of any emperour, that longe may endure, but-if he have more love of the peple than drede." / Thou shalt also eschewe the conseilling of folk that been dronkelewe; for they ne can no conseil hyde. / For Salomon seith: "ther is no privete ther-as regneth dronkenesse." / Ye shul also han in suspect the conseilling of swich folk as conseil

2385 the contrarie openly. / For Cassidorie seith: that "it is a maner sleighte to hindre, when he sheweth to doon a thing openly and werketh prively the contrarie." / Thou shalt also have in suspect the conseilling of wikked folk. For the book seith: "the conseilling of wikked folk is alwey ful of fraude." / And David seith: "blisful is that man that hath nat folwed the conseilling of shrewes." / Thou shalt also eschewe the conseilling of yong folk; for hir conseil is nat rype. /

§ 24. Now sir, sith I have shewed yow of which folk ye shul take your conseil, and of which folk ye shul folwe the

2390 conseil, / now wol I teche yow how ye shal examine your conseil, after the doctrine of Tullius. / In the examininge thanne of your conseilour, ye shul considere manye thinges. / Alderfirst thou shalt considere, that in thilke thing that thou purposest, and upon what thing thou wolt have conseil, that verray trouthe be seyed and conserved; this is to seyn, telle trewely thy tale. / For he that seith fals may nat wel be consealed, in that cas of which he lyeth. / And after this, thou shalt considere the thinges that accorden to that thou purposest for to do by thy conseilours, if reson

acorde therto; / and eek, if thy might 2395 may atteine ther-to; and if the more part and the bettre part of thy conseilours acorde ther-to, or no. / Thanne shaltou considere what thing shal folwe of that conseilling; as hate, pees, werre, grace, profit, or damage; and manye othere thinges. / And in alle these thinges thou shalt chese the .beste, and weyve alle othere thinges. / Thanne shaltow considere of what rote is engendred the matere of thy conseil, and what fruit it may conceyve and engendre. / Thou shalt eek considere alle these causes, fro whennes they been sprongen. / And 2400 whan ye han examined your conseil as I have seyed, and which partie is the bettre and more profitable, and hast approved it by manye wyse folk and olde; / thanne shaltou considere, if thou mayst parfourne it and maken of it a good ende. / For certes, reson wol nat that any man sholde biginne a thing, but-if he mighte parfourne it as him oghte. / Ne no wight sholde take up-on hym so hevy a charge that he mighte nat bere it. / For the proverbe seith: "he that to muche embraceth, distreyneth litel." / And Catoun seith: "assay 2405 to do swich thing as thou hast power to doon, lest that the charge oppresse thee so sore, that thee bihoveth to weyve thing that thou hast bigonne." / And if so be that thou be in doute, whether thou mayst parfourne a thing or noon, chese rather to suffre than biginne. / And Piers Alphonse seith: "if thou hast might to doon a thing of which thou most repente thee, it is bettre 'nay' than 'ye';" / this is to seyn, that thee is bettre holde thy tonge stille, than for to speke. / Thanne may ye understonde by strengere reson, that if thou hast power to parfourne a werk of which thou shalt repente, thanne is it bettre that thou suffre than biginne. / Wel seyn 2410 they, that defenden every wight to assaye any thing of which he is in doute, whether he may parfourne it or no. / And after, whan ye han examined your conseil as I have seyed bifore, and knowen

wel that ye may parfournе youre emprise, confeme it thanne sadly til it be at an ende. /

§ 25. Now is it resoun and tyme that I shewe yow, whanne, and wherfore, that ye may change your conseil with-outen your repreve. / Soothly, a man may chaungen his purpos and his conseil if the cause cesseth, or when a newe caas bitydeth. / For the lawe seith: that "upon thinges that newly bityden 2415 bihoveth newe conseil." / And Senek seith: "if thy conseil is comen to the eres of thyn enemy, change thy conseil." / Thou mayst also change thy conseil if so be that thou finde that, by error or by other cause, harm or damage may bityde. / Also, if thy conseil be dishonest, or elles cometh of dishoneste cause, change thy conseil. / For the lawes seyn: that "alle bihestes that been dishoneste been of no value." / And eek, 2420 may nat goodly be parfourned or kept. /

§ 26. And take this for a general reule, that every conseil that is affermed so strongly that it may nat be changed, for no condicioun that may bityde, I seye that thilke conseil is wikked. /

§ 27. This Melibeus, whanne he hadde herd the doctrine of his wyf dame Prudence, answerde in this wyse. / 'Dame,' quod he, 'as yet in-to this tyme ye han wel and covenantly taught me as in general, how I shal governe me in the chesinge and in the withholdinge of my conseilours. / But now wolde I fayn that ye wolde condescende in especial, / and telle me how lyketh yow, or what semeth yow, by our conseilours that we han chosen in our 2425 present nede.' /

§ 28. 'My lord,' quod she, 'I biseke yow in al humblesse, that ye wol nat wilfully replye agayn my resouns, ne distempere your herte thogh I speke thing that yow displese. / For god wot that, as in myn entente, I speke it for your beste, for your honour and for your profite eke. / And soothly, I hope that your benignitee wol taken it in pacience. /

Trusteth me wel,' quod she, 'that your conseil as in this caas ne sholde nat, as to speke properly, be called a conseil, but a mocion or a moevyng of folye; / in which conseil ye han erred in many a sondry wyse. /

§ 29. First and forward, ye han erred in th'assemblinge of your conseilours. / For ye sholde first have cleped a fewe folk to your conseil, and after ye mighte han shewed it to mo folk, if it hadde been nede. / But certes, ye han soodeynly cleped to your conseil a greet multitude of peple, ful charegant and ful anoyous for to here. / Also ye han erred, for there-as ye sholden only have cleped to your conseil your trewe freendes olde and wyse, / ye han y-cleped straunge folk, and yong folk, false flatereres, and enemys reconciled, and folk that doon yow reverence withouten love. / And eek
2435 also ye have erred, for ye han broght with yow to your conseil ire, covetise, and hastifnesse; / the whiche three thinges been contrarious to every conseil honeste and profitable; / the whiche three thinges ye han nat anientissed or destroyed hem, neither in your-self ne in your conseilours, as yow oghte. / Ye han erred also, for ye han shewed to your conseilours your talent, and your affeccioun to make werre anon and for to do vengeance; / they han espyed by your wordes to what thing ye been enclyned. / And therefore han they 2440 rather counselled yow to your talent than to your profit. / Ye han erred also, for it semeth that yow suffyseth to han been counselled by thise conseilours only, and with lital avys; / wher-as, in so greet and so heigh a nede, it hadde been necessarie mo conseilours, and more deliberacioun to parfournе your emprise. / Ye han erred also, for ye han nat examined your conseil in the forseide manere, ne in due manere as the caas requireth. / Ye han erred also, for ye han maked no division bitwixe your conseilours; this is to seyn, bitwixen your trewe freendes and your feyned conseilours; / ne ye han nat knowe

the wil of your trewe freendes olde and wyse; / but ye han cast alle hir wordes in an hochebot, and enclyned your herte to the more part and to the gretter nombre; and ther been ye condescended. / And sith ye wot wel that men shal alway finde a gretter nombre of foles than of wyse men, / and therefore the counsels that been at congregaciouns and multitudes of folk, ther-as men take more reward to the nombre than to the sapience of persones, / ye see wel that in swiche counsellinges foles han the maistrie.' / Melibeus answerde agayn, and seyde: 'I graunte wel that I have erred; / but ther-as thou hast told me heer-biforn, that he nis nat to blame that chaungeth hise counsellours in certain caas, and for certaine juste causes, / I am al redy to change my counsellours, right as thou wolt devyse. / The proverbe seith: that "for to do sinne is mannish, but certes for to persevere longe in sinne is werk of the devel." /

§ 80. To this sentence answerde anon 2455 dame Prudence, and seyde: 'Examineth,' quod she, 'your conseil, and lat us see the whiche of hem han spoken most resonably, and taught yow best conseil. / And for-as-muche as that the examinacioun is necessaria, lat us biginne at the surgiens and at the phisiciens, that first speken in this matere. / I sey yow, that the surgiens and phisiciens han seyde yow in your conseil discreetly, as hem oughte; / and in hir speche seyden ful wysly, that to the office of hem aperteneth to doon to every wight honour and profit, and no wight for to anye; / and, after hir craft, to doon greet diligence un-to the cure of hem whiche that 2460 they han in hir governaunce. / And sir, right as they han answered wysly and discreetly, / right so rede I that they been heighly and sovereynly guerdoned for hir noble speche; / and eek for they sholde do the more ententif businesse in the curacioun of your doghter dere. / For al-be-it so that they been your freendes, therefore shal ye nat suffren that they serve yow for noght; /

but ye oghte the rather guerdone hem and shewe hem your largesse. / And as 2465 touchinge the proposicioun which that the phisiciens entreteden in this caas, this is to seyn, / that, in maladyes, that oon contrarie is warished by another contrarie, / I wolde fayn knowe how ye understonde thilke text, and what is your sentence.' / 'Certes,' quod Melibeus, 'I understonde it in this wyse: / that, right as they han doon me a contrarie, right so sholde I doon hem another, 2470 / For right as they han venged hem on me and doon me wrong, right so shal I venge me upon hem and doon hem wrong; / and thanne have I cured oon contrarie by another.' /

§ 81. 'Lo, lo!' quod dame Prudence, 'how lightly is every man enclyned to his owene desyr and to his owene pleasure! / Certes,' quod she, 'the wordes of the phisiciens ne sholde nat han been understonden in this wyse. / For certes, wikkednesse is nat contrarie to wikkednesse, ne vengeance to vengeance, ne wrong to wrong; but they been semblable. / And therefore, o vengeance is nat 2475 warished by another vengeance, ne o wrong by another wrong; / but everich of hem encreesoeth and aggreggeth othe. / But certes, the wordes of the phisiciens sholde been understonden in this wyse: / for good and wikkednesse been two contraries, and pees and werre, vengeance and suffraunce, discord and accord, and manye othere thinges. / But certes, wikkednesse shal be warished by goodnesse, discord by accord, werre by pees, and so forth of othere thinges. / 2480 / And hear-to accordeth Seint Paul the apostle in manye places. / He seith: "ne yeldeth nat harm for harm, ne wikked speche for wikked speche; / but do wel to him that dooth thee harm, and blesse him that seith to thee harm." / And in manye othere places he amonesteth pees and accord. / But now wol I speke to yow of the conseil which that was yeven to yow by the men of lawe and the wyse folk, / that seyden alle by oon 2485 accord as ye han herd bifore; / that, over

alle thynges, ye sholde doon your diligence to kepen your persone and to warnestore your hous. / And seyden also, that in this caas ye oghten for to werken ful avysely and with greet deliberacioun. / And sir, as to the firste point, that toucheth to the keping of your persone; / ye shul understonde that he that hath werre shal evermore mekely 2490 and devoutly preyen biforn alle thynges, / that Jesus Crist of his grete mercy wol han him in his proteccioun, and been his sovereyn helping at his nede. / For certes, in this world ther is no wight that may be conseyllid ne kept suffisantly withouten the keping of our lord Jesu Crist. / To this sentence accordeth the prophete David, that seith: / "if god ne kepe the citee, in ydel waketh he that it kepeth." / Now sir, thanne shul ye committe the keping of your persone to your trewe freendes that been approved and 2495 y-knowe; / and of hem shul ye axen help your persone for to kepe. For Catoun seith: "if thou hast nede of help, axe it of thy freendes; / for ther nis noon so good a phisician as thy trewe freend." / And after this, thanne shul ye kepe yow fro alle straunge folk, and fro lyeres, and have alwey in suspect hir companye. / For Piers Alfonse seith: "ne tak no companye by the weye of a straunge man, but-if so be that thou have knowe him of a lenger tyme. / And if so be that he falle in-to thy companye paraventure 2500 withouten thyn assent, / enquire thanne, as subtilly as thou mayst, of his conversacioun and of his lyf bifore, and feyne thy wey; seye that thou goost thider as thou wolt nat go; / and if he bereth a spere, hold thee on the right syde, and if he bere a swerd, hold thee on the list syde." / And after this, thanne shul ye kepe yow wysely from alle swich manere peple as I have seyde bifore, and hem and hir conseil eschewe. / And after this, thanne shul ye kepe yow in swich manere, / that for any presumpcioun of your strengthe, that ye ne dispyse nat ne accounte nat the might of your adversarie so litel, that ye lete the keping of your persone for your pro-

sumpcioun; / for every wys man dredeth
 2505 his enemy. / And Salomon seith: "weleful is he that of alle hath drede; / for certes, he that thurgh the hardnesse of his herte and thurgh the hardnesse of him-self hath to greet presumpcioun, him shal yvel bityde." / Thanne shul ye evermore countrewayte embusshements and alle espialle. / For Senek seith: that "the wyse man that dredeth harmes escheweth harmes; / ne he ne falleth in-to perils, that perils escheweth." / And al-be-it so 2510 that it seme that thou art in siker place, yet shaltow alwey do thy diligence in kepinge of thy persone; / this is to seyn, ne be nat negligent to kepe thy persone, nat only fro thy gretteste enemys but fro thy leeste enemy. / Senek seith: "a man that is wel avysed, he dredeth his leste enemy." / Ovide seith: that "the litel wesele wol sles the grete bole and the wilde hert." / And the book seith: "a 2515 litel thorn may prikke a greet king ful sore; and an hound wol holde the wilde boor." / But natheles, I sey nat thou shalt be so coward that thou doute ther wher-as is no drede. / The book seith: that "somme folk han greet lust to deceyve, but yet they dreden hem to be deceyved." / Yet shaltou drede to been empoisoned, and kepe yow from the companye of scorneres. / For the book seith: "with scorneres make no companye, but flee hir wordes as venim." /

 § 82. Now as to the seconde point, wher-as your wyse conseilours conseyllid yow to warnestore your hous with greet diligence, / I wolde fayn knowe, how that ye understonde thilke wordes, and what is your sentence. /

§ 83. Melibeus answerde and seyde, 'Certes I understande it in this wise; that I shal warnestore myn hous with toures, swiche as han castelles and other manere edifices, and armure and artelleries, / by whiche thynges I may my persone and myn hous so kepen and defenden, that myne enemys shul been in drede myn hous for to approche.' /

§ 84. To this sentence answerde anon Prudence; 'warnestoring,' quod she, 'of heighe toures and of grete edifices appertenthen som-tyme to pryde; / and eek men make heighe toures and grete edifices with grete costages and with greet travaille; and whan that they been accomplied, yet be they nat worth a stree, but-if they be defended by trewe freendes that been olde and wyse. / And understond wel, that the gretteste and strongeste garnison that a riche man may have, as wel to kepen his persone as hise goodes, is / that he be biloved amonges his subgetes and with hise neighebores. / For thus seith Tullius: that "ther is a maner garnison that no man may venquise ne disconfitte, and that is, / a lord to be biloved of hise citezeins and of his peple." /

§ 85. Now sir, as to the thridde point; wher-as your olde and wise conseilours seyden, that yow ne oghte nat sodeynly ne hastily proceden in this nede, / but that yow oghte purveyen and apparaillen yow in this caas with greet diligence and greet deliberacioun; / trewely, I trowe that they seyden right wysly and right sooth. / For Tullius seith, "in overy nede, er thou biginne it, apparaille thee with greet diligence." / Thanne seye I, that in vengeance-taking, in werre, in batailla, and in warnestoring, / er thou biginne, I rede that thou apparaille thee ther-to, and do it with greet deliberacioun. / For Tullius seith: that "long apparailing biforn the bataille maketh short victoria." / And Cassidorus seith: "the garnison is stronger whan it is longe tyme avysed." /

§ 86. But now lat us speken of the conseil that was accorded by your neighebores, swiche as doon yow reverence withouten love, / your olde enemys recon-silled, your flatereres / that conseilled yow certeyne thinges prively, and openly conseilleden yow the contrarie; / the yonge folk also, that conseilleden yow to venge yow and make werre anon. / And certes, sir, as I have seyde biforn, ye han greetly erred to han cleped swich maner folk to your conseil; / which conseilours been y-nogh reprevd by the resouns afore-seyd. / But nathelees, lat us now descende to the special. Ye shuln first procede after the doctrine of Tullius. / Certes, the trouthe of this matere or of this conseil nedeth nat diligently enquire; / for it is wel wist whiche they been that han doon to yow this trespas and vileinye, / and how manye trespasours, and in what manere they han to yow doon al this wrong and al this vileinye. / And after this, thanne shul ye examine the seconde condicioun, which that the same Tullius addeth in this matere. / For Tullius put a thing, which that he clepeth "consenting," this is to seyn; / who been they and how manye, and whiche been they, that consenteden to thy conseil, in thy wilfulness to doon hastif vengeance. / And lat us considere also who been they, and how manye been they, and whiche been they, that consenteden to your adversaries. / And certes, as to the firste poynt, it is wel known whiche folk been they that consenteden to your hastif wilfulness; / for trewely, alle tho that conseilleden yow to maken sodeyn werre ne been nat your freendes. / Lat us now considere whiche been they, that ye holde so greetly your freendes as to your persone. / For al-be-it so that ye be mighty and riche, certes ye ne been nat but allone. / For certes, ye ne han no child but a doghter; / ne ye ne han bretheren ne cosins ger-mayns, ne noon other neigh kinrede, / wherfore that your enemys, for drede, sholde stinte to plede with yow or to destroye your persone. / Ye knownen also, that your richesses moten been dispended in diverse parties; / and whan that every wight hath his part, they ne wollen taken but lital reward to venge thy deeth. / But thyne enemys been three, and they han manie children, bretheren, cosins, and other ny kinrede; / and, though so were that thou haddest slayn of hem two or three, yet dwellen ther y-nowe to wreken bir deeth and to slee thy persone. / And though so be that your kinrede be more siker and stedefast than the kin of your adversarie, / yet natheles your kinrede nis but a fer kinrede; they been but litel sib 2565 your kinrede; and the kin of your enemyes been ny sib to hem. And certes, as in that, hir condicioun is bet than youres. / Thanne lat us considere also if the con-seilling of hem that conselleden yow to taken sodeyn vengeance, whether it accorde to resoun? / And certes, ye knowe wel "nay." / For as by right and resoun, ther may no man taken vengeance on no wight, but the juge that hath the jurisdiccoun of it, / when it is graunted 2570 him to take thilke vengeance, hastily or attempely, as the lawe requireth. / And yet more-over, of thilke word that Tullius clepeth "consenting," / thou shalt considere if thy might and thy power may consenten and suffyze to thy wilfulnessse and to thy conseilours. / And certes, thou mayst wel seyn that "nay." / For sikerly, as for to speke properly, we may do no-thing but only swich thing as we may doon rightfully. / And certes, rightfully ne mowe ye take no vengeance as of 2575 your propre auctoritee. / Thanne mowe ye seen, that your power ne consenteth nat ne accordeth nat with your wilfulnessse. / Lat us now examine the thridde point that Tullius clepeth "consequent." / Thou shalt understonde that the vengeance that thou purposeth for to take is the consequent. / And ther-of folweth another vengeance, peril, and werre; and othere damages with-oute nombre, of whiche we be nat war as at this tyme. / And as touchinge the fourthe point, that 2580 Tullius clepeth "engendringe," / thou shalt considere, that this wrong which that is doon to thee is engendred of the hate of thyne enemyes; / and of the vengeance-takinge upon that wolde engendre another vengeance, and muchel sorwe and wastinge of richesess, as I soydo. /

§ 87. Now sir, as to the point that Tullius clepeth "causes," which that is the lasto point, / thou shalt understonde that the wrong that thou hast receyved

hath certeine causes, / whiche that clerkes clepen Oriens and Efficiens, and Causa longinqua and Causa propinqua; this is to seyn, the fer cause and the ny cause. / The fer cause is almighty god, 2585 that is cause of alle thinges. / The near cause is thy three enemyes. / The cause accidental was hate. / The cause material been the fyve woundes of thy doghter. / The cause formal is the manere of hir werkinge, that broghten laddres and cloumben in at thy windowes. / The 2590 cause final was for to slee thy doghter; it letted nat in as muche as in hem was. / But for to speken of the fer cause, as to what ende they shul come, or what shal finally bityde of hem in this caas, ne can I nat deme but by coniectinge and by supposinge. / For we shul suppose that they shul come to a wikked ende, / because that the Book of Decrees seith: "selden or with greet peyne been causes y-brought to good ende whanne they been baddely bigonne." /

§ 88. Now sir, if men wolde axe me, why that god suffred men to do yow this vileinye, certes, I can nat wel answer as for no sothfastnesse. / For th'apostle 2595 seith, that "the sciences and the juggements of our lord god almighty been ful depe; / ther may no man comprahende ne serchen hem suffisantly." / Natheles, by certeyne presumpcions and coniectinges, I holde and bileve / that god, which that is ful of justice and of right-wisnesse, hath suffred this bityde by juste cause reasonable. /

§ 89. Thy name is Melibee, this is to seyn, "a man that drinketh hony." / 2600 Thou hast y-dronke so muchel hony of swete temporel richesess and delices and honours of this world, / that thou art dronken; and hast forgeten Jesu Crist thy creatour; / thou ne hast nat doon to him swich honour and reverence as thee oughte. / Ne thou ne hast nat wel y-taken kepe to the wordes of Ovide, that seith: / "under the hony of the godes of the body is hid the venom that sleeth the soule." / And Salomon seith, 2605 "if thou hast founden hony, ete of it that suffyseth; / for if thou ete of it out of mesure, thou shalt spewe," and be nedý and povre. / And peraventure Crist hath thee in despit, and hath turned away fro thee his face and hise eres of miseri-corde; / and also he hath suffred that thou hast been punisshed in the manere that thou hast y-trespased. / Thou hast 2610 doon sinne agayn our lord Crist; / for certes, the three enemys of mankinde, that is to seyn, the flesh, the feend, and the world, / thou hast suffred hem entre in-to thyn herte fully by the windowes of thy body, / and hast nat defendid thyself suffisantly agayns hir assautes and hir temptaciouns, so that they han wounded thy soule in fyve places; / this is to seyn, the deedly synnes that been entred in-to thyn herte by thy fyve wittes. / And in the same manere our lord Crist hath wold and suffred, that thy three enemys been entred in-to thyn hous 2615 by the windowes, / and han y-wounded thy doghter in the fore-seyde manere. / § 40. 'Certes,' quod Melibee, 'I see wel that ye enforce yow muchel by wordes to overcome me in swich manere, that I shal nat venge me of myne enemys; / shewinge me the perils and yveles that mighten falle of this vengeance. / But . who-so wolde considere in alle vengeancees the perils and yveles that mighte sewe of vengeance-takinge, / a man wolde never 2620 take vengeance, and that were harm; / for by the vengeance-takinge been the wikked men dissevered fro the gode

 men. / And they that han wil to do wikkednesse restreyne hir wikked purpos, when they seen the punisshinge and chas-tisinge of the trespassours.' / [†And to this answerde dame Prudence: 'Certes,' seyde she, 'I graunte wel that of vengeance cometh muchel yvel and muchel good; / but vengeance-taking aperteneth nat unto everichoon, but only unto juges and unto hem that han jurisdiction upon the trespassours.] / And yet seye I more, that right as a singuler persone sinneth in takinge vengeance of another 2625 man, / right so sinneth the juge if he do no vengeance of hem that it han deserved. / For Senek seith thus: "that maister," he seith, "is good that proveth shrewes." / And as Cassidore seith: "A man dredeth to do outrages, when he woot and knoweth that it displeth to the juges and sovereyns." / And another seith: "the juge that dredeth to do right, maketh men shrewes." / And Seint Paule the apostle seith in his epistle, when he wryteth un-to the Romayns: that "the juges beren nat the spere with-outen cause;" / but they beren it to punisse 2630 the shrewes and misdoeres, and for to defende the gode men. / If ye wol thanne take vengeance of your enemys, ye shul retourne or have your recours to the juge that hath the jurisdiction up-on hem; / and he shal punisse hem as the lawe axeth and requyreth. /

§ 41. 'A!' quod Melibee, 'this vengeance lyketh me no-thing. / I bithenke me now and take hede, how fortune hath norisshed me fro my childhede, and hath holpen me to passe many a strong pas. / 2635 Now wol I assayen hir, throwinge, with goddes help, that she shal helpe me my shame for to venge.' /

§ 42. 'Certes,' quod Prudence, 'if ye wol werke by my conseil, ye shul nat assaye fortune by no wey; / ne ye shul nat lene or bowe unto hir, after the word of Senek: / for "things that been folly doon, and that been in hope of fortune, shullen never come to good ende." / And as the same Senek seith: "the more cleer and the more shyning that fortune is, the more brotil and the sonner broken she is." / Trusteth nat in hir, for she nis 2640 nat stidefast ne stable; / for when thou throwest to be most seur or siker of hir help, she wol faille thee and deceyve thee. / And wheras ye seyn that fortune hath norisshed yow fro your childhede, /
 I seye, that in so muchel shul ye the lasse truste in hir and in hir wit. / For Senek seith: "what man that is norisshed by fortune, she maketh him a greet fool." / Now thanne, sin ye desyre and 2645 axe vengeance, and the vengeance that is doon after the lawe and bifore the juge ne lyketh yow nat, / and the vengeance

that is doon in hope of fortune is perilous and uncertain, / thanne have ye noon other remedie but for to have your recours unto the sovereyn jugs that vengeth alle vileinyes and wronges; / and he shal venge yow after that him-self witnesseth, wher-as he seith: / "leveth 2650 the vengeance to me, and I shal do it." /

§ 43. Melibee answerde, 'if I ne venge me nat of the vileinye that men han doon to me, / I sompne or warne hem that han doon to me that vileinye and alle othere, to do me another vileinye. / For it is writen: "if thou take no vengeance of an old vileinye, thou sompnest thyne adversaries to do thee a newe vileinye." / And also, for my suffrance, men wolden do to me so muchel vileinye, that I mighte neither bere it ne sustene; / and so sholde I been put and holden over 2655 lowe. / For men seyn: "in muchel suffringes shul manye thinges falle un-to thee whiche thou shalt nat mowe suffre." /

§ 44. 'Certes,' quod Prudence, 'I graunte yow that over muchel suffraunce nis nat good; / but yet ne folweth it nat ther-of, that every persone to whom men doon vileinye take of it vengeance; / for that aperteneth and longeth al only to the juges, for they shul venge the vileinyes and iniuries. / And ther-for the two auctoritees that ye han seyd above, been 2660 only understonden in the juges; / for when they suffren over muchel the wronges and the vileinyes to be doon withouten punisshinge, / they sompne nat a man al only for to do newe wronges, but they comanden it. / Also a wys man seith: that "the jugs that correcteth nat the sinner comandeth and biddeth him do sinne." / And the juges and sovereyns mighten in hir land so muchel suffre of the shrewes and misdoeres, / that they sholden by swich suffrance, by proces of tyme, wexen of swich power and might, that they sholden putte out the juges 2665 and the sovereyns from hir places, / and atte laste maken hem lesen hir lordshipes. /

§ 45. But lat us now putte, that ye have leve to venge yow. / I seye ye been nat of might and power as now to venge yow. / For if ye wole maken comparisoun un-to the might of your adversaries, ye shul finde in manye thinges, that I have shewed yow er this, that hir condicioun is bettre than youres. / And therefore seye I, that it is good as now that ye suffre and be pacient. / 2670

§ 46. Forther-more, ye knowen wel that, after the comune sawe, "it is a woodnesse a man to stryve with a strengere or a more mighty man than he is him-self; / and for to stryve with a man of evne strengthe, that is to seyn, with as strong a man as he, it is peril; / and for to stryve with a weyker man, it is folie." / And therefore sholde a man flee stryvinge as muchel as he mighte. / For Salomon seith: "it is a greet worship to a man to kepen him fro noyse and stryf." / And if it so 2675 bifalle or happe that a man of gretter might and strengthe than thou art do thee grevaunce, / studie and bisie thee rather to stille the same grevaunce, than for to venge thee. / For Senek seith: that "he putteth him in greet peril that stryveth with a gretter man than he is him-self." / And Catoun seith: "if a man of hyer estaat or degre, or more mighty than thou, do thee any or grevaunce, suffre him; / for he that ones hath greved thee may another tyme releve thee and helpe." / Yet sette I 2680 caas, ye have bothe might and licence for to venge yow. / I seye, that ther be ful manye thinges that shul restreine yow of vengeance-takinge, / and make yow for to encline to suffre, and for to han pacience in the thinges that han been doon to yow. / First and foreward, if ye wole considere the defautes that been in your owene persone, / for whiche defautes god hath suffred yow have this tribulacioun, as I have seyd yow heer-bifore. / 2685 For the poete seith, that "we oghte paciently taken the tribulacions that comen to us, whan we thinken and consideren that we han deserved to have hem." / And Seint Gregorie seith: that "whan a man considereth wel the nombre of hise defeutes and of his sinnes, / the peynes and the tribulaciouns that he suffreth semen the lesse un-to hym; / and in-as-muche as him thinketh hise sinnes more hevy and grevous, / in-so-2690 muche semeth his peyne the lighter and the esier un-to him." / Also ye owen to enclayne and bowe your herte to take the pacience of our lord Jesu Crist, as seith

 seint Peter in hise epistles: / "Jesu Crist," he seith, "hath suffred for us, and yeven ensample to every man to folwe and sewe him; / for he dide never sinne, ne never cam ther a vileinous word out of his mouth: / whan men cursed him, he cursed hem noght; and whan men betten him, he manaced hem noght." / Also the grete pacience, which the seintes that been in paradys han had in tribulaciouns that they han y-suffred, 2695 with-uten hir desert or gilt, / oghte muchel stiren yow to pacience. / Forther-more, ye sholde enforce yow to have pacience, / consideringe that the tribu-laciouns of this world but lital whyle endure, and some passed been and goon. / And the joye that a man seketh to have by pacience in tribu-laciouns is perdurable, after that the apocle seith in his epistle: / "the joye of god," he seith, "is perdurable," that is 2700 to seyn, everlastinge. / Also troweth and bileveth stedefastly, that he nis nat wel y-norissed ne wel y-taught, that can nat have pacience or wol nat receyve pacience. / For Salomon seith: that "the doctrine and the wit of a man is knowen by pacience." / And in another place he seith: that "he that is pacient governeth him by greet prudence." / And the same Salomon seith: "the angry and wrathful man maketh noyses, and the pacient man atempreth hem and stilleth." / He seith also: "it is more worth to be pacient 2705 than for to be right strong; / and he that may have the lordshipe of his owene herte is more to preysse, than he that by his force or strengthe taketh grete citees." / And therefore seith seint Jame in his epistle: that "pacience is a greet vertu of perfeccioun." /

§ 47. 'Cartes,' quod Melibee, 'I graunte yow, dame Prudence, that pacience is a greet vertu of perfeccioun; / but every man may nat have the perfeccioun that ye seken; / ne I nam nat of the nombre of right parfite men, / for myn herte may 2710 never been in pees un-to the tyme it be venged. / And al-be-it so that it was greet peril to myne enemys, to do me a vileinye in takinge vengeance up-on me, / yet token they noon hede of the peril, but fulfilleden hir wikked wil and hir corage. / And therefore, me thinketh men oghten nat repreve me, though I putte me in a lital peril for to venge me, and though I do a greet excesse, that is to seyn, that I venge oon outrage by another.' / 2715

§ 48. 'A!' quod dame Prudence, 'ye seyn your wil and as yow lyketh; / but in no caas of the world a man sholde nat doon outrage ne excesse for to vengen him. / For Cassidore seith: that "as yvel doth he that vengeth him by outrage, as he that doth the outrage." / And therefore ye shul venge yow after the ordre of right, that is to seyn by the lawe, and noght by excesse ne by outrage. /
 And also, if ye wol venge yow of the ou-2720 trage of your adversaries in other maner than right comandeth, ye sinnen; / and therefore seith Senek: that "a man shal never vengen shrewednesse by shrewednesse." / And if ye seye, that right axeth
 a man to defenden violence by violence, and fighting by fighting, / certes ye seye sooth, whan the defense is doon anon with-uten intervalle or with-uten tary-ing or delay, / for to defenden him and nat for to vengen him. / And it bihoveth that a man putte swich attemprance in his defence, / that men have no 2725 cause ne matere to repreven him that defendeth him of excesse and outrage;
 for elles were it agayn resoun. / Pardee, ye knowen wel, that ye maken no defence as now for to defende yow, but for to venge yow; / and so seweth it that ye han no wil to do your dede attemprely. /
 And therefore, me thinketh that pacience is good. For Salomon seith: that "he that is nat pacient shal have greet harm." /

§ 49. 'Certes,' quod Melibee, 'I graunte yow, that whan a man is incapient and wroth, of that that toucheth him noight and that aperteneth nat un-to him, though
2730 it harme him, it is no wonder. / For the lawe seith: that "he is coupable that entremetteth or medleth with swich thyng as aperteneth nat un-to him." / And Salomon seith: that "he that entremetteth him of the noyse or stryf of another man, is lyk to him that taketh an hound by the eres." / For right as he that taketh a straunge hound by the eres is outhewhyle biten with the hound, / right in the same wyse is it reson that he have harm, that by his incapience medleth him of the noyse of another man, wher-as it aperteneth nat un-to him. / But ye knowen wel that this dede, that is to seyn, my grief and my disese, toucheth
2735 me right ny. / And therefore, though I be wroth and incapient, it is no merveille. / And savinge your grace, I can nat seen that it mighte greetly harme me though I toke vengeance; / for I am richer and more mighty than myne enemyes been. / And wel knowen ye, that by moneye and by havinge grete possessions been all the thynges of this world governed. / And Salomon seith: that 2740 "alle thynges obeyen to moneye." /

§ 50. Whan Prudence hadde herd hir housbonde avanten him of his richesse and of his moneye, dispreisinge the power of hise adversaries, she spak, and seyde in this wyse: / "certes, dere sir, I graunte yow that ye been rich and mighty, / and that the richesces been goode to hem that han wel y-geten hem and wel conne usen hem. / For right as the body of a man may nat liven withoute the soule, namore may it live withouten temporel goodes. / And by richesces 2745 may a man gete him grete freendes. / And therefore seith Pamphilles: "if a netherdes doghter," seith he, "be riche, she may chesen of a thousand men which she wol take to hir housbonde; / for, of a thousand men, oon wol nat forsaken hir ne refusen hir." / And this Pamphilles seith also: "if thou be right happy, that is to seyn, if thou be right riche, thou shalt find a greet nombre of felawes and freendes. / And if thy fortune change that thou wexe povre, farewell freendshipe and felaweshipe; / for thou shalt be allone with-outen any companye, but-if it be the companye of povre folk." / And yet seith this Pamphilles 2750 moreover: that "they that been thralle and bonde of linage shullen been maad worthy and noble by the richesces." / And right so as by richesces ther comen manye goodes, right so by poverte come ther manye harmes and yevels. / For greet poverte constreyneth a man to do manye yevels. / And therfore clepeth Cassidore poverte "the moder of ruine," / that is to seyn, the moder of over-throwing or fallinge doun. / And ther-

2755 fore seith Piers Alfonse: "oon of the gretteste adversitees of this world is / whan a free man, by kinde or by burthe, is constreyned by poverte to eten the almesse of his enemy." / And the same seith Innocent in oon of hise bookes; he seith: that "sorwful and mishappy is the condicioun of a povre begger; / for if he axe nat his mete, he dyeth for hunger; / and if he axe, he dyeth for shame; and algates necessitee constreyneth him to axe." / And therefore seith
2760 Salomon: that "bet it is to dye than for to have swich poverte." / And as the same Salomon seith: "bette it is to dye of bitter deeth than for to liven in swich wyse." / By these reasons that I have seid un-to yow, and by manye othere reasons that I coude seye, / I graunte yow that richesces been goode to hem that geten hem wel, and to hem that wel usen tho richesces. / And therfore wol I shewe yow how ye shul have yow, and how ye shul bere yow in gaderinge of richesces, and in what manere ye shul usen hem. /
2765 § 51. First, ye shul geten hem withouten greet desyr, by good leyser sokingly, and nat over hastily. / For a man that is to desyringe to gete richesces abandoneth him first to thefte and to alle

other yveles. / And therefore seith Salomon : " he that hasteth him to bisily to wexe riche shal be noon innocent." / He seith also : that " the richesse that hastily cometh to a man, sone and lightly gooth and passeth fro a man ; / but that richesse that cometh lital and lital wexeth alwey and multiplyeth." / And sir, ye shul geten richesces by your wit and by your travaille un-to your profit ; / and that with-outen wrong or harm-doinge to any other persone. / For the lawe seith : that " ther maketh no man himselven riche, if he do harm to another wight" ; / this is to seyn, that nature defendeth and forbedeth by right, that no man make himselfe riche un-to the harm of another persone. / And Tullius seith : that " no sorwe ne no drede of death, ne no-thing that may falle un-to a man / is so muchel agayns nature, as a man to encressen his owene profit to the harm of another man. / And though the grete men and the mighty men geten richesces more lightly than thou, / yet shalton nat been ydel ne slow to do thy profit ; for thou shalt in alle wyse flee ydelnesse." / For Salomon seith : that " ydelnesse techeth a man to do manye yveles." / And the same Salomon seith : that " he that travailleth and bisleth him to tillen his land, shal eten breed ; / but he that is ydel and casteth him to no businessse ne occupacioun, shal falle in-to poverte, and dye for hunger." / And he that is ydel and slow can never finde covenable tyme for to doon his profit. / For ther is a versifour seith : that " the ydel man excuseth hym in winter, by cause of the grete cold ; and in somer, by enchesoun of the heta." / For these causes seith Caton : " waketh and enclyneth nat yow over muchel for to slepe ; for over muchel reste norisseth and causeth manye vices." / And therefore seith seint Jerome : " doth somme gode dedes, that the devel which is our enemy ne finde yow nat unoccupied." / For the devel ne taketh nat lightly un-to his werkinge swiche as he findeth occupied in gode werkes." /

§ 52. Thanne thus, in getinge richesces,

ye mosten flee ydelnesse. / And afterward, ye shul use the richesces, whiche ye have geten by your wit and by your travaille, / in swich a manere, that men holde nat yow to scars, ne to sparinge, ne to fool-large, that is to seyn, over-large a spender. / For right as men blamen an avaricious man by-cause of his scarsetee and chincherye, / in the same wyse is he to blame that spendeth over largely. / And therefore seith Caton : " use," he seith, " thy richesces that thou hast geten / in swich a manere, that men have no matere ne cause to calle thee neither wrecche ne chinche ; for it is a greet shame to a man to have a povere herte and a riche purs." / He seith also : " the goodes that thou hast y-geten, use hem by mesure," that is to seyn, spende hem mesurably ; / for they that folly waeten and despenden the goodes that they han, / when they han namore propre of hir owene, they shapen hem to take the goodes of another man. / I seye thanne, that ye shul flee avarice ; / usinge your richesces in swich manere, that men seye nat that your richesces been y-buried, / but that ye have hem in your might and in your weeldinge. / For a wys man reprevech the avaricious man, and seith thus, in two vers : / " wherto and why burieth a man hise goodes by his grete avarice, and knoweth wel that nedes mooste he dye ; / for deeth is the ende of every man as in this present lyf." / And for what cause or enchesoun joynech he him or knitteth he him so faste un-to hise goodes, / that alle his wittes mowen nat disseveren him or departen him from hise goodes ; / and knoweth wel, or oghte to knowe, that when he is deed, he shal nothing bere with him out of this world ? / And ther-fore seith seint Augustin : that " the avaricious man is likned un-to helle ; / that the more it swelweth, the more dasyr it hath to swelwe and devoure." / And as wel as ye wolde eschewe to be called an avaricious man or chinche, / as wel sholde ye kepe yow and governe yow in swich a wyse that men calle yow nat fool-large. / Therefore seith Tullius : " the goodes," he seith, " of thyn hous ne

sholde nat been hid, ne kept so cloos but that they mighte been opened by pitee and debonairetee"; / that is to seyn, to yeven part to hem that han greet nede; / "ne thy goodes shullen nat been so opene, to been every mannes goodes." / Afterward, in getinge of your richesesses and in usinge hem, ye shul alwey have three things in your herte; / that is to seyn, our lord god, conscience, and good name. / First, ye shul have god in your herte; / and for no richesese ye shullen do no-thing, which may in any manere displese god, that is your creatour and maker. / For after the word of Salomon: "it is bettre to have a lital good with the love of god, / than to have muchel good and tresour, and lese the love of his lord god." / And the prophete seith: that "bette it is to be a good man and have lital good and tresour, / than to been holden a shrewe and have grete richesesses." / And yet seye I farthermore, that ye sholde alwey doon your businesse to gete yow richesesses, / so that ye gete hem with good conscience. / And th'apostle seith: that "ther nis thing in this world, of which we sholden have so greet joye as whan our conscience bereth us good witnesse." / And the wyse man seith: "the substance of a man is ful good, whan sinne is nat in mannes conscience." / Afterward, in getinge of your richesesses, and in usinge of hem, / yow moste have greet businesse and greet diligence, that your goode name be alwey kept and conserved. / For Salomon seith: that "bette it is and more it availleth a man to have a good name, than for to have grete richesesse." / And therefore he seith in another place: "do greet diligence," seith Salomon, "in kepinge of thy frend and of thy gode name; / for it shal lenger abide with thee than any tresour, be it never so precious." / And certes he sholde nat be called a gentil man, that after god and good conscience, alle thinges left, ne dooth his diligence and businesse to kepen his good name. / And Caasidore seith: that "it is signe of a gentil herte, whan a man loveth and desyreth to han a good name." / And therefore seith seint Augustin: that "ther been two thinges that arn necessarie and nedefulle, / and that is good conscience and good loos; / that is to seyn, good conscience to thyn owene persone inward, and good loos for thy neighebores outward." / And he that trusteth him so muchel in his gode conscience, / that he displeth and setteth at noght his gode name or loos, and rekketh noght though he kepe nat his gode name, nis but a cruel cherl. /

§ 58. Sire, now have I shewed yow how ye shul do in getinge richesesses, and how ye shullen usen hem; / and I see wel, that for the trust that ye han in youre richesesses, ye wole moeve werre and batailla. / I conseilte yow, that ye biginne no werre in trust of your richesesses; for they ne suffyssen noght werres to mayntene. / And therfore seith a philosopre: "that man that desyreth and wole algates han werre, shal never have suffisaunce; / for the richer that he is, the gretter despenses moste he make, if he wole have worship and victorie." / And Salomon seith: that "the gretter richesesses that a man hath, the mo dependours he hath." / And dere sire, al-be-it so that for your richesesses ye mowe have muchel folk, / yet bihoveth it nat, ne it is nat good, to biginne werre, where-as ye mowe in other manere have peas, un-to your worship and profit. / For the victories of batailles that been in this world, lye nat in greet nombre or multitude of the peple ne in the vertu of man; / but it lyth in the wil and in the hand of our lord god almighty. / And therfore Judas Machabeus, which was goddes knight, / whan he sholde fighte agayn his adversarie that hadde a greet nombre, and a gretter multitude of folk and stronger than was this peple of Machabee, / yet he reconforted his lital companye, and seyde right in this wyse: / "als lightly, quod he, "may our lord god almighty yeve victorie to a fewe folk as to many folk; / for the victorie of bataille cometh nat by the grete nombre of peple, / but it cometh from our lord god of hevane." /

And dere sir, for as muchel as there is no man certain, if he be worthy that god yeve him victorie, [† namore than he is certain whether he be worthy of the love of god] or naught, after that Salomon seith, / therefore every man sholde greetly drede werres to biginne. / And by-cause that in batailles fallen manye perils, / and happeth outhere-while, that as sone is the grete man sleyn as the litel man; / and, as it is written in the seconde book of Kinges, "the dedes of batailles been aventureuse and nothing certeyne; / for as lightly is oon hurt with a spere as another." / And for ther is gret peril in werre, therefore sholde a man flee and eschewe werre, in as muchel as a man may goodly. / For Salomon seith: "he that loveth peril shal falle in peril." /

§ 54. After that Dame Prudence hadde spoken in this manere, Melibee answerde and seyde, / "I see wel, dame Prudence, that by your faire wordes and by your reasons that ye han shewed me, that the werre lyketh yow no-thing; / but I have nat yet herd your conseil, how I shal do in this nede." /

§ 55. 'Certes,' quod she, 'I conseilte yow that ye accorde with youre adversaries, and that ye have pees with hem. / For seint Jame seith in hise epistles: that "by concord and pees the smale richesses wexen grete, / and bydebat and discord the grete richesses fallen down." / And ye knowen wel that oon of the gretteste and most sovereyn thing, that is in this world, is unitee and pees. / And therefore seyde our lord Jesu Crist to hise apostles in this wyse: / "wel happy and blessed been they that loven and purchacen pees; for they been called children of god." / 'A!' quod Melibee, 'now see I wel that ye loven nat myn honour ne my worships. / Ye knowen wel that myne adversaries han bigonnen this debat and brige by hir outrage; / and ye see wel that they ne requeren ne preyen me nat of pees, ne they asken nat to be reconciled. / Wol ye thanne that I go and make me and obeye me to hem, and crye hem mercy? / For sothe, that were nat my worship. / For right as men seyn, that "over-greet homlinessse engendreth displeysinge," so fareth it by to greet humylitee or mekenesse.' /

§ 56. Thanne bigan dame Prudence to maken semblant of wratthe, and seyde, / 'certes, sir, sauf your grace, I love your honour and your profit as I do myn owene, and ever have doon; / ne ye ne noon other syen never the contrarie. / And yit, if I hadde seyde that ye sholde han purchaced the pees and the reconciliacioun, I ne hadde nat muchel mistaken me, ne seyde amis. / For the wyse man seith: "the disensiounn biginneth by another man, and the reconciling biginneth by thy-self." / And the prophete seith: "flee shrewednesse and do goodnesse; / seke pees and folwe it, as muchel as in thee is." / Yet seye I nat that ye shul rather pursue to your adversaries for pees than they shuln to yow; / for I knowe wel that ye been so hard-herted, that ye wol do no-thing fur me. / And Salomon seith: "he that hath over-hard an herte, atte laste he shal mishappe and mistyde." /

§ 57. Whanne Melibee hadde herd dame Prudence maken semblant of wratthe, he seyde in this wyse, / "dame, I prey yow that ye be nat displeased of thinges that I seye; / for ye knowe wel that I am angry and wrooth, and that is no wonder; / and they that been wrothe witen nat wel what they doon, ne what they seyn. / Therefore the prophete seith: that "troubled eyen han no cleer sighte." / But seyeth and conseilte me as yow lyketh; for I am redy to do right as ye wol desyre; / and if ye repreve me of my folye, I am the more holden to love yow and to preyse yow. / For Salomon seith: that "he that repreveth him that doth folye, / he shal finde gretter grace than he that deceyveth him by swete wordes." /

§ 58. Thanne seide dame Prudence, 'I make no semblant of wratthe ne anger but for your grete profit. / For Salomon seith: "he is more worth, that repreveth or chydeth a fool for his folye, shewinge him semblant of wratthe, / than he that supporteth him and preyeth him in his misdoinge, and laugheth at his folye." / And this same Salomon seith afterward: that "by the sorweful visage of a man," that is to seyn, by the sory and hevy countenance of a man, / "the fool correcteth and amendeth him-self." /

2900 § 59. Thanne seyde Melibee, 'I shal nat conne answer to so manye faire resouns as ye putten to me and shewen. / Seyeth shortly your wil and your conseil, and I am al ready to fulfillle and parfoune it.' /

§ 60. Thanne dame Prudence discovered al hir wil to him, and seyde, / 'I consaille yow,' quod she, 'aboven alle thinges, that ye make pees bitwene god and yow; / and beth reconciled un-to him and to his grace. / For as I have seyde yow heer-biforn, god hath suffred yow to have this tribulacioun and disese for your sinnes. / And if ye do as I sey yow, god wol sende your adversaries un-to yow, / and maken hem fallen at your feet, redy to do your wil and your comandements. / For Salomon seith: "whan the condicioun of man is plesant and likinge to god, / he chaungeth the hertes of the mannes adversaries, and constreyneth hem to biseken 2910 him of pees and of grace." / And I prey yow, lat me speke with your adversaries in privee place; / for they shul nat knowe that it be of your wil or your assent. / And thanne, whan I knowe hir wil and hir entente, I may consaille yow the more seurlly.' /

§ 61. 'Dame,' quod Melibee, 'dooth your wil and your lykinge, / for I putte me hoolly in your disposicion and ordinance.' /

2915 § 62. Thanne Dame Prudence, whan she saugh the gode wil of her housbonde, delibered and took avys in hir-self, / thinkinge how she mighte bringe this nede un-to a good conlusion and to a good ende. / And whan she saugh hir tyme, she sente for thise adversaries to come un-to hir in-to a privee place, / and shewed wysly un-to hem the grete goodes that comen of pees, / and the grete

harmes and perils that been in werre; / 2920 and seyde to hem in a goodly manere, how that hem oughte have greet repent-aunce / of the injurie and wrong that they hadden doon to Melibee hir lord, and to hir, and to hir doghter. /

§ 63. And whan they harden the goodliche wordes of dame Prudence, / they weren so surprised and ravished, and hadden so greet joye of hir, that wonder was to telle. / 'A! lady!' quod they, 'ye han shewed un-to us "the blessinge of swetnesse," after the sawe of David the prophete; / for the reconcilinge which 2925 we been nat worthy to have in no manere, / but we oghte requeren it with greet contricioun and humilitee, / ye of your grete goodnesse have presented unto us. / Now see we wel that the science and the conninge of Salomon is ful trewe; / for he seith: that "swete wordes multiplen and encresen freendes, and maken shrewes to be debonaire and meke." /

2930 § 64. Certes,' quod they, 'we putten our dede and al our matere and cause al hoolly in your goode wil; / and been redy to obeye to the speche and comandement of my lord Melibee. / And therefore, dere and benigne lady, we preyen yow and biseke yow as mekely as we conne and mowen, / that it lyke un-to your grete goodnesse to fulfillen in dede your goodliche wordes; / for we consideren and knowlichen that we han offended and greved my lord Melibee out of mesure; / 2935 so ferforth, that we be nat of power to maken hise amendes. / And therefore we oblige and binden us and our freendes to doon al his wil and hise comandements. / But peraventure he hath swich hevynesse and swich wratthe to us-ward, by-cause of our offence, / that he wole enjoyne us swich a peyne as we mowe nat here ne sustene. / And therefore, noble lady, we biseke to your wommanly pitee, / 2940 to taken swich avysemment in this nede, that we, ne our freendes, be nat desherited ne destroyed thurgh our folye.' /

tracioun and juggement, and in the might and power of hise enemys. / For Salomon seith : "leveth me, and yeveth credence to that I shal seyn; I seye," quod he,
"ye peple, folk, and governours of holy chircha, / to thy sone, to thy wyf, to thy 2945 freend, ne to thy brother / ne yeve thou never might ne maistrie of thy body, whyl thou livest." / Now eithen he defendeth, that man shal nat yeven to his brother ne to his freend the might of his body, / by a strenger resoun he defendeth and for-bedeth a man to yeven him-self to his enemy. / And nathelies I conselle you, that ye mistruste nat my lord. / For 2950 I woot wel and knowe verrally, that he is debonaire and meke, large, curteys, / and nothing desyrous ne covetous of good ne richesse. / For ther nis no-thing in this world that he desyreth, save only worship and honour. / Forther-more I knowe wel, and am right seur, that he shal no-thing doon in this nede with-uten my conseil. / And I shal so werken in this cause, that, by grace of our lord god, ye shul been reconciled un-to us. /

§ 66. Thanne seyden they with o vois, 'worshipful lady, we putten us and our goodes al fully in your wil and disposi-2955 cioun; / and been redy to comen, what day that it lyke un-to your noblesse to limite us or assigne us, / for to maken our obligacioun and bond as strong as it lyketh un-to your goodnesse; / that we mowe fulfillle the wille of yow and of my lord Melibee.' /

§ 67. Whan dame Prudence hadde herd the answeres of thise men, she bad hem goon agayn prively; / and she returned to hir lord Melibee, and tolde him how she fond hise adversaries ful 2960 repentant, / knowlechinge ful lowely hir sinnes and trespas, and how they were redy to suffren al peyne, / requiringe and preyinge him of mercy and pitee. /

§ 68. Thanne seyde Melibee, 'he is wel worthy to have pardoun and foryiffnesse of his sinne, that exouseth nat his sinne, /
but knowlecheth it and repenteth him, axinge indulgence. / For Senek seith :
"ther is the remissioun and foryiffnesse,

whereas confessioun is"; / for confessioun 2965 is neighebore to innocence. / And he seith in another place : "he that hath shame for his sinne and knowlecheth it, is worthy remissioun." And therefore I assente and conferme me to have pees; / but it is good that we do it nat with-uten
the assent and wil of our freendes.' /

§ 69. Thanne was Prudence right glad and joyeful, and seyde, / 'Certes, sir,' quod she, 'ye han wel and goodly an-2970 swered. / For right as by the conseil, assent, and help of your freendes, ye han been stired to venge yow and maken werre, / right so with-uten hir conseil shul ye nat accorden yow, ne have pees with your adversaries. / For the lawe seith : "ther nis no-thing so good by wey of kinde, as a thing to be unbounde by him that it was y-bounde." /

§ 70. And thanne dame Prudence, with-uten delay or taryng, sente anon hir messages for hir kin, and for hir olde freendes whiche that were trewe and wyse, / and tolde hem by ordre, in the presence of Melibee, al this matere as it is aboven expressed and declared; / and 2975 preyden hem that they wolde yeven hir
avyes and conseil, what best were to doon in this nede. / And whan Melibees freendes hadde taken hir avys and de-liberacioun of the forseide matere, / and hadden examined it by greet businesse and greet diligence, / they yave ful conseil for to have pees and reste; / and that Melibee sholde receyve with good herte
hise adversaries to foryiffnesse and mercy. / 2980

§ 71. And whan dame Prudence hadde herd the assent of hir lord Melibee, and the conseil of hise freendes, / accorde with hir wille and hir entencioun, / she was wonderly glad in hir herte, and seyde : / 'ther is an old proverbe,' quod she, 'seith : that "the goodnesse that thou mayst do this day, do it; / and abyde nat ne delaye it nat til to-morwe." / 2985
And therefore I conselle that ye sende your messages, swiche as been discrete and wyse, / un-to your adversaries; tel-linge hem, on your bihalve, / that if they wole trete of pees and of accord, / that they shapen hem, with-outen delay or taryng, to comen un-to us.' / Which thing parfourned was in dede. / And whanne these trespassours and repentinge folk of hir folies, that is to seyn, the adversaries of Melibee, / hadden herd what these messagers seyden un-to hem, / they weren right glad and joyeful, and answereden ful mekely and benignely, / yeldinge graces and thankinges to hir lord Melibee and to al his companye; / and shopen hem, with-outen delay, to go with the messagers, and obeie to the 2995 comandement of hir lord Melibee. /

§ 72. And right anon they token hir way to the court of Melibee, / and token with hem somme of hir trewe freendes, to maken feith for hem and for to been hir borwes. / And whan they were comen to the presence of Melibee, he seyde hem this wordes: / 'it standeth thus,' quod Melibee, 'and sooth it is, that ye, / causeless, and with-outen skille and resoun, / han doon grete injuries and wronges to me and to my wyf Prudence, and to my doghter also. / For ye han entred in-to myn hous by violence, / and have doon swich outrage, that alle men knowen wel that ye have deserved the deeth; / and therefore wol I knowe and wite of yow, / whether ye wol putte the punisement and the chastysinge and the vengeance of this outrage in the wil of me and of my wyf Prudence; or ye wol 3005 nat?' /

§ 73. Thanne the wyseste of hem three answerde for hem alle, and seyde: / 'sire,' quod he, 'we knowen wel, that we been unworthy to comen un-to the court of so greet a lord and so worthy as ye been. / For we han so greetly mistaken us, and han offended and agilt in swich a wyse agayn your heigh lordshipe, / that trewely we han deserved the deeth. / But yet, for the grete goodnesse and debonairetee that all the world witnesseth
3010 of your persone, / we submitten us to the oxeillance and benigntee of your gracious lordshipe, / and been redy to obeie to alle your comandements; / biseking yow, that of your merciable pitee ye wol con-

sidere our grete repentaunce and lowe submissioun, / and graunten us foryevnesse of our outrageous trespas and offense. / For wel we knowe, that your liberal grace and mercy strecchen hem ferther in-to goodnesse, than doon our outrageous giltes and trespas in-to wickednesse; / al-be-it that cursedly and dampnably we han agilt agayn your heigh lordshipe.' /

§ 74. Thanne Melibee took hem up fro the ground ful benignely, / and receyved hir obligaciouns and hir bondes by hir othes up-on hir plegges and borwes, / and assigned hem a certeyn day to retourne un-to his court, / for to accepte and receyve the sentence and jugement that Melibee wolde comande to be doon on hem by the causes afore-seyd; / whiche
3020 thinges ordeyned, every man returned to his hous. /

§ 75. And whan that dame Prudence saugh hir tyme, she freyned and axed hir lord Melibee, / what vengeance he thoughte to taken of hise adversaries? /

§ 76. To which Melibee answerde and seyde, 'certes,' quod he, 'I thinke and purpose me fully / to desherite hem of al that ever they han, and for to putte hem in exil for ever.' /

§ 77. 'Certes,' quod dame Prudence, 'this were a cruel sentence, and muchel agayn resoun. / For ye been riche y-nough, and han no nede of other mennes good; / and ye mighte lightly in this wyse gete yow a covetous name, / which is a vicious thing, and oghte been eschewed of every good man. / For after the sawe of the word of the apostle: "coveitise is rote of alle harmes." / And 3030 therfore, it were bettre for yow to lese so muchel good of your owene, than for to taken of hir good in this manere. / For bettre it is to lesen good with worshipe, than it is to winne good with vileinye and shame. / And every man oghte to doon his diligence and his businesse to geten him a good nama. / And yet shal he nat only bisie him in kepinge of his good name, / but he shal also enforen him alwey to do som-thing by which he

3035 may renouelle his good name; / for it is wryten, that "the olde good loos or good name of a man is sone goon and passed, whan it is nat newed ne renouelled." /
 And as touchinge that ye seyn, ye wole exile your adversaries, / that thinketh me muchel agayn resoun and out of mesure, / considered the power that they han yeve yow up-on hem-self. / And it is wryten, that "he is worthy to lesen his privilege that misuseth the might and the power that is yeven him." / And I 3040 sette cas ye mighte enjoine hem that peyne by right and by lawe, / which I trowe ye howe nat do, / I seye, ye mighte nat putten it to execucioun per-aventure, / and thanne were it lykly to re-tourne to the werre as it was biforn. /
 And therefore, if ye wole that men do yow obeisance, ye moste demen more cur-3045 teisly; / this is to seyn, ye moste yeven more esy sentences and jugements. /
 For it is wryten, that "he that most curteisly comandeth, to him men most obeyen." / And therefore, I prey yow that in this necessitee and in this nede, ye caste yow to overcome your herte. /
 For Senek seith: that "he that overcometh his herte, overcometh twyes." /
 And Tullius seith: "ther is no-thing 3050 so comendable in a greet lord / as whan he is debonaire and meke, and appeseth him lightly." / And I prey yow that ye wole forbere now to do vengeance, / in swich a manere, that your goode name may be kept and conserved; / and that men mowe have cause and matere to prayse yow of pitee and of mercy; / and that ye have no cause to repente yow of 3055 thing that ye doon. / For Senek seith:
 "he overcometh in an yvel manere, that repenteth him of his victorie." / Wherefore I pray yow, lat mercy been in your minde and in your herte, / to th'effect and entente that god almighty have mercy on yow in his laste jugement. /

 For seint Jame seith in his epistle:
 "jugement withouten mercy shal be doon to him, that hath no mercy of another wight." /

§ 78. Whanne Melibee hadde herd the grete skiles and resouns of dame Prudence, and hir wise informaciouns and techinges, / his herte gan enclyne to the 3060 wil of his wyf, consideringe hir trewe entente; / and conformed him anon, and assented fully to werken after hir conseil; / and thonked god, of whom procedeth al vertu and alle goodnesse, that him sente a wyf of so greet discre-cioun. / And whan the day cam that hise adversaries sholde apperen in his presence, / he spak unto hem ful goodly.
 and seyde in this wyse: / 'al-be-it so that 3065 of your pryde and presumpcioun and folie, and of your negligencie and unconninge, / ye have misborn yow and trespassed un-to me; / yet, for as much as I see and biholde your grete humilitee, / and that ye been sory and repentant of your giltes, / it constreyneth me to doon yow grace and mercy. / Therefore I re- 3070 ceive yow to my grace, / and foryeve
 yow outrely alle the offences, injuries, and wronges, that ye have doon agayn me and myne; / to this effect and to this ende, that god of his endeles mercy / wole at the tyme of our dyinge foryeven us our giltes that we han trespassed to him in this wrecched world. / For doute-lees, if we be sory and repentant of the sinnes and giltes whiche we han trespassed in the sighte of our lord god, / he 3075 is so free and so merciable, / that he wole foryeven us our giltes, / and bringen
 us to his blisse that never hath ende.
 Amen.' / 3078

Here is ended Chaucers Tale of Melibee and of Dame Prudence.

THE MONK'S PROLOGUE.

[T. 13895-13956.]

The mery wordes of the Host to the Monk.

WHAN ended was my tale of Melibee,
 And of Prudence and hir benignitee, 3080
 Our hoste seyde, 'as I am faithful man,
 And by the precious corpus Madrian,
 I hadde lever than a barel ale
 That goodes lief my wyf hadde herd this tale!

For she nis no-thing of swich pacience
 As was this Melibens wyf Prudence. 3086
 By goddes bones! whan I bete my knaves,
 She bringth me forth the grete clobbed
 staves, (10)

And cryeth, "slee the dogges everichoon,
 And brek hem, bothe bak and every boon."
 And if that any neigbor of myne 3091
 Wol nat in chirche to my wyf encline,
 Or be so hardy to hir to trespaece, Whan she comth hoom, she rampeth in my face, 3094

And cryeth, "false coward, wreek thy wyf!
 By corpus bones! I wol have thy knyf,
 And thou shalt have my distaf and go spinne!"

Fro day to night right thus she wol bi-
 ginne;— (20)
 "Allas!" she seith, "that ever I was shape
 To wedde a milksop or a coward ape, 3100
 That wol be overlad with every wight!
 Thou darst nat stonden by thy wyves
 right!"

This is my lyf, but-if that I wol fighte;
 And out at dore anon I moot me dighte,
 Or elles I am but lost, but-if that I 3105
 Be lyk a wilde leonn fool-hardy.
 I woot wel she wol do me slee som day
 Som neigbor, and thanne go my wey. (30)

For I am perilous with knyf in honde,
 Al be it that I dar nat hir withstonde, 3110
 For she is big in armes, by my feith,
 That shal he finde, that hir misdooth or seith.

But lat us passe away fro this matere.
 My lord the Monk, 'quod he, 'be mery of chere;

For ye shul telle a tale trewely. 3115
 Lo! Rouchestre stant heer faste by!
 Ryd forth, myn owene lord, brek nat our
 game, (39)

But, by my trouthe, I knowe nat your name,
 Wher shal I calle yow my lord dan John,
 Or dan Thomas, or elles dan Albon? 3120
 Of what hous be ye, by your fader kin?
 I vow to god, thou hast a ful fair skin,
 It is a gentil pasture ther thou goost;
 Thou art nat lyk a penaunt or a goost.

Upon my feith, thou art som officer, 3125
 Some worthy sexteyn, or som celerer,
 For by my fader soule, as to my doom,
 Thou art a maister whan thou art at hoom;

No povre cloisterer, ne no novys, (51)
 But a governour, wyly and wys. 3130
 And therwithal of brawnes and of bones
 A wel-faring persone for the nones.
 I pray to god, yeve him confusioun
 That first thee broghte un-to religioun;
 Thou woldest han been a trede-foularight.
 Haddestow as greet a leve, as thou hast
 might 3136

To parfourne al thy lust in engendrure,
 Thou haddest bigeten many a creature.
 Alas! why werestow so wyd a cope? (61)
 God yeve me sorwe! but, and I were a pope,

Not only thou, but every mighty man, 3141
 Thogh he were shorn ful hye upon his pan,
 Sholde have a wyf; for al the world is lorn!
 Religioun hath take up al the corn 3144
 Oft treading, and we borel men ben shrimpes!
 Of feble trees ther comen wrecched impes.
 This maketh that our heires been so sclendre (69)
 And feble, that they may nat wel engendre.
 This maketh that our wyves wol assaye
 Religious folk, for ye may better paye 3150
 Of Venus payements than mowe we;
 God woot, no hussheburghes payen ye!
 But be nat wrooth, my lord, for that I
 pleye;
 Ful ofte in game a sooth I have herd seye.
 This worthy monk took al in pacience,
 And seyde, 'I wol doon al my diligence,
 As fer as souneth in-to honestee, 3157
 To telle yow a tale, or two, or three. (80)
 And if yow list to herkne hiderward,
 I wol yow seyn the lyf of saint Edward;

Or elles first Tragedies wol I telle 3161
 Of whiche I have an hundred in my celle.
 Tragedie is to seyn a certeyn storie,
 As olde bokes maken us memorie,
 Of him that stood in greet prosperitee 3165
 And is y-fallen out of heigh degree
 Into miserie, and endeth wrecchedly.
 And they ben versified comunly (90)
 Of six feet, which men clepe exametron.
 In prose eek been endytid many oon, 3170
 And eek in metre, in many a sondry wyse.
 Lo! this declaring oughte y-nough suffice.
 Now herkneth, if yow lyketh for to here;
 But first I yow biseke in this matere, 3174
 Though I by ordre telle nat thise thinges,
 Be it of popes, emperours, or kinges,
 After hir ages, as men writen finde, (99)
 But telle hem som bifore and som bihinde,
 As it now comth un-to my remembraunce;
 Have me excused of myn ignoraunce. 3180

Explicit.

THE MONKES TALE.

Here biginneth the Monkes Tale, de Casibus Virorum Illustrium.

I wol biwayle in maner of Tragedie
 The harm of hem that stode in heigh degree,
 And fillen so that ther nas no remedie
 To bringe hem out of hir adversitee; 3184
 For certain, whan that fortune list to flee, Ther may no man the cours of hir with-
 holde;
 Lat no man truste on blind prosperitee;
 Be war by thise ensamples trewe and olde.

LUCIFER.

At Lucifer, though he an angel were,
 And nat a man, at him I wol biginne; 3190
 For, thogh fortune may non angel dere, (11)

From heigh degree yet fel he for his sinne
 Doun in-to helle, wher he yet is inne.
 O Lucifer! brightest of angels alle,
 Now artow Sathanas, that maist nat
 twinne 3195
 Out of miserie, in which that thou art falle.

ADAM.

Lo Adam, in the feld of Damassene,
 With goddes owene finger wrought was he,
 And nat bigeten of mannes sperme
 clene,
 And walte al Parady, saving o tree. 3200
 Had never worldly man so heigh degree
 As Adam, til he for misgovernance (22)

Was drive out of his bye prosperites
To labour, and to helle, and to meschaunce.

SAMPSON.

Lo Sampson, which that was annunciat
By th'angel, longe er his nativitee, 3206
And was to god almighty consecrat,
And stood in noblesse, whyl he mighte see.
Was never swich another as was he,
To speke of strengthe, and therwith hardi-
nesse; 3210
But to his wyves tolde he his secree, (31)
Through which he slow him-self, for wrecchednesse.

Sampson, this noble almighty champion,
Withouten wepen save his hondes tweye,
He slow and al to-rente the leoun, 3215
Toward his wedding walking by the weye.
His false wyf coude him so plesse and
preye
Til she his conseil knew, and she untrew
Un-to his foos his conseil gan biwrewe, 3219
And him forsook, and took another newa.

Three hundred foxes took Sampson for ire,
And alle hir tayles he togider bond, (42)
And sette the foxes tayles alle on fire,
For he on every tayl had knit a brond;
And they brende alle the cornes in that
lond, 3225
And alle hir oliveres and vynes eek.
A thousand men he slow eek with his hond,
And had no wepen but an asses cheek.

Whan they were slayn, so thursted him that he 3229
Was welny lorn, for which he gan to preye
That god wolde on his peyne han som
pitee, (51)
And sende him drinke, or elles moste he
deye;
And of this asses cheke, that was drewe,
Out of a wang-tooth sprang anon a welle,
Of which he drank y-nogh, shortly to seye,
Thus heelp him god, as Judicium can telle.

By verray force, at Gazan, on a night, 3237
Maugree Philistiens of that citee,
The gates of the toun he hath up-plaint,
And on his bak y-caried hem hath he 3240

Hye on an hille, that men mighte hem
see. (61)
O noble almighty Sampson, leef and dere,
Had thou nat told to wommen thy secree,
In al this worlde ne hadde been thy pere!

This Sampson never sicer drank ne wyn,
Ne on his heed cam rasour noon ne shere,
By precept of the messenger divyn, 3247
For alle his strengthes in his heres were;
And fully twenty winter, yeer by yeer,
He laddde of Israel the governaunce. 3250
But sone shal he wepen many a tere, (71)
For wommen shal him bringen to mes-
chaunce!

Un-to his lemman Dalida he tolde
That in his heres al his strengthe lay,
And falsly to his fo-men sho him solde.
And sleping in hir barme up-on a day 3256
She made to clippe or shere his heer away,
And made his fo-men al his craft espyen;
And whan that they him fonde in this array,
They bounde him faste, and putten out his
yēn. 3260

But er his heer were clipped or y-shave, (81)
Ther was no bond with which men might him binde;
But now is he in prisoun in a cave,
Wher-as they made him at the querne
grinde. 3264
O noble Sampson, strongest of mankinde,
O whylom juge in glorie and in richesse,
Now maystow wepen with thyn yēn blinde,
Sith thou fro wels art falle in wrecched-
nesse.

Th'ende of this caytif was as I shal seye;
His fo-men made a feste upon a day, 3270
And made him as hir fool bifore hem pleye,
And this was in a temple of greet array. (92)
But atte last he made a foul affray;
For he two pilers shook, and made hem
falle, 3274
And down fil temple and al, and therit lay,
And slow him-self, and eek his fo-men alle.

This is to seyn, the princes everichoon,
And eek three thousand bodies wer ther
slayn (98)

With falling of the grete temple of stoon.
Of Sampson now wol I na-more seyn. 3280
Beth war by this ensample old and playn
That no men telle hir conseil til hir wyves
Of swich thing as they wolde han secree
fayn,
If that it touche hir limmes or hir lyves.

HERCULES.

Of Hercules the sovereyn conquerour 3285
Singen his workes laude and heigh renoun;
For in his tyme of strengthe he was the flour.
He slow, and rafte the skin of the leoun;
He of Centauros leyde the boost adoun;
He Arpieslow, the cruel briddes felle; 3290
He golden apples rafte of the dragon; (111)
He drow out Carberus, the hound of halle :

He slow the cruel tyrant Busirus,
And made his hors to frete him, flesh and
boon;

He slow the fry serpent venomous; 3295
Of Achelois two hornes, he brak oon;
And he slow Cacus in a cave of stoon;
He slow the geaunt Antheus the stronge;
He slow the grialy boor, and that anoon,
And barthe heven on his nakke longe. 3300

Was never wight, sith that the world
bigan, (121)

That slow so many monstres as dide he.
Thurgh-out this wyde world his name ran,
What for his strengthe, and for his heigh
bountee, 3304

And every reaume wente he for to see.
He was so strong that no man mighte him
lette;

At bothe the worldes endes, seith Trophee,
In stede of boundes, he a piler sette.

A lemman hadde this noble champion,
That highte Dianira, fresh as May; 3310
And, as thise clerkes maken mencion, (131)
She hath him sent a sherte fresh and gay.
Alas! this sherte, alas and weylaway!
Envenimed was so subtilly with-alle, 3314
That, er that he had wered it half a day,
It made his flesh al from his bones falla.

But natheless somme clerkes hir excusen
By oon that highte Nessus, that it maked;

Be as be may, I wol hir noight accusen;
But on his bak this sherte he wered al
naked, 3320
Til that his flesh was for the venim blaked.
And whan heseey noon other remedye, (142)
In hote coles he hath him-selven raked,
For with no venim deynd him to dye.

Thus starf this worthy mighty Hercules; Lo, who may truste on fortune any throwe? 3326

For him that folweth al this world of prees,
Er he be war, is ofte y-leyd ful lowe.

Ful wys is he that can him-selven knowe.
Beth war, for whan that fortune list to
glose, 3330

Than wayteth she hir man to overthrowe
By swich a wey as he wolde leest suppose. (152)

NABUGODONOSOR (NEBUCHADNEZZAR).

The mighty trone, the precious tresor,
The glorions ceptre and royal mageste
That hadde the king Nabugodonosor, 3335
With tonge unnethe may discryved be.
He twyës wan Jerusalem the citee;
The vessel of the temple he with him ladde.
At Babiloyne was his sovereyn see, 3339
In which his glorie and his delyt he hadde.

The fairest children of the blood royal (161)
Of Israel he leet do gelde anoon,
And maked ech of hem to been his thral.
Amonges othere Daniel was oon, 3344
That was the wysest child of everichoon;
For he the dremes of the king expounded,
Wher-as in Chaldey clerk ne was ther noon
That wiste to what fyn his dremes souned.

This proude king leet make a statue of golde, 3349

Sixty cubytes long, and seven in brede,
To which image bothe yonge and olde (171)
Comaunded he to loute, and have in drede;
Or in a fourneys ful of flambe rede
He shal be brent, that wolde noight obeye.
But never wolde assente to that dede 3355
Daniel, ne his yonge felawes tweye.

This king of kinges proud was and elaat,
He wende that god, that sit in mageste,

Ne mighte him nat bireve of his estaat :
 But sodeynly he loste his dignitee, 3360
 And lyk a beste him semed for to be, (181)
 And eet hay as an oxe, and lay ther-oute ;
 In reyn with wilde bestes walked he,
 Til certain tyme was y-come aboute.

And lyk an egles fetheres wexe his heres,
 His nayles lyk a briddes clawes were ; 3366
 Til god releessed him a certain yeres,
 And yaf him wit ; and than with many a
 tere

He thanked god, and ever his lyf in fere
 Was he to doon amis, or more trespace, 3370
 And, til that tyme he leyd was on his bere,
 He knew that god was ful of might and
 grace. (192)

BALTHASAR (BELSHAZEAR).

His sone, which that highte Balthasar,
 That heeld the regne after his fader day,
 He by his fader coude nought be war, 3375
 For proud he was of herte and of array ;
 And eek an ydolastre was he ay.
 His hye estaat assured him in pryde.
 But fortune caste him down, and ther he
 lay,
 And sodeynly his regne gan divyde. 3380

A feste he made un-to his lordes alle (201)
 Up-on a tyme, and bad hem blythe be,
 And than his officeres gan he calle—
 'Goth, bringeth forth the vessels,' [tho]
 quod he, 3384
 'Which that my fader, in his prosperitee,
 Out of the temple of Jerusalem birafted,
 And to our hye goddes thanke we
 Of honour, that our eldres with us lafte.'

His wyf, his lordes, and his concubynes
 Aydrongen, whyl hir appetytes laste, 3390
 Out of this noble vessels sundry wyne ;
 And on a wal this king his yēn caste, (212)
 And sey an hond armlees, that wroot ful
 faste,
 For fere of which he quook and syked
 sore. 3394
 This hond, that Balthasar so sore agaste,
 Wroot Mans, techel, phares, and na-more.

In al that lond magicien was noon
 That coude expounne what this lettre
 mente ;
 But Daniel expounded it anon, 3399
 And seyde, 'king, god to thy fader lente
 Glorie and honour, regne, tresour, rente
 And he was proud, and no-thing god ne
 dradde, (222)
 And therfor god gret wreche up-on him
 sente,
 And him birafted the regne that he hadde.

He was out cast of mannes companye,
 With asses was his habitacioun, 3406
 And eet hey as a beste in weet and drye,
 Til that he knew, by grace and by resoun,
 That god of heven hath dominacioun
 Over every regne and every creature ; 3410
 And thanne had god of him compassioun,
 And him restored his regne and his
 figure. (232)

Eek thou, that art his sone, art proud also,
 And knowest alle thise thinges verrailly,
 And art rebel to god, and art his fo. 3415
 Thou drank eek of his vessels boldly ;
 Thy wyf eek and thy wenches sinfully
 Dronke of the same vessels sondry wyne,
 And heriest false goddes cursedly ; 3419
 Therfor to thee y-shapen ful gret pyne is.

This hand was sent from god, that on the walle (241)
 Wroot mane, techel, phares, truste me ;
 Thy regne is doon, thou weyeste noght at
 alle ;
 Divyded is thy regne, and it shal be 3424
 To Medes and to Perses yeven,' quod he.
 And thilke same night this king was
 slawe,
 And Darius occupyeth his degree,
 Thogh he therto had neither right ne
 lawe.

Lordinges, ensample heer-by may ye take
 How that in lordshipe is no siker-
 nesse ; 3430
 For whan fortune wol a man forsake, (251)
 Shebereth away his regne and his richesse,
 And eek his freendes, bothe more and
 lesse ;

For what man that hath freendes thurgh
fortune, 3434
Mishap wol make hem enemys, I gesse :
This proverbe is ful sooth and ful commune.

CENOBIA (ZENOBIA).

Cenobia, of Palimerie quene,
As writen Persiens of hir noblesse,
So worthy was in armes and so kene, 3439
That no wight passed hir in hardinesse,
Ne in linage, ne in other gentillesse. (261)
Of kinges blode of Perse is she descended ;
I seye nat that she hadde most fairnesse,
But of hir shape she mighte nat been amended. 3444

From hir childhede I finde that she fledde
Office of wommen, and to wode she wente ;
And many a wilde hertes blood she shedde
With arwes brode that she to hem sente.
She was so swift that she anon hem hente,
And whan that she was elder, she wolde
kille 3450
Leouns, lepardes, and beres alto-rente, (271)
And in hir armes welde hem at hir wille.

She dorste wilde beestes dennes seke,
And rennen in the montaignes al the
night,
And slegen under a bush, and she coude
eke 3455
Wrastlen by verray force and verray might With any yong man, were he never so
wight ;
Ther mighte no-thing in hir armes stonde.
She kepte hir maydenhod from every
wight,
To no man deigned hir fort to be bonde. 3460

But atte laste hir frendes han hir married
To Odenake, a prince of that contree, (282)
Al were it so that she hem longe taried ;
And ye shul understonde how that he Hadde swiche fantasies as hadde she. 3465
But natheless, whan they were knit in-
fere,
They lived in joye and in felicitee ;
For ech of hem hadde other leef and dere.

Save o thing, that she never wolde assente
By no way, that he sholde by hir lye 3470

But ones, for it was hir pleyn entente (291)
To have a child, the world to multiplie ;
And al-so sone as that she mighte espye
That she was nat with childe with that
dede,
Than wolde she suffre him doon his fan-
tasye 3475
Eft-sone, and nat but ones, out of drede.

And if she were with childe at thilke cast,
Na-more sholde he pleyen thilke game
Til fully fourty dayes weren past ;
Than wolde she ones suffre him do the
same. 3480
Al were this Odenake wilde or tame, (301)
He gat na-more of hir, for thus she seyde,
' It was to wyves lecherye and shame
In other cas, if that men with hem
pleyde.' 3484

Two sones by this Odenake hadde she,
The whiche she kepte in vertu and let-
ture ;
But now un-to our tale turne we.
I seye, so worshipful a creature,
And wys therwith, and large with mesure,
So penible in the werre, and curteis
eke, 3490
Ne more labour mighte in werre endure,
Was noon, thogh al this world men sholde
seke. (312)

Hir riche array ne mighte nat be told
As wel in vessel as in hir clothing ;
She was al clad in perree and in gold, 3495
And eek she lafte noght, for noon hunting,
To have of sondry tonges ful knowing, Whan that she leyser hadde, and for to entende
To lernen bokes was al hir lyking, 3499
How she in vertu mighte hir lyf dispende.

And, shortly of this storie for to trete, (321)
So doughty was hir housbonde and eek
she,
That they conquered many regnes grete
In th'orient, with many a fair citee,
Apertenannt un-to the magestee 3505
Of Rome, and with strong hond helde
hem ful faste ;
Ne never mighte hir fo-men doon hem flee,
Ay whyl that Odenakes dayes laste.

Hir batailes, who-so list hem for to rede,
 Agayn Sapor the king and others mo, 3510
 And how that al this proces fil in dede, (331)
 Why she conquered and what tittle had
 therto,

And after of hir meeschief and hir wo,
 How that she was biseged and y-take,
 Let him un-to my maister Petrark go, 3515
 That writ y-nough of this, I undertake.

When Odenake was deed, she mightly
 The regnes heeld, and with hir propre
 honde

Agayn hir foos she faught so cruelly,
 That ther nas king ne prince in al that
 londe (340) 3520

That he nas glad, if that he grace fonde,
 That she ne wolde up-on his lond werreye;
 With hir they made alliaunce by bonde
 To been in pees, and lete hir ryde and playe.

The emperour of Rome, Claudius, 3525

Ne him bifore, the Romayn Galien,
 Ne dorste never been so corageous,
 Ne noon Ermyn, ne noon Egipcien,
 Ne Surrien, ne noon Arabien,
 Within the feld that dorste with hir fighte
 Lest that she wolde hem with hir hondes
 slen (351) 3531
 Or with hir meynee putten hem to flighte.

In kinges habit wente hir sones two,
 As heires of hir fadres regnes alle,
 And Hermanno, and Thymalo 3535
 Her names were, as Persiens hem calle.
 But ay fortune hath in hir hony galle;
 This mighty quene may no whyl endure.
 Fortune out of hir regne made hir falle
 To wrecchednesse and to misaventure. 3540

Aurelian, whan that the governaunce (361)
 Of Rome cam in-to his hondes tweye,
 He shoop up-on this queen to do ven-
 geaunce,

And with his legiouns he took his weye
 Toward Cenobie, and, shortly for to seye,
 He made hir flee, and atte laste hir
 hente, 3546

And fetted hir, and eak hir children
 tweye,
 And wan the lond, and hoom to Rome he
 wente.

Amonges othere thinges that he wan, Hir char, that was with gold wrought and
 perree, (370) 3550

This grete Romayn, this Aurelian, Hath with him lad, for that men sholde
 it see.

Biforen his triumphe walketh she
 With gilte cheynes on hir nekke hanging;
 Corowned was she, as after hir degree, 3555
 And ful of perree charged hir clothing.

Allas, fortune! she that whylom was Dredful to kinges and to emperoures,
 Now gaureth al the peple on hir, alas!
 And she that helmed was in starke
 stoures, (380) 3560
 And wan by force tounes stronge and toures,

Shal on hir heed now were a vitremyte;
 And she that bar the ceptre ful of floures

Shal bere a distaf, hir cost for to quyte.

DE PETRO REGE ISPANNIE.

O noble, o worthy Petro, glorie of Spayne, [T. 14685

Whom fortune heeld so hy in mageste, e, Wel oughten men thy pitous deeth com-
 playne! 3567

Out of thy lond thy brother made thee flee;
 And after, at a sege, by subtiltee, Thou were bitrayed, and lad un-to his
 tente, (390) 3570

Wher-as he with his owene hond slow thee,
 Succeeding in thy regne and in thy reate.

The feeld of snow, with th'egle of blak ther-inne, [T. 14693.
 Caught with the lymrod, coloured as the
 glede, 3574

He brew this cursednes and al this sinne.
 The 'wikked nest' was werker of this ned;
 Noght Charles Oliver, that ay took hede
 Of trouthe and honour, but of Armorike
 Genilon Oliver, corrupt for mede, 3579
 Broghte this worthy king in swich a brike.

DE PETRO REGE DE CIPRO.

O worthy Petro, king of Cypre, also, (401)
 That Alisaundre wan by heigh maistrye,

Ful many a hethen wroghtestow ful wo,
Of which thyn owene liges hadde envye,
And, for no thing but for thy chivalrye,
They in thy bedde han slayn thee by the
morwe. 3586
Thus can fortune hir wheel governe and gye, [T. 14707.
And out of joye bringe men to sorwe.

DR BARNABO DE LUMBARDIA.

Of Melan grete Barnabo Viscounte, 3589
God of delyt, and scourge of Lumbardy,
Why sholde I nat thyn infortune accounte,
Sith in estaat thou elombe were so hye?
Thy brother sone, that was thy double allye, (413)
For he thy nevew was, and sone-in-lawe,
With-inne his prisoun made thee to dye;
But why, ne how, noot I that thou were slawe. 3596

DR HUGELINO, COMITE DE PIZK.

Of the erl Hugelyn of Pyse the langour
Ther may no tonge telle for pitee;
But litel out of Pyse stant a tour,
In whiche tour in prisoun put was he, 3600
And with him been his litel children
thre. (421)
The eldeste scarsly fyf year was of age.
Allas, fortune! it was greet crueltee Swiche briddes for to putte in swiche a cage! 3604

Dampned was he to deye in that prisoun,
For Boger, which that bisshop was of Pyse,
Hadde on him maad a fals suggestioun,
Thurgh which the peple gan upon him
ryse, (428)
And putte him to prisoun in swich wyse
As ye han herd, and mete and drink he
hadde 3610
So smal, that wel unnethes it may suffyse,
And therwith-al it was ful povre and
hadde.

And on a day bifl that, in that hour,
Whan that his mete went was to be brought,
The gayler shette the dores of the tour.
He herde it wel,—but he spak right nocht,
And in his herte anon ther fil a thought,
That they for hunger wolde doon him dyan.

'Allas!' quod he, 'allas! that I was
wroght!' (439) 3619
Therwith the tares fillen from his yen.

His yonge sone, that three year was of age,
Un-to him seyde, 'fader, why do ye wepe?
Whan wol the gayler bringen our potage,
Is ther no morsel breed that ye do kepe?
I am so hungry that I may nat slepe. 3625
Now wolde god that I mighte slepen ever!
Than sholde nat hunger in my wombe
crepe;
Ther is no thing, save breed, that me were lever.'

Thus day by day this child bigan to crye,
Til in his fadres barme adoun it lay, 3630
And seyde, 'far-wel, fader, I moot dye,'
And kiste his fader, and deyde the same
day. (452)
And whan the woful fader deed it sey,
For wo his armes two he gan to byte,
And seyde, 'allas, fortune! and weylaway!
Thy false wheel my wo al may I wyte!'

His children wende that it for hunger was
That he his armes gnaw, and nat for wo,
And seyde, 'fader, do nat so, allas!
But rather eet the flesh upon us two; 3640
Our flesh thou yaf us, tak our flesh us fro
And eet y-nough:' right thus they to him
seyde, (462)
And after that, with-in a day or two,
They leyde hem in his lappe adoun, and
deyde. 3644

Him-self, despeired, eek for hunger starf;
Thus ended is this mighty Erl of Pyse;
From heigh estaat fortune away him carf.
Of this Tragedie it oghte y-nough suffyse.
Who-so wol here it in a lenger wyse, (469)
Redeth the grete poete of Itaille, 3650
That highte Dant, for he can al devyse
Fro point to point, nat o word wol he faille.

NERO.

[T. 14381.
Al-though that Nero were as vicious
As any feend that lyth ful lowe adoun,

Yet he, as telleth us Swetonius, 3655
This wyde world hadde in subjeccioun, Both Est and West, †South and Septemtrion ;

Of rubies, saphires, and of perles whyte
Were alle his clothes brouded up and down ;
For he in gemmes greatly gan delyte. 3660

More delicat, more pompous of array, (481)
More proud was never emperour than he ;
That ilke cloth, that he had wered o day,
After that tyme he nolde it never see.
Nettes of gold-thred hadde he gret plentee
To fische in Tybre, whan him liste pleye.
His lustes were al lawe in his decree,
For fortune as his freend him wolde obeye.

He Rome brende for his delicacye ;
The senatours he slow up-on a day, 3670
To here how men wolde wepe and crye ;
And slow his brother, and by his sister
lay. (492)

His moder made he in pitous array ;
For he hir wombe slitte, to biholde
Wher he conceyved was ; so weilaway !
That he so litel of his moder tolde ! 3676

No tere out of his yēn for that sighte Ne cam, but seyde, 'a fair womman was
she.'

Gret wonder is, how that he coude or
mighte (499)
Be domesman of hir dede beautea. 3680
The wyn to bringen him comaunded he,
And drank anon ; non other wo he made.
Whan might is joynd un-to crueltee,
Allas ! to depe wol the venim wade ! 3684

In youthe a maister hadde this emperour,
To teche him letterure and curteisye,
For of moralitee he was the flour,
As in his tyme, but-if bokes lye ;
And whyl this maister hadde of him
maistrye, 3689
He maked him so conning and so souple
That longe tyme it was er tyrannye (511)
Or any vyce dorste on him uncouple.

This Seneca, of which that I devyse,
By-cause Nero hadde of him swich drede,
For he fro vyces wolde him ay chastyse
Discreetly as by worde and nat by dede ;—

'Sir,' wolde he seyn, 'an emperour moot
nede 3697
Be vertuoun, and hate tyrannye'—
For which he in a bath made him to blede
On bothe his armes, til he moste dya.

This Nero hadde eek of acoustumaunce
In youthe ageyn his maister for to ryse,
Which afterward him thoughte a greet grevance ; (523)
Therfor he made him deyen in this wyse.
But natheles this Seneca the wyse 3705
Chees in a bath to deye in this manere
Rather than han another tormentyse ;
And thus hath Nero slayn his maister dera.

Now fil it so that fortune list no lenger
The hye pryde of Nero to cheryce ; 3710
For though that he were strong, yet was she strengere ; (531)
She thoughte thus, 'by god, I am to nyce
To sette a man that is fulfid of vyce
In heigh degree, and emperour him calle.
By god, out of his sete I wol him tryce ;
When he leest weneth, sonest shal he
falle.' 3716

The peple roos up-on him on a night
For his defaute, and whan he it espyod,
Out of his dores anon he hath him dight
Alone, and, ther he wende han ben allyed,
He knocked faste, and ay, the more he cryed, (541) 3721
The faster shette they the dores alle ;
Tho wiste he wel he hadde him-self misgyed,
And wente his wey, no lenger dorste he calla.

The peple cryde and rombled up and down,
That with his eres herde he how they
seyde, 3726
'Wher is this false tyraunt, this Neroun ?'
For fere almost out of his wit he breyde,
And to his goddes pitouly he preyde
For socour, but it mighte nat bityde. 3730
For drede of this, him thoughte that he
deyde, (551)
And ran in-to a gardin, him to hyde.

And in this gardin fond he cherles tweye
That seten by a fyr ful greet and reed,

And to thise cherles two he gan to preye
To sleen him, and to girden of his heed,
That to his body, whan that he were deed,
Were ne despyt y-doon, for his defame.
Him-self he slow, he coude no better reed,
Of which fortune lough, and hadde a
game. 3740

DE OLOFERNO (HOLOFERNES).

Was never capitayn under a king (561)
That regnes mo putte in subjeccioun,
Ne strengier was in feeld of alle thing,
As in his tyme, ne gretter of renoun, 3744
Ne more pompous in heigh presumpcioun
Than Oloferne, which fortune ay kiste
So likerously, and ladde him up and down
Til that his heed was of, er that he wiste.

Nat only that this world hadde him in awe

For lesinge of richesse or libertee, 3750
But he made every man reneye his lawe.
'Nabugodonosor was god,' seyde he, (572)
'Noon other god sholde adoured be.'
Ageyns his heste no wight dar trespace
Save in Bethulia, a strong citee, 3755
Wher Eliachim a prest was of that place.

But tak kepe of the deeth of Olofern;
Amidde his host he dronke lay a night,
With-inne his tente, large as is a bern,
And yit, for al his pompe and al his
might, 3760

Judith, a womman, as he lay upright, Sleping, his heed of smoot, and from his
tente (582)

Ful prively she stal from every wight,
And with his heed unto hir toun she wenta.

DE REGE ANTHIOCHO ILLUSTR.

What nedeth it of King Anthiochus 3765
To telle his hye royal magestee,
His hye pryde, his werkes venomous?
For swich another was ther noon as he.
Rede which that he was in Machabee,
And rede the proude wordes that he seyde,
And why he fil fro heigh prosperitee, (591)
And in an hil how wrechedly he deyde.

Fortune him hadde enhauoned so in pryde
That verrailly he wende he mighte attayne
Unto the sterres, upon every syde, 3775
And in balance weyen ech montayne,
And alle the flodes of the see restrayne.
And goddes peple hadde he most in hate,
Hem wolde he sleen in torment and in
payne,

Wening that god ne mighte his pryde
abate. (600) 3780

And for that Nichanor and Thimothee
Of Jewes weren venquished mightily, Unto the Jewes swich an hate hadde he
That he bad greithe his char ful hastily,
And swoor, and seyde, ful despitously,
Unto Jerusalem he wolde eft-sonne, 3786
To wroken his ire on it ful cruelly;
But of his purpos he was let ful sone.

God for his manace him so sore smoot
With invisible wounde, ay incurable, 3790
That in his guttes carf it so and boot (611)
That his paynes weren importable.

And certainly, the wreche was resonable,
For many a mannes guttes dide he payne;
But from his purpos cursed and dampnable 3795

For al his smert he wolde him nat restrayne;

But bad anon apparailen his host,
And sodeynly, er he of it was war,
God daunted al his pryde and al his bost.
For he so sore fil out of his char, 3800
That it his limes and his skin to-tar, (621)
So that he neither mighte go ne ryde,
But in a chayer men aboute him bar,
Al for-brused, bothe bak and syde. 3804

The wreche of god him smoot so cruelly
That thurgh his body wikked wormes
crepte;

And ther-with-al he stank so horribly,
That noon of al his meynee that him
kepte,

Whether so he wook or elles slepte, 3809
Ne mighte nocht for stink of him endure.
In this meschief he wayled and eek wepte,
And knew god lord of every creature.

To al his host and to him-self also (633)
Ful wlatson was the stink of his careyne;

No man ne mighte him bere to ne fro.
 And in this stink and this horrible
 peyne 3816
 He starf ful wrecchedly in a monteyne.
 Thus hath this robbour and this homicyde,
 That many a man made to wepe and
 pleyne, 3819
 Swich gerdoun as bilongeth unto pryde.

DE ALEXANDRO.

The storie of Alisaundre is so comune,
 That every wight that hath discrecioun
 Hath herd somwhat or al of his fortune.
 This wyde world, as in conclusioun, (644)
 He wan by strengthe, or for his hye
 renoun 3825
 They weren glad for pees un-to him sende.
 The pryde of man and beste he leyde
 adoun,
 Wher-so he cam, un-to the worldes ende.

Comparisoun might never yit be makid
 Bitwixe him and another conquerour;
 For al this world for drede of him hath quaked, (651) 3831
 He was of knighthode and offredom flour;
 Fortune him made the heir of hir honour;
 Save wyn and wommen, no-thing mighte aswage
 His hye entente in armes and labour;
 So was he ful of leonyng corage. 3836

What preys were it to him, though I yow
 tolde
 Of Darius, and an hundred thousand mo,
 Of kinges, princes, erles, dukes bolde, Whiche he conquered, and broghte hem
 in-to wo? 3840
 I seye, as fer as man may ryde or go, (661)
 The world was his, what sholde I more
 devyse?
 For though I write or tolde you evermo
 Of his knighthode, it mighte nat suffyse.

Twelf year he regned, as seith Machabee;
 Philippes sone of Macedoyne he was, 3846
 That first was king in Grece the contree.
 O worthy gentil Alisaundre, alas!
 That ever sholde fallen swich a cas! 3849
 Empoisoned of thyn owene folk thou were;

Thy eye fortune hath turned into as, (671)
 And yit for thee ne weep she never a tere!

Who shal me yeven teres to compleyne
 The deeth of gentillesse and of franchyse,
 That al the world welded in his demeyne,
 And yit him thoughte it mighte nat
 suffyse? 3856
 So ful was his corage of heigh emprise.
 Alas! who shal me helpe to endyte
 False fortune, and poison to despyte,
 The whiche two of al this wo I wyte? 3860

DE JULIO CESARE.

By wisdom, manhede, and by greet labour
 Fro humble bed to royal magestee, (682)
 Up roos he, Julius the conquerour,
 That wan al th'occident by lond and see,
 By strengthe of hond, or elles by trestee,
 And un-to Rome made hem tributarie;
 And sithe of Rome the emperour was he,
 Til that fortune wax his adversarie.

O mighty Cesar, that in Thessalye
 Ageyn Pompeius, fader thyn in lawe, 3870
 That of th'orient hadde al the chivalrye
 As fer as that the day biginneth dawe,
 Thou thurgh thy knighthode hast hem take and slawe, (693)
 Save fewe folk that with Pompeius fledde, Thurgh which thou putttest al th'orient
 in awe. 3875
 Thanke fortune, that so wel thee spedde!

But now a litel whyl I wol biwaille
 This Pompeius, this noble governour
 Of Rome, which that fleigh at this bataille;
 I seye, oon of his men, a fals traitour, (700)
 His heed of smoot, to winnen him favour
 Of Julius, and him the heed he broghte.
 Alas, Pompey, of th'orient conquerour,
 That fortune unto swich a fyn thee
 broghte!

To Rome ageyn repairerth Julius 3885
 With his trimphe, laureat ful hye,
 But on a tyme Brutus Cassius,
 That ever hadde of his hye estaat envye,
 Ful prively hath maad conspiracye
 Ageins this Julius, in subtil wyse, 3890

And cast the place, in whiche he sholde
dye (711)
With boydekins, as I shal yow devyse.

This Julius to the Capitolie wente
Upon a day, as he was wont to goon,
And in the Capitolie anon him hente 3895
This false Brutus, and his others foon,
And stikede him with boydekins anoon
With many a wounde, and thus they lete
him lye ;

But never gronte he at no strook but oon,
Or elles at two, but-if his storie lye. 3900

So manly was this Julius at herte (721)
And so wel lovede estaatly honestee,
That, though his deedly woundes sore
smerte,

His mantel over his hippes casteth he,
For no man sholde seen his privtee. 3905
And, as he lay on deyng in a traunce,
And wiste verrailly that deed was he,
Of honestee yit hadde he remembraunce.

Lucan, to thee this storie I recomende,
And to Sweton, and to † Valerie also, 3910
That of this storie wryten word and
ende, (731)

How that to these grete conqueroures two Fortune was first freend, and sithen fo.
No man ne truste up-on hir favour longe,
But have hir in awayt for ever-mo. 3915
Witnessse on alle these conqueroures
stronge.

CRESUS.

This riche Cresus, whylom king of Lyde,
Of whiche Cresus Cyrus sore him dradde,
Yit was he caught amidde al his pryde,
And to be brent men to the fyr him ladde.
But swich a reyn doun fro the welkne
shadde (741) 3921

That slow the fyr, and made him to escape ;
But to be war no grace yet he hadde,
Til fortune on the galwes made him gape.

Whan he escaped was, he can nat stente
For to biginne a newe werre agayn. 3926

He wende wel, for that fortune him sente Swich hap, that he escaped thurgh the rayn, (748)

That of his foes he mighte nat be slayn ;
And eek a sweven up-on a night he mette,
Of which he was so proud and eek so fayn,
That in vengeaunce he al his herte sette.

Up-on a tree he was, as that him thoughte, Ther Juppiter him wesch, bothe bak and
syde, (754)

And Phebus eek a fair towaille him
broughte 3935

To drye him with, and ther-for wex his
pryde ;

And to his doghter, that stood him bisyde,
Which that he knew in heigh science
habounde,

He bad hir telle him what it signyfide,
And she his dreem bigan right thus ex-
pounde. 3940

'The tree,' quod she, 'the galwes is to
mene, (761)

And Juppiter bitokneth snow and reyn,
And Phebus, with his towaille so clene,
Tho ben the sonne stremes for to seyn,
Thou shalt anhangd be, fader, certeyn ;
Reyn shal thee wasshe, and sonne shal thee drye ;' 3946

Thus warnd she him ful plat and ful
pleyn,

His doghter, which that called was Phanya.

Anhangd was Cresus, the proude king,
His royal trone mighte him nat availle.—
Tragedie is noon other maner thing, (771)
Ne can in singing crye ne biwaille, 3952
But for that fortune alwey wol assaille
With unwar strook the regnes that ben
proude ;

For when men trusteth hir, than wol she faillle, 3955

And covere hir brighte face with a cloude.

Explicit Tragedia.

Here stinteth the Knight the Monk of his Tale.

THE PROLOGUE OF THE NONNE PRESTES TALE.

The prologue of the Nonne Preestes Tale.

'Ho!' quod the knight, 'good sir, na-more of this, 3957
That ye han seyde is right y-nough, y-wis,
And mochel more; for litel heviness
Is right y-nough to mochel folk, I gesse.
I seye for me, it is a greet disece 3961
Wher-as men han ben in greet welthe
and ese,
To heren of hir sodeyn fal, allas!
And the contrarie is joie and greet solas, 3964
As whan a man hath been in povre estaat,
And clymbeth up, and wexeth fortunat,
And ther abydeh in prosperitee, (11)
Swich thing is gladsom, as it thinketh me,
And of swich thing were goodly for to
telle.'
'Ye,' quod our hoste, 'by seint Poules belle, 3970
Ye seye right sooth; this monk, he clappeth loude,
He spak how "fortune covered with a cloude"
I noot never what, and als of a "Tragedie"
Right now ye herde, and parde! no remedio
It is for to biwaille, ne compleyne 3975
That that is doon, and als it is a peyne,
As ye han seyde, to here of heviness. (21)
Sir monk, na-more of this, so god yow
blesse!
Your tale anoyeth al this companye;
Swich talking is nat worth a boterflye;
For ther-in is ther no desport ne game.
Wherfor, sir Monk, or dan Piers by your
name, 3982

I preye yow hertely, telle us somewhat elles,
For sikerly, nere clinking of your belles,
That on your brydel hange on every syde,
By heven king, that for us alle dyde, (30)
I sholde er this han fallen down for slepe,
Although the slough had never been so
depe; 3988
Than had your tale al be told in vayn.
For certainly, as that these clerkes seyn,
"Wher-as a man may have noon audience,
Noght helpeth it to tellen his sentence."
And wel I woot the substance is in me,
If any thing shal wel reported be. 3994
Sir, sey somewhat of hunting, I yow preye.'
'Nay,' quod this monk, 'I have no lust to pleye; (40)
Now let another telle, as I have told.'
Than spak our host, with rude speche
and bold,
And seyde un-to the Nonnes Preest anon,
'Com neer, thou preest, com hider, thou sir John, 4000
Tel us swich thing as may our hertes
glade,
Be blythe, though thou ryde up-on a jade.
What though thyn hors be bothe foule and lene, (47)
If he wol serve thee, rekke nat a bene;
Look that thyn herte be mery evermo.'
'Yis, sir,' quod he, 'yis, host, so mote I go,
But I be mery, y-wis, I wol be blamed:—
And right anon his tale he hath attamed,
And thus he seyde un-to us everichon,
This swete preest, this goodly man, sir
John. 4010

Explicit.

THE NONNE PREESTES TALE.

Here biginneth the Nonne Preestes Tale of the Cok and Hen, Chauntecleer and Pertelote.

A rovere widwe, somdel stape in age,
Was whylom dwelling in a narwe cotage,
Bisyde a grove, standing in a dale.
This widwe, of which I telle yow my tale,
Sin thilke day that she was last a wyf,
In pacience ladde a ful simple lyf, 4016
For lital was hir catel and hir rente ;
By housbondrye, of such as God hir sente,
She fond hir-self, and eek hir doghtren
two.

Three large sowes hadde she, and namo,
Three kyn, and eek a sheep that highte
Malle, (11) 4021

Ful sooty was hir bour, and eek hir halle,
In which she eet ful many a splendre
meel.

Of poynaunt sauce hir neded never a deel.
No deyntee morsel passed thurgh hir
throthe ; 4025

Hir dyete was accordant to hir cota.
Repleccioun ne made hir never syk ;
Attempree dyete was al hir phisyk,
And exercyse, and hertes suffisaunce. 4029

The goute lette hir no-thing for to daunce,
N'apoplexye shente nat hir heed ; (21)
No wyn ne drank she, neither whyt ne
reed ;

Hir bord was served most with whyt and
blak,

Milk and broun breed, in which she fond
no lak,

Seynd bacoun, and somtyme an ey or
tweye, 4035

For she was as it were a maner deye.

A yerd she hadde, enclosed al aboute
With stikkis, and a drye dich with-oute,
In which she hadde a cok, hight Chaun-tecleer, 4039

In al the land of crowing nas his peer. (30)
His vois was merier than the mery orgon
On messe-dayes that in the chirche gon ;

Wel sikerer was his crowing in his logge,
Than is a clokke, or an abbey orlogge.

By nature knew he ech ascencioun 4045
Of equinozial in thilke toun ;

For whan degrees fiftene were ascended,
Thanne crew he, that it mighte nat ben
amended. (38)

His comb was redder than the fyn coral,
And batailed, as it were a castel-wal. 4050
His bile was blak, and as the jeet it shoon ;
Lyk asur were his legges, and his toon ;
His nayles whytter than the lillie flour,
And lyk the burned gold was his colour.

This gentil cok hadde in his governaunce
Sevene hennes, for to doon al his plesaunce, Whiche were his sustres and his para-mours, 4057

And wonder lyk to him, as of colours.
Of whiche the faireste hewed on hir throthe
Was cleped faire damoysele Pertelote.

Curteys she was, discreet, and debonaire,
And compaignable, and bar hir-self so
faire, (52)

Sin thilke day that she was seven night
old,

That trewely she hath the herte in hold
Of Chauntecleer loken in every lith ; 4065
He loved hir so, that wel was him ther-
with.

But such a joye was it to here hem singe, Whan that the brighte sonne gan to
springe, 4068

In swete accord, ' my lief is faren in londe.'
For thilke tyme, as I have understonde,
Bestes and briddes coude speke and singe.

And so bifel, that in a daweninge, (62)
As Chauntecleer among his wyves alle
Sat on his perche, that was in the halle,
And next him sat this faire Pertelote, 4075
This Chauntecleer gan gronen in his
throthe,

As man that in his dreem is drecched sore.
And than that Pertelote thus herde him
rore, 4078

She was agast, and seyde, 'O herte dere,
What eyleth yow, to grone in this manere?
Ye been a verray sleper, fy for shame!' (71)
And he answerde and seyde thus,
'madame,

I pray yow, that ye take it nat a-grief:
By god, me mette I was in swich meschief Right now, that yet myn herte is sore
afright. 4085

Now god,' quod he, 'my swevene recche
aright,

And keep my body out of foul prisoun!
Me mette, how that I romed up and down Withinne our yerde, wher-as I saugh
a beste,

Was lyk an hound, and wolde han maad
areste 4090
Upon my body, and wolde han had me
deed. (81)

His colour was bitwixe yelwe and reed;
And tipped was his tail, and bothe his eres,
With blak, unlyk the remenant of his heres;

His snowte smal, with glowinge eyen
tweye. 4095

Yet of his look for fere almost I deye;
This caused me my groning, doutelees.
'Avoy!' quod she, 'fy on yow, herte-
lees!

Allas!' quod she, 'for, by that god above,
Now han ye lost myn herte and al my
love; 4100

I can nat love a coward, by my feith. (91)
For certes, what so any womman seith,
We alle desyren, if it mighte be,

To han housbondes hardy, wyse, and free,
And secree, and no nigard, ne no fool, 4105
Ne him that is agast of every tool,
Ne noon avauntour, by that god above!
How dorste ye seyn for shame unto your
love,

That any thing mighte make yow aferd?
Have ye no mannes herte, and han a berd?
Allas! and conne ye been agast of swe-venis? (101) 4111

No-thing, god wot, but vanitee, in sweven
is.

Swevenes engendren of replecciouns,

And ofte of fume, and of complecciouns, Whan humours been to habundant in a
wight. 4115

Certes this dreem, which ye han met
to-night,

Cometh of the grete superfluitee
Of youre rede colera, pardee,
Which causeth folk to dreden in here
dremes (109)

Of arwes, and of fyr with rede lemes, 4120
Of grete bestes, that they wol hem byte,
Of oontek, and of whelpes grete and lyte;
Right as the humour of malencolye
Causeth ful many a man, in sleep, to crye,
For fere of blake beres, or boles blake, 4125
Or elles, blake develes wole hem take.

Of other humours coude I telle also,
That werken many a man in sleep ful wo;
But I wol passe as lightly as I can.

Lo Catoun, which that was so wys
a man, 4130
Seyde he nat thus, ne do no fors of
dremes? (121)

Now, sire,' quod she, 'whan we flee fro
the bemes,

For Goddes love, as tak som laxatyf;
Up peril of my soule, and of my lyf, 4134
I counseille yow the beste, I wol nat lye,
That bothe of colere and of malencolye

Ye purge yow; and for ye shul nat tarie,
Though in this toun is noon apotecarie,
I shal my-self to herbes techen yow,
That shul ben for your hale, and for your
prow; 4140

And in our yard tho herbes shal I finde,
The whiche han of hir propretee, by
kinde, (132)

To purgen yow binethe, and eek above.
Forget not this, for goddes owene love!
Ye been ful colerik of compleccioun. 4145
Ware the sonne in his ascencioun
Ne fynde yow nat repleet of humours
hote;

And if it do, I dar wel leye a grote,
That ye shul have a fevere terciane,
Or an agu, that may be youre bane. 4150
A day or two ye shul have digestyves (141)
Of wormes, er ye take your laxatyves,
Of lauriol, centaure, and fumetere,
Or elles of ellebor, that groweth there,
Of catapuce, or of gaytres beryis, 4155

Of erbe yve, growing in our yerd, that mery is;

Pekke hem up right as they growe, and ete hem in.

Be mery, housbond, for your fader kin!
Dredeth no dreem; I can say yow na-
more.' (149)

'Madame,' quod he, 'graunt mercy of your lore. 4160

But nathelees, as touching daun Catoun,
That hath of wisdom such a greet renoun, Though that he bad no dremes for to
drede,

By god, men may in olde bokes rede
Of many a man, more of auctoritee 4165

Than ever Catoun was, so mote I thee,
That al the revers seyn of his sentence,
And han wel founden by experience,

That dremes ben significaciouns,
As wel of joye as tribulaciouns 4170

That folk enduren in this lyf present. (161)
Ther nedeth make of this noon argument;
The verray preve sheweth it in dede.

Oon of the gretteste auctours that men
rede

Seith thus, that whylom two felawes
wente 4175

On pilgrimage, in a ful good entente;
And happed so, they come into a toun,
Wher-as ther was swich congregacioun
Of peple, and eek so streit of herbergage

That they ne founde as muche as o cotage
In which they bothe mighte y-logged be.
Wherfor thay mosten, of necessitee, (172)

As for that night, departen compaignye;
And ech of hem goth to his hostelrye,
And took his logging as it wolde falle. 4185

That oon of hem was logged in a stalle,
Fer in a yerd, with oxen of the plough;
That other man was logged wel y-nough,
As was his aventure, or his fortune, 4189
That us governeth alle as in commune.

And so bifel, that, longe er it were day,
This man mette in his bed, ther-as he lay,
How that his felawe gan up-on him
calle, (183)

And seyde, "allas! for in an oxes stalle
This night I shal be mordred ther I lye.
Now help me, dere brother, er I dye; 4196
In alle haste com to me," he sayde.
This man out of his sleep for fere abraide;

But whan that he was wakned of his sleep,
He turned him, and took of this no keep;
Him thoughte his drem nas but a vanitee.
Thus twyets in his sleping dremed he. (192)
And atte thridde tyme yet his felawe Cam, as him thoughte, and seide, "I am now slawe;

Bihold my bloddy woundes, depe and wyde!
Arys up erly in the morwe-tyde, 4206

And at the west gate of the toun," quod he,
"A carte ful of dong ther shaltow see,
In which my body is hid ful prively;

Do thilke carte aresten boldely. 4210
My gold caused my mordre, sooth to
sayn;" (201)

And tolde him every poynt how he was
slayn,

With a ful pitous face, pale of hewe.
And truste wel, his drem he fond ful
trewe;

For on the morwe, as sone as it was day,
To his felawes in he took the way; 4216

And whan that he cam to this oxes stalle,
After his felawe he bigan to calle.

The hostiler answered him anon,
And seyde, "sire, your felawe is agon, 4220
As sone as day he wente out of the toun."

This man gan fallen in suspecion, (212)
Remembering on his dremes that he mette,
And forth he goth, no lenger wolde he
lette, 4224

Unto the west gate of the toun, and fond
A dong-carte, as it were to donge lond,
That was arrayed in the same wyse

As ye han herd the dede man devyse;
And with an hardy herte he gan to crye
Vengeance and justice of this felonye:—

"My felawe mordred is this same night,
And in this carte he lyth gapinge upright.
I crye out on the ministres," quod he, (223)
"That sholden kepe and reulen this citee;

Harrow! allas! her lyth my felawe
slayn!" 4235

What sholde I more un-to this tale sayn?
The peple out-sterte, and caste the cart to
grounde,

And in the middel of the dong they
founde

The dede man, that mordred was al newe.
O blisful god, that art so just and
trewe! 4240

Lo, how that thou biwreyest mordre
alway! (231)

Mordre wol out, that see we day by day.
Mordre is so wlatson and abhominable
To god, that is so just and reasonable,
That he ne wol nat suffre it heled be; 4245
Though it abyde a year, or two, or three,
Mordre wol out, this my conclusioun.

And right anoon, ministres of that toun
Han hent the carter, and so sore him
pyned, (239)

And eek the hostiler so sore engyned, 4250
That thay biknewe hir wikkednesse anoon,
And were an-hanged by the nekke-boon.

Here may men seen that dremes been to drede.

And certes, in the same book I rede,
Right in the nexte chapitre after this,
(I gabbe nat, so have I joye or blis,) 4256
Two men that wolde han passed over see,
For certeyn cause, in-to a fer contree,
If that the wind ne hadde been contrarie,
That made hem in a citee for to tarie, 4260
That stood ful mery upon an haven-
syde. (251)

But on a day, agayn the even-tyde,
The wind gan change, and blew right
as hem leste.

Jolif and glad they wente un-to hir reste,
And casten hem ful erly for to saille; 4265
But †to that oo man fil a greet merveille.
That oon of hem, in sleping as he lay,
Him mette a wonder dream, agayn the
day;

Him thoughte a man stood by his beddes
syde,

And him comaunded, that he sholde
abyde, 4270

And seyde him thus, "if thou to-morwe
wende, (261)

Thou shalt be dreynt; my tale is at an
ende."

He wook, and tolde his felawe what he
mette,

And prayde him his viage for to lette;
As for that day, he preyde him to abyde.
His felawe, that lay by his beddes syde,
Gan for to laughe, and scorned him ful
faste.

"No dreem," quod he, "may so myn herte
agaste,

That I wol lette for to do my thinges.

I sette not a straw by thy dreminges, 4280
For swevenes been but vanitees and japes.

Men dreme al-day of owles or of apes, (172)
And eke of many a mase therwithal;

Men dreme of thing that never was ne
shal. 4284

But sith I see that thou wolt heer abyde,
And thus for-sleuthen wilfully thy tyde,
God wot it reweth me; and have good
day."

And thus he took his leve, and wente his
way.

But er that he hadde halfe his cours
y-seyled,

Noot I nat why, ne what mischaunce it
eyled, 4290

But casually the shippes botme rente, (281)
And ship and man under the water wente

In sighte of othere shippes it byside,
That with hem seyled at the same tyde.

And therfor, faire Pertelote so dere, 4295
By swiche ensamples olde maistow lere,
That no man sholde been to rechelesse

Of dremes, for I sey thee, doutelesse, That many a dream ful sore is for to
drede. 4299

Lo, in the lyf of saint Kenelm, I rede,
That was Kenulphus sone, the noble king Of Mercenrike, how Kenelm mette a
thing; (292)

A lyte er he was mordred, on a day,
His mordre in his avisoun he say.

His norice him expouned every dal 4305
His sweven, and bad him for to kepe him
wel

For traisoun; but he nas but seven year
old,

And therefore litel tale hath he told
Of any dreem, so holy was his herte.

By god, I hadde lever than my sherte 4310
That ye had rad his legende, as have I.

Dame Pertelote, I sey yow trewely, (302)
Macrobeus, that writ th'avisoun

In Affrike of the worthy Cipioum, Affermeth dremes, and seith that they
been 4315

Warning of thinges that men after seen.
And further-more, I pray yow loketh
wel

In th'olde testament, of Daniel,

If he held dremes any vanitee. 4319
 Reed eek of Joseph, and ther shul ye see
 Wher dremes ben somtyme (Isey nat alle)
 Warning of thinges that shul after falle.
 Loke of Egypt the king, daun Pharao, (313)
 His bakere and his boteler also, 4324
 Wher they ne felte noon effect in dremes.
 Who-so wol seken actes of sondry remes,
 May rede of dremes many a wonder thing.

Lo Cresus, which that was of Lyde king,
 Mette he nat that he sat upon a tree, 4329
 Which signified he sholde anhangd be?
 Lo heer Andromacha, Ectores wyf, (321)
 That day that Ector sholde lese his lyf,
 She dremed on the same night biforn,
 How that the lyf of Ector sholde be lorn,
 If thilke day he wente in-to bataille; 4335
 She warned him. but it mighte nat
 availle;

He wente for to fighte nathelless,
 But he was slayn anon of Achilles.
 But thilke tale is al to long to telle, 4339
 And eek it is ny day, I may nat dwelle.
 Shortly I seye, as for conclusioun, (331)
 That I shal han of this avisioun
 Adversitee; and I seye forther-more,
 That I ne telle of laxatyves no store,
 For they ben venomous, I woot it wel; 4345
 I hem defye, I love hem never a del.

Now let us speke of mirthe, and stinte
 al this;

Madame Pertelote, so have I blis,
 Of o thing god hath sent me large grace;
 For whan I see the beautee of your face,
 Ye ben so scarlet-reed about your yën,
 It maketh al my drede for to dyen; (342)
 For, also siker as In principio,
Mulier est hominis confusio; 4354
 Madame, the sentence of this Latin is—Womman is mannes joye and al his blis.
 For whan I fele a-night your softte syde,
 Al-be-it that I may nat on you ryde,
 For that our perche is maad so narwe,
 alas!

I am so ful of joye and of solas 4360
 That I defye bothe sweven and dream.'
 And with that word he fley doum fro the beem, (352)
 For it was day, and eek his hennes alle;
 And with a chuk he gan hem for to calle,
 For he had founde a corn, lay in the yerd.

Royal he was, he was namore aferd; 4366
 He fothered Pertelote twenty tyme,
 And trad as ofte, er that it was pryze.
 He loketh as it were a grim leoun; 4369
 And on his toos he rometh up and doum, Him deynd not to sette his foot to
 grounde. (361)
 He chukketh, whan he hath a corn
 y-founde,
 And to him rennen thanne his wyves
 alle.

Thus royal, as a prince is in his halle,
 Leve I this Chauntecleer in his pasture;
 And after wol I telle his aventure. 4376

Whan that the month in which the world bigan,
 That highte March, whan god first makd
 man,

Was complet, and [y]-passed were also,
 Sin March bigan, thritty dayes and two,
 Bifel that Chauntecleer, in al his pryde,
 His seven wyves walking by his syde, (372)
 Caste up his eyen to the brighte sonne,
 That in the signe of Taurus hadde
 y-ronne

Twenty degrees and oon, and somewhat
 more; 4385
 And knew by kynde, and by noon other
 lore,

That it was pryme, and crew with blisful
 stevene.

'The sonne,' he sayde, 'is clomben up on
 hevene

Fourty degrees and oon, and more, y-wis.
 Madame Pertelote, my worldes blis, 4390 Herkneth thise blisful briddes how they
 singe, (381)

And see the fresshe floures how they
 springe;

Ful is myn herte of revel and solas.'
 But sodeinly him fil a sorweful cas;
 For ever the latter ende of joye is wo. 4395
 God woot that worldly joye is sone ago;
 And if a rethor coude faire endyte,
 He in a cronique saunfy mighte it wryte,
 As for a sovereyn notabilitie. 4399
 Now every wys man, lat him herkne me;
 This storie is al-so trewe, I undertake, (391)
 As is the book of Launcelot de Lake,
 That wommen holde in ful gret reverence.
 Now wol I torne agayn to my sentence.

A col-fox, ful of sly iniquitee, 4405
That in the grove hadde woned yeres
three,

By heigh imaginacioun forn-cast,
The same night thurgh-out the hegges
brast

Into the yerd, ther Chauntecleer the faire
Was wont, and eek his wyves, to repaire;
And in a bed of wortes stille he lay, (401)
Til it was passed undern of the day, Wayting his tyme on Chauntecleer to
falle,

As gladly doon this homicydes alle,
That in awayt ligen to mordre men. 4415
O false mordrer, lurking in thy den!
O newe Scariot, newe Genilon!
False dissimilour, O Greek Sinon,
That broghtest Troye al outrely to sorwe!
O Chauntecleer, acursed be that morwe,
That thou into that yerd slough for the bemes! (411) 4421

Thou were ful wel y-warned by thy
dremes,

That thilke day was perilous to thee.
But what that god forwoot mot nedes be,
After the opinioun of certeyn clerkis. 4425
Witness on him, that any perfit clerk is,
That in soole is gret altercacioun
In this matere, and greet disputioun,
And hath ben of an hundred thousand
men.

But I ne can not bulde it to the bren, 4430
As can the holy doctour Augustyn, (421)
Or Boëce, or the bishop Bradwardyn,
Whether that goddes worthy forwiting
Streyneth me nedely for to doon a thing,
(Nedely clepe I simple necessitee); 4435
Or elles, if free choys be graunted me
To do that same thing, or do it noght, Though god forwoot it, er that it was
wroght;

Or if his witing streyneth nevere a del
But by necessitee condicional. 4440
I wol not han to do of swich matere; (431)
My tale is of a cok, as ye may here,
That took his counseil of his wyf, with
sorwe,

To walken in the yerd upon that morwe
That he had met the drem, that I yow
tolde. 4445

Wommennes counseils been ful ofte colde;

Wommannes counseil broghte us first to
wo,

And made Adam fro paradys to go,
Ther-as he was ful mery, and wel at ese.—
But for I noot, to whom it mighte
displese, 4450

If I counseil of wommen wolde blame, (441)
Passe over, for I seyde it in my game.

Rede auctours, wher they trete of swich
matere,

And what thay seyn of wommen ye may
here

These been the cokkes wordes, and nat
myne; 4455

I can noon harm of no womman divyne.—
Faire in the sond, to bathe hir merily, Lyth Pertelote, and alle hir sustres by,
Agayn the sonne; and Chauntecleer so
free

Song merier than the mermayde in the
see; 4460

For Phisiologus seith aikerly, (451)
How that they singen wel and merily.

And so bifel that, as he caste his y8,
Among the wortes, on a boterfiye, 4464
He was war of this fox that lay ful lowe.

No-thing ne liste him thanne for to crowe,
But cryde anon, 'cok, cok,' and up he
sterte,

As man that was affrayed in his herte.
For naturelly a beest desyreth flee

Fro his contrarie, if he may it see, 4470
Though he never erst had seyn it with his y8. (461)

This Chauntecleer, whan he gan him
espye,

He wolde han fled, but that the fox anon
Seyde, 'Gentil sire, allas! wher wol ye
gon?

Be ye affrayed of me that am your
freend? 4475

Now certes, I were worse than a feend,
If I to yow wolde harm or vileinye.

I am nat come your counseil for t'espye;
But trewely, the cause of my cominge

Was only for to herkne how that ye
singe. (470) 4480

For trewely ye have as mery a stevene
As any aungel hath, that is in hevene;

Therwith ye han in musik more felinge
Than hadde Boëce, or any that can singe.

My lord your fader (god his soule blesse !)
And eek your moder, of hir gentillesse,
Han in myn hous y-been, to my gret ese;
And certes, sire, ful fayn wolde I yow
plesa. 4488

But for men speke of singing, I wol saye,
So mote I broouke wel myn eyen tweye,
Save yow, I herde never man so singe,
As dide your fader in the morweninge;
Certes, it was of herte, al that he song.
And for to make his voys the more strong,
He wolde so peyne him, that with bothe
his yēn 4495
He moste winke, so loude he wolde cryen,
And stonden on his tiptoon ther-with-al,
And strecche forth his nekke long and smaal.

And eek he was of swich discrecioun,
That ther nas no man in no regioun 4500
That him in song or wisdom mighte
passe. (491)

I have wel rad in daun Burnel the Ase,
Among his vers, how that ther was a cok,
For that a preestes sone yaf him a knob Upon his leg, whyl he was yong and
nyce, 4505

He made him for to lese his benefeye.
But certeyn, ther nis no comparisoun
Bitwix the wisdom and discrecioun
Of youre fader, and of his subtiltee. (499)
Now singeth, sire, for seinte Charitee, 4510
Let see, conne ye your fader countrefete?
This Chauntecleer his wings gan to bete,
As man that coude his tresoun nat espye,
So was he ravished with his flaterye.

Allas! ye lordes, many a fals flatour
Is in your courtes, and many a losengeour,
That plesen yow wel more, by my faith,
Than he that soothfastnesse unto yow
seith.

Redeth Ecclesiastes of flaterye;
Beth war, ye lordes, of hir trecherye. 4520
This Chauntecleer stood hie up-on his toos, (511)

Strecching his nekke, and heeld his eyen
cloos,

And gan to crowe loude for the nones;
And daun Russel the fox starte up at
ones, 4524

And by the gargat hente Chauntecleer,
And on his bak toward the wode him beer,

For yet ne was ther no man that him sewed.

O destinee, that mayst nat been eschewed!
Allas, that Chauntecleer fleigh fro the
bemes! 4529

Allas, his wyf ne roghte nat of dremes!
And on a Friday fil al this meschaunce. (521)
O Venus, that art goddesse of plesaunce, Sin that thy servant was this Chaunte-
cleer,

And in thy service dide al his poweer,
More for delyt, than world to multiplie,
Why woldestow suffre him on thy day to
dye? 4536

O Gaufred, dere mayster soverayn,
That, whan thy worthy king Richard was slayn

With shot, compleynedest his deth so
sore,

Why ne hadde I now thy sentence and thy lore, 4540

The Friday for to chyde, as diden ye? (531)
(For on a Friday soothly slayn was he.)

Than wolde I shewe yow how that I coude
pleyne

For Chauntecleres drede, and for his
peyne.

Certes, swich cry ne lamentacioun 4545
Was never of ladies maad, whan Ilioun
Was wonne, and Pirrus with his streite sward,

Whan he hadde hent king Priam by the
berd,

And slayn him (as saith us Eneydoe),
As maden alle the hennes in the clos, 4550
Whan they had seyn of Chauntecleer the
sighte. (541)

But sovereynly dame Pertelote shrighite,
Ful louder than dide Hasdrubales wyf,
Whan that hir housbond hadde loet his lyf,
And that the Romayns hadde brend
Cartage; 4555

She was so ful of torment and of rage,
That wilfully into the fyr she sterte,
And brende hir-selven with a stedfast
herte.

O woful hennes, right so cryden ye,
As, whan that Nero brende the citee 4560
Of Rome, cryden senatoures wyves, (551)
For that hir housbondes losten alle hir
lyves;

Withouten gilt this Nero hath hem slayn.
 Now wol I torne to my tale agayn :—
 This sely widwe, and eek hir doghtres
 two, 4565
 Herden thise hennes crye and maken wo,
 And out at doras sterten they anoon,
 And syen the fox toward the grove goon,
 And bar upon his bak the ook away ;
 And cryden, 'Out ! harrow ! and weyl-
 way !' 4570
 Ha, ha, the fox !' and after him they ran, (561)
 And eek with staves many another man ; Ran Colle our dogge, and Talbot, and Gerland,
 And Malkin, with a distaf in hir hand ;
 Ran cow and calf, and eek the verray
 hogges 4575
 So were they fered for berking of the dogges
 And shouting of the men and wimmen
 eke,
 They ronne so, hem thoughte hir herte
 breka.
 They yelleden as feendes doon in helle ;
 The dokes cryden as men wolde hem
 quelle ; (571) 4580
 The gees for fere flouen over the trees ;
 Out of the hyve cam the swarm of bees ;
 So hidous was the noyse, a ! benedicite !
 Certes, he Jakke Straw, and his meynee,
 No made never shoutes half so shrille, 4585
 Whan that they wolden any Fleming
 kille,
 As thilke day was maad upon the fox.
 Of bras thay broghten bemes, and of box,
 Of horn, of boon, in whiche they blew
 and pouped,
 And therewithal thay shryked and they houped ; 4590
 It semed as that heven sholde falle. (581)
 Now, gode men, I pray yow herkneth alle !
 Lo, how fortune turneth soeinly
 The hope and pryde eek of hir enemy !
 This cok, that lay upon the foxes bak, 4595
 In al his drede, un-to the fox he spak,
 And seyde, 'sire, if that I were as ye,
 Yet sholde I seyn (as wis god holpe me),
 Turneth agayn, ye proude cherles alle !

A verray pestilence up-on yow falle ! 4600
 Now am I come un-to this wodes syde, Maugree your heed, the cok shal heer
 abyde ; (592)
 I wol him ete in feith, and that anon.'—
 The fox answerde, 'in feith, it shal be don,'—
 And as he spak that word, al soeinly 4605
 This cok brak from his mouth deliverly,
 And heighe up-on a tree he fleigh anon.
 And whan the fox saugh that he was
 y-gon,
 'Allas !' quod he, 'O Chauntecleer, allas !
 I have to yow,' quod he, 'y-doon trespass,
 In-as-muche as I maked yow aferd, (601) Whan I yow hente, and broghte out of the yerd ;
 But, sire, I dide it in no wikke entente ;
 Com down, and I shal telle yow what
 I mente.
 I shal seye sooth to yow, god help me so.'
 'Nay than,' quod he, 'I shrewe us bothe
 two, 4616
 And first I shrewe my-self, bothe blood
 and bones,
 If thou bigyle me ofter than ones.
 Thou shalt na-more, thurgh thy flaterye,
 Do me to singe and winke with myn yē.
 For he that winketh, whan he sholde see,
 Al wilfully, god lat him never thee !' (612)
 'Nay,' quod the fox, 'but god yeve him
 meschaunce,
 That is so undiscreet of governaunce,
 That jangleth whan he sholde holde his
 pees.' 4625
 Lo, swich it is for to be reccheles,
 And negligant, and truste on flaterye.
 But ye that holden this tale a folye,
 As of a fox, or of a cok and hen,
 Taketh the moralitee, good men. 4630
 For seint Paul seith, that al that writen
 is, (621)
 To our doctryne it is y-write, y-wia.
 Taketh the fruyt, and lat the chaf be
 stille.
 Now, gode god, if that it be thy wille,
 As seith my lord, so make us alle good
 men ; 4635
 And bringe us to his heighe blisse. Amen.

Here is ended the Nonne Preestes Tale.

EPILOGUE TO THE NONNE PREESTES TALE.

'SIR Nonnes Preest,' our hosts seyde anon,
 'Y-blessed be thy breche, and every stoon!
 This was a mery tale of Chauntecleer.
 But, by my trouthe, if thou were secular,
 Thou woldest been a trede-foula-right. 4641
 For, if thou have corage as thou hast
 might,
 Thee were nede of hennes, as I wene,
 Ya, mo than seven tymes seventene.

See, whiche braunes hath this gentil
 Preest, 4645
 So greet a nekke, and swich a large breest!
 He loketh as a sperhawk with his y^en; (11)
 Him nedeth nat his colour for to dyen
 With brasil, ne with greyn of Portingale.
 Now sire, faire falle yow for youre tale!
 And after that he, with ful mery chere,
 Seide to another, as ye shullen here. 4652

GROUP C.

THE PHISICIENS TALE.

Here folweth the Phisiciens Tale.

There was, as telleth Titus Livius,
 A knight that called was Virginius,
 Fulfld of honour and of worthinesse,
 And strong of freendes and of greet richesse. [T. 11938
 This knight a doghter hadde by his wyf,
 No children hadde he mo in al his lyf. 6
 Fair was this mayde in excellent beautee
 Aboven every wight that man may see ;
 For nature hath with sovereyn diligence
 Y-formed hir in so greet excellence, 10
 As though she wolde seyn, 'lo ! I, Nature,
 Thus can I forme and peynte a creature,
 Whan that me list ; who can me countre-fete ?
 Pigmalion nocht, though he ay forge and
 bete,

Or grave, or peynte ; for I dar wel seyn, 15
 Apelles, Zansis, sholde werche in veyn,
 Outher to grave or peynte or forge or bete,
 If they presumed me to countrefete.
 For he that is the former principal
 Hath made me his vicaire general, 20
 To forme and peynten erthely creaturis Right as me list, and ech thing in my cure is Under the mone, that may wane and waxe,
 And for my werk right no-thing wol I axe ;
 My lord and I ben ful of oon accord ; 25
 I made hir to the worship of my lord.
 So do I alle myne othere creatures,
 What colour that they han, or what
 figures.—
 Thus semeth me that Nature wolde scye.

This mayde of age twelf yeer was and
 tweye, 30
 In which that Nature hadde swich delyt.
 For right as she can peynthe a lillie whyt
 And reed a rose, right with swich peynture
 She peynted hath this noble creature
 Er she were born, up-on hir limes free, 35
 Wher-as by right swiche colours sholde be;
 And Phebus dyed hath hir tresses grete
 Lyk to the stremes of his burned hete.
 And if that excellent was hir beautee,
 A thousand-fold more vertuouse was she. 40
 In hir ne lacked no condicioun,
 That is to preyse, as by discrecioun.
 As wel in goost as body chast was she;
 For which she floured in virginitee
 With alle humilitee and abstinence, 45
 With alle attemperance and pacience,
 With mesure eek of bering and array.
 Discreet she was in answering alway;
 Though she were wys as Pallas, dar I seyn,
 Hir facound eek ful wommanly and pleyn,
 No countrefeted termes hadde she 51
 To some wys; but after hir degree
 She spak, and alle hir wordes more and
 lesse
 Souninge in vertu and in gentillesse.
 Shamfast she was in maydens shamfast-
 nesse, 55
 Constant in herte, and ever in bisnesse
 To dryve hir out of ydel slogardy.
 Bacus hadde of hir mouth right no
 maistrye;
 For wyn and youthe doon Venus encrece,
 As men in fyr wol casten oile or grece. 60
 And of hir owene vertu, unconstreyned,
 She hath ful ofte tyme syk hir feyned,
 For that she wolde fleen the companye
 Wher lykly was to treten of folye,
 As is at festes, revels, and at daunces. 65
 That been occasions of daliaunces
 Swich thinges maken children for to be
 To some rype and bold, as men may see,
 Which is ful perilous, and hath ben yore.
 For al to sone may she lerne lore 70
 Of boldnesse, whan she woxen is a wyf.
 And ye maistresses in your olde lyf,
 That lordes doghtres han in governaunce,
 Ne taketh of my wordes no displeaunce;
 Thenketh that ye ben set in governinges 75
 Of lordes doghtres, only for two thinges;

Outher for ye han kept your honestee,
 Or elles ye han falle in freletee,
 And knowen wel y-nough the olde daunce,
 And han forsaken fully swich meschaunce
 For evermo; therefore, for Cristes sake, 81
 To teche hem vertu loke that ye ne slake.
 A thief of venisoun, that hath forlaft
 His likerounesse, and al his olde craft,
 Can kepe a forest best of any man. 85
 Now kepeth hem wel, for if ye wol, ye can;
 Loke wel that ye un-to no vice assente,
 Lest ye be dampned for your wikke en-
 tente;
 For who-so doth, a traitour is certeyn.
 And taketh kepe of that that I shal
 seyn; 90
 Of alle tresons sovereyn pestilence
 Is whan a wight bitrayseth innocence.
 Ye fadres and ye modres eek also,
 Though ye han children, be it oon or two,
 Your is the charge of al hir surveyaunce, 95
 Why that they been under your govern-
 aunce.
 Beth war that by ensample of your livinge,
 Or by your negligence in chastisinge,
 That they ne perisse; for I dar wel seye,
 If that they doon, ye shul it dare abeye. 100
 Under a shepherde softe and necligent
 The wolf hath many a sheep and lamb to-rent.
 Suffyseth oon ensample now as here,
 For I mot turne agayn to my matere.
 This mayde, of which I wol this tale
 expresse, 105
 So kepte hir-self, hir neded no maistresse;
 For in hir living maydens mighten rede,
 As in a book, every good word or dede,
 That longeth to a mayden vertuouse;
 She was so prudent and so bountevous. 110
 For which the fame out-sprong on every
 syde
 Bothe of hir beautee and hir bountee wyde;
 That thurgh that land they preyssed hir
 echone,
 That loved vertu, save envye allone,
 That sory is of other mennes wele, 115
 And glad is of his sorwe and his unhele;
 (The doctour maketh this descripcioun).
 This mayde up-on a day wente in the toun
 Toward a temple, with hir moder dere,
 As is of yonge maydens the manere. 120

Now was ther thanne a justice in that
toun,

That governour was of that regioun.
And so bifel, this juge his eyen caste
Up-on this mayde, avysinge him ful faste,
As she cam forby ther this juge stood. 125
Anon his herte changed and his mood,
So was he caught with beautee of this
mayde;

And to him-self ful prively he sayde,
'This mayde shal be myn, for any man.'

Anon the feend in-to his herte ran, 130
And taughte him sodeynly, that he by slighte

The mayden to his purpos winne mighte.
For certes, by no force, ne by no mede,
Him thoughte, he was nat able for to spede;
For she was strong of freendes, and eek she Confermed was in swich soverayn bountee,
That wel he wiste he mighte hir never
winne 137

As for to make hir with hir body sinne.
For which, by greet deliberacioun,
He sente after a cherl, was in the toun, 140
Which that he knew for subtil and for bold.

This juge un-to this cherl his tale hath told
In secree wyse, and made him to ensure,
He sholde telle it to no creature,
And if he hide, he sholde lese his heed. 145
Whan that assented was this cursed reed,
Glad was this juge and maked him greet
chere,

And yaf him yiftes precieuse and dere.

Whan shapen was al hir conspiracye
Fro point to point, how that his lecherye
Parfourned sholde been ful subtilly, 151
As ye shul here it after openly,
Hoom gooth the cherl, that highte Claudius.

This false juge that highte Apius,
So was his name, (for this is no fable, 155
But knowen for historial thing notable,
The sentence of it sooth is, out of doute),
This false juge gooth now faste aboute
To hasten his delyt al that he may.
And so bifel sone after, on a day, 160
This false juge, as telleth us the storie,
As he was wont, sat in his consistorie,
And yaf his domes up-on sondry cas.
This false cherl cam forth a ful greet pas,

And seyde, 'lord, if that it be your wille, 165
As dooth me right up-on this pitous bille,
In which I pleyne up-on Virginius.
And if that he wol seyn it is nat thus,
I wol it prove, and finde good witnesse,
That sooth is that my bille wol expresse.'

The juge answerde, 'of this, in his absence, 171

I may nat yeve diffinitif sentence.
Let do him calle, and I wol gladly here;
Thou shalt have al right, and no wrong
here.' 174

Virginus cam, to wite the juges wille,
And right anon was rad this cursed bille;
The sentence of it was as ye shul here.

'To yow, my lord, sire Apius so dere,
Sheweth your povre servant Claudius,
How that a knight, called Virginus, 180
Agayns the lawe, agayn al equitee,
Holdeth, expres agayn the wil of me,
My servant, which that is my thral by
right,

Which for myn hous was stole up-on
a night,

Whyl that she was ful yong; this wol
I preve 185

By witnesse, lord, so that it nat yow greve.
She nis his doghter nat, what so he seye;
Wherfore to yow, my lord the juge, I preye,
Yeld me my thral, if that it be your wille.'
Lo! this was al the sentence of his bille.

Virginus gan up-on the cherl biholde,
But hastily, er he his tale tolde, 192
And wolde have proved it, as sholde
a knight,

And eek by witnessing of many a wight,
That it was fals that seyde his adversarie,
This cursed juge wolde no-thing tarie, 196
Ne here a word more of Virginus,
But yaf his judgement, and seyde thus :-

'I deme anon this cherl hisservant have;
Thou shalt no lenger in thyn hous hir
save. 200

Go bring hir forth, and put hir in our ward,
The cherl shal have his thral, this I awarde.'

And whan this worthy knight Virginus,
Thurgh sentence of this justice Apius,
Moste by force his dere doghter yiven 205
Un-to the juge, in lecherye to liven,

He gooth him hoom, and sette him in his halle,
 And leet anon his dere doghter calle,
 And, with a face deed as asshen colde,
 Upon hir humble face he gan biholde, 210
 With fadres piteestiking thurgh his herte,
 Al wolde he from his purpos nat converte.
 'Doghter,' quod he, 'Virginia, by thy name,
 Ther been two weyes, outhere deeth or shame,
 That thou most suffre; allas! that I was bore! 215
 For never thou deservedest wherfore
 To dyen with a sward or with a knyf.
 O dere doghter, ender of my lyf,
 Which I have fostred up with swich plessaunce,
 That thou were never out of my remembrance! 220
 O doghter, which that art my laste wo.
 And in my lyf my laste joye also,
 O gemme of chastitee, in pacience
 Take thou thy deeth, for this is my sentence.
 For love and nat for hate, thou most be deed; 225
 My pitous hand mot smyten of thyn heed.
 Allas! that ever Apius thee say!
 Thus hath he falaly juged thee to-day'—
 And tolde hir al the cas, as ye bifore 229
 Han herd; nat nedeth for to telle it more.
 'O mercy, dere fader,' quod this mayde,
 And with that word she both hir armes layde
 About his nekke, as she was wont to do:
 The teres broste out of hir eyen two,
 And seyde, 'gode fader, shal I dye? 235
 Is ther no grace? is ther no remedye?'
 'No, certes, dere doghter myn,' quod he.
 'Thanne yif me leyser, fader myn,' quod she,
 'My deeth for to compleyne a lital space;
 For pardee, Jepteayf his doghter grace 240
 For to compleyne, er he hir slow, allas!
 And god it woot, no-thing was hir trespas,
 But for she ran hir fader first to see,
 To welcome him with greet solempnitee.'
 And with that word she fl aswowne anon,
 And after, whan hir swowning is agon, 246

She ryseth up, and to hir fader sayde,
 'Blessed be god, that I shal dye a mayde.
 Yif me my deeth, er that I have a shame;
 Doth with your child your wil, a goddes name!' 250
 And with that word she preyed him ful ofte,
 That with his sward he wolde smyte softe,
 And with that word aswowne down she fl.
 Hir fader, with ful sorweful herte and wil,
 Hir heed of smoot, and by the top it hente, 255
 And to the juge he gan it to presente,
 As he sat yet in doom in consistorie.
 And whan the juge it saugh, as seith the storie,
 He bad to take him and anchange him faste. 259
 But right anon a thousand peple in thraste,
 To save the knight, for routh and for pitee,
 For knowen was the false inquitee.
 The peple anon hath suspect of this thing,
 By manere of the cherles chalanging,
 That it was by th'assent of Apius; 265
 They wisten wel that he was lecherous.
 For which un-to this Apius they gon,
 And caste him in a prison right anon,
 Wher-as he slow him-self; and Claudius,
 That servant was un-to this Apius, 270
 Was demed for to hange upon a tree;
 But that Virginius, of his pitee,
 So preyde for him that he was exyled;
 And elles, certes, he had been bigyled.
 The remenant were anhanged, more and lesse, 275
 That were consentant of this cursed-nesse.—
 Heer men may seen how sinne hath his meryte!
 Beth war, for no man woot whom god wol smyte
 In no degree, ne in which maner wyse
 The worm of conscience may agryse 280
 Of wikked lyf, though it so privee be,
 That no man woot ther-of but god and he.
 For be he lewed man, or elles lered,
 He noot how sone that he shal been afered.
 Therefore I rede yow this conseil take, 285
 Forsaketh sinne, er sinne yow forsake.

Here endeth the Phisiciens Tale.

WORDS OF THE HOST.

The wordes of the Host to the Phisicien and the Pardoner.

OUR Hoste gan to swere as he were wood, 'Harrow!' quod he, 'by nayles and by blood! This was a fals cherl and a fals justyse! As shameful deeth as herte may devyse 290 Come to thise juges and hir advocats! Algate this sely mayde is slayn, allas! Allas! to dere boghte she beantee! Wherfore I seye al day, as men may see, That yiftes of fortune or of nature 295 Ben cause of deeth to many a creature. (10) Hir beantee was hir deeth, I dar wel sayn; Allas! so pitously as she was slayn! Of bothe yiftes that I speke of now Men han ful ofte more harm than prow. But trewely, myn owene mayster dere, 301 This is a pitous tale for to here. But natheles, passe over, is no fors; I prey to god, so save thy gentil cors, 304 And eek thyne urinals and thy jordanes, Thyn Ypocras, and eek thy Galianes, (20) And every boist ful of thy letuarie; God blesse hem, and our lady seinte Marie! So mot I theen, thou art a propre man, And lyk a prelat, by seint Ronyan! 310	Seyde I nat wel? I can nat speke in terme; But wel I woot, thou doost my herte to erne, That I almost have caught a cardiacle. By corpus bones! but I have triacle, 314 Orelles a draught of moyste and cornyale, Or but I here anon a mery tale, (30) Myn herte is lost for pitee of this mayde. Thou bel amy, thou Pardoner,' he seyde, 'Tel us som mirthe or japes right anon,' 'It shall be doon,' quod he, 'by seint Ronyon! 320 But first,' quod he, 'heer at this ale- stake I wol both drinke, and eten of a cake.' But right anon thise gentils gonne to crye, 'Nay! lat him telle us of no ribaudye; Tel us som moral thing, that we may lere 325 Som wit, and thanne wol we gladly here.' (40) 'I graunte, y-wis,' quod he, 'but I mot thinke Up-on som honest thing, whyl that I drinke.'

THE PROLOGUE OF THE PARDONERS TALE.

Here folweth the Prologe of the Pardoners Tale.

Radix malorum est Cupiditas: Ad Thimotheum, sezto.

'LORDIKES,' quod he, 'in chirches whan I
preche,
I peyne me to han an hauteyn speche, 330
And ringe it out as round as gooth a belle,
For I can al by rote that I telle.
My theme is alwey oon, and ever was—
"Radix malorum est Cupiditas."
First I pronounce whennes that I come,
And than my bulles shewe I, alle and somme. 336
Our lige lordes seal on my patente,
That shewe I first, my body to warente, (10)
That no man be so bold, ne preest ne clerk,
Me to destourbe of Cristes holy werk; 340
And after that than telle I forth my tales,
Bulles of popes and of cardinales,
Of patriarkes, and bishoppes I shewe;
And in Latyn I speke a wordes fewe,
To saffron with my predicacioun, 345
And for to stire men to devocioun. (18)
Than shewe I forth mylonge cristal stones,
Y-crammed ful of cloutes and of bones;
Reliks been they, as wenen they echoon.
Than have I in latoun a sholder-boon 350
Which that was of an holy Jewes shepe.
"Good men," seye I, "tak of my wordes
kepe;
If that this boon be wasshe in any wellle,
If cow, or calf, or sheep, or oxe swelle
That any worm hath ete, or worm ystonge, 355
Tak water of that wellle, and wash his
tonge,
And it is hool anon; and forthermore,
Of pokkes and of scabbe, and everysores (30)

Shal every sheep be hool, that of this wellle Drinketh a draughte; tak kepe eek what
I telle. 360
If that the good-man, that the bestes oweth, Wol every wike, er that the cok him
croweth,
Fastinge, drinken of this wellle a draughte,
As thilke holy Jewe our oldres taughte,
His bestes and his stoor shal multiplye. 365
And, sirs, also it heleth jalouseye;
For, though a man be falle in jalous rage,
Let maken with this water his potage, (40)
And never shal he more his wyf mistriste,
Though he the sooth of hir defaute wiste;
Al had she taken preestes two or three. 371
Heer is a miteyn eek, that ye may see.
He that his hond wol putte in this miteyn,
He shal have multiplying of his greyn,
Whan he hath sowen, be it whete or otes,
So that he offre pens, or elles grotes. 376
Good men and wommen, o thing warno
I yow,
If any wight be in this chirche now, (50)
That hath doon sinne horrible, that he
Dar nat, for shame, of it y-shriven be, 380
Or any womman, be she yong or old,
That hath y-maad hir housbond ookewold,
Swich folk shul have no power ne no grace
To offren to my reliks in this place.
And who-so findeth him out of swich
blame, 385
He wol com up and offre in goddes name,
And I assoille him by the auctoritee Which that by bulle y-graunted was to
me." (60)

By this gaude have I wonne, yeer by
yeer,
An hundred mark sith I was Pardoner.
I stonde lyk a clerk in my pulpet, 391
And whan the lewed peple is down y-set,
I preche, so as ye han herd bifore,
And telle an hundred false japes more.
Than peyne I me to strecche forth the nekke, 395
And est and west upon the peple I bekke,
As doth a dowve sitting on a barne. (69)
Myn hondes and my tonge goon so yerne,
That it is joye to see my businesse.
Of avaryce and of swich cursednesse 400
Is al my preching, for to make hem free
To yeve her pens, and namely un-to me.
For my entente is nat but for to winne,
And no-thing for correccioun of sinne. 404
I rekke never, whan that they ben beried,
Though that her soules goon a-blake-beried !
For certes, many a predicacioun
Comth ofte tyme of yvel entencioun ; (80)
Som for plesauce of folk and flaterye,
To been avaunced by ipocrisye, 410
And som for veyne glorie, and som for hate.
For, whan I dar non other wayes debate,
Than wol I stinge him with my tonge
smerte
In preching, so that he shal nat asterte
To been defamed falaly, if that he 415
Hath trespassed to my brethren or to me.
For, though I telle nocht his propre name,
Men shal wel knowe that it is the same (90)
By signes and by othere circumstances.
Thus quyte I folk that doon us dis-plesances ; 420
Thus spitte I out my venim under hewe
Of holynesse, to seme holy and trewe.
But shortly myn entente I wol devyse ;
I preche of no-thing but for covейtise.
Therfor my theme is yet, and ever was—

"Radix malorum est cupiditas." 426
Thus can I preche agayn that same vyce
Which that I use, and that is avaryce. (100)
But, though my-self be giltly in that sinne,
Yet can I maken other folk to winne 430
From avaryce, and sore to repenta.
But that is nat my principal entente.
I preche no-thing but for covейtise ;
Of this matere it oughthe y-nogh suffyse.
Than telle I hem ensamples many oon
Of olde stories, longe tyme agoon : 436
For lewed peple loven tales olde ; Swich thinges can they wel reporte and
holde. (110)
What? trowe ye, the whyles I may preche,
And winne gold and silver for I teche, 440
That I wol live in povert wilfully ?
Nay, nay, I thoghte it never trewely !
For I wol preche and begge in sondry
londes ;
I wol not do no labour with myn hondes,
Ne make baskettes, and live therby, 445
Because I wol nat beggen ydelly.
I wol non of the apostles counterfete ;
I wol have money, wolle, chese, and whete,
Al were it yeven of the povrest page, (121)
Or of the povrest widwe in a village, 450
Al sholde hir children sterve for famyne.
Nay ! I wol drinke licour of the vyne,
And have a joly wenche in every toun.
But herkneth, lordings, in conclusioun ;
Your lyking is that I shal telle a tale. 455
Now, have I dronke a draughte of corny
ale,
By god, I hope I shal yow telle a thing
That shal, by resoun, been at your lyking.
For, though myself be a ful vicious
man,
A moral tale yet I yow telle can, (132) 460
Which I am wont to preche, for to winne.
Now holde your pees, my tale I wol beginne.'

THE PARDONERS TALE.

Here biginneth the Pardoners Tale.

In Flaundres whylom was a companye
 Of yonge folk, that haunteden folye,
 As ryot, hasard, stewes, and tavernes, 465
 Wher-as, with harpes, lutes, and giternes,
 They daunce and playe at dees bothe day
 and night, (139)
 And ete also and drinken over hir might,
 Thurgh which they doon the deuel sacri-
 fyse
 With-in that develes temple, in cursed
 wyse, 470
 By superfluitee abhominable ;
 Hir othes been so grete and so dampnable,
 That it is grisly for to here hem swere ;
 Our blissed lordes body they to-tere ;
 Hem thoughte Jewes rente him noght
 y-nough ; 475
 And ech of hem at otheres sinne lough.
 And right anon than comen tombesteres Fetys and smale, and yonge fruytesteres, (150)
 Singers with harpes, bandes, wafereres,
 Whiche been the verray develes officeres
 To kindle and blowe the fyr of lecherye,
 That is annexed un-to glotonye ; 482
 The holy writ take I to my witnesse,
 That luxurie is in wyn and dronkenesse.
 Lo, how that dronken Loth, unkindely,
 Lay by his doghtres two, unwittingly ; 486
 So dronke he was, he niste what he
 wroghte. (159)
 Herodes, (who-so wel the stories soghte),
 Whan he of wyn was replet at his feste,
 Right at his owene table he yaf his heste
 To slean the Baptist John ful gilteless. 491
 Senek seith eek a good word dounteles ;
 He seith, he can no difference finde
 Bitwix a man that is out of his minde

And a man which that is dronkelewe, 495
 But that woodnesse, y-fallen in a shrewe,
 Persevereth lenger than doth dronkenesse.
 O glotonye, ful of cursednesse, (170)
 O cause first of our confusioun,
 O original of our dampnacioun, 500
 Til Crist had boght us with his blood
 agayn !

Lo, how dere, shortly for to sayn,
 Aboght was thilke cursed vileinye ;
 Corrupt was al this world for glotonye !
 Adam our fader, and his wyf also, 505
 Fro Paradys to labour and to wo
 Were driven for that vyce, it is no drede ;
 For whyl that Adam fasted, as I rede, (180)
 He was in Paradys ; and whan that he Eet of the fruyt defended on the tree, 510
 Anon he was out-cast to wo and peyne.
 O glotonye, on thee wel oghte us pleyne !
 O, wiste a man how many maladyes
 Folwen of excesse and of glotonyes,
 He wolde been the more mesurable 515
 Of his diete, sittinge at his table.
 Allas ! the shorte throthe, the tendre
 mouth,
 Maketh that, Est and West, and North and South, (190)
 In erthe, in air, in water men to-swinke
 To gete a glotoun deyntee mete and
 drinke ! 520
 Of this matere, o Paul, wel canstow trete,
 ' Mete un-to wombe, and wombe eek un-to
 mete,
 Shal god destroyen bothe,' as Paulus seith.
 Allas ! a foul thing is it, by my feith, 524
 To seye this word, and fouler is the dede, Whan man so drinketh of the whyte and
 rede,

That of his throte he maketh his privee,
Thurgh thilke cursed superfluitee. (200)

The apostel weping seith ful pitously,
'Ther walken many of whiche yow told have I, 530

I seye it now weping with pitous voys,
[That] they been enemys of Cristes croys,
Of whiche the ende is deeth, wombe is her god.'

O wombe! O bely! O stinking cod,
Fulfilde of donge and of corrupcioun! 535
At either ende of thee foul is the soun.
How great labour and cost is thee to
finde!

These cokes, how they stampe, and streyne,
and grinde, (210)

And turnen substance in-to accident,
To fulfill al thy likerous talent! 540
Out of the harde bones knocke they
The mary, for they caste noght a-way That may go thurgh the golet softe and swote;

Of spicerye, of leef, and bark, and rote
Shal been his sauce y-made by delyt, 545
To make him yet a newer appetyt.
But certes, he that haunteth swich delyces
Is deed, whyl that he liveth in tho vyces.

A lecherous thing is wyn, and dronke-
nesse (221) 549

Is ful of stryving and of wrochednesse.
O dronke man, disfigured is thy face,
Sour is thy breeth, foul artow to embrace,
And thurgh thy dronke nose semeth the
soun

As though thou seydest ay 'Sampsoun,
Sampsoun';

And yet, god wot, Sampsoun drank never no wyn. 555

Thou fallest, as it were a stiked swyn;
Thy tonge is lost, and al thyn honest cure;
For dronkenesse is verray sepulture (230)

Of mannes wit and his discrecioun. 559
In whom that drinke hath dominacioun,
He can no conseil kepe, it is no drede.

Now kepe yow fro the whyte and fro the
rede,

And namely fro the whyte wyn of Lepe,
That is to selle in Fish-strete or in Chepe.
This wyn of Spayne crepeth subtilly 565
In othere wyne, growing faste by,
Of which ther ryseth swich fumocitee,

That whan a man hath dronken draughtes
three, (240)

And weneth that he be at hoom in Chepe,

He is in Spayne, right at the toune of Lepe, 570

Nat at the Rochel, ne at Burdeux toun;
And thanne wol he seye, 'Sampsoun,
Sampsoun.'

But herketh, lordings, o word, I yow
preye,

That alle the sovereyn actes, dar I seye,
Of victories in th'olde testament, 575
Thurgh verray god, that is omnipotent,
Were doon in abstinence and in preyere;
Loketh the Bible, and ther ye may it
lere. (250)

Loke, Attila, the grete conquerour, Deyde in his sleep, with shame and dis-
honour, 580

Bledinge ay at his nose in dronkenesse;
A capitayn shoulde live in sobrenesse.

And over al this, avyseth yow right wel
What was comaunded un-to Lamuel—
Nat Samuel, but Lamuel, seye I— 585
Redeth the Bible, and finde it expresly
Of wyn-yeving to hem that han justyse.
Na-more of this, for it may wel suffyse. (260)

And now that I have spoke of glotonye,
Now wol I yow defenden hasardrye. 590
Hasard is verray moder of lesinges,
And of deceite, and cursed forsweringes, Blaspheme of Crist, manslaughter, and wast also

Of catel and of tyme; and forthermo,
It is repreve and contrarie of honour 595
For to ben holde a commune hasardour.

And ever the hyer he is of estaat,
The more is he holden desolaat. (270)
If that a pryncce useth hasardrye,
In alle governaunce and polycye 600
He is, as by commune opinioun,
Y-holde the lasse in reputacioun.

Stilbon, that was a wys embassadour,
Was sent to Corinthe, in ful greet honour,
Fro Lacidomie, to make hir alliaunce. 605
And whan he cam, him happede, par
chance,

That alle the grettest that were of that
lond,

Pleynginge atte hasard he hem fond. (28c)

For which, as sone as it mighte be, 609
 He stal him hoom agayn to his contree,
 And seyde, 'ther wol I nat lese my name;
 N' I wol nat take on me so greet defame,
 Yow for to allye un-to none hasardours.
 Sendeth others wyse embassadours; 614
 For, by my trouthe, me were lever dye,
 Than I yow sholde to hasardours allye.
 For ye that been so glorious in honours
 Shul nat allyen yow with hasardours (290)
 As by my wil, ne as by my trettee.'
 This wyse philosopre thus seyde he. 620

Loke eek that, to the king Demetrius
 The king of Parthes, as the book seith us,
 Sente him a paire of dees of gold in scorn,
 For he hadde used hasard ther-biforn;
 For which he heeld his glorie or his
 renoun 625

At no value or reputacioun.
 Lordes may finden other maner play
 Honeste y-nough to dryve the day away.

Now wol I speke of othes false and
 grete (301)

A word or two, as olde bokes tete. 630
 Gret swering is a thing abhominable,
 And false swering is yet more reprevable.
 The heighe god forbad swering at al,
 Witnesse on Mathew; but in special
 Of swering seith the holy Jeramy, 635
 'Thou shalt seye sooth thyn othes, and
 nat lye,

And swere in dome, and eek in rightwis-
 nesse;'

But ydel swering is a cursednesse. (310)
 Bihold and see, that in the firste table
 Of heighe goddes hestes honourable, 640
 How that the seconde heste of him is this—
 'Tak nat my name in ydel or amis.'

Lo, rather he forbedeth swich swering
 Than homicyde or many a cursed thing;
 I seye that, as by ordre, thus it stondesth;
 This known, that his hestes understondesth, 646

How that the second heste of god is
 that.

And further over, I wol thee telle al plat,
 That vengeance shal nat parten from his
 hous, (321)

That of his othes is to outrageous. 650
 'By goddes precious herte, and by his nayles,

And by the blode of Crist, that it is in Hayles,
 Seven is my chaunce, and thyn is cink
 and treye;

By goddes armes, if thou falsly pleye,
 This dagger shal thurgh-out thyn herte
 go'— 655

This fruyt cometh of the bicched bones two,
 Forswering, ire, falnesse, homicyde. (329)
 Now, for the love of Crist that for us dyde,
 Leveth your othes, bothe grets and smale;
 But, sirs, now wol I telle forth my tale. 660

These ryotoures three, of whiche I telle, Longe erst er pryme rong of any belle,
 Were set hem in a tavernne for to drinke;
 And as they sattu, they herde a belle clinke
 Biforn a cors, was caried to his grave; 665
 That oon of hem gan callen to his knave,
 'Go bet,' quod he, 'and axe redilly, (339)
 What oors is this that passeth heer forby;
 And look that thou reporte his name wel.'
 'Sir,' quod this boy, 'it nedeth never-
 a-del. 670

It was me told, er ye cam heer, two houres;
 He was, pardee, an old falawe of youres;
 And sodeynly he was y-slayn to-night,
 For-dronke, as he sat on his bench up-
 right;

Ther cam a privee theef, men clepeth
 Deeth, 675

That in this contree al the peple sleeth,
 And with his spere he smoot his herte
 a-two, (349)

And wente his way with-uten wordes mo.
 He hath a thousand slayn this pestilence:
 And, maister, er ye come in his presence,
 Me thinketh that it were necessarie 681
 For to be war of swich an adversarie:
 Beth redy for to mete him evermore.
 Thus taughte me my dame, I sey na-more.'
 'By seinte Marie,' seyde this taverner, 685
 'The child seith sooth, for he hath slayn
 this year,

Henne over a myle, with-in a greet village,
 Both man and womman, child and hyne,
 and page. (360)

I trowe his habitacioun be there;
 To been avysed greet wisdom it were, 690
 Er that he dide a man a dishonour.'
 'Ye, goddes armes,' quod this ryotour,

' Is it swich peril with him for to mete?
I shal him seke by wey and eek by strete,
I make avow to goddes digne bones! 695
Herkneth, felawes, we three been al ones;
Lat ech of us holde up his hond til other,
And ech of us bioomen otheres brother, (370)
And we wol sleen this false traytour Deeth;
He shal be slayn, which that so many sleeth, 700
By goddes dignitee, er it be night.'

Togidres han thise three her trouthes plight,
To live and dyan ech of hem for other,
As though he were his owene y-boren
brother.

And up they sterte al dronken, in this
rage, 705
And forth they goon towards that village,
Of which the taverner had spoke biforn,
And many a grisly ooth than han they
sworn, (380)

And Cristes blessed body they to-rente—
' Deeth shal be deed, if that they may him
hente.' 710

Whan they han goon nat fully half a
myle,
Right as they wolde han troden over a style,

An old man and a povre with hem mette.
This olde man ful mekely hem grette,
And seyde thus, ' now, lordes, god yow
see!' 715

The proudest of thise ryoutoures three Answerde agayn, ' what? carl, with sory
grace, (389)

Why artow al forwrapped save thy face?
Why livestow so longe in so greet age?'

This olde man gan loken in his visage, 720
And seyde thus, ' for I ne can nat finde
A man, though that I walked in-to Inde,
Neither in citee nor in no village,
That wolde change his youthe for myn
age;

And therefore moot I han myn age stille,
As longe time as it is goddes wille. 725

Ne deeth, allas! ne wol nat han my lyf;
Thus walke I, lyk a resteles caityf, (400)
And on the ground, which is my modres gate,

Iknokke with my staf, bothe erly and late,
And seyde, "leve moder, leet me in! 731

Lo, how I vanish, flesh, and blood, and skin!

Allas! whan shul my bones been at reste?
Moder, with yow wolde I change my cheeste, 734

That in my chambre longe tyme hath be,
Ye! for an heyre clout to wrappe me!"
But yet to me she wol nat do that grace,
For which ful pale and welked is my face.

But, sirs, to yow it is no curteisye (411)
To speken to an old man vileinye, 740
But he trespasse in wordes, or elles in dede.
In holy writ ye may your-self wel rede,
' Agayns an old man, hoor upon his heed,
Ye sholde aryse;" wherfor I yeve yow
reed,

Ne dooth un-to an old man noon harm
now, 745

Na-more than ye wolde men dide to yow
In age, if that ye so longe abyde;

And god be with yow, wher ye go or ryde.
I moot go thider as I have to go.' (421)

' Nay, olde cherl, by god, thou shalt nat
so,' 750

Seyde this other hasardour anon;
' Thou partest nat so lightly, by saint John!
Thou spak right now of thilke traitour
Deeth,

That in this contree alle our frendes
sleeth.

Have heer my trouthe, as thou art his
aspye, 755

Tel wher he is, or thou shalt it abyde,
By god, and by the holy sacrament!

For soothly thou art oon of his assent, (430)
To sleen us yonge folk, thou false theef!

' Now, sirs,' quod he, ' if that yow be so
leef 760

To finde Deeth, turne up this croked
wey,

For in that grove I lafte him, by my fey,
Under a tree, and ther he wol abyde;

Nat for your boost he wol him no-thing
hyde.

See ye that ook? right ther ye shul him
finde. 765

God save yow, that boghte agayn man-
kinde,

And yow amende!—thus seyde this olde
man.

And everich of thise ryoutoures ran, (440)

Til he cam to that tree, and ther they
founde

Of florins fyne of golde y-coyned rounde
Wel ny an eighte busschels, as hem
thoughta. 771

Nolenger thanne after Deeth they soughte,
But ech of hem so glad was of that sighte,
For that the florins been so faire and
brighte,

That doum they sette hem by this precious hord. 775

The worste of hem he spake the firste word.
'Brethren,' quod he, 'tak kepe what I
seye;

My wit is greet, though that I bourde and pleya. (450)

This tresor hath fortune un-to us yiven,
In mirthe and jolitee our lyf to liven, 780
And lightly as it comth, so wol we spende.
Ey! goddes precious dignitee! who wende
To-day, that we sholde han so fair a grace?
But mighte this gold be caried fro this
place 784

Hoom to myn hous, or elles un-to youre—
For wel ye woot that al this gold is oures—
Than were we in heigh felicitee.

But trewely, by daye it may nat be; (460)
Men wolde seyn that we were theves
stronge, 789

And for our owene tresor doon us honge.
This tresor moste y-caried be by nighte
As wysly and as slyly as it mighte.

Wherfore I rede that cut among us alle
Be drawe, and lat see wher the cut wol
falle;

And he that hath the cut with herte blythe
Shal renne to the toune, and that ful
swythe, 796

And bringe us breed and wyn ful prively.
And two of us shul kepen subtilly (470)
This tresor wel; and, if he wol nat tarie,
When it is night, we wol this tresor
carie 800

By oon assent, wher-as us thinketh best.
That oon of hem the cut broughte in his
fest,

And bad hem drawe, and loke wher it wol
falle;

And it fil on the yongeste of hem alle;
And forth toward the toun he wente anon.

And al-so sone as that he was gon, 806

That oon of hem spak thus un-to that
other,

'Thou knowest wel thou art my sworne
brother, (480)

Thy profit wol I telle thee anon.

Thou woost wel that our felawe is agon;
And heer is gold, and that ful greet plente, 811

That shal departed been among us thre.
But natheles, if I can shape it so

That it departed were among us two,
Hadde I nat doon a freendes torn to thee?'
That other answerde, 'I noot how that may be; 816

He woot how that the gold is with us
tweye,

What shal we doon, what shal we to him
seye?' (491)

'Shal it be conseil?' seyde the firste
shrewe,

'And I shal tellen thee, in wordes fewe,
What we shal doon, and bringe it wel
aboute.' 821

'I graunte,' quod that other, 'out of
doute,

That, by my trouthe, I wol thee nat biwrewe.'

'Now,' quod the firste, 'thou woost wel
we be tweye, 824

And two of us shul strengre be than oon.
Look whan that he is set, and right anon
Arys, as though thou woldest with him
pleye;

And I shal ryve him thurgh the sydes
tweye (500)

Why! that thou strogelest with him as in
game,

And with thy dagger look thou do the
same; 830

And than shal al this gold departed be,
My dere freend, bitwixen me and thee;

Than may we bothe our lustes al fulfille,
And pleye at does right at our owene
wille.'

And thus scorded been thise shrewes
tweye 835

To sleen the thridde, as ye han herd me
seye.

This yongest, which that wente un-to
the toun,

Ful ofte in herte he rolleth up and doum

The beante of thise florins newe and
bryghte. (511)

'O lord!' quod he, 'if so were that I
mighte 840

Have al this tresor to my-self allone,
Ther is no man that liveth under the trone
Of god, that sholde live so mery as I!
And atte laste the feend, our enemy,
Putte in his thought that he shold poyson
beye, 845

With which he mighte sleen his felawes
tweye;

For-why the feend fond him in swich
lyvinge, (519)

That he had leve him to sorwe bringe,
For this was outrelly his fulle entente
To sleen hem bothe, and never to repente.
And forth he gooth, no lenger wolde he
tarie, 851

Into the toun, un-to a pothecarie,
And preyed him, that he him wolde
selle

Som poyson, that he mighte his rattes
quelle;

And eek ther was a polcat in his hawe,
That, as he seyde, his capouns hadde
y-slawe, 856

And fayn he wolde wreke him, if he
mighte,

On vermin, that destroyed him by nighte.
The pothecarie answerde, 'and thou shalt have (531)

A thing that, al-so god my soule save, 860
In al this world ther nis no creature,
That ete or dronke hath of this confiture Noght but the mountance of a corn of whete,

That he ne shal his lyf anon forlete;
Ye, sterve he shal, and that in lasse whyle
Than thou wolt goon a paas nat but a
myle; 866

This poyson is so strong and violent.'
This cursed man hath in his hond
y-hent (540)

This poyson in a box, and sith he ran
In-to the nexte strete, un-to a man, 870
And borwed [of] him large botels three;
And in the two his poyson poured he;
The thridde he kepte clene for his drinke.
For al the night he shoop him for to swinke 874

In caryinge of the gold out of that place.
And whan this ryotour, with sory grace,
Had filled with wyn his grete botels thre,
To his felawes agayn repaireth he. (550)

What nedeth it to sermone of it more?
For right as they had cast his deeth before,
Right so they han him slayn, and that
anon. 881

And whan that this was doon, thus spak
that oon,

'Now lat us sitte and drinke, and make us marie,

And afterward we wol his body berie.' And with that word it happed him, par
cas, 885

To take the botel ther the poyson was,
And drank, and yaf his felawe drinke also,
For which anon they storven bothe two.

But, certes, I suppose that Avicen (561)
Wroot never in no canon, ne in no fen,
Mo wonder signes of empoisoning 891
Than hadde thise wrecches two, er hir ending.

Thus ended been thise homicydes two,
And eek the false empoysoner also.

O cursed sinne, ful of cursednesse! 895
O traytours homicyde, o wikkednesse!
O glotonye, luxurie, and hasardrye! (569)
Thou blasphemour of Crist with vileinye
And othes grete, of usage and of pryde!

Allas! mankinde, how may it bityde, 900
That to thy creatour which that thee
wroghte,

And with his precious herte-blood thee
boghte,

Thou art so fals and so unkinde, allas!

Now, goode men, god forgeve yow your
trespas, 904

And ware yow fro the sinne of avaryce.
Myn holy pardoun may yow alle waryce,
So that ye offre nobles or sterlinges,
Or elles silver broches, spones, ringes. (580)
Boweth your heed under this holy bulle!
Cometh up, ye wyves, offreth of your wolle! 910

Your name I entre heer in my rolle anon;
In-to the blisse of hevене shul ye gon;
I yow assoile, by myn heigh power,
Yow that wol offre, as clene and eek as
cleer

As ye were born; and, lo, sirs, thus I
preche. 915

And Jesu Crist, that is our soules leche,
So graunte yow his pardon to receyve;
For that is best; I wol yow nat deceyve.

But sirs, o word forgot I in my tale, (591)
I have relikes and pardon in my male, 920

As faire as any man in Engelond,
Whiche were me yeven by the popes hond.

If any of yow wol, of devocioun,
Offren, and han myn absolucioun,

Cometh forth anon, and kneleth heer
adoun, 925

And mekely receyveth my pardoun:
Or elles, taketh pardon as ye wende, (599)

Al newe and fresh, at every townes ende,
So that ye offren alwey newe and newe

Nobles and pens, which that be gode and
trewe. 930

It is an honour to everich that is heer,
That ye mowe have a suffisant pardoneer

T'assoille yow, in contree as ye ryde,
For adventures which that may bytyde.

Peraventure ther may falle oon or two 935
Doun of his horn, and breke his nekke

atwo.
Look which a seuretee is it to yow alle

That I am in your felaweship y-falle, (610)
That may assoille yow, bothe more and

lasse,
Whan that the soule shal fro the body
passe. 940

I rede that our hoste heer shal biginne,
For he is most enveloped in sinne.

Com forth, sir hoste, and offre first anon,
And thou shalt kisse the reliks everichon,

Ye, for a grote! unbokel anon thy purs.'
'Nay, nay,' quod he, 'than have I

Cristes curs! 946
Lat be,' quod he, 'it shal nat be, so
thee'ch!

Thou woldest make me kisse thyn old breech, (620)

And swere it were a re'lik of a saint,
Thogh it were with thy fundement de-

peint! 950
But by the croys which that saint Eleyne

fond,
I wolde I hadde thy coillons in myn hond

In stede of relikes or of seintuarie;
Lat cutte hem of, I wol thee helpe hem

carie;
They shul be shryned in an hogges tord.'

This pardoner answerde nat a word; 956
So wrooth he was, no word ne wolde he

seye.
'Now,' quod our host, 'I wol no lenger

pleye (630)
With thee, ne with noon other angry man.'

But right anon the worthy Knight bigan, Whan that he saugh that al the peple

lough, 961
'Na-more of this, for it is right y-nough;

Sir Pardoner, be glad and mery of chere;
And ye, sir host, that been to me so dere,

I prey yow that ye kisse the Pardoner. 965
And Pardoner, I prey thee, drawe thee

neer,
And, as we diden, lat us laughe and

pleye.' (639)
Anon they kiste, and riden forth hir

weye. [T. 12902]

Here is ended the Pardoners Tale.

GROUP D.

THE WIFE OF BATH'S PROLOGUE.

The Prologe of the Wyves Tale of Bathes.

'EXPERIENCE, though noon auctoritee
 Were in this world, wero right y-nough
 to me
 To speke of wo that is in mariage;
 For, lordinges, sith I twelf yeer was of age,
 Thonked be god that is eterne on lyve, 5
 Housbondes at chirche-dore I have had
 fyve;
 For I so ofte have y-wedded be;
 And alle were worthy men in hir degree.
 But me was told certeyn, nat longe agon is,
 That sith that Crist ne wente never but onis 10
 To wedding in the Cane of Galilee,
 That by the same ensample taughte he me
 That I ne sholde wedded be but ones.
 Herke eek, lo! which a sharp word for the nones
 Pesyde a welle Jesus, god and man, 15
 Spak in repreve of the Samaritan:
 "Thou hast y-had fyve housbondes," quod
 he,
 "And thilke man, the which that hath
 now thee,
 Is nocht thyn housbond;" thus seyde he
 certeyn;
 What that he mente ther-by, I can nat
 seyn; 20
 But that I axe, why that the fifthe man
 Was noon housbond to the Samaritan?
 How many mighte she have in mariage?
 Yet herde I never tellen in myn age
 Upon this nombre diffinicion; 25
 Men may devyne and glosen up and down.
 But wel I woot expres, with-oute lye,
 God bad us for to wexe and multiplie;
 That gentil text can I wel understonde.
 Eek wel I woot he seyde, myn housbonde

Sholde lete fader and moder, and take
 me; 31
 But of no nombre mencion made he,
 Of bigamye or of octogamye;
 Why sholde men speke of it vileinye?
 Lo, here the wyse king, dan Salomon; 35
 I trowe he hadde wyves mo than oon;
 As, wolde god, it leveful were to me
 To be refreshed half so ofte as he!
 Which yifte of god hadde he for alle his wyvis!
 No man hath swich, that in this world
 alyve is. 40
 God woot, this noble king, as to my wit,
 The firste night had many a mery fit
 With ech of hem, so wel was him on lyve!
 Blessed be god that I have wedded fyve!*
 Welcome the sixte, whan that ever he
 shal. 45
 For sothe, I wol nat kepe me chast in al;
 Whan myn housbond is fro the world
 y-gon,
 Som Cristen man shal wedde me anon;
 For thanne th'apostle seith, that I am
 free
 To wedde, a godd's half, wher it lyketh
 me. 50
 He seith that to be wedded is no sinne;
 Bet is to be wedded than to brinne.
 What rekketh me, thogh folk seye vileinye
 Of shrewed Lamech and his bigamye?

* Here some MSS. insert the following genuine (but rejected) lines:—

Of whiche I have y-piked out the beste
 Bothe of hir nether purs and of hir cheste.
 Diverse sooles maken parfit clerkes,
 Divers praktik, in many sondry werkes,
 Maketh the werkman parfit sekirly.
 Of fyve husbondes scolering am I.

I woot wel Abraham was an holy man, 55
And Jacob eek, as ferforth as I can ;
And ech of hem hadde wyves mo than
two ;

And many another holy man also.
Whan saugh ye ever, in any maner age,
That hye god defended mariage 60
By expres word? I pray you, telleth me ;
Or wher comanded he virginitee?
I woot as wel as ye, it is no drede, Th'apostel, whan he speketh of mayden-
hede ;

He seyde, that precept ther-of hadde he
noon. 65

Men may counseille a womman to been oon,
But counseilling is no comandement ;
He putte it in our owene jugement
For hadde god comanded maydenhede, Thanne hadde he dampned wedding with the dede ; 70

And certes, if ther were no seed y-sowe,
Virginitee, wher-of than sholde it growe?
Poul dorste nat comanden atte leste
A thing of which his maister yaf noon hesta.

The dart is set up for virginitee ; 75
Cacche who so may, who renneth best lat
see.

But this word is nat take of every wight,
But ther as god list give it of his might.
I woot wel, that th'apostel was a mayde ;
But natheless, thogh that he wroot and
sayde, 80

He wolde that every wight were swich as
he,

Al nis but conseil to virginitee ;
And for to been a wyf, he yaf me leve
Of indulgence ; so it is no repreve
To wedde me, if that my make dye, 85
With-oute excepcioun of bigamye.

Al were it good no womman for to touche,
He mente as in his bed or in his couche ;
For peril is bothe fyr and tow t'assemble ;
Ye knowe what this ensample may resemble. 90

This is al and som, he heeld virginitee
More parfyt than wedding in freletee.
Freelitee clepe I, but-if that he and she Wolde leden al hir lyf in chastitee.

I graunte it wel, I have noon envye, 95
Thogh maydenhede preferre bigamye ;

Hem lyketh to be clene, body and goost,
Of myn estaat I nil nat make no boost.
For wel ye knowe, a lord in his household,
He hath nat every vessel al of gold ; 100
Somme been of tree, and doon hir lord
servyse.

God clepeth folk to him in sondry wyse,
And everich hath of god a propre yifte,
Som this, som that,—as him lyketh shifte.

Virginitee is greet perfeccioun, 105
And contynence eek with devocioun.
But Crist, that of perfeccioun is welle,
Bad nat every wight he sholde go selle
All that he hadde, and give it to the pore,
And in swich wyse folwe him and his
fore. 110

He spak to hem that wolde live parfytly ;
And lordinges, by your leve, that am nat I.
I wol bistowe the flour of al myn age
In th' actes and in fruit of mariage.

Telle me also, to what conclusioun 115
Were membres maad of generacioun,
And for what profit was a wight
y-wrought?

Trusteth right wel, they wer nat maad for noght.

Glose who-so wole, and seye bothe up and
down,

That they were makid for purgacioun 120
Of urine, and our bothe thinges smale
Were eek to knowe a femele from a male,

And for noon other cause : sey ye no ?
The experience woot wel it is noght so ;
So that the clerkes be nat with me
wrothe, 125

I sey this, that they makid been for bothe,
This is to seye, for office, and for ese
Of engendrure, ther we nat god displese.
Why sholde men elles in hir bokes sette,
That man shal yelde to his wyf hir
dette? 130

Now wher-with sholde he make his payement,

If he ne used his sely instrument?
Than were they maad up-on a creature,
To purge uryne, and eek for engendrure.

But I seye noght that every wight is
holde, 135
That hath swich harneys as I to yow
tolde,

To goon and usen hem in engendrure ;
Than sholde men take of chastitee no
cure.

Crist was a mayde, and shapen as a man,
And many a seint, sith that the world
bigan, 140

Yet lived they ever in parfit chastitee.

I nil envye no virginitee ;

Lat hem be breed of pured whete-seed,

And lat us wyves hoten barly-breed ;

And yet with barly-breed, Mark telle can,

Our lord Jesu refreshed many a man. 146

In swich estaat as god hath cleped us

I wol persevere, I nam nat precious.

In wyfhode I wol use myn instrument

As frely as my maker hath it sent. 150

If I be daungerous, god yeve me sorwe !

Myn housbond shal it have bothe eve and
morwe,

Whan that him list com forth and paye
his dette.

An housbonde I wol have, I nil nat lette,

Which shal be bothe my dettour and my thral, 155

And have his tribulacioun with-al

Up-on his flesh, whyl that I am his wyf.

I have the power duringe al my lyf

Up-on his propre body, and noght he.

Right thus th'apostel tolde it un-to me ;

And had our housbondes for to love us
weel. 161

Al this sentence me lyketh every-deel'—

Uf sterte the Pardoner, and that anon,

'Now dame,' quod he, 'by god and by seint John,

Ye been a noble prechour in this cas ! 165

I was aboute to wedde a wyf ; allas !

What sholde I bye it on my flesh so dere ?

Yet hadde I lever wedde no wyf to-yere !'

'Abyde !' quod she, 'my tale is nat
bigonne ; 169

Nay, thou shalt drinken of another tonne

Er that I go, shal savoure wors than ale.

And whan that I have told thee forth
my tale

Of tribulacioun in mariage,

Of which I am expert in al myn age,

This to seyn, my-self have been the
whippe ;— 175

Than maystow chese whether thou wolt
sippe

Of thilke tonne that I shal abroche.

Be war of it, er thou to ny approche ;

For I shal telle ensamples mo than ten.

Who-so that nil be war by othere men, 180

By him shul othere men corrected be.

The same wordes wryteth Ptholomee ;

Rede in his Almageste, and take it there.'

'Dame, I wolde praye yow, if your wil
it were,'

Seyde this Pardoner, 'as ye bigan, 185

Telle forth your tale, spareth for no man,

And teche us yonge men of your praktike.'

'Gladly,' quod she, 'sith it may yow
lyke.

But yet I praye to al this companye,

If that I speke after my fantasye, 190

As taketh not a-grief of that I seye ;

For myn entente nis but for to pleye.

Now sires, now wol I telle forth my
tale.—

As ever mote I drinken wyn or ale,

I shal seye sooth, tho housbondes that

I hadde, 195

As thre of hem were gode and two were
badde.

The thre men were gode, and riche, and
olde ;

Unnethe mighte they the statut holde

In which that they were bounden un-to
me. 199

Ye woot wel what I mene of this, pardee !

As help me god, I laughe whan I thinke

How pitously a-night I made hem swinke ;

And by my fey, I tolde of it no stoor.

They had me yeven hir gold and hir
tresoor ;

Me neded nat do lenger diligence 205

To winne hir love, or doon hem reverence.

They loved me so wel, by god above,

That I ne tolde no deayntee of hir love !

A wys womman wol sette hir ever in oon

To gete hir love, ther as she hath noon. 210

But sith I hadde hem hoolly in myn hond,

And sith they hadde me yeven all hir
lond,

What sholde I taken hede hem for to
plesa,

But it were for my profit and myn ese ?

I sette hem so a-werke, by my fey, 215

That many a night they songen "wei-
lawey !"

The bacoun was nat fet for hem, I trowe,
That som men han in Essex at Dunmowe.
I governed hem so wel, after my lawe,
That ech of hem ful blisful was and fawe
To bringe me gaye thinges fro the fayre. 221
They were ful glad whan I spak to hem
fayre ;

For god it woot, I chidde hem spytoualy.
Now herkneth, how I bar me proprely,
Ye wyse wyves, that can understonde. 225
Thushul ye speke and bere hem wrong
on honde ;

For half so boldely can ther no man
Swere and lyen as a womman can.
I sey nat this by wyves that ben wyse,
But-if it be whan they hem misavyse. 230
A wys wyf, if that she can hir good,
Shal beren him on hond the cow is wood,
And take witness of hir owene mayde
Of hir assent ; but herkneth how I sayde.

" Sir olde kaynard, is this thyn array ?
Why is my neighebores wyf so gay ? 236
She is honoured over-al ther she goth ;
I sitte at hoom, I have no thrifty cloth.
What dostow at my neighebores hous ?
Is she so fair ? artow so amorous ? 240
What rowne ye with our mayde ? bencite !

Sir olde lechour, lat thy japes be !
And if I have a gossib or a freend,
With-outen gilt, thou chydest as a feend,
If that I walke or pleye un-to his hous ! 245
Thou comest hoom as dronken as a mous,
And prechest on thy bench, with yvel
preef !

Thou seist to me, it is a greet meschief
To wedde a povre womman, for costage ;
And if that she be riche, of heigh parage,
Than seistow that it is a tormentrye 251
To suffre hir pryde and hir malencolye.
And if that she be fair, thou verray knave,
Thou seyst that every honour wol hir have ;
She may no whyle in chastitee abyde, 255
That is assailed up-on ech a tyde.

Thou seyst, som folk desyre us for
richesse,
Som for our shap, and som for our fair-
nesse ;
And som, for she can outhir singe or
daunce, 259
And som, for gentillesse and daliance ;

Som, for hir handes and hir armes smale ;
Thus goth al to the devel by thy tale.
Thou seyst, men may nat kepe a castel-
wal ;

It may so longe assailed been over-al.

And if that she be foul, thou seist that
she 265
Coveiteth every man that she may see ;
For as a spaynel she wol on him lepe,
Til that she finde som man hir to chepe ;
Ne noon so grey goos goth ther in the lake, 269

As, seistow, that wol been with-oute make.
And seyst, it is an hard thing for to welde
A thing that no man wol, his thankes, helde.

Thus seistow, lorel, whan thou goost to
bedde ;

And that no wys man nedeth for to wedde, 274

Ne no man that entendeth un-to hevene.
With wilde thonder-dint and fry levene
Mote thy welked nekke be to-broke !

Thow seyst that dropping houses, and eek smoke,

And chydying wyves, maken man to flee
Out of hir owene hous ; a ! ben'cite ! 280
What eyleth swich an old man for to
chyde ?

Thow seyst, we wyves wol our vyces
hyde

Til we be fast, and than we wol hem
shewe ;

Wel may that be a proverbe of a shrewe !
Thou seist, that oxen, asses, hors, and
houndes, 285

They been assayed at diverse stoundes ;
Bacins, lavours, er that men hem bye,
Spones and stoles, and al swich hous-
bondrye,

And so been pottes, clothes, and array ;
But folk of wyves maken noon assay 290
Til they be wedded ; olde dotard shrewe !
And than, seistow, we wol oure vices
shewe.

Thou seist also, that it displeseth me
But-if that thou wolt preyse my beautee,
And but thou poure alway up-on my
face, 295
And clepe me 'faire dame' in every
place ;

And but thou make a feste on thilke
 day
 That I was born, and make me fresh and gay,
 And but thou do to my norice honour,
 And to my chamberere with-inne my
 bour, 300
 And to my fadres folk and his allyes;—
 Thus seistow, olde barel ful of lyes!
 And yet of our apprentice Janekyn,
 For his crisp heer, shyninge as gold so fyn,
 And for he squiereth me bothe up and
 down, 305
 Yet hastow caught a fals suspecion;
 I wol hym noght, thogh thou were deed to-morwe.
 But tel me this, why hydestow, with
 sorwe,
 The keyes of thy cheste away fro me?
 It is my good as wel as thyn, pardee. 310
 What wenestow make an idiot of our
 dame?
 Now by that lord, that called is saint
 Jame,
 Thou shalt nat bothe, thogh that thou
 were wood,
 Be maister of my body and of my good;
 That oon thou shalt forgo, maugree thyne
 yën; 315
 What nedeth thee of me to enquere or
 spyën?
 I trowe, thou woldest loke me in thy cheste!
 Thou sholdest seye, 'wyf, go wher thee
 leste,
 Tak your disport, I wol nat leve no talis;
 I knowe yow for a trewe wyf, dame Alis.'
 We love no man that taketh kepe or
 charge 321
 Wher that we goon, we wol ben at our
 large.
 Of alle men y-blessed moot he be,
 The wyse astrologien Dan Ptholome, 324
 That seith this proverbe in his Almageste,
 'Of alle men his wisdom is the hyeste,
 That rekketh never who hath the world
 in honde.'
 By this proverbe thou shalt understonde,
 Have thou y-nogh, what thar thee recche or care
 How merily that othere folkes fare? 330

For certeyn, olde dotard, by your leve,
 Ye shul have queynte right y-nough at eve.
 He is to greet a nigard that wol werne
 A man to lighte his candle at his lanterne;
 He shal have never the lasse light,
 pardee; 335
 Have thou y-nough, thee thar nat pleyne
 thee
 Thou seyst also, that if we make us gay
 With clothing and with precious array.
 That it is peril of our chastitee;
 And yet, with sorwe, thou most enforce
 thee, 340
 And seye thise wordes in the apostles
 name,
 'In habit, maad with chastitee and
 shame,
 Ye women shul apparaille yow,' quod
 he,
 'And noght in tressed heer and gay
 perree,
 As perles, ne with gold, ne clothes riche;'
 After thy text, ne after thy rubriche 346
 I wol nat wirche as muchel as a gnat.
 Thou seydest this, that I was lyk a cat;
 For who-so wolde senge a cattes skin, Thanne wolde the cat wel dwellen in his in; 350
 And if the cattes skin be slyk and gay,
 She wol nat dwelle in house half a day,
 But forth she wole, er any day be dawed,
 To shewe hir skin, and goon a-cater-wawed;
 This is to seye, if I be gay, sir shrewe, 355
 I wol renne out, my borel for to shewe.
 Sire olde fool, what eyleth thee to
 spyën?
 Thogh thou preye Argus, with his hundred yën,
 To be my warde-cors, as he can best,
 In feith, he shal nat kepe me but me
 lest; 360
 Yet coude I make his berd, so moot
 I thee.
 Thou seydest eek, that ther ben thinges
 three,
 The whiche thinges troublen al this erthe,
 And that no wight ne may endure the farthe:
 O leve sir shrewe, Jesu shorte thy lyf! 365
 Yet prechestow, and seyst, an hateful wyf

Y-rekened is for oon of thise meschances.
Been ther none othere maner resemblances

That ye may lykne your parables to,
But-if a sely wyf be oon of tho? 370

Thou lykenest wommanes love to helle,
To bareyne lond, ther water may not
dwelle.

Thou lyknest it also to wilde fyr;
The more it brenneth, the more it hath
desyr

To consume every thing that brent wol be. 375

Thou seyst, that right as wormes shende
a tree,

Right so a wyf destroyeth hir housbonde;
This knowe they that been to wyves
bonde."

Lordinges, right thus, as ye have
understonde,

Bar I stify myne olde housbondes on
honde, 380

That thus they seyden in hir dronkenesse;
And al was fals, but that I took witnessse
On Janekin and on my nece also.

O lord, the payne I dide hem and the wo,
Ful giltelees, by goddes swete pyne! 385
For as an hors I coude byte and whyne.
I coude pleyne, thogh I were in the gilt,

Or elles often tyme hadde I ben spilt.
Who-so that first to mille comth, first grint;

I pleynd first, so was our werre y-stint.
They were ful glad t'excusen hem ful
blyve 391

Of thing of which they never agilte hir
lyve.

Of wenches wolde I beren him on
honde,

Whan that for syk unnethes mighte he stonde.

Yet tikled it his herte, for that he 395
Wende that I hadde of him so greet chierte.

I swoor that al my walkinge out by nighte
Was for t'espye wenches that he dighte;
Under that colour hadde I many a mirthe.
For al swich wit is yeven us in our birthe;
Deceite, weping, spinning god hath yive
To wommen kindly, whyl they may live.

And thus of o thing I awaunte me, 403
Atte ende I hadde the bettre in ech
degree,

By sleighte, or force, or by som maner
thing, 405

As by continuel murmur or grucching;
Namelya-bedde hadden they meschance,
Ther wolde I chyde and do hem no
plessaunce;

I wolde no lenger in the bed abyde,
If that I felte his arm over my syde, 410

Til he had maad his raunson un-to me;
Than wolde I suffre him do his nycetee.

And ther-fore every man this tale I telle,
Winne who-so may, for al is for to selle.

With empty hand men may none haukes lure; 415

For winning wolde I al his lust endure,
And make me a feyned appetyt;

And yet in bacon hadde I never delyt;
That made me that ever I wolde hem
chyde. 419

For thogh the pope had seten hem biwyde,
I wolde nat spare hem at hir owene bord.

For by my trouthe, I quitte hem word for word.

As help me verray god omnipotent, Thogh I right now sholde make my testament,

I ne owe hem nat a word that it nis quit.
I broghte it so aboute by my wit, 426

That they moste yeve it up, as for the
beste;

Or elles hadde we never been in reste.
For thogh he loked as a wood leoun,

Yet sholde he faille of his conclusioun. 430
Thanne wolde I seye, "gode lief, tak keep

How mekely loketh Wilkinoure sheep;
Com neer, my spouse, lat me be thy cheke!

Ye sholde been al pacient and meke,
And han a swete spyced conscience, 435

Sith ye so preche of Jobes pacience.
Suffreth alway, sin ye so wel can preche;

And but ye do, certein we shal yow
teche

That it is fair to have a wyf in pees.
Oon of us two moste bowen, doutelees; 440

And sith a man is more resonable
Than womman is, yo moste been suffrable.

What eyleth yow to grucche thus and
grone?

Is it for ye wolde have my queynte allone?
Why taak it al, lo, have it every-deel; 445
Peter! I shrewe yow but ye love it weel!
For if I wolde selle my bele chose,
I coude walke as fresh as is a rose;
But I wol kepe it for your owene tooth.
Ye be to blame, by god, I sey yow sooth."

Swiche maner wordes hadde we on
honde. 451
Now wol I spoken of my fourthe hous-
bonde.

My fourthe housbonde was a revalour,
This is to seyn, he hadde a paramour;
And I was yong and ful of ragerye, 455
Stiborn and strong, and joly as a pye.
Wel coude I daunce to an harpe smale,
And singe, y-wis, as any nightingale,
Whan I had dronke a draughte of swete
wyn.

Metellius, the foule cherl, the swyn, 460
That with a staf birafte his wyf hir lyf,
For she drank wyn, thogh I hadde been
his wyf,

Hesholde nat han daunted me fro drinke;
And, after wyn, on Venus moste I thinke:
For al so siker as cold engendreth hayl,
A likerous mouth moste han a likerous
tayl. 466

In womman violent is no defence,
This knowen lechours by experience.

But, lord Crist! whan that it remem-
breth me

Up-on my yowthe, and on my jolitee, 470
It tikleth me aboute myn herte rote.

Unto this day it dooth myn herte bote
That I have had my world as in my tyme.
But age, allas! that al wol envynyme, 474
Hath me biraft my beautee and my pith;
Let go, fare-wel, the devel go therwith!
The flour is goon, ther is na-more to telle,
The bren, as I best can, now moste I selle;
But yet to be right mery wol I fonde.

Now wol I tallen of my fourthe hous-
bonde. 480

I seye, I hadde in herte greet despyt
That he of any other had delyt.
But he was quit, by god and by seint
Joce!

I made him of the same wode a croce;

Nat of my body in no foul manere, 485
But certainly, I made folk swich chere,
That in his owene grece I made him frye
For angro, and for verray jalousye.
By god, in erthe I was his purgatorie, 489
For which I hope his soule be in glorie.
For god it woot, he sat ful ofte and song
Whan that his shoo ful bitterly him wrong.

Ther was no wight, save god and he, that
wiste,

In many wyse, how sore I him twiste.
He deyde whan I cam fro Jerusalem, 495
And lyth y-grave under the rode-beem,
Al is his tombe nocht so curious
As was the sepulchre of him, Darius,
Which that Appelles wroughte subtilly;
It nis but wast to burie him preciously. 500
Let him fare-wel, god yeve his soule reste,
He is now in the grave and in his cheste.

Now of my fifthe housbond wol I telle.
God lete his soule never come in helle!
And yet was he to me the moste shrewe;
That fele I on my ribbes al by rewe, 506
And ever shal, un-to myn ending-day.
But in our bed he was so fresh and gay,
And ther-with-al so wel coude he me glose,
Whan that he wolde han my bele chose, 510
That thogh he hadde me bet on every
boon,

He coude winne agayn my love anon.
I trowe I loved him beste, for that he Was of his love daungerous to me.
We women han, if that I shal nat lye,
In this matere a queynte fantasye; 516
Wayte what thing we may nat lightly
have,

Ther-after wol we crye al-day and crave.
Forbode us thing, and that desyren we;
Prees on us faste, and thanne wol we flee.
With daunger oute we al our chaffare; 521
Greet prees at market maketh dere ware,
And to greet cheep is holde at litel prys;
This knoweth every womman that is wys.

My fifthe housbonde, god his soule
blesse! 525
Which that I took for love and no
richesse,

He som-tyme was a clerk of Oxenford,
And had left scole, and wente to hoom to bord

With my gossib, dwellinge in oure toun,
 God have hir soule! hir name was Alisoun. 530

She knew myn herte and eek my privetee
 Bet than our parisshe-preest, so moot
 I thee!

To hir biwreyed I my conseil al.
 For had myn housbonde pissed on a wal,
 Or doon a thing that sholde han cost his
 lyf, 535

To hir, and to another worthy wyf,
 And to my nece, which that I loved
 weel,

I wolde han told his conseil every-deel.
 And so I dide ful often, god it woot,
 That made his face ful often reed and
 hoot 540

For verray shame, and blamed him-self for he

Had told to me so greet a privetee.

And so bifel that ones, in a Lente,
 (So often tymes I to my gossib wente,
 For ever yet I lovede to be gay, 545
 And for to walke, in March, Averille, and
 May,

Fro hous to hous, to here sondry talis),
 That Jankin clerk, and my gossib dame
 Alis,

And I my-self, in-to the felde wente.
 Myn housbond was at London al that Lente; 550

I hadde the bettre leyser for to pleye,
 And for to see, and eek for to be seye
 Of lusty folk; what wiste I wher my grace
 Was shapen for to be, or in what place?

Therefore I made my visitaciouns, 555
 To vigillies and to processions,
 To preching eek and to thise pilgrimages,

To pleyes of miracles and mariages,
 And wered upon my gaye scarlet gytes.
 Thise wormes, ne thise motthes, ne thise
 mytes, 560

Upon my peril, frete hem never a deal;
 And wostow why? for they were used
 weel.

Now wol I tellen forth what happed me.
 I seye, that in the feldees walked we,
 Til trewely we hadde swich daliance, 565
 This clerk and I, that of my purveyance
 I spak to him, and seyde him, how that he,
 If I were widwe, sholde wedde me.

For certainly, I sey for no bobance,
 Yet was I never with-ouren purveyance
 Of mariage, n'of othere thinges eek. 571
 I holde a mouses herte nat worth a leek,
 That hath but oon hole for to sterte to,
 And if that faille, thanne is al y-do.

I bar him on honde, he hadde en-charnted me; 575

My dame taughte me that soutiltee.
 And eek I seyde, I mette of him al night;
 He wolde han slayn me as I lay up-right,
 And al my bed was ful of verray blood,
 But yet I hope that he shal do me
 good; 580

For blood bitokeneth gold, as me was taught.

And al was fals, I dremed of it right
 naught,

But as I folwed ay my dames lore,
 As wel of this as of othere thinges more.

But now sir, lat me see, what I shal
 seyn? 585

A! ha! by god, I have my tale ageyn.
 Whan that my fourthe housbond was on bere,

I weep algate, and made sory chere,
 As wyves moten, for it is usage,
 And with my coverchief covered my
 visage; 590

But for that I was purveyed of a make,
 I weep but smal, and that I undertake.

To chirche was myn housbond born a-morwe

With neighebores, that for him maden
 sorwe;

And Jankin oure clerk was oon of tho. 595
 As help me god, whan that I saugh him go

After the bere, me thoughte he hadde a
 paire

Of legges and of feet so clene and faire,
 That al myn herte I yaf un-to his hold.

He was, I trowe, a twenty winter old, 600
 And I was fourty, if I shal seye sooth;
 But yet I hadde alwey a coltes tooth.

Gat-tothed I was, and that bicam me
 weel;

I hadde the prente of seynt Venus seel.
 As help me god, I was a lusty oon, 605
 And faire and riche, and yong, and wel
 bigoon;

And trewely, as myne housbondes tolde
me,

I had the beste quoniam mighte be.
For certes, I am al Venerien 609
In felinge, and myn herte is Marciën.
Venus me yaf my lust, my likerousnesse,
And Mars yaf me my sturdy hardinesse.
Myn ascendent was Taur, and Mars ther-
inne.

Allas! alas! that ever love was sinne!
I folwed ay myn inclinacioun 615
By vertu of my constellacioun;
That made me I coude noght withdrawe
My chambre of Venus from a good felawe.
Yet have I Martes mark up-on my face,
And also in another privee place. 620
For, god so wis be my savacioun,
I ne loved never by no discrecioun,
But ever folwede myn appetyt,
Al were he short or long, or blak or
whyt;

I took no kepe, so that he lyked me, 625
How pore he was, ne eek of what degree.

What sholde I seye, but, at the monthes
ende,

This joly clerk Jankin, that was so hende,
Hath wedded me with greet solempnitee,
And to him yaf I al the lond and fee 630
That ever was me yeven ther-bifore;
But afterward repented me ful sore.
He nolde suffre nothing of my list.
By god, he smoot me ones on the list,
For that I rente out of his book a leef, 635
That of the strook myn ere wax al deef.
Stiborn I was as is a leonesse,
And of my tonge a verray jangleresse,
And walke I wolde, as I had doon biforn,
From hous to hous, al-though he had it
sworn. 640

For which he often tymes wolde preche,
And me of olde Romayn gestes teche,
How he, Simplicius Gallus, lefte his wyf,
And hir forsook for terme of al his lyf,
Noght but for open-headed he hir say 645
Lokinge out at his dore upon a day.

Another Romayn tolde he me by name,
That, for his wyf was at a someres game
With-oute his witing, he forsook hir eke.
And than wolde he up-on his Bible seke
That ilke proverbe of Ecclesiaste, 651
Wher he comandeth and forbedeth faste,

Man shal nat suffre his wyf go roule
aboute;

Than wolde he seye right thus, with-outen doute,

"Who-so that buildeth his hous al of salwes, 655
And priketh his blinde hors over the falwes,
And suffreth his wyf to go seken halwes,
Is worthy to been hanged on the gal-wes!"

But al for noght, I sette noght an hawe
Of his proverbes n'of his olde sawe, 660
Ne I wolde nat of him corrected be.

I hate him that my vices telleth me,
And so do mo, god woot! of us than I.
This made him with me wood al outrely;
I nolde noght forbere him in no cas. 665
Now wol I seye yow sooth, by seint
Thomas,

Why that I rente out of his book a leef,
For which he smoot me so that I was deef.

He hadde a book that gladly, night and
day,

For his desport he wolde rede alway. 670
He cleped it Valerie and Theofraste,
At whiche book he lough alway ful faste.
And eek ther was som-tyme a clerk at Rome,

A cardinal, that highte Seint Jerome,
That made a book agayn Jovinian; 675
In whiche book eek ther was Tertulan, Crisippus, Trotula, and Helowys,
That was abbesse nat fer fro Parys;
And eek the Parables of Salomon,
Ovydes Art, and bokes many on, 680
And alle thise wer bounden in o volume.
And every night and day was his custume,
Whan he had leyser and vacacioun
From other worldly occupacioun, 684
To reden on this book of wikked wyves.

He knew of hem mo legendes and lyves
Than been of gode wyves in the Bible.
For trusteth wel, it is an impossible
That any clerk wol speke good of wyves,
But-if it be of holy seintes lyves, 690
Ne of noon other womman never the mo.
Who peyntede the leoun, tel me who?
By god, if wommen hadde writen stories,
As clerkes han with-inne hir oratories,

They wolde han writen of men more wikkodnesse 695

Than all the mark of Adam may redresse.
The children of Mercurie and of Venus
Been in hir winking ful contrarious;

Mercurie loveth wisdom and science,
And Venus loveth ryot and dispence. 700

And, for hir diverse disposicioun,
Ech falleth in others exaltacioun;
And thus, god woot! Mercurie is desolat
In Pisces, wher Venus is exaltat;

And Venus falleth ther Mercurie is
reysed; 705

Therefore no womman of no clerk is preyssed.
The clerk, whan he is old, and may noght
do

Of Venus werkes worth his olde sho,
Than sit he donn, and writ in his dotage
That wommen can nat kepe hir mariage!

But now to purpos, why I tolde thee
That I was beten for a book, pardee. 712

Up-on a night Jankin, that was our syre,

Redde on his book, as he sat by the fyre,
Of Eva first, that, for hir wikkednesse,
Was al mankinde broght to wretched-

nesse, 716

For which that Jesu Crist him-self was
slayn,

That boghte us with his herte-blood agayn.
Lo, here expres of womman may ye finde,
That womman was the los of al mankinde.

The redde he me how Sampson loste his heres, 721

Slepinge, his lemman kitte hem with hir
sheres;

Thurgh whiche tresoun loste he bothe
his y8n.

The redde he me, if that I shal nat lyen,
Of Hercules and of his Dianyre, 725

That causid him to sette himself a-fyre.
No-thing forgat he the penaunce and
wo

That Socrates had with hise wyves two;
How Xantippa caste pisse up-on his heed;

This sely man sat stille, as he were deed;
He wyped his heed, namore dorste he seyn
But "er that thonder stinte, comth a

reyn." 732

Of Phasipha, that was the quene of Crete,

For shrewednesse, him thoughte the tale
swete;

Fy! spek na-more—it is a grisly thing—
Of hir horrible lust and hir lyking. 736

Of Clitemistra, for hir lecherye,
That falsly made hir housbond for to dye,
He redde it with ful good devocioun.

He tolde me eek for what occasioun 740
Amphiorax at Thebes loste his lyf;

Myn housbond hadde a legende of his wyf,
Eriphilem, that for an ouche of gold
Hath prively un-to the Grekes told

Wher that hir housbonde hidde him in a
place, 745

For which he hadde at Thebes sory grace.
Of Lyma tolde he me, and of Lucye,

They bothe made hir housbondes for to
dye;

That oon for love, that other was for hate;

Lyma hir housbond, on an even late, 750
Empoysoned hath, for that she was his fo.

Lucya, likerous, loved hir housbond so,
That, for he sholde alway up-on hir thinke,
She yaf him swich a maner love-drinke,

That he was deed, or it were by the
morwe; 755

And thus algates housbondes han sorwe.
Than tolde he me, how oon Latunius

Compleyned to his felawe Arrius,
That in his gardin growed swich a tree,

On which, he seyde, how that his wyves
three 760

Hanged hem-self for herte despitous.
"O leve brother," quod this Arrius,

"Yif me a plante of thilke blissed tree,
And in my gardin planted shal it be!"

Of latter date, of wyves hath he red,
That somme han slayn hir housbondes in hir bed, 766

And lete hir lechour dighte hir al the
night

Whyl that the corps lay in the floor up-
right.

And somme han drive nayles in hir brayn
Whyl that they slepte, and thus they han

hem slayn. 770

Somme han hem yeve poysoun in hir
drinke
He spak more harm than herte may bithinke.

And ther-with-al, he knew of mo proverbes

Than in this world ther growen gras or herbes.

"Bet is," quod he, "thyn habitacioun 775
Be with a leoun or a foul dragoun,
Than with a womman usings for to ohyde.
Bet is," quod he, "hye in the roof abyde Than with an angry wyf down in the
hous;

They been so wikked and contrarious; 780
They haten that hir housbondes loveth
ay."

He seyde, "a womman cast hir shame
away,

Whan she cast of hir smok;" and forther-
mo,

"A fair womman, but she be chaast also,
Is lyk a gold ring in a sowes nose." 785
Who wolde wenen, or who wolde suppose
The wo that in myn herte was, and pyne?

And whan I saugh he wolde never fyne
To reden on this cursed book al night,
Al sodeynly three leves have I plight 790
Out of his book, right as he radde, and
eke,

I with my fist so took him on the cheke,
That in our fyr he fil bakward adoun.
And he up-stirte as dooth a wood leoun,
And with his fist he smoot me on the
heed, 795

That in the floor I lay as I were deed.
And when he saugh how stille that I lay,
He was agast, and wolde han fled his
way,

Til atte laste out of my swogh I breyde:
"O! hastow slayn me, false thief?" I
seyde, 800

"And for my land thus hastow mordred
me?

Er I be deed, yet wol I kisse thee."

And near he cam, and kneled faire
adoun,

And seyde, "dere suster Alisoun, 804
As help me god, I shal thee never smyte;
That I have doon, it is thy-self to wyte.
Foryeve it me, and that I thee biseke"—
And yet eft-sones I hitte him on the cheke,
And seyde, "theef, thus muchel am I
wreke; 809

Now wol I dye, I may no lenger speke."

But atte laste, with muchel care and wo,
We fille acoorded, by us selven two.

He yaf me al the brydel in myn hond
To han the governance of hous and lond,
And of his tonge and of his hond also, 815
And made him brenne his book anon
right tho.

And whan that I hadde geten un-to me,
By maistrie, al the soveraynetee,
And that he seyde, "myn owene trewe
wyf,

Do as thee lust the terms of al thy lyf,
Keep thyn honour, and keep eek myn
estaat"— 821

After that day we hadden never debaat.
God help me so, I was to him as kinde
As any wyf from Denmark un-to Inde,
And also trewe, and so was he to me. 825
I prey to god that sit in magestee,
So blesse his soule, for his mercy dere!
Now wol I seye my tale, if ye wol here.'

Biholde the wordes between the Somnour and the Frere.

THE Frere lough, whan he hadde herd
al this,

'Now, dame,' quod he, 'so have I joye or
blis, 830

This is a long preamble of a tale!'

And whan the Somnour herde the Frere
gale,

'Lo!' quod the Somnour, 'goddess armes
two!

A frere wol entremette him ever-mo.
Lo, gode men, a flye and eek a frere 835

Wol falle in every dish and eek matere.

What spekestow of preambulacioun?

What! amble, or trotte, or pees, or go sit down;

Thou lettest our disport in this manere.'

'Ye, woltow so, sir Somnour?' quod
the Frere, 840

'Now, by my feith, I shal, er that I go,
Telle of a Somnour swich a tale or two,
That alle the folk shal laughen in this
place.'

'Now elles, Frere, I bishrewe thy
face,'

Quod this Somnour, 'and I bishrewe me,
But-if I telle tales two or three 846

Of freres er I come to Sidingborne,
That I shal make thyn herte for to morne;
For wel I woot thy pacience is goon.'

Our hoste cryde 'pees! and that anon!'
And seyde, 'lat the womman telle hir
tale. 851
Ye fare as folk that dronken been of ale.

Do, dame, tel forth your tale, and that is best.'

'Al redy, sir,' quod she, 'right as yow
lest,
If I have licence of this worthy Frere.'
'Yis, dame,' quod he, 'tel forth, and
I wol here.' 856

Here endeth the Wyf of Bathe hir Prologe.

THE TALE OF THE WYF OF BATHE.

Here biginneth the Tale of the Wyf of Batha.

IN th'olde dayes of the king Arthour,
Of which that Britons speken greet
honour,

Al was this land fulfild of fayerye. 859
The elf-queen, with hir joly companye,
Daunced ful ofte in many a grene mede;
This was the olde opinion, as I rede.

I speke of manye hundred yeres ago;
But now can no man see none elves mo.
For now the grete charitee and prayeres
Of limitours and others holy freres, (10)
That serchen every lond and every streem,
As thikke as motes in the sonne-beem,
Blessinge halles, chambres, kichenes,
boures,

Citees, burghes, castels, hye toures, 870
Thropes, bernes, shipnes, dayeryes,
This maketh that ther been no fayeryes.
For ther as wont to walken was an elf,
Ther walketh now the limitour himself

In undermeles and in morweninges, 875
And seyth his matins and his holy thinges
As he goth in his limitacioun. (21)
Wommen may go sauffy up and down,
In every bush, or under every tree;
Ther is noon other incubus but he, 880
And he ne wol doon hem but dishonour.

And so bifel it, that this king Arthour
Hadde in his hous a lusty bachelar,

That on a day cam rydinge fro river;
And happed that, allone as she was
born, (29) 885

He saugh a mayde walkinge him biforn,
Of whiche mayde anon, maugree hir heed,
By verray force he rafte hir maydenheed;
For which oppressioun was swich clamour
And swich pursute un-to the king Arthour, 890
That dampned was this knight for to be
deed

By cours of laws, and sholde han lost his
heed

Paraventure, swich was the statnt tho;
But that the quene and othere ladies mo
So longe preyeden the king of grace, 895
Til he his lyf him graunted in the place,
And yaf him to the quene al at hir
wille, (41)
To chese, whether she wolde him save or
spille.

The quene thanketh the king with al
hir might, 899
And after this thus spak she to the knight, Whan that she saugh hir tyme, up-on a
day:

'Thou standest yet,' quod she, 'in swich
array,

That of thy lyf yet hastow no suretee.
I grante thee lyf, if thou canst tellen me

What thing is it that women most desyren? 905

Be war, and keep thy nekke-boon from yran. (50)

And if thou canst nat tellen it anon,
Yet wol I yeve thee leve for to gon
A twelf-month and a day, to seche and
lere

An answer suffisant in this matere. 910
And suretee wol I han, er that thou pace,
Thy body for to yelden in this place.'

Wo was this knight and sorwefully he
syketh;

But what! he may nat do al as him lyketh.
And at the laste, he chees him for to
wende, 915

And come agayn, right at the yeres ende,
With swich answer as god wolde him
purveys; (61)

And taketh his leve, and wendeth forth
his weye.

He seketh every hous and every place,
Wher-as he hopeth for to finde grace, 920
To lerne, what thing women loven
most;

But he ne coude arryven in no cost,
Wher-as he mighte finde in this matere
Two creatures accordinge in-fere.

Somme seyde, women loven best richeesse, 925

Somme seyde, honour, somme seyde, joly-
nesse; (70)

Somme, riche array, somme seyden, lust
abedde,

And ofte tyme to be widwe and wedde.

Somme seyde, that our hertes been most esed,

Whan that we been y-flatered and y-
plesed. 930

He gooth ful ny the sothe, I wol nat lye;
A man shal winne us best with flaterye;
And with attendance, and with bisnesse,
Been we y-lymed, bothe more and lesse.

And somme seyn, how that we loven
best 935

For to be free, and do right as us lest, (80)
And that no man repreve us of our vyce,
But seye that we be wyse, and no-thing
nyce.

For trewely, ther is noon of us alle, 939
If any wight wol clawe us on the galle,

That we nil kike, for he seith us sooth;
Assay, and he shal finde it that so dooth.
For be we never so vicious with-inne,
We wol been holden wyse, and clene of
sinne.

And somme seyn, that greet delyt han
we (89) 945

For to ben holden stable and eek secrete,
And in o purpos stedefastly to dwelle,
And nat biwreye thing that men us telle.
But that tale is nat worth a rake-stele;
Pardee, we women conne no-thing hele;
Witness on Myda; wol ye here the tale?

Ovyde, amonges othere thinges smale,
Seyde, Myda hadde, under his longe heres,
Growing up-on his heed two asses eres,
The whiche vyce he hidde, as he best
mighte, 955

Ful subtilly from every mannes sighte,
That, save his wyf, ther wiste of it na-
mo. (101)

He loved hir most, and trusted hir also;
He preyde hir, that to no creature
She sholde tellen of his disfigura. 960

She swoor him 'nay, for al this world
to winne,

She nolde do that vileinye or sinne,
To make hir housbond han so foul a name;
She nolde nat telle it for hir owene shame.'
But natheless, hir thoughte that she dyde,
That she so longe sholde a conseil hyde;
Hir thoughte it swal so sore aboute hir
herte, (111)

That nedely som word hir moste asterte;
And sith she dorste telle it to no man,

Doun to a mareys faste by she ran; 970
Til she came there, hir herte was a-fyre,
And, as a bitore bombleth in the myre,
She leyde hirmouth un-to the water doun:
'Biwreye me nat, thou water, with thy
soun,' (118) 974

Quod she, 'to thee I telle it, and namo;
Myn housbond hath longe asses eres two!
Now is myn herte all hool, now is it oute;
I mighte no lenger kepe it, out of doute.'
Heer thay ye se, thogh we a tyme abyde,
Yet out it moot, we can no conseil hyde;
The remenant of the tale if ye wol here,
Redeth Ovyde, and ther ye may it lere.

This knight, of which my tale is specially, 983

What that he saugh he mighte nat come
 therby,
 This is to seya, what women loven moost,
 With-inne his brest ful sorweful was the goost; (130) 986
 But hoom he gooth, he mighte nat
 sojourne.
 The day was come, that hoomward moste
 he tourne,
 And in his wey it happed him to ryde,
 In al this care, under a forest-syde, 990
 Wher-as he saugh up-on a daunce go
 Of ladies foure and twenty, and yet mo;
 Toward the whiche daunce he drow ful
 yerne,
 In hope that som wisdom sholde he lerne.
 But certeinly, er he came fully there, 995
 Vanished was this daunce, he niste where.
 No creature saugh he that bar lyf, (141)
 Save on the grene he saugh sittinge a wyf;
 A fouler wight ther may no man devyse.
 Agayn the knight this olde wyf gan ryse,
 And seyde, 'sir knight, hear-forth ne lyth
 no way. 1001
 Tel me, what that ye seken, by your fey?
 Paraventure it may the bettre be;
 These olde folk can muchel thing,' quod
 she.
 'My leve mooder,' quod this knight
 certeyn, 1005
 'I nam but deed, but-if that I can seyn
 What thing it is that women most
 desyre; (151)
 Coude ye me wisse, I wolde wel quyte your hyre.'
 'Plight me thy trouthe, heer in myn hand,' quod she,
 'The nexte thing that I requere thee, 1010
 Thou shalt it do, if it lye in thy might;
 And I wol telle it yow er it be night.'
 'Have heer my trouthe,' quod the knight,
 'I grante.'
 'Thanne,' quod she, 'I dar me wel
 avante, 1014
 Thy lyf is sauf, for I wol stonde therby,
 Up-on my lyf, the queen wol seye as I Let see which is the proudeste of hem
 alle, (161)
 That wereth on a coverchief or a calle,
 That dar seye nay, of that I shal thee
 teche;

Let us go forth with-outen lenger speche.'
 Tho rounded she a pistel in his ere, 1021
 And bad him to be glad, and have no
 fere.
 When they be comen to the court, this
 knight
 Seyde, 'he had holde his day, as he hadde hight,
 And redy was his answer,' as he sayde.
 Ful many a noble wyf, and many a
 mayde, (170) 1025
 And many a widwe, for that they ben
 wyse,
 The quene hir-self sittinge as a justyse,
 Assembled been, his answers for to here;
 And afterward this knight was bod3
 appere. 1030
 To every wight comanded was silence,
 And that the knight sholde telle in audience,
 What thing that worldly women loven
 best.
 This knight ne stood nat stille as doth
 a best,
 But to his questioun anon answerde 1035
 With manly voys, that al the court it
 herde: (180)
 'My lige lady, generally,' quod he,
 'Women desyren to have sovereyntee
 As wel over hir housbond as hir love,
 And for to been in maistrie him above;
 This is your moste desyr, thogh ye me
 kille, 1041
 Doth as yow list, I am heer at your wille.'
 In al the court ne was ther wyf ne
 mayde,
 Ne widwe, that contraried that he sayde,
 But seyden, 'he was worthy han his
 lyf.' 1045
 And with that word up stirte the olde
 wyf, (190)
 Which that the knight saugh sittinge in the grene:
 'Mercy,' quod she, 'my sovereyn lady
 quene!
 Er that your court departe, do me right.
 I taughte this answer un-to the knight;
 For which he plighte me his trouthe
 there, 1051
 The firste thing I wolde of him requere,
 He wolde it do, if it lay in his might.

Bifore the court than preye I thee, sir knight,

Quod she, 'that thou me take un-to thy wyf; 1055

For wel thou wost that I have kept thy lyf. (200)

If I sey fals, sey nay, up-on thy fey!

This knight answerde, 'allas! and weylaway!

I woot right wel that swich was my bihesta. 1059

For goddes love, as chees a newe requeste; Tak al my good, and lat my body go.'

'Nay than,' quod she, 'I shrewe us bothe two!

For thogh that I be foul, and old, and pore,

I nolde for al the metal, ne for ore, That under erthe is grave, or lyth above,

But-if thy wyf I were, and eek thy love.' (210) 1066

'My love?' quod he; 'nay, my damp-nacioun!

Allas! that any of my nacioun Sholde ever so foule disparaged be!'

But al for noight, the ende is this, that he Constreynd was, he nedes moste hir wedde; 1071

And taketh his olde wyf, and gooth to bedde.

Now wolden som men seye, paraventure, That, for my negligence, I do no cure

To tellan yow the joye and al th'array That at the feste was that ilke day. (220)

To whiche thing shortly answers I shal; I seye, ther nas no joye ne feste at al,

Ther nas but hevynesse and muche sorwe; For prively he wedded hir on a morwe,

And al day after hidde him as an oule; So wo was him, his wyf looked so foule.

Greet was the wo the knight hadde in his thought,

When he was with his wyf a-bedde y-brought; 1084

He walweth, and he turneth to and fro. His olde wyf lay smylinge evermo, (230)

And seyde, 'o dere housbond, ben'cite! Fareth every knight thus with his wyf as ye?

Is this the lawe of king Arthures hous? Is every knight of his so dangerous? 1090

I am your owene love and eek your wyf; I am she, which that saved hath your lyf;

And certes, yet dide I yow never unright; Why fare ye thus with me this firste night?

Ye faren lyk a man had lost his wit; 1095 What is my gilt? for godd's love, tel me it, (240)

And it shal been amended, if I may.'

'Amended?' quod this knight, 'allas! nay, nay!

It wol nat been amended never mo! Thou art so loothly, and so old also, 1100

And ther-to comen of so lowe a kinde, That lital wonder is, thogh I walwe and winde.

So wolde god myn herte wolde breste!'

'Is this,' quod she, 'the cause of your unreste?' 1104

'Ye, certainly,' quod he, 'no wonder is.'

'Now, sire,' quod she, 'I coude amende al this, (250)

If that me liste, er it were dayes three, So wel ye mighte bere yow un-to me.

But for ye speken of swich gentilnesse As is descended out of old richesse, 1110

That therefore sholden ye be gentil men, Swich arrogance is nat worth an hen.

Loke who that is most vertuous alway, Privee and apert, and most entendeth ay

To do the gentil dedes that he can, 1115 And tak him for the grettest gentil man. (260)

Crist wol, we clayme of him our gentilnesse,

Nat of our elders for hir old richesse. For thogh they yeve us al hir heritage,

For which we clayme to been of heigh parage, 1120

Yet may they nat biquethe, for no-thing, To noon of us hir vertuous living,

That made hem gentil men y-called be; And bad us folwen hem in swich degre.

Wel can the wyse poete of Florence, That highte Dant, spoken in this sentence;

Lo in swich maner rym is Dantes tale: "Ful selde up ryseth by his branches

smale (272) 1128 Prowesse of man; for god, of his goodnesse,

Wol that of him we clayme our gentilnesse;" 1130

For of our eldres may we no-thing
 clayme 1131
 But temporel thing, that man may hurte
 and mayme.
 Eek every wight wot this as wel as I,
 If gentillesse were planted naturally
 Un-to a certeyn linage, doun the lynne, Privee ne apert, than wolde they never
 fyne (280) 1136
 To doon of gentillesse the faire offyce;
 They mighte do no vileinye or vyce.
 Tak fyr, and ber it in the derkeste hous
 Bitwix this and the mount of Caucasus,
 And lat men shette the dores and go
 thenne; 1141
 Yet wol the fyr as faire lye and brenne,
 Astwenty thousand men mighte it biholde;
 His office naturel ay wol it holde,
 Up peril of my lyf, til that it dya. 1145
 Heer may ye see wel, how that gentyrye
 Is nat annexed to possessioun, (291)
 Sith folk ne doon hir operacioun
 Alwey, as dooth the fyr, lo! in his kinde.
 For, god it woot, men may wel often finde
 A lordes sone do shame and vileinye; 1151
 And he that wol han prys of his gentyrye
 For he was boren of a gentil hous,
 And hadde hise eldres noble and vertuous,
 And nil him-selven do no gentil dedis, 1155
 Ne folwe his gentil auncestre that deed is,
 He nis nat gentil, be he duk or erl; (301)
 For vileyns sinful dedes make a cherl.
 For gentillesse nis but renomee 1159
 Of thyne auncestres, for hir heigh bountee,
 Which is a strange thing to thy persone.
 Thy gentillesse cometh fro god allone;
 Than comth our verray gentillesse of grace,
 It was no-thing biquethe us with our place.
 Thinketh how noble, as seith Valerius,
 Was thilke Tullius Hostilius, (310) 1166
 That out of povert roos to heigh noblesse.
 Redeth Senek, and redeth eek Boöce,
 Ther shul ye seen expres that it no drede is,
 That he is gentil that doth gentil dedis;
 And therefore, leve housbond, I thus conclude, 1171
 Al were it that myne auncestres were rude,
 Yet may the hye god, and so hope I,
 Grante me grace to liven vertuously. 1174
 Thanne am I gentil, whan that I biginne
 To liven vertuously and weyve sinne. (320)

And ther-as ye of povert me repreve,
 The hye god, on whom that we bileve,
 In wilful povert chese to live his lyf. 1179
 And certes every man, mayden, or wyf,
 May understonde that Jesus, hevене king,
 Ne wolde nat chese a vicious living.
 Glad povert is an honest thing, certeyn;
 This wol Senek and othere clerkes seyn.
 Who-so that halt him payd of his povert,
 I holde him riche, al hadde he nat a sherta. (330) 1186
 He that coveyteth is a povre wight,
 For he wolde han that is nat in his might.
 But he that nocht hath, ne coveyteth have,
 Is riche, al-though ye holde him but a
 knave. 1190
 Verray povert, it singeth proprely;
 Juvenal seith of povert merily:
 "The povre man, whan he goth by the
 weye,
 Bifore the theves he may singe and pleye."
 Povert is hateful good, and, as I gasse, 1195
 A ful greet bringer out of businessse; (340)
 A greet amender eek of sapience
 To him that taketh it in pacience.
 Povert is this, al-though it seme elenge:
 Possessioun, that no wight wol chalenge.
 Povert ful ofte, whan a man is lowe, 1201
 Maketh his god and eek him-self to knowe.
 Povert a spectacle is, as thinketh me,
 Thurgh which he may his verray frendes
 see.
 And therefore, sire, sin that I nocht yow
 greve, 1205
 Of my povert na-more ye me repreve. (350)
 Now, sire, of elde ye repreve me;
 And certes, sire, thogh noon auctoritee
 Were in no book, ye gentils of honour
 Seyn that men sholde an old wight doon favour, 1210
 And clepe him fader, for your gentillesse;
 And auctours shal I finden, as I gesse.
 Now ther ye seye, that I am foul and old,
 Than drede you nocht to been a cokewold;
 For filthe and elde, al-so mote I thee, 1215
 Been grete wardneys up-on chastitee. (360)
 But natheless, sin I knowe your delyt,
 I shal fulfille your worldly appetyt.
 Chees now, quod she, 'oon of these thinges tweye, 1219
 To han me foul and old til that I deye,

And be to yow a trewe humble wyf,
 And never yow displese in al my lyf,
 Or elles ye wol han me yong and fair,
 And take your aventure of the repair 1244
 That shal be to your hous, by-cause of me,
 Or in som other place, may wel be. (370)
 Now chees your-selven, whether that yow
 lyketh.'

This knight avyseth him and sore
 syketh,

But atte laste he seyde in this manere,
 'My lady and my love, and wyf so dere,
 I put me in your wyse governance; 1231 Cheseth your-self, which may be most
 plesance,

And most honour to yow and me also.

I do no fors the whether of the two;

For as yow lyketh, it suffiseth me.' 1235

'Thanne have I gete of yow maistrye,'
 quod she, (380)

'Sin I may chese, and governe as me lest?'

'Ye, certes, wyf,' quod he, 'I holde it best.'

'Kis me,' quod she, 'we be no lenger
 wrothe; 1239

For, by my tronthe, I wol be to yow bothe,
 This is to seyn, ye, bothe fair and good.

I prey to god that I mot sterven wood,

But I to yow be al-so good and trewe
 As ever was wyf, sin that the world was
 newe.

And, but I be to-morn as fair to sene 1245
 As any lady, emperyoce, or quene, (390)
 That is bitwixe the est and eke the west, Doth with my lyf and deeth right as yow
 lest.

Cast up the curtin, loke how that it is.'

And whan the knight saugh verrailly al
 this, 1250

That she so fair was, and so yong ther-to,
 For joye he hente hir in his armes two,
 His herte bathed in a bath of blisse;
 A thousand tyme a-rewe he gan hir
 kisse.

And she obeyed him in every thing 1255
 That mighte doon him plesance or lyking.

And thus they live, un-to hir lyves
 ende, (401)

In parfit joye; and Jesu Crist us sende Housbondes make, yonge, and freshe a-
 bedde, 1259

And grace t'overbyde hem that we wedde.

And eek I preye Jesu shorte hir lyves

That wol nat be governed by hir wyves;

And olde and angry nigardes of dispence,
 God sende hem sone verray pestilence.

Here endeth the Wyves Tale of Bathe.

THE FRIAR'S PROLOGUE.

The Prologe of the Freres tale.

This worthy limitour, this noble Frere, 1265
 He made alwey a maner louring chere
 Upon the Somnour, but for honestee
 No vileyns word as yet to him spak he.
 But atte laste he seyde un-to the Wyf,
 'Dame,' quod he, 'god yeve yow right
 good lyf! 1270

Ye han heer touched, al-so mote I thee,
 In scole-maters greet difficultee;

Ye han seyde muchel thing right wel, I
 seye; (9)

But dame, here as we ryden by the weye,
 Us nedeth nat to speken but of game, 1275
 And lete auctoritees, on goddes name,
 To preching and to scole eek of clergyre.

But if it lyke to this companye,

I wol yow of a somnour telle a game. 1279
 Pardee, ye may wel knowe by the name,

That of a somnour may no good be
sayd;

I praye that noon of you be yvel apayd.
A somnour is a renner up and doun
With mandemens for fornicacioun, (20)
And is y-bet at every tounes ende.' 1285
Our host tho spak, 'a! sire, ye sholde be hende

And curteys, as a man of your estaat;
In companye we wol have no debaat.
Telleth your tale, and lat the Somnour
be.'

'Nay,' quod the Somnour, 'lat him
seye to me 1290
What so him list; whan itoomth to mylot,
By god, I shal him quyten every grot.
I shal him tellen which a greet honour (29)
It is to be a flateringe limitour; [T. 6876
And his offyce I shal him telle, y-wis.'

[T. 6879
Our host answerde, 'pees, na-more of
this.' 1296
And after this he seyde un-to the Frere,
'Tel forth your tale, leve maister deere.'

Here endeth the Prologe of the Frere.

THE FRERES TALE.

Here bigginneth the Freres tale.

WHILOM ther was dwellinge in my contree
An erchedeken, a man of heigh degre,
That boldely dide execucioun 1301
In punisshinge of fornicacioun,
Of wicheckcraft, and eek of bauderye,
Of diffamacioun, and avoutrye,
Of chirche-reves, and of testaments, 1305
Of contractes, and of lakke of sacraments,
And eek of many another maner cryme

[T. om.

Which nedeth nat rehercen at this tyme;
[T. om.

Of usure, and of symonye also. (11)
But certes, lechours dide he grettest wo;
They sholde singen, if that they were hent; 1311
And smale tytheres weren foule y-shent.
If any persone wolde up-on hem pleyne,
Ther mighte asterte him no pecunial
peyne.
For smale tythes and for smal offringe 1315
He made the peple pitously to singe.
For er the bisshop caughte hem with his hook,

They weren in the erchedeknes book. (20)
Thanne hadde he, thurgh his jurisdic-
cioun,
Power to doon on hem correccioun. 1320
He hadde a Somnour redy to his hond,
A slyer boy was noon in Engelond;
For subtilly he hadde his espiaille,
That taughte him, wher that him mighte
availle. 1324

He coude spare of lechours oon or two,
To techen him to foure and twenty mo.
For thogh this Somnour wood were as an
hare,
To telle his harlotrye I wol nat spare; (30)
For we been out of his correccioun;
They han of us no jurisdicioun, 1330
Ne never shullen, terme of alle hir lyves.
'Peter! so been the wommen of the styves,'

Quod the Somnour, 'y-put out of my cure!'
'Pees, with mischance and with mis-
aventure,'
Thus seyde our host, 'and lat him telle
his tale. 1335

Now telleth forth, thogh that the Somnour gale,
 Ne spareth nat, myn owene maister dere.
 This false theef, this Somnour, quod the Frere, (40)
 Hadde alway bandes redy to his hond,
 As any hauk to lure in Engelond, 1340
 That tolde him al the secree that they knewe;
 For hir acqueyntance was nat come of newe.
 They weren hise approwours prively;
 He took him-self a greet profit therby;
 His maister knew nat alway what he wan.
 With-outhe mandement, a lewed man 1346
 He coude somne, on peyne of Cristes curs,
 And they were gladdes for to fille his purs, (50)
 And make him grete festes atte nale.
 And right as Judas hadde purses smale,
 And was a theef, right swich a theef was he; 1351
 His maister hadde but half his duſtee.
 He was, if I shal yeven him his laude,
 A theef, and eek a Somnour, and a bande.
 Ho hadde eek wenches at his retenue, 1355
 That, whether that sir Robert or sir Huwe,
 Or Jakke, or Rauf, or who-so that it were,
 That lay by hem, they tolde it in his ere;
 Thus was the wenche and he of oon assent. (61)
 And he wolde fecche a feyned mandement, 1360
 And somne hem to the chapitre bothe two,
 And pile the man, and lete the wenche go.
 Thanne wolde he seye, 'frend, I shal for thy sake 1363
 Do stryken hir out of our lettres blake;
 Thee thar na-more as in this cas travaille;
 I am thy freend, ther I thee may availle.'
 Certeyn he knew of bryberyes mo
 Than possible is to telle in yeres two. (70)
 For in this world nis dogge for the bowe,
 That can an hurt deer from an hool y-knowe, 1370
 Bet than this Somnour knew a sly lechour,
 Or an avouter, or a paramour.
 And, for that was the fruit of al his rente,
 Therefore on it he sette al his entente.
 And so hifel, that ones on a day 1375
 This Somnour, ever waiting on his pray,

Rood for to somne a widwe, an old ribybe,
 Feyninge a cause, for he wolde brybe. (80)
 And happed that he saugh bifore him ryde
 A gay yeman, under a forest-syde. 1380
 A bowe he bar, and arwes brighte and kene;
 He hadde up-on a courtepy of grene;
 An hat up-on his heed with frenches blake.
 'Sir,' quod this Somnour, 'hay! and wel a-take!'
 'Wel-come,' quod he, 'and every good felawe! 1385
 Wher rydestow under this grene shawe?'
 Seyde this yeman, 'wiltow fer to day?'
 This Somnour him answerde, and seyde,
 'nay; (90)
 Heer faste by,' quod he, 'is myn entente
 To ryden, for to reysen up a rente 1390
 That longeth to my lordes duſtee.'
 'Artow thanne a bailliy?' 'Ye!' quod he.
 He dorste nat, for verray filthe and shame,
 Seye that he was a somnour, for the name.
 'Depardieux,' quod this yeman, 'dere brother, 1395
 Thou art a bailliy, and I am another.
 I am unknowen as in this contree; (99)
 Of thyn aqeyntance I wolde praye thee,
 And eek of brotherhede, if that yow leste.
 I have gold and silver in my cheste; 1400
 If that thee happe to comen in our shyre,
 Al shal be thyn, right as thou wolt desyre.'
 'Grantmercy,' quod this Somnour, 'by my feith!'
 Everich in othes hand his trouthe leith,
 For to be sworne bretheren til they deye.
 In daliance they ryden forth hir weye. 1406
 This Somnour, which that was as ful of jangles,
 As ful of venim been these wariangles, (110)
 And ever enquering up-on every thing,
 'Brother,' quod he, 'where is now your dwelling, 1410
 Another day if that I sholde yow seche?'
 This yeman him answerde in softe speche,
 'Brother,' quod he, 'fer in the north contree,
 Wher, as I hope, som-tyme I shal thee see.
 Er we departe, I shal thee so wel wisse,

That of myn hous ne shaltow never
misse.' 1416

'Now, brother,' quod this Somnour, 'I
yow preye,

Teche me, whyl that we ryden by the
weye, (120)

Sin that ye been a baillif as am I,
Som subtiltee, and tel me feithfully 1420

In myn effyce how I may most winne;
And spareth nat for conscience ne sinne,
But as my brother tel me, how do ye?'

'Now, by my trouthe, brother dere,' seyde he,

'As I shal tellen thee a feithful tale, 1425
My wages been ful streite and ful smale.

My lord is hard to me and daungerous,
And myn offyce is ful laborous; (130)
And therefore by extorcions I live.

For sothe, I take al that men wol me
yive; 1430

Algate, by sleighte or by violence,
Fro yeer to yeer I winne al my dispence.
I can no better telle feithfully.'

'Now, certes,' quod this Somnour, 'so fare I;

I spare nat to taken, god it woot, 1435
But-if it be to hevyr or to hoot.

What I may gete in conseil prively,
No maner conscience of that have I; (140)

Nere myn extorciooun, I mighte nat liven,
Ne of swiche japes wol I nat be shriven.

Stomak ne conscience ne knowe I noon;
I shrewe thise shrifte-fadres everichoon.

Wel be we met, by god and by seint
Jame!

But, leve brother, tel me than thy name,
Quod this Somnour; and in this mene
whyle, 1445

This yeman gan a litel for to smyle.

'Brother,' quod he, 'wiltow that I thee
telle?

I am a feend, my dwelling is in helle, (150)
And here I ryde about my purchasing,

To wite wher man wolde yeve me any
thing. 1450

My purchas is th'effect of al my rente.
Loke how thou rydest for the same en-
tente,

To winne good, thou rekkest never how;
Right so fare I, for ryde wolde I now

Un-to the worldes ende for a preye.' 1455

'A,' quod this Somnour, 'ben'cite, what sey ye?

I wende ye were a yeman trewely.

Ye han a mannes shap as wel as I; (160)

Han ye figure than determinat

In helle, ther ye been in your estat?' 1460

'Nay, certainly,' quod he, 'ther have
we noon;

But whan us lyketh, we can take us oon.

Or elles make yow seme we ben shape

Som-tyme lyk a man, or lyk an ape;

Or lyk an angel can I ryde or go. 1465

It is no wonder thing thogh it be so;

A lousy jogelour can deceyve thee,

And pardee, yet can I more craft than

he.' (170)

'Why,' quod the Somnour, 'ryde ye

thane or goon 1469

In sondry shap, and nat alway in oon?'

'For we,' quod he, 'wol us swich formes

make

As most able is our preyes for to take.'

'What maketh yow to han al this labour?'

'Ful many a cause, leve sir Somnour,'

Seyde this feend, 'but alle thing hath

tyme. 1475

The day is short, and it is passed pryme,

And yet ne wan I no-thing in this day.

I wol entende to winnen, if I may, (180)

And nat entende our wittes to declare.

For, brother myn, thy wit is al to bare 1480

To understonde, al-though I tolde hem thee.

But, for thou axest why labouren we;

For, som-tyme, we ben goddes instruments,

And menes to don his comandements,

Whan that him list, up-on his creatures,

In divers art and in divers figures. 1486

With-uten him we have no might, cer-

tayn, (189)

If that him list to stonden ther-agayn.

And som-tyme, at our prayere, han we leve

Only the body and nat the soule greve;

Witnesse on Job, whom that we didnen

wo. 1491

And som-tyme han we might of bothe two,

This is to seyn, of soule and body eke.

And somtyme be we suffred for to seke

Up-on a man, and doon his soule unreste,

And nat his body, and al is for the beste.

Whan he withstandeth our temptacioun,
 It is a cause of his savacioun; (200)
 Al-be-it that it was nat our entente
 He sholde be sauf, but that we wolde him hente. 1500
 And som-tyme be we servant un-to man,
 As to the archebissshop Seint Dunstan
 And to the apostles servant eek was L'
 'Yet tel me,' quod the Somnour, 'faithfully,
 Make ye yow newe bodies thus alway 1505
 Of elements?' the feend answerde, 'nay;
 Som-tyme we fayne, and som-tyme we
 aryse
 With dede bodies in ful sondry wyse, (210)
 And speke as renably and faire and wel
 As to the Phitonissas dide Samuel. 1510
 And yet wol som men seye it was nat he;
 I do no fors of your divinitee.
 But o thing warne I thee, I wol nat japa,
 Thou wolt algates wite how we ben shape;
 Thou shalt her-afterward, my brother
 dere, 1515
 Com ther thee nedeth nat of me to lere.
 For thou shalt by thyn owene experience
 Conne in a chayer rede of this sentence
 Bet than Virgyle, whyl he was on lyve,
 Or Dant also; now lat us ryde blyve. 1520
 For I wol holde companye with thee (223)
 Til it be so, that thou forsake me.'
 'Nay,' quod this Somnour, 'that shal
 nat bityde;
 I am a yeman, knowen is ful wyde;
 My trouthe wol I holde as in this cas. 1525
 For though thou were the devel Sathanas,
 My trouthe wol I holde to my brother,
 As I am sworn, and ech of us til other (230)
 For to be trewe brother in this cas;
 And bothe we goon abouten our purchas.
 Tak thou thy part, what that men wol thee yive, 1531
 And I shal myn; thus may we bothe live.
 And if that any of us have more than
 other,
 Lat him be trewe, and parte it with his
 brother.'
 'I graunte,' quod the devel, 'by my fey.'
 And with that word they ryden forth hir
 way. 1536
 And right at the entring of the townes
 ende,

To which this Somnour shoop him for to
 wende, (240)
 They saugh a cart, that charged was with hey,
 Which that a carter droofforth in his wey.
 Deep was the wey, for which the carto
 stood. 1541
 The carter smoot, and cryde, as he were
 wood,
 'Hayt, Brok! hayt, Scot! what spare ye for the stones?
 The feend,' quod he, 'yow fecche body
 and bones,
 As ferforthly as ever were ye foled! 1545
 So muche wo as I have with yow tholed!
 The devel have al, bothe hors and cart and hey!'
 This Somnour seyde, 'heer shal wo have a pley;' (250)
 And neer the feend he drough, as noight
 ne were,
 Ful prively, and rouned in his ere: 1550
 'Herkne, my brother, herkne, by thy
 feith;
 Herestow nat how that the carter seith?
 Hent it anon, for he hath yeve it thee,
 Bothe hey and cart, and eek hise caples
 thre.'
 'Nay,' quod the devel, 'god wot, never
 a deel; 1555
 It is nat his entente, trust me weel.
 Axe him thy-self, if thou nat trowest me,
 Or elles stint a while, and thou shalt
 see.' (260)
 This carter thakketh his hors upon the croupe,
 And they bigonne drawn and to-stoupe;
 'Heyt, now!' quod he, 'ther Jesu Crist
 yow blesse, 1561
 And al his handwerk, bothe more and
 lesse!
 That was wel twight, myn owene lyard boy!
 I pray god save thee and seynt Loy!
 Now is my cart out of the slow, pardee!'
 'Lo! brother,' quod the feend, 'what tolde I thee? 1566
 Heer may ye see, myn owene dere brother,
 The carl spak oo thing, but he thoughte
 another. (270)
 Lat us go forth abouten our viage;

Heer winne I no-thing up-on cariage.'
 When that they comen som-what out of toune, 1571
 This Somnour to his brother gan to rounne,
 'Brother,' quod he, 'heer woneth an old rebekke,
 That hadde almost as lief to lese hir nekke
 As for to yeve a peny of hir good. 1575
 I wol han twelf pens, though that she be
 wood,
 Or I wol sompne hir un-to our offyce;
 And yet, god woot, of hir knowe I no
 vyce. (280)
 But for thou canst nat, as in this contree, Winne thy cost, tak heer ensample of ma.' 1580
 This Somnour clappeth at the widwes
 gate.
 'Com out,' quod he, 'thou olde viritrate!
 I trowe thou hast som frere or preest with thee!'
 'Who clappeth?' seyde this widwe,
 'ben'cite!
 God save you, sire, what is your swete
 wille?' 1585
 'I have,' quod he, 'of somonce here
 a bille;
 Up peyne of cursing, loke that thou be
 To-morn bifore the erchedeknes knee (290)
 T'answere to the court of certeyn thinges.'
 'Now, lord,' quod she, 'Crist Jesu, king of kinges, 1590
 So wisly helpe me, as I ne may.
 I have been syk, and that ful many a day.
 I may nat go so fer,' quod she, 'ne ryde,
 But I be deed, so priketh it in my syde.
 May I nat axe a libel, sir Somnour, 1595
 And answers there, by my procoutour,
 To swich thing as men wol opposen me?'
 'Yis,' quod this Somnour, 'pay anon, lat se, (300)
 Twelf pens to me, and I wol thee acquyte.
 I shall no profit han ther-by but lyte; 1600
 My maister hath the profit, and nat I,
 Com of, and lat me ryden hastily;
 Yif me twelf pens, I may no lenger tarie.'
 'Twelf pens,' quod she, 'now lady Seinte Marie
 So wisly help me out of care and sinne,
 This wyde world thogh that I sholde
 winne, 1606

Ne have I nat twelf pens with-inne myn hold. (305)
 Ye knowen wel that I am povre and old;
 Kythe your almesse on me povre wrecche.'
 'Nay than,' quod he, 'the foule feend me fecche 1610
 If I th'excuse, though thou shul be spilt!'
 'Alas,' quod she, 'god woot, I have no
 gilt.'
 'Pay me,' quod he, 'or by the swete
 seinte Anne,
 As I wol bere away thy newe panne
 For dette, which that thou owest me of
 old, 1615
 When that thou madest thyn housbond
 cokewold,
 I payde at hoom for thy correccioun.'
 'Thou list,' quod she, 'by my sava-
 cioun! (320)
 Ne was I never er now, widwe ne wyf,
 Somoned un-to your court in al my lyf;
 Ne never I nas but of my body trewe! 1621
 Un-to the devel blak and rough of hewe Yeve I thy body and my panne also!'
 And when the devel herde hir cursen so
 Up-on hir knees, he seyde in this manere,
 'Now Mabely, myn owene moder dere, 1626
 Is this your wil in earnest, that ye seys?'
 'The devel,' quod she, 'so fecche him
 er he deys, (330)
 And panne and al, but he wol him re-pente!' 1629
 'Nay, olde stot, that is nat myn entente,'
 Quod this Somnour, 'for to repent me,
 For any thing that I have had of thee;
 I wolde I hadde thy smok and every clooth!'
 'Now, brother,' quod the devel, 'be nat
 wrooth;
 Thy body and this panne ben myne by
 right. 1635
 Thou shalt with me to helle yet to-night,
 Where thou shalt knowen of our privetes
 More than a maister of divinitee.' (340)
 And with that word this foule feend him
 hente; 1639
 Body and soule, he with the devel wente
 Wher-as that somnours han hir heritage.
 And god, that maket after his image Mankinde, save and gyde us alle and
 some;

And leve this Somnour good man to bicoome!

Lordinges, I oonde han told yow, quod
this Frere, 1645

Hadde I had leyser for this Somnour here,
After the text of Crist [and] Poul and John,
And of our othere doctours many oon, Swiche peynes, that your hartes mighte
agryse, (351)

Al-be-it so, no tonge may devyse, 1650
Thogh that I mighte a thousand winter
telle,

The peyne of thilke cursed hous of helle.
But, for to kepe us fro that cursed place,
Waketh, and preyeth Jesu for his grace

So kepe us fro the temptour Sathanas. 1655 Herketh this word, beth war as in this
cas;

The leoun sit in his await alway
To slee the innocent, if that he may. (360)
Disposeth ay your hartes to withstonde
The feend, that yow wolde make thral and bonde. 1660

He may nat tempten yow over your might;
For Crist wol be your champion and
knight.

And prayeth that thise Somnours hem
repente
Of hir misdedes, er that the feend hem
hente.

Here endeth the Freres tale.

THE SOMNOUR'S PROLOGUE.

The prologe of the Somnours Tale.

This Somnour in his stiropes hye stood;
Up-on this Frere his herte was so wood,
That lyk an aspen leef he quook for yre.

'Lordinges,' quod he, 'but o thing I
desyre;

I yow biseke that, of your curteisye,
Sin ye han herd this false Frere lye, 1670
As suffereth me I may my tale telle!

This Frere bosteth that he knoweth helle,
And god it woot, that it is lital wonder;
Freres and feendes been but lyte a-sonder.

For pardee, ye han ofte tyme herd telle,
How that a frere ravished was to helle
In spirit ones by a visoun; (13) 1677

And as an angel ladde him up and down,
To shewen him the peynes that ther were,
In al the place saugh he nat a frere; 1680

Of other folk he saugh y-nowe in wo.
Un-to this angel spak the frere tho:

"Now, sir," quod he, "han freres swich
a grace (19)

That noon of hem shal come to this place?"

"Yis," quod this angel, "many a millioun!" 1685

And un-to Sathanas he ladde him down.

"And now hath Sathanas," seith he,
"a tayl

Brodder than of a carrik is the sayl.

Hold up thy tayl, thou Sathanas!" quod
he, 1689

"Shewe forth thyn ers, and lat the frere see Wher is the nest of freres in this place!"

And, er that half a furlong-wey of space, Right so as bees out swarman from an
hyve,

Out of the develes ers thergonne dryve (30)

Twenty thousand freres in a route, 1695
And thurgh-out helle swarmeden aboute

And comen agayn, as faste as they may
 gon,
 And in his ers they crepten everichon.
 He clapte his tayl agayn, and lay ful stille.
 This frere, whan he loked hadde his fille
 Upon the torments of this sory place, 1701
 His spirit god restored of his grace

Un-to his body agayn, and he awook ;
 But natheles, for fere yet he quook, (40)
 So was the develes ers ay in his minde,
 That is his heritage of verray kinde. 1706
 God save yow alle, save this cursed
 Frere ;
 My prologe wol I ende in this manere.'

Here endeth the Prologe of the Somnours Tale.

THE SOMNOURS TALE.

Here biginneth the Somonour his Tale.

LORDINGS, ther is in Yorkshire, as I
 gesse,
 A mersshy contree called Holdernesse,
 In which ther wente a limitour aboute, 1711
 To preche, and eek to begge, it is no doute.
 And so bifel, that on a day this frere
 Had preched at a chirche in his manere,
 And specially, aboven every thing, 1715
 Excited he the peple in his preching
 To trentals, and to yeve, for goddes sake,
 Wher-with men mighten holy houses
 make, (10)
 Ther as divyne service is honoured,
 Nat ther as it is wasted and devoured, 1720
 Ne ther it nedeth nat for to be yive,
 As to possessioners, that mowen live,
 Thanked begod, in wele and habundaunce.
 'Trentals,' seyde he, 'deliveren fro pen-
 aunce 1724
 Hir freendes soules, as wel olde as yonge,
 Ye, whan that they been hastily y-songe ;
 Nat for to holde a preest joly and gay,
 He singeth nat but o masse in a day ; (20)
 Delivereth out, ' quod he, 'anon the soules ;
 Ful hard it is with fleshhook or with oules
 To been y-clawed, or to brenne or bake ;
 Now spede yow hastily, for Cristes sake.' And whan this frere had seyde al his
 entente,
 With qui cum patre forth his wey he wente.

Whan folk in chirche had yeve him
 what hem leste, 1735
 He wente his wey, no lenger wolde he
 reste,
 With scrippe and tipped staf, y-tukked
 hys ; (29)
 In every hous he gan to poure and pry,
 And beggeth mele, and chese, or elles corn.
 His felawe hadde a staf tipped with horn,
 A peyre of tables al of ivory, 1741
 And a poyntel polished fetisly,
 And wroot the names alwey, as he stood,
 Of alle folk that yaf him any good, 1744
 Ascaunces that he wolde for hem preye.
 ' Yeve us a bussel whete, malt, or reye,
 A goddes kechil, or a trip of chese,
 Or elles what yow list, we may nat chese ;
 A goddes halpenny or a masse-peny, (41)
 Or yeve us of your brawn, if ye have eny ;
 A dagon of your blanket, leve dame, 1751
 Our suster dere, lo ! here I write your name ;
 Bacon or beef, or swich thing as ye finde.'
 A sturdy harlot wente ay hem bihinde,
 That was hir hostes man, and bar a sak,
 And what men yaf hem, leyde it on his
 bak. 1756
 And whan that he was out at dore anon,
 He planed away the names everichon (50)
 That he biforn had writen in his tables ;
 Herserved hem with nyfles and with fables.

'Nay, ther thou list, thou Somnour,' quod the Frere. 1761
'Pees,' quod our Host, 'for Cristes
moder dere ;
Tel forth thy tale and spare it nat at al.'
Sothryve I, quod this Somnour, so I shal.—
'So longe he wente hous by hous, til he Cam til an hous ther he was wont to be Refreshed more than in an hundred placis. 1767
Sik lay the gode man, whos that the place
is ; (60)
Bedrede up-on a couche lowe he lay.
'Dens hic,' quod he, 'O Thomas, freend,
good day,' 1770
Seyde this frere curteisly and softa.
'Thomas,' quod he, 'god yelde yow ! ful
ofte
Have I up-on this bench faren ful weel.
Here have I eten many a mery meel ;'
And fro the bench he droof away the cat,
And leyde adoun his potente and his hat,
And eek his scrippe, and sette him softa
adoun. 1777
His felawe was go walked in-to toun, (70)
Forth with his knave, in-to that hostelrye
Wher-as he shoop him thilke night to lye.
'O dere maister,' quod this syke man,
'How han ye fare sith that March bigan ?
I saugh yow noght this fourtenight or
more.'
'God woot,' quod he, 'laboured have I ful
sore ;
And specially, for thy savacioun 1785
Have I seyde many a precious orisoun,
And for our others frendes, god hem
blesse !
I have to-day been at your chirche at messe, (80)
And seyde a sermon after my simple wit,
Nat al after the text of holy writ ; 1790
For it is hard to yow, as I suppose,
And therefore wol I teche yow al the glose.
Glosinge is a glorious thing, certeyn,
For lettre sleeth, so as we clerkes seyn.
Ther have I taught hem to be charitable,
And spende hir good ther it is resonable,
And ther I saugh our dame ; a ! wher is she ?' (89) 1797
'Yond in the yerd I trowe that she be,'
Seyde this man, 'and she wol come anon.'

'Ey, maister ! wel-come be ye, by seint
John !' 1800
Seyde this wyf, 'how fare ye hertely ?'
The frere aryseth up ful curteisly,
And hir embraceth in his armes narwe,
And kiste hir swete, and chirkeith as a sparwe
With his lippes : 'dame,' quod he, 'right
weel, 1805
As he that is your servant every deel.
Thanked be god, that yow yaf soule and lyf,
Yet saugh I nat this day so fair a wyf (100)
In al the chirche, god so save me !'
'Ye, god amende defautes, sir,' quod she,
'Algates wel-come be ye, by my fey !' 1811
'Graunt mercy, dame, this have I founde alwey.
But of your grete goodnesse, by your
leve,
I wolde prey yow that ye nat yow greve,
I wol with Thomas speke a litel throwe.
Thise curats been ful necligent and slowe
To grope tendrely a conscience. (109) 1817
In shrift, in preching is my diligence,
And studie in Petres wordes, and in Poulea.
I walke, and fissahe Cristen mennes soules,
To yelden Jezu Crist his propre rente ; 1821
To sprede his word is set al myn en-
tente.'
'Now, by your leve, o dere sir,' quod she,
'Chydeh him weel, for seinte Trinitee.
He is as angry as a pissemyre, 1825
Though that he have al that he can
desyre.
Though I him wrye a-night and make him warm, (119)
And on hym leye my leg outhur myn arm,
He groneth lyk our boor, lyth in our sty.
Other desport right noon of him have I ;
I may nat please him in no maner cas.'
'O Thomas ! Je vous dy, Thomas !
Thomas !
This maketh the feend, this moste ben
amended.
Ire is a thing that hye god defended, 1834
And ther-of wol I speke a word or two.'
'Now maister,' quod the wyf, 'er that I go,
What wol ye dyne ? I wol go ther-abouta.'
'Now dame,' quod he, '*Je vous dy sanz
doute*, (130)

Have I nat of a capon but the liver,
 And of your softe breed nat but a shivere,
 And after that a rosted pigges heed, 1841 (But that I nolde no best for me were
 deed),
 Thanne hadde I with yow hoomly suffisauncea.
 I am a man of litel sustenaunce.
 My spirit hath his fostring in the Bible.
 The body is ay so redy and penyble 1846
 To wake, that my stomak is destroyed.
 I prey yow, dame, ye be nat anoyed, (140)
 Though I so frendly yow my conseil
 shewe; 1849
 By god, I wolde nat telle it but a fewe.
 'Now, sir,' quod she, 'but o word ar I go;
 My child is deed with-inne thise wykes
 two,
 Sone after that ye wente out of this toun.'
 'His deeth saugh I by revelacioun,' 1854
 Seith this frere, 'at hoom in our dortour.
 I dar wel seyn that, er that half an hour
 After his deeth, I saugh him born to bliise
 In myn avisioun, so god me wisse! (150)
 So dide our sexteyn and our fermerer,
 That han been trewe freres fifty year;
 They may now, god be thanked of his lone, 1861
 Maken hir jubilee and walke allone.
 And up I roos, and al our covent eke,
 With many a tere trikking in my cheke,
 Withouten noyse or clateringe of belles;
Te deum was our song and no-thing elles,
 Save that to Crist I seyde an orisoun,
 Thankinge him of his revelacioun. (160)
 For sir and dame, trusteth me right weel,
 Our orisons been more effectueel, 1870
 And more we seen of Cristes secree thinges
 Than burel folk, al-though they weren kinges.
 We live in povert and in abstinence,
 And burel folk in richesse and despence
 Of mete and drinke, and in hir foul delyt.
 We han this worldes lust al in despyt.
 Lazar and Dives liveden diversly, 1877
 And diverse guerdon hadden theyther-by.
 Who-so wol preye, he moot faste and be
 clene, (171) 1879
 And fatte his soule and make his body lene.
 We fare as seith th'apostle; cloth and fode
 Suffysen us, though they be nat ful gode.

The clennessse and the fastinge of us freres
 Maketh that Crist accepteth our preyeres.
 Lo, Moyses fourty dayes and fourty
 night 1885
 Fasted, er that the heighe god of might Spak with him in the mountain of Sinay.
 With empty wombe, fastinge many a day,
 Receyved he the laws that was writen (181)
 With goddes finger; and Elie, wel ye witen, 1890
 In mount Oreb, er he hadde any speche
 With hye god, that is our lyves leche,
 He fasted longe and was in contemplance.
 Aaron, that hadde the temple in govern-
 aunce, 1894
 And eek the othere preestes everichon,
 In-to the temple whan they sholde gon
 To preye for the peple, and do servyse,
 They nolden drinken, in no maner wyse,
 No drinke, which that mighte hem dronek
 make, (191) 1899
 But there in abstinence preye and wake,
 Lest that they deyden; tak heed what
 I seye.
 But they be sobre that for the peple preye,
 War that I seye; namore! for it suffyeth.
 Our lord Jesu, as holy writ devyseth, 1904
 Yaf us ensample of fastinge and preyeres.
 Therfor we mendinants, we sely freres,
 Been wedded to poverte and continence,
 To charitee, humblesse, and abstinence,
 To persecucion for rightwisnesse, (201) 1909
 To wepinge, misericorde, and clennessse.
 And therfor may yese that our preyeres—
 I speke of us, we mendinants, we freres—
 Ben to the hye god more acceptable
 Than youres, with your fastes at the table.
 Fro Paradys first, if I shal nat lye, 1915
 Was man out chaced for his glotonye;
 And chaast was man in Paradys, certeyn.
 But herkne now, Thomas, what I shal
 seyn. (210)
 I ne have no text of it, as I suppose,
 But I shall finde it in a maner glose, 1920
 That specially our swete lord Jesus Spak this by freres, whan he seyde thus:
 "Blessed be they that povre in spirit
 been."
 And so forth al the gospel may ye seen,
 Wher it be lyker our professioun, 1925
 Or hirs that swimmen in possessioun.

Fy on hir pompe and on hir glotonye !
And for hir lewednesse I hem diffye. (220)

Me thinketh they ben lyk Jovinian,
Fat as a whale, and walkinge as a swan ;
Al vinolent as botel in the spence. 1931
Hir preyer is of ful gret reverence ;
Whan they for soules seye the psalm of Davit,
Lo, " buf ! " they seye, "cor meum eruc- tavit !"

Who folweth Cristes gospel and his fore,
But we that humble been and chast and pore, 1936
Werkers of goddes word, not auditours ?
Therefore, right as an hawk up, at a sour, (230)

Up springeth in-to their, right so prayeres
Of charitable and chaste bisy freres 1940
Maken hir sour to goddes eres two.
Thomas ! Thomas ! so mote I ryde or go,
And by that lord that clepid is saint Yve,
Nere thou our brother, sholdestou nat
thryve ! 1944

In our chapitre praye we day and night
To Crist, that he thee sende hele and
might,

Thy body for to welden hastily.
'God woot,' quod he, 'no-thing ther-of fele I ; (240)

As help me Crist, as I, in fewe yeres, 1949
Han spendede, up-on dyvers maner freres, Ful many a pound ; yet fare I never the bet.

Carteyn, my good have I almost biset.
Farwel, my gold ! for it is al ago !'

The frere answerde, 'O Thomas, dostow
so ? 1954

What nedeth yow diverse freres seche ?
What nedeth him that hath a parfit leche
To sechen others leches in the toun ?
Your inconstance is your confusioun. (250)
Holde ye than me, or elles our covent,
To praye for yow ben insufficient ? 1960
Thomas, that jape nis nat worth a myte ;
Your maladye is for we han to lyte.

"A ! yif that covent half a quarter otes !"
"A ! yif that covent four and twenty grotos !"

"A ! yif that frere a peny, and lat him
go !" 1965

Nay, nay, Thomas ! it may no-thing be so.

What is a ferthing worth parted in twelve ?
Lo, ech thing that is oned in him-selve
Is more strong than whan it is toscatered. (261)

Thomas, of me thou shalt nat been yflatered ; 1970
Thou woldest han our labour al for noght.
The hye god, that al this world hath
wroght,

Seith that the werkman worthy is his hyra.

Thomas ! noght of your tresor I desyre
As for my-self, but that al our covent 1975
To preye for yow is ay so diligent,
And for to builden Cristes owene chirche.
Thomas ! if ye wol lernen for to wirche,
Of buildinge up of chirches may ye
finde (271)

If it be good, in Thomas lyf of Inde. 1980
Ye lye heer, ful of anger and of yre,
With which the devel set your herte
a-fyre,

And chyden heer this sely innocent,
Your wyf, that is so meke and pacient.
And therfor, Thomas, trowe me if thee
leste, 1985

Ne stryve nat with thy wyf, as for thy
beste ;
And ber this word away now, by thy feith,
Touchinge this thing, lo, what the wyse
seith : (280)

"With-in thyn hous ne be thou no leoun ;
To thy subgits do noon oppressioun ; 1990
Ne make thyne aqueyntances nat to flee."
And Thomas, yet eft-sones I charge thee,
Be war from hir that in thy bosom slepeth ;
War fro the serpent that so slyly crepeth
Under the gras, and stingeth subtilly. 1995
Be war, my sone, and herkne paciently,
That twenty thousand men han lost hir
lyves,

For stryving with hir lemmans and hir
wyves. (290)

Now sith ye han so holy and make a wyf,
What nedeth yow, Thomas, to maken
stryf ? 2000

Ther nis, y-wis, no serpent so cruel,
Whan man tret on his tayl, ne half so fel,
As womman is, whan she hath caught an ire ;

Vengeance is thanne al that they desyre.

Ire is a sinne, oon of the grete of sevene,
 Abhominable un-to the god of hevene;
 And to him-self it is destruccion.
 This every lewed viker or person (300)
 Can seye, how Ire engendreth homicyde.
 Ire is, in sooth, executour of pryde. 2010
 I coude of Ire seye so muche sorwe,
 My tale sholde laste til to-morwe.

And therfor preye I god bothe day and
 night, 2013

An irous man, god sende him lital might!
 It is greet harm and, certes, gret pitee,
 To sette an irous man in heigh degree.

Whilom ther was an irous potestat,
 As seith Senek, that, duringe his estaat,
 Up-on a day out riden knyghtes two, (311)
 And as fortune wolde that it were so, 2020
 That oon of hem cam hoom. that other
 noght.

Anon the knight bifore the juge is broght,
 That seyde thus, "thou hast thy felawe
 slayn,

For which I deme thee to the deeth, cer-
 tayn."

And to another knight comanded he, 2025
 "Go lede him to the deeth, I charge thee."
 And happed, as they wente by the weye
 Toward the place ther he sholde deye,
 The knight cam, which men wenden had
 be deed. (321)

Thanne thoughte they, it was the beste
 reed, 2030

To lede hem bothe to the juge agayn.
 They seiden, "lord, the knight ne hath nat slayn

His felawe; here he standeth hool alyve."
 "Ye shul be deed," quod he, "so moot I
 thryve!

That is to seyn, bothe oon, and two, and
 three!" 2035

And to the firste knight right thus spak he,
 "I dampned thee, thou most algate be
 deed.

And thou also most nedes lese thyn heed,
 For thou art cause why thy felawe deyth."

And to the thridde knight right thus he seyth, (332) 2040

"Thou hast nat doon that I comanded
 thee."

And thus he dide don sleen hem alle three.
 Irous Cambyses was eek dronkelewe,

And ay delyted him to been a shrewe.

And so bifel, a lord of his meynne, 2045
 That lovede vertuuous moralitee,

Seyde on a day bitwix hem two right thus:
 "A lord is lost, if he be vicious; (340)

And dronkenesse is eek a foul record
 Of any man, and namely in a lord. 2050

Ther is ful many an eye and many an ere Awaiting on a lord, and he noot whera.

For goddes love, drink more attemprely;
 Wyn maketh man to lesen wrecchedly

His minde, and eek his limes everichon."
 "The revers shalt use," quod he, "anon;

And preve it, by thyn owene experience,
 That wyn ne dooth to folk no swich
 offence. (350) 2058

Ther is no wyn bireveth me my might
 Of hand ne foot, ne of myn eyen sight"—

And, for despyt, he drank ful muchel more
 An hondred part than he had doon bifore;

And right anon, this irous cursed wrecche
 Leet this knyghtes sone bifore him fecche,

Comandinge him he sholde bifore him
 stonde. 2065

And sodeynly he took his bowe in honde,
 And up the streng he pulled to his ere,

And with an arwe he slow the child right
 there: (360)

"Now whether have I a siker hand or
 noon?"

Quod he, "is al my might and minde
 agoon? 2070

Hath wyn bireved me myn eyen sight?"

What sholde I telle th'answere of the
 knight?

Hissone was slayn, ther is na-more to seye.
 Beth war therfor with lordes how ye pleye.

Singeth Placebo, and I shal, if I can, 2075
 But if it be un-to a povre man.

To a povre man men sholde hise vyces telle,
 But nat to a lord, thogh he sholde go to
 helle. (370)

Lo irous Cirus, thilke Percien,
 How he destroyed the river of Gysen, 2080

For that an hors of his was dreynt ther-
 inne,

Whan that he wente Babiloigne to winne.
 He made that the river was so smal,

That women mighte wade it over-al.

Lo, what seyde he, that so wel teche can?
 "Ne be no felawe to an irous man. 2086

Ne with no wood man walke by the weye, Lett thee repente;" ther is na-more to
 seye. (380)

Now Thomas, leve brother, lef thyn ire;
 Thou shalt me finde as just as is a squire.
 Hold nat the devels knyf ay at thyn herte;
 Thyn angre dooth thee al to sore smerte;
 But shewe to me al thy confessioun.'

'Nay,' quod the syke man, 'by Seint Simoun! 2094

I have be shriven this day at my curat;
 I have him told al hoolly myn estat;
 Nedeth na-more to speke of it,' seith he,
 'But if me list of myn humilitee.' (390)

'Yif me thanne of thy gold, to make our cloistre,'

Quod he, 'for many a muscle and many an oistre, 2100

Whan other men han ben ful wel at eyse,
 Hath been our fode, our cloistre for to reyse.
 And yet, god woot, unnethe the fundement
 Parfourned is, ne of our pavement 2104

Nis nat a tyle yet with-inne our wones;
 By god, we owen fourty pound for stones!
 Now help, Thomas, for him that harwed
 helle!

For elles moste we our bokes selle. (400)

And if ye lakke our predicacioun, 2109
 Than gooth the world al to destruccioun.
 For who-so wolde us fro this world bireve,
 So god me save, Thomas, by your leve,
 He wolde bireve out of this world the sonne.
 For who can teche and werchen as we
 conne? 2114

And that is nat of lital tyme,' quod he;

'But sith that Elie was, or Elisee,
 Han freres been, that finde I of record,
 In charitee, y-thanked be our lord. (410)
 Now Thomas, help, for seinte Charitee!'

And down anon he sette him on his knee.
 This syke man wex wel ny wood for ire;
 He wolde that the frere had been on-fire
 With his false dissimulacioun.

'Swich thing as is in my possessioun,' Quod he, 'that may I yeven, and non
 other. 2125

Ye sey me thus, how that I am your
 brother?'

'Ye, certes,' quod the frere, 'trusteth
 weel;

I took our dame our lettre with our seel.'

'Now wel,' quod he, 'and som-what shal I yive (421)

Un-to your holy covent whyl I live, 2130
 And in thyn hand thou shalt it have
 anon;

On this condicioun, and other noon,
 That thou departe it so, my dere brother,
 That every frere have also muche as other.
 This shaltou swere on thy professioun,
 With-ouen fraude or cavillacioun.' 2136

'I swere it,' quod this frere, 'upon my
 feith!'

And ther-with-al his hand in his he leith:
 'Lo, heer my feith! in me shal be no lak.'

'Now thanne, put thyn hand down by my bak,' (432) 2140

Seyde this man, 'and grope wel bihinde;
 Bynethe my buttock ther shaltou finde
 A thing that I have hid in privtee.'

'A!' thoughte this frere, 'this shal go
 with me!'

And down his hand he launcheth to the clifte, 2145

In hope for to finde ther a yifte. (438)

And whan this syke man felte this frere
 Aboute his tuwel grope there and here,
 Amidde his hand he leet the frere a fart.
 Ther nis no capul, drawinge in a cart, 2150
 That mighte have lete a fart of swich
 a soun.

The frere up stirte as doth a wood
 leoun:

'A! false cherl,' quod he, 'for goddes
 bones,

This hastow for despyt doon, for the nones!

Thou shalt abyge this fart, if that I may!'

His meynee, whiche that herden this affray, 2156

Cam lepinge in, and chaced out the frere;
 And forth he gooth, with a ful angry
 chere, (450)

And fette his felawe, ther-as lay his stoor.
 He looked as it were a wilde boor; 2160

He grinte with his teeth, so was he wrooth.
 A sturdy pas down to the court he gooth,

Wher-as ther woned a man of greet
 honour,

To whom that he was alwey confessour;
 This worthy man was lord of that village.

This frere cam, as he were in a rage, 2166

Wher-as this lord sat eting at his bord.
Unnetthes mighte the frere speke a word,
Til atte laeste he seyde: 'god yow see!' (461)

This lord gan loke, and seide, 'bencite! 2170

What, frere John, what maner world is
this?

I see wel that som thing ther is amis.
Ye loken as the wode were ful of thevis, Sit down anon, and tel me what your grief is,

And it shal been amended, if I may.' 2175

'I have,' quod he, 'had a despyt this day,
God yelde yow! adoun in your village,
That in this world is noon so povre a page,
That he nolde have abhominacioun (471)

Of that I have receyved in your toun. 2180

And yet ne greveth me no-thing so sore,
As that this olde cherl, with lokkes here,
Blasphemed hath our holy covent eke.'

'Now, maister,' quod this lord, 'I yow
biseke.'

'No maister, sire,' quod he, 'but servi-
tour, 2185

Thogh I have had in scole swich honour.
God lyketh nat that "Raby" men us calle,
Neither in market ne in your large halle.'

'No fors,' quod he, 'but tel me al your grief.' (481)

'Sire,' quod this frere, 'an odious mes-chief 2190

This day bitid is to myn ordre and me,
And so per consequens to ech degree
Of holy chirche, god amende it sone!'

'Sir,' quod the lord, 'ye woot what is to done.

Distempre yow noght, ye be my con-
fessour; 2195

Ye been the salt of the erthe and the savour.

For goddes love your pacience ye holde,
Tel me your grief:' and he anon him
tolde, (490)

As ye han herd biforn, ye woot wel what.
The lady of the hous ay stille sat, 2200

Til she had herd al what the frere seyde:
'Ey, goddes moder,' quod she, 'blisful
mayde!

Is ther oght elles? telle me faithfully.'

'Madame,' quod he, 'how thinketh yow her-by?'

'How that me thinketh?' quod she;
'so god me speede, 2205

I seye, a cherl hath doon a cherles dede.
What shold I seye? god lat him never
thee!

His syke heed is ful of vanitee, (500)

I hold him in a maner frenesye.'
'Madame,' quod he, 'by god I shal nat
lye; 2210

But I on other weyes may be wreke,
I shal diffame him over-al ther I speke,

This false blasphemour, that charged me
To parte that wol nat departed be,

To every man y-liche, with meschaunce!'
The lord sat stille as he were in a
traunce, 2216

And in his herte he rolled up and down,
'How hadde this cherl imaginacioun (510)

To shewe swich a probleme to the frere?
Never erst er now herde I of swich matere;

I trows the devel putte it in his minde.
In ars-metryke shal ther no man finde,

Biforn this day, of swich a questioun.
Who sholde make a demonstracioun,

That every man sholde have y-liche his part 2225

As of the soun or savour of a fart? (518)

O nyce proude cherl, I shrewe his face!
Lo, sires,' quod the lord, with harde grace,

'Who ever herde of swich a thing er now?
To every man y-lyke? tel me how. 2230

It is an impossible, it may nat be!
Ey, nyce cherl, god lete him never thee!

The rumblings of a fart, and every soun,
Nis but of air reverberacioun, 2234

And ever it wasteth lyte and lyte away.
Ther is no man can demen, by my fey,

If that it were departed equally. (529)

What, lo, my cherl, lo, yet how shrewedly
Un-to my confessor to-day he spak!

I holde him certeyn a demoniak! 2240

Now ete your mete, and lat the cherl go
plye,

Let him go honge himself, a devel weye!'
Now stood the lordes squyer at the bord,

That carf his mete, and herde, word by word, 2244

Of alle thinges of which I have yow sayd.
'My lord,' quod he, 'be ye nat yvel apayd;

I coude telle, for a gounne-clooth,
To yow, sir frere, so ye be nat wrooth, (540)

How that this fart sholde even deled be Among your covent, if it lyked me.' 2250
 'Tel,' quod the lord, 'and thou shalt have anon
 A gounne-cloth, by god and by Seint John!'
 'My lord,' quod he, 'whan that the weder is fair,
 With-uten wind or perturbinge of air,
 Lat bringe a cartwheel here in-to this
 halle, 2255
 But loke that it have his spokes alle.
 Twelf spokes hath a cartwheel comunly.
 And bring me than twelf freres, woot ye
 why? (550)
 For thrittene is a covent, as I gesse.
 The confessour heer, for his worthinesse, Shal parfourne up the nombre of his covent. 2261
 Than shal they knele down, by oon assent,
 And to every spokes ende, in this manere,
 Ful sadly leye his nose shal a frere.
 Your noble confessour, ther god him save, Shal holde his nose upright, under the nave. 2266
 Than shal this cherl, with bely stif and toght
 As any labour, hidar been y-brought; (560)
 And sette him on the wheel right of this cart, 2269
 Upon the nave, and make him lete a fart.

And ye shul seen, up peril of my lyf,
 By preve which that is demonstratif,
 That equally the soun of it wol wende,
 And eek the stink, un-to the spokes
 ende;
 Save that this worthy man, your con-
 fessour, 2275
 By-cause he is a man of greet honour,
 Shal have the firste fruit, as reson is;
 The noble usage of freres yet is this, (570)
 The worthy men of hem shul first be
 served; 2279
 And certainly, he hath it weel deserved.
 He hath to-day taught us so muchel good
 With preching in the pulpit ther he stood,
 That I may vouche-sauf, I sey for me,
 He hadde the firste smel of fartes three,
 And so wolde al his covent hardily; 2285
 He bereth him so faire and holly.'
 The lord, the lady, and ech man, save
 the frere, (579)
 Seyde that Jankin spak, in this matere,
 As wel as Euclide or [as] Ptholomee.
 Touchinge this cherl, they seyde, subtiltee
 And heigh wit made him speken as he spak; 2291
 He nis no fool, ne no demoniak.
 And Jankin hath y-wonne a newe gounne.—
 My tale is doon we been almost at toune. 2294

Here endeth the Somnours Tale.

GROUP E.

THE CLERK'S PROLOGUE.

Here folweth the Prologe of the Clerkes Tale of Oxenford.

'Six clerk of Oxenford,' our hoste sayde,
'Ye ryde as coy and stille as dooth a
mayde,

Were newe sponed, sitting at the bord;
This day ne herde I of your tonge a word.
I trowe ye studie aboute som sophyme, 5
But Salomon seith, "every thing hath
tyme."

For goddes sake, as beth of better chere,
It is no tyme for to studien here.
Telle us som mery tale, by your fey;
For what man that is entred in a pley, 10
He nedes moot unto the pley assente.
But precheth nat, as freres doon in Lente,
To make us for our olde sinnes wepe,
Ne that thy tale make us nat to slepe.

Telle us som mery thing of aventures;—
Your termes, your colours, and your figures, 16
Kepe hem in stoor til so be ye endyte
Heigh style, as whan that men to kinges
wryte.

Speketh so pleyn at this tyme, I yow preye,
That we may understonde what ye seye.'

This worthy clerk benignely answerde,
'Hoste,' quod he, 'I am under your yerde;
Ye han of us as now the governaunce,
And therfor wol I do yow obeisaunce,
As for as reson axeth, hardily. 25
I wol yow telle a tale which that I
Lerned at Padowe of a worthy clerk,
As proved by his wordes and his werk.

He is now deed and nayled in his cheste,
I prey to god so yeve his soule reste! 30

Fraunceys Petrark, the laureat poete,
Highte this clerk, whos rethoryke sweete
Enlumined al Itaille of poetrye,
As Linian dide of filosofyhe
Or lawe, or other art particuler; 35
But death, that wol nat suffre us dwellen
heer

But as it were a twinkling of an y8, Hem bothe hath slayn, and alle shul we dy8.

But forth to tellen of this worthy man,
That taughte me this tale, as I bigyn, 40
I seye that first with heigh style he
endyteth,

Er he the body of his tale wryteth,
A proheme, in the which discryveth he Pemond, and of Saluces the contree, 44
And speketh of Apennyn, the hilles hye,
That been the boundes of West Lum-bardye,

And of Mount Vesulus in special,
Where as the Poo, out of a welle smal,
Taketh his firste springing and his sours,
That estward ay encesseth in his cours 50
To Emelward, to Ferrare, and Venyse:
The which a long thing were to devyse.
And trewely, as to my jugement,
Me thinketh it a thing impertinent,
Save that he wol conveyen his matere: 55
But this his tale, which that ye may here.'

THE CLERKES TALE.

Here biginneth the Tale of the Clerk of Oxenford.

There is, at the west syde of Itaille,
Doun at the rote of Vesulus the colde,
A lusty playne, habundant of vitaille,
Wher many a tour and toun thou mayst
biholde, 60

That founded were in tyme of fadres olde,
And many another delitable sighte,
And Saluces this noble contree highte.

A markis whylom lord was of that londe,
As were his worthy elders him bifore; 65
And obeisant and redy to his honde (10)
Were alle his liges, bothe lasse and more.
Thus in delyt he liveth, and hath don yore,
Biloved and drad, thurgh favour of fortune, (9)
Bothe of his lordes and of his commune.

Therwith he was, to speke as of linage,
The gentilteste y-born of Lumbardy,
A fair persone, and strong, and yong of age,

And ful of honour and of curteisye;
Discreet y-nogh his contree for to gye, 75
Save in somme thinges that he was to blame, (20)
And Walter was this yonge lordes name.

I blame him thus, that he considereth
nogh 78

In tyme cominge what mighte him bityde,
But on his lust present was al his thought,
As for to hauke and hunte on every syde;
Wel ny alle othere cures leet he slyde,
And eek he nolde, and that was worst of alle, (27)

Wedde no wyf, for nogh that may bifalle.

Only that point his peple bar so sore, 85
That flokmele on a day they to him wente,
And oon of hem, that wysest was of lore,
Or elles that the lord best wolde assente

That he sholde telle him what his peple
mente, 89
Or elles coude he shewe wel swich matere,
He to the markis seyde as ye shul here.

' O noble markis, your humanitee
Assureth us and yeveth us hardinesse,
As ofte as tyme is of necessitee 94
That we to yow mowe telle our heviness; 94
Accepteth, lord, now for your gentillesse,
That we with pitous herte un-to yow
playne, (41)
And lete your eres nat my voys disdeyne.

Al have I nogh to done in this maters
More than another man hath in this place,
Yet for as muche as ye, my lord so
dere, 101
Han alwey shewed me favour and grace,
I dar the better aske of yow a space
Of audience, to shewen our requeste,
And ye, my lord, to doon right as yow
leste. 105

For certes, lord, so wel us lyketh yow (50)
And al your werk and ever han doon, that we

Ne coude nat us self devyssen how
We mighte liven in more felicitee,
Save o thing, lord, if it your wille be, 110
That for to been a wedded man yow leste,
Than were your peple in sovereyn hertes
reste.

Boweth your nekke under that blisful yok
Of soveraynetee, nogh of servyse,
Which that men clepeth spousesaille or wedlok; 115
And thenketh, lord, among your thoughtes
wyse, (60)
How that our dayes passe in sondry wyse;

For though we slepe or wake, or rome, or
ryde,
Ay fleeth the tyme, it nil no man abyde.

And though your grene youthe floure as
yit, 120

In crepeth age alwey, as stille as stoon,
And deeth manaceth every age, and smit
In ech estaat, for ther escapeth noon :
And al so certain as we knowe echoon
That we shul deye, as uncerteyn we alle
Been of that day whan deeth shal on us
falle. (70) 126

Accepteth than of us the trewe entente,
That never yet refuseden your heste,
And we wol, lord, if that ye wol assente,
Chese yow a wyf in short tyme, atte leste,
Born of the gentilleste and of the meste
Of al this lond, so that it oghte seme
Honour to god and yow, as we can deme.

Deliver us out of al this bisy drede,
And tak a wyf, for hye goddes sake ; 135
For if it so bifalle, as god forbede, (80)
That thurgh your deeth your linage
sholde slake,

And that a straunge successour sholde
take

Your heritage, o ! wo were us alyve !
Wherfor we pray you hastily to wyve.' 140

Hir meke preyere and hir pitous chere
Made the markis herte han pitee.
'Ye wol,' quod he, 'myn owene peple
dere,

To that I never erst thoghte streyne me.
I me rejoysed of my libertee, 145
That selde tyme is founde in mariage ; (90)
Ther I was free, I moot been in servage.

But natheles I see your trewe entente,
And truste upon your wit, and have don ay ;
Wherfor of my free wil I wol assente 150
To wedde me, as sone as ever I may.
But ther-as ye han profred me to-day
To chese me a wyf, I yow releese
That choys, and prey yow of that profre
cesse, 154

For god it woot, that children ofte been Unlyk her worthy eldres hem bifore ; (100)

Bountee comth al of god, nat of the streen
Of which they been engendred and y-bore ;
I truste in goddes bountee, and therfore
My mariage and myn estaat and reste 160
I him bitake ; he may don as him leste.

Let me alone in chesinge of my wyf,
That charge up-on my bak I wol endure ;
But I yow preye, and charge up-on your lyf,
That what wyf that I take, ye me assure To worshiþe hir, whyl that hir lyf may
dure, (110) 166
In word and werk, bothe here and everywhere,
As she an emperoures doghter were.

And forthermore, this shal ye swere, that ye Agayn my choys shul neither grucche ne
stryve ; 170

For sith I shal forgoon my libertee
At your requeste, as ever moot I thryve,
Ther as myn herte is set, ther wol I wyve ;
And but ye wole assente in swich manere,
I prey yow, speketh na-more of this matera.' (119) 175

With hertly wil they sworn, and assenten
To al this thing, ther seyde no wight nay ; Bisekinge him of grace, er that they wenten,
That he wolde graunten hem a certain day
Of his spousaille, as sone as ever he may ;
For yet alwey the peple som-what dredde
Lest that this markis no wyf wolde wedde.

He graunted hem a day, swich as him
leste,
On which he wolde be wedded sikerly, 184
And seyde, he dide al this at hir requeste ;
And they, with humble entente, buxomly,
Knelinge up-on her knees ful reverently Him thanken alle, and thus they han an
ende (132)
Of hir entente, and hoom agayn they
wende.

And heer-up-on he to his officeres 190
Comaundeth for the feste to purveye,
And to his privee knightes and squyeres
Swich charge yaf, as him liste on hem leye ;

And they to his comandement obeys,
And ech of hem doth al his diligence 195
To doon un-to the feste reverence. (140)

Explicit prima para.

Incipit secunda para.

Noght fer fro thilke paleys honourable
Ther-as this markis shoop his mariage,
Ther stood a throp, of site delitable,
In which that povre folk of that village 200
Hadden hir bestes and hir herbergage,
And of hir labour took hir sustenance
After that th'erthe yaf hem habundance.

Amonges thise povre folk ther dwelte
a man

Which that was holden povrest of hem
alle; 205

But hye god som tyme senden can (150)
His grace in-to a litel oxes stalle:
Janicula men of that throp him calle.
A doghter hadde he, fair y-nogh to sighte,
And Grisildis this yonge mayden highte.

But for to speke of vertuons beautee, 211
Than was she oon the faireste under
some;

For povrelliche y-fostred up was she,
No likerous lust was thurgh hir herte
y-ronne; (158) 214

Wel offer of the welle than of the tonne
She drank, and for she wolde vertu please,
She knew wel labour, but non ydel see.

But though this mayde tendre were of age,
Yet in the brest of hir virginitee
Ther was enclosed rype and sad courage;
And in greet reverence and charitee 221
Hir olde povre fader fostred she;
A fewe sheep spinning on feeld she kepte,
She wolde noght been ydel til she slepte.

And whan she hoomward cam, she wolde
bringe 225

Wortes or othere herbes tymes ofte, (170)
The whiche she shredde and seeth for hir
livinge,

And made hir bed ful harde and no-thing
softe;

And ay she kepte hir fadres lyf on-lofte
With everich obeisaunce and diligence 230
That child may doon to fadres reverence.

Up-on Grisilde, this povre creature,
Ful ofte sythe this markis sette his y^e
As he on hunting rood paraventure; 234
And whan it fil that he mighte hir espye,
He noght with wantoun loking of folye
His y^en caste on hir, but in sad wyse (181)
Up-on hir chere he wolde him ofte avyse,

Commending in his herte hir womman-
hede,

And eek hir vertu, passing any wight 240
Of so yong age, as wel in chere as dede.
For though the peple have no greet insight
In vertu, he considered ful right
Hir bountee, and disposed that he wolde
Wedde hir only, if ever he wedde sholde.

The day of wedding cam, but no wight
can (190) 246

Telle what womman that it sholde be;
For which merveille wondred many a man,
And seyden, whan they were in privete,
'Wol nat our lord yet leve his vanitee? 250
Wol he nat wedde? alas, allas the whyle!
Why wol he thus him-self and us bigyle?'

But natheles this markis hath don make
Of gemmes, set in gold and in asure,
Broches and ringes, for Grisildis sake, 255
And of hir clothing took he the mesure
By a mayde, lyk to hir stature, (201)
And eek of othere ornamentes alle
That un-to swich a wedding sholde falle.

The tyme of undern of the same day 260
Approcheth, that this wedding sholde be;
And al the paleys put was in array, Bothe halle and chambres, ech in his
degree;

Houses of office stuffed with plente 264
Ther maystow seen of dayntevous vitaille,
That may be founde, as fer as last Itaille.

This royal markis, richely arrayed, (211)
Lordes and ladyes in his companye,
The whiche unto the feste were y-prayed,
And of his retenue the bachalrye, 270
With many a sounn of sondry melodye,
Un-to the village, of the which I tolde,
In this array the righte wey han holde.

Grisilde of this, god woot, ful innocent,
That for hir shapen was al this array, 275

To fecchen water at a well is went, (220)
 And cometh hoom as sone as ever she may.
 For wel she hadde herd seyde, that thilke
 day
 The markis sholde wedde, and, if she
 mighte,
 She wolde fayn han seyn som of that
 sighte. 280

She thoughte, 'I wol with othere maydens
 stonde,
 That been my felawes, in our dore, and see
 The markiseese, and therfor wol I fonde
 To doon at hoom, as sone as it may be,
 The labour which that longeth un-to me ;
 And than I may at leyser hir biholde, 286
 If she this way un-to the castel holde.' (231)

And as she wolde over hir threshfold goon,
 The markis cam and gan hir for to calle ;
 And she set down hir water-pot anon 290
 Bisyde the threshfold, in an oxes stalle,
 And down up-on hir knees she gan to falle,
 And with sad contenance kneleth stille
 Til she had herd what was the lordes wille.

This thoughtful markis spak un-to this
 mayde (239) 295
 Ful sobrely, and seyde in this manere,
 'Wher is your fader, Grisildis?' he sayde,
 And she with reverence, in humble chere,
 Answarde, 'lord, he is al redy here.'
 And in she gooth with-uten lenger lette,
 And to the markis she hir fader fette. 301

He by the hond than took this olde man,
 And seyde thus, whan he him hadde
 asyde,
 'Janicula, I neither may ne can 304
 Lenger the plesance of myn herte hydo.
 If that thou vouche-sauf, what-so bityde,
 Thy doghter wol I take, er that I wende,
 As for my wyf, un-to hir lyves ende. (252)

Thou lovest me, I woot it wel, certeyn,
 And art my feithful lige man y-bore ; 310
 And al that lyketh me, I dar wel seyn
 It lyketh thee, and specially therfore
 Tel me that poynt that I have seyde before,
 If that thou wolt un-to that purpos drawe,
 To take me as for thy sone-in-lawe?' 315

This sodeyn cas this man astoned so, (260)
 That reed he wax, abayst, and al quaking
 He stood ; unnethes seyde he wordes mo,
 But only thus : 'lord,' quod he, 'my willing
 Is as ye wole, ne ayeines your lyking 320
 I wol no-thing ; ye be my lord so dere ;
 Right as yow lust governeth this matere.'

'Yet wol I,' quod this markis softly,
 'That in thy chambre I and thou and she
 Have a collacion, and wostow why? 325
 For I wol axe if it hir wille be (270)
 To be my wyf, and reule hir after me ;
 And al this shal be doon in thy presence,
 I wol noight speke out of thyn audience.'

And in the chambre whyl they were
 aboute 330
 Hir tretis, which as ye shal after here,
 The peple cam un-to the hous with-oute,
 And wondred hem in how honest manere
 And tentify she kepte hir fader dere. (278)
 But outerly Grisildis wondre mighte, 335
 For never erst ne saugh she swich a sighte.

No wonder is thogh that she were astoned
 To seen so greet a gest come in that place ;
 She never was to swiche gestes woned,
 For which she loked with ful pale face.
 But shortly forth this tale for to chace,
 These arn the wordes that the markis
 sayde 342
 To this benigne verray feithful mayde.

'Grisilde,' he seyde, 'ye shul wel under-
 stonde
 It lyketh to your fader and to me 345
 That I yow wedde, and eek it may so
 stonde, (290)
 As I suppose, ye wol that it so be.
 But this demandes axe I first,' quod he,
 'That, sith it shal be doon in hastif wyse,
 Wol ye assente, or elles yow avyse? 350

I seye this, be ye redy with good herte
 To al my lust, and that I frely may,
 As me best thinketh, do yow laughe or
 smerte,
 And never ye to grucche it, night ne day?
 And eek whan I sey "ye," ne sey nat
 "nay," 355

Neither by word ne frowning contenance ;
Swere this, and here I swere our alliance.'

Wondring upon this word, quaking for
drede, (302)
She seyde, 'lord, undigne and unworthy
Am I to thilke honour that ye me bede ; 360
But as ye wol your-self, right so wol I.
And heer I swere that never willingly
In werk ne thought I nil yow disobeye,
For to be deed, though me were looth to
deye.' (308) 364

'This is y-nogh, Grisilde myn !' quod he.
And forth he gooth with a ful sobre chere
Out at the dore, and after that cam she,
And to the peple he seyde in this manere,
'This is my wyf,' quod he, 'that standeth
here. 369
Honoureth hir, and loveth hir, I preye,
Who-so me loveth ; ther is na-more to
seye.'

And for that no-thing of hir olde gere
She sholde bringe in-to his hous, he bad
That women sholde dispoilen hir right
there ; (318) 374
Of which thise ladyes were nat right glad
To handle hir clothes wher-in she was clad.
But natheles this mayde bright of hewe
Fro foot to heed they clothed han al newa.

Hir heres han they kembd, that lay un-tressed
Ful rudely, and with hir fingers smale 380
A corone on hir heed they han y-dressed,
And sette hir ful of nowches grete and
smale ;
Of hir array what sholde I make a tale ?
Unnethe the peple hir knew for hir fair-
nesse,
Whan she translated was in swich rich-
esse. 385
This markis hath hir spoused with a ring Brought for the same cause, and than hir
sette (331)
Up-on an hors, snow-whyt and wel am-bling,
And to his paleys, er he lenger lette,
With joyful peple that hir ladde and
mette, 390

Conveyed hir, and thus the day they
spende
In revel, til the sonne gan descende.

And shortly forth this tale for to chace,
I seye that to this newe markisesse God hath swich favour sent hir of his
grace, 395
That it ne semed nat by lyknesse (340)
That she was born and fed in rudenesse,
As in a cote or in an oxe-stalle,
But norished in an emperoures halle.

To every wight she woxen is so dere 400
And worshipful, that folk ther she was bore
And from hir birthe knewe hir yeer by
yere,
Unnethe trowed they, but dorste han
swore
That to Janicle, of which I spak bifore,
She doghter nas, for, as by conjecture, 405
Hem thoughte she was another creature.

For thogh that ever vertuous was she, (351)
She was encessed in swich excellence
Of thewes gode, y-set in heigh bountee,
And so discreet and fair of eloquence, 410
So benigne and so digne of reverence,
And coude so the peples herte embrace,
That ech hir lovede that loked on hir face.

Noght only of Saluces in the toun
Publiced was the bountee of hir name, 415
But eek bisyde in many a regioun, (360)
If oon seyde wel, another seyde the same ;
So spradde of hir heigh bountee the fame,
That men and wommen, as wel yonge as
olde,
Gon to Saluce, upon hir to biholde. 420

Thus Walter lowly, nay but royally,
Wedded with fortunat honestete,
In goddes pees liveth ful esily
At hoom, and outward grace y-nogh had
he ; (368) 424
And for he saugh that under low degree
Was ofte vertu hid, the peple him helde
A prudent man, and that is seyn ful selde.
Nat only this Grisildis thurgh hir wit
Coude al the feet of wyfly hoomliness,

But eek, whan that the cas requyred it,
The commune profit coude she redresse.
Ther nas discord, rancour, ne hevynesse
In al that lond, that she ne coude apese,
And wysly bringe hem alle in reste and
ese.

Though that hir housbonde absent were
anoon, 435

If gentil men, or others of hir contree
Were wrothe, she wolde bringen hem
atoun; (381)

So wyse and rype wordes hadde she,
And jugements of so greet equitee,
That she from heven sent was, as men
wende, 440
Peple to save and every wrong t'amenda.

Nat longe tyme after that this Grisild
Was wedded, she a daughter hath y-bore,
Al had hir lever have born a knave child.
Glad was this markis and the folk ther-
fore; 445

For though a mayde child come al bifore,
She may unto a knave child atteyne (391)
By lyklihed, sin she nis nat bareyna.

Explicit secunda para.

Incipit tercia para.

Ther fil, as it bifalleth tymes mo,
Whan that this child had souked but
a throwe, 450

This markis in his herte longeth so
To tempte his wyf, hir sadnesse for to
knowe,

That he ne mighte out of his herte throwe
This merveillous desyr, his wyf t'assaye, Needless, god woot, he thoughte hir for t'affraye. 455

He hadde assayed hir y-nogh bifore, (400)
And fond hir ever good; what neded it Hir for to tempte and alwey more and
more?

Though som men praise it for a subtil wit,
But as for me, I seye that yvel it sit 460
T'assaye a wyf whan that it is no nede,
And putten her in anguish and in drede.

For which this markis wroghte in this
manere;

He cam alone a-night, ther as she lay.

With sterne face and with ful trouble
chere, 465

And seyde thus, 'Grisild,' quod he, 'that
day (410)

That I yow took out of your povre array,
And putte yow in estaat of heigh noblesse,
Ye have nat that forgotten, as I gesse.

I seye, Grisild, this present dignitee, 470
In which that I have put yow, as I trowe,

Maketh yow nat forgetful for to be
That I yow took in povre estaat ful lowe
For any wele ye moot your-selven knowe.
Tak hede of every word that I yow seye, Ther is no wight that hereth it but we
tweye. (420) 476

Ye woot your-self wel, how that ye cam
here

In-to this hous, it is nat longe ago,
And though to me that ye be lief and
dere,

Un-to my gentils ye be no-thing so; 480
They seyn, to hem it is greet shame and
wo

For to be subgets and ben in servage
To thee, that born art of a smal village.

And namely, sith thy doghter was y-bore,
These wordes han they spoken doutelees;
But I desyre, as I have doon bifore, (430)
To live my lyf with hem in reste and
pees;

I may nat in this caas be recchelees.
I moot don with thy doghter for the
beste,

Nat as I wolde, but as my peple leste. 490

And yet, god wot, this is ful looth to me;
But nathelees with-oute your witing
I wol nat doon, but this wol I,' quod he,
'That ye to me assente as in this thing.
Shewe now your pacience in your werking That ye me highte and swore in your village (440) 496
That day that maked was our mariage.'

Whan she had herd al this, she noght
ameved

Neither in word, or chere, or counten-
aunce;

For, as it semed, she was nat agreed: 500

She seyde, 'lord, al lyth in your ples-
saunce,

My child and I with hertly obeisaunce
Ben youre al, and ye mowe save or spille
Your owene thing; werketh after your
wille. 504

Ther may no-thing, god so my soule save,
Lyken to yow that may displese me; (450)
Ne I desyre no-thing for to have,
Ne drede for to lese, save only ye;
This wil is in myn herte and ay shal be.
No lengthe of tyme or deeth may this deface, 510
Ne chaunge my corage to another place.'

Glad was this markis of hir answering,
But yet he feyned as he were nat so;
Al drery was his chere and his loking
Whan that he sholde out of the chambre
go. 515
Sone after this, a furlong wey or two, (460)
He prively hath told al his entente
Un-to a man, and to his wyf him sente.

A maner sergeant was this privee man,
The which that faithful ofte he founden
hadde 520
In thinges grete, and eek swich folk wel
can

Don execucioun on thinges badde.
The lord knew wel that he him loved and
dradde;
And whan this sergeant wiste his lordes
wille,
In-to the chambre he stalked him ful
stille. 525

'Madame,' he seyde, 'ye mote foryeve it
me, (470)
Thogh I do thing to which I am con-streyned;

Ye ben so wys that ful wel knowe ye
That lordes hestes mowe nat been y-
feyned;
They mowe wel been biwailed or com-
pleyned, 530

But men mot nede un-to her lust obeye,
And so wol I; ther is na-more to seye.

This child I am comanded for to take'—
And spak na-more, but out the child he
hente

Despitously, and gan a chere make 535
As though he wolde han slayn it er he
wente. (480)

Grisildis mot al suffren and consente;
And as a lamb she sitteth meke and stille,
And leet this cruel sergeant doon his wille.

Suspicious was the diffame of this man,
Suspect his face, suspect his word also; 541
Suspect the tyme in which he this bigan.
Allas! hir doghter that she lovede so
She wende he wolde han slawen it right
tho. 544
But natheles she neither weep ne syked,
Consenting hir to that the markis lyked.

But atte laste speken she bigan, (491)
And mekely she to the sergeant preyde,
So as he was a worthy gentil man,
That she moste kisse hir child er that it
deyde; 550
And in her barm this litel child she leyde
With ful sad face, and gan the child to kisse
And lulled it, and after gan it blisse.

And thus she seyde in hir benigne voys,
'Far weel, my child; I shal thee never
see; 555
But, sith I thee have marked with the croys, (500)

Of thilke fader blessed mote thou be,
That for us deyde up-on a croys of tree.
Thy soule, litel child, I him bitake,
For this night shaltow dyen for my sake.'

I trowe that to a norice in this cas 561
It had ben hard this rewthe for to so;
Wel mighte a mooder than han cryed
'allas!'

But natheles so sad stedfast was she,
That she endured all adversitee, 565
And to the sergeant mekely she seyde, (510)
'Have heer agayn your litel yonge mayde.

Goth now,' quod she, 'and dooth my lordes heste,

But o thing wol I preye yow of your grace,
That, but my lord forbad yow, atte leste
Burieth this litel body in som place 571
That bestes ne no briddes it to-race.'
But he no word wol to that purpos seye,
But took the child and wente upon his
weye.

This sergeant cam un-to his lord ageyn, 575
 And of Grisildis wordes and hir chere (530)
 He tolde him point for point, in short and playn,
 And him presenteth with his doghter
 dera.
 Somwhat this lord hath rewthe in his
 manere;
 But natheles his purpos heald he stille,
 As lordes doon, whan they wol han hir
 wille; 581

And bad his sergeant that he prively Sholde this child ful softe winde and wrappe
 With alle circumstances tendrely,
 And carie it in a cofre or in a lappe; 585
 But, up-on payne his heed of for to swappe, (530)
 That no man sholde knowe of his entante, Ne wenne he cam, ne whider that he
 wente;

But at Boloigne to his suster dera,
 That thilke tyme of Panik was countesse,
 He sholde it take, and shewe hir this
 matere, 591
 Bisekinge hir to don hir businesse
 This child to fostre in alle gentillesse;
 And whos child that it was he bad hir
 hyde
 From every wight, for oght that may
 bityde. 595

The sergeant gooth, and hath fulfilled this
 thing; (540)
 But to this markis now retourne we;
 For now goth he ful faste imagining
 If by his wyves chere he mighte see,
 Or by hir word aperceyve that she 600
 Were chaunged; but he never hir coude
 finde
 But ever in oon y-lyke sad and kinde.

As glad, as humble, as bisy in servyse,
 And eek in love as she was wont to be,
 Was she to him in every maner wyse; 605
 Ne of hir doghter noght a word spak she.
 Non accident for noon adversitee (551)
 Was seyn in hir, ne never hir doghter
 name
 Ne nempned she, in earnest nor in gama.

Explicit tercia para.

Sequitur pars quarta.

In this estaat ther passed been foure
 yeer
 Er she with childe was; but, as god wolde,
 A knave child she bar by this Walter,
 Ful gracious and fair for to biholde.
 And whan that folk it to his fader tolde,
 Nat only he, but al his contree, marie 615
 Was for this child, and god they thanke and herie. (560)

Whan it was two yeer old, and fro the brest
 Departed of his norice, on a day
 This markis caughte yet another lest
 To tempte his wyf yet offer, if he may. 620
 O needles was she tempted in assay!
 But wedded men ne knowe no mesure,
 Whan that they finde a pacient creature.

'Wyf,' quod this markis, 'ye han herd er
 this,
 My peple sikly berth our mariage, 625
 And namely, sith my sone y-boren is, (570)
 Now is it worse than ever in al our age.
 The murmur sleeth myn herte and my
 corage;
 For to myne eres comth the voys so
 smerte,
 That it wel ny destroyed hath myn herte.

Now sey they thus, "whan Walter is
 agoon, 631
 Then shal the blood of Janicle succede
 And been our lord, for other have we
 noon;"
 Swiche wordes seith my peple, out of
 drede.
 Wel oughte I of swich murmur taken
 hede; 635
 For certainly I drede swich sentence, (580)
 Though they nat pleyn speke in myn
 audience.

I wolde live in pees, if that I mighte;
 Wherfor I am disposed outerly,
 As I his suster servede by nighte, 640
 Right so thanke I to serve him prively;
 This warne I yow, that ye nat sodeynly
 Out of your-self for no wo sholde outraye;
 Beth pacient, and ther-of I yow praye.'

'I have,' quod she, 'seyd thus, and ever
shal, (589) 645

I wol no thing, ne nil no thing, certayn,
But as yow list; noght greveth me at al, Thogh that my doghter and my sone be
slayn,

At your comandement, this is to sayn.
I have noght had no part of children
tweyne 650

But first siknesse, and after wo and payne.

Ye been our lord, doth with your owene
thing

Right as yow list; axeth no reed at me.
For, as I lefte at hoom al my clothing,
When I first cam to yow, right so,' quod
she, 655

'Lefte I my wil and al my libertee, (600)
And took your clothing; wherfor I yow
preye,
Doth your plesaunce, I wol your lust
obeye.

And certes, if I hadde prescience
Your wil to knowe er ye your lust me
tolde, 660

I wolde it doon with-outen negligence;
But now I woot your lust and what ye
wolde,

Al your plesaunce ferme and stable
I holde;

For wiste I that my deeth wolde do yow
ese, 664

Right gladly wolde I dyan, yow to plesa.

Deeth may noght make no comparisoun
Un-to your love: ' and, when this markis
sey (611)

The constance of his wyf, he casts adoun
His yē two, and wondreth that she may
In pacience suffre al this array. 670

And forth he gooth with dreery conten-
saunce,

But to his herte it was ful greet plesaunce.

This ugly sergeant, in the same wyse
That he hir doghter caughte, right so he,
Or worse, if men worse can devyse, 675 Hath hent hir sone, that ful was of beaute. (620)

And ever in oon so pacient was she,
That she no chere made of hevynesse,
But kiste hir sone, and after gan it blesse;

Save this; she preyed him that, if he
mighte, 680

Hir litel sone he wolde in erthe grave,
His tendre limes, delicat to sighte,
Fro foules and fro bestes for to save.
But she non answer of him mighte have.
He wente his wey, as him no-thing ne
roghte; 685

But to Boloigne he tendrely it broghte.

This markis wondreth ever lenger the
more (631)

Up-on hir pacience, and if that he
Ne hadde soothly knowen ther-bifore,
That partly hir children lovede she, 690
He wolde have wend that of som subtiltee,
And of malice or for cruel corage,
That she had suffred this with sad visage.

But wel he knew that next him-self,
certayn, 694

She loved hir children best in every wyse.
But now of wywomen wolde I axen fayn,
If thise assayes mighte nat suffice? (641)
What coude a sturdy housbond more
devyse

To preve hir wyfhod and hir stedfast-
nesse, 699
And he continuing ever in sturdinesse?

But ther ben folk of swich condicioun,
That, when they have a certain purpos
take,

They can nat stinte of hir entencioun,
But, right as they were bounden to a stake,

They wol nat of that firste purpos slake.
Right so this markis fulliche hath pur-
posed (650) 706

To tempte his wyf, as he was first disposed.

He waiteth, if by word or contenance
That she to him was changed of corage;
But never coude he finde variance; 710
She was ay oon in herte and in visage;
And ay the forther that she was in age,
The more trewe, if that it were possible,
She was to him in love, and more penible.

For which it semed thus, that of hem two Ther nas but o wil; for, as Walter leste,
The same lust was hir plesaunce also, (661)

And, god be thanked, al fil for the beste.
She shewed wel, for no worldly unreste
A wyf, as of hir-self, no-thing ne sholde
Wille in effect, but as hir housbond wolde.

The sclaundre of Walter ofte and wyde
spradde, 722

That of a cruel herte he wikkedly,
For he a povre womman wedded hadde,
Hath mordred bothe his children prively.
Swich murmur was among hem comunly.
No wonder is, for to the peples ere (671)
Ther cam no word but that they mordred
were.

For which, wher-as his peple ther-bifore
Had loved him wel, the sclaundre of his diffame 730

Made hem that they him hatede therefore;
To been a mordrer is an hateful name.
But natheles, for earnest ne for game
He of his cruel purpos nolde stente; 734
To tempte his wyf was set al his entente.

Whan that his doghter twelf yeer was of
age, (680)

He to the court of Rome, in subtil wyse
Enformed of his wil, sente his message,
Comaunding hem swiche bulles to devyse
As to his cruel purpos may suffyse, 740
How that the pope, as for his peples reste,
Bad him to wedde another, if him leste.

I seye, he bad they sholde countrefete

The popes bulles, making mencion
That he hath leve his firste wyf to lete, 745
As by the popes dispensacioun, (690)

To stinte rancour and dissencioun Bitwixe his peple and him; thus seyde
the bulle,

The which they han publiced atte fulla.

The rude peple, as it no wonder is, 750

Wenden ful wel that it had been right so;
But whan thise tydinges cam to Grisildis,
I deme that hir herte was ful wo.

But she, y-lyke sad for evermo,
Disposed was, this humble creature, 755
Th'adversitee of fortune al t'endure. (700)

Abyding ever his lust and his plessaunce,
To whom that she was yeven, herte and al,
As to hir verray worldly suffisaunce;

But shortly if this storie I tallen shal, 760
This markis writen hath in special
A lettre in which he sheweth his entente,
And secrely he to Boloigne it sente.

To th'erl of Panik, which that hadde tho
Wedded his suster, preyde he specially 765
To bringen hoom agayn his children two
In honourable estaat al openly. (711)

But o thing he him preyde outerly,
That he to no wight, though men wolde
enquere,
Sholde nat telle, whos children that they
were, 770

But seye, the mayden sholde y-wedded be Un-to the markis of Saluce anon.

And as this erl was preyed, so dide he;
For at day set he on his way is goon
Toward Saluce, and lordes many oon, 775
In riche array, this mayden for to gyde;
Hir yonge brother ryding hir bysyde. (721)

Arrayed was toward hir mariage
This freshe mayde, ful of gemmes clere; Hir brother, which that seven yeer was of
age, 780

Arrayed eek ful fresh in his manere.
And thus in greet noblesse and with glad
chere,

Toward Saluces shaping hir journey,
Fro day to day they ryden in hir wey.

Explicit quarta pars.

Sequitur quinta pars.

Among al this, after his wikke usage, 785

This markis, yet his wyf to tempte more
To the uttereste prove of hir corage, (731)
Fully to han experience and lore

If that she were as stedfast as bifore,
He on a day in open audience 790
Ful boistously hath seyde hir this sentence:

'Certes, Grisilde, I hadde y-nough ples-
saunce

To han yow to my wyf for your goodnesse,
As for your trouthe and for your obeis-
saunce,

Nought for your linage ne for your
richesse; 795

But now knowe I in verray soothfast-
nesse (740)

That in gret lordshipe, if I wel avyse,
Ther is gret servitude in sondry wyse.

I may nat don as every plowman may ;
My peple me constreyneth for to take 800
Another wyf, and cryen day by day ;
And eek the pope, rancour for to slake,
Consenteth it, that dar I undertake ;
And troweliche thus muche I wol yow

seye,
My newe wyf is coming by the weye. 805

Be strong of herte, and voyde anon hir
place, (750)

And thilke dower that ye broghten me
Tak it agayn, I graunte it of my grace ;
Retourneth to your fadres hous,' quod he ;
'No man may alway han prosperitee ; 810
With evene herte I rede yow t'endure
The strook of fortune or of aventure.'

And she answerde agayn in pacience,
'My lord,' quod she, 'I woot, and wiste
alway

How that bitwixen your magnificence 815
And my poverte no wight can ne may (760)
Maken comparison ; it is no nay.
I ne heeld me never digne in no manere
To be your wyf, no, ne your chamberere.

And in this hous, ther ye me lady made—
The heighe god take I for my witnessse, 821
And also wisly he my soule glade—
I never heeld me lady ne maistresse,
But humble servant to your worthinesse,
And ever shal, whyl that my lyf may
dure, 825
Aboven every worldly creature. (770)

That ye so longe of your benignitee
Han holden me in honour and nobleye,
Wher-as I was noght worthy for to be,
That thanke I god and yow, to whom
I preyse 830
Forgyelde it yow ; there is na-more to seye.
Un-to my fader gladly wol I wende,
And with him dwelle un-to my lyves ende.

Ther I was fostred of a child ful smal,
Til I be deed, my lyf ther wol I lede 835
A widwe elene, in body, herte, and al. (780)
For sith I yaf to yow my maydenhede,
And am your trewe wyf, it is no drede,

God shilde swich a lordes wyf to take Another man to housbonde or to make. 840

And of your newe wyf, god of his grace
So graunte yow wele and prosperitee :
For I wol gladly yelden hir my place,
In which that I was blisful wont to be,
For sith it lyketh yow, my lord,' quod
she, 845

'That whylom weren al myn hertes reste,
That I shal goon, I wol gon when yow
leste. (791)

But ther-as ye me profre swich dowaire
As I first broghte, it is wel in my minde
It were my wrecched clothes, no-thing
faire, 850
The which to me were hard now for to
finde.

O gode god ! how gentil and how kinde
Ye semed by your speche and your visage
The day that makid was our mariage !

But sooth is seyde, algate I finde it trewe—
For in effect it preved is on me—(800) 856
Love is noght old as whan that it is newe.
But certes, lord, for noon adversitee,
To dyen in the cas, it shal nat be 859
That ever in word or werk I shal repente
That I yow yaf myn herte in hool entente.

My lord, ye woot that, in my fadres place,
Ye dede me strepe out of my povre wede,
And richely me cladden, of your grace.
To yow broghte I noght elles, out of drede,
But feyth and nakednesse and mayden-
hede. (810) 866

And here agayn my clothing I restore,
And eek my wedding-ring, for evermore.

The remenant of your jewels redy be 869
In-with your chambre, dar I saufully sayn ;
Naked out of my fadres hous,' quod she,
'I cam, and naked moot I turne agayn.
Al your plesaunce wol I folwen fayn ;
But yet I hope it be nat your entente 874
That I smoklees out of your paleys wente.

Ye coude nat doon so dishoneste a thing,
That thilke wombe in which your children
leye (821)
Sholde, biforn the peple, in my walking,

Be seyn al bare ; wherfor I yow preye,
 Lat me nat lyk a worm go by the weye. 880
 Remembre yow, myn owene lord so dere,
 I was your wyf, thogh I unworthy were.

Wherfor, in guerdon of my maydenhede,
 Which that I broghte, and noght agayn
 I bere, 884

As voucheth sauf to yeve me, to my mede,
 But swich a smok as I was wont to were,
 That I therwith may wrye the wombe of
 here (831)

That was your wyf ; and heer take I my
 leve

Of yow, myn owene lord, lest I yow greve.'

'The smok,' quod he, 'that thou hast on thy bak, 890

Lat it be stille, and ber it forth with thee.'
 But wel unnethes thilke word he spak,
 But wente his wey for rewthe and for
 pitee.

Biforn the folk hir-selven strepeth she,
 And in hir smok, with heed and foot al
 bare, (839) 895
 Toward hir fader hous forth is she fare.

The folk hir folwe wepinge in hir weye,
 And fortune ay they cursen as they goon ;
 But she fro weping kepte hir yën dreye,
 Ne in this tyme word ne spak she noon. 900
 Hir fader, that this tyding herde anon,
 Curseth the day and tyme that nature
 Shoop him to been a lyves creature.

For out of doute this olde povre man
 Was ever in suspect of hir mariage ; 905
 For ever he demed, sith that it bigan, (850)
 That whan the lord fulfild had his corage,
 Him wolde thinke it were a disparage
 To his estaat so lowe for t'alighte,
 And voyden hir as sone as ever he mighte.

Agayns his doghter hastilich goth he, 911
 For he by noyse of folk knew hir cominge,
 And with hir olde cote, as it mighte be,
 He covered hir, ful sorwefully wepinge ;
 But on hir body mighte he it nat bringe.
 For rude was the cloth, and more of age
 By dayes fele than at hir mariage. (861)

Thus with hir fader, for a certeyn space,
 Dwelleth this flour of wyfly pacience,

That neither by hir wordes ne hir face 920
 Biforn the folk, ne eek in hir absence,
 Ne shewed she that hir was doon offence ;
 Ne of hir heigh estaat no remembraunce
 Ne hadde she, as by hir countenaunce.

No wonder is, for in hir grete estaat 925
 Hir goost was ever in pleyn humylitee ;
 No tendre mouth, non herte delicaat, (871)
 No pompe, no semblant of royaltee,
 But ful of pacient benignitee,
 Discreet and prydeles, ay honourable, 930
 And to hir housbonde ever make and
 stable.

Men speke of Job and most for his hum-
 blesse,
 As clerkes, whan hem list, can wel endyte,
 Namely of men, but as in soothfastnesse, Thogh clerkes preyse women but a
 lyte, 935
 Ther can no man in humblesse him ac-
 quyte (880)
 As womman can, ne can ben half so trewe
 As wommen been, but it be falle of-newa.

[Parv Sexta.]

Fro Boloigne is this erl of Panik come,
 Of which the fame up-sprang to more and
 lesse, 940
 And in the peples eres alle and some
 Was couth eek, that a newe markisesse
 He with him broghte, in swich pompe and
 richesse,
 That never was ther seyn with mannes yë
 So noble array in al West Lumbardy. 945

The markis, which that shoop and knew
 al this, (890)
 Er that this erl was come, sente his message
 For thilke sely povre Grisildis ;
 And she with humble herte and glad
 visage, 949
 Nat with no swollen thoght in hir corage,
 Cam at his heeste, and on hir knees hir
 sette,
 And reverently and wysly she him grette.

'Grisild,' quod he, 'my wille is outerly,
 This mayden, that shal wedded been to me,
 Receyved be to-morwe as royally 955

As it possible is in myn hous to be. (900)
 And eek that every wight in his degree
 Have his estaat in sitting and servyse
 And heigh plesaunce, as I can best devyse.

I have no wommen suffisaunt certayn 960
 The chambres for t'arraye in ordinaunce
 After my lust, and therfor wolde I fayn
 That thyn were al swich maner govern-
 aunce;

Thou knowest eek of old al my plesaunce;
 Though thyn array be badde and yvel
 biseye, 965
 Do thou thy devoir at the leeste weye.' (910)

'Nat only, lord, that I am glad,' quod she,
 'To doon your lust, but I desyre also Yow for to serve and plesse in my degree
 With-outen faynting, and shal evermo. 970
 Ne never, for no wele ne no wo,
 Ne shal the goot with-in myn herte stente
 To love yow best with al my trewe entente.'

And with that word she gan the hous to
 dighte,
 And tables for to sette and beddes make;
 And peyned hir to doon al that she
 mighte, (920) 976
 Preying the chambereres, for goddes sake,
 To hasten hem, and faste swepe and shake;
 And she, the moste servisable of alle,
 Hath every chambre arrayed and his halle.

Abouten undern gan this erl alighte, 981
 That with him broghte these noble children tweye,
 For which the peple ran to seen the sighte
 Of hir array, so richely biseye;
 And than at erst amonges hem they seye,
 That Walter was no fool, thogh that him
 leste (930) 986
 To change his wyf, for it was for the beste.

For she is fairer, as they demen alle,
 Than is Grisilde, and more tendre of age,
 And fairer fruit bitwane hem sholde
 falle, 990
 And more plesant, for hir heigh linage;
 Hir brother eek so fair was of visage,
 That hem to seen the peple hath caught
 plesaunce,
 Commending now the markis govern-
 aunce.—

Auctor. 'O stormy peple! unsad and ever untrewa! (939) 995

Ay undiscreet and chaunging as a vane,
 Delyting ever in rumbel that is newe,
 For lyk the mone ay waxe ye and wane;
 Ay ful of clapping, dere y-nogh a jane;
 Your doom is fals, your constance yvel
 preveth, 1000
 A ful greet fool is he that on yow leveth!'

Thus seyden sadde folk in that citee,
 Whan that the peple gazed up and down,
 For they were glad, right for the noveltee,
 To han a newe lady of hir toun. 1005
 Na-more of this make I now mencionn;
 But to Grisilde agayn wol I me dresse, (951)
 And telle hir constance and hir businessse.—

Ful bisy was Grisilde in every thing
 That to the feste was apertinent; 1010
 Right noght was she abayst of hir clothing, Though it were rude and somdel eek to-
 rent.

But with glad chere to the yate is went,
 With other folk, to grete the markisessse,
 And after that doth forth hir businessse. 1015

With so glad chere his gastes she receyveth,
 And conningly, everich in his degree, (961)
 That no defaute no man aperceyveth;
 But ay they wondren what she mighte be
 That in so povre array was for to see, 1020
 And coude swich honour and reverence;
 And worthily they preisen hir prudence.

In al this mene whyle she ne stente
 This mayde and eek hir brother to com-
 mende

With al hir herte, in ful benigne entente,
 So wel, that no man coude hir pryse
 amende. (970) 1026
 But atte laste, whan that these lordes
 wende

To sitten down to mete, he gan to calle
 Grisilde, as she was bisy in his halle.

'Grisilde,' quod he, as it were in his
 pley, 1030

'How lyketh thee my wyf and hir beautes?'
 'Right wel,' quod she, 'my lord; for, in good fey,

A fairer say I never noon than she.
 I prey to god yewe hir prosperitee; 1034

And so hope I that he wol to yow sende
Plesance y-nogh un-to your lyves ende.

O thing biseke I yow and warne also, (981)
That ye ne prikke with no tormentinge
This tendre mayden, as ye han don mo;
For she is fostred in hir norishinge 1040
More tendrely, and, to my suppinge,
She coude nat adversitee endure
As coude a povre fostred creature.'

And whan this Walter sey hir pacience,
Hir glade chere and no malice at al, 1045
And he so ofte had doon to hir offence, (990)
And she ay sad and constant as a wal,
Continuing ever hir innocence overal,
This sturdy markis gan his herte dresse
To rewen up-on hir wyflystedfastnesse. 1050

'This is y-nogh, Grisilde myn,' quod he,
'Be now na-more agast ne yvel apayed;
I have thy feith and thy benignitee,
As wel as ever womman was, assayed,
In greet estaat, and povrelliche arrayed. 1055
Now knows I, dere wyf, thy stedfast-
nesse,— (1000)
And hir in armes took and gan hir kesse.

And she for wonder took of it no keep;
She herde nat what thing he to hir seyde;
She ferde as she had stert out of a sleep,
Til she out of hir masednesse abreyde. 1061
'Grisilde,' quod he, 'by god that for us
deyde,
Thou art my wyf, ne noon other I have,
Ne never hadde, as god my soule save!

This is thy doghter which thou hast supposed 1065
To be my wyf; that other feithfully (1010)
Shal be myn heir, as I have ay purposed;
Thou bare him in thy body trewely.
At Boloigne have I kept hem prively; 1069
Tak hem agayn, for now maystow nat
seye
That thou hast lorn non of thy children
tweye.

And folk that otherweyes han seyde of me,
I warne hem wel that I have doon this
dede
For no malice ne for no crueltee, 1074

But for t'assaye in thee thy wommanhede,
And nat to sleen my children, god for-
bede! (1020)

But for to kepe hem prively and stille,
Til I thy purpos knewe and al thy wille.'

Whan she this herde, aswowne doun she falleth 1079
For pitous joye, and after hir swowninge
She bothe hir yonge children un-to hir
calleth,

And in hir armes, pitously wepinge,
Embraceth hem, and tendrely kissinge
Ful lyk a mooder, with hir salte teares 1084
She batheth bothe hir visage and hir heres.

O, which a pitous thing it was to see (1030) Hir swowning, and hir humble voys to
here!

'Grauntmercy, lord, that thanke I yow,'
quod she,

'That ye han saved me my children dere!
Now rekke I never to ben deed right
here; 1090

Sith I stonde in your love and in your grace,
No fors of death, ne whan my spirit pace!

O tendre, o dere, o yonge children myne,
Your woful mooder wende stedfastly 1094
That cruel houndes or som foul vermyne
Hadde eten yow; but god, of his mercy,
And your benigne fader tendrely (1041)
Hath doon yow kept;' and in that same
stounde

Al sodeynly she swappte adoun to grounde.

And in her swongh so sadly holdeth she Hir children two, whan she gan hem
t'embrace, 1101

That with greet sleighte and greet difficultee

The children from hir arm they gonne
arace. (1047)

O many a teer on many a pitous face 1104
Doun ran of hem that stoden hir bisyde;
Unneth abouten hir mighte they abyde.

Walter hir gladeth, and hir sorwe slaketh;
She ryseth up, abaysed, from hir traunce,
And every wight hir joye and feste maketh,
Til she hath caught agayn hir conten-
saunce. 1110

Walter hir dooth so feithfully plesauce,
That it was deyntee for to seen the chere
Bitwixe hem two, now they ben met y-fere.

Thise ladyes, whan that they hir tymesay,
Han taken hir, and in-to chambre goon,
And strepen hir out of hir rude array,⁽¹⁰⁶⁰⁾
And in a cloth of gold that brighte shoon,
With a coroune of many a riche stoon
Up-on hir heed, they in-to halle hir
broghte, 1119
And ther she was honoured as hir oghte.

Thus hath this pitous day a blisful ende,
For every man and womman dooth his
might

This day in murthe and revel to dispende
Til on the welkne shoon the sterres light.
For more solempne in every mannes sight
This feste was, and gretter of costage, 1126
Than was the revel of hir mariage. (1071)

Ful many a yeer in heigh prosperitee
Liven thise two in concord and in reste,
And richely his doghter maried he 1130
Un-to a lord, oon of the worthieste
Of al Itaille; and than in pees and reste
His wyves fader in his court he kepeth,
Til that the soule out of his body crepeth.

His sone succedeth in his heritage 1135
In reste and pees, after his fader day; (1080)
And fortunat was eek in mariage,
Al putte he nat his wyf in greet assay.
This world is nat so strong, it is no nay,
As it hath been in olde tymes yore, 1140
And herkneth what this auctour seith therefore.

This storie is seyed, nat for that wyves
sholde

Folwen Grisilde as in humilitee,
For it were importable, though they wolde;
But for that every wight, in his degree, 1145
Sholde be constant in adveraitee (1090)
As was Grisilde; therfor Petrark wryteth
This storie, which with heigh style he endyteth.

For, sith a womman was so pacient 1149
Un-to a mortal man, wel more us oghte
Receyven al in gree that god us sent;

For greet skile is, he prove that he wroghte.
But he ne tempteth no man that he boghte,
As seith saint Jame, if ye his pistol rede;
He preveth folk al day, it is no drede, 1155

And suffreth us, as for our excercyse,⁽¹¹⁰⁰⁾
With sharpe scourges of adveraitee
Ful ofte to be bete in sondry wyse;
Nat for to knowe our wil, for certes he,
Er we were born, knew al our freltee; 1160
And for our beste is al his governaunce;
Let us than live in vertuons suffraunce.*

But o word, lordinges, herkneth er I go:—
It were ful hard to finde now a dayes (1108)
In al a toun Grisildes three or two; 1165
For, if that they were put to swiche assayes,
The gold of hem hath now so badde alayes
With bras, that thogh the coyne be fair
at yē,
It wolde rather breste a-two than plye.

For which heer, for the wyves love of Bathe, 1170
Whos lyf and al hir secte god mayntene
In heigh maistrye, and elles were it scathe,
I wol with lusty herte fresshe and grene
Seyn yow a song to glade yow, I wene,
And lat us stinte of earnestful matere:— Herkneth my song, that seith in this
manere. (1120) 1176

Levoy de Chaucer.

Grisilde is deed, and eek hir pacience,
And bothe atones buried in Itaille;
For which I crye in open audience,
No wedded man so hardy be t'assaille 1180
His wyves pacience, in hope to finde
Grisildes, for in certain he shall faille!

* It seems to have been Chaucer's intention,
in the first instance, to end this Tale here. Hence, we find, in MSS. E. Hn. Cm. Dd., the following genuine, but rejected stanza, suitable for insertion
at this point:—

Bihold the merye wordes of the Hoste.
This worthy Clerk, whan ended was his tale,
Our hoste seyde, and swoor by goddes bones,
'Me were lever than a barel ale
My wyf at hoom had herd this legende ones;
This is a gentil tale for the nones,
As to my purpos, wiste ye my wille;
But thing that wol nat be, lat it be stille.'

Here endeth the Tale of the Clerk of Oxenford.

O noble wyves, ful of heigh prudence,
 Lat noon humilitee your tongenaille, 1184
 Ne lat no clerk have cause or diligence
 To wryte of yow a storie of swich mervaille
 As of Grisildis pacient and kinde; (1131)
 Lest Chichevache yow swelwe in hir entraillle!

Folweth Ekko, that holdeth no silence,
 But evere answereth at the countretaille;
 Beth nat bidaffed for your innocence, 1191
 But sharply tak on yow the governaille.
 Emprinteth wel this lesson in your minde
 For commune profit, sith it may availle.

Ye archewyves, stondeh at defence, 1195
 Sinye be stronge as is a greet camaille; (1140)
 Nesuffreth nat that men yow doon offence.
 And sclendre wyves, feble as in bataille,

Beth egre as is a tygre yond in Inde;
 Ay clappeth as a mille, I yow consaille. 1200

Ne dreed hem nat, do hem no reverence;
 For though thyn housbonde armed be in maille,

The arwes of thy crabbed eloquence
 Shal perce his brest, and eek his aventaille;
 In jalousye I rede eek thou him binde, 1205
 And thou shalt make him couche as dooth
 a quaille. (1150)

If thou be fair, ther folk ben in presence
 Shew thou thy visage and thyn apparaille;
 If thou be foul, be free of thy dispence, 1209
 To gete thee freendes ay do thy travaille;
 Be ay of chere as light as leef on linde,
 And lat him care, and wepe, and wringe,
 and waille! (1156)

Here endeth the Clerk of Oxonford his Tale.

THE MERCHANT'S PROLOGUE.

The Prologe of the Marchantes Tale.

'Weping and wayling, care, and other
 sorwe

I know y-nogh, on even and a-morwe,
 Quod the Marchaunt, 'and so don othere
 mo 1215

That wedded been, I trowe that it be so.
 For, wel I woot, it fareth so with me.
 I have a wyf, the worste that may be;
 For though the feend to hir y-coupled were,
 She wolde him overmacche, I dar wel
 swere. 1220

What sholde I yow rehcer in special
 Hir hye malice? she is a shrewe at al. (10)
 Ther is a long and large difference
 Bitwix Grisildis grete pacience
 And of my wyf the passing crueltee. 1225
 Were I unbounden, al-so moot I thee!
 I wolde never eft comen in the snare.
 We wedded men live in sorwe and care;

Assaye who-so wol, and he shal finde
 I seye sooth, by seint Thomas of Inde, 1230
 As for the more part, I sey nat alle.
 God shilde that it sholde so bifalle! (20)

A! good sir hoost! I have y-wedded be Thise monthes two, and more nat, pardee;
 And yet, I trowe, he that all his lyve 1235
 Wyfles hath been, though that men wolde him ryve

Un-to the herte, ne coude in no manere
 Tellen so muchel sorwe, as I now here
 Coude tellen of my wyves cursednesse!

'Now,' quod our hoost, 'Marchaunt, so god yow blesse, 1240
 Sin ye so muchel knowen of that art,
 Ful hertely I pray yow telle us part.' (30)
 'Gladly,' quod he, 'but of myn owene
 sore,

For sory herte, I telle may na-more.' 1244

THE MARCHANTES TALE.

Here biginneth the Marchantes Tale.

WHYLOW ther was dwellinge in Lumbardy
A worthy knight, that born was of Pavye,
In which he lived in greet prosperitee;
And sixty year a wyfles man was he,
And folwed ay his bodily delyt
On women, ther-as was his appetyt, 1250
As doon thise foles that ben seculer.

And whan that he was passed sixty year,
Were it for holinesse or for dotage,
I can natseye, but swich a greet corage, (10)
Hadde this knight to been a wedded man,
That day and night he dooth al that he can Teespyen where he mighte wedded be;
Preynges our lord to granten him, that he Mighte ones knowe of thilke blisful lyf
That is bitwixe an housbond and his wyf;
And for to live under that holy bond 1261
With which that first god man and womman bond.

'Non other lyf,' seyde he, 'is worth a bene;
For wedlok is so esy and so clene, (20)
That in this world it is a paradys.' 1265
Thus seyde this olde knight, that was so
wys.

And certainly, as sooth as god is king,
To take a wyf, it is a glorious thing,
And namely whan a man is old and hoor;
Thanne is a wyf the fruit of his tresor. 1270
Than sholde he take a yong wyf and a feir,
On which he mighte engendren him an
heir,

And lede his lyf in joye and in solas,
Wher-as thise bacheleres singe 'allas,' (30)
Whan that they finden any adversitee 1275
In love, which nis but childish vanitee.
And trewely it sit wel to be so,
That bacheleres have often peyne and wo;
On brotel ground they builde, and brotel-
nesse 1279
They finde, whan they wene sikernesse.

They live but as a brid or as a beste,
In libertee, and under non areste,
Ther-as a wedded man in his estaat
Liveth a lyf blisful and ordinaat, (40)
Under the yok of mariage y-bounde; 1285
Wel may his herte in joye and blisse
habounde.

For who can be so buxom as a wyf?
Who is so trewe, and eek so ententyf
To kepe him, syk and hool, as is his make?
For wele or wo, she wol him nat forsake.
She nis nat wery him to love and serve,
Thogh that he lye bedrede til he sterve.
And yet somme clerkes seyn, it nis nat so,
Of whiche he, Theofraste, is oon of tho. (50)
Whatforce thogh Theofraste liste lye? 1295
'Ne take no wyf,' quod he, 'for hous-
bondrye,

As for to spare in household thy dispence;
A trewe servant dooth more diligence,
Thy good to kepe, than thyn owene wyf.
Forshe wol clayme half part al hir lyf; 1300
And if that thou be syk, so god me save,
Thy verray frendes or a trewe knave

Wol kepe thee bet than she that waitethay
After thy good, and hath don many a day.'
And if thou take a wyf un-to thyn hold, (61) [T. om.
Ful lightly maystow been a coke-wold. 1306 [T. om.

This sentence, and an hundred thinges
worse,
Wryteth this man, ther god his bones
course!

But take no kepe of al swich vanitee;
Deffye Theofraste and herke ma. 1310
A wyf is goddes yifte verrailly;
Alle other maner yiftes hardilly,
As londes, rentes, pasture, or commune,
Or moebles, alle ben yiftes of fortune, (70)

That passen as a shadwe upon a wal. 1315
 But dredelees, if pleynly speke I shal,
 A wyf wol laste, and in thyn hous endure,
 Wel lenger than thee list, paraventure.

Marriage is a ful gret sacrament ;
 He which that hath no wyf, I holde him
 shent ; 1320

He liveth helples and al desolat,
 I speke of folk in secular estaat.

And herke why, I sey nat this for nocht, (79)
 That womman is for mannes help y-wrought.
 The hye god, whan he hadde Adam maked,
 And saugh him al allone, bely-naked, 1326
 God of his grete goodnesse seyde than,
 'Let us now make an help un-to this man
 lyk to him-self ;' and thanne he made him Eve. 1329

Heer may ye se, and heer-by may ye prove,
 That wyf is mannes help and his confort,
 His paradys terrestre and his disport
 So buxom and so vertuons is she,
 They moste nedes live in unitee. (90) 1334
 O flesh they been, and o flesh, as I gesse,
 Hath but on herte, in wele and in distresse.

A wyf ! a ! Sainte Marie, ben'cite !
 How mighte a man han any adversitee
 That hath a wyf ? certes, I can nat seye. 1339
 The blisse which that is bitwixe hem tweye
 Ther may no tonge telle, or herte thinke.
 If he be povre, she helpeth him to swinke ;
 She kepeth his good, and wasteth never
 a deel ;

Al that hir housbonde lust, hir lyketh
 weel ; (100)
 She seith not ones ' nay,' when he seith
 ' ye.' 1345

'Do this,' seith he ; 'al redy, sir,' seith she.
 O blisful ordre of wedlok precious,
 Thou art so mery, and eek so vertuons,
 And so commended and appreved eek,
 That every man that halt him worth a leek, 1350

Up-on his bare knees oghte al his lyf Thanken his god that him hath sent a
 wyf ;

Or elles preye to god him for to sende
 A wyf, to laste un-to his lyves ende. (110)
 For thanne his lyf is set in sikernesse ; 1355
 He may nat be deceyved, as I gesse,
 So that he werke after his wyves reed ;
 Than may he boldly beren up his heed,

They been so trewe and ther-with-al so
 wyse ;

For which, if thou wolt werken as the
 wyse, 1360
 Do alwey so as women wol thee rede.

Lo, how that Jacob, as thise clerkes
 rede,

By good conseil of his moder Rebekke,
 Bond the kides skin aboute his nekke ; (120)
 Thurgh which his fadres benisoun he wan.

Lo, Judith, as the storie eek telle can,
 By wys conseil she goddes peple kepte,
 And slow him, Olofarnus, whyl he slepte.

Lo Abigayl, by good conseil how she 1369 Saved hir housbond Nabal, whan that he Sholde han be slayn ; and loke, Ester also
 By good conseil delivered out of wo
 The peple of god, and made him, Mardochoe,

Of Assuere enhaunced for to be. (130)
 Ther nis no-thing in gree superlatyf, 1375
 As seith Senek, above an humble wyf.

Suffre thy wyves tonge, as Caton bit ;
 She shal comande, and thou shalt suffren
 it ;

And yet she wol obeye of curteisye.

A wyf is keper of thyn housbondrye ; 1380
 Wel may the syke man biwaille and wepe,
 Ther-as ther nis no wyf the hous to kepe.
 I warne thee, if wysly thou wolt wiche, Love wel thy wyf, as Crist loveth his
 chirche. (140) 1384

If thou lovest thy-self, thou lovest thy wyf ;
 No man hateth his flesh, but in his lyf
 He fostreth it, and therfore bidde I thee,
 Cherisse thy wyf, or thou shalt never thee.
 Housbond and wyf, what so men jape or
 pleye,

Of worldly folk holden the siker weye ; 1390
 They been so knit, ther may noon harm
 bityde :

And namely, up-on the wyves syde.
 For which this Januaris, of whom I tolde,
 Considered hath, inwith his dayes olde, (150)
 The lusty lyf, the vertuons quiete, 1395
 That is in mariage hony-swete ;
 And for his freendes on a day he sente,
 To tellen hem th'effect of his entente.

With face sad, his tale he hath hem
 told ; 1399
 He seyde, ' freendes, I am hoor and old,

And almost, god wot, on my pittes brinke ;
 Up-on my soule somewhat moste I thinke.
 I have my body folily despended ; (159)
 Blessed be god, that it shal been amended !
 For I wol be, certeyn, a wedded man, 1405
 And that anon in al the haste I can,
 Un-to som mayde fair and tendre of age.
 I prey yow, shapeth for my mariage
 Al soodeynly, for I wol nat abyde ;
 And I wol fonde t'espyen, on my syde, 1410
 To whom I may be wedded hastily.
 But for-as-muche as ye ben mo than I,
 Ye shullen rather swich a thing espyen
 Than I, and wher me best were to allyen.
 But o thing warne I yow, my freendes
 dere, (171) 1415
 I wol non old wyf han in no manere.
 She shal nat passe twenty yeer, certayn ;
 Old fish and yong flesh wolde I have ful
 fayn.
 Bet is, quod he, 'a pyk than a pikerel ;
 And bet than old boef is the tendre veel.
 I wol no womman thritty yeer of age, 1421
 It is but bene-straw and greet forage.
 And eek thise olde widwes, god it woot,
 They conne so muchel craft on Wades boot, (180)
 So muchel broken harm, whan that hem
 leste, 1425
 That with hem sholde I never live in reste.
 For sondry scoles maken sotil clerkis ;
 Womman of manye scoles half a clerk is.
 But certeynly, a yong thing may men gye,
 Right as men may warm wex with handes
 plye. 1430
 Wherfore I sey yow playnly, in a clause,
 I wol non old wyf han right for this
 cause. (188)
 For if so were, I hadde swich mischaunce,
 That I in hir ne coude han no plesaunce,
 Thanne sholde I lede my lyf in avontrye,
 And go straight to the devel, whan I dye.
 Ne children sholde I none up-on hir geten ;
 Yet were me lever houndes had me eten,
 Than that myn heritage sholde falle 1439
 In straunge hand, and this I tell yow alle.
 I dote nat, I woot the cause why
 Men sholde wedde, and forthermore wot I,
 Ther speketh many a man of mariage,
 That woot na-more of it than woot my
 page, (200) 1444

For whiche causes man sholde take a wyf.
 If he ne may nat liven chast his lyf,
 Take him a wyf with greet devocioun,
 By-cause of leveful procreacioun
 Of children, to th'onour of god above,
 And nat only for paramour or love ; 1450
 And for they sholde lecherye eschue,
 And yelde hir dettes whan that they ben
 due ;
 Or for that ech of hem sholde helpen
 other (209)
 In meschief, as a suster shal the brother ;
 And live in chastitee ful holly. 1455
 But sires, by your love, that am nat I.
 For god be thanked, I dar make awaunt,
 I fele my limes stark and suffisaunt
 To do al that a man bilongeth to ;
 I woot my-selven best what I may do. 1460
 Though I be hoor, I fare as dooth a tree
 That blosmeth er that fruyt y-woxen be ;
 A blosmy tree nis neither drye ne deed.
 I fele me nowher hoor but on myn heed ;
 Myn herte and alle my limes been as
 grene (221) 1465
 As laurer thurgh the yeer is for to sene.
 And sin that ye han herd al myn entente,
 I prey yow to my wil ye wole assente.
 Diverse men diversely him tolde
 Of mariage manye ensamples olde. 1470
 Somme blamed it, somme preyed it,
 certeyn ;
 But atte laste, shortly for to seyn,
 As al day falleth altercacioun 1473
 Bitwixen freendes in disputioun, (230)
 Ther fil a stryf bitwixe his bretheren two,
 Of whiche that oon was cleped Placebo,
 Justinus soothly called was that other.
 Placebo seyde, 'o Jannarie, brother,
 Ful litel nede had ye, my lord so dere,
 Conseil to axe of any that is here ; 1480
 But that ye been so ful of sapience,
 That yow ne lyketh, for your heighe
 prudence,
 To weyven for the word of Salomon.
 This word seyde he un-to us everichon :
 "Wirk alle thing by conseil," thus seyde
 he, (241) 1485
 "And thanne shaltow nat repente thee."
 But though that Salomon spak swich
 a word,
 Myn owene dere brother and my lord,

So wisly god my soule bringe at reste,
I hold your owane conseil is the beste. 1490
For brother myn, of me tak this motyf,
I have now been a court-man al my lyf.
And god it woot, though I unworthy be,
I have stonden in ful greet degree (250)
Abouten lordes of ful heigh estaat; 1495
Yet hadde I never with noon of hem debaat.

I never hem contraried, trewely;
I woot wel that my lord can more than I.
What that he seith, I holde it ferme and
stable;

I seye the same, or elles thing semblable.
A ful gret fool is any conseilour, 1501
That serveth any lord of heigh honour,
That dar presume, or elles thenken it,
That his conseil sholde passe his lordes
wit. (260)

Nay, lordes been no foles, by my fay; 1505
Ye han your-selven shewed heer to-day
So heigh sentence, so holily and weel,
That I consente and conferme every-deel
Your wordes alle, and your opinioun. 1509
By god, ther nis no man in al this toun
N'in al Itaille, that coude bet han sayd;
Crist halt him of this conseil wel apayd.
And trewely, it is an heigh corage
Of any man, that stapen is in age, (270)
To take a yong wyf; by my fader kin,
Your herte hangeth on a joly pin. 1516
Doth now in this matere right as yow
leste,

For finally I holde it for the beste.'

Justinus, that ay stille sat and herde,
Right in this wyse to Placebo answerde:
'Now brother myn, be pacient, I preyre, Sin ye han seyde, and herkneth what I
seye. 1522

Senek among his othere wordes wyse Seith, that a man oghte him right wel
avyse, (280)

To whom he yeveth his lond or his catel. 1525

And sin I oghte avyse me right wel
To whom I yeve my good away fro me, Wel muchel more I oghte avysed be
To whom I yeve my body; for alwey
I warne yow wel, it is no childes pley 1530
To take a wyf with-oute avyusement.
Men moste enquire, this is myn assent,

Wher she be wys, or sobre, or dronke-lewe, (289)

Or pround, or elles other-ways a shrewe;
A chydester, or wastour of thy good, 1535
Or riche, or poore, or elles mannish wood.
Al-be-it so that no man finden shal
Noon in this world that trotteth hool
in al,

Ne man ne beest, swich as men coude
devyse;

But natheless, it oghte y-nough suffice 1540
With any wyf, if so were that she hadde
Mo gode thewes than hir vyces badde;
And al this axeth leyser for t'enquere.

For god it woot, I have wept many a tere
Ful prively, sin I have had a wyf. (301) 1545
Preyse who-so wole a wedded mannes lyf,
Certain, I finde in it but cost and care,
And observances, of alle bliesses bare. 1548
And yet, god woot, my neighbores aboute,
And namely of wommen many a route,
Seyn that I have the moste stedefast wyf,
And eek the makeste oon that bereth lyf.
But I wot best wher wringeth me my
sho. (309)

Ye mowe, for me, right as yow lyketh do;
Avyseth yow, ye been a man of age, 1555
How that ye entren in-to mariage,
And namely with a yong wyf and a fair.
By him that made water, erthe, and air,
The yongest man that is in al this route
Is bisy y-nogh to bringen it aboute 1560
To han his wyf allone, trusteth me.

Ye shul nat plesse hir fully yeres three,
This is to seyn, to doon hir ful plessaunce.
A wyf axeth ful many an observaunce. (320)
I prey yow that ye be nat yvel apayd.'

'Wel,' quod this Januarie, 'and hastow
sayd? 1566

Straw for thy Senek, and for thy pro-verbes,

I counte nat a panier ful of herbes
Of scole-termes; wyser men than thou,
As thou hast herd, assenteden right now
To my purpos; Placebo, what sey ye?'

'I seye, it is a cursed man,' quod he,
'That letteth matrimoine, sikerly.' (329)
And with that word they rysen sodeynly,
And been assented fully, that he sholde Be wedded whanne him list and wher he
wolde. 1576

Heigh fantasye and curious bisnesse
Fro day to day gan in the soule impress
Of Januarie aboute his mariage.

Many fair shap, and many a fair visage
Ther passeth thurgh his herte, night by
night. (337) 1581

As who-so toke a mirour polished bright,
And sette it in a commune market-place,
Than sholde he see many a figure pace
By his mirour; and, in the same wyse,
Gan Januarie inwith his thoght devyse
Of maydens, whiche that dwelten him
biyde. 1587

He wiste nat wher that he mighte abyde.
For if that oon have beautee in hir face,
Another stant so in the peples grace 1590
For hir sadnesse, and hir benignitee,
That of the peple grettest voys hath she.
And somme were riche, and hadden badde
name. (349)

But natheles, bitwixe earnest and game,
He atte laste apoynted him on oon, 1595
And leet alle othere from his herte
goon,

And chees hir of his owene auctoritee;
For love is blind al day, and may nat see.
And whan that he was in his bed y-
brought,

He purtreied, in his herte and in his
thoght, 1600

Hir fresshe beautee and hir age tendre, Hir myddel smal, hir armes longe and scandre,

Hir wyse governaunce, hir gentillesse,
Hir wommanly beringe and hir sadnesse.
And whan that he on hir was condescended, (361) 1605

Him thoughte his chois mighte nat ben amended.

For whan that he him-self concluded
hadde,

Him thoughte ech other mannes wit so
badde,

That impossible it were to replye
Agayn his chois, this was his fantasye. 1610
His freendes sente he to at his instaunce,
And preyed hem to doon him that ples-
aunce,

That hastily they wolden to him come;
He wolde abregge hir labour, alle and
some. (370) 1614

Nedeth na-more for him to go ne ryde,
He was apoynted ther he wolde abyde.

Placebo cam, and eek his freendes sone,
And alderfirst he had hem alle a bone,
That noon of hem none argumentes make Agayn the purpos which that he hath
take; 1620

'Which purpos was plesant to god,' seyde
he,

'And verray ground of his prosperitee.'

He seyde, ther was a mayden in the
toun,

Which that of beautee hadde greet re-
noun, (380)

Al were it so she were of smal degree; 1625
Suffyseth him hir youthe and hir beautee.
Which mayde, he seyde, he wolde han to
his wyf,

To lede in ese and holinesse his lyf.

And thanked god, that he mighte han hire al, 1629

That no wight of his blisse parten shal.
And preyde hem to labouren in this
nede,

And shapen that he faille nat to spede;
For thanne, he seyde, his spirit was at ese.
'Thanne is,' quod he, 'no-thing may me
displese, (390) 1634

Save o thing priketh in my conscience,
The which I wol reherce in your presence.

I have,' quod he, 'herd seyde, ful yore
ago,

Ther may no man han parfite blisses two,
This is to seye, in erthe and eek in
hevene.

For though he kepe him fro the sinnes
sevene, 1640

And eek from every branche of thilke
tree,

Yet is ther so parfite felicitee,
And so greet ese and lust in mariage, (399)

That ever I am agast, now in myn age,
That I shal lede now so mery a lyf, 1645
So delicat, with-uten wo and stryf,

That I shal have myn hevene in erthe
here.

For sith that verray hevene is boght so
dere,

With tribulacioun and greet penaunce,
How sholde I thanne, that live in swich
plesaunce 1650

As alle wedded men don with hir wyvis,
Come to the blisse ther Crist eterne on lyve is?

This is my drede, and ye, my bretheren
tweye, (409)

Assoilleth me this questioun, I prey.

Justinus, which that hated his folye, 1655

Answerde anon, right in his japerye;

And for he wolde his longe tale abragge,

He wolde noon auctoritee allegge, 1658

But seyde, 'sire, so ther be noon obstacle

Other than this, god of his hys miracle

And of his mercy may so for yow wirche,

That, er ye have your right of holy

chirche, (418)

Ye may repente of wedded mannes lyf,

In which ye seyn ther is no wo ne stryf.

And elles, god forbede but he sente 1665

A wedded man him grace to repente

Wel ofte rather than a sangle man!

And therefore, sire, the beste reed I can,

Dispeire yow noght, but have in your

memorie, 1669

Paraunter she may be your purgatorie!

She may be goddes mene, and goddes

whippe;

Than shal your soule up to hevене skippe

Swifter than dooth an arwe out of the

bowe! (429)

I hope to god, her-after shul ye knowe,

That their nis no so greet felicitee 1675

In mariage, ne never-mo shal be,

That yow shal lette of your savacioun,

So that ye use, as skile is and resoun,

The lustes of your wyf attemprely, 1679

And that ye plesse hir nat to amorously,

And that ye kepe yow eek from other

sinne.

My tale is doon:—for my wit is thinne.

Beth nat agast her-of, my brother dera.—

(But lat us waden out of this matere. (440)

The Wyf of Bathe, if ye han understonde,

Of mariage, which we have on honde, 1686

Declared hath ful wel in litel space).—

'Fareth now wel, god have yow in his

grace.'

And with this word this Justin and his

brother

Han take hir leve, and ech of hem of

other. 1690

For whan they sawe it moste nedes be,

They wroghten so, by sly and wys trettee,
That she, this mayden, which that Maius
highte,

As hastily as ever that she mighte, (450)

Shal wedded be un-to this Januarie. 1695

I trowe it were to longe yow to tarie,

If I yow tolde of every sorit and bond,

By which that she was feffed in his lond;

Or for to herknene of hir riche array.

But finally y-comen is the day 1700

That to the chirche bothe be they went

For to receyve the holy sacrament.

Forth comth the preest, with stole aboute

his nekke, (459)

And bad hir be lyk Sarra and Rebekke,

In wisdom and in trouthe of mariage;

And seyde his orisons, as is usage, 1706

And crouched hem, and bad god sholde

hem blesse,

And made al siker y-nogh with holinesse.

Thus been they wedded with solemp-

nitee,

And at the feste sitteth he and she 1710

With other worthy folk up-on the deys.

Al ful of joye and blisse is the paleys,

And ful of instruments and of vitaille,

The moste deyntevous of al Itaille. (470)

Biforn hem stoode swiche instruments of

soun, 1715

That Orpheus, ne of Thebes Amphion,

Ne maden never swich a melodye.

At every cours than cam loud minstrel-

eye,

That never tromped Joab, for to here,

Nor he, Theodomas, yet half so clere, 1720

At Thebes, whan the citee was in doute.

Bacus the wyn hem skinketh al aboute,

And Venus laugheth up-on every wight.

For Januarie was birome hir knight, (480)

And wolde bothe assayen his corage 1725

In libertee, and eek in mariage;

And with hir fyrbond in hir hand aboute

Dauunceth biforn the bryde and al the

route.

And certainly, I dar right wel seyn this,

Ymenus, that god of wedding is, 1730

Saugh never his lyf so mery a wedded

man.

Hold thou thy pees, thou poete Marcian,

That wrytest us that ilke wedding murie

Of hir, Philoogy, and him, Mercurie,

And of the songs that the Muses songe.
To smal is bothe thy penne, and eek thy
tonge, (492) 1736

For to descryven of this mariage.
Whan tendre youthe hath wedded stoup-
ing age,
Ther is swich mirthe that it may nat be writen;

Assayeth it your-self, than may ye witen
If that I lye or noon in this matere. 1741

Maius, that sit with so benigne a chere,
Hir to biholde it semed fayerys; (499)
Quene Ester loked never with swich an y8
On Assuer, so make a look hath she. 1745
I may yow nat devyse al hir beautee;
But thus muche of hir beautee telle I
may,

That she was lyk the brighte morwe of
May,

Fulfilde of alle beautee and plesaunce.

This Januarie is ravished in a trauunce
At every time he loked on hir face; 1751
But in his herte he gan hir to manace,
That he that night in armes wolde hir
streyne

Harder than ever Paris dide Eleyne. (510)
But natheles, yet hadde he greet pitee,
That thilke night offenden hir moste he;
And thoughte, 'allas! o tendre creature!
Now wolde god ye mighte wel endure
Al my corage, it is so sharp and kene;

I am agast ye shul it nat sustene. 1760
But god forbede that I dide al my might!
Now wolde god that it were woxen night,
And that the night wolde lasten evermo.
I wolde that at this peple were ago.' (520)
And finally, he doth al his labour, 1765
As he best mighte, savinge his honour,
To haste hem fro the mete in subtil
wyse.

The tyme cam that reson was to ryse;
And after that, men daunce and drinken
faste, 1769

And spyces al aboute the hous they caste;
And ful of joye and blisse is every man;
All but a squyer, highte Damian,
Which carf biforn the knight ful many
a day.

He was so ravished on his lady May, (530)
That for the verray payne he was ny
wood; 1775

Almost he swelte and swowned ther he stood.

So sore hath Venus hurt him with hir
brond,

As that she bar it daunsinge in hir
hond.

And to his bed he wente him hastily;
Na-more of him as at this tyme speke I.
But ther I lete him wepe y-nough and
pleyne, (537) 1781

Til freshe May wol rewen on his payne.
O perilous fyr, that in the bedstraw bredeth! Auctor.

O famulier foo, that his servyce bedeth!
O servant traitour, false hoomly hewe, 1785
Lyk to the naddre in bosom sly untrews,
God shilde us alle from your aqueynt-
aunce!

O Januarie, dronken in plesaunce
Of mariage, see how thy Damian,
Thyn owene squyer and thy borne man,
Entendeth for to do thee vileinye. 1791
God graunte thee thyn hoomly fo t'espya.
For in this world nis worse pestilence (549)
Than hoomly foo al day in thy presence.

Parfourned hath the sonne his ark
diurne, 1795

No lenger may the body of him sojurne
On th'orizonte, as in that latitude.

Night with his mantel, that is derk and
rude,

Gan oversprede the hemisperie aboute;
For which departed is this lusty route
Fro Januarie, with thank on every syde.
Hom to hir houses lustily they ryde, 1802
Wher-as they doon hir thinges as hem
leste,

And whan they sye hir tyme, goon to
reste. (560)

Soone after that, this hastif Januarie 1805
Wolde go to bedde, he wolde no lenger
tarie.

He drinketh ipocras, clarree, and vernage
Of spyces hote, t'encresen his corage;
And many a letuarie hadde he ful fyn, Swiche as the cursed monk dan Con-stantyn 1810

Hath writen in his book de Cottu; (567)
To eten hem alle, he nas no-thing eschu.

And to his privee freendes thus seyde he:
'For goddes love, as sone as it may be,

Lat voyden al this hous in curteys wyse.
 And they han doon right as he wol
 devyse. 1816
 Men drinken, and the travers drawe anon;
 The bryde was broght a-bedde as stille as
 stoon;
 And whan the bed was with the preest
 y-blessed,
 Out of the chambre hath every wight him dressed. 1820
 And Januarie hath faste in armes take
 His fresshe May, his paradys, his make.
 He lulleth hir, he kisseth hir ful ofte
 With thikke bristles of his berd unsofte, Lyk to the skin of houndfish, sharp as brere, (581) 1825
 For he was shave al newe in his manere.
 He rubbeth hir aboute hir tendre face,
 And seyde thus, 'allas! I moot trespace
 To yow, my spouse, and yowgrstly offende,
 Er tyme come that I wil down descende.
 But natheles, considereth this,' quod he,
 'Ther nis no werkman, what-so-ever he be,
 That may bothe werke wel and hastily;
 This wol be doon at leyser parfity. (590)
 It is no fors how longe that we pleye; 1835
 In trewe wedlok wedded be we tweye;
 And blessed be the yok that we been
 inne,
 For in our actes we mowe do no sinne.
 A man may do no sinne with his wyf,
 Ne hurte him-selven with his owene knyf;
 For we han leve to pleye us by the
 lawe.' 1841
 Thus laboureth he til that the day gan
 dawe;
 And than he taketh a sop in fyn clarree,
 And upright in his bed than sitteth he,
 And after that he sang ful loude and
 clere, (601) 1845
 And kiste his wyf, and made wantoun
 chere.
 He was al coltish, ful of ragerye,
 And ful of jargon as a flekked pye.
 The slakke skin aboute his nekke shaketh, Whyl that he sang; so chaunteth he and craketh. 1850
 But god wot what that May thoughte in hir herte,
 Whan she him saugh up sittinge in his
 sherte,

In his night-cappe, and with his nekke
 lene;
 She preyseth nat his pleying worth a
 bene. (610) 1854
 Than seide he thus, 'my reste wol I take;
 Now day is come, I may no lenger wake.'
 And down he leyde his heed, and sleep
 til pryme.
 And afterward, whan that he saugh his
 tyme,
 Up ryseth Januarie; but fresshe May Holdeth hir chambre un-to the fourthe
 day, 1860
 As usage is of wyves for the beste.
 For every labour som-tyme moot han
 reste,
 Or elles longe may he nat endure;
 This is to seyn, no lyves creature, (620)
 Be it of fish, or brid, or beest, or man. 1865
 Auctor.
 Now wol I speke of woful Damian,
 That languissheth for love, as ye shul
 here;
 Therefore I speke to him in this manere:
 I seye, 'O sely Damian, alas!
 Answers to my demaunde, as in this cas,
 How shaltow to thy lady fresshe May 1871
 Telle thy wo? She wole alwey seye "nay"; Eek if thou speke, she wol thy wo bi-
 wreye; (629)
 God be thyn help, I can no bettre seye.
 This syke Damian in Venus fyr 1875
 So brenneth, that he dyeth for desyr;
 For which he putte his lyf in aventure,
 No lenger mighte he in this wyse endure;
 But prively a penner gan he borwe,
 And in a lettre wroot he al his sorwe, 1880
 In manere of a compleynt or a lay,
 Un-to his faire fresshe lady May.
 And in a purs of silk, heng on his sherte.
 He hath it put, and leyde it at his
 herte. (640) 1884
 The mone that, at noon, was, thilke day
 That Januarie hath wedded fresshe May,
 In two of Taur, was in-to Cancere gliden;
 So longe hath Maius in hir chambre
 biden,
 As custume is un-to thise nobles alle.
 A bryde shal nat eten in the halle, 1890
 Til dayes foure or three dayes atte leste
 Y-passed been; than lat hir go to feste.

The fourthe day compleet fro noon to noon, (649)

Whan that the heighe masse was y-doon,
In halle sit this Januarie, and May 1895
As fresh as is the brighte someres day.

And so bifal, how that this gode man
Remembred him upon this Damian, Andseyde, 'Seinte Marie! how may this be,
That Damian entendeth nat to me? 1900
Is he ay syk, or how may this bityde?'

His squyeres, whiche that stoden ther
bisyde, (658)

Excused him by-cause of his siknesse,
Which letted him to doon his businesse;
Noon other cause mighte make him tarie.

'That me forthinketh,' quod this Jan-uarie, 1906

'He is a gentil squyer, by my trouthe!
If that he deyde, it were harm and routhe;

He is as wys, discreet, and as secree
As any man I woot of his degree; 1910

And ther-to manly and eek servisable,
And for to been a thrifty man right able.

But after mete, as soon as ever I may,
I wol my-self visyte him and eek May,
To doon him al the confort that I can.'

And for that word him blessed every man,
That, of his bountee and his gentillesse,
He wolde so conforten in siknesse (674)

His squyer, for it was a gentil dede.

Dame,' quod this Januarie, 'tak good
hede, 1920

At-after mete ye, with your women alle, Whan ye han been in chambre out of this halle,

That alle ye go see this Damian;
Doth him disport, he is a gentil man; (680)

And telleth him that I wol him visyte,
Have I no-thing but rested me a lyte;

And spede yow faste, for I wole abyde
Til that ye slepe faste by my syde.'

And with that word he gan to him to calle
A squyer, that was marchal of his halle,
And tolde him certeyn thinges, what he

wolde. 1931

This fresche May hath streight hir wey
y-holde,

With alle hir women, un-to Damian.
Doun by his beddes syde sit she than, (690)

Confortinge him as goodly as she may.
This Damian, whan that his tyme he say,

In secree wise his purs, and eek his bille,
In which that he y-writen hadde his
wille, 1938

Hath put in-to hir hand, with-outen more,
Save that he syketh wonder depe and sore,
And softely to hir right thus seyde he:

'Mercy! and that ye nat discovers me;
For I am deed, if that this thing be kid.'

This purs hath she inwith hir boecom hid,
And wente hir wey; ye gete namore of me.

But un-to Jannuarie y-comen is she, 1946
That on his beddes syde sit ful softe. (703)

He taketh hir, and kisseth hir ful ofte,
And leyde him doun to slepe, and that
anon.

She feyned hir as that she moste gon 1950
Ther-as ye woot that every wight mot
nede.

And whan she of this bille hath taken
hede,

She rente it al to cloutes atte laste,
And in the privee softely it caste. (710)

Who studieth now but faire fresche
May? 1955

Adoun by olde Januarie she lay,
That sleep, til that the coughe hath him

awaked;

Anon he preyde hir strepen hir al naked;
He wolde of hir, he seyde, han som ple-
saunce,

And seyde, hir clothes dide him encom-
braunce, 1960

And she obeyeth, be hir lief or looth.
But lest that precious folk be with me

wrooth,
How that he wroghte, I dar nat to yow

telle;

Or whether hir thoughte it paradys or
helle; (720)

But here I lete hem werken in hir wyse
Til evensong rong, and that they moste
aryse. 1966

Were it by destinee or aventure,
Were it by infynce or by nature,

Or constellacion, that in swich estat
The hevене stood, that tyme fortunat 1970

Was for to putte a bille of Venus werkes (For alle thing hath tyme, as seyn thise clerkes)

To any woman, for to gete hir love,
I can nat seye; but grete god above, (730)

That knoweth that non act is causeless,
 He deme of al, for I wol holde my pees.
 But sooth is this, how that this fresshe
 May 1977

Hath take swich impression that day,
 For pitee of this syke Damian,
 That from hir herte she ne dryve can 1980
 The remembrance for to doon him ese.
 'Certeyn,' thoghte she, 'whom that this thing displese,

I rekke noght, for here I him assure,
 To love him best of any creature, (740)
 Though he na-more hadde than his sherte.'
 Lo, pitee renneth sone in gentil herte.

Heer may ye se how excellent franchyse
 In women is, whan they hem narwe
 avyse. 1988

Som tyrant is, as ther be many oon,
 That hath an herte as hard as any stoon,
 Which wolde han lete him sterven in the place 1991

Wel rather than han graunted him hir
 grace;

And hem rejoysen in hir cruel pryde,
 And rekke nat to been an homicyde. (750)

This gentil May, fulfilled of pitee, 1995 Right of hir hande a lettre made she,
 In which she graunteth him hir verray
 grace;

Ther lakketh noght but only day and
 place,

Wher that she mighte un-to his lust
 suffyse :

For it shal be right as he wol devyse. 2000
 And whan she saugh hir time, up-on a day,
 To visite this Damian goth May,

And sotilly this lettre down she threste
 Under his pilwe, rede it if him leste. (760)
 She taketh him by the hand, and harde him twiste 2005

So secretly, that no wight of it wiste,
 And bad him been al hool, and forth she
 wente

To Januarie, whan that he for hir sente.

Up ryseth Damian the nexte morwe,
 Al passed was his siknesse and his sorwe.
 He kembeth him, he proyneth him and pyketh, 2011

He dooth al that his lady lust and lyketh ;
 And eek to Januarie he gooth as lowe
 As ever dide a dogge for the bowe. (770)

He is so pleasant un-to every man, 2015
 (For craft is al, who-so that do it can)
 That every wight is fayn to speke him
 good ;

And fully in his lady grace he stood.
 Thus lete I Damian aboute his nede,
 And in my tale forth I wol procede. 2020

Somme clerkes holden that felicitee
 Stant in delyt, and therefor certeyn he,
 This noble Januarie, with al his might,
 In honest wyse, as longeth to a knight,
 Shoop him to live ful deliciously. (781) 2025
 His housinge, his array, as honestly
 To his degree was makid as a kinges.

Amonges othere of his honest thinges,
 He made a gardin, walled al with stoon ;
 So fair a gardin woot I nowher noon. 2030

For out of doute, I verrailly suppose,
 That he that wroot the Romance of the Rose

Ne coude of it the beautee wel devyse ;
 Ne Priapus ne mighte nat suffyse, (790) Though he be god of gardins, for to
 telle 2035

The beautee of the gardin and the welle,
 That stood under a laurer alwey grene.
 Ful ofte tyme he, Pluto, and his quene,
 Proserpina, and al hir fayrye

Disporten hem and maken melodye 2040
 Aboute that welle, and daunced, as men
 tolde.

This noble knight, this Januarie the olde, Swich deintee hath in it to walke and
 playe, (799)

That he wol no wight suffren bere the keys
 Save he him-self; for of the smale wicket
 He bar alwey of silver a smal cliket, 2046
 With which, whan that him leste, he it unshette.

And whan he wolde paye his wyf hir dette
 In somer seson, thider wolde he go,
 And May his wyf, and no wight but they
 two; 2050

And thinges whiche that were nat doon
 a-bedde,

He in the gardin parfourned hem and
 spedde.

And in this wyse, many a mery day,
 Lived this Januarie and fresshe May. (810)
 But worldly joye may nat alwey dure 2055
 To Januarie, ne to no creature.

Auctor.

O sodeyn hap, o thou fortune instable,
Lyk to the scorioun so deceivable,
That flaterest with thyn heed when thou
wolt stinge;

Thy tayl is deeth, thurgh thyn enveniminge. 2060

O brotil joye ! o swete venim queynte !
O monstre, that so subtilly canst peynte
Thy yiftes, under hewe of stedfastnesse,
That thou deceyvest bothe more and lesse !
Why hastow Januarie thus deceyved, (821)
That haddest him for thy ful frend receyved ? 2066

And now thou hast biraft him bothe hise
y8n,

For sorwe of which desyareth he to dyen.

Allas ! this noble Januarie free,
Amidde his lust and his prosperitee, 2070
Is woxen blind, and that al sodeynly.

He wepeth and he wayleth pitously ;
And ther-with-al the fyr of jalouysye, (829)
Lest that his wyf sholde falle in som folye,
So brente his herte, that he wolde fayn 2075
That som man bothe him and hir had
slayn.

For neither after his deeth, nor in his lyf,
Ne wolde he that she were love ne wyf,
But ever live as widwe in clothes blake,
Soul as the turtle that lost hath hir make.
But atte laste, after a monthe or tweye,
His sorwe gan aswage, sooth to seye ; 2082
For whan he wiste it may noon other be,
He paciently took his adversitee ; (840)

Save, out of doute, he may nat forgoon
That he nas jalouys evermore in oon ;
Which jalouysye it was so outrageous,
That neither in halle, n'in noon other hous,
Ne in noon other place, never-the-mo,
He nolde suffre hir for to ryde or go, 2090
But-if that he had hand on hir alway ;
For which ful ofte wepeth fresshe May,
That loveth Damian so benignely,
That she mot outher dyen sodeynly, (850)
Or elles she mot han him as hir leste ; 2095
She wayteth whan hir herte wolde breste.

Up-on that other syde Damian
Bicomen is the sorwefulleste man
That ever was ; for neither night ne day
Ne mighte he speke a word to fresshe
May, 2100

As to his purpos, of no swich matere,
But-if that Januarie moeste it here,
That hadde an hand up-on hir evermo.
But natheles, by wryting to and fro (860)
And privee signes, wiste he what she
mente ; 2105
And she knew eek the fyn of his entente.

Auctor.

O Januarie, what mighte it thee availe,
Thou mightest see as for as shippes saille ?
For also good is blind deceyved be,
As be deceyved whan a man may see. 2110
Lo, Argus, which that hadde an hondred
y8n,

For al that ever he coude poure or pryen,
Yet was he blent ; and, god wot, so ben
mo,

That wenen wisly that it be nat so. (870)
Passe over is an ese, I sey na-more. 2115

This fresshe May, that I spak of so
yore,

In warme wex hath emprented the oliket,
That Jannarie bar of the smale wiket,
By which in-to his gardin ofte he wente.
And Damian, that knew al hir entente,
The kliket countrefeted prively ; 2121
Ther nis na-more to seye, but hastily
Som wonder by this kliket shal bityde,
Which ye shul heren, if ye wole abyde.

O noble Ovyde, ful sooth seyston, god
woot ! Auctor.

What sleighte is it, though it be long and
hoot, (882) 2126

That he nil finde it out in som manere ?
By Piramus and Tesbee may men lere ;
Though they were kept ful longe streite
overal,

They been accorded, rounge thurgh a
wal, 2130

Ther no wight coude han founde out swich a sleighte. (887)

But now to purpos ; er that dayes eighte
Were passed, er the monthe of Juil, bifil
That Januarie hath caught so greet a wil,
Thurgh egging of his wyf, him for to pleye
In hisgardin, and no wight but theytweye,
That in a morwe un-to this May seith he :
' Rys up, my wyf, my love, my lady free ;
The turtles vois is herd, my douve swete ;
The winter is goon, with alle his reynes
wete ; 2140

Com forth now, with thyn eyen columbyn !
 How fairer been thy brestes than is wyn !
 The gardin is enclosed al aboute ;
 Com forth, my whyte spouse ; out of
 doute, (900)
 Thou hast me wounded in myn herte,
 o wyf ! 2145
 No spot of thee ne knew I al my lyf.
 Com forth, and lat us taken our disport ;
 I chees thee for my wyf and my confort.'

Swiche olde lewed wordes used he ;
 On Damian a signe made she, 2150
 That he sholde go biforen with his cliket :
 This Damian thanne hath opened the wiket,
 And in he stirte, and that in swich manere,
 That no wight mighte it see neither
 y-here ; (910)
 And stille he sit under a bush anon. 2155
 This Januarie, as blind as is a stoon,
 With Mains in his hand, and no wight mo,
 In-to his freshe gardin is ago,
 And clapte to the wiket sodeynly.

'Now, wyf,' quod he, 'heer nis but thou
 and I, 2160
 That art the creature that I best love.
 For, by that lord that sit in heven above,
 Lever ich hadde dyen on a knyf,
 Than thee offende, trewe dere wyf ! (920)
 For goddes sake, think how I thee chees,
 Nought for no coveityse, doutelees, 2166
 But only for the love I had to thee.
 And though that I be old, and may natsee,
 Beth to me trewe, and I shal telle yow why.
 Three thinges, certes, shul ye winne ther-
 by ; 2170
 First, love of Crist, and to your-self honour,
 And al myn heritage, toun and tour ;
 I yeve it yow, maketh chartres as yow
 leste ; (929)
 This shal be doon to-morwe er sonne reste.
 So wisly god my soule bringe in blisse, 2175
 I prey yow first, in covenant ye me kisse.
 And though that I be jealous, wyte me nought.
 Ye been so depe enprented in my thought,
 That, whan that I considere your beautes,
 And ther-with-al the unlykly elde of me
 I may nat, certes, thogh I sholde dye,
 Forbere to been out of your companye
 For verray love ; this is with-outen doute.
 Now kis me, wyf, and lat us rome aboute.'

This freshe May, whan she thise wordes
 herde, (941) 2185
 Benignely to Januarie answerde,
 But first and forward she bigan to wepe,
 'I have,' quod she, 'a soule for to kepe
 As wel as ye, and also myn honour,
 And of my wyfthod thilke tendre flour, 2190
 Which that I have assured in your hond, Whan that the preest to yow my body
 bond ;

Wherfore I wole answer in this manere
 By the leve of yow, my lord so dere : (950)
 I prey to god, that never dawe the day 2195
 That I ne sterve, as foule as womman may,
 If ever I do un-to my kin that shame,
 Or elles I empeyre so my name,
 That I be fals ; and if I do that lakke,
 Do strepe me and put me in a sakke, 2200
 And in the nexte river do me drenche.
 I am a gentil womman and no wenche.
 Why speke ye thus ? but men ben ever
 untrewe, (959)
 And women have repreve of yow ay newe.
 Ye han non other contenance, I leve, 2205
 But speke to us of untrust and repreve.'

And with that word she saugh wher
 Damian
 Sat in the bush, and coughen she bigan,
 And with hir finger signes made she,
 That Damian sholde climbe up-on a tree,
 That charged was with fruit, and up he
 wente ; 2211

For verrailly he knew al hir entente,
 And every signe that she coude make Wel bet than Januarie, hir owene make.
 For in a lettre she had told him al 2215
 Of this matere, how he werchen shal. (972)
 And thus I lete him sitte up-on the pyrie,
 And Jannarie and May rominge myrie.

Bright was the day, and blew the firma-
 ment,
 Phebus of gold his stremes doun hath
 sent, 2220

To gladen every flour with his warmnesse.
 He was that tyme in Geminis, as I gesse,
 But litel fro his declinacioun
 Of Cancer, Jovis exaltacioun. (980)
 And so bifel, that brighte morwe-tyde, 2225
 That in that gardin, in the ferther syde,
 Pluto, that is the king of fayërye,
 And many a lady in his companye,

Folwinge his wyf, the quene Proserpyne,
 Eeh after other, right as any lynne— 2230
 Why! that she gadered floures in the mede,
 In Claudian ye may the story rede,
 How in his grisly carte he hir fette :—
 This king of fairye thanne adoun him
 sette (990) 2234

Up-on a bench of turves, fresh and grene,
 And right anon thus seyde he to his quene.

' My wyf,' quod he, ' ther may no wight
 sey nay ;

Th'experience so preveth every day
 The treson whiche that women doon to
 man. 2239

Ten hondred thousand [stories] telle I can Notable of your untrouthe and brotilnesse.
 O Salomon, wys, richest of richesse, 2242
 Fulflid of sapience and of worldly glorie,
 Ful worthy been thy wordes to memorie
 To every wight that wit and reson can.

Thus preiseth he yet the bountee of man :
 " Amonges a thousand men yet fond I oon,
 But of women alle fond I noon." (1004)

Thus seith the king that knoweth your wikkednesse ;

And Jesus filiius Syrak, as I gesse, 2250
 Ne speketh of yow but selde reverence.

A wilde fyr and corrupt pestilence
 So falle up-on your bodies yet to-night!
 Ne see ye nat this honourable knight, (1010)
 By-cause, allas! that he is blind and old,
 His owene man shal make him cokewold ;
 Lo heer he sit, the lechour, in the tree. 2257

Now wol I graunten, of my magestee,
 Un-to this olde blinde worthy knight
 That he shal have ayeyn his eyen sight, 2260
 Whan that his wyf wold doon him vileinye ;
 Than shal he knowen al hir harlotrye
 Both in repreve of hir and othere mo.'

' Ye shal,' quod Proserpyne, ' wol ye so ;
 Now, by my modres sires soule I swere,
 That I shal yeven hir suffisant answer,
 And alle women after, for hir sake ;
 That, though they be in any gilt y-take,
 With face bold they shulle hem-self excuse,

And bere hem down that wolden hem accuse. 2270

For lakke of answer, noon of hem shal dyen.
 Al hadde man seyn a thing with bothe his
 yën, (1028)

Yit shul we women visage it hardily,
 And wepe, and swere, and chyde subtilly,
 So that ye men shul been as lewed as gees.
 What rekketh me of your auctoritees?

I woot wel that this Jew, this Salomon,
 Fond of us women foles many oon.

But though that he ne fond no good
 womman, 2279

Yet hath ther founde many another man Wommen ful trewe, ful gode, and ver-tuous.

Witnessse on hem that dwelle in Cristes
 hous,

With martirdom they preved hir constance. (1039)

The Romayn gestes maken remembrance
 Of many a verray trewe wyf also. 2285

But sire, ne be nat wrooth, al-be-it so,
 Though that he seyde he fond no good
 womman,

I prey yow take the sentence of the man ;
 He mente thus, that in sovereyn bontee
 Nis noon but god, that sit in Trinitee. 2290

Ey ! for verray god, that nis but oon,
 What make ye so muche of Salomon ?
 What though he made a temple, goddes
 hous? (1049)

What though he were riche and glorions ?
 So made he eek a temple of false goddis,
 How mighte he do a thing that more for-
 bode is? 2296

Pardee, as faire as ye his name emplastre,
 He was a lechour and an ydolastre ;
 And in his elde he verray god forsook.

And if that god ne hadde, asseith the book,
 Y-spared him for his fadres sake, he sholde
 Have lost his regne rather than he wolde.
 I sette noight of al the vileinye, (1059)

That ye of women wryte, a boterflye.
 I am a womman, nedes moot I speke, 2305
 Or elles swelle til myn herte breke.

For sithen he seyde that we ben jangleresses,

As ever hool I mote brouke my tresses,
 I shal nat spare, for no curteisye, 2309
 Tospeke him harm that wolde us vileinye.'

' Dame,' quod this Pluto, ' be no lenger
 wrooth ;

I yeve it up ; but sith I swoor myn ooth
 That I wolde graunten him his sighte
 ageyn, (1069)

My word shalstonde, I warne yow, certeyn.
I am a king, it sit me noght to lye.' 2315

'And I,' quod she, 'a queene of fayërye.
Hir answe're shal she have, I undertake;
Lat us na-more wordes heer-of make.

For sothe, I wol no lenger yow contrarie.'

Now lat us turne agayn to Januarie, 2320
That in the gardin with his faire May Singeth, ful merier than the papejay,
'Yow love I best, and shal, and other
noon.'

So longe aboute the aleyes is he goon, (1080)
Til he was come agaynes thilke pyrie, 2325
Wher-as this Damian sitteth ful myrie
An heigh, among the freshe leves grene.

This freshe May, that is so bright and
shene,

Gan for to syke, and seyde, 'allas, my
syde!

Now sir,' quod she, 'for aught that may
bityde, 2330

I moste han of the peres that I see,
Or I mot dye, so sore longeth me
To eten of the smale peres grene. (1089)

Help, for hir love that is of hevене queene!
I telle yow wel, a womman in my
plyt 2335

May han to fruit so greet an appetyt,
That she may dyen, but she of it have.'

'Allas!' quod he, 'that I ne had heer
a knave

That coude climbe; allas! allas!' quod he,
'That I am blind.' 'Ye, sir, no fors,
quod she: 2340

'But wolde ye vouche-sauf, for goddes
sake,

The pyrie inwith your armes for to take,
(For wel I woot that ye mistruste me)

Thanne sholde I climbe wel y-nogh,' quod
she, (1100)

'So I my foot mighte sette upon your bak.'
'Certes,' quod he, 'ther-on shal be no lak, 2346

Mighte I yow helpen with myn herte
blood.'

Hestoupeth down, and on his bakshstood,
And caughte hir by a twiste, and up she gooth.

Ladies, I prey yow that ye be nat wrooth;
I can nat glose, I am a rude man. 2351
And sodeynly anon this Damian

Gan pullen up the smok, and in he throng.
And whan that Pluto saugh this grete
wrong, (1110)

To Januarie he gaf agayn his sighte, 2355
And made him see, as wel as ever he
mighte.

And whan that he hadde caught his sighte agayn,

Ne was ther never man of thing so fayn.
But on his wyf his thoght was evermo;

Up to the tree he caste his eyen two, 2360
And saugh that Damian his wyf had dressed

In swich manere, it may nat ben expressed

But if I wolde speke uncurteisly:
And up he yaf a roring and a cry (1120)

As doth the moder whan the child shal
dye: 2365

'Out! help! allas! harrow!' he gan to crye,
'O stronge lady store, what dostow?'

And she answerde, 'sir, what eyleth
yow?

Have pacience, and reson in your minde,
I have yow holpe on bothe your eyen
blinde. 2370

Up peril of my soule, I shal nat lyen,
As me was taught, to hele with your yën,
Was no-thing bet to make yow to see
Than strugle with a man up-on a tree. (1130)

God woot, I dide it in ful good entente.'
'Strugle!' quod he, 'ye, algate in it
wente! 2376

God yeve yow bothe on shames deeth to
dyen!

He swyved thee, I saugh it with myne yën,
And elles be I hanged by the hals!'

'Thanne is,' quod she, 'my medicyne
al fals; 2380

For certainly, if that ye mighte see,
Ye wolde nat seyn thise wordes un-to me;

Ye han som glimsing and no parfit sighte.'
'I see,' quod he, 'as wel as ever I
mighte, (1140)

Thonked be god! with bothe myne eyen
two, 2385

And by my trouthe, me thoughte he dide thee so.'

'Ye maze, maze, gode sire,' quod she,
'This thank have I for I have maad yow
see;

Allas!' quod she, 'that ever I was so kinde!'

'Now, dame,' quod he, 'lat al passe out of minde. 2390

Com down, my lief, and if I have missayd, God help me so, as I am yvel apayd.

But, by my fader soule, I wende han seyn, How that this Damian had by thee leyn, And that thy smok had leyn up-on his brest.' (1151) 2395

'Ye, sire,' quod she, 'ye may wene as yow leest;

But, sire, a man that waketh out of his sleep,

He may nat sodeynly wel taken keep

Up-on a thing, ne seen it parfity,

Til that he be adawed verrailly; 2400

Right so a man, that longe hath blind y-be,

Ne may nat sodeynly so wel y-see,

First whan his sighte is newe come ageyn, As he that hath a day or two y-seyn. (1160)

Til that your sighte y-satled be a whyle, Ther may ful many a sighte yow bigyle.

Beth war, I prey yow; for, by hevене king, 2407

Ful many a man weneth to seen a thing, And it is al another than it semeth.

He that misconceyveth, he misdemeth.'

And with that word she leep down fro the tree. 2411

This Januarie, who is glad but he?

He kisseth hir, and clippeth hir ful ofte, And on hir wombe he stroketh hir ful

softe, (1170)

And to his palays hoom he hath hir lad.

Now, gode men, I pray yow to be glad. 2416

Thus endeth heer my tale of Januarie;

God blesse us and his moder Sainte Marie!

Here is ended the Marchantes Tale of Januarie.

EPILOGUE TO THE MARCHANTES TALE.

'Er! goddes mercy!' seyde our Hoste tho,

'Now swich a wyf I pray god kepe me fro!

Lo, whiche sleightes and subtilitees 2421

In wommen been! for ay as biy as bees

Ben they, us sely men for to deceyve,

And from a sothe ever wol they weyve;

By this Marchauntes Tale it preveth weel.

But douteles, as trewe as any steel 2426

I have a wyf, though that she povre be;

But of hir tonge a labbing shrewe is she,

And yet she hath an heep of vyces mo; (11)

Ther-of no fore, lat alle swiche thinges go.

But, wite ye what? in conseil be it seyde,

Me reweth sore I am un-to hir teyd. 2432

For, and I sholde rekenen every vyce

Which that she hath, y-wis, I were to nyce,

And cause why; it sholde reported be 2435

And told to hir of somme of this meynce;

Of whom, it nedeth nat for to declare,

Sin wommen connen outen swich chaf-fare; (20)

And eek my wit suffyseth nat ther-to

To tellen al; wherfor my tale is do.' 2440

GROUP F.

THE SQUIERES TALE.

The Squire's Prologue.

'SQUIRE, com neer, if it your wille be,
 And sey somewhat of love; for, certes, ye Connen ther-on as muche as any man.'
 'Nay, sir,' quod he, 'but I wol seye as I can
 With hertly wille; for I wol nat rebelle 5
 Agayn your lust; a tale wol I telle.
 Have me excused if I speke amis,
 My wil is good; and lo, my tale is this.'

Here biginneth the Squieres Tale.

At Sarray, in the land of Tartarye, (1)
 Ther dwelte a king, that werreyed Russye, Thurgh which ther deyde many a doughty
 man. 11
 This noble king was cleped Cambinskan,
 Which in his tyme was of so greet renoun
 That ther nas no-wher in no regioun
 So excellent a lord in alle thing; 15
 Him lakked nocht that longeth to a king.
 As of the secte of which that he was born
 He kepte his lay, to which that he was
 sworn; (10)
 And ther-to he was hardy, wys, and riche,
 And t'pietous and just, alwey y-liche; 20
 Sooth of his word, benigne and honourable,
 Of his corage as any centre stable;
 Yong, fresh, and strong, in armes desirous
 As any bachelor of al his hous.
 A fair persone he was and fortunat, 25
 And kepte alwey so wel royal estat,
 That ther was nowher swich another man.
 This noble king, this Tatre Cambinskan
 Hadde two sones on Elpheta his wyf, (21)
 Of whiche th'eldeste highte Algarsyf, 30
 That other sone was cleped Cambalo.
 A doghter hadde this worthy king also,
 That yongest was, and highte Canacee.
 But for to telle yow al hir beautee,

It lyth nat in my tonge, n'in my conning;
 I dar nat undertake so heigh a thing. 36
 Myn English eek is insufficient;
 It moste been a rethor excellent, (30)
 That coude his colours longing for that art,
 If he sholde hir discryven every part. 40
 I am non swich, I moot speke as I can.

And so bifel that, whan this Cambinskan
 Hath twenty winter born his diademe,
 As he was wont fro yere to yere, I deme,
 He leet the feste of his nativitee 45
 Don cryen thurghout Sarray his citee,

The last Idus of March, after the yere,
 Phebus the sonne ful joly was and cleer;
 For he was neigh his exaltacioun (41)
 In Martes face, and in his mansioun 50
 In Aries, the colerik hote signe.
 Ful lusty was the weder and benigne,
 For which the foules, agayn the sonne
 shene,

What for the seson and the yonge grene,
 Ful loude songen hir affeccions; 55
 Hem semed han geten hem protecciouns
 Agayn the sword of winter kene and cold.

This Cambinskan, of which I have yow
 told, (50)

In royal vestiment sit on his days,
 With diademe, ful heighe in his paleys,
 And halt his feste, so solempne and so
 riche 61

That in this world ne was ther noon it
 liche.

Of which if I shal tellen al th'array,
 Than wolde it occupye a someres day;
 And eek it nedeth nat for to devyse 65
 At every cours the ordre of hir servyse.
 I wol nat tellen of hir strange sewes, (59)
 Ne of hir swannes, ne of hir heronsewes.
 Eek in that lond, as tellen knightes olde,
 Ther is som mete that is ful deyntee holde,

That in this lond man recche of it but
smal ; 71

Ther nis no man that may reporten al
I wol nat tarien yow, for it is pryme,
And for it is no fruit but los of tyme ;
Un-to my firste I wol have my recoura. 75

And so bifel that, after the thridde cours,
Why that this king sit thus in his nobleye, Herkinge his minstralles hir thinges
pleye (70)

Biforn him at the bord deliciously,
In at the halle-dore al sodeynly 80
Ther cam a knight up-on a stede of bras,
And in his hand a brood mirour of glas.
Upon his thombe he hadde of gold a
ring,

And by his syde a naked swerd hanging ;
And up he rydeth to the heighe bord. 85
In al the halle ne was ther spoke a word
For merveille of this knight ; him to bi-
holde

Ful bisily ther wayten yonge and olde.

This strange knight, that cam thus sodeynly, (81)

Al armed save his heed ful richely, 90
Salueth king and queen, and lordes alle,
By ordre, as they seten in the halle,
With so heigh reverence and obeisaunce
As wel in speche as in contenaunce,
That Gawain, with his olde curteisye, 95
Though he were come ageyn out of Fairye,
Ne coude him nat amende with a word.
And after this, biforn the heighe bord, (90)
He with a manly voys seith his message,
After the forme used in his langage, 100
With-outen vyce of sillable or of lettre ;
And, for his tale sholde seme the bettre,
Accordant to his wordes was his chere,
As techeth art of speche hem that it
lere ;

Al-be-it that I can nat soune his style, 105
Ne can nat climben over so heigh a style,
Yet seye I this, as to commune entente, Thus muche amounteth al that ever he
mente, (100)

If it so be that I have it in minde.

He seyde, 'the king of Arabie and of Inde, 110

My lige lord, on this solempne day
Salueth yow as he best can and may,
And sendeth yow, in honour of your feste,

By me, that am al redy at your heste,
This stede of bras, that esily and wel 115
Can, in the space of o day naturel,
This isto seyn, in foure and twenty houres,
Wher-so yow list, in droghte or elles
shoures, (110)

Beren your body in-to every place
To which your herte wilneth for to pace With-outen wem of yow, thurgh foul or fair ; 121

Or, if yow list to fleen as hye in the air
As doth an egle, whan him list to soere,
This same stede shal bere yow ever-more
With-outen harm, til ye be ther yow
leste, 125

Though that ye slepen on his bak or reste ;
And turne ayeyn, with wrything of a pin.
He that it wroghte coude ful many a gin ;
He wayted many a constellacioun (121)
Er he had doon this operacioun ; 130
And knew ful many a seel and many a bond.

This mirour eek, that I have in myn
hond,

Hath swich a might, that men may in it
see

Whan ther shal fallen any adversitee
Un-to your regne or to your-self also ; 135
And openly who is your freend or foo.
And over al this, if any lady bright
Hath set hir herte on any maner wight,
If he be fals, she shal his treson see, (131)
His newe love and al his subtiltee 140
So openly, that ther shal no-thing hyde.
Wherfor, ageyn this lusty someres tyde,
This mirour and this ring, that ye may see,
He hath sent to my lady Canacee,
Your excellente doghter that is here. 145

The vertu of the ring, if ye wol here,
Is this ; that, if hir lust it for to were (139)
Up-on hir thombe, or in hir purs it bere, Ther is no foul that fleeth under the
hevene

That she ne shal wel understonde his
stevene, 150

And knowe his mening openly and pleyn,
And answeere him in his langage ageyn.
And every gras that groweth up-on rote
She shal eek knowe, and whom it wol do
bote,

Al be his woundes never so depe and wyde.

This naked sward, that hangeth by my syde, 156
 Swich vertu hath, that what man so ye smyte,
 Thurgh-out his armure it wol kerve and byte, (150)
 Were it as thikke as is a branched ook ;
 And what man that is wounded with the strook 160
 Shal never be hool til that yow list, of grace,
 To stroke him with the platte in thilke place
 Ther he is hurt : this is as muche to seyn
 Ye mote with the platte sward ageyn
 Stroke him in the wounde, and it wol close ; 165
 This is a verray sooth, with-outen glose,
 It failleth nat whyl it is in your hold.
 And when this knight hath thus his tale told, (160)
 He rydeth out of halle, and doun helighte.
 His stede, which that shoon as sonne brighte, 170
 Stant in the court, as stille as any stoon.
 This knight is to his chambre lad anon,
 And is unarmed and to mete y-set.
 The prentises been ful royally y-fet,
 This is to seyn, the sward and the mirour,
 And born anon in-to the heighe tour 176
 With certeine officers ordeyned therfore ;
 And un-to Canacee this ring was bore (170)
 Solempnely, ther she sit at the table.
 But sikerly, with-outen any fable, 180
 The hors of bras, that may nat be remewed,
 It stant as it were to the ground y-glewed.
 Ther may no man out of the place it dryve
 For noon engyn of windas or polyve ; 184
 And cause why, for they can nat the craft.
 And therefore in the place they han it laft
 Til that the knight hath taught hem the manere
 To voyden him, as ye shal after here. (180)
 Greet was the prees, that swarmeth to and fro, 189
 To gauren on this hors that stondesth so ;
 For it so heigh was, and so brood and long,
 So wel proporcioned for to ben strong,
 Right as it were a stede of Lumbardye ;
 Ther-with so horsaly, and so quik of ys

As it a gentil Poilleys courser were. 195
 For certes, fro his tayl un-to his ere,
 Nature ne art ne coude him nat amende
 In no degree, as al the peple wende. (190)
 But evermore hir moste wonder was,
 How that it coude goon, and was of bras ; 200
 It was of Fairye, as the peple semed.
 Diverse folk diversely they demed ;
 As many hedes, as many wittes ther been.
 They murmureden as dooth a swarm of been,
 And maden skiles after hir fantasyes, 205
 Rehersinge of these olde poetryes,
 And seyden, it was lyk the Pegasee,
 The hors that hadde winges for to flee ; (200)
 Or elles it was the Grekes hors Synon,
 That broghte Troye to destruccion, 210
 As men may in these olde gastes rede.
 'Myn herte,' quod oon, 'is evermore in drede ;
 I trowe som men of armes been ther-inne,
 That shapen hem this citee for to winne.
 It were right good that al swich thing were knowe.' 215
 Another rownded to his felawe lowe,
 And seyde, 'he lyeth, it is rather lyk
 An apparence y-maad by som magyk, (210)
 As jogelours pleyen at these festes grete.'
 Of sondry doutes thus they jangle and trete, 220
 As lewed peple demeth comunly
 Of things that ben maad more subtilly
 Than they can in her lewednes comprehend ;
 They demen gladly to the badder ende.
 And somme of hem wondred on the mirour, 225
 That born was up in-to the maister-tour,
 How men mighte in it swiche thinges see.
 Another answerde, and seyde it mighte wel be (220)
 Naturally, by composicionis
 Of angles and of slye reflexionis, 230
 And seyden, that in Rome was swich oon.
 They speken of Alocen and Vitulon,
 And Aristotle, that writen in hir lyves
 Of queynete mirours and of prospectyves,
 As knowen they that han hir bokes herd.
 And othere folk hanwondred on the sward 236

That wolde percen thurgh-out every-thing;
And fille in speche of Thelophus the king,
And of Achilles with his queynte spere,
For he coude with it bothe hele and dere,
Right in swich wyse as men may with the sword (233) 241

Of which right now ye han your-selven
herd.

They speken of sondry harding of metal,
And speke of medicynes ther-with-al,
And how, and whanne, it sholde y-harded
be; 245

Which is unknowe algates unto me.

The speke they of Canacees ring,
And seyden alle, that swich a wonder
thing (240)

Of craft of ringes herde they never non,
Save that he, Moyses, and king Salomon
Hadde a name of konning in swich art. 251
Thus seyn the peple, and drawen hem apart.

But nathelees, somme seyden that it was Wonder to maken of fern-assen glas,
And yet nis glas nat lyk assen of fern;
But for they han y-knowen it so fern, 256
Therefore cesseth her jangling and her wonder.

As sore wondren somme on cause of thonder, (250)

On ebbe, on flood, on gossomer, and on mist, 259

And alle thing, til that the cause is wist.
Thus jangle they and demen and devyse,
Til that the king gan fro the bord aryse.

Phebus hath left the angle meridional,
And yet ascending was the best royal,
The gentil Leon, with his Aldiran, 265 Whan that this Tartre king, this Cam-binskan, (258)

Rooos fro his bord, ther that he sat ful hie.
Toforn him gooth the loude minstralcy, e,
Til he cam to his chambre of parements,
Ther as they sownen diverse instruments,
That it is lyk an heven for to here. 271
Now dauncen lusty Venus children dere,
For in the Fish hir lady sat ful hie,
And loketh on hem with a freendly yē.

This noble king is set up in his throne. 275
This strange knight is fet to him ful sone,
And on the daunce he gooth with Canacee,
Heer is the revel and the jolitee (270)

That is nat able a dul man to devyse. 279
He moste han knowen love and his servyse,
And been a festlich man as fresh as
May,

That sholde yow devyssen swich array.

Who coude telle yow the forme of
daunces,

So uncounte and so fresshe contenaunces,
Swich subtil loking and dissimulinges 285
For drede of jalouse mennesperceyvinges?
No man but Launcelot, and he is deed.

Therefor I passe of al this lustiheed; (280)
I seye na-more, but in this jolynesse

I lete hem, til men to the soper dresse. 290

The styward bit the spyces for to hie,
And eek the wyn, in al this melodeye.

The ushers and the squyers ben y-goon;
The spyces and the wyn is come anon.

They ete and drinke; and whan this hadde
an ende, 295

Un-to the temple, as reson was, they
wende.

The service doon, they soupen al by day.

What nedeth yow rehercen hir array? (290)

Ech man wot wel, that at a kinges feeste Hath plentee, to the moste and to the leeste, 300

And deyntees mo than been in my knowing.

At-after soper gooth this noble king
To seen this hors of bras, with al the route

Of lordes and of ladyes him aboute.

Swich wondring was ther on this hors of bras 305

That, sin the grete sege of Troye was,

Ther-as men wondreden on an hors also,

Ne was ther swich a wondring as was tho.

But fynally the king axeth this knight (301)

The vertu of this coursar and the might,

And preyede him to telle his governaunce.

This hors anon bigan to trippe and
daunce, 312

Whan that this knight leyde hand up-on his reyne,

And seyde, 'sir, ther is na-more to seyne,

But, whan yow list to ryden any-where, 315

Ye moten trille a pin, stant in his ere,

Which I shall telle yow bitwix vs two. (309)

Ye mote nempne him to what place also

Or to what contree that yow list to ryde. 319

And whan ye come ther as yow list abyde,

Bidde him descende, and trille another pin,
For ther-in lyth the effect of al the gin,
And he wol down descende and doon your
wille ;

And in that place he wol abyde stille,
Though al the world the contrarie hadde
y-swore ; 325

He shal nat thennes ben y-drawe n'y-
bore.

Or, if yow liste bidde him thennes goon,
Trille this pin, and he wol vanishe anon
Out of the sighte of every maner wight, (321)
And come agayn, be it by day or night, 330
When that yow list to clepen him ageyn
In swich a gyse as I shal to yow seyn
Bitwixe yow and me, and that ful sone.
Ryde whan yow list, ther is na-more to
done.'

Enformed whan the king was of that
knight, 335

And hath conceyved in his wit aright
The maner and the forme of al this thing,
Thus glad and blythe, this noble doughty
king (330)

Repeireth to his revel as biforn.

The byrdel is un-to the tour y-born, 340
And kept among his jewels leve and
dere.

The hors vanished, I noot in what manere,
Out of hir sighte ; ye gete na-more of me.
But thus I lete in lust and Iolitee
This Cambynskan his lordes festeyinge, 345
Til wel ny the day bigan to springe.

Explicit prima pars.

Sequitur pars secunda.

The notice of digestioun, the slepe,
Gan on hem winke, and bad hem taken
kepe, (340)

That machel drink and labour wolde han
reste ;

And with a galping mouth hem alle he keste, 350

And seyde, 'it was tyme to lye adoun,
For blood was in his dominacioun ;
Cherissheth blood, natures freend,' quod
he.

They thanken him galpinge, by two, by
three,

And every wight gan drawe him to his
reste, 355

As slepe hem bad ; they toke it for the
beste.

Hir dremes shul nat been y-told for me ;
Ful were hir hedes of fumositee, (350)
That causeth drem, of which ther nis no
charge. 359

They slepen til that it was pryme large,
The moste part, but it were Canacee ;
She was ful mesurable, as women be.

For of hir fader hadde she take leve
To gon to reste, sone after it was eve ;

Hir liste nat appalled for to be, 365
Nor on the morwe unfestlich for to see ;
And slepte hir firste sleep, and thanne
awook. (359)

For swich a joye she in hir herte took
Both of hir queynte ring and hir mirour,
That twenty tyme she changed hir colour ;
And in hir slepe, right for impressioun 371
Of hir mirour, she hadde a visioun.

Wherfore, er that the sonne gan up glyde,
She cleped on hir maistresse hir biyde,
And seyde, that hir liste for to ryse. 375

These olde women that been gladly
wyse,

As is hir maistresse, answerde hir anon,
And seyde, 'madame, whider wil ye
goon (370)

Thus erly ? for the folk ben alle on reste.'
'I wol,' quod she, 'aryse, for me leste 380
No lenger for to slepe, and walke aboute.'

Hir maistresse clepeth women a gret
route,

And up they ryssen, wel a ten or twelve ;
Up ryseth freshe Canacee hir-selve,
As rody and bright as dooth the yonge
sonne, 385

That in the Ram is four degrees up-ronne ;
Noon hyer was he, whan she redy was ;
And forth she walketh esily a pas, (380)
Arrayed after the lusty secon sote 389
Lightly, for to pleye and walke on fote ;
Nat but with fyve or six of hir meynee ;
And in a trench, forth in the park, goth
she.

The vapour, which that fro the erthe glood,
Made the sonne to seme rody and brood ;
But natheles, it was so fair a sighte 395
That it made alle hir hertes for to lighte,
What for the secon and the morweninge,
And for the foules that she herde singe ;

For right anon she wiste what they mente
Right by hir song, and knewal hir entente.

The knotte, why that every tale is told,
If it be taried til that lust be cold
Of hem that han it after herked yore,
The savour passeth ever langer the more,
For fulsomnesse of his prolixitee. 405
And by the same reson thinketh me,
I sholde to the knotte condescende,
And maken of hir walking sone an
ende. (400)

Amidde a tree fordrye, as whyt as chalk,
As Canacee was playing in hir walk, 410
Ther sat a faucon over hir heed ful hye,
That with a pitous voys so gan to crye
That all the wode resounded of hir cry.
Y-beten hath she hir-self so pitously 414
With bothe hir winges, til the rede blood
Ban endelong the tree ther-as she stood.
And ever in oon she cryde alwey and shrighte,

And with hir beak hir-selven so she prighte, (410)

That ther nis tygre, ne noon so cruel
beste,

That dwelleth either in wode or in foreste
That nolde han wept, if that he wepe
conde, 421

For sorwe of hir, she shrighte alwey so louda.

For ther nas never yet no man on lyve—
If that I conde a faucon wel discryve—

That herde of swich another of fairnesse,
As wel of plumage as of gentillesse 426

Of shap, and al that mighte y-rekened be.
A faucon peregryn than semed she (420)

Of fremde land; and evermore, as she
stood,

She swowneth now and now for lakke of
blood, 430

Til wel neigh is she fallen fro the tree.

This faire kinges doghter, Canacee,
That on hir finger bar the queynte ring, Thurgh which she understood wel every
thing

That any foul may in his ledene seyn, 435
And coude answer him in his ledene
ageyn,

Hath understonde what this faucon seyde,
And wel neigh for the rewthe almost she
deyde. (430)

And to the tree she gooth ful hastily,
And on this faucon loketh pitously, 440
And heeld hir lappe abrood, for wel she
wiste

The faucon moste fallen fro the twiste,
When that it swowned next, for lakke of
blood.

A longe while to wayten hir she stood
Till atte laste she spak in this manere 445
Un-to the hawk, as ye shul after here.

'What is the cause, if it be for to telle,
That ye be in this furial pyne of helle?'
Quod Canacee un-to this hawk above. (441)
'Is this for sorwe of deeth or los of love?
For, as I trowe, thise ben causes two 451
That causen moost a gentil herte wo;
Of other harm it nedeth nat to speke.

For ye your-self upon your-self yow wreke,
Which proveth wel, that either love or
drede 455

Mot been encheson of your cruel dede,
Sin that I see non other wight yow chace.

For love of god, as dooth your-selven grace—
Or what may ben your help; for west non east (451)

Ne sey I never er now no brid ne beest
That ferde with him-self so pitoually. 461

Ye slee me with your sorwe, verraily;
I have of yow so gret compassion.

For goddes love, com fro the tree adoun;
And, as I am a kinges doghter trewe, 465

If that I verraily the cause knewe
Of your disese, if it lay in my might,

I wolde amende it, er that it were night,
As wisly helpe me gret god of kinde! (461)

And herbes ahal I right y-nowe y-finde
To hele with your hurtes hastily.' 471

The shrighte this faucon more pitously
Than ever she dide, and fil to grounde
anoon,

And lyth aswowne, deed, and lyk a stoon,
Til Canacee hath in hir lappe hir take 475

Un-to the tyme she gan of swough awake.
And, after that she of hir swough gan
breyde,

Right in hir haukes ledene thus she
seyde:— (470)

'That pitee renneth sone in gentil herte,
Feling his similitnde in peynnesmerte, 480

Is preved al-day, as men may it see,
As wel by werk as by auctoritee;

For gentil herte kytheth gentillesse.
 I see wel, that ye han of my distresse
 Compassioun, my faire Canacee, 485
 Of verray womanly benignitee
 That nature in your principles hath set.
 But for non hope for to fare the bet, (480)
 But for to obeye un-to your herte free,
 And for to maken othe be war by me,
 As by the whelp chastid is the leoun, 491
 Right for that cause and that conclusioun,
 Whyl that I have a layser and a space,
 Myn harm I wol confessen, er I pace.
 And ever, whyl that oon hir sorwe tolde,
 That othe weep, as she to water wolde,
 Til that the faucon bad hir to be stille;
 And, with a syk, right thus she seyde hir
 wille. (490) 498
 'Ther I was bred (allas! that harde
 day!)

And fostred in a roche of marbul gray
 So tendrely, that nothing eyled me, 501
 I niste nat what was adversitee,
 Til I coude fleo ful hie under the sky.
 Tho dwelte a tercelet me faste by,
 That semed welle of alle gentillesse; 505
 Al were he ful of treson and falsnesse,
 It was so wrapped under humble chere,
 And under hewe of trouthe in swich
 manere, (500)
 Under plesance, and under bisy payne,
 That no wight coude han wend he coude
 feyne, 510
 So depe in greyn he dyed his coloures.
 Right as a serpent hit him under floures
 Til he may seen his tyme for to byte,
 Right so this god of love, this ypoocryte,
 Doth so his carimonies and obeisaunces,
 And kepeth in semblant alle his observances 516
 That sowneth in-to gentillesse of love.
 As in a toumbe is al the faire above, (510)
 And under is the corps, swich as ye woot, Swich was this ypoocryte, bothe cold and
 hoot, 520
 And in this wyse he served his entente,
 That (save the feend) non wiste what he
 mente.
 Til he so longe had wopen and oom-plained,
 And many a yeer his service to me feyned,
 Til that myn herte, to pitous and to nyce,

Al innocent of his crowned malice, 526
 For-fere of his deeth, as thoughte me,
 Upon his othes and his seuretee, (520)
 Graunted him love, on this condicioun,
 That evermore myn honour and renoun
 Were saved, bothe privee and apert; 531
 This is to seyn, that, after his desert,
 I yaf him al myn herte and al my
 thought—
 God woot and he, that otherwyse noight—
 And took his herte in chaunge for myn for ay. 535
 But sooth is seyde, gon sithen many a day,
 "A trew wight and a theef thenken nat
 oon."
 And, when he saugh the thing so fer
 y-gooun, (530)
 That I had graunted him fully my love,
 In swich a gyse as I have seyde above, 540
 And yeven him my trewe herte, as free
 As he swoor he his herte yaf to me;
 Anon this tygre, ful of doublenesse,
 Fil on his knees with so devout hum-
 blesse,
 With so heigh reverence, and, as by his
 chere, 545
 So lyk a gentil love of manere,
 So ravished, as it semed, for the joye,
 That never Jason, ne Parys of Troye, (540)
 Jason? certes, ne non other man,
 Sin Lameth was, that alderfirst bigan 550
 To loven two, as writen folk biforn,
 Ne never, sin the firste man was born,
 Ne coude man, by twenty thousand part,
 Countrefete the sophimes of his art;
 Ne were worthy unbokele his galoche, 555
 Ther doublenesse or feyning sholde approche,
 Ne so coude thanke a wight as he did me!
 His maner was an heven for to see (550)
 Til any womman, were she never so
 wys;
 So peynted he and kembde at point-devys
 As wel his wordes as his contenance. 561
 And I so lovede him for his obeisaunce,
 And for the trouthe I demed in his herte,
 That, if so were that any thing him
 smerte,
 Al were it never so lyte, and I it wiste, 565
 Me thoughte, I felte deeth myn herte
 twiste.

And shortly, so ferforth this thing is
went, (559)

That my wil was his willes instrument;
This is to seyn, my wil obeyed his wil
In alle thing, as fer as reson fil, 570
Keping the boundes of my worship ever.
Ne never hadde I thing so leef, ne lever,
As him, god woot! ne never shal na-mo.

This lasteth lenger than a yeer or two,
That I supposed of him noght but good.
But fynally, thus atte laste it stood, 576
That fortune wolde that he moste twinne
Out of that place which that I was inne.
Wher me was wo, that is no questioun;
I can nat make of it discripcioun; 580
For o thing dar I tellen boldely, (573)
I knowe what is the payne of deth ther-by;
Swich harm I felte for he ne mighte bileve.

So on a day of me he took his leve,
So sorwefully eek, that I wende verrailly
That he had felt as muche harm as I, 586 Whan that I herde him speke, and saugh his hewe. (579)

But natheless, I thoughte he was so trewe,
And eek that he repaire sholde ageyn
With-inne a litel whyle, sooth to seyn; 590
And reson wolde eek that he moste go
For his honour, as ofte it happeth so,
That I made vertu of necessitee,
And took it wel, sin that it moste be.
As I best mighte, I hidde fro him my
sorwe, 595

And took him by the hond, seint John to
borwe,

And seyde him thus: "lo, I am youre al; Beth swich as I to yow have been, and
shal." (590)

What he answerde, it nedeth noght re-herce,

Who can sey bet than he, who can do
werse? 600

Whan he hath al wel seyde, thanne hath he doon.

"Therfor bihoveth him a ful long spoon
That shal ete with a feend," thus herde
I seye.

So atte laste he moste forth his weye,
And forth he fleeth, til he cam ther him
leste. 605

Whan it cam him to purpos for to reste,

I trowe he hadde thilke text in minde,
That "alle thing, repeiring to his kinde, Gladeth him-self"; thus seyn men, as I
gesse; (601)

Men loven of propre kinde newfangel-
nesse, 610

As briddes doon that men in cages fede.
For though thou night and day take of hem hede,

And strawe hir cage faire and softe as
silk,

And yeve hem sugre, hony, breed and
milk,

Yet right anon, as that his dore is uppe,
He with his feet wol spurne adoun his cuppe, 616

And to the wode he wol and wormes ete;
So newefangel been they of hir mete, (610)
And loven novelryes of propre kinde;

No gentilnesse of blood [ne] may hem
binde. 620

So ferde this tercelet, allas the day!
Though he were gentil born, and fresh and gay,

And goodly for to seen, and humble and
free,

He saugh up-on a tyme a kyte flec,
And sodeynly he loved this kyte so, 625

That al his love is clene fro me ago,
And hath his trouthe falsed in this wyse;
Thus hath the kyte my love in hir ser-
vyse, (620)

And I am lorn with-outen remedye!
And with that word this faucon gan to
crye, 630

And swowned eft in Canacees barme.
Greet was the sorwe, for the haukes
harme,

That Canacee and alle hir women made;
They niste how they mighte the faucon
glade. 634

But Canacee hom bereth hir in hir lappe,
And softly in plastres gan hir wrappe,
Ther as she with hir beek had hurt hir-
selve. (629)

Now can nat Canacee but herbes delve
Out of the grounde, and make salves
newe

Of herbes precions, and fyne of hewe, 640
To helen with this hauk; fro day to night
She dooth hir businessse and al hir might.

And by hir beddes heed she made a mewe,
And covered it with veluettes blewe,
In signe of trouthe that is in wommen
sene. 645

And al with-oute, the mewe is peynted
grene,

In which were peynted alle thise false
foules, (639)

As both thise tidifs, terceletis, and oules,
Right for despyt were peynted hem bisyde,
And pyes, on hem for to crye and chyde.

Thus lete I Canacee hir hauk keping;
I wol na-more as now speke of hir ring,
Til it come eft to purpos for to seyn
How that this faucon gat hir love ageyn
Repentant, as the storie telleth us, 655

By mediacioun of Cambalus,
The kinges sone, of whiche I yow tolde.
But hennes-forth I wol my proces holde
To speke of adventures and of batailles,
That never yet was herd so grete mer-vailles. (652) 660

First wol I telle yow of Cambinskan,
That in his tyme many a citee wan;
And after wol I speke of Algarsyf,
How that he wan Theodora to his wyf,
For whom ful ofte in greet peril he was,
Ne hadde he ben holpen by the stede of
bras; 666

And after wol I speke of Cambalo,
That faught in listes with the bretheren
two (660)

For Canacee, er that he mighte hir winne.
And ther I lefte I wol ageyn biginne. 670

Here folwen the wordes of the Franklin

Host to the Franklin.

'In feith, Squier, thou hast thee wel
y-quit,

And gentilly I preise wel thy wit,' Quod the Frankeleyn, 'considering thy youthes, 675

So feelingly thou speakest, sir, I allow the!

As to my doom, there is non that is
here

Of eloquence that shal be thy pere,
If that thou live; god yeve thee good
chaunce, 679

And in vertu sende thee continuance!
For of thy speche I have greet deyntee.

I have a sone, and, by the Trinitee, (10)
I hadde lever than twenty pound worth
lond,

Though it right now were fallen in myn
hond,

He were a man of swich discrecioun 685
As that ye been! fy on possessioun

But-if a man be vertuuous with-al.
I have my sone snibbed, and yet shal,

For he to vertu listeth nat entende;
But for to pleye at dees, and to spende,

And lese al that he hath, is his usage. 691
And he hath lever talken with a page (20)

Than to commune with any gentil wight
Ther he mighte lerne gentilless aright.'

'Straw for your gentilless,' quod our

A tale or two, or breken his biheste.'

'That knowe I wel, sir,' quod the frankeleyn;

'I prey yow, haveth me nat in desdeyn
Though to this man I speke a word or
two.' 701

'Telle on thy tale with-uten wordes
mo.' (30)

'Gladly, sir host,' quod he, 'I wol obeye
Un-to your wil; now herkneth what
I seye.

I wol yow nat contrarien in no wyse 705
As fer as that my wittes wol suffyse;

I prey to god that it may plesen yow,
Than woot I wel that it is good y-now.'

THE FRANKLIN'S PROLOGUE.

The Prologe of the Frankeleyns Tale.

These olde gentil Britons in hir dayes
 Of diverse aventures maden layes, 710
 Rymeyd in hir firste Briton tonge;
 Which layes with hir instruments they
 songe, (40)
 Or elles reddem hem for hir plesaunce;
 And oon of hem have I in remembraunce,
 Which I shal seyn with good wil as I
 can. 715
 But, sires, by-cause I am a burel man,
 At my biginning first I yow biseche
 Have me excused of my rude speche;

I lerned never rethoryk certeyn;
 Thing that I speke, it moot be bare and
 pleyn. 720
 I sleep never on the mount of Pernaso,
 Ne lerned Marcus Tullius Cithero. (50)
 Colours ne knowe I none, with-uten
 drede,
 But swiche colours as growen in the mede,
 Or elles swiche as men dye or peynte. 725
 Colours of rethoryk ben me to queynte;
 My spirit feleth nocht of swich matere.
 But if yow list, my tale shul ye here.

THE FRANKLEYN'S TALE.

Here biginneth the Frankeleyns Tale.

In Armorik, that called is Britayne, Ther was a knight that loved and dide
 his payne 730
 To serve a lady in his beste wyse;
 And many a labour, many a greet emprise
 He for his lady wroghte, er she were
 wonne.
 For she was oon, the faireste under sonne,
 And eek therto come of so heigh kinrede,
 That wel unnethes dorste this knight, for
 drede, 736
 Telle hir his wo, his peyne, and his
 distresse.
 But atte laste, she, for his worthinesse, (10)
 And namely for his make obeysaunce, Hath swich a pitee caught of his pen-unce, 740

That prively she fil of his accord
 To take him for hir housbonde and hir
 lord,
 Of swich lordshipe as men han over hir
 wyves;
 And for to lede the more in blisse hir
 lyves, 744
 Of his free wil he swoor hir as a knight,
 That never in al his lyf he, day ne
 night,
 Ne sholde up-on him take no maistrye
 Agayn hir wil, ne kythe hir jalousye, (20)
 But hir obeys, and folwe hir wil in al
 As any love to his lady shal; 750
 Save that the name of soveraynetee,
 That wolde he have for shame of his degree.

She thanked him, and with ful greet humblesse
 She seyde, 'sire, sith of your gentillesse
 Ye profre me to have so large a reyne, 755
 Ne wolde never god bitwixe us tweyne,
 As in my gilt, were outhere werre or stryf.
 Sir, I wol be your humble trewe wyf, (30)
 Have heer my trouthe, til that myn herte
 breste.'

Thus been they bothe in quiete and in
 reste. 760

For o thing, sires, sauffy dar I seye,
 That frendes everich other moot obeye,
 If they wol longe holden companye.
 Love wol nat ben constreyned by maistrtrye;
 Whan maistrise comth, the god of love
 anon 765
 Beteth hise winges, and farewel! he is
 gon!
 Love is a thing as any spirit free;
 Wommen of kinde desairen libertee, (40)
 And nat to ben constreyned as a thral;
 And so don men, if I soth seyen shal. 770
 Loke who that is most pacient in love,
 He is at his avantage al above.
 Pacience is an heigh vertu certeyn;
 For it venquisseth, as thise clerkes seyn,
 Things that rigour sholde never atteyne.
 For every word men may nat chyde or
 pleyne. 776

Lerneth to suffre, or elles, so moot I goon, Ye shul it lerne, wher-so ye wole or noon.
 For in this world, certein, ther no wight
 is, (51)
 That he ne dooth or seith som-tyme amis.
 Ire, siknesse, or constellacioun, 781
 Wyn, wo, or chaunginge of complexioun
 Causeth ful ofte to doon amis or speken.
 On every wrong a man may nat be wroken;
 After the tyme, moste be temperaunce 785
 To every wight that can on governaunce.
 And therefore hath this wyse worthy
 knight,
 To live in ese, suffrance hir bihight, (60)
 And she to him ful wisly gan to swere
 That never sholde ther be defaute in here.
 Heer may men seen an humble wys accord; 791
 Thus hath she take hir servant and hir
 lord,

Servant in love, and lord in mariage;
 Than was he bothe in lordship and servage;
 Servage? nay, but in lordshipe above, 795
 Sith he hath bothe his lady and his love;
 His lady, certes, and his wyf also,
 The which that lawe of love acordeth to.
 And whan he was in this prosperitee, (71) Hoom with his wyf he gooth to his
 contree, 800
 Nat fer fro Penmark, ther his dwelling
 was,
 Wher-as he liveth in blisse and in solas.
 Who coude telle, but he had wedded be,
 The joye, the ese, and the prosperitee
 That is bitwixe an housbonde and his wyf?
 A yeer and more lasted this blisful lyf, 806 Til that the knight of which I speke of
 thus,
 That of Kayrrud was cleped Arveragus, (80)
 Shoop him to goon, and dwelle a yeer or
 tweyne
 In Engelond, that cleped was eek Briteyne,
 To seke in armes worship and honour; 811
 For al his lust he sette in swich labour;
 And dwelled ther two yeer, the book seith
 thus.
 Now wol I stinte of this Arveragus,
 And speken I wole of Dorigene his wyf, 815
 That loveth hir housbonde as hir hertes
 lyf.
 For his absence wepeth she and syketh,
 As doon thise noble wyves whan hem
 lyketh. (90)
 She moorneth, waketh, wayleth, fasteth, pleyneth; 819
 Desyr of his presence hir so distreyneth,
 That al this wyde world she sette at noght.
 Hir frendes, whiche that knewe hir hevye
 thoght,
 Conforten hir in al that ever they may;
 They prechen hir, they telle hir night
 and day,
 That causeles she sleeth hir-self, allas! 825
 And every confort possible in this cas
 They doon to hir with al hir businessse,
 Al for to make hir leve hir hevinesse, (100)
 By proces, as ye knowen everichoon,
 Men may so longe graven in a stoon, 830
 Til som figure ther-inne emprented be.
 So longe han they confortd hir, til she

Receved hath, by hope and by resoun,
Th'emprenting of hir consolacioun, 834
Thurgh which hir grete sorwe gan aswage;
She may nat alwey duren in swich rage.

And eek Arveragus, in al this care,
Hath sent hir lettres hoom of his welfare,
And that he wol come hastily agayn; (111)
Or elles hadde this sorwe hir herte slayn.

Hir freendes sawe hir sorwe gan to slake, 841
And preyede hir on knees, for goddes
sake,

To come and romen hir in companye,
Awey to dryve hir derke fantasye.
And finally, she graunted that requeste;
For wel she saugh that it was for the
beste. (118) 846

Now stood hir castel faste by the see,
And often with hir freendes walketh she Hir to disporte up-on the bank an heigh,
Wher-as she many a ship and barge seigh
Seillinge hir cours, wher-as hem liste go;
But than was that a parcel of hir wo.

For to hir-self ful ofte 'allas!' seith she,
'Is ther no ship, of so manye as I see, Wol bringen hom my lord? than were myn herte 855
Al warisshed of his bittre peynes smerte.'

Another tyme ther wolde she sitte and
thinke,

And caste hir eyen downward fro the brinke. (130)

But whan she saugh the grisly rokkes
blake,

For verray fere so wolde hir herte quake,
That on hir feet she mighte hir noght
sustena. 861

Than wolde she sitte adoun upon the grane,

And pitously in-to the see biholde,
And seyn right thus, with sorweful sykes
colde:

'Eterne god, that thurgh thy purvey-
aunce 865

Ledest the world by certein governaunce,
In ydel, as men seyn, ye no-thing make;
But, lord, thise grisly feendly rokkes
blake, (140)

That semen rather a foul confusoun
Of werk than any fair creacioun 870
Of swich a parfyt wys god and a stable,

Why han ye wrought this werk unreason-
able?

For by this werk, south, north, ne west,
ne east,

Ther nis y-fostred man, ne brid, ne beest;
It dooth no good, to my wit, but anyoeth.
See ye nat, lord, how mankinde it destroyeth? 876

An hundred thousand bodies of mankinde
Han rokkes slayn, al be they nat in minde, Which mankinde is so fair part of thy werk (151)

That thou it madest lyk to thyn owene
merk. 880

Than semed it ye hadde a greet chiertee Toward mankinde; but how than may it be

That ye swiche menes make it to destroyen,

Whiche menes do no good, but ever anoeyn?

I woot wel clerkes wol seyn, as hem
leste, 885

By arguments, that al is for the beste,
Though I ne can the causes nat y-knowe.
But thilke god, that made wind to blowe,
As kepe my lord! this my conclusioun;
To clerkes lete I al disputioun. (162) 890
But wolde god that alle thise rokkes blake
Were sonken in-to helle for his sake!

Thise rokkes sleen myn herte for the fere.'
Thus wolde she seyn, with many a pitous
tere.

Hir freendes sawe that it was no disport
To romen by the see, but disconfort; 896

And shopen for to pleyen somwher elles.
They leden hir by riveres and by welles,
And eek in othere places delitable; (171)
They dauncen, and they pleyen at ches and tables. 900

So on a day, right in the morwe-tyde,
Un-to a gardin that was ther bisyde,
In which that they had maad hir ordin-
aunce

Of vitaille and of other purveyaunce,
They goon and pleye hem al the longe
day. 905

And this was on the sixte morwe of May,
Which May had peynted with his soft
shoures

This gardin ful of leves and of floures; (180)

And craft of mannes hand so curiously
 Arrayed hadde this gardin, trewely, 910
 That never was ther gardin of swich prys,
 But-if it were the verray paradys.
 Th' odour of floures and the freshe sighte
 Wolde han maad any herte for to lighte
 That ever was born, but-if to gret sik-
 nesse, 915
 Or to gret sorwe helde it in distresse;
 So ful it was of beautee with plesaunce.
 At-after diner gonne they to daunce, (100)
 And singe also, save Dorigen allone,
 Which made alway hir compleint and hir
 mone; 920
 For she ne saugh him on the daunce go,
 That was hir housbonde and hir love also.
 But natheles she moste a tyme abyde,
 And with good hope lete hir sorwe slyde.
 Up-on this daunce, amonges othere men,
 Daunced a squyer biforen Dorigen, 926
 That fresher was and jolyer of array,
 As to my doom, than is the monthe of
 May. (200)
 He singeth, daunceth, passinge any man
 That is, or was, eith that the world bigan.
 Ther-with he was, if men sholde him
 discryve, 931
 Oon of the beste faringe man on-lyve;
 Yong, strong, right vertuouus, and riche
 and wys,
 And wel biloved, and holden in gret prys.
 And shortly, if the sothe I tallen shal, 935
 Unwiting of this Dorigen at al,
 This lusty squyer, servant to Venus,
 Which that y-cleped was Aurelius, (210)
 Had loved hir best of any creature
 Two yeer and more, as was his aventure,
 But never dorste he telle hir his grevance; 941
 With-ouen coppe he drank al his pen-
 aunce.
 He was despeyred, no-thing dorste he seye,
 Save in his songes somewhat wolde he wrye
 His wo, as in a general compleyning; 945
 He seyde he lovede, and was biloved no-
 thing. (218)
 Of swich matere made he manye layes,
 Songes, compleintes, roundels, virelayes,
 How that he dorste nat his sorwe telle,
 But languissheth, as a furis dooth in helle;
 And dye he moste, he seyde, as dide Ekko

For Narcisus, that dorste nat telle hir wo.
 In other manere than ye here me seye,
 Ne dorste he nat to hir his wo biwrye;
 Save that, paraventure, som-tyme at
 daunces, 955
 Ther yonge folk kepen hir observaunces,
 It may wel be he loked on hir face
 In swich a wyse, as man that asketh grace;
 But no-thing wiste she of his entente. (231)
 Natheles, it happed, er they thennes
 wente, 960
 By-cause that he was hir neighebour,
 And was a man of worship and honour,
 And hadde y-knowen him of tyme yore,
 They fille in speche; and forth more and
 more
 Un-to his purpos drough Aurelius, 965
 And whan he saugh his tyme, he seyde
 thus:
 'Madame,' quod he, 'by god that this world made,
 So that I wiste it mighte your herte
 glade, (240)
 I wolde, that day that your Arveragus
 Wente over the see, that I, Aurelius, 970
 Had went ther never I sholde have come
 agayn;
 For wel I woot my service is in vayn.
 My guerdon is but bresting of myn herte;
 Madame, reweth upon my peynes smerte;
 For with a word ye may me sleen or save, Heer at your feet god wolde that I were
 grave! 976
 I ne have as now no leysur more to
 seye;
 Have mercy, swete, or ye wol do me deye!'
 She gan to loke up-on Aurelius: (251)
 'Is this your wil,' quod she, 'and sey ye
 thus? 980
 Never erst,' quod she, 'ne wiste I what ye mente.
 But now, Aurelie, I knowe your entente,
 By thilke god that yaf me soule and lyf,
 Ne shal I never been untrewre wyf 984
 In word ne werk, as fer as I have wit:
 I wol ben his to whom that I am knit;
 Tak this for fynal answer as of me.'
 But after that in pley thus seyde she: (260)
 'Aurelie,' quod she, 'by heighe god
 above, 989
 Yet wolde I graunte yow to been your love,

Sin I yow see so pitoualy complayne;
 Loke what day that, endelong Britayne,
 Yeremove alle the rokkes, stoon by stoon,
 That they ne lette ship ne boot to goon—
 I seye, whan ye han maad the coost so
 clene 995

Of rokkes, that ther nis no stoon y-sene,
 Than wol I love yow best of any man;
 Have heer my trouthe in al that ever I
 can.' (270)

'Is ther non other grace in yow?' quod he.
 'No, by that lord,' quod she, 'that maked
 me! 1000

For wel I woot that it shal never bityde.
 Lat swiche folies out of your herte slyde.
 What deyntee sholde a man han in his lyf
 For to go love another mannes wyf,
 That hath hir body whan so that him
 lyketh?' 1005

Aurelius ful ofte sore syketh;
 Wo was Aurelie, whan that he this herde,
 And with a sorweful herte he thus an-
 swerde: (280)

'Madame,' quod he, 'this were an in-possible! 1009
 Than moot I dye of sodein deth horrible.'
 And with that word he turned him anon.

Tho come hir othere freendes many oon,
 And in the aleyes romeden up and down,
 And no-thing wiste of this conclusioun,
 But sodeinly bigonne revel newe 1015
 Til that the brighte sonne loste his hewe;
 For th'orizonte hath refte the sonne his
 light; (289)

This is as muche to seye as it was night.
 And hoom they goon in joye and in solas,
 Save only wreoche Aurelius, alas! 1020
 He to his housis goon with sorweful herte;

He seeth he may nat fro his deeth asterte.
 Him semed that he felte his herte colde;
 Up to the hevene his handes he gan holde,
 And on his knowes bare hesette him down,
 And in his raving seyde his orisoun. 1026

For verray wo out of his wit he breyde.
 He niste what he spak, but thus he seyde;
 With pitous herte his pleynt hath he
 bigonne (301)

Un-to the goddess, and first un-to the
 sonne: 1030

He seyde, 'Appollo, god and governour
 Of every plaunte, herbe, tree and flour,

That yevest, after thy declinacioun,
 To ech of hem his tyme and his sesoun,
 As thyn herberwe chaungeth lowe or hye,
 Lord Phebus, cast thy merciable y^es 1036
 On wreoche Aurelie, which that am but
 lorn. (309)

Lo, lord! my lady hath my deeth y-sworn
 With-oute gilt, but thy benignitee 1039
 Upon my dedly herte have som pitee!
 For wel I woot, lord Phebus, if yow lest,
 Ye may me helpen, save my lady, best.
 Now voucheth sauf that I may yow devyse
 How that I may been holpe and in what
 wyse. 1044

Your blisful suster, Lucina the shene,
 That of the sees is chief goddesse and quene,
 Though Neptunus have deitee in the see,
 Yet emperesse aboven him is she: (320)
 Ye knowen wel, lord, that right as hir
 desyr 1049

Is to be quiked and lightned of your fyr,
 For which she folweth yow ful bisily,
 Right so the see desyareth naturally
 To folwen hir, as she that is goddesse Bothe in the see and riveres more and
 lesse.

Wherfore, lord Phebus, this is my re-
 queste— 1055

Do this miracle, or do myn herte breste—
 That now, next at this opposicioun, (329)
 Which in the signe shal be of the Leoun,
 As preyeth hir so greet a flood to bringe,
 That fyve fadme at the leeste it overspringe
 The hyeste rokke in Armorik Briteyne;
 And lat this flood endure yeres tweyne;
 Than certes to my lady may I seye:
 "Holdeth your heste, the rokkes been
 aweye." 1064

Lord Phebus, dooth this miracle for me;
 Preye hir she go no faster cours than ye;
 I seye, preyeth your suster that she go
 No faster cours than ye thise yeres two.
 Than shal she been evene atte fulle alway,
 And spring-flood laste bothe night and
 day. (342) 1070

And, but she vouche-sauf in swiche manere
 To graunte me my sovereyn lady dere,
 Prey hir to sinken every rok adoun
 In-to hir owene derke regioun
 Under the ground, ther Pluto dwelleth
 inne, 1075

Or never-mo shal I my lady winne.
 Thy temple in Delphos wol I barefoot seke;
 Lord Phebus, see the teres on my cheke,
 And of my peyne have som compassioun.
 And with that word in swowne he fl
 adoun, (352) 1080

And longe tyme he lay forth in a traunce.
 His brother, which that knew of his
 penaunce,
 Up caughte him and to bedde he hath him brought.

Dispeyred in this torment and this thought
 Lete I this woful creature lye; 1085 Chese he, for me, whether he wol live or
 dye.

Arveragus, with hele and greet honour,
 As he that was of chivalrye the flour, (360)
 Is comen hoom, and othere worthy men.
 O blisful artow now, thou Dorigen, 1090
 That hast thy lusty housbonde in thyne
 armes,

The freshe knight, the worthy man of
 armes,

That loveth thee, as his owene hertes lyf.
 No-thing list him to been imaginatyf
 If any wight had spoke, whyl he was
 oute, 1095

To hire of love; he hadde of it no doute.
 He noght entendeth to no swich matere,
 But daunceeth, justeth, maketh hir good
 chere; (370)

And thus in joye and blisse I lete hem
 dwelle,

And of the syke Aurelius wol I telle. 1100

In langour and in torment furious
 Two yeer and more lay wrecche Aurelius,
 Er any foot he mighte on erthe goon;
 Ne confort in this tyme hadde he noon,
 Save of his brother, which that was a clerk;
 He knew of al this wo and al this werk.

For to non other creature certeyn 1107

Of this matere he dorste no word seyn.

Under his brest he bar it more secree (381)

Than ever dide Pamphilus for Galathee.

His brest was hool, with-oute for to sene,

But in his herte ay was the arwe kene.

And wel ye knowe that of a sursanure

In surgerye is perilous the cure,

But men mighte touche the arwe, or come
 therby. 1115

His brother weep and wayled prively,

Til atte laste him fil in remembraunce,
 That whyl he was at Orliens in Fraunce,
 As yonge clerkes, that been likerous (391)
 To reden artes that been curious, 1120
 Seken in every halke and every herne
 Particular sciences for to lerne,

He him remembred that, upon a day,
 At Orliens in studie a book he say

Of magik naturel, which his felawe, 1125

That was that tyme a bacheler of lawe,

Al were he ther to lerne another craft,

Had prively upon his desk y-laft; (400)

Which book spak muchel of the opera-
 ciouns,

Touchinge the eighte and twenty mansiouns 1130

That longen to the mone, and swich folye,

As in our dayes is nat worth a flye;

For holy chirches feith in our bileve

Ne suffreth noon illusion us to greva.

And whan this book was in his remem-
 braunce, 1135

Anon for joye his herte gan to daunce,

And to him-self he seyde prively :

'My brother shal be warisshed hastily;

For I am siker that ther be sciences, (411)

By whiche men make diverse apparences

Swiche as thise subtil tregetoures pleye.

For ofte at festes have I wel herd seye,

That tregetours, with-inne an halle large,

Have maad come in a water and a berge,

And in the halle rowen up and down. 1145

Somtyme hath semed come a grim leoun;

And somtyme flourespringe as in a mede;

Somtyme a vyne, and grapes whyte and
 rede; (420)

Somtyme a castel, al of lym and stoon;

And whan hem lyked, voyded it anon.

Thus semed it to every mannes sighte.

Now than conclude I thus, that if I
 mighte 1152

At Orliens som old felawe y-finde,

That hadde this mones mansions in minde,

Or other magik naturel above, 1155

He sholde wel make my brother han his
 love.

For with an apparence a clerk may
 make

To mannes sighte, that alle the rokkes
 blake (430)

Of Britaigne weren y-voyded everichon,

And shippes by the brinke comen and
gon, 1160
And in swich forme endure a day or two ;
Than were my brother warished of his
wo.
Than mooste she nedes holden hir biheste,
Or elles he shal shame hir atte leste.
What sholde I make a lenger tale of
this? 1165
Un-to his brotheres bed he comen is,
And swich confort he yaf him for to gon
To Orlens, that he up stirte anon, (440)
And on his wey forthward thanne is he
fare,
In hope for to ben lissed of his care. 1170
When they were come almost to that
citee,
But-if it were a two furlong or three,
A yong clerk rominge by him-self they
mette,
Which that in Latin thriftily hem grette,
And after that he seyde a wonder thing :
'I knowe,' quod he, 'the cause of your coming' ; 1176
And er they farther any fote wente, (449)
He tolde hem al that was in hir entente.
This Briton clerk him asked of felawes
The whiche that he had knowe in olde daves ; 1180
And he answerde him that they dede were,
For which he weep ful ofte many a tere.
Doun of his hors Aurelius lighte anon,
And forth with this magicien is he gon Hoom to his hous, and made hem wel at
ese. 1185
Hem lakked no vitaille that mighte hem
plese ;
So wel arrayed hous as ther was oon
Aurelius in his lyf saugh never noon. (460)
He shewed him, er he wente to supeer,
Forestes, parkes ful of wilde deer ; 1190
Ther saugh he hertes with hir hornes
hye,
The gretteste that ever were seyn with y8.
He saugh of hem an hondred slayn with
houndes,
And somme with arwes blede of bittre
woundes.
He saugh, whan voided were thise wilde deer, 1195
Thise fauconers upon a fair river,

That with hir haukes han the heron
slayn.
Tho saugh he knightes justing in a playn ;
And after this, he dide him swich ple-
saunce, (471)
That he him shewed his lady on a daunce
On which him-self he daunced, as him
thoughte. 1201
And whan this maister, that this magik
wroughte,
Saugh it was tyme, he clapte his handes
two,
And farewell ! al our revel was ago.
And yet remoeved they never out of the
hous, 1205
Why! they saugh al this sighte mervillous,
But in his studie, ther-as his bookes be,
They seten stille, and no wight but they
three. (480)
To him this maister called his squyer,
And seyde him thus : 'is redy our soper ?
Almost an heure it is, I undertake, 1211
Sith I yow had our soper for to make,
Whan that thise worthy men wenten
with me
In-to my studie, ther-as my bookes be.'
'Sire,' quod this squyer, 'whan it lyketh
yow, 1215
It is al redy, though ye wol right now.'
'Go we than soupe,' quod he, 'as for the
beste ;
This amorous folk som-tyme mote han
reste.' (490)
At-after soper fille they in trettee,
What somme sholde this maistres guer-don be, 1220
To remoeven alle the rokkes of Britayne,
And eek from Gerounde to the mouth of Sayne.
He made it straunge, and swoor, so god
him save,
Lesse than a thousand pound he wolde
nat have,
Ne gladly for that somme he wolde nat
goon. 1225
Aurelius, with blisful herte anon,
Answerde thus, 'fy on a thousand pound !
This wyde world, which that men seye is round, (500)
I wolde it yewe, if I were lord of it. 1229
This bargayn is ful drive, for we ben knit.

Ye shal be payed trewely, by my trouthe!
But loketh now, for no necligence or
slouthe,

Ye tarie us heer no lenger than to-morwe.
'Nay,' quod this clerk, 'have heer my feith to borwe.'

To bedde is goon Aurelius whan him
leste, 1235
And wel ny al that night he hadde his
reste; (508)

What for his labour and his hope of blisse,
His woful herte of penaunce hadde a lisse.

Upon the morwe, whan that it was day,
To Britaigne toke they the righte way, 1240
Aurelius, and this magicien bisyde,
And ben descended ther they wolde
abyde;

And this was, as the bokes me remembre,
The colde frosty seson of Decembre.

Phebus wax old, and hewed lyk latoun,
That in his hote declinacioun 1246
Shoon as the burned gold with stremes
bryghte; (519)

But now in Capricorn adoun he lighte,
Wher-as he shoon ful pale, I dar wel seyn.
The bittre frostes, with the sleet and reyn,
Destroyed hath the grene in every yerd.
Janus sit by the fyr, with double berd,
And drinketh of his bugle-horn the wyn.
Biforn him stant braun of the tusked
swyn, 1254

And 'Nowel' cryeth every lusty man.

Aurelius, in al that ever he can,
Doth to his maister chere and reverence,
And preyeth him to doon his diligence
To bringen him out of his peynes smerte,
Or with a sward that he wolde slitte his
herte. (532) 1260

This subtil clerk swich routhe had of this man,

That night and day he spedde him that he can,

To wayte a tyme of his concludioun;
This is to seye, to make illusioun,
By swich an apparence or jogelrye, 1265
I ne can no termes of astrologye,
That she and every wight sholde wene
and seye, (539)

That of Britaigne the rokkes were aweye,
Or elles they were sonken under grounde.
So atte laste he hath his tyme y-founde

To maken his japes and his wrecched-
nesse 1271

Of swich a superstitious cursednesse.

His tables Toletanes forth he broght,
Ful wel corrected, ne ther lakked noght,
Neither his collect ne his expans yeres,
Ne his rotes ne his othere geres, 1276
As been his centres and his arguments,
And his proporcionels convenients (550)
For his equacions in every thing.

And, by his eighte spere in his wirking,
He knew ful wel how fer Almath was shove 1281

For the heed of thilke fixe Aries above
That in the ninthe spere considered is;
Ful subtilly he calculated al this.

Whan he had founde his firste man-
sioun, 1285

He knew the remenant by proporcioun;
And knew the arysing of his mone
weel,

And in whos face, and terme, and every-deal; (560)

And knew ful weel the mones mansioun
Acordaunt to his operacioun, 1290

And knew also his othere observances
For swiche illusiouns and swiche mes-
chaunces

As hethen folk used in thilke dayes;
For which no lenger maketh he delayes,
But thurgh his magik, for a wyke or
tweye, 1295

It semed that alle the rokkes were aweye.

Aurelius, which that yet despeired is Wher he shal han his love or fare amis,
Awaiteth night and day on this miracle;
And whan he knew that ther was noon
obstacle, (572) 1300

That voided were thise rokkes everichon,
Doun to his maistres feet he fil anon,
And seyde, 'I woful wrecche, Aurelius,
Thanke yow, lord, and lady myn Venus,
That me han holpen fro my cares colde:'
And to the temple his wey forth hath he
holde, 1306

Wher-as he knew he sholde his lady see.
And whan he saugh his tyme, anon-right
he, (580)

With dredful herte and with ful humble
chere,

Salewed hath his sovereyn lady dere: 1310

'My righte lady,' quod this woful man,
 'Whom I most drede and love as I best
 can,
 And lothest were of al this world displese,
 Nere it that I for yow have swich diseese,
 That I moste dyen heer at your foot
 anon, 1315
 Noght wolde I telle how me is wo bigon;
 But certes outhere moste I dye or playne;
 Ye slee me gilteles for verray peyne. (590)
 But of my deeth, thogh that ye have no
 routhe,
 Aysyth yow, er that ye breke your
 trouthe. 1320
 Repenteth yow, for thilke god above,
 Er ye me sleen by-cause that I yow love.
 For, madame, wel ye woot what ye han
 hight;
 Nat that I chalange any thing of right
 Of yow my sovereyn lady, but your grace;
 But in a gardin yond, at swich a place,
 Ye woot right wel what ye bihighten me;
 And in myn hand your trouthe plighen
 ye (600)
 To love me best, god woot, ye seyde so,
 Al be that I unworthy be therto. 1330
 Madame, I speke it for the honour of yow,
 More than to save myn hertes lyf right
 now;
 I have do so as ye comanded me;
 And if ye vouche-sauf, ye may go see.
 Doth as yow list, have your biheste in
 minde, 1335
 For quik or deed, right ther ye shul me
 finde;
 In yow lyth al, to do me live or deye;—
 But wel I woot the rokkes been aweye!
 He taketh his leve, and she astonied
 stood, (611)
 In al hir face nas a drope of blood; 1340
 She wende never han come in swich a
 trappe:
 'Allas!' quod she, 'that ever this sholde
 happe!
 For wende I never, by possibilitee,
 That swich a monstre or merveille mighte
 be!
 It is agayns the proces of nature:' 1345
 And hoom she gooth a sorweful creature.
 For verray fere unnethe may she go,
 She wepeth, wailleth, al a day or two, (620)

And swowneth, that it routhe was to see;
 But why it was, to no wight tolde she; 1350
 For out of toune was goon Arveragus.
 But to hir-self she spak, and seyde thus,
 With face pale and with ful sorweful
 chere,
 In hir compleynt, as ye shul after here:
 'Allas,' quod she, 'on thee, Fortune,
 I playne, 1355
 That unwar wrapped hast me in thy
 cheyne;
 For which, t'escape, woot I no socour
 Save only deeth or elles dishonour; (630)
 Oon of thise two bihoveth me to chese.
 But natheless, yet have I lever lese 1360
 My lyf than of my body have a shame,
 Or knowe my-selven fals, or lese my name,
 And with my deeth I may be quit, y-wis.
 Hath ther nat many a noble wyf, er
 this, 1364
 And many a mayde y-slayn hir-self, allas!
 Rather than with hir body doon trespas?
 Yis, certes, lo, thise stories beren wit-
 nesse;
 Whan thretty tyraunts, ful of cursed-
 nesse, (640)
 Had slayn Phidoun in Athenes, atte feste,
 They comanded his doghtres for t'areste,
 And bringen hem biforn hem in dyspyt
 Al naked, to fulfille hir foul delyt, 1372
 And in hir fadres blood they made hem
 daunce
 Upon the pavement, god yeve hem mischauce!
 For which thise woful maydens, ful of
 drede, 1375
 Rather than they wolde lese hir mayden-
 hede,
 They prively ben stirt in-to a welle,
 And dreynte hem-selven, as the bokes
 telle. (650)
 They of Messene lete enquere and seke
 Of Lacedomie fifty maydens eke, 1380
 On whiche they wolden doon hir lecherye;
 But was ther noon of al that companye
 That she nas slayn, and with a good
 entente
 Chees rather for to dye than assente
 To been oppressed of hir maydenhede. 1385 Why sholde I thanne to dye been in
 drede?

Lo, eek, the tiraunt Aristoolides (659)
That loved a mayden, heet Stimphalides,
Whan that hir fader slayn was on a night,
Un-to Dianas temple goth she right, 1390
And hente the image in hir handes two,
Fro which image wolde she never go.
No wight ne mighte hir handes of it arace,
Til she was slayn right in the selve place.
Now sith that maydens hadden swich
despyt 1395

To been defouled with mannes foul delyt,
Wel oghte a wyf rather hir-selven alee
Than be defouled, as it thinketh me. (670)

What shal I seyn of Hasdrubales wyf,
That at Cartage birafte hir-self hir lyf?
For whan she saugh that Romayns wan
the toun, 1401
She took hir children alle, and skipte
adoun

In-to the fyr, and chees rather to dye
Than any Romayn dide hir vileinye.

Hath nat Lucrese y-slayn hir-self,
allas! 1405

At Rome, whanne she oppressed was
Of Tarquin, for hir thoughte it was a shame

To liven whan she hadde lost hir name?
The sevene maydens of Milesie also (681)

Hau slayn hem-self, for verray drede and
wo, 1410

Rather than folk of Gaule hem sholde opprese.

Mo than a thousand stories, as I gesse, Coude I now telle as touchinge this
matere.

Whan Habradate was slayn, his wyf so
dere

Hirselven slow, and leet hir blood to
glyde 1415

In Habradates woundes depe and wyde,
And seyde, "my body, at the leeste way,
Ther shal no wight defoulen, if I may."

What sholde I mo ensamples heer-of
sayn, (691) 1419

Sith that so manye han hem-selven slayn
Wel rather than they wolde defouled be?
I wol conclude, that it is bet for me
To aseen my-self, than been defouled thus.
I wol be trewe un-to Arveragus,
Or rather aseen my-self in som manere,
As dide Democioncs doghter dere, 1426

By-cause that she wolde nat defouled be.
O Cedasus! it is ful greet pitee, (710)
To reden how thy doghtren dayde, allas!
That slowe hem-selven for swich maner
cas. 1430

As greet a pitee was it, or wel more,
The Theban mayden, that for Nichanore Hir-selven slow, right for swich maner
wo.

Another Theban mayden dide right so;
For oon of Macedoine hadde hir oppressed,
She with hir deeth hir maydenhede re-
dressed. 1436

What shal I seye of Nicerates wyf,
That for swich cas birafte hir-self hir lyf?
How trewe eek was to Alcebiades (711)
His love, that rather for to dyen chees 1440
Than for to suffre his body unburied be!
Lo which a wyf was Alcesté, quod she.

'What seith Omer of gode Penalopee?
Al Grece knoweth of hir chastitee.

Pardee, of Laodomya is writen thus, 1445
That whan at Troye was slayn Protheselans,

No lenger wolde she live after his day.
The same of noble Porcia telle I may;
With-oute Brutus coude she nat live, (721)
To whom she hadde al hool hir herte
yive. 1451

The parfit wyfhod of Arthemeseye
Honoured is thurgh al the Barbarye.

O Tenta, queen! thy wyflich chastitee
To alle wyves may a mirour be. 1454
The same thing I seye of Bilia, [T. om.
Of Rodogone, and eek Valeria.] [T. om.

Thus pleyned Dorigene a day or tweye,
Purposing ever that she wolde deye. (730)

But natheles, upon the thridde night,
Hom cam Arveragus, this worthy knight,
And asked hir, why that she weep so
sore? 1461

And she gan wepen ever lenger the more.
'Allas!' quod she, 'that ever was
I born!

Thus have I seyde,' quod she, 'thus have I sworn—

And told him al as ye han herd bifore; 1465
It nedeth nat reherce it yow na-more.

This housbond with glad chere, in frendly wyse,

Answerde and seyde as I shal yow devyse:

'Is ther oght elles, Dorigen, but this?' (741)

'Nay, nay,' quod she, 'god help me so,
as wis; 1470

This is to muche, and it were goddes willa.'

'Ye, wyf,' quod he, 'lat slegen that is
stille;

It may be wel, paraventure, yet to-day.

Ye shul your trouthe holden, by my fay!

For god so wisly have mercy on me, 1475

I hadde wel lever y-stiked for to be,

For verray love which that I to yow have,

But-if ye sholde your trouthe kepe and
save. (750)

Trouthe is the hyste thing that man may kepe:—

But with that word he brast anon to
wepe, 1480

And seyde, 'I yow forbede, up peyne of death,

That never, whyl thee lasteth lyf ne
breeth,

To no wight tel thou of this aventure.

As I may best, I wol my wo endure,

Ne make no contenance of hevynesse, 1485

That folk of yow may demen harm or
gesse.'

And forth he cleped a squyer and a mayde:

'Goth forth anon with Dorigen,' he
sayde, (760)

'And bringeth hir to swich a place
anon.'

They take hir leve, and on hir way they
gon; 1490

But they ne wiste why she thider wente.

He nolde no wight tellen his entente. (764)

Paraventure an heap of yow, y-wis,

[T. om.

Wol holden him a lewed man in this,

[T. om.

That he wol putte his wyf in jupartye;

[T. om.

Herkneth the tale, er ye up-on hir crye.

[T. om.

She may have bettre fortune than yow
semeth; [T. om.

And whan that ye han herd the tale,
demeth. [T. om.

This squyer, which that highte Aurelius,
On Dorigen that was so amorous, (772) 1500
Of aventure happed hir to mete

Amidde the toun, right in the quikkest
strete,

As she was boun to goon the way forth-
right

Toward the gardin ther-as she had hight.

And he was to the gardinward also; 1505

For wel he spyed, whan she wolde go

Out of hir hous to any maner place.

But thus they mette, of aventure or
grace; (780)

And he saloweth hir with glad entente.

And asked of hir whiderward she wente?

And she answerde, half as she were mad,

'Un-to the gardin, as myn housbond had,
My trouthe for to holde, allas! allas!'

Aurelius gan wondren on this cas,

And in his herte had greet compassioun

Of hir and of hir lamentacioun, 1516

And of Arveragus, the worthy knight,

That bad hir holden al that she had
hight, (790)

So looth him was his wyf sholde breke
hir trouthe;

And in his herte he caughte of this greet
routhe, 1520

Consideringe the beste on every syde,

That fro his lust yet were him lever abyde

Than doon so heigh a cherlish wretched-
nesse

Agayns franchyse and alle gentillesse;

For which in fewe wordes seyde he thus:

'Madame, seyth to your lord Arveragus,

That sith I see his grete gentillesse (800)

To yow, and eek I see wel your distresse,

That him were lever han shame (and that were routhe)

Than ye to me sholde brake thus your
trouthe, 1530

I have wel lever ever to suffre wo

Than I departe the love bitwix yow two.

I yow relese, madame, in-to your hond

Quit every surement and every bond, 1534

That ye han maad to me as heer-biforn,

Sith thilke tyme which that ye were born.

My trouthe I plighte, I shal yow never repreve

Of no biheste, and here I take my leve,

As of the treweste and the beste wyf (811)

That ever yet I knew in al my lyf. 1540

But every wyf be-war of hir biheste,

On Dorigene remembreth atte leste.

Thus can a squyer doon a gentil dede,
As well as can a knight, with-outen drede.'

She thonketh him up-on hir knees al
bare, 1545

And hoom un-to hir housbond is she fare,
And tolde him al as ye han herd me sayd;
And be ye siker, he was so weel apayd, (820)

That it were impossible me to wryte;
What sholde I lenger of this cas endyte?

Arveragus and Dorigene his wyf 1551
In sovereyn blisse leden forth hir lyf.

Never eft ne was ther angre hem bitwene;
He cherisseth hir as though she were
a quene; 1554

And she was to him trewe for evermore.
Of this two folk ye gete of me na-more.

Aurelius, that his cost hath al forlorn,
Curseth the tyme that ever he was born:
'Allas,' quod he, 'allas! that I bihighte
Of pured gold a thousand pound of wighto (832) 1560

Un-to this philosophre! how shal I do?
I see na-more but that I am fordo.

Myn heritage moot I nedes selle,
And been a begger; heer may I nat
dwelle,

And shamen al my kinrede in this place,
But I of him may gete better grace. 1566

But natheless, I wol of him assaye, (839)

At certeyn dayes, year by year, to paye,
And thanke him of his grete curteisye;
My trouthe wol I kepe, I wol nat lye.' 1570

With herte soor he gooth un-to his cofre,
And broghte gold un-to this philosophre,
The value of fyve hundred pound, I gesse,
And him bisecheth, of his gentillesse,
To graunte him dayes of the remenaunt,
And seyde, 'maister, I dar wel make avaunt, 1576

I failed never of my trouthe as yit;
For sikerly my dette shal be quit (850)

Towards yow, how-ever that I fare
To goon a-begged in my kirtle bare. 1580

But wolde ye vouche-sauf, up-on seurtee,
Two year or three for to respyten me,
Than were I wel; for elles moot I selle
Myn heritage; ther is na-more to telle.'

This philosophre sobrelly answerde, 1585

And seyde thus, whan he these wordes
herde: (858)

'Have I nat holden covenant un-to thee?'
'Yes, certes, wel and trewely,' quod he.

'Hastow nat had thy lady as thee lyketh?'
'No, no,' quod he, and sorwefully he
syketh. 1590

'What was the cause? tel me if thou can.'
Aurelius his tale anon bigan,

And tolde him al, as ye han herd bifore;
It nedeth nat to yow reherce it more.

He seide, 'Arveragus, of gentillesse, 1595
Had lever dye in sorwe and in distresse
Than that his wyf were of hir trouthe
fals.' (869)

The sorwe of Dorigen he tolde him als,
How looth hir was to been a wikked wyf,
And that she lever had lost that day hir
lyf, 1600

And that hir trouthe she swoor, thurgh
innocence:

'She never erst herde speke of apparence;
That made me han of hir so greet pitee.

And right as frely as he sente hir me,
As frely sente I hir to him ageyn. 1605

This al and som, ther is na-more to seyn.'
This philosophre answerde, 'leve
brother,

Everich of yow dide gentilly til other. (880)

Thou art a squyer, and he is a knight;
But god forbede, for his blisful might, 1610

But-if a clerk coude doon a gentil dede
As well as any of yow, it is no drede!

Sire, I release thee thy thousand pound,
As thou right now were copen out of the ground, 1614

Ne never er now ne haddest knowen me.
For sire, I wol nat take a peny of thee

For al my craft, ne noght for my travaille.
Thou hast y-payed wel for my vitaille; (890)

It is y-nogh, and farewel, have good day:'
And took his hors, and forth he gooth his way. 1620

Lordinges, this question wolde I aske
now,

Which was the moste free, as thinketh yow?
Now telleth me, er that ye ferther wende.

I can na-more, my tale is at an ende. (896)

Here is ended the Frankeleyns Tale.

GROUP G.

THE SECONDE NONNES TALE.

The Prologe of the Seconde Nonnes Tale.

THE ministre and the norice un-to vices,
Which that men clepe in English ydel-
nesse,
That porter of the gate is of delyces,
Teschue, and by hir contrarie hir op-
presse,
That is to seyn, by leueful bisnesse, 5
Wel oghten we to doon al our entente,
Lest that the feend thurgh ydelnesse us
hente.

For he, that with his thousand cordes slye
Continuently us waiteth to biclappe,
Whan he may man in ydelnesse espye, 10
He can so lightly cacche him in his trappe,
Til that a man be hent right by the lappe,
He nis nat war the feend hath him in
honde;
Wel oughte us werche, and ydelnes with-
stonde.

And though men dradden never for to dye,
Yet seen men wel by reson douteles, 16
That ydelnesse is roten slogardye,
Of which ther never comth no good
encrees;
And seen, that slouthe hir holdeth in a lees
Only to slepe, and for to ete and drinke,
And to deuouren al that others swinke. 21

And for to putte us fro swich ydelnesse,
That cause is of so greet confusioun,
I have heer doon my feithful bisnesse,
After the legende, in translacioun 25
Right of thy glorious lyf and passioun, Thou with thy gerland wrought of rose and lillie;
Thee mene I, mayde and martir, seint Cecillie!

Inuocacio ad Mariam.

AND thou that flour of virgines art alle,
Of whom that Bernard list so wel to
wryte, 30
To thee at my biginning first I calle;
Thou comfort of us wrecches, do me
endyte
Thy maydens deeth, than wan thurgh hir meryte
The eternal lyf, and of the feend victorie,
As man may after reden in hir storie. 35
Thou mayde and mooder, doghter of thy
sone,
Thou welle of mercy, sinful soules cure,
In whom that god, for bountee, chees to
wone, Thou humble, and heigh over every creature,
Thou nobledest so ferforth our nature, 40
That no desdeyn the maker hadde of
kinde,
His sone in blode and flesh to clothe and
winde.

Withinne the cloistre blisful of thy aydes Took mannes shap the eternal lovo and
pees,
That of the tryne compas lord and gyde
is, 45
Whom erthe and see and heven, out of relees,
Ay herien; and thou, virgin wemmeles,
Bar of thy body, and dweltest mayden
pure,
The creatour of every creature.

Assembled is in thee magnificence 50
With mercy, goodnesse, and with swich
pitee

That thou, that art the sonne of excellence,
 Nat only helpest hem that preyen thee,
 But ofte tyme, of thy benignitee, 54
 Ful frely, er that men thyn help biseche,
 Thou goost biforn, and art hir lyves leche.

Now help, thou meke and blisful fayre mayde,
 Me, fliemed wrecche, in this desert of galle;
 Think on the womman Cananee, that sayde

That whelpes eten somme of the crommes alle 60

That from hir lordes table been y-falle;
 And though that I, unworthy sone of Eve,
 Be sinful, yet accepte my bileve.

And, for that feith is deed with-outen werkes,

So for to werken yif me wit and space, 65
 That I be quit fro thennes that most dork is!

O thou, that art so fayr and ful of grace,
 Be myn advocat in that heighe place
 Ther-as withouten ende is songe 'Osanne,'
 Thou Cristes mooder, doghter dere of Anne! 70

And of thy light my soule in prison lighte,
 That troubled is by the contagioun
 Of my body, and also by the wighte

Of erthly luste and fals affeccioun;
 O haven of refut, o salvacioun 75
 Of hem that been in sorwe and in distresse,

Now help, for to my werk I wol me dresse.

Yet preye I yow that reden that I wryte,
 Foryeve me, that I do no diligence
 This ilke storie subtilly to endyte; 80
 For both have I the wordes and sentence
 Of him that at the seintes reverence
 The storie wroot, and folwe hir legende,
 And prey yow, that ye wol my werk amende.

Interpretacio nominis Cecilie, quam ponit frater Iacobus Januensis in Legenda Aurea.

FIRST wolde I yow the name of seint
 Cecilie 85

Expoune, as men may in hir storie see,

It is to seye in English 'hevenes lillie,'
 For pure chastnesse of virginitee;
 Or, for she whytnesse hadde of honestee,
 And grene of conscience, and of good fame 90

The sote savour, 'lillie' was hir name.

Or Cecile is to seye 'the way to blinde,'
 For she ensample was by good techinge;
 Or elles Cecile, as I wriiten finde,
 Is joyned, by a maner conjoininge 95
 Of 'hevene' and 'Lia'; and heer, in figuringe,

The 'heven' is set for thought of holinesse,
 And 'Lia' for hir lasting businessse.

Cecile may eek be seyed in this manere,
 'Wanting of blindnessse,' for hir grete light 100

Of sapience, and for hir thewes clere;
 Or elles, lo! this maydenes name bright
 Of 'hevene' and 'leos' comth, for which by right

Men mighte hir wel 'the heven of peple' calle, 104
 Ensamples of gode and wyse werkes alle.

For 'leos' 'peple' in English is to seye,
 And right as men may in the hevene see
 The sonne and mone and sterres every weye,

Right so men gostly, in this mayden free,
 Seyen of feith the magnanimitee, 110
 And eek the cleernesse hool of sapience,
 And sondry werkes, brighte of excellence.

And right so as this philosophres wryte
 That heven is swift and round and eek branninge,

Right so was fayre Cecilie the whyte 115
 Ful swift and bisy ever in good werkinge,
 And round and hool in good perseveringe,
 And branning ever in charitee ful brighte;
 Now have I yow declared what she highte.

Explicit.

Here biginneth the Seconde Nonnes
 Tale, of the lyf of Seinte Cecilie.

THIS mayden bright Cecilie, as hir lyf seith, 120
 Was comen of Romayns, and of noble kinde,

And from hir cradel up fostred in the
feith

Of Crist, and bar his gospel in hir minde;
She never cessed, as I writen finde,
Of hir prayere, and god to love and drede,
Biseking him to kepe hir maydenhede. 126

And when this mayden sholde unto a man
Y-wedded be, that was ful yong of age,
Which that y-cleped was Valerian,
And day was comen of hir mariage, 130
She, ful devout and humble in hir corage,
Under hir robe of gold, that sat ful fayre,
Had next hir flesh y-clad hir in an heyra.

And whyl the organs maden melodye,
To god alone in herte thus sang she; 135
'O lord, my soule and eek my body gye
Unwemmed, lest that I confounded be.'
And, for his love that dayde upon a tree,
Every seconde or thridde day she faste,
Ay biddinge in hir orisons ful faste. 140

The night cam, and to bedde moste she
gon

With hir honsonde, as ofte is the manere,
And prively to him she seyde anon,
'O swete and wel biloved sponse dere,
Ther is a conseil, and ye wolde it here,
Which that right fain I wolde unto yow
seye, 146
So that ye swere ye shul me nat biwreye.'

Valerian gan faste unto hir swere,
That for no cas, ne thing that mighte be,
He sholde never-mo biwreien here; 150
And thanne at erst to him thus seyde she,
'I have an angel which that loveth me,
That with greet love, wher-so I wake or
slepe,
Is redy ay my body for to kepe. 154

And if that he may felen, out of drede,
That ye me touche or love in vileinye,
He right anon wol alee yow with the dede,
And in your yowthe thus ye shulden dye;
And if that ye in clene love me gye,
He wol yow loven as me, for your clen-
nesse, 160
And shewen yow his joye and his bright-
nesse.'

Valerian, corrected as god wolde,
Answerde agayn, 'if I shal trusten thee,
Let me that angel see, and him biholde;
And if that it a verray angel be, 165
Than wol I doon as thou hast preyed me;
And if thou love another man, for sothe Right with this sward than wol I slee yow
bothe.'

Cecile answerde anon right in this wyse,
'If that yow list, the angel shul ye see, 170
So that ye trowe on Crist and yow baptyse.

Goth forth to Via Apia,' quod she,
'That fro this toun ne stant but myles
three,
And, to the povre folkes that ther dwelle,
Sey hem right thus, as that I shal yow
telle. 175

Telle hem that I, Cecile, yow to hem sente,
To shewen yow the gode Urban the olde,
For secree nedes and for good entente.

And whan that ye seint Urban han bi-
holde,

Telle him the wordes whiche I to yow
tolde; 180

And whan that he hath purged yow fro
sinne,
Thanne shul ye see that angel, er ye
twinne.'

Valerian is to the place y-gon,
And right as him was taught by his lerninge,

He fond this holy olde Urban anon 185
Among the seintes buriels lotinge.

And he anon, with-outen taryinge,
Dide his message; and whan that he it
tolde,

Urban for joye his hondes gan up holde.

The teres from his yën leet he falle— 190
'Almighty lord, O Jesu Crist,' quod he,

'Sower of chast conseil, herde of us alle,
The fruit of thilke seed of chastitee

That thou hast sowe in Cecile, tak to thee!
Lo, lyk a bisy bee, with-outen gyle, 195
Thee serveth ay thyn owene thral Cecile!

For thilke sponse, that she took but now
Ful lyk a fiers leonn, she sendeth here,

As meke as ever was any lamb, to yow !
 And with that worde, anon ther gan
 appere 200
 An old man, clad in whyte clothes clere,
 That hadde a book with lettre of golde in
 honde,
 And gan biforn Valerian to stonde.

Valerian as deed fil doun for drede Whan he him saugh, and he up hente him tho, 205
 And on his book right thus he gan to
 rede—
 'Oo Lord, oo feith, oo god with-outen mo,
 Oo Cristendom, and fader of alle also,
 Aboven alle and over al everywhere'—
 These wordes al with gold y-written were.

Whan this was rad, than seyde this olde
 man, 211
 'Levestow this thing or no? sey ye or
 nay.'
 'I leve al this thing,' quod Valerian,
 'For sother thing than this, I dar wel say,
 Under the hevене no wight thinke may.'
 The vanished th'olde man, he niste
 where, 216
 And pope Urban him cristened right
 there.

Valerian goth hoom, and fint Cecilie
 With-inne his chambre with an angel
 stonde;
 This angel hadde of roses and of lillie 220
 Corones two, the which he bar in honde;
 And first to Cecile, as I understonde,
 He yaf that oon, and after gan he take
 That other to Valerian, hir make.

'With body clene and with unwemmed thocht 225
 Kepeth ay wel these corones,' quod he;
 'Fro Paradys to yow have I hem broght,
 Ne never-mo ne shal they roten be,
 Ne lese her sote savour, trusteth me;
 Ne never wight shal seen hem with his yē,
 But he be chaast and hate vileinyē. 231

And thou, Valerian, for thou so sone Assentedest to good conseil also,
 Sey what thee list, and thou shalt han thy bone.'

'I have a brother,' quod Valerian tho, 235
 'That in this world I love no man so.
 I pray yow that my brother may han
 grace
 To knowe the trouthe, as I do in this
 place.'

The angel seyde, 'god lyketh thy requeste,
 And bothe, with the palm of martirdom,
 Ye shullen come unto his blisful feste.'
 And with that word Tiburce his brother com.
 And whan that he the savour undernom
 Which that the roses and the lilies caste,
 With-inne his herte he gan to wondre
 faste, 245

And seyde, 'I wondre, this tyme of the
 yeer,
 Whennes that sote savour cometh so
 Of rose and lilies that I smelle heer.
 For though I hadde hem in myn hondes
 two, 249
 The savour mighte in me no depper go.
 The sote smel that in myn herte I finde
 Hath chaunged me al in another kinde.'

Valerian seyde, 'two corones han we,
 Snow-whyte and rose-reed, that shynen
 clere,
 Whiche that thyn yēn han no might to
 see; 255
 And as thou smellest hem thurgh my prayere,
 So shaltow seen hem, leve brother dere,
 If it so be thou wilt, withouten slouthe,
 Bileve aright and knowen verry trouthe.'

Tiburce answerde, 'seistow this to me 260
 In soothnesse, or in drem I herke this?'
 'In dremes,' quod Valerian, 'han we be Unto this tyme, brother myn, y-wis.
 But now at erst in trouthe our dwellingis.'
 'How woostow this,' quod Tiburce, 'in
 what wyse?' 265
 Quod Valerian, 'that shal I thee devyse.'

The angel of god hath me the trouthe
 y-taught
 Which thou shalt seen, if that thou wilt reneye

The ydoles and be clene, and elles
naught.— 269

And of the miracle of thise corones tweye
Seint Ambrose in his preface list to seye ;
Solempnely this noble doctour dere
Commendeth it, and seith in this manere:

The palm of martirdom for to receyve,
Seinte Cecile, fulfild of goddes yifte, 275
The world and eek hir chambre gan she weyve ;

Witnes Tyburces and †Valerians shrifte,
To whiche god of his bountee wolde
shifte

Corones two of floures wel smellinge,
And made his angel hem the corones
briuge : 280

The mayde hath broght thise men to blisse above ;

The world hath wist what it is worth,
certeyn,

Devocioun of chastitee to love.—

Tho shewede him Cecile al open and pleyn
That alle ydoles nis but a thing in veyn ;
For they been dombe, and therto they been deve, 286

And charged him his ydoles for to leve.

'Who so that troweth nat this, a beste
he is,'

Quod tho Tiburce, 'if that I shal nat lye.'
And she gan kisse his brest, that herde
this, 290

And was ful glad he coude trouthe espye.

'This day I take thee for myn allye,' Seyde this blisful fayre mayde dere ;
And after that she seyde as ye may here :

'Lo, right so as the love of Crist,' quod
she, 295

'Made me thy brotheres wyf, right in that wyse

Anon for myn allye heer take I thee,
Sin that thou wolt thyn ydoles despyse.

Go with thy brother now, and thee bap-
tyse,

And make thee clene ; so that thou mowe
biholde 300

The angels face of which thy brother
tolde.'

Tiburce answerde and seyde, 'brother
dere,

First tel me whider I shal, and to what
man ?'

'To whom ?' quod he, 'com forth with right good chere,

I wol thee lede unto the pope Urban.' 305
'Til Urban ? brother myn Valerian,'

Quod tho Tiburce, 'woltow methider lede ?
Me thinketh that it were a wonder dede.

Ne menestow nat Urban,' quod he tho,
'That is so ofte dampned to be deed, 310

And woneth in halkes alwey to and fro,
And dar nat ones putte forth his heed ?

Men sholde him brennen in a fyr so reed
If he were founde, or that men mighte him
spye ;

And we also, to bere him companye— 315

And whyl we saken thilke divinitee

That is y-hid in hevene prively, Algate y-brend in this world shul we be !'

To whom Cecile answerde boldly, 319
'Men mighten dreden wel and skilfully

This lyf to lese, myn owene dere brother,
If this were livinge only and non other.

But ther is better lyf in other place,
That never shal be lost, ne drede thee
nocht,

Which goddes sone us tolde thurgh his
grace ; 325

That fadres sone hath alle thinges wrought ;
And al that wrought is with a skilful thought,

The goost, that fro the fader gan procede,
Hath sowled hem, withouten any drede.

By word and by miracle goddes sone, 330
Whan he was in this world, declared here

That ther was other lyf ther men may
wone.'

To whom answerde Tiburce, 'O suster dere,
Ne seydestow right now in this manere,

Ther nis but o god, lord in soothfastnesse ;
And now of three how maystow bere
witnesse ?' 336

'That shal I telle,' quod she, 'er I go.
Right as a man hath sapientes three,

Memorie, engyn, and intellect also,
So, in o being of divinitee, 340

Three persones may ther right wel be.
 Tho gan she him ful bisily to preche
 Of Cristes come and of his peynes teche,

And many pointes of his passioun ;
 How goddes sone in this world was with-
 holde, 345

To doon mankinde pleyn remissioun,
 That was y-bounde in sinne and cares
 colde :

Al this thing she unto Tiburce tolde.
 And after this Tiburce, in good entente,
 With Valerian to pope Urban he wente,

That thanked god ; and with glad herte
 and light 351

He cristned him, and made him in that
 place

Parfit in his lerninge, goddes knight.
 And after this Tiburce gat swich grace,
 That every day he saugh, in tyme and
 space, 355

The angel of god ; and every maner bone
 That he god axed, it was sped ful sone.

It were ful hard by ordre for to seyn
 How many wondres Jesus for hem
 wroghte ;

But atte laste, to tellen short and pleyn,
 The sergeants of the toun of Rome hem
 soghte, 361

And hem biforn Almache the prefect
 broghte,

Which hem apposed, and knew al hir
 entente,

And to the image of Jupiter hem sente,

And seyde, ' who so wol nat sacrificyse, 365
 Swap of his heed, this is my sentence
 here.'

Anon thise martirs that I yow devyse,
 Oon Maximus, that was an officers
 Of the prefectes and his cornioulers, Hem hente ; and whan he forth the seintes ladde, 370

Him-self he weep, for pites that he hadde.

Whan Maximus had herd the seintes lore,
 He gat him of the tormentoures leve,
 And ladde hem to his hous withoute
 more ; 374

And with hir preching, er that it were eve,

They gonnen fro the tormentours to reve,
 And fro Maxime, and fro his folk echone
 The false feith, to trowe in god allone.

Cecilie cam, whan it was woxen night,
 With preestes that hem cristned alle
 y-fere ; 381

And afterward, whan day was woxen
 light,

Cecile hem seyde with a ful sobre chere,
 ' Now, Cristes owene knightes leve and
 dere,

Caste alle away the werkes of darknesse,
 And armeth yow in armure of bright-
 nesse. 385

Ye han for sothe y-doon a greet bataille,
 Your ours is doon, your feith han ye conserved,

Goth to the corone of lyf that may nat
 faille ;

The rightful juge, which that ye han
 served, 389

Shall yeve it yow, as ye han it deserved.'
 And whan this thing was seyde as I devyse,
 Men ladde hem forth to doon the sacrificyse.

But whan they weren to the place broght,
 To tellen shortly the conclusioun,

They nolde encense ne sacrifice right
 noght, 395

But on hir knees they setten hem adoun
 With humble herte and sad devocioun,
 And losten bothe hir hedes in the place.
 Hir soules wenten to the king of grace.

This Maximus, that saugh this thing
 bityde, 400

With pitous teres tolde it anon-right,
 That he hir soules saugh to heven glyde
 With angels ful of cleernesse and of light,
 And with his word converted many a
 wight ;

For which Almachius dide him so to-bete
 With whippe of leed, til he his lyf gan
 lete. 406

Cecile him took and buried him anon
 By Tiburce and Valerian softely, Withinne hir burying-place, under the
 stoon.

And after this Almachius hastily 410

Bad his ministres fecchen openly
Cecile, so that she mighte in his presence
Doon sacrifice, and Jupiter encense.

But they, converted at hir wyse lore,
Wepten ful sore, and yaven ful credence Unto hir word, and cryden more and
more, 416

'Crist, goddes sone withouten difference,
Is verray god, this is al our sentence,
That hath so good a servant him to serve;
This with o voys we trowen, thogh we
sterve!' 420

Almachins, that herde of this doinge,
Bad fecchen Cecile, that he might hir see,
And alderfirst, lo! this was his axinge,
'What maner womman artow?' tho quod
he. 424

'I am a gentil womman born,' quod she.
'I axe thee,' quod he, 'thogh it thee greve,
Of thy religionn and of thy bileve.'

'Ye han bigonne your question folily,' Quod she, 'that wolden two answeres conclude

In oo demande; ye axed lewedly.' 430
Almache answerde unto that similltude,
'Of whennes comth thyn answering so
rude?'

'Of whennes?' quod she, whan that she was freyned,

'Of conscience and of good faith un-freyned.' 434

Almachius seyde, 'ne takestow non hede
Of my power?' and she answerde him
this—

'Your might,' quod she, 'ful litel is to
drede;

For every mortal mannes power nis
But lyk a bladdre, ful of wind, y-wis. 439
For with a nedles poynt, whan it is blowe,
May al the boost of it be leyd ful lowe.'

'Ful wrongfully bigonne thou,' quod he,
'And yet in wrong is thy perseveraunce;
Wostow nat how our mighty princes free Han thus comanded and maad ordin-
aunce, 445

That every Cristen wight shal han pen-
aunce

But-if that he his Cristendom withseye,
And goon al quit, if he wol it reneye?'

'Your princes erren, as your nobley dooth,' Quod tho Cecile, 'and with a wood
sentence 450

Ye make us gilty, and it is nat sooth;
For ye, that knowen wel our innocence,
For as muche as we doon a reverence
To Crist, and for we bere a Cristen name,
Ye putte on us a cryme, and eek a blame.

But we that knowen thilke name so 456
For vertuou, we may it nat withseye.'
Almache answerde, 'chees oon of this
two,

Do sacrifice, or Cristendom reneye,
That thou mowe now escapen by that
weye.' 460

At which the holy blisful fayre mayde
Gan for to langhe, and to the juge seyde,

'O juge, confus in thy nyctee,
Woltow that I reneye innocence, 464
To make me a wikked wight?' quod she;
'Lo! he dissimuleth here in audience,
Hestareth and woodeth in his advertence!
To whom Almachius, 'unsely wrecche, Ne wostow nat how far my might may streoche?'

Han nocht our mighty princes to me
yeven, 470

Ye, bothe power and auctoritee
To maken folk to dyen or to liven?

Why spekestow so proudly than to me?'
'I speke nocht but stedfastly,' quod she,
'Nat proudly, for I seye, as for my syde,
We haten deedly thilke vyce of pryde.

And if thou drede nat a sooth to here,
Than wol I shewe al openly, by right,
That thou hast maad a ful gret lesing here.
Thou seyst, thy princes han thee yeven
might 480

Bothe for to sleen and for to quiken a
wight;

Thou, that ne mayst but only lyf bireve,
Thou hast non other power ne no leve!

But thou mayst seyn, thy princes han thee maked 484

Ministre of deeth; for if thou speke of mo,

Thou lyeest, for thy power is ful naked,
 'Do wey thy boldnes,' seyde Almachius
 tho,
 'And sacrifice to our goddes, er thou go;
 I recche nat what wrong that thou me
 profre,
 For I can suffre it as a philosopre; 490

But thilke wronges may I nat endure
 That thou spekest of our goddes here,
 quod he.

Cecile answered, 'O nyce creature,
 Thou seydest no word sin thou spak to me
 That I ne knew therwith thy nyceste; 495
 And that thou were, in every maner
 wyse,
 A lewed officer and a veyn justyse.

Ther lakketh no-thing to thyn utter yēn
 That thou nart blind, for thing that we seen alle 499

That it is stoon, that men may wel espyen,
 That ilke stoon a god thou wolt it calle.
 I rede thee, lat thyn hand upon it falle,
 And taste it wel, and stoon thou shalt it
 finde,
 Sin that thou seest nat with thyn yēn
 blinde.

It is a shame that the peple shal 505
 So scorne thee, and laughe at thy folye;
 For comunly men woot it wel overal,
 That mighty god is in his hevenes hye,
 And thise images, wel thou mayst espye,
 To thee ne to hem-self mowe nought
 profyete, 510
 For in effect they been nat worth a myte.'

Thise wordes and swiche othere seyde she,
 And he weox wroth, and bad men sholde
 hir lede

Hom til hir hous, 'and in hir hous,' quod
 he,
 'Brenne hir right in a bath of flambes
 rede.' 515

And as he bad, right so was doon in dede;
 For in a bath they gonne hir faste shetten,
 And night and day greet fyr they under betten.

The longe night and eek a day also,
 For al the fyr and eek the bathes hete,
 She sat al cold, and felede no wo, 521
 It made hir nat a drope for to swete.
 But in that bath hir lyf she moste lete;
 For he, Almachius, with ful wikke entente
 To sleen hir in the bath his sonde sente.

Three strokes in the nekke he smoot hir
 tho, 526

The tormentour, but for no maner chaunce
 He mighte nocht smyte al hir nekke
 a-two;

And for ther was that tyme an ordin-
 aunce,

That no man sholde doon man swich
 penaunce 530

The ferthe strook to smyten, softe or sore,
 This tormentour ne dorste do na-more.

But half-deed, with hir nekke y-corven
 there,

He lefte hir lye, and on his wey is went.
 The Cristen folk, which that aboute hir
 were, 535

With shetes han the blood ful faire y-hent.
 Three dayes lived she in this torment,
 And never cessed hem the feith to teche;
 That she hadde fostred, hem she gan to
 preche;

And hem she yaf hir moebles and hir
 thing, 540

And to the pope Urban bitook hem tho,
 And seyde, 'I axed this at hevene king,
 To han respyt three dayes and na-mo,
 To recomende to yow, er that I go,
 Thise soules, lo! and that I mighte do
 werche 545

Here of myn hous perpetually a cherche.'

Seint Urban, with his deknys, prively
 The body fette, and buried it by nighte
 Among his othere seintes honestly.

Hir hous the chiroche of seint Cecillie
 highte; 550

Seint Urban halwed it, as he wel mighte;
 In which, into this day, in noble wyse,
 Men doon to Crist and to his seint servyse.

Here is ended the Seconde Nonnes Tale.

THE CANON'S YEOMAN'S PROLOGUE.

The prologe of the Chanons Yemannes Tale.

WHAN ended was the lyf of seint Cecyle,
 Er we had riden fully fyve myle, 555
 At Boghton under Blee us gan atake
 A man, that clothed was in clothes blake,
 And undernethe he hadde a whyt surplys.
 His hakeney, that was al pomely grys,
 So swatte, that it wonder was to see; 560
 It semed he had priked myles three.
 The hors eek that his yeman rood upon
 So swatte, that unnethe mighte it gon. (10)
 Aboute the peytrel stood the foom ful hye,
 He was of fome al flakked as a pye. 565
 A male tweyfold on his croper lay,
 It semed that he caried lyte array.
 Al light for somer rood this worthy man,
 And in myn herte wondren I bigan
 What that he was, til that I understood How that his cloke was sowd to his
 hood; 571
 For which, when I had longe avysed me,
 I demed him som chanon for to be. (20)
 His hat heng at his bak down by a laas,
 For he had riden more than trot or paas;
 He had ay priked lyk as he were wood.
 A clote-leef he hadde under his hood 577
 For swoot, and for to kepe his heed from
 hete.
 But it was joye for to seen him swete!
 His forheed dropped as a stillatorie, 580
 Were ful of plantain and of paritorie.
 And whan that he was come, he gan to
 crye,
 'God save,' quod he, 'this joly companye!
 Faste have I priked,' quod he, 'for your
 sake, (31)
 By-cause that I wolde yow atake, 585
 To ryden in this mery companye.'
 His yeman eek was ful of curteisye,
 And seyde, 'sires, now in the morwe-tyde
 Out of your hostelrye I saugh you ryde,

And warned heer my lord and my soverayn, 590
 Which that to ryden with yow is ful fayn,
 For his desport; he loveth daliaunce.'
 'Freend, for thy warning god yeve thee
 good chaunce,' (40)
 Than seyde our host, 'for certes, it wolde seme
 Thy lord were wys, and so I may wel
 deme; 595
 He is ful jocound also, dar I leye.
 Can he oght telle a mery tale or tweye,
 With which he glade may this companye?'
 'Who, sire? my lord? ye, ye, withouten
 lye,
 He can of murthe, and eek of jolitee 600
 Nat but ynough; also sir, trusteth me,
 And ye him knewe as wel as do I,
 Ye wolde wondre how wel and craftily (40)
 He coude werke, and that in sondry wyse.
 He hath take on him many a greet emprise, 605
 Which were ful hard for any that is
 here
 To bringe aboute, but they of him it lere.
 As homely as he rit amonges yow,
 If ye him knewe, it wolde be for your
 prow; 609
 Ye wolde nat forgoon his aqueyntaunce
 For mochel good, I dar leye in balauce
 Al that I have in my possessioun.
 He is a man of heigh discrecioun, (60)
 I warne you wel, he is a passing man.'
 'Wel,' quod our host, 'I pray thee, tel me than, 615
 Is he a clerk, or noon? tel what he is.'
 'Nay, he is gretter than a clerk, y-wis,' Seyle this yeman, 'and in wordes fewe,
 Host, of his craft som-what I wol yow
 shewe. 619

I seye, my lord can swich subtilitee—
(But al his craft ye may nat wite at me ;
And som-what helpe I yet to his werking)— That al this ground on which we been ryding, (70)

Til that we come to Caunterbury toun,
He coude al clene turne it up-so-doun, 625
And pave it al of silver and of gold.'

And whan this yeman hadde thus y-told
Unto our host, he seyde, 'ben'cite!
This thing is wonder mervellous to me,
Sin that thy lord is of so heigh prudence,
By-cause of which men sholde him reverence, 631

That of his worship rekketh he so lyte ;
His oversloppe nis nat worth a myte, (80)
As in effect, to him, so mote I go !

It is al bauty and to-tore also. 635
Why is thy lord so sluttish, I thee preye,
And is of power better cloth to baye,
If that his dede accorde with thy speche?
Telle me that, and that I thee biseche.'

'Why?' quod this yeman, 'wherto axe ye me? 640

God help me so, for he shal never thee !
(But I wol nat avowe that I seye,
And therfor kepe it secree, I yow preye).
He is to wys, in feith, as I beleve ; (91)
That that is overdoon, it wol nat preve 645
Aright, as clerkes seyn, it is a vyoe.
Wherfor in that I holde him lewed and
nyce.

For whan a man hath over-greet a wit,
Ful oof him happeth to misusen it ;
So dooth my lord, and that me greveth
sore. 650

God it amende, I can sey yow na-more.'
'Ther-of no fors, good yeman,' quod our host ;

'Sin of the conning of thy lord thou
wost, (100)

Tel how he dooth, I pray thee hertely,
Sin that he is so crafty and so sly. 655
Wher dwellen ye, if it to telle be?'

'In the suburbes of a toun,' quod he,
'Lurkinge in hernes and in lanes blinde,
Wher-as thise robbours and thise theves
hy kinde

Holden hir privree fereful residence, 660
As they that dar nat shewen hir presence ;
So faren we, if I shal seye the sothe.'

'Now,' quod our host, 'yit lat me talke to the ; (110)

Why artow so discoloured of thy face ?'
'Peter!' quod he, 'god yeve it harde
grace, 665

I am so used in the fyr to blowe,
That it hath changed my colour, I trowe.
I am nat wont in no mirour to pryde,
But swinke sore and lerne multiplie.

We blondren ever and pouren in the fyr,
And for al that we fayle of our desyr, 671
For ever we lakken our conclusioun.

To mochel folk we doon illusioun, (120)

And borwe gold, be it a pound or two,
Or ten, or twelve, or many sommes mo, 675
And make hem wenen, at the leeste weye,
That of a pound we coude make tweye !

Yet is it fals, but ay we han good hope
It for to doon, and after it we grope.

But that science is so fer us biforn, 680
We mowen nat, al-though we hadde it
sworn,

It overtake, it alit away so faste ;
It wol us maken beggers atte laste.' (130)

Whyl this yeman was thus in his talking,

This chanoun drough him neer, and herde
al thing 685

Which this yeman spak, for suspecioun
Of mennes speche ever hadde this chan-
noun.

For Catoun seith, that he that gilty is Demeth al thing be spoke of him, y-wis.

That was the cause he gan so ny him drawe
To his yeman, to herkenen al his sawe. 691

And thus he seyde un-to his yeman tho,
'Hold thou thy pees, and spek no wordes
mo, (140)

For if thou do, thou shalt it dars abyde ;
Thou sclaudrest me heer in this com-
panye, 695

And eek discoverest that thou sholdest
hyde.'

'Ye,' quod our host, 'telle on, what so
bityde ;

Of al his threting rekke nat a myte !'
'In feith,' quod he, 'namore I do but lyte.'

And whan this chanon saugh it wolde
nat be, 700

But his yeman wolde telle his privtee,
He fledde away for verray sorwe and shame.

'A!' quod the yeman, 'hear shal aryse
game, (150)
Al that I can anon now wol I telle. 704
Sin he is goon, the foule feend him quelle!
For never her-after wol I with him mete
For peny ne for pound, I yow bihete!
He that me broghte first unto that game,
Er that he dye, sorwe have he and shame!
For it is earnest to me, by my feith; 710
That fele I wel, what so any man seith.

And yet, for al my smerte and al my
grief,
For al my sorwe, labour, and meschief,
I coude never leve it in no wyse. (161)
Now wolde god my wit mighte suffyse 715
To tellen al that length to that art!
But natheles yow wol I tellen part;
Sin that my lord is gon, I wol nat spare;
Swich thing as that I knowe, I wol declare.'— 719

Here endeth the Prologe of the Chanouns Yemannes Tale.

THE CHANOUNS YEMANNES TALE.

Here biginneth the Chanouns Yeman his Tale.

[Prima Pars.]

With this chanoun I dwelt have seven
year, 720
And of his science am I never the near.
Al that I hadde, I have y-lost ther-by;
And god wot, so hath many mo than I. (170)
Ther I was wont to be right fresh and gay
Of clothing and of other good array, 725
Now may I were an hose upon myn heed;
And wher my colour was bothe fresh and
reed,
Now is it wan and of a leden hewe;
Who-so it useth, sore shal he rewe.
And of my swink yet blered is myn y^e, 730
Lo! which advantage is to multiplye!
That slydingscience hath me maad so bare,
That I have no good, wher that ever I fare;
And yet I am endetted so ther-by (181)
Of gold that I have borwed, trewely, 735
That whyl I live, I shal it quyte never.
Let every man be war by me for ever!
What maner man that casteth him ther-to,
If he continue, I holde his thrift y-do.
Schelpe me god, ther-by shal he nat winne,
But empte his purs, and make his wittes
thinne. (188) 741
And whan he, thurgh his madnes and folye,

Hath lost his owene good thurgh jupartye,
Thanne he excytedh other folk ther-to,
To lese hir good as he him-self hath do. 745
For unto shrewes joye it is and ese
To have hir felawes in peyne and disese;
Thus was I ones lerned of a clerk.
Of that no charge, I wol speake of our werk.
Whan we been ther as we shul exercyse
'Our elvish craft, we semen wonder wyse,
Our termes been so clerghal and so queynte. (199) 752
I blowe the fyr til that myn herte feynte.

What sholde I tellen ech proporcioun
Of thinges whiche that we werche upon,
As on fyve or six ounces, may wel be, 756
Of silver or som other quantitee,
And bisie me to telle yow the names
Of orpiment, brant bones, yren squames,
That into poudre grounden been ful smal?
And in an erthen potte how put is al, 761
And salt y-put in, and also papeer, (209)
Biforn thise poudres that I speke of heer,
And wel y-covered with a lampe of glas,
And mochel other thing which that ther
was? 765
And of the pot and glasses enluting,
That of the eyre mighte passe out no-thing?

And of the esy fyr and smart also,
Which that was maad, and of the care
and wo 769

That we hadde in our matires sublymyng,
And in amalgame and calcening
Of quik-silver, y-clept Mercurie crude?
For alle our sleightes we can nat conclude. (220)

Our orpiment and sublymed Mercurie,
Our grounden litarge eek on the porphurie,
Of ech of thise of ounces a certeyn 776
Nought helpeth us, our labour is in veyn.
Ne eek our spiritis ascencioun,
Ne our materes that lyen al fixe adoun,
Mowe in our werking no-thing us avayle.
For lost is al our labour and travayle, 781
And al the cost, a twenty devel weye,
Is lost also, which we upon it leye. (230)

Ther is also ful many another thing
That is unto our craft apertening; 785
Though I by ordre hem nat reherce can,
By-cause that I am a lewed man,
Yet wol I telle hem as they come to minde,
Though I ne can nat sette hem in hir
kinde;

As bole armoniak, verdegrees, boras, 790
And sondry vessels maad of erthe and glas,
Our urinales and our descensories,
Violes, crosetes, and sublymatories, (240)
Cucurbites, and alembykes eek,
And othere swiche, dere y-nough a leek.
Nat nedeth it for to reherce hem alle, 796
Watres rubifying and boles galle,
Arsenik, sal armoniak, and brimstoon;
And herbes coude I telle eek many oon,
As egremoine, valerian, and lunarie, 800
And othere swiche, if that me liste tarie.
Our lampes brenning bothe night and day,
To bringe aboute our craft, if that we
may. (250)

Our fourneys eek of calcinacioun,
And of watres albificacioun, 805
Unsekked lym, chalk, and gleyre of an ey, Poudres diverse, ashes, dong, pisse, and cley,

Cered pokets, sal peter, vitriole;
And divers fyres maad of wode and cole;
Sal tartre, alkaly, and sal preparat, 810
And combust materes and coagulat, Cley maad with hors or mannes heer, and oile

Of tartre, alum, glas, berm, wort, and argoile, (260)

Resalgar, and our materes enbibing;
And eek of our materes encorporing, 815
And of our silver citrinacioun,
Our cementing and fermentacioun,
Our ingottes, testes, and many mo.

I wol yow telle, as was me taught also,
The foure spiritis and the bodies sevene,
By ordre, as ofte I herde my lord hem
nevene. 821

The firste spirit quik-silver called is, (269)
The second orpiment, the thridde, y-wis,
Sal armoniak, and the ferthe brimstoon.
The bodies sevene eek, lo! hem heer anon:
Sol gold is, and Luna silver we threpe, 826
Mars yren, Mercurie quik-silver we clepe,
Saturnus leed, and Jupiter is tin,
And Venus coper, by my fader kin! 829

This cursed craft who-so wol exerceyse,
He shal no good han that him may suffyse;
For al the good he spendeth ther-aboute,
He lese shal, ther-of have I no doute. (280)
Who-so that listeth outen his folye, 834
Lat him come forth, and lerne multiplye;
And every man that oght hath in his cofre,
Lat him appere, and wexe a philosofre.
Asaunce that craft is so light to lere?
Nay, nay, god woot, al be he monk or
frere,

Preest or chanoun, or any other wight, 840
Though he sitte at his book bothe day and
night,

In lernyng of this elvish nyce lore,
Al is in veyn, and parde, mochel more!
To lerne a lewed man this subtiltee, (291)
Fy! spek nat ther-of, for it wol nat be; 845
Al conne he letterure, or conne he noon,
As in effect, he shal finde it al oon.
For bothe two, by my savacioun,
Concluden, in multiplicacioun,
Y-lyke wel, whan they han al y-do; 850
This is to seyn, they faylen bothe two.

Yet forgot I to maken rehersaille
Of watres corosif and of limaille, (300)
And of bodies mollificacioun,
And also of hir induracioun, 855
Oiles, ablucions, and metal fusible,
To tellen al wolde passen any bible
That o-wher is; wherfor, as for the beste,
Of alle thise names now wol I me reste.

For, as I trowe, I have yow told y-nowe 860
To reyse a feend, al loke he never so rowe.

A! nay! lat be; the philosophres stoon,
Elixir clept, we sechen faste echoon; (310)
For hadde we him, than were we siker
y-now.

But, unto god of heven I make avow, 865
For al our craft, whan we han al y-do,
And al our sleighte, he wol nat come us to.
He hath y-maad us spenden mochel good,
For sorwe of which almost we wexen wood,
But that good hope crepeth in our herte,
Supposing ever, though we sore smerte,
To be releved by him afterward; . 872 Swich supposing and hope is sharp and hard; (320)

I warne yow wel, it is to saken ever;
That futur temps hath maad men to dis-sever, 875
In trust ther-of, from al that over they
hadde.

Yet of that art they can nat wexen sadde,
For unto hem it is a bitter swete;
So semeth it; for nadde they but a shete
Which that they mighte wrappe hem inne
a-night, 880

And a bak to walken inne by day-light,
They wolde hem selle and spenden on this craft; (329)

They can nat stinte til no-thing be laft.
And evermore, wher that ever they goon,
Men may hem knowe by smel of brim-
stoon; 885

For al the world, they stinken as a goot;
Her savour is so rammish and so hoot,
That, though a man from hem a myle be,
The savour wol infecte him, trusteth me;
Lo, thus by smelling and threedbare array,
If that men liste, this folk they knowe may.
And if a man wol aske hem prively, 892
Why they been clothed so unthriftily, (340)
They right anon wol rownen in his ere,
And seyn, that if that they espyed were,
Men wolde hem slee, by-cause of hir
science; 896

Lo, thus this folk bitrayen innocence!
Passe over this; I go my tale un-to.
Er than the pot be on the fyr y-do,
Of metals with a certain quantitee, 900
My lord hem tempreth, and no man but
he—

Now he is goon, I dar seyn boldely—
For, as men seyn, he can don craftily; (350)
Algate I woot wel he hath swich a name,
And yet ful ofte he renneth in a blame; 905
And wite ye how? ful ofte it happeth so,
The pot to-braketh, and farewell! al is go!
These metals been of so greet violence,
Our walles mowe nat make hem resistance,
But if they weren wrought of lym and stoon;
They percen so, and thurgh the wal they
goon, 911
And somme of hem sinken in-to the
ground— (359)

Thus han we lost by tymes manys pound—
And somme are scatered al the floor aboute, Somme lepe in-to the roof; with-outen
doute, 915
Though that the feend noight in our sighte
him shewe,

I trowe he with us be, that ilke shrewe!
In helle wher that he is lord and sire,
Nis ther more wo, ne more rancour ne ire.
Whan that our pot is broke, as I have
sayd, 920

Every man chit, and halt him yvel apayd.
Som seyde, it was long on the fyrmaking, (369)

Som seyde, nay! it was on the blowing;
(Than was I fered, for that was myn office);
'Straw!' quod the thridde, 'ye been lewed and nyce, 925

It was nat tempred as it oghte be.'
'Nay!' quod the ferthe, 'stint, and herkne
me;

By-cause our fyr ne was nat maad of beech,
That is the cause, and other noon, so
theech!'

I can nat telle wher-on it was long, 930
But wel I wot greet stryf is us among.

'What!' quod my lord, 'ther is na-more
to done,

Of these perils I wol be war eft-son; (380)
I am right siker that the pot was crased.
Be as be may, be ye no-thing amased; 935
As usage is, lat swepe the floor as swythe, Plukke up your hertes, and beth gladd
and blythe.'

The mullok on an hepe y-sweped was,
And on the floor y-cast a canevas,
And al this mullok in a sive y-throwe, 940
And sifted, and y-piked many a throwe.

'Pardee,' quod oon, 'somwhat of our metal

Yet is ther heer, though that we han nat al.
Al-though this thing mishapped have as
now, (391)

Another tyme it may be wel y-now, 945
Us mooste putte our good in aventure ;
A marchant, parde ! may nat ay endure
Trusteth me wel, in his prosperitee ;
Somtyme his good is drenched in the see,
And somtym comth it sauf un-to the
londe. 950

'Pees!' quod my lord, 'the next tyme
I wol fonde (398)

To bringe our craft al in another plyte ;
And but I do, sirs, lat me han the wyte ;
Ther was defaute in som-what, wel I woot.'

Another seyde, the fyr was over hoot :—
But, be it hoot or cold, I dar seye this, 956
That we concluden evermore amis.

We fayle of that which that we wolden
have,

And in our madnesse evermore we rave.
And whan we been togidres everichoon,
Every man semeth a Salomon. 961

But al thing which that shyneth as the gold (409)

Nis nat gold, as that I have herd it told ;
Ne every appel that is fair at ys Ne is nat good, what-so men clappe or
crye. 965

Right so, lo ! fareth it amonges us ;
He that semeth the wysest, by Jesus !
Is most fool, whan it cometh to the preef ;
And he that semeth trewest is a theef ;
That shul ye knowe, er that I fro yow
wende, 970

By that I of my tale have maad an ende.

Explicit prima pars.

Et sequitur pars secunda.

Ther is a chanoun of religioun
Amonges us, wolde infecte al a toun, (420)
Though it as greet were as was Ninivee,
Rome, Alisaundre, Troye, and othere thre.
His sleighes and his infinit falsnesse 976
Ther coude no man wryten, as I gesse, Though that he mighte liven a thousand
yeer.

In al this world of falshede nis his peer ;
For in his termes so he wolde him winde,

And speke his wordes in so sly a kinde, 981
Whan he commune shal with any wight,
That he wol make him doten anon right,
But it a feend be, as him-selven is. (431)
Ful many a man hath he bigyled er this,
And wol, if that he live may a while ; 986
And yet men ryde and goon ful many a
myle

Him for to seke and have his squeynt-
aunce,

Noght knowinge of his false governaunce.
And if yow list to yeve me audience, 990
I wol it tellen heer in your presence.

But worshipful chanouns religious,
Ne demeth nat that I sclandre your hous,
Al-though my tale of a chanoun be. (441)
Of every ordre som shrewe is, parde, 995
And god forbede that al a companye
Sholde rewe a singular mannes folye.
To sclandre yow is no-thing myn entente,
But to correcten that is mis I mente.

This tale was nat only told for yow, 1000
But eek for othere mo ; ye wot wel how
That, among Cristes apostelles twelve,
Ther nas no traytour but Judas him-selve.
Than why sholde al the remenant have
blame (451)

That giltloes were ? by yow I seye the same.
Save only this, if ye wol herkne me, 1006
If any Judas in your covent be,
Remeveth him bitymes, I yow rede,
If shame or los may causen any drede. 1009
And beth no-thing displeed, I yow preye,
But in this cas herkne what I shal seye.

In London was a preest, an annueleer,
That therin dwelled hadde many a yeer,
Which was so plesant and so servisable
Unto the wyf, wher-as he was at table, (462)
That she wolde suffre him no-thing for to paye 1016
For bord ne clothing, wente he never so gaye ;

And spending-silver hadde he right y-now.
Therof no fors ; I wol procede as now, 1019
And telle forth my tale of the chanoun,
That broghte this preest to confusioun.

This false chanoun cam up-on a day
Unto this preestes chambre, wher he lay,
Biseching him to lene him a carteyn (471)
Of gold, and he wolde quyte it him ageyn.

'Lene me a mark,' quod he, 'but dayes
three, 1026

And at my day I wol it quyten thee.
And if so be that thou me finde fals,
Another day do hange me by the hals !'

This preest him took a mark, and that
as swythe, 1030

And this chanoun him thanked ofte sythe,
And took his leve, and wente forth his
weye, (479)

And at the thridde day broghte his moneye,
And to the preest he took his gold agayn, Wherof this preest was wonder glad and
fayn. 1035

'Cortes,' quod he, 'no-thing anoyeth me
To lene a man a noble, or two or three,
Or what thing were in my possessioun,
Whan he so trewe is of condicioun,
That in no wyse he breke wol his day ; 1040
To swich a man I can never seye nay.'

'What !' quod this chanoun, 'sholde I be untrewed ? (489)

Nay, that were thing y-fallen al of-newe.
Trouthe is a thing that I wol ever kepe
Un-to that day in which that I shal crepe
In-to my grave, and elles god forbede ; 1046
Bileveth this as siker as is your crede.

God thanke I, and in good tyme be it sayd,
That ther was never man yet yvel apayd
For gold ne silver that he to me lente, 1050
Ne never falshede in myn herte I mente.
And sir,' quod he, 'now of my privetee,
Sin ye so goodlich han been un-to me, (500)
And kythed to me so greet gentillesse, 1054
Somwhat to quyte with your kindenesse,
I wol yow shewe, and, if yow list to lere,
I wol yow teche pleynly the manere,
How I can werken in philosophye.

Taketh good heed, ye shul wel seen at yð,
That I wol doon a maistrise er I go.' 1060

'Ye,' quod the preest, 'ye, sir, and wol ye so ?

Marie ! ther-of I pray yow hertely !' (509)

'At your comandement, sir, trewely,'
Quod the chanoun, 'and elles god forbede !'

Lo, how this theef coude his servyse
bede ! 1065

Ful sooth it is, that swich profred servyse
Stinketh, as witnessen these olde wyse ;
And that ful sone I wol it verifye
In this chanoun, rote of al trecherye, 1069

That ever-more delyt hath and gladnesse—
Swich feendly thoughtes in his herte im-
presse—

How Cristes peple he may to meschief
bringe ; (519)

God kepe us from his fals dissimulinge !
Noght wiste this preest with whom that he delte,

Ne of his harm cominge he no-thing felte.
O sely preest ! O sely innocent ! 1076

With covesitye anon thou shalt be blent !
O graceles, ful blind is thy conceit,
No-thing ne artow war of the deceit
Which that this fox y-shapen hath to thee !

His wyly wrenches thou ne mayst nat flee.
Wherfor, to go to the conclusioun 1082

That refereth to thy confusioun, (530)
Unhappy man ! anon I wol me hye

To tellen thyn unwit and thy folye, 1085
And eek the falsnesse of that other
wrecche,

As ferforth as that my conning may
strecche.

This chanoun was my lord, ye wolden
wene ?

Sir host, in feith, and by the hevenes
quene,

It was another chanoun, and nat he, 1090
That can an hundred fold more subtiltee !

He hath bitrayed folkes many tyme ;
Of his falshede it dulleth me to ryme. (540)

Ever whan that I speke of his falshede,
For shame of him my chekes wexen rede ;

Algates, they biginnen for to glowe, 1096
For reednesse have I noon, right wel I
knowe,

In my visage ; for fumes dyverse
Of metals, which ye han herd me reherce,
Consumed and wasted han my reednesse.

Now tak heed of this chanouns cursed-
nesse ! 1101

'Sir,' quod he to the preest, 'lat your man gon (549)

For quik-silver, that we it hadde anon ;
And lat him bringen ounces two or three ;

And whan he comth, as faste shul ye see
A wonder thing, which ye saugh never er
this.' 1106

'Sir,' quod the preest, 'it shal be doon,
y-wis.'

He bad his servant fecchen him this thing,

And he al redy was at his bidding,
And wente him forth, and cam anon
agayn 1110

With this quik-silver, soothly for to sayn,
And took thise ounces three to the chanoun ; (559)

And he hem leyde fayre and wel adoun,
And bad the servant coles for to bringe,
That he anon mighte go to his werkinge.

The coles right anon weren y fet, 1116
And this chanoun took out a crosselet
Of his bosom, and shewed it the preest.

'This instrument,' quod he, 'which that thou seest,

Tak in thyn hand, and put thy-self ther-
inne 1120

Of this quik-silver an ounce, and heer bi-
ginne,

In the name of Crist, to wexe a filosofre.
Ther been ful fewe, whiche that I wolde
profre (570)

To shewen hem thus muche of my science.
For ye shul seen heer, by experience, 1125
That this quik-silver wol I mortifye

Right in your sighte anon, withouten lye,
And make it as good silver and as fyn
As ther is any in your purs or myn,
Or elleswher, and make it malliabile ; 1130

And elles, holdeth me fals and unable Amonges folk for ever to appere ! (579)

I have a poudre heer, that coste me dere,
Shal make al good, for it is cause of al
My conning, which that I yow shewen
shal 1135

Voydeth your man, and lat him be ther-
oute,

And shet the dore, whyls we been aboute
Our privetee, that no man us espye

Whyls that we werke in this filosofyhe.
Al as he bad, fulfilled was in dede, 1140
This ilke servant anon-right out yede,

And his maister shette the dore anon,
And to hir labour speedily they gon. (590)

This preest, at this cursed chanouns bidding,

Up-on the fyr anon sette this thing, 1145
And blew the fyr, and bisied him ful faste ;

And this chanoun in-to the croalet caste
A poudre, noot I wher-of that it was
Y-maad, other of chalk, other of glas,
Or som-what elles, was nat worth a flye

To blynde with the preest ; and bad him
hye 1151

The coles for to couchen al above (599)
The croalet ; 'for, in tokening I thee
love,'

Quod this chanoun, 'thyn owene hondes
two

Shul werche al thing which that shal heer be do.' 1155

'Graunt mercy,' quod the preest, and was ful glad,

And couched coles as the chanoun bad.
And whyle he busy was, this feendly
wrecche,

This fals chanoun, the foule feend him
fecche !

Out of his bosom took a bechen cole, 1160
In which ful subtilly was maad an hole,

And ther-in put was of silver lymaille
An ounce, and stopped was, with-outen
fayle, (610)

The hole with wax, to kepe the lymail in.
And understondeth, that this false gin
Was nat maad ther, but it was maad
bifore ; 1166

And other thinges I shal telle more Herafterward, which that he with him
broghte ;

Er he cam ther, him to bigyle he thoghte,
And so he dide, er that they wente
a-twinne ; 1170

Til he had terved him, coude he not bliinne.
It dulleth me whan that I of him speke,

On his falshede fayn wolde I me wreke,
If I wiste how ; but he is heer and ther :
He is so variaunt, he abit no-wher. 1175

But taketh heed now, sirs, for goddes
love ! (623)

He took his cole of which I spak above,
And in his hond he bear it prively.

And whyls the preest couchede busily
The coles, as I tolde yow er this, 1180

This chanoun seyde, 'freend, ye doon amis ;
This is nat couched as it oghte be ;

But sone I shal amenden it,' quod he. (630)
'Now lat me medle therwith but a whyle,

For of yow have I pitee, by saint Gyle ! 1185
Ye been right hoot, I see wel how ye swete,

Have hear a cloth, and wype away the
wete.'

And whyles that the preest wyped his face,

This chanoun took his cole with harde
grace, 1189

And leyde it above, up-on the middeward
Of the croset, and blew wel afterward,
Til that the coles gonne faste brenne.

'Now yeve us drinke,' quod the chanoun
thenne, (640)

'As swythe al shal be wel, I undertake;
Sitte we doun, and lat us mery make.' 1195
And whan that this chanounes bechen cole

Was brent, al the lymaille, out of the hole,
Into the croset fil anon adoun;

And so it moste nedes, by resoun,
Sin it so even aboven couched was; 1200

But ther-of wiste the preest no-thing, alas!
He demed alle the coles y-liche good,

For of the sleighte he no-thing understood. (650)

And whan this alkamistre saugh his tyme,
'Rys up,' quod he, 'sir preest, and stondeth
by me; 1205

And for I woot wel ingot have ye noon, Goth, walketh forth, and bring us a chalkstoun;

For I wol make oon of the same shap
That is an ingot, if I may han hap.

And bringeth eek with yow a bolle or a panne, 1210

Ful of water, and ye shul see wel thanne
How that our businesse shal thryve and
preve.

And yet, for ye shul han no misbileve (660)
Ne wrong conceit of me in your absence,

I ne wol nat been out of your presence, 1215
But go with yow, and come with yow
ageyn.'

The chambre-dore, shortly for to seyn,
They opened and shette, and wente hir
weye.

And forth with hem they carieden the keye, 1219

And come agayn with-uten any delay.
What sholde I tarien al the longe day?

He took the chalk, and shoop it in the
wyse

Of an ingot, as I shal yow devyse. (670)

I seye, he took out of his owene sleve
A teyne of silver (yvale mote he cheve!)

Which that ne was nat but an ounce of weighte; 1225

And taketh heed now of his cursed sleighte!

He shoop his ingot, in lengthe and eek
in brede,

Of this teyne, with-uten any drede,
So slyly, that the preest it nat espyde; 1230

And in his sleve agayn he gan it hyde;
And fro the fyr he took up his matere,

And in th'ingot putte it with mery chere,
And in the water-vessel he it caste (681)

Whan that him luste, and bad the preest
as faste, 1235

'Look what ther is, put in thyn hand and grope,

Thow finde shalt ther silver, as I hope;
What, devel of helle! sholde it elles be?

Shaving of silver silver is, pardee!' 1240

He putte his hond in, and took up a teyne
Of silver fyn, and glad in every veyne 1241

Was this preest, whan he saugh that it was so.

'Goddess blessing, and his modres also, (690)
And alle halwes have ye, sir chanoun,'

Seyde this preest, 'and I hir malisoun, 1245
But, and ye vouche-sauf to techen me

This noble craft and this subtiltee,
I wol be youre, in al that ever I may!'

Quod the chanoun, 'yet wol I make assay
The second tyme, that ye may taken hede

And been expert of this, and in your nede
Another day assaye in myn absence 1252

This disciplyne and this crafty science.
Let take another ounce,' quod he tho, (701)

'Of quik-silver, with-uten wordes mo, 1255
And do ther-with as ye han doon er this

With that other, which that now silver is.'

This preest him bisieth in al that he can
To doon as this chanoun, this cursed man,

Comanded him, and faste he blew the fyr,
For to come to th'effect of his desyr. 1261

And this chanoun, right in the mene
whyle,

Al redy was, the preest eft to bigyle, (710)
And, for a countenance, in his hande he bar

An holwe stikke (tak keep and be war!)
In the ende of which an ounce, and na-more, 1266

Of silver lymail put was, as bifore
Was in his cole, and stopped with wex
weel

For to kepe in his lymail every deel.

And whyl this preest was in his businesse,
 This chanoun with his stikke gan him
 dresse 1271
 To him anon, and his pouder caste in (719)
 As he did er; (the devel out of his skin
 Him terve, I pray to god, for his falshede;
 For he was ever fals in thoght and dede);
 And with this stikke, above the croslet,
 That was ordeyned with that false get,
 He stired the coles, til relente gan
 The wex agayn the fyr, as every man,
 But it a fool be, woot wel it mot nede, 1280
 And al that in the stikke was out yede,
 And in the croslet hastily it fel. (729)
 Now gode sirs, what wol ye bet than wel?
 Whan that this preest thus was bigyled
 ageyn, 1284
 Supposing noght but trouthe, soth to seyn,
 He was so glad, that I can nat expresse
 In no manere his mirthe and his glad-
 nesse;
 And to the chanoun he profred eftson
 Body and good; 'ye,' quod the chanoun
 sone,
 'Though povre I be, crafty thou shalt me
 finde; 1290
 I warne thee, yet is ther more bihinde.
 Is ther any coper her-inne?' seyde he.
 'Ye,' quod the preest, 'sir, I trowe wel
 ther be.' (740)
 'Elles go bye us som, and that as swythe,
 Now, gode sir, go forth thy wey and by the.'
 He wente his wey, and with the coper cam, 1296
 And this chanoun it in his handes nam,
 And of that coper weyed out but an ounce.
 Al to simple is my tonge to pronounce,
 As ministrs of my wit, the doublenesse
 Of this chanoun, rote of al cursednesse. 1301
 He semed frendly to hem that knewe
 him noght,
 But he was feendly bothe in herte and
 thoght. (750)
 It werieth me to telle of his falsnesse,
 And natheles yet wol I it expresse, 1305
 To th'entente that men may be war therby,
 And for noon other cause, trewely.
 He putte his ounce of coper in the croslet,
 And on the fyr as swythe he hath it set,
 And caste in poudre, and made the preest
 to blowe, 1310
 And in his werking for to stoupe lowe,
 As he dide er, and al nas but a jape;
 Right as him liste, the preest he made his ape; (760)
 And afterward in th'ingot he it caste,
 And in the panne putte it at the laste 1315
 Of water, and in he putte his owene hond.
 And in his sleve (as ye biforn-hond Herde me telle) he hadde a silver teyne.
 He slyly took it out, this cursed heyne—
 Unwriting this preest of his false craft—
 And in the pannes botme he hath it laft;
 And in the water rombled to and fro,
 And wonder prively took up also (770)
 The coper teyne, noght knowing this
 preest,
 And hidde it, and him hente by the breast,
 And to him spak, and thus seyde in his
 game, 1326
 'Stoupeth adoun, by god, ye be to blame,
 Helpeth me now, as I dide yow whyl-er, Putte in your hand, and loketh what is ther.' 1329
 This preest took up this silver teyne anon,
 And thanne seyde the chanoun, 'lat us
 gon
 With these three teynes, which that we han wrought,
 To som goldsmith, and wite if they been oght. (780)
 For, by my feith, I nolde, for myn hood,
 But-if that they were silver, fyn and
 good, 1335
 And that as swythe preveded shal it be.'
 Un-to the goldsmith with these teynes
 three
 They wente, and putte these teynes in assay
 To fyr and hamer; mighte no man sey nay,
 But that they weren as hem oghte be.
 This sotted preest, who was gladder than he? 1341
 Was never brid gladder agayn the day,
 Ne nightingale, in the sesoun of May, (790)
 Nas never noon that luste bet to singe;
 Ne lady lustier in carolinge 1345
 Or for to speke of love and wommanhede,
 Ne knight in armes to doon an hardy dede
 To stonde in grace of his lady dere,
 Than had this preest this sory craft to lere;

And to the chanoun thus he spak and
seyde, 1350

'For love of god, that for us alle deyde,
And as I may deserve it un-to yow,
What shal this receit coste? telleth now!'

'By our lady,' quod this chanoun, 'it is
dere, (801)

I warne yow wel; for, save I and a frere,
In Engelond ther can no man it make.'

'No fors,' quod he, 'now, sir, for goddes
sake, 1357

What shal I paye? telleth me, I preye.'

'Y-wis,' quod he, 'it is ful dere, I seye;

Sir, at o word, if that thee list it have,
Ye shul paye fourty pound, so god me
save! 1361

And, nere the freendship that ye dide er
this

To me, ye sholde paye more, y-wis.' (810)

This preest the somme of fourty pound
anon

Of nobles fette, and took hem everichon
To this chanoun, for this ilke receit; 1366
Al his working nas but fraude and deceit.

'Sir preest,' he seyde, 'I kepe han no loos
Of my craft, for I wolde it kept were cloos;
And as ye love me, kepeth it secree; 1370
For, and men knewe al my subtilitee,
By god, they wolde han so greet envye
To me, by-cause of my philosophye, (820)
I sholde be deed, ther were non other
weye.'

'God it forbede!' quod the preest,
'what sey ye?' 1375

Yet hadde I lever spenden al the good
Which that I have (and elles waxe I wood!)
Than that ye sholden falle in swich mee-
cheef.'

'For your good wil, sir, have ye right good preef,'

Quod the chanoun, 'and far-wel, grant
mercy!' 1380

He wente his wey and never the preest him sy

After that day; and whan that this preest
sholde (829)

Maken assay, at swich tyme as he wolde,
Of this receit, far-wel! it wolde nat be!

Lo, thus byjaped and bigyled was he! 1385
Thus maketh he his introduccioun
To bringe folk to hir destruccioun.—

Considereth, sirs, how that, in ech
estaat,

Bitwixe men and gold ther is debaat
So ferforth, that unnethes is ther noon.

This multiplying blent so many oon, 1391
That in good feith I trowe that it be

The cause grettest of swich scarsetee. (840)
Philosophres spoken so mistily

In this craft, that men can nat come
therby, 1395

For any wit that men han now a-dayes.
They mowe wel chiteren, as doon thise

jayes,
And in her termesette hir lust and peyne,
But to hir purpos shul they never atteyne.

A man may lightly lerne, if he have aught,
To multiplye, and bringe his good to

naught! (848) 1401

Lo! swich a lucre is in this lusty game,
A mannes mirthe it wol torne un-to grame,

And empten also grete and hevye purses,
And maken folk for to purchasen curses

Of hem, that han hir good therto y-lent.
O! fy! for shame! they that han been brent, 1407

Allas! can they nat flee the fyres hete?

Ye that it use, I rede ye it lete, Lest ye lese al; for bet than never is late. 1410

Never to thryve were to long a date.

Though ye prolle ny, ye shul it never
finde; (850)

Ye been as bolde as is Bayard the blinde,
That blundreth forth, and peril casteth

noon; 1415
He is as bold to renne agayn a stoon

As for to goon besydes in the weye.
So faren ye that multiplye, I seye.

If that your yⁿ can nat seen a right,
Loke that your minde lakke nought his

sight. (866)
For, though ye loke never so brode, and

stare, 1420
Ye shul nat winne a myte on that chaffare,

But wasten al that ye may rape and renne.
Withdrawe the fyr, lest it to faste brenne;

Medleth na-more with that art, I mene,
For, if ye doon, your thrift is goon ful

clene. 1425
And right as swythe I wol yow tellen here,
What philosophres seyn in this matere.

Lo, thus seith Arnold of the Newe Toun,
As his Rosarie maketh mencion ;
He seith right thus, with-outen any lye,
'Ther may no man Mercurie mortifye, 1431
But it be with his brother knowleching.
How that he, which that first seyde this
thing, (880)

Of philosophres fader was, Hermes ;
He seith, how that the dragoun, douteless,
Ne deyeth nat, but-if that he be slayn 1436
With his brother ; and that is for to sayn,
By the dragoun, Mercurie and noon other He understood ; and brimstoon by his
brother,

That out of sol and luna were y-drawe.
And therfor, 'seyde he, 'tak heed to my
sawe, 1441

Let no man bisy him this art for to seche,
But-if that he th'entencion and speche
Of philosophres understonde can ; (891)
And if he do, he is a lewed man. 1445

For this science and this conning, 'quod he,
'Is of the secree of secrees, parde.'

Also ther was a disciple of Plato,
That on a tyme seyde his maister to,
As his book Senior wol bere witness, 1450
And this was his demande in soothfast-
nesse :

'Tel me the name of the privy stoon ?'

And Plato answerde unto him anon,

'Tak the stoon that Titanos men name.'

'Which is that?' quod he. 'Magnesia is the same,' (902) 1455

Seyde Plato. 'Ye, sir, and is it thus ?
This is ignotum per ignotius.

What is Magnesia, good sir, I yow preys ?'

'It is a water that is maad, I seye,
Of elementes foure,' quod Plato. 1460

'Tel me the rote, good sir,' quod he tho,
'Of that water, if that it be your wille ?'

'Nay, nay,' quod Plato, 'certein, that I nilla. (910)

The philosophres sworn were everichoon,
That they sholden discovere it un-to
noon, 1465

Ne in no book it wryte in no manere ;
For un-to Crist it is so leef and dere

That he wol nat that it discovered be,
But wher it lyketh to his deitee

Man for t'enspyre, and eek for to defende Whom that him lyketh ; lo, this is the
ende.' 1471

Thanne conclude I thus ; sith god of
hevene

Ne wol nat that the philosophres nevene
How that a man shal come un-to this
stoon, (921)

I rede, as for the beste, lete it goon. 1475

For who-so maketh god his adversarie,
As for to werken any thing in contrarie
Of his wil, certes, never shal he thryve, Thogh that he multiplie terme of his
lyve.

And ther a poynt ; for ended is my tale ;
God sende every strewe man bote of his bale !—Amen. (928) 1481

Here is ended the Chanouns Yemannes Tale.

GROUP H.

THE MANCIPLE'S PROLOGUE.

Here folweth the Prologe of the Maunciples Tale.

Wrra ye nat wher ther stant a lital toun
Which that y-cleped is Bob-up-and-doun,
Under the Blee, in Caunterbury weye?
Ther gan our hoste for to jape and pleye,
And seyde, 'sirs, what! Dun is in the
myre! 5

Is ther no man, for preyere ne for hyre,
That wol awake our felawe heer bihinde?
A theef mighte him ful lightly robbe and
binde.

See how he nappeth! see, for cokkes bones,
As he wol falle from his hors at ones. 10
Is that a cook of Londoun, with mes-
chaunce?

Do him come forth, he knoweth his penance,

For he shal telle a tale, by my fey!
Al-though it be nat worth a botel hey.
Awake, thou cook,' quod he, 'god yeve thee sorwe, 15

What eyleth thee to slepe by the morwe?
Hastow had fiesn al night, or artow
dronke,

Or hastow with som quene al night yswonke,

So that thou mayst nat holden up thyn
heed?'

This cook, that was ful pale and nothing reed, 20

Seyde to our host, 'so god my soule blesse,
As ther is falle on me swich hevynesse,
Noot I nat why, that me were lever slepe
Than the beste galoun wyn in Chepe.'

'Wel,' quod the maunciple, 'if it may doon ese 25

To thee, sir cook, and to no wight displese
Which that heer rydeth in this companye,
And that our host wol, of his curteisye,
I wol as now excuse thee of thy tale;
For, in good feith, thy visage is ful pale,

Thyn y8n daswen eek, as that me
thinketh, 31
And wel I woot, thy breeth ful soure
stinketh,

That sheweth wel thou art not wel disposed;

Of me, certein, thou shalt nat been
y-glosed.

Se how he ganeth, lo, this dronken wight,
As though he wolde us swolwe anon-right.
Hold cloos thy mouth, man, by thy fader
kin! 37

The devel of helle sette his foot ther-in!
Thy cursed breeth infecte wol us alle;
Fy, stinking swyn, fy! foule moot thee
falle! 40

A! taketh heed, sirs, of this lusty man.
Now, swete sir, wol ye justen atte fan?
Ther-to me thinketh ye been wely y-shape!
I trowe that ye dronken han wyn ape,

And that is whan men pleyen with a straw.' 45

And with this speche the cook wax wrooth
and wraw,

And on the maunciple he gan nodde faste
For lakke of speche, and doun the hors him caste,

Wher as he lay, til that men up him took;
This was a fayr chivachee of a cook! 50
Allas! he nadde holde him by his ladel!
And, er that he agayn were in his sadel,

Ther was greet showing bothe to and fro,
To lifte him up, and muchel care and wo,
So unwedly was this sory palled gost. 55
And to the maunciple thanne spak our
host,

'By-cause drink hath dominacioun
Upon this man, by my savacioun
I trowe he lewedly wolde telle his tale.
For, were it wyn, or old or moysty ale, 60

That he hath dronke, he speketh in his nose,
And fneseth faste, and eek he hath the pose.

He hath also to do more than y-nough
To kepe him and his capel out of slough;
And, if he falle from his capel eft-sonne, 65
Than shul we alle have y-nough to done,
In lifting up his hevy dronken cors.
Telle on thy tale, of him make I no fors.

But yet, maunciple, in feith thou art to nyce,

Thus openly repreve him of his vyce. 70
Another day he wol, peraventure,
Reclayme thee, and bringe thee to lure;
I mene, he speke wol of smale thinges,
As for to pinchen at thy rekeninges,
That wer not honeste, if it cam to preef.'

'No,' quod the maunciple, 'that were a greet mescheef! 76

So mighte he lightly bringe me in the snare.

Yet hadde I lever payen for the mare
Which he rit on, than he sholde with me stryve; 79

I wol nat wratthe him, al-so mote I thryve!
That that I spak, I seyde it in my bourde;
And wite ye what? I have heer, in a gourde,

A draught of wyn, ye, of a rype grape,
And right anon ye shul seen a good jape.
This cook shal drinke ther-of, if I may; 85
Uppeyne of deeth, he wol nat seye me nay!'

And certainly, to tellen as it was,
Of this vessel the cook drank faste, allas!
What neded him? he drank y-nough biforn.

And whan he hadde pouped in this horn,
To the maunciple he took the gourde agayn; 91

And of that drinke the cook was wonder fayn,
And thanked him in swich wyse as he coude.

Than gan our host to laughen wonder loude,

And seyde, 'I see wel, it is necessarie, 95
Wher that we goon, good drink we with us carie;

For that wol turne rancour and disese
T'acord and love, and many a wrong apese.

O thou Bachus, y-blessed be thy name,
That so canst turnen earnest in-to game!
Worship and thank be to thy deitee! 101
Of that matere ye gete na-more of me.

Tel on thy tale, maunciple, I thee preye.'
'Wel, sir,' quod he, 'now herkneth what I seye.'

Thus endeth the Prologe of the Maunciple.

THE MAUNCIPLES TALE.

Here biginneth the Maunciples Tale of the Crowe.

WHAN Phebus dwelled here in this erthe adoun, 105

As olde bokes maken mencionn,
He was the moste lusty bachiler
In al this world, and eek the beste archer;
He slow Phitoun, the serpent, as he lay
Slepinge agayn the sonne upon a day; 110

And many another noble worthy dede
He with his bowe wroughte, as men may rede.

Playen he coude on every minstralcyne,
And singen, that it was a melodye, (10)
To heren of his clere vois the soun. 115
Certes the king of Thebes, Amphionn,

That with his singing walled that citee,
Coude never singen half so wel as he.
Therto he was the semelieste man 119
That is or was, sith that the world bigan.
What nedeth it his fetures to discryve?
For in this world was noon so fair on lyve.
He was ther-with fulfild of gentillesse,
Of honour, and of parfit worthinesse. (20)

This Phebus, that was flour of bachelrye,
As wel in fredom as in chivalrye, 126
For his desport, in signe eek of victorie
Of Phitoun, so as telleth us the storie,
Was wont to beren in his hand a bowe.

Now had this Phebus in his hous a crowe,
Which in a cage he fostred many a day,
And taughte it speken, as men teche a jay.
Whyt was this crowe, as is a snow-whyt
swan, (29)

And countrefete the speche of every man
He coude, whan he sholde telle a tale. 135
Ther-with in al this world no nightingale
Ne coude, by an hondred thousand deel,
Singen so wonder merily and weel.

Now had this Phebus in his hous a wyf,
Which that he lovede more than his lyf,
And night and day dide ever his diligence
Hir for to plesse, and doon hir reverence,
Save only, if the sothe that I shal sayn, Jalous he was, and wolde have kept hir
fayn; (40)

For him were looth by-japed for to be. 145
And so is every wight in swich degree;
But al in ydel, for it availleth noght.
A good wyf, that is clene of werk and
thought,

Sholde nat been kept in noon await,
certayn;

And trewely, the labour is in vayn 150
To kepe a shrew, for it wol nat be.
This holde I for a verray nycetee,
To spille labour, for to kepe wyves;
Thus writen olde clerkes in hir lyves. (50)

But now to purpos, as I first bigan : 155
This worthy Phebus dooth all that he can
To plessen hir, weninge by swich plesaunce,
And for his manhede and his governaunce,
That no man sholde han put him from hir grace.

But god it woot, ther may no man embrace
As to destreyne a thing, which that nature
Hath naturally set in a creature. 162

Tak any brid, and put it in a cage,
And do al thyn entente and thy courage (60)
To fostre it tendrely with mete and
drinke, 165
Of alle deyntees that thou canst bithinke,
And keep it al-so clenly as thou may;
Al-though his cage of gold be never so gay,
Yet hath this brid, by twenty thousand fold,

Lever in a forest, that is rude and cold, 170
Gon ete wormes and swich wretchednesse.
For ever this brid wol doon his businesse
To escape out of his cage, if he may;
His libertee this brid desireth ay. (70)

Lat take a cat, and fostre him wel with milk, 175
And tendre flesh, and make his couche
of silk,

And lat him seen a mous go by the wal;
Anon he wayveth milk, and flesh, and al,
And every deyntee that is in that hous,
Swich appetyt hath he to ete a mous. 180
Lo, here hath lust his dominacioun,
And appetyt flemeth discrecioun.

A she-wolf hath also a vileins kinde;
The lewedeste wolf that she may finde, (80)
Or leest of reputacion wol she take, 185
In tyme whan hir lust to han a make.

Alle these examples speke I by these
men
That been untrew, and no-thing by wom-
men.

For men han ever a likerous appetyt
On lower thing to parfourne hir delyt 190
Than on hir wyves, be they never so faire,
Ne never so trewe, ne so debonaire.

Flesh is so newefangel, with meschaunce,
That we ne conne in no-thing han plea-
saunce (90)
That souneth in-to vertu any whyle. 195

This Phebus, which that thoghte upon
no gyle,

Deceyved was, for al his jolitee;
For under him another hadde she,
A man of litel reputacioun, 199
Noght worth to Phebus in comparisoun.
The more harm is; it happeth ofte so,
Of which ther cometh muchel harm and
wo.

And so bifel, whan Phebus was absent,
His wyf anon hath for hir lemman sent;

Hir lemman? certes, this is a knavish
speche! (101) 205

Foryeveth it me, and that I yow biseche.
The wyse Plato seith, as ye may rede,
The word mot nede accorde with the
dede.

If men shal telle proprely a thing,
The word mot cosin be to the werking. 210
I am a boistous man, right thus seye I,
Ther nis no difference, trewely,
Bitwixe a wyf that is of heigh degree,
If of hir body dishonest she be, (110)

And a povre wenche, other than this—
If it so be, they werke bothe amis— 216
But that the gentile, in estaat above,
She shal be cleped his lady, as in love;
And for that other is a povre womman,
She shal be cleped his wenche, or his lemman. 220

And, god it woot, myn owene dere brother, Men leyh that oon as lowe as lyth that
other.

Right so, bitwixe a titleles tyrant
And an outlawe, or a theef errant, (120)
The same I seye, ther is no difference. 225
To Alisaundre told was this sentence;
That, for the tyrant is of gretter might,
By force of meynee for to sleen doun-right,
And brennen hous and hoom, and make al plain,

Lo! therfor is he cleped a capitain; 230
And, for the outlawe hath but smal mey-nee,

And may nat doon so greet an harm as he,
Ne bringe a contree to so greet mescheef,
Men clepen him an outlawe or a theef.

But, for I am a man noght textuel, 235
I wol noght telle of textes never a del;
I wol go to my tale, as I bigan. (133)

Whan Phebus wyf had sent for hir lem-
man,

Anon they wroghten al hir lust volage.

The whyte crowe, that heng ay in the cage, 240

Biheld hir werk, and seyde never a word.
And whan that hoom was come Phebus,
the lord,

This crowe sang 'cokkow! cokkow!
cokkow!'

'What, brid?' quod Phebus, 'what song singestow? (140)

Ne were thow wont so merily to singe 245
That to myn herte it was a rejoisinge
To here thy vois? allas! what song is this?'

'By god,' quod he, 'I singe nat amis;
Phebus,' quod he, 'for al thy worthiness,
For al thy beautee and thy gentilesee, 250
For al thy song and al thy minstrelcye,
For al thy waiting, blered is thyn y8
With oon of lital reputacioun, (149)
Noght worth to thee, as in comparisoun,
Themountance of a gnat; so mote I thryve!
For on thy bed thy wyf I saugh him swyve.'

What wol ye more? the crowe anon him tolde, 257
By sadde tokens and by wordes bolde,
How that his wyf had doon hir lecherye,
Him to gret shame and to gret vileinye;
And tolde him ofte, he saugh it with his
y8n. 261

This Phebus gan awayward for to wryen,
Him thoughte his sorweful herte brast
a-two;

His bowe he bente, and sette ther-inne
a flo, (160)
And in his ire his wyf thanne bath he
slayn. 265

This is th'effect, ther is na-more to sayn;
For sorwe of which he brak his min-
stralcye,

Bothe harpe, and lute, and giterne, and sautrye;
And eek he brak his arwes and his
bowe.

And after that, thus spak he to the crowe:
'Traitor,' quod he, 'with tonge of scorpioun, 271
Thou hast me broght to my confusioun!
Allas! that I was wroght! why nere I
deed?

O dere wyf, O gemme of lustiheed, (170)
That were to me so sad and eek so trewe,
Now lystow deed, with face pale of hewe,
Ful giltelees, that dorste I swere, y-wis!
O rakel hand, to doon so foule amis!

O trouble wit, O ire reccheles,
That navysed smyttest giltelees! 280
O wantrust, ful of fals suspecioun,
Where was thy wit and thy discrecioun?
O every man, be-war of rakelnesse,
Ne trowe no-thing with-outan strong wit-
nesse; (180)

Smyt nat to sone, er that ye witen why,
 And beeth avysed wel and sobroly 286
 Er ye doon any execucioun,
 Up-on your ire, for suspeciouñ.
 Allas! a thousand folk hath rakel ire 289
 Fully fordoon, and broght hem in the mire.
 Allas! for sorwe I wol my-selven slee!

And to the crowe, 'O false thief!'
 seyde he, (188)

'I wol thee quyte anon thy false tale!
 Thou songe whylom lyk a nightingale;
 Now shaltow, false theef, thy song forgon,
 And eek thy whyte fetheres everichon,
 Ne never in al thy lyf ne shaltow speke.
 Thus shal men on a traitour been awreke;
 Thou and thyn of-spring evershul be blake,
 Ne never swete noise shul ye make, 300
 But ever crye agayn tempest and rayn,
 In tokeningis that thurgh thee my wyf is
 slayn.'

And to the crowe he sturte, and that anon,
 And pulled his whyte fetheres everichon,
 And made him blak, and refte him al his song, (201) 305

And eek his speche, and out at dore him along

Un-to the devel, which I him bitake;
 And for this caas ben alle crows blake.—

Lordings, by this ensample I yow preye,
 Beth war, and taketh kepe what I seye:
 Ne telleth never no man in your lyf 311
 How that anotherman hath dight his wyf;
 He wol yow haten mortally, certeyn.
 Daun Salomon, as wyse clerkes seyn, (210)
 Techeth a man to kepe his tonge wel; 315
 But as I seyde, I am nocht textuel,
 But natheless, thus taughte me my dame:
 'My sone, thank on the crowe, a goddes
 name;

My sone, keep wel thy tonge and keep thy freend.

A wikked tonge is worse than a feend. 320
 My sone, from a feend men may hem
 blesse;

My sone, god of his endeless goodnesse
 Walled a tonge with teeth and lippes eke,
 For man sholde him avyse what he speke.
 My sone, ful ofte, for to mucche speche,

Hath many a man ben spilt, as clerkes
 teche; (222) 326

But for a litel speche avysely
 Is no men shent, to speke generally.

My sone, thy tonge sholdestow restreyne
 At alle tyme, but whan thou doost thy
 peyne 330

To speke of god, in honour and preyere.
 The firste vertu, sone, if thou wolt lere,
 Is to restreyne and kepe wel thy tonge.—
 Thus lerne children whan that they ben yonge.— (230) 334

My sone, of muchel speking yvel-avysed,
 Ther lassespeking haddey-nough suffysed, Comth muchel harm, thus was me told and taught.

In muchel speche sinne wanteth naught.
 Wostow wher-of a rakel tonge serveth?

Right as a swerd forcutteth and forkerveth
 An arm a-two, my dere sone, right so 341
 A tonge cutteth frendship al a-two.

A jangler is to god abhominable; (239)

Reed Salomon, so wys and honourable;

Reed David in his psalmes, reed Senekke,

My sone, spek nat, but with thyn heed
 thou bekke. 346

Dissimule as thou were deaf, if that thou
 here

A jangler speke of perilous matere.

The Fleming seith, and lerne it, if thee
 leste, 349

That litel jangling causeth muchel reste.

My sone, if thou no wikked word hast seyde,

Thee thar nat drede for to be biwreyde;

But he that hath misseyde, I dar wel sayn,

He may by no way clepe his word agayn.

Thing that is seyde, is seyde; and forth it
 gooth, (251) 355

Though him repente, or be him leef or
 looth.

He is his thral to whom that he hath seyde

A tale, of which he is now yvel apayde.

My sone, be war, and be non suctour newe

Of tydinges, whether they ben false or

trewe. 360

Wher-so thou come, amonges hye or lowe,

Kepe wel thy tonge, and thank up-on the crowe.'

Here is ended the Maunciples Tale of the Crowe.

GROUP I.

THE PARSON'S PROLOGUE.

Here folweth the Prologe of the Persones Tale.

By that the maunciple hadde his tale al ended,
The sonne fro the south lyne was descended
So lowe, that he nas nat, to my sighte,
Degreës nyne and twenty as in highte. 4
Foure of the klokke it was tho, as I gesse:
For eleven foot, or litel more or lesse,
My shadwe was at thilke tyme, as there,
Of swich feet as my lengthe parted were
In six feet equal of proporcioun.
Ther-with the mones exaltacioun, 10
I mene Libra, alway gan ascende,
As we were entringe at a thropes ende;
For which our host, as he was wont to gye,
As in this caas, our joly companye,
Seyde in this wyse, 'lordis everichoon,
Now lakketh us no tales mo than oon. 16
Fulfld is my sentence and my decree;
I trowe that we han herd of each degre.
Almost fulfld is al myn ordinaunce;
I prey to god, so yeve him right good
chance, 20
That telleth this tale to us lustily.
Sir preest, 'quod he, 'artow a vicary?
Or art a person? sey sooth, by thy fey!
Be what thou be, ne breke thou nat our
pley;
For every man, save thou, hath told his
tale, 25
Unbokel, and shewe us what is in thy male;
For trowely, me thinketh, by thy chere,
Thou sholdest knitte up wela greet matere.
Tel us a tale anon, for cokkes bones!'
This Personne him answerde, al at ones,
'Thou getest fable noon y-told for me; 31
For Paul, that wryteth unto Timothee, Repreveh hem that weyven soothfast-
nesse,
And tellen fables and swich wrecched-
nesse. 34
Why sholde I sowen draf out of my fest,
Whan I may sowen whete, if that me lest?

For which I seye, if that yow list to here
Moralitee and vertuons matere,
And thanne that ye wol yeve me audience.
I wol ful fayn, at Cristes reverence, 40
Do yow plesaunce leefful, as I can.
But trusteth wel, I am a Southren man.
I can nat geste—rum, ram, ruf—by lettre,
Ne, god wot, rym holde I but litel better;
And therfor, if yow list, I wol nat glose.
I wol yow telle a mery tale in prose 46
To knitte up al this feeste, and make an
ende.
And Jesu, for his grace, wit me sende
To shewe yow the way, in this viage,
Of thilke parfit glorious pilgrimage 50
That highte Jerusalem celestial.
And, if ye vouche-sauf, anon I shal
Biginne upon my tale, for whiche I preye
Telle your avys, I can no better seye.
But natheless, this meditacioun 55
I putte it ay under correccioun
Of clerkes, for I am nat textuel;
I take but the sentans, trusteth wel.
Therfor I make protestacioun
That I wol stonde to correccioun.' 60
Up-on this word we han assented sone,
For, as us semed, it was for to done,
To enden in som vertuons sentence,
And for to yeve him space and audience;
And bede our host he sholde to him
seye, 65
That alle we to telle his tale him preye.
Our host hadde the wordes for us alle:—
'Sir preest, 'quod he, 'now fayre yow
bifalle!
Sey what yow list, and we wol gladly
here'—
And with that word he seyde in this
manere— 70
'Telleth, 'quod he, 'your meditacioun.
But hasteth yow, the sonne wol adoun;
Beth fructuous, and that in litel space,
And to do wel god sende yow his grace!'

Explicit prohemium.

THE PERSONES TALE.

Here biginneth the Persones Tale.

Jer. 6. State super vias et videte et interrogate de viis antiquis, que sit via dona; et ambulate in ea, et inuenietis refrigerium animabus vestris, &c.

§ 1. Our swete lord god of hevene, that no man wol perisse, but wole that we comen alle to the knoweleche of him, and to the blisful lyf that is perdurable, / amonesteth us by the prophete Jeremie, that seith in this wyse : / ' stondesth upon the weyes, and seeth and axeth of olde pathes (that is to seyn, of olde sentences) which is the goode way ; / and walketh in that wey, and ye shul finde refreshinge for your soules, ' &c. / Manye been the weyes espirituel that leden folk to oure Lord Jesu Crist, and to the regne of gloria. / Of whiche weyes, ther is a ful noble way and a ful covenable, which may nat faile to man ne to womman, that thurgh sinne hath misgoon fro the righte wey of Jerusalem celestial ; / and this way is cleped Penitence, of which man sholde gladly herknen and enquere with al his herte ; / to witen what is Penitence, and whennes it is cleped Penitence, and in how manye maneres been the accions or werkinges of Penitence, / and how manye spyces ther been of Penitence, and whiche thinges apertenen and bihoven to Penitence, and whiche thinges destourben Penitence. /

§ 2. Seint Ambrose seith, that ' Penitence is the pleyninge of man for the gilt that he hath doon, and na-more to do any thing for which him oghte to pleyne. ' / And som doctour seith : ' Penitence is the waymentinge of man, that sorweth for his sinne and pyneth him-self for he hath misdoon. ' / Penitence, with certeyne circumstances, is verray repentance of a man that halt him-self in sorwe and other peyne for hise giltes. / And for he shal be verray penitent, he shal first biwailen the sinnes that he hath doon, and stidefastly purposen in his herte to have shrift of mouthe, and to doon satisfaccioun, / and never to doon thing for which him oghte more to biwayle or to compleyne, and to continue in goode werkes : or elles his repentance may nat availle. / For as seith seint Isidre : ' he is a japer and a gabber, and no verray repentant, that eftsoone dooth thing, for which him oghte repenta. ' / Wepinge, and natfor to stinte to doon sinne, may nat availle. / 90 But natheless, men shal hope that every tyme that man falleth, be it never so ofte, that he may arise thurgh Penitence, if he have grace : but certainly it is greet doute. / For as seith Seint Gregorie : ' unnethe aryseth he out of sinne, that is charged with the charge of yvel usage. ' / And therefore repentant folk, that stinte for to sinne, and forlete sinne er that sinne forlete hem, holy chirche holdeth hem siker of hir savacioun. / And he that sinneth, and verrailly repenteth him in his laste ende, holy chirche yet hopeth his savacioun, by the grete mercy of oure lord Jesu Crist, for his repentaunce ; but tak the siker wey. / (20)

§ 3. And now, sith I have declared yow what thing is Penitence, now shul ye understonde that ther been three accions of Penitence. / The firste accion 95 of Penitence is, that a man be baptized after that he hath sinned. / Seint Augustin seith : ' but he be penitent for his olde sinful lyf, he may nat biginne the newe clene lif. ' / For certes, if he be baptized withouten penitence of his olde gilt, he receiveth the mark of baptisme, but nat the grace ne the remission of his sinnes, til he have repentance verray. /

Another defaute is this, that men doon deedly sinne after that they han received baptisma. / The thridde defaute is, that men fallen in venial sinnes after hir
100 baptisma, fro day to day. / Ther-of seith Seint Augustin, that 'penitence of goode and humble folk is the penitence of every day.'

§ 4. The spyces of Penitence been thre. That oon of hem is solempne, another is commune, and the thridde is privee. / Thilke penance that is solempne, is in two maneres; as to be put out of holy chirche in lente, for slaughtre of children, and swich maner thing. / Another is, when a man hath sinned openly, of which sinne the fame is openly spoken in the contree; and thanne holy chirche by judgement destreinet him for to do open
(30) penaunce. / Commune penaunce is that preestes enjoinen men comounly in certeyn caas; as for to goon, paraventure, naked
105 in pilgrimages, or bare-foot. / Privee penaunce is thilke that men doon alday for privee sinnes, of whiche we shrive us prively and receyve privee penaunce. /

§ 5. Now shaltow understande what is bihovely and necessarie to verray parfit Penitence. And this stant on three thinges; / Contricion of herte, Confessioun of Mouth, and Satisfaccioun. / For which seith Seint John Crisostom: 'Penitence destreyneth a man to accepte benignely every payne that him is enjoyned, with contricion of herte, and shrift of mouth, with satisfaccion; and in werkings of alle maner humilitee.' / And this is fruitful Penitence agayn three thinges in whiche we wratthe oure
110 lord Jesu Crist: / this is to seyn, by delyt in thinkinge, by rechelesnesse in spekinge, and by wikked sinful werkings. / And agayns these wikkede giltes is Penitence, that may be lykned un-to a tree. /

§ 6. The rote of this tree is Contricion, that hydeth him in the herte of him that is verray repentant, right as the rote of a tree hydeth him in the erthe. / Of the rote of Contricion springeth a stalke, that bereth branches and leves of Confession, and fruit of Satisfaccion. / For (40)

which Crist seith in his gospel: 'dooth digne fruit of Penitence'; for by this fruit may men knowe this tree, and nat by the rote that is hid in the herte of man, ne by the branches ne by the leves of Confession. / And therefore 115 oure Lord Jesu Crist seith thus: 'by the fruit of hem ye shul knowen hem.' / Of this rote eek springeth a seed of grace, the which seed is moder of sikernes, and this seed is egre and hoot. / The grace of this seed springeth of god, thurgh remembrance of the day of dome and on the peynes of helle. / Of this matere seith Salomon, that 'in the drede of god man forleteth his sinne.' / The herte of this seed is the love of god, and the desiring of the joye perdurable. /
120 This herte draweth the herte of a man to god, and dooth him haten his sinne. / For soothly, ther is no-thing that savoureth so wel to a child as the milk of his norice, ne no-thing is to him more abhominable than thilke milk when it is medled with other mete. / Right so the sinful man that loveth his sinne, him semeth that it is to him most swete of any-thing; / but fro that tyme that he loveth sadly our lord Jesu Crist, and desireth the lif perdurable, ther nis to him no-thing more abhominable. / For
(50) soothly, the lawe of god is the love of god; for which David the prophete seith: 'I have loved thy lawe and hated wikkednesse and hate'; he that loveth god kepeth his lawe and his word. / This
125 tree saugh the prophete Daniel in spiff, up-on the avision of the king Nabugonosor, when he conseiled him to do penitence. / Penaunce is the tree of lyf to hem that it receiven, and he that holdeth him in verray penitence is blessed; after the sentence of Salomon. /

§ 7. In this Penitence or Contricion man shal understonde foure thinges, that is to seyn, what is Contricion: and whiche been the causes that moeven a man to Contricion: and how he sholde be contrit: and what Contricion availleth to the soule. / Thanne is it thus: that Contricion is the verray sorwe that a man receiveth in his herte for his sinnes, with sad purpos to shryve him, and to dopenance, and nevermore to do sinne. / And this sorwe shal been in this manere, as seith seint Bernard: 'it shal been hevy and grevous, and ful sharpe and poinant in herte.' / First, for man hath agilt his lord and his creatour; and more sharpe and poinant, for he hath agilt his fader celestial; / and yet more sharpe and poinant, for he hath wrathed and agilt him that boghte him; which with his precious blood hath delivered us fro the bondes of sinne, and fro the crueltee of the devel and fro the peynes of helle. /

§ 8. The causes that oghte moeve a man to Contricion been six. First, a man shal remembre him of hise sinnes; / but loke he that thilke remembrance ne be to him no delyt by no wey, but greet shame and sorwe for his gilt. For Job seith: 'sinful men doon werkes worthy of Confession.' / And therefore seith Ezechie: 'I wol remembre me alle the yeres of my lyf, in bitternesse of myn herte.' / And god seith in the Apocalips: 'remembreth yow fro whennes that ye been falle'; for biforn that tyme that ye sinned, ye were the children of god, and limes of the regne of god; / but for your sinne ye been woxen thral and foul, and membres of the feend, hate of aungels, schlaundre of holy chirche, and fode of the false serpent; perpetuel matere of the fyr of helle. / And yet more foul and abhominable, for ye trespassen so ofte tyme, as doth the hound that retorneth to eten his spewing. / And yet be ye fouler for your longe continuing in sinne and your sinful usage, for which ye be roten in your sinne, as a beet in his dong. / Swiche manere of thoughtes maken a man to have shame of his sinne, and no delyt, as god seith by the prophete Ezechiel: / 'ye shal remembre yow of youre weyes, and they shuln displese yow.' Sothly, sinnes been the weyes that leden folk to helle. /

§ 9. The seconde cause that oghte make a man to have desedeyn of sinne is this:

that, as seith seint Peter, 'who-so that doth sinne is thral of sinne'; and sinne put a man in greet thraldom. / And therefore seith the prophete Ezechiel: 'I wente sorweful in desdayn of my-self.' And certes, wel oghte a man have desdayn of sinne, and withdrawe him from that thraldom and vileinye. / And lo, what seith Seneca in this matere. He seith thus: 'though I wiste that neither god ne man ne sholde nevere knowe it, yet wolde I have desdayn for to do sinne.' / (70) And the same Seneca also seith: 'I am born to gretter thinges than to be thral to my body, or than for to maken of my body a thral.' / Ne a fouler thral may 145 no man ne womman maken of his body, than for to yeven his body to sinne. / Al were it the fouleste cherl, or the fouleste womman that liveth, and leest of value, yet is he thanne more foule and more in servitute. / Evere fro the hyer degree that man falleth, the more is he thral, and more to god and to the world vile and abhominable. / O gode god, wel oghte man have desdayn of sinne; sith that, thurgh sinne, ther he was free, now is he maked bonde. / And therefore seyth Seint Augustin: 'if thou hast desdayn of thy servant, if he agilte or sinne, have thou thanne desdayn that thou thy-self sholdest do sinne.' / Take reward 150 of thy value, that thou ne be to foul to thy-self. / Allas! wel oghten they thanne have desdayn to been servantz and thralles to sinne, and sore been ashamed of hem-self, / that god of his endelees goodnesse hath set hem in heigh estaat, or yeven hem wit, strengthe of body, hele, beautee, prosperitee, / and boghte hem fro the deeth with his herte blood, that they so unkindely, agayns his gentilese, quytten him so vileinsly, to slaughtre of hir owene soules. / O gode god, ye (80) wommen that been of so greet beautee, remembreth yow of the proverbe of Salomon, that seith: / 'he lyketh a 155 fair womman, that is a fool of hir body, lyk to a ring of gold that were in the groyn of a sowe.' / For right as a sowe wroteth in everich ordure, so wroteth

she hir beautee in the stinkinge ordure of sinne. /

§ 10. The thridde cause that oghte moeve a man to Contricion, is drede of the day of dome, and of the horrible peynes of helle. / For as seint Jerome seith: 'at every tyme that me remembreth of the day of dome, I quake; / for whan I ete or drinke, or what-so that I do, evere semeth me that the trompe
160 sowneth in myn ere: / riseth up, ye that been dede, and cometh to the jugement.' / O gode god, muchel oghte a man to drede swich a jugement, 'ther-as we shullen been alle,' as seint Poul seith, 'bifore the sete of oure lord Jesu Crist'; / wher-as he shal make a general congregacion, wher-as no man may be absent. / For certes, there availleth noon escoyne ne
(90) excusacion. / And nat only that oure defautes shullen be juged, but eek that alle oure werkis shullen openly be knowe. / And as seith Seint Bernard: 'ther ne shal no pleding availle, ne no sleighte; we shullen yeven rekeninge of everich ydel word.' / Ther shul we han a juge that may nat been deceived ne corrupt. And why? For, certes, alle our thoghtes been discovered as to him; ne for preyere ne for mede he shal nat been corrupt. / And therefore seith Salomon: 'the wratthe of god ne wol nat spare no wight, for preyere ne for yifte'; and therefore, at the day of doom, ther nis noon hope to escape. / Wherfore, as seith Seint Anselm: 'ful greet angwiss shul the sinful folk have at that tyme; / ther shal the sterne and wrothe juge sitte above, and under him the horrible put of helle open to destroyen him that moot biknowen hise sinnes, whiche sinnes openly been shewed bifore god and bi-170 forn every creature. / And on the left syde, mo deves than herte may bithinke, for to harie and drawe the sinful soules to the pyne of helle. / And with-inne the hertes of folk shal be the bytinge conscience, and with-oute-forth shal be the world al brenninge. / Whider shal thanne the wroched sinful man fleo to hyden him? Certes, he may nat hyden him; he mooste come forth and shewen him.' / For certes, as seith seint Jerome: 'the erthe shal casten him out of him, and the see also; and the eyr also, that shal be ful of thonder-clappes and lightninges.' / Now soothly, who-so wel remembreth him of thise thinges, I gesse that his sinne shal nat turne him in-to delyt, but to greet sorwe, for drede of the peyne of helle. / And therefore seith Job

175 to god: 'suffre, lord, that I may a while biwaille and wepe, er I go with-oute returning to the derke lond, covered with the derknesse of deeth; / to the lond of misese and of derknesse, where-as is the shadwe of deeth; where-as ther is noon ordre or ordinance, but grialy drede that evere shal laste.' / Lo, here may ye see that Job prayde respyt a while, to biwepe and waille his trespas; for soothly con day of respyt is bettre than al the tresor of the world. / And for-as-muche as a man may acquiten him-self bifore god by penitence in this world, and nat by tresor, therefore sholde he preye to god to yeve him respyt a while, to biwepe and biwailen his trespas. / For certes, al the sorwe that a man mighte make fro the beginning of the world, nis but a litel thing at regard of the sorwe of helle. / The cause why that Job clepeth
180 helle 'the lond of derknesse'; / understondeth that he clepeth it 'londe' or erthe, for it is stable, and nevere shal faille; 'derk,' for he that is in helle hath defaute of light material. / For certes, the derke light, that shal come out of the fyr that evere shal brenne, shal turne him al to peyne that is in helle; for it sheweth him to the horrible deves that him tormenten. / 'Covered with the derknesse of deeth': that is to seyn, that he that is in helle shal have defaute of the sighte of god; for certes, the sighte of god is the lyf perdurable. / 'The
(110) derknesse of deeth' been the sinnes that the wroched man hath doon, whiche that destourben him to see the face of god; right as doth a derk cloude bitwixe us and the sonne. / 'Lond of misese': /
185 by-cause that ther been three maneres

of defautes, agayn three thinges that folk of this world han in this present lyf, that is to seyn, honours, delyces, and riches. / Agayns honour, have they in helle shame and confusion. / For wel ye woot that men clepen 'honour' the reverence that man doth to man; but in helle is noon honour ne reverence. For certes, na-more reverence shal be doon there to a king than to a knave. / For which god seith by the prophete Jeremye: 'thilke folk that me despysen shul been in despyt.' / 'Honour' is eek cleped greet lordshipe; ther shal no man serven other but of harm and torment. 'Honour' is eek cleped greet dignitee and heighnesse; but in helle shul they been al 190 fortroden of develes. / And god seith: 'the horrible develes shulle goon and oomen up-on the hevedes of the dampned folk.' And this is for-as-muche as, the hyer that they were in this present lyf, the more shulle they been abated and defouled in helle. / Agayns the riches of this world, shul they han misese of povert; and this povert shal been in foure thinges: / in defaute of tresor, of which that David seith; 'the riche folk, that embraceden and oneden al hir herte to tresor of this world, shul slepe in the slepinge of deeth; and no-thing ne shul they finden in hir handes of al hir tresor.' / And more-over, the misese of helle shal been in defaute of mete and
 (120) drinke. / For god seith thus by Moyses; 'they shul been wasted with hunger, and the briddes of helle shul devouren hem with bitter deeth, and the galle of the dragon shal been hir drinke, and the venom of the dragon hir morsels.' / And 195 further-over, hir misese shal been in defaute of clothing: for they shulle be naked in body as of clothing, save the fyr in which they brenne and othere filthes; / and naked shul they been of soule, of alle manere vertues, which that is the clothing of the soule. Where been thanne the gaye robes and the softe shetes and the smale shertes? / Lo, what seith god of hem by the prophete Isaye: 'that under hem shul been strawed motthes, and hir

covertures shulle been of wormes of helle.' / And further-over, hir misese shal been in defaute of freendes; for he nis nat povre that hath goode freendes, but there is no freend; / for neither god ne no creature shal been freend to hem, and everich of hem shal haten other with deedly hate. / 'The sones and the 200 doghtren shullen rebelen agayns fader and mooder, and kinrede agayns kinrede, and chyden and despysen everich of hem other,' bothe day and night, as god seith by the prophete Michias. / And the lovinge children, that whylom loveden so fleshly everich other, wolden everich of hem eten other if they mighte. / For how sholden they love hem togidre in the peyne of helle, whan they hated ech of hem other in the prosperitee of this lyf? / For truste wel, hir fleshly love was deedly hate; as seith the prophete David: 'who-so that loveth wikkednesse he hateth his soule.' / And who-so hateth his owene
 (130) soule, certes, he may love noon other wright in no manere. / And therefore, 205 in helle is no solas ne no frendshipe, but evre the more fleshly kinredes that been in helle, the more cursinges, the more chydinges, and the more deedly hate ther is among hem. / And further-over, they shul have defaute of alle manere delyces; for certes, delyces been after the appetytes of the fyve wittes, as sighte, heringe, smellinge, savoringe, and touchinge. / But in helle hir sighte shal be ful of derknesse and of smoke, and therfore ful of teres; and hir heringe, ful of waymentinge and of grintage of teeth, as seith Jesu Crist; / hir nosethirles shullen be ful of stinkinge stink. And as seith Isaye the prophete: 'hir savoring shal be ful of bitter galle.' / And touchinge of al hir body, y-covered with 'fyr that nevere shal quenche, and with wormes that nevere shul dyen,' as god seith by the mouth of Isaye. / And for-as-muche
 210 as they shul nat wene that they may dyen for peyne, and by hir deeth flee fro peyne, that may they understonden by the word of Job, that seith: 'ther-as is the shadwe of deeth.' / Certes, a shadwe hath the lyknesse of the thing of which it is shadwe, but shadwe is nat the same thing of which it is shadwa. / Right so fareth the peyne of helle; it is lyk deeth for the horrible anguish, and why? For it peyneth hem evere, as though they sholde dye anon; but certes they shal nat dye. / For as seith Seint Gregorie: 'to wrecche caytives shal be deeth with-oute deeth, and ende with-oute ende, and defaute with-oute fail-

 (140) inge. / For hir deeth shal alwey liven, and hir ende shal everemo biginne, and 215 hir defaute shal nat faille.' / And therefore seith Seint John the Evangelist: 'they shullen folwe deeth, and they shul nat finde him; and they shul desyren to dye, and deeth shal fleo fro hem.' / And eek Job seith: that 'in helle is noon ordre of rule.' / And al-be-it so that god hath creat alle thinges in right ordre, and no-thing with-oute ordre, but alle thinges been ordeyned and nombred; yet natheles they that been dampned been no-thing in ordre, ne holden noon ordra. / For the erthe ne shal bere hem no fruit. / For, as the prophete David seith: 'god shal destroye the fruit of the erthe as fro hem'; ne
 220 water ne shal yeve hem no moisture; ne the eyr no refreshing, ne fyr no light. / For as seith seint Basille: 'the brenninge of the fyr of this world shal god yeven in helle to hem that been dampned; / but the light and the cleernesse shal be yeven in hevene to hise children'; right as the gode man yeveth flesh to hise children, and bones to his houndes. / And for they shullen have noon hope to escape, seith seint Job atte laste: that 'ther shal horroure and grisly drede dwellen with-oute ende.' / Horroure is alwey drede of harm that is to come, and this drede shal evere dwelle in the hertes of hem that been dampned. And therefore han they lorn al hir hope, for sevne
 (150) causes. / First, for god that is hir juge shal be with-oute mercy to hem; ne they may nat please him, ne noon of hise halwes; ne they ne may yeve no-thing
 225 for hir raunson; / ne they have no vois

to speke to him; ne they may nat fleo fro peyne; ne they have no goodnesse in hem, that they mowe shewe to delivere hem fro peyne. / And therefore seith Salomon: 'the wikked man dyeth; and whan he is deed, he shal have noon hope to escape fro peyne.' / Who-so thanne wolde wel understande these peynes, and bithinke him weel that he hath deserved thilke peynes for his sinnes, certes, he sholde have more talent to syken and to wepe than for to singen and to pleye. / For as that seith Salomon: 'who-so that hadde the science to knowe the peynes that been established and ordeyned for sinne, he wolde make sorwe.' / 'Thilke science,' as seith seint Augustin, 'maketh 230 a man to waymenten in his herte.'

§ 11. The fourthe point, that oghte maken a man to have contricion, is the sorweful remembrance of the good that he hath left to doon here in erthe; and eek the good that he hath lorn. / Soothly, the gode werkes that he hath left, outhur they been the gode werkes that he wroghte er he fel in-to deedly sinne, or elles the gode werkes that he wroghte while he lay in sinne. / Soothly, the gode werkes, that he dide biforn that he fil in sinne, been al mortified and astoned and dilled by the ofte sinning. / The othere gode werkes, that he wroghte whyl he lay in deedly sinne, they been outrely dede as to the lyf perdurable in hevene. / Thanne thilke gode werkes
 (160) that been mortified by ofte sinning, whiche gode werkes he dide whyl he was in charitee, ne mowe nevere quiken agayn with-oute verray penitence. / And ther-
 235 of seith god, by the mouth of Ezechiel: that, 'if the rightful man returne agayn from his rightwisnesse and werke wikkednesse, shal he live?' / Nay; for alle the gode werkes that he hath wroght ne shul nevere been in remembrance; for he shal dyen in his sinne. / And up-on thilke chapitre seith seint Gregorie thus: 'that we shulle understonde this principally; / that whan we doon deedly sinne, it is for noght thanne to rehercen or drawn in-to memorie the gode werkes that we

han wrought biforn.' / For certes, in the werkinge of the deedly sinne, ther is no trust to no good werk that we han doon biforn; that is to seyn, as for to have 240 therby the lyf perdurable in hevене. / But natheless, the gode werkes quiken agayn, and comen agayn, and helpen, and availen to have the lyf perdurable in hevене, whan we han contricion. / But soothly, the gode werkes that men doon whyl they been in deedly sinne, for-as-muche as they were doon in deedly sinne, they may nevere quiken agayn. / For certes, thing that nevere hadde lyf may nevere quikene; and natheless, albe-it that they ne availle noight to han the lyf perdurable, yet availen they to abregge of the peyne of helle, or elles that geten temporal richesse, / or elles that god wole the rather enlumine and lightne the herte of the sinful man to have
 (170) repentance; / and eek they availen for to use a man to doon gode werkes, that the feend have the lasse power of his
 245 soule. / And thus the curteis lord Jesu Crist wole that no good werk be lost; for in somewhat it shal availle. / But for-as-muche as the gode werkes that men doon whyl they been in good lyf, been al mortified by sinne folwinge; and eek, sith that alle the gode werkes that men doon whyl they been in deedly synne, been outrelly dede as for to have the lyf perdurable; / wel may that man, that no good werke ne dooth, singe thilke newe Frenshe song: 'Jay tout perdu mon temps et mon labour.' / For certes, sinne bireveth a man bothe goodnesse of nature and eek the goodnesse of graca. / For soothly, the grace of the holy goost fareth lyk fyr, that may nat been ydel; for fyr failleth noon as it forleteth his wirkinge, and right so grace fayleth
 250 anon as it forleteth his werkinge. / Than leseth the sinful man the goodnesse of glorie, that only is bihight to gode men that labouren and werken. / Wel may he be sory thanne, that oweth al his lif to god as longe as he hath lived, and eek as longe as he shal live, that no goodnesse ne hath to paye with his dette

to god, to whom he oweth al his lyf. / For trust wel, 'he shal yeven acountes,' as seith saint Bernard, 'of alle the godes that han be yeven him in this present lyf, and how he hath hem despended; / in so muche that ther shal nat perisse an heer of his heed, ne a moment of an houre ne shal nat perisse of his tyme, that he ne shal yeve of it a rekening.' / (180)

§ 12. The fifthe thing that oghte movee a man to contricion, is remembrance of the passion that oure lord Jesu Crist suffred for oure sinnes. / For, as seith
 255 saint Bernard: 'why! that I live, I shal have remembrance of the travailles that oure lord Crist suffred in preching; / his weriness in travailing, hise temptacions whan he fasted, hise longe wakinges whan he preyde, hise teres whan that he weep for pitee of good peple; / the wo and the shame and the filthe that men seyden to him; of the foule spitting that men spitte in his face, of the buffettes that men yaven him, of the foule mowes, and of the reprees that men to him seyden; / of the nayles with whiche he was nailed to the croys, and of al the remenant of his passion that he suffred for my sinnes, and no-thing for his gilt.' / And ye shul understonde, that in mannes sinne is every manere of ordre or ordinance turned up-so-down. / 260 For it is sooth, that god, and reson, and sensualitee, and the body of man been so ordeyned, that everich of thise foure thinges sholde have lordshipe over that other; / as thus: god sholde have lordshipe over reson, and reson over sensualitee, and sensualitee over the body of man. / But sothly, whan man sinneth, al this ordre or ordinance is turned up-so-down. / And therefore thanne, for-as-muche as the reson of man ne wol nat be subget ne obeisant to god, that is his lord by right, therefore leseth it the lordshipe that it sholde have over sensualitee, and eek over the body of man. / And (190) why? For sensualitee rebelleth thanne agayns reson; and by that way leseth reson the lordshipe over sensualitee and over the body. / For right as reson is 265

rebel to god, right so is bothe sensualitee rebel to reson and the body also. / And certes, this disordinaunce and this rebellion oure lord Jesu Crist aboghte up-on his precious body ful dere, and herkneþ in which wyse. / For-as-muche thanne as reson is rebel to god, therefore is man worthy to have sorwe and to be deed. / This suffred oure lord Jesu Crist for man, after that he hadde be bitraysed of his disciple, and distreynd and bounde, 'so that his blood braast out at every nail of hise handes,' as seith seint Augustin. / And forther-over, for-as-muchel as reson of man ne wol nat daunte sensualitee when it may, therefore is man worthy to have shame; and this suffred oure lord Jesu Crist for man, 270 when they spetten in his visage. / And forther-over, for-as-muchel thanne as the caitif body of man is rebel bothe to reson and to sensualitee, therefore is it worthy the deeth. / And this suffred oure lord Jesu Crist for man up-on the croys, where-as ther was no part of his body free, with-onten greet peyne and bitter passion. / And al this suffred Jesu Crist, that nevere forfeted. And therefore reasonably may be seyde of Jesu in this manere: 'to muchel am I peyned for the thinges that I nevere deserved, and to muche defouled for shendahiþe that man is worthy to have.' / And therefore may the sinful man wel seye, as seith seint Bernard: 'acoursed be the bitterness of my sinne, for which ther moste (200) be suffred so muchel bitterness.' / For certes, after the diverse discordances of oure wikkednesses, was the passion of 275 Jesu Crist ordeyned in diverse thinges, / as thus. Certes, sinful mannes soule is bitraysed of the devel by covetise of temporel prosperitee, and scorned by deceite when he cheseth fleshly deloyces; and yet is it tormented by inpacience of adversitee, and bispet by servage and subjeccion of sinne; and atte laste it is slayn fynally. / For this disordinaunce of sinful man was Jesu Crist first bitraysed, and after that was he bounde, that cam for to unbynden us of sinne and peyne. / Thanne was he biscorned, that only sholde han been honoured in alle thinges and of alle thinges. / Thanne was his visage, that oghte be desired to be seyn of al man-kinde, in which visage angels desyren to looke, vileynsly bispet. / Thanne was he scourged that no-thing hadde agilt; and fynally, thanne was he crucified and slayn. / Thanne 280 was accomplished the word of Isaye: 'he was wounded for oure misdedes, and defouled for oure felonies.' / Now sith that Jesu Crist took up-on him-self the peyne of alle oure wikkednesses, muchel oghte sinful man wepen and biwayle, that for hise sinnes goddes some of hevене sholde al this peyne endure. /

§ 13. The sixte thing that oghte moeve a man to contricion, is the hope of three thynges; that is to seyn, foryiffnesse of sinne, and the yifte of grace wel for to do, and the glorie of hevене, with which god shal guerdone a man for hise gode dedes. / And for-as-muche as Jesu Crist yeveth us thise yiftes of his largesse and of his sovereyn bountee, therefore is he cleped Jesu Nazareus rex Judeorum. / (210) / Jesu is to seyn 'saveour' or 'salvation,' on whom men shul hope to have foryiffnesse of sinnes, which that is proprely salvacion of sinnes. / And therefore seyde 285 the sungel to Joseph: 'thou shalt clepen his name Jesu, that shal saven his peple of hir sinnes.' / And heer-of seith seint Peter: 'ther is noon other name under hevене that is yeve to any man, by which a man may be saved, but only Jesu.' / Nazareus is as muche for to seye as 'florisahinge,' in which a man shal hope, that he that yeveth him remission of sinnes shal yeve him eek grace wel for to do. For in the flour is hope of fruit in tyme cominge; and in foryiffnesse of sinnes hope of grace wel for to do. / 'I was atte 'dore of thyn herte,' seith Jesu, 'and cleped for to entre; he that openeth to me shal have foryiffnesse of sinne. / I wol entre in-to him by my grace, and soupe with him,' by the goode werkes that he shal doon; whiche werkes been the foode of god; 'and he shal

sonpe with me,' by the grete joye that 290 I shal yeven him. / Thus shal man hope, for hise werkes of penaunce, that god shall yeven him his regne; as he bihoteth him in the gospel. /

§ 14. Now shal a man understonde, in which manere shal been his contricion.
 I seye, that it shal been universal and total; this is to seyn, a man shal be verray repentant for alle hise sinnes that he hath doon in delyt of his thought; for delyt is ful perillous. / For ther been two manere of consentinges; that oon of hem is cleped consentinge of affection, whan a man is moeved to do sinne, and delyteth him longe for to thinke on that sinne; / and his reson aperceyvethe it wel, that it is sinne agayns the lawe of god, and yet his reson refreyneth nat his foul delyt or talent, though he see wel apertly that it is agayns the reverence of god; al-though his reson ne consente (220) nocht to doon that sinne in dede, / yet seyn somme doctours that swich delyt that dwelleth longe, it is ful perillous, 295 al be it nevere so lite. / And also a man sholde sorwe, namely, for al that evere
 he hath desired agayn the lawe of god with perfit consentinge of his reson; for ther-of is no doute, that it is deedly sinne in consentinge. / For certes, ther is no deedly sinne, that it nas first in mannes thought, and after that in his delyt; and so forth in-to consentinge and in-to dede. / Wherfore I seye, that many men ne repenten hem nevere of swiche thoghtes and delytes, ne nevere shryven hem of it,
 but only of the dede of grete sinnes outward. / Wherfore I seye, that swiche wikked delytes and wikked thoghtes been subtille bigylares of hem that shullen be dampned. / More-over, man oghte to sorwe for hise wikkede wordes as wel as for hise wikkede dedes; for certes, the repentance of a singular sinne, and nat repente of alle hise othere sinnes, or elles repenten him of alle hise othere sinnes, and nat of a singular sinne, may nat 300 availle. / For certes, god almighty is al good; and ther-fore he foryeveth al, or elles right nocht. / And heer-of seith seint Augustin: 'I woot certainly / that god is enemy to everich sinnere'; and how thanne? He that observeth o sinne, shal he have foryiffnesse of the remenant of hise othere sinnes? Nay. /

 And further-over, contricion sholde be wonder sorweful and anguissous, and therefore yeveth him god pleynty his mercy; and therefore, whan my soule was anguissous with-inne me, I hadde remembrance of god that my preyere mighte come to him. / Further-over, (230) contricion moste be continuell, and that man have stedefast purpos to shryven him, and for to amenden him of his lyf. / 305
 For soothly, whyl contricion lasteth, man may evere have hope of foryiffnesse; and of this comth hate of sinne, that destroyeth sinne bothe in himself, and eek in other folk, at his power. / For which seith David: 'ye that loven god hateth wikkednesse.' For trusteth wel, to love god is for to love that he loveth, and hate that he hateth. /

§ 15. The laste thing that man shal understonde in contricion is this; wher-of avayleth contricion. I seye, that som tyme contricion delivereth a man fro sinne; / of which that David seith:
 'I seye,' quod David, that is to seyn,
 'I purposed firmly to shryve me; and thow, Lord, relestedest my sinne.' / And right so as contricion availleth nocht, with-uten sad purpos of shrifte, if man have oportunites, right so litel worth is shrifte or satisfaccion with-uten contricion. / And more-over, contricion 310 destroyeth the prison of helle, and maketh wayk and feble alle the strengthes of the develes, and restoreth the yiftes of the holy goost and of alle gode vertues; / and it clenseth the soule of sinne, and delivereth the soule fro the peyne of helle, and fro the companye of the devel, and fro the servage of sinne, and restoreth it to alle godes espirituels, and to the companye and communion of holy chirche. / And further-over, it maketh him that whylom was some of ire to be sone of grace; and alle thise thinges been preved by holy writ. / And therefore, he that wolde sette his entente to these things, he were ful wys; for soothly, he ne sholde nat thanne in al his lyf have corage to sinne, but yeven his body and al his herte to the service of Jesu Crist, and ther-of doon him hommage. / For soothly, oure swete lord Jesu Crist hath spared us so debonairly in our folies, that if he ne hadde pitee of mannes soule, 315 a sory song we mighten alle singe. /

Explicit prima pars Penitentie; et sequitur secunda pars eiusdem.

§ 16. The seconde partie of Penitence is Confession, that is signe of contricion. / Now shul ye understonde what is Confession, and whether it oghte nedes be doon or noon, and whiche thinges been covenable to verray Confession. /

§ 17. First shaltow understonde that Confession is verray shewing of sinnes to the preest; / this is to seyn 'verray,' for he moete confessen him of alle the condicions that bilongen to his sinne, as ferforth as he can. / Al moot be seyde, and no thing excused ne hid ne for-wrapped, and nocht avaunte him of his gode werkes. / And forther over, it is 320 necessarie to understonde whennes that sinnes springen, and how they encresen, and whiche they been. /

§ 18. Of the springinge of sinnes seith seint Paul in this wise: that 'right as by a man sinne entred first in-to this world, and thurgh that sinne deeth, right so thilke deeth entred in-to alle men that sinneden.' / And this man was Adam, by whom sinne entred in-to this world whan he brak the comaundement of god. / And therefore, he that first was so mighty that he sholde not have dyed, bicam swich oon that he moeste nedes dye, whether he wolde or noon; and all his progenie in this world that in thilke man 325 sinneden. / Loke that in th'estaat of innocence, when Adam and Eve naked weren in paradys, and no-thing ne hadden shame of hir nakednesse, / how that the serpent, that was most wylful of alle othere bestes that god hadde makid, seyde to the womman: 'why comaunded god to yow, ye sholde nat eten of every tree in paradys?' / The womman answerde: 'of the fruit,' quod she, 'of the trees in paradys we feden us; but soothly, of the fruit of the tree that is in the middel of paradys, god forbad us for to ete, ne nat touchen it, lest per-aventure we should dyen.' / The serpent seyde to the womman: 'nay, nay, ye shul nat dyen of deeth; for sothe, god woot, that what day that ye eten ther-of, youre eyen shul opene, and ye shul been as goddes, knowinge good and harm.' / The womman thanne saugh that the tree was good to feding, and fair to the eyen, and delytable to the sighte; she tok of the fruit of the tree, and eet it, and yaf to hir housbonde, and he eet; and anon the eyen of hem bothe openeden. / And whan that they knewe that they were naked, they sowed of fige-leves a manere of breches to hidden hir membra. / There 330 may ye seen that deedly sinne hath first suggestion of the feend, as sheweth here by the naddre; and afterward, the delyt of the flesh, as sheweth here by Eve; and after that, the consentinge of resoun, as sheweth here by Adam. / For trust wel, thogh so were that the feend tempted Eve, that is to seyn the flesh, and the flesh hadde delyt in the beautee of the fruit defended, yet certes, til that resoun, that is to seyn, Adam, consented to the etinge of the fruit, yet stood he in th'estaat of innocence. / Of thilke Adam toke we thilke sinne original; for of him fleshly descended be we alle, and engendred of vile and corrupt matere. / And whan the soule is put in our body, right anon is contract original sinne; and that, that was erst but only peyne of concupisence, is afterward bothe peyne and sinne. / 360 And therefore be we alle born sones of wratthe and of dampnacion perdurable, if it nere baptesme that we receyven, which binimeth us the culpe; but for sothe, the peyne dwalleth with us, as to temptation, which peyne highte concupisence. / 335 Whan it is wrongfully disposed or ordeyned in man, it maketh him covete, by covetise of flesh, fleshly sinne, by sighte of hise eyen as to erthely thinges, and covetise of hynesse by pryde of herta. /

§ 19. Now as for to spoken of the firste covetise, that is, concupiscence after the lawe of oure membres, that weren lawefulliche y-maked and by rightful judgement of god; / I seye, for-as-muche as man is nat obeisaunt to god, that is his lord, therefore is the flesh to him disobeisaunt thurgh concupiscence, which yet is cleped norissinge of sinne and occasion of sinne. / Therefore, al the whyle that a man hath in him the peyne of concupiscence, it is impossible but he be tempted somtyme, and moeved in his flesh to sinne. / And this thing may nat faille as longe as he liveth; it may wel werxe feble and faille, by vertu of baptesme and by the grace of god thurgh penitence; / but fully ne shal it nevere quenche, that he ne shal som tyme be moeved in him-self, but-if he were al refreyded by siknesse, or by malefice of sorcerie or colde drinks. / For lo, what seith saint Paul: 'the flesh coveteth agayn the spirit, and the spirit agayn the flesh; they been so contrarie and so stryven, that a man may nat alwey doon as he wolde.' / The same saint Paul, after his grete penaunce in water and in lond (in water by night and by day, in greet peril and in greet peyne, in lond, in famine, in thirst, in cold and clothes, and ones stoned almost to the death) / yet seyde he: 'allas! I, caytif man, who shal delivere me fro the (270) prisoun of my caytif body?' / And saint Jerome, when he longe tyme hadde woned in desert, where-as he hadde no companye but of wilde bestes, where-as he ne hadde no mete but herbes and water to his drinke, ne no bed but the naked erthe, for which his flesh was blak as an Ethiopen for hete and ny destroyed for cold, / yet seyde he: that 'the brenninge of lecherie boiled in al his body.' / Wherefore I woot wel sikerly, that they been deceyved that seyn, that they ne be nat tempted in hir body. / Witnesse on

Saint Jame the Apostel, that seith: that 'every wight is tempted in his owen concupiscence;' that is to seyn, that everich of us hath matere and occasion to be tempted of the norissinge of sinne that is in his body. / And therefore seith Saint John the Evsangelist: 'if that we seyn that we beth with-oute sinne, we deceyve us-selve, and trouthe is nat in us.' /

§ 20. Now shal ye understonde in what manere that sinne waxeth or encreseth in man. The firste thing is thilke norissinge of sinne, of which I spak biforn, thilke fleshly concupiscence. / And after (350) that comth the subjeccion of the devel, this is to seyn, the develes bely, with which he bloweth in man the fyr of fleshly concupiscence. / And after that, a man bithinketh him whether he wol doon, or no, thilke thing to which he is tempted. / And thanne, if that a man withstonde and wayve the firste entysinge of his flesh and of the feend, thanne is it no sinne; and if it so be that he do nat so, thanne feleth he anon a flambe of delyt. / And thanne is it good to be war, and kepen him wel, or elles he wol falle anon in-to consentinge of sinne; and thanne wol he do it, if he may have tyme and place. / And of this matere (280) seith Moyzes by the devel in this manere: 'the feend seith, I wole chace and pursue the man by wikked suggestion, and I wole hente him by moevynge or stiringe of sinne. I wol departe my pryse or my praye by deliberacion, and my lust shal been accompliced in delyt; I wol drawe my swerd in consentinge:' / for certes, (355) right as a swerd departeth a thing in two peces, right so consentinge departeth god fro man: 'and thanne wol I sleen him with myn hand in dede of sinne'; thus seith the feend. / For certes, thanne is a man al deed in soule. And thus is sinne accompliced by temptacion, by delyt, and by consentinge; and thanne is the sin cleped actual. /

§ 21. For sothe, sinne is in two maneres; outhur it is venial, or deedly sinne. Soothly, whan man loveth any creature more than Jesu Crist oure creatour, thanne is it deedly sinne. And venial synne is it, if man love Jesu Crist lasse than him oghte. / For sothe, the dede of this venial sinne is ful perillous; for it amenueth the love that men sholde han to god more and more. / And therefore, if a man charge him-self with manye swiche venial sinnes, certes, but-if so be that he som tyme discharge him of hem by shrifte, they mowe ful lightly amenuse in him al the love that he hath 360 to Jesu Crist; / and in this wise skippeh venial in-to deedly sinne. For certes, the more that a man chargeth his soule with venial sinnes, the more is he enclyned to fallen in-to deedly sinne. / And therefore, lat us nat be negligent to deschargen us of venial sinnes. For the proverbe seith : that manye smale maken a greet. / And herkne this ensample. A greet wave of the see comth som-tyme with so greet a violence that it drencheth the ship. And the same harm doth som-tyme the smale dropes of water, that entren thurgh a litel crevace in-to the thurrok, and in-to the botome of the ship, if men be so negligent that they ne discharge hem nat by tyme. / And therfore, although ther be a difference bitwixe these two causes of drenchinge, algates this

 (290) ship is dreynt. / Right so fareth it som-tyme of deedly sinne, and of anyoune veniale sinnes, whan they multiplie in a man so greetly, that thilke worldly thinges that he loveth, thurgh whiche he sinneth venially, is as greet in his herte
 365 as the love of god, or mora. / And therefore, the love of every thing, that is nat biest in god ne doon principally for goddes sake, al-though that a man love it lasse than god, yet is it venial sinne; / and deedly sinne, whan the love of any thing weyeth in the herte of man as muchel as the love of god, or mora. / 'Deedly sinne,' as seith seint Augustin, 'is, whan a man turneth his herte fro god, which that is verray sovereyn bountee, that may nat change, and yeveth his herte to thing that may change and flitte'; / and certes, that is every thing, save god of hevenc. For sooth is, that if a man yeve his love, the which that he oweth al to god with al his herte, un-to a creature, certes, as muche of his love as he yeveth to thilke creature, so muche he bireveth fro god; / and therefore doth he sinne. For he, that is dettour to god, ne yeldeth nat to god al his dette, that is to seyn, al the love of his herte. /

§ 22. Now sith man understandeth generally, which is venial sinne, thanne is it covenable to tellen specially of sinnes whiche that many a man per-aventure ne demeth hem nat sinnes, and ne shryveth him nat of the same thinges; / and yet natheles they been sinnes. / Soothly, as thise clerkes wryten, this is to seyn, that at every tyme that a man eteth or drinketh more than suffyeth to the sustenance of his body, in certain he dooth sinne. / And eek whan he spekeh more than nedeth, it is sinne. Eke whan he herkneth nat benignely the complaint of the povre. / Eke whan he is in hele of body and wol nat faste, whan othere folk faste, with-uten cause resonable. Eke whan he slepeth more than nedeth, or whan he comth by thilke enchesoun to late to chirche, or to othere werkes of charite. / Eke whan he useth his wyf, (300) with-uten sovereyn desyr of engendrure, to the honour of god, or for the entente to yelde to his wyf the dette of his body. / 375 Eke whan he wol nat visite the sike and the prisoner, if he may. Eke if he love wyf or child, or other worldly thing, more than rescoun requyreth. Eke if he flater or blandishe more than him oghte for any necessitee. / Eke if he amenuse or withdrawe the almese of the povre. Eke if he apparailleth his mete more delioiously than nede is, or ete it to hastily by likerounesse. / Eke if he tale vanitees at chirche or at goddes service, or that he be a talker of ydal wordes of folye or of vileinye; for he shal yelden accountes of it at the day of dome. / Eke whan he biheteth or assureth to do thinges that he may nat perfourne. Eke whan that he, by lightnesse or folie, misseyeth or scorneth his neighebores. / Eke whan he hath any wikked suspicion of thing, 380 ther he ne woot of it no soothfastnesse. / Thise thinges and mo with-oute nombre been synnes, as seith seint Augustin. /

Now shal men understonde, that al-be-it so that noon erthly man may eschue alle venial synnes, yet may he refreyne him by the brenninge love that he hath to oure lord Jesu Crist, and by prayeres and confession and othere gode werkes, so that it shal bot litel greve. / For, as seith seint Augustin: 'if a man love god in swiche manere, that al that evere he doth is in the love of god, and for the love of god verrailly, for he brenneth in the love of god: / loke, how muche that a drope of water that falleth in a fourneys ful of fyr anoyeth or greveth, so muche anoyeth a venial sinne un-to a man that (310) is parfit in the love of Jesu Crist.' / Men may also refreyne venial sinne by receyvinge worthily of the precious body 385 of Jesu Crist; / by receyvinge oek of holy water; by almesdede; by general confession of Confiteor at masse and at complin; and by blessinge of bisshopes and of preestes, and by othere gode werkes. /

Explicit secunda pars Penitentie.

Sequitur de Septem Peccatis Mortalibus et eorum dependenciis circumstantiis et speciebus.

§ 23. Now is it bihovely thing to telle whiche been the deedly synnes, this is to seyn, chieftaines of synnes; alle they renne in o lees, but in diverse maneres. Now been they cleped chieftaines for-as-muche as they been chief, and †springers of alle othere synnes. / Of the roote of these sevene synnes thanne is Pryde, the general roote of alle harmes; for of this rote springen certain branches, as Ire, Envye, Accidie or Slewthe, Avarice or Coveitise (to commune understandinge), Glotonye, and Lecherye. / And everich of these chief synnes hath hise branches and hise twigges, as shal be declared in hir chapitres folwinge. /

De Superbia.

§ 24. And thogh so be that no man can outrelly telle the nombre of the twigges and of the harmes that cometh of Pryde, yet wol I shewe a partie of hem, as ye shul understonde. / Ther 390 is Inobedience, Avauntinge, Ipoocrisie, Despyt, Arrogance, Impudence, Swellinge of herte, Insolence, Elacion, Impacience, Strif, Contumacie, Presumpcion, Irreverence, Pertinacie, Veyne Glorie; and many another twig that I can nat declare. / Inobedient, is he that disobeyeth for despyt to the comandements of god and to hise sovereyns, and to hise gostly fader. / Avauntour, is he that bosteth of the harm or of the bountee that he hath doon. / Ipoocrite, is he that hydeth to shewe him swiche as he is, and sheweth him swiche as he noight is. / (320) Despitous, is he that hath desdeyn of his neighebores, that is to seyn, of his evenecristens, or hath despyt to doon that him oghte to do. / Arrogant, is he that 395 thinketh that he hath thilke bountees in him that he hath noight, or weneth that he sholde have hem by hise desertes; or elles he demeth that he be that he nis nat. / Impudent, is he that for his pride hath no shame of hise synnes. / Swellinge of herte, is whan a man rejoysyth him of harm that he hath doon. / Insolent, is he that despyseth in his judgement alle othere folk as to regard of his value, and of his conning, and of his speking, and of his bering. / Elacion, is whan he ne may neither suffre to have maister ne felawe. / 400 Impacient, is he that wol nat been y-taught ne undernome of his wyte, and by stryf werreyeth trouthe vityngly, and deffendeth his folye. / Contumax, is he that thurgh his indignacion is agayns everich auctoritee or power of hem that been hise sovereyns. / Presumpcion, is whan a man undertaketh an empryse that him oghte nat do, or elles that he may nat do; and that is called Surquidrie. Irreverence, is whan men do nat honour thereas hem oghte to doon, and waiten to be reverenced. / Pertinacie, is whan man deffendeth his folye, and

 (330) trusteth to muchel in his owene wit. / Veyne glorie, is for to have pompe and delyt in his temporel hynesse, and 405 glorifie him in this worldly estaat. / Janglinge, is whan men speken to muche biforn folk, and clappen as a mille, and taken no kepe what they seye. /

§ 25. And yet is ther a prives spece of Pryde, that waiteth first to be salewed er he wole salewe, al be he lasse worth than that other is, per-aventure; and eek he waiteth or desyreth to sitte, or elles to goon above him in the way, or kisse pax, or been encensed, or goon to offering biforn his neighbore, / and swiche semblable thinges; agayns his dutee, per-aventure, but that he hath his herte and his entente in swich a proud desyr to be magnified and honoured biforn the peple. /

§ 26. Now been ther two maneres of Pryde; that oon of hem is with-inne the herte of man, and that other is with-oute. / Of which soothly these forseide thinges, and mo than I have seyd, aper-tenen to pryde that is in the herte of man; and that other spes of pryde 410 been with-oute. / But natheles that oon of these spes of pryde is signe of that other, right as the gaye leefsel atte taverne is signe of the wyn that is in the celer. /
 And this is in manye thinges: as in speche and contenance, and in outrageous array of clothing; / for certes, if ther ne hadde be no sinne in clothing, Crist wolde nat have noted and spoken of the clothing of thilke riche man in the gospel. / And, as seith Seint Gregorie, that precious clothing is coupable for the derthe of it, and for his softenesse, and for his strangenesse and degysinesse, and for the superfluitee,
 (40) or for the inordinat scantnesse of it. /
 Allas! may men nat seen, as in oure dayes, the sinful costlewe array of cloth-inge, and namely in to muche superfluitee, 415 or elles in to desordinat scantnesse? /

§ 27. As to the firste sinne, that is in superfluitee of clothings, which that maketh it so dere, to harm of the peple; / nat only the cost of embrondinge, the

degyse endentinge or barringe, oundinge, palinge, windinge, or bendinge, and semblable wast of clooth in vanitee; / but ther is also costlewe furringe in hir gounes, so muche pounsoninge of chisels to maken holes, so muche dagginge of sheres; / forth-with the superfluitee in lengthe of the forseide gounes, trailinge in the dong and in the myre, on horse and eek on fote, as wel of man as of womman, that al thilke trailinge is verrailly
 as in effect wasted, consumed, thredbare, and roten with donge, rather than it is yeven to the povre; to greet damage of the forseide povre folk. / And that in sondry wyse: this is to seyn, that the more that clooth is wasted, the more it costeth to the peple for the scantnesse; / 420 and forther-over, if so be that they wolde yeven swich pounsoned and dagged cloth-inge to the povre folk, it is nat convenient to ware for hir estaat, ne sufficient to bete hir necessitee, to kepe hem fro the dis-temperance of the firmament. / Upon that other syde, to speken of the horrible disordinat scantnesse of clothing, as been these cutted sloppes or hainselins, that thurgh hir shortnesse ne covere nat the shameful membres of man, to wikked entente. / Allas! somme of hem shewen the boce of hir shap, and the horrible swollen membres, that semeth lyk the maladie of hirnina, in the wrappinge of hir hoses; / and eek the buttokes of hem faren as it were the hindre part of a she-spe in the fulle of the mone. / And (350) more-over, the wrecched swollen mem-bres that they shewe thurgh the degysinge, in departinge of hir hoses in whyt and reed, semeth that half hir shameful prives membres weren flayn. / And if 425 so be that they departen hire hoses in others colours, as is whyt and blak, or whyt and blew, or blak and reed, and so forth; / thanne semeth it, as by variance of colour, that half the partie of hir prives membres were corrupt by the fyr of seint Antony, or by cancre, or by other swich meechaunce. / Of the hindre part of hir buttokes, it is ful horrible for to see. For certes, in that partie of hir body ther-as they purgen hir stinkinge ordure, / that foule partie shewe they to the peple proudly in despyt of honestetee, the which honestetee that Jesu Crist and hise freendes observede to shewen in hir lyve. / Now as of the outrageous array of wommen, god woot, that though the visages of somme of hem seme ful chaast and debonaire, yet notifie they in hir array of atyr likerousnesse and 430 pryde. / I sey nat that honestetee in clothinge of man or womman is unconvencible, but certes the superfluitee or disordinat scantitee of clothinge is reprehensible. / Also the sinne of aornement or of apparaille is in thinges that apertenen to rydinge, as in to manye delicat horses that been holden for delyt, that been so faire, fatte, and costlewo; / and also to many a vicious knave that is sustened by cause of hem; in to curious harneys, as in sadesles, in crouperes, peytrels, and brydles covered with precious clothing and riche, barres and plates of gold and of silver. / For which god seith by Zakaris the prophete, 'I wol confounde

 (360) the ryderes of swiche horses.' / This folk taken litel reward of the rydinge of goddes sone of hevене, and of his harneys whan he rood up-on the asse, and ne hadde noon other harneys but the povre clothes of hise disciples; ne we ne rede
 435 nat that evere he rood on other beest. / I speke this for the sinne of superfluitee, and nat for reasonable honestetee, whan reson it requyreth. / And forther, certes pryde is greatly notified in holdinge of greet meinee, whan they be of litel profit or of right no profit. / And namely, whan that meinee is felonous and damageous to the peple, by hardynesse of heigh lordshipe or by wey of offices. / For certes, swiche lordes sellen thanne hir lordshipe to the devel of helle, whanne they sustenen the wikkednesse of hir meinee. / Or elles whan this folk of lowe degree, as thilke that holden hostalries, sustenen the thefte of hir hostillers, 440 and that is in many manere of deceites. / Thilke manere of folk been the fles that folwen the hony, or elles the houndes that folwen the careyne. Swiche forseide folk stranglen spiritually hir lordshipes; / for which thus seith David the prophete, 'wikked doeth mote come up-on thilke lordshipes, and god yeve that they mote descenden in-to helle al down; for in hir houses been iniquitees and shrewednesses,' and nat god of hevене. / And certes, but-if they doon amendement, right as god yaf his benison to †Laban by the service of Jacob, and to †Pharao by the service of Joseph, right so god wol yeve his malison to swiche lordshipes as sustenen the wikkednesse of hir servants, but-if they come to amendement. / Pryde of the table appereth eek ful ofte; for certes, riche men been cleped to festes, and povre folk been put away and rebuked. / Also in excesse of diverse (370) metes and drinkes; and namely, swiche manere bake metes and dish-metes, brenninge of wilde fyr, and peynted and castelled with papir, and semblable wast; so that it is abusyon for to thinke. / And 445 eek in to greet preciousnesse of vessel and curiositee of minstralcie, by whiche a man is stired the more to delycles of luxurie, / if so be that he sette his herte the lasse up-on oure lord Jesu Crist, certain it is a sinne; and certainly the delycles mighte been so grete in this case, that man mighte lightly falle by hem in-to deedly sinne. / The especes that sourden of Pryde, soothly whan they sourden of malice ymaged, avysed, and forncast, or elles of usage, been deedly synnes, it is no doute. / And whan they sourden by fraletee unavysed sodeinly, and sodeinly withdrawn ayein, al been they grevous synnes, I gesse that they ne been nat deedly. / Now mighte men axe wher-of that Pryde sourdeth and springeth, and I seye: somtyme it springeth of the goodes of nature, and som-tyme of the goodes of fortune, and som-tyme of the goodes of grace. / Certes, 450 the goodes of nature stonden other in goodes of body or in goodes of soule. / Certes, goodes of body been hele of body, as strengthe, deliverness, beantee, gentrye, franchise. / Goodes of nature of the soule been good wit, sharp under-

standynge, subtil engin, vertu naturel, good memorie. / Goodes of fortune been riches, highe degrees of lordshipes, (380) preisinges of the peple. / Goodes of grace been science, power to suffre spirituel travaille, benignitee, vertuous contemplacion, withstandinge of temptacion, 455 and semblable thinges. / Of whiche forseyde goodes, certes it is a ful greet folye a man to pryden him in any of hem alle. / Now as for to speken of goodes of nature, god woot that som-tyme we han hem in nature as muche to oure damage as to oure profit. / As, for to speken of hele of body; certes it passeth ful lightly, and eek it is ful ofte encheson of the siknesse of oure soule; for god woot, the flesh is a ful greet enemy to the soule: and therefore, the more that the body is hool, the more be we in peril to falle. / Eke for to pryde him in his strengthe of body, it is an heigh folye; for certes, the flesh coveteth agayn the spirit, and ay the more strong that the flesh is, the sorer may the soule be: / and, over al this, strengthe of body and worldly hardnesse causeth ful ofte many 460 a man to peril and meschaunce. / Eek for to pryde him of his gentyrie is ful greet folye; for ofte tyme the gentrye of the body binimeth the gentrye of the soule; and eek we ben alle of o fader and of o moder; and alle we been of o nature roten and corrupt, both riche and povre. / For sothe, oo manere gentrye is for to preise, that apparailleth mannes corage with vertues and moralitees, and maketh him Cristes child. / For truste wel, that over what man sinne hath maistrie, he is a verray cherl to sinne. /

§ 28. Now been ther generale signes of gentillesse; as eschewinge of vyce and ribaudye and servage of sinne, in word, (390) in werk, and contenance; / and usinge vertu, curteisye, and clenness, and to be liberal, that is to seyn, large by mesure; for thilke that passeth mesure is folye 465 and sinne. / Another is, to remembre him of bountee that he of other folk hath receyved. / Another is, to be benigne to hise goode subgetis; wherfore, as seith

Senek, 'ther is no-thing more covenable to a man of heigh estaat than debonairetee and pitee. / And therfore this flies that men clepeth bees, when they maken hir king, they chesen oon that hath no prikke wherwith he may stinge.' / Another is, a man to have a noble herte and a diligent, to attayne to heighe vertuouse thinges. / Now certes, a man to pryde him in the goodes of grace is eek an outrageous folye; for thilke yiftes of grace that sholde have turned him to goodnesse and to medicine, turneth him to venim and to confusio, as seith seint Gregorie. / 470 Certes also, who-so prydeh him in the goodes of fortune, he is a ful greet fool; for som-tyme is a man a greet lord by the morwe, that is a caitif and a wrecche er it be night: / and somtyme the richesse of a man is cause of his deeth; somtyme the deloyces of a man is cause of the grevous maladye thurgh which he dyeth. / Certes, the commendacion of the peple is somtyme ful fals and ful brotel for to triste; this day they preyse, tomorwe they blame. / God woot, desyr to have commendacion of the peple hath caused deeth to many a bisy man. / (400)

Remedium contra peccatum Superbie.

§ 29. Now sith that so is, that ye han understonde what is pryde, and whiche been the speses of it, and whennes pride sounrdeth and springeth; / now shul ye 475 understonde which is the remedie agayns the sinne of pryde, and that is, humilitee or mekenesse. / That is a vertu, thurgh which a man hath verray knoweleche of him-self, and holdeth of him-self no prys ne deyntee as in regard of hise desertes, consideringe evere his freletee. / Now been ther three maneres of humilitee; as humilitee in herte, and another humilitee in his mouth; the thridde in hise werkes. / The humilitee in herte is in foure maneres: that oon is, whan a man holdeth him-self as nocht worth biforn god of hevene. Another is, whan he ne deapyseth noon other man. / The thridde is, whan he rekketh nat thogh men holde him nocht worth. The ferthe is, whan he nis nat

480 sory of his humiliacion. / Also, the humilitee of mouth is in foure thinges: in attempree speche, and in humblesse of speche, and whan he biknoweth with his owene mouth that he is swich as him thinketh that he is in his herte. Another is, whan he preiseth the bountee of another man, and nothing ther-of amenuseth. / Humilitee eek in werkes is in foure maneres: the firste is, whan he putteth othere men biforn him. The seconde is, to chese the loweste place over-al. The thridde is, gladly to assente to good conseil. / The ferthe is, to stonde gladly to the award of hise sovereyns, or of him that is in hyer degree; certain, this is a greet werk of humilitee. /

Sequitur de Invidia.

§ 80. After Pryde wol I spoken of the foule sinne of Envye, which is, as by the word of the philosophre, sorwe of other mannes prosperitee; and after the word of seint Augustin, it is sorwe of other mannes wele, and joye of othere mennes harm. / This foule sinne is platly agayns the holy goost. Al-be-it so that every sinne is agayns the holy goost, yet natheles, for as muche as bountee aperteneth proprely to the holy goost, and Envye comth proprely of malice, therfore it is proprely agayn the bountee of the holy 485 goost. / Now hath malice two speses, that is to seyn, hardnesse of herte in wikkednesse, or elles the flesh of man is so blind, that he considereth nat that he is in sinne, or rekketh nat that he is in sinne; which is the hardnesse of the devel. / That other spece of malice is, whan a man werreyeth trouthe, whan he woot that it is trouthe. And eek, whan he werreyeth the grace that god hath yeve to his neighebre; and al this is by Envye. / Certes, thanne is Envye the worste sinne that is. For soothly, alle othere sinnes been som-tyme only agayns o special vertu; / but certes, Envye is agayns alle vertues and agayns alle goodnes; for it is sory of alle the bountees of his neighebre; and in this manere it is divers from alle othere sinnes. / For wel unnethe is ther any sinne that it ne hath som delyt in itself, save only Envye, that evere hath in itself anguish and sorwe. / The speses of Envye been thise: 490 ther is first, sorwe of other mannes goodnesse and of his prosperitee; and prosperitee is kindly matere of joye; thanne is Envye a sinne agayns kinda. / The seconde spece of Envye is joye of other mannes harm; and that is proprely lyk to the devel, that evere rejoyseth him of mannes harm. / Of these two speses comth bakbyting; and this sinne of bakbyting or detraccion hath certeine speses, as thus. Som man preiseth his neighebre by a wikke entente; / for he maketh alwey a wikked knotte atte laste ende. Alwey he maketh a 'but' atte laste ende, that is digne of more blame, than worth is al the preisinge. / The seconde spece 495 is, that if a man be good and dooth or seith a thing to good entente, the bakbyter wol turne all thilke goodnesse up-so-down to his shrewed ententa. / The thridde 495 is, to amenuse the bountee of his neighebre. / The fourthe spece of bakbyting is this; that if men speke goodnesse of a man, thanne wol the bakbyter seyn, 'parfey, swich a man is yet bet than he'; in dispreisinge of him that men praise. / The fiftte spece is this; for to consente gladly and herkne gladly to the harm that men speke of other folk. This sinne is ful greet, and ay encreseth after the wikked entente of the bakbyter. / After bakbyting cometh grucching or murmuracion; and somtyme it springeth of impacience agayns god, and somtyme agayns man. / Agayns god it is, whan a man gruccheth agayn the peynes of helle, or agayns poverté, or los of catel, or agayn reyn or tempest; or elles gruccheth that shrewes han prosperitee, or elles for that goode men han adversitee. / 500 And alle these thinges sholde men suffre paciently, for they comen by the rightful jugement and ordinance of god. / Somtyme comth grucching of avarice; as Judas grucched agayns the Magdalayne, whan she enoynte the heved of oure lord Jesu Crist with hir precious

oynement. / This maner murmure is swich as whan man grucbeth of goodnesse that him-self dooth, or that other folk doon of hir owene catel. / Somtyme comth murmure of Fryde; as whan Simon the Pharisee grucched agayn the Magdaleyne, whan she approached to Jesu
 (430) Crist, and weep at his feet for hir sinnes. / And somtyme grucching sourdeth of Envye; whan men discovereth a mannes harm that was privee, or bereth him on 505 hond thing that is fals. / Murmure eek is ofte amonges servaunts, that grucchen whan hir sovereyns bidden hem doon levelful thinges; / and, for-as-muche as they dar nat openly withseye the comaundements of hir sovereyns, yet wol they seyn harm, and grucche, and murmure prively for vortray despyt; / whiche wordes men clepen the develes Pater-noster, though so be that the devel ne hadde nevere Pater-noster, but that lewed folk yeven it swich a name. / Somtyme grucching comth of ire or prive hate, that noriseth rancour in herte, as afterward I shal declare. / Thanne cometh eek bitterness of herte; thurgh which bitterness every good dede of his neigh-
 510 bor semeth to him bitter and unsavory. / Thanne cometh discord, that unbindeth alle manere of frendshipe. Thanne comth scornings, as whan a man seketh occasion to anoyen his neighbor, al do he never so woel. / Thanne comth accusinge, as whan man seketh occasion to anoyen his neighbor, which that is lyk to the craft of the devel, that waiteth bothe night and day to accusen us alle. / Thanne comth malignitee, thurgh which a man anoyeth his neighbor prively if he may; / and if he noight may, algate his wikked wil ne shal nat wante, as for to brennen his hous prively, or empysonne or sleen hise bestes, and semblable
 (440) thinges. /

Remedium contra peccatum Invidie.

§ 81. Now wol I speke of the remedie agayns this foule sinne of Envye. First, is the love of god principal, and loving of his neighbor as him-self; for soothly, that oon ne may nat been withoute that other. / And truste wel, that in the 515 name of thy neighbor thou shalt understonde the name of thy brother; for certes alle we have o fader fleschly, and o moder, that is to seyn, Adam and Eve; and eek o fader espirituel, and that is god of hevenc. / Thy neighbor artow holden for to love, and wilne him alle goodnesse; and therefore seith god, 'love thy neighbor as thyselfe,' that is to seyn, to salvacion bothe of lyf and of soule. / And more-over, thou shalt love him in word, and in benigne amonestinge, and chastysinge; and conforten him in hise anoyes, and preye for him with al thyn herte. / And in dede thou shalt love him in swich wyse, that thou shalt doon to him in charitee as thou woldest that it were doon to thyn owene persona. / And therefore, thou ne shalt doon him no damage in wikked word, ne harm in his body, ne in his catel, ne in his soule, by entysing of wikked ensample. / Thou 520 shalt nat desyren his wyf, ne none of hise thinges. Understond eek, that in the name of neighbor is comprehended his enemy. / Certes man shal loven his enemy by the comendement of god; and soothly thy frend shaltow love in God. / I seye, thyn enemy shaltow love for goddes sake, by his comendement. For if it were reson that a man sholde haten his enemy, for sothe god nolde nat receiven us to his love that been hise enemy. / Agayns three manere of wronges that his enemy dooth to hym, he shal doon three thinges, as thus. / Agayns hate (450) and rancour of herte, he shal love him in herte. Agayns chydng and wikkede wordes, he shal preye for his enemy. And agayn the wikked dede of his enemy, he shal doon him bountee. / For Crist 525 seith, 'loveth youre enemy, and preyeth for hem that speke yow harm; and eek for hem that yow chaacen and pursewen, and doth bountee to hem that yow haten.' Lo, thus comaundeth us oure lord Jesu Crist, to do to oure enemy. / For soothly, nature dryveth us to loven oure freendes, and parfey,oure enemy han more ned to love than our freendes ; and they that more nede have, certes, to hem shal men doon goodnesse ; / and certes, in thilke dede have we remembrance of the love of Jesu Crist, that deyde for hise enemya. / And in-as-muche as thilke love is the more grevous to perfourne, in-so-muche is the more gretter the merite ; and therefore the lovinge of oure enemy hath confounded the venom of the devel. / For right as the devel is disconfited by humilitee, right so is he wounded to the death

530 by love of oure enemy. / Certes, thanne is love the medicine that casteth out the venom of Envy fro mannes herte. / The speses of this pas shullen be more largely in hir chapitres folwinge declared. /

Sequitur de Ira.

§ 82. After Envy wol I discryven the sinne of Ire. For soothly, who-so hath envye upon his neighbor, anon he wole comanly finde him a matere of wratthe, in word or in dede, agayns him to whom he hath envye. / And as wel comth Ire of Pryde, as of Envy ; for soothly, he that is proude or envious is lightly
(460) wrooth. /

§ 83. This sinne of Ire, after the discryving of seint Augustin, is wikked wil to beften avenged by word or by dede. /
535 Ire, after the philosophre, is the fervent blood of man y-quiked in his herte, thurgh which he wol harm to him that he hateth. / For certes the herte of man, by eschaufinge and moevinge of his blood, waxeth so trouble, that he is out of alle jugement of resoun. / But ye shal understande that Ire is in two maneres ; that oon of hem is good, and that other is wikked. / The gode Ire is by jalouysye of goodnesse, thurgh which a man is wrooth with wikkednesse and agayns wikkednesse ; and therefore seith a wys man, that 'Ire is bet than pley.' / This Ire is with debonairetee, and it is wrooth withouten bitterness ; nat wrooth agayns the man, but wrooth with the misdede of the man ; as seith the prophete David, Irascimini et nolite peccare. /
540 Now understandeth, that wikked Ire is in two maneres, that is to seyn, sodeyn Ire or hastif Ire, withouten avisement and consentinge of resoun. / The mening and the sens of this is, that the resoun of man ne consente nat to thilke sodeyn Ire ; and thanne it is venial. / Another Ire is ful wikked, that comth of felonye of herte avysed and cast biforn ; with wikked wil to do vengeance, and therto his resoun consenteth ; and soothly this is deedly sinne. / This Ire is so displeasent to god, that it troubleth his hous and chaceth the holy goost out of mannes soule, and wasteth and destroyeth the lyknesse of god, that is to seyn, the vertu that is in mannes soule ; / and put in

(470) him the lyknesse of the devel, and binimeth the man fro god that is his rightful lord. / This Ire is a ful greet
545 pleasaunce to the devel ; for it is the develes fourneys, that is eschaufed with the fyr of helle. / For certes, right so as fyr is more mighty to destroyen ertly things than any other element, right so Ire is mighty to destroyen alle spiritual things. / Loke how that fyr of smale gledes, that been almost dede under asshen, wollen quike agayn when they been touched with brimstoon ; right so Ire wol everemo quiken agayn, when it is touched by the pryde that is covered in mannes herte. / For certes fyr ne may nat comen out of no-thing, but-if it were first in the same thing naturally ; as fyr is drawn out of flintes with steel. / And right so as pryde is ofte tyme matere of Ire, right so is rancour notice and keper of Ire. / Ther is a maner tree, as seith
550 seint Isidre, that whan men maken fyr of thilke tree, and covere the colos of it with asshen, soothly the fyr of it wol lasten al a yeer or more. / And right so fareth it of rancour ; whan it is ones conceyved in the hertes of som men, certain, it wol lasten peraventure from oon Estre-day unto another Estre-day, and more. / But certes, thilke man is ful fer fro the mercy of god al thilke while. /

§ 84. In this forseide develes fourneys ther forgen three shrewes : Pryde, that ay bloweth and encreseth the fyr by chydlinge and wikked wordes. / Thanne stant (480)

Envy, and holdeth the hote iren upon the herte of man with a peire of longe tonges of long rancour. / And thanne stant the sinne of contumelie or stryf and cheeste, and batereth and forgeth by vileyns reprevinges. / Certes, this cursed sinne anoyeth bothe to the man him-self and eek to his neighbor. For soothly, almost al the harm that any man dooth to his neighbere comth of wratthe. / For certes, outrageous wratthe doth al that evere the devel him comandeth; for he ne sparath neither Crist, ne his swete mooder. / And in his outrageous anger and Ire, allas! allas! ful many oon at that tyme feleth in his herte ful wikkedly, bothe of Crist and of alle hise halwes. / Is nat this a cursed vice? Yis, certes. Allas! it binimeth from man his wit and his resoun, and al his debonaire

560 lyf espirituel that sholde kepen his soule. / Certes, it binimeth eek goddes due lordshipe, and that is mannes soule, and the love of hise neighbores. It stryveth eek alday agayn trouthe. It reveth him the quiete of his herte, and subverteth his soule. /

§ 35. Of Ire comen this stinkinge engendrures: first hate, that is old wratthe; discord, thurgh which a man forsaketh his olde frend that he hath loved ful longe. / And thanne cometh werre, and every manere of wrong that man dooth to his neighbere, in body or in catel. / Of this cursed sinne of Ire cometh eek manslaughter. And understonde wel, that homicyde, that is manslaughter, is in dyverse wyse. Som manere (190) of homicyde is spirituel, and som is bodily. / Spirituel manslaughter is in six thinges. First, by hate; as seint John seith, 'he that hateth his brother is homicyde.' /

565 Homicyde is eek by bakbytinge; of whiche bakbyteres seith Salomon, that 'they han two swardes with which they sleen hir neighbores.' For soothly, as wikke is to binime his good name as his lyf. / Homicyde is eek, in yevinge of wikked conseil by fraude; as for to yeven conseil to areyssen wrongful custumes and taillages. / Of whiche seith Salomon, 'Leon rorynge

and bere hongry been lyke to the cruel lordshipes,' in withholdinge or abregginge of the shepe (or the hyre), or of the wages of servaunte, or elles in usure or in with-drawinge of the almesse of povre folk. / For which the wyse man seith, 'fedeth him that almost dyeth for hunger'; for soothly, but-if thou fede him, thou sleest him; and alle these been deedly sinnes. / Bodily manslaughter is, whan thou sleest him with thy tonge in other manere; as whan thou comandest to sleen a man, or elles yevest him conseil to sleen a man. / 570 Manslaughtre in dede is in foure maneres. That oon is by lawe; right as a justice dampneth him that is coupable to the deeth. But lat the justice be war that he do it rightfully, and that he do it nat for delyt to spille blood, but for kepinge of rightwisenesse. / Another homicyde is, that is doon for necessitee, as whan o man sleeth another in his defendaunt, and that he ne may noon otherwise escape from his owene deeth. / But certainly, if he may escape withouten manslaughter of his adversarie, and sleeth him, he doth sinne, and he shal bere penance as for deedly sinne. / Eek if a man, by caas or aventure, shete an arwe or caste a stoon with which he sleeth a man, he is homicyde. / Eek if a womman by negligence (500) overlyeth hir child in hir sleping, it is homicyde and deedly sinne. / Eek whan 575 man destourbeth concepcon of a child, and maketh a womman outhur bareyne by drinkinge venemouse herbes, thurgh which she may nat conceyve, or sleeth a child by drinks wilfully, or elles putteth certeine material thinges in hir secree places to slee the child; / or elles doth unkindely sinne, by which man or womman shedeth hir nature in manere or in place ther-as a child may nat be conceived; or elles, if a womman have conceyved and hurt hir-self, and sleeth the child, yet is it homicyde. / What seye we eek of wommen that morden hir children for drede of worldly shame? Certes, an horrible homicyde. / Homicyde is eek if a man approacheth to a womman by desir of lechery, thurgh

which the child is perished, or elles smyteth a woman witingly, thurgh which she leseth hir child. Alle thise been -homicydes and horrible deedly synnes. / Yet comen ther of Ire manye mo synnes, as wel in word as in thought and in dede; as he that arreteth upon god, or blameth god, of thing of which he is him-self gilty; or despyseth god and alle hise halwes, as doon thise cursede 580 hasardours in diverse contrees. / This cursed sinne doon they, whan they felen in hir hertes ful wikkedly of god and of hise halwes. / Also, whan they treten unreverently the sacrament of the auter, thilke sinne is so greet, that unnethe may it been released, but that the mercy of god passeth alle hise werkes; it is so greet and he so benigne. / Thanne comth of Ire attrayngre; whan a man is sharply amoneded in his shrifte to forleten his sinne, / than wole he be angry and answeren hokerly and angrily, and deffenden or excusen his sinne by unstedfastnesse of his flesh; or elles he dide it for to holde companye with hise felawes, or (510) elles, he seith, the fend entyceed him; / or elles he dide it for his youthe, or elles his complexioun is so corageous, that he may nat forbere; or elles it is his destinee, as he seith, unto a certain age; or elles, he seith, it cometh him of gentillesse of 585 hise auncestres; and semblable thinges. / Alle this manere of folk so wrappen hem in hir synnes, that they ne wol nat delivere hem-self. For soothly, no wight that excuseth him wilfully of his sinne may nat been delivered of his sinne, til that he mekely biknoweth his sinne. / After this, thanne cometh swering, that is expres agayn the comandement of god; and this bifalleth ofte of anger and of Ire. / God seith: 'thou shalt nat take the name of thy lord god in veyn or in ydel.' Also our lord Jesu Crist seith by the word of saint Mathew: 'Nolite jurare omnino': / ne wol ye nat swere in alle manere; neither by hevене, for it is goddes trone; ne by erthe, for it is the bench of his feet; ne by Jerusalem, for it is the citee of a greet king; ne by thyn heed, for thou mayst nat make an heer whyt ne blak. / But seyeth by youre word, "ye, ye," and "nay, nay"; and what that is more, it is of yvel,' seith Crist. / For Cristes sake, ne swereth nat 590 so sinfully, in dismembriunge of Crist by soule, herte, bones, and body. For certes, it semeth that ye thinke that the cursede Jewes ne dismembred nat y-nough the precieuse persone of Crist, but ye dismembre him more. / And if so be that the lawe compelle yow to swere, thanne rule yow after the lawe of god in youre swering, as seith Jeremye quarto capitulo, 'Jurabis in veritate, in iudicio et in iusticia: thou shalt kepe three condicions; thou shalt swere in trouthe, in doom, and in rightwisnesse.' / This is to seyn, thou shalt swere sooth; for every lesinge is agayns Crist. For Crist is verray trouthe. And think wel this, that every greet swerere, nat compelled lawefully to swere, the wounde shal nat departe from his hous whyl he useth swich unleveful swering. / Thou shalt sweren eek in doom, whan thou art constreyned by thy domesman to witnessen the trouthe. / (520) Eek thou shalt nat swere for envye ne for favour, ne for mede, but for rightwisnesse; for declaracioun of it to the worship of god and helping of thyne evenecristene. / And therefore, every man that 595 taketh goddes name in ydel, or falsly swereth with his mouth, or elles taketh on him the name of Crist, to be called a Cristene man, and liveth agayns Cristes livinge and his techinge, alle they taken goddes name in ydel. / Loke eek what saint Peter seith, Actuum quarto capitulo, 'Non est aliud nomen sub celo,' &c. 'Ther nis noon other name,' seith saint Peter, 'under hevене, yeven to men, in which they mowe be saved;' that is to seyn, but the name of Jesu Crist. / Take kepe eek how that the precious name of Crist, as seith saint Paul ad Philipenses secundo, 'In nomine Jesu, &c. : that in the name of Jesu every knee of hevēly creatures, or erthely, or of helle sholden bowe'; for it is so heigh and so worshipful, that the cursede fend in helle sholde tremblen to heren it y-nempned. / Thanne semeth it, that men that sweren so horribly by his blessed name, that they despyse him more boldly than didde the cursed Jewes, or elles the devel, that trembleth when he hereth his name. /

§ 36. Now certes, sith that swering, but-if it be lawefully doon, is so heighly deffended, muche worse is forswering 600 falsly, and yet nedelees. /

§ 37. What seye we eek of hem that delyten hem in swering, and holden it a gentrie or a manly dede to swere grete othes? And what of hem that, of verray usage, ne cease nat to swere grete othes, al be the cause nat worth a straw? Certes, this is horrible sinne. / Sweringe sodeynly with-oute avysement is eek a sinne. / But lat us go now to thilke horrible swering of adjuracioun and conjuracioun, as doon these false enchauntours or nigromanciens in bacins ful of water, or in a bright sword, in a cercele, or in a fyr, or in a shulder-boon of a sheep. / I can nat seye but that they doon cursedly and damnably, agayns
(530) Crist and al the feith of holy chirche. /

§ 38. What seye we of hem that bileven in divynailes, as by flight or by noyse of briddes, or of bestes, or by sort, by geomancie, by dremes, by chirkinge of doores, or orakkinge of houses, by gnawynge of 605 rattes, and swich manere wrecchednesse? / Certes, al this thing is deffended by god and by al holy chirche. For which they been acursed, til they come to amende-ment, that on swich filthe setten hir bileve. / Charmes for woundes or maladye of men, or of bestes, if they taken any effect, it may be paraventure that god suffreth it, for folk sholden yeve the more feith and reverence to his name. /

§ 39. Now wol I speken of lesinges, which generally is fals significacioun of word, in entente to deceyven his evenecristene. / Som lesinge is of which ther comth noon advantage to no wight; and som lesinge turneth to the ese or profit of o man, and to disease and damage of another man. / Another lesinge is for to saveh his lyf or his catel. Another

lesinge comth of delyt for to lye, in which delyt they wol forge a long tale, and peynten it with alle circumstaunces, where al the ground of the tale is fals. / 610 Som lesinge comth, for ho wole sustene his word; and som lesinge comth of recchelesnesse, with-uten avysement; and semblable thinges. /

§ 40. Lat us now touche the vyce of flateringe, which ne comth nat gladly but for drede or for covetise. / Flaterie is generally wrongful preisinge. Flatereres been the develes norices, that norissen hise children with milk of losengerie. / For sothe, Salomon seith, that 'flaterie is wors than detraccioun.' For som-tyme detraccioun maketh an hautein man be the more humble, for he dredeth detraccion; but certes flaterie, that maketh a man to enhancen his herte and his contenance. / Flatereres been the de- (540) veles enchauntours; for they make a man to wene of him-self be lyk that he nis nat lyk. / They been lyk to Judas 615 that bitraysed [god; and these flatereres bitraysen] a man to sellen him to his enemy, that is, to the devel. / Flatereres been the develes chapelleyens, that singen evere Placebo. / I rekene flaterie in the vyces of Ire; for ofte tyme, if o man be wrooth with another, thanne wol he flaters som wight to sustene him in his querele. /

§ 41. Speke we now of swich cursinge as comth of irous herte. Malisoun generally may be seyde every maner power of harm. Swich cursinge bireveth man fro the regne of god, as seith saint Paul. / And ofte tyme swich cursinge wrongfully retorneth agayn to him that curseth, as a brid that retorneth agayn to his owene nest. / And over alle thing men oghten
620 eschewe to cursen hir children, and yeven to the devel hir engendrure, as ferforth as in hem is; certes, it is greet peril and greet sinne. /

§ 42. Lat us thanne speken of chydinge and reproche, whiche been ful grete woundes in mannes herte; for they un-sowen the semes of frendshipe in mannes herte. / For certes, unnethes may a man

pleynly been accorded with him that hath him openly revyled and reprevd in disclaundra. This is a ful grisly sinne, as Crist seith in the gospel. / And tak kepe now, that he that repreveth his neighebor, outhere he repreveth him by som harm of peyne that he hath on his body, as 'mesel,' 'croked harlot,' or by som sinne that he dooth. / Now if he repreveth him by harm of peyne, thanne turneth the repreveth to Jesu Crist; for peyne is sent by the rightwys sonde of god, and by his suffrance, be it meselrie, 625 or maheym, or maladye. / And if he repreveth him uncharitably of sinne, as, 'thou holour,' 'thou dronkelewe harlot,' and so forth; thanne aperteneth that to the rejoysing of the devel, that evere hath joye that men doon sinne. / And certes, chydunge may nat come but out of a vileyns herte. For after the habundance of the herte speketh the mouth ful ofte. / And ye shul understonde that loke, by any way, when any man shal chastyse another, that he be war from chydunge or reprevinge. For trewely, but he be war, he may ful lightly quiken the fyr of angre and of wratthe, which that he sholde quenche, and per-aventure sleeth him which that he mighte chastyse with benignitee. / For as seith Salomon, 'the amiable tonge is the tree of lyf,' that is to seyn, of lyf espirituel: and sothly, a deslavee tonge sleeth the spirites of him that repreveth, and eek of him that is reprevd. / Lo, what seith seint Augustin: 'ther is no-thing so lyk the develes child as he that ofte chydeth.' Seint Paul seith eek: 'I, servant of god, bihove nat 630 to chyde.' / And how that chydunge be a vileyns thing bitwixe alle manere folk, yet it is certes most uncovenable bitwixe a man and his wyf; for there is nevere reste. And therefore seith Salomon, 'an hous that is uncovered and droppinge, and a chydunge wyf, been lyke.' / A man that is in a droppinge hous in many places, though he eschewe the droppinge in o place, it droppeth on him in another place; so fareth it by a chydunge wyf. But she chyde him in o place, she wol chyde him in another. / And therefore, 'bette is a morsel of breed with joye than an hous ful of delyces, with chydunge,' seith Salomon. / Seint Paul seith: 'O ye wommen, be ye subgetes to youre housbondes as bihoveth in god; and ye men, loveth youre wyves.' Ad Colossenses, tertio. (561)

§ 43. Afterward speke we of scorninges, which is a wikked sinne; and namely, when he scorneth a man for hise gode werkes. / For certes, swiche scorneres 635 faren lyk the foule tode, that may nat endure to smelle the sote savour of the vyne whanne it florisseth. / These scorneres been parting felawes with the devel; for they han joye when the devel winneth, and sorwe when he leseth. / They been adversaries of Jesu Crist; for they haten that he loveth, that is to seyn, salvacion of soule. /

§ 44. Speke we now of wikked conseil; for he that wikked conseil yeveth is a traytour. For he deceyveth him that trusteth in him, ut Achitofel ad Absolonem. But natheless, yet is his wikked conseil first agayn him-self. / For, as seith the wyse man, every fals livinge hath this propertee in him-self, that he that wole anoye another man, he anoyeth first him-self. / And men shul understonde, 640 that man shal nat taken his conseil of fals folk, ne of angry folk, or grevous folk, ne of folk that loven specially to muchel hir owene profit, ne to muche worldly folk, namely, in conseilinge of soules. /

§ 45. Now comth the sinne of hem that sowen and maken discord amonges folk, which is a sinne that Crist hateth outrelly; and no wonder is. For he deyde for to make concord. / And more shame do they to Crist, than dide they that him crucifyede; for god loveth bettre, that frendshipe be amonges folk, than he dide his owene body, the which that he yaf for unitee. Therefore been they lykned to the devel, that evere been aboute to maken discord. /

§ 46. Now comth the sinne of double tonge; swiche as speken faire biforn folk, and wikkedly bihinde; or elles they maken semblant as though they speke of good entencioun, or elles in game and play, and yet they speke of wikked entente. /

(570) § 47. Now comth biwreying of conseil, thurgh which a man is defamed; certes, unnethe may he restore the damage. /

645 Now comth manace, that is an open folye; for he that ofte manaceth, he threteth more than he may perfourne ful ofte tyme. /

Now cometh ydel wordes, that is withouten profit of him that speketh the wordes, and eek of him that herkneth the wordes. Or elles ydel wordes been tho that been nedelees, or with-outen ontente of natural profit. / And al-be-it that ydel wordes been som tyme venial sinne, yet sholde men douten hem; for we shul yeve rekeninge of hem bifore god. /

Now comth jangling, that may nat been withoute sinne. And, as seith Salomon, 'it is a sinne of apert folye.' / And therefore a philosopre seyde, whan men axed him how that men sholde plesse the peple; and he answerde, 'do many 650 gode werkes, and spek fewe jangles.' /

After this comth the sinne of japeres, that been the develes apes; for they maken folk to laughe at hir japerie, as folk doon at the gaudes of an apa. Swiche japeres deffendeth saint Paul. / Loke how that vertuouse wordes and holy conforten hem that travaillen in the service of Crist; right so conforten the vileyns wordes and knakkes of japeris hem that travaillen in the service of the devel. / These been the sinnes that comen of the tonge, that comen of Ire and of othere sinnes mo. /

Sequitur remedium contra peccatum Ire.

(580) § 48. The remedye agayns Ire is a vertu that men clepen Mansuetude, that is Debonairetee; and eek another vertu, that men callen Pacience or Suffrance. /

§ 49. Debonairetee withdraweth and refreyneth the stiringes and the moeynges of mannes corage in his herte, in swich manere that they ne skippe nat out by angre ne by Ire. / Suffrance 655 suffreth swetely alle the anoyances and the wronges that men doon to man outward. / Seint Jerome seith thus of debonairetee, that 'it doth noon harm to no wight, ne seith; ne for noon harm that men doon or seyn, he ne eschaufeth nat agayns his rescoun.' / This vertu som-tyme comth of nature; for, as seith the philosopre, 'a man is a quik thing, by nature debonaire and treftable to goodnesse; but whan debonairetee is enformed of grace, thanne is it the more worth.' /

§ 50. Pacience, that is another remedye agayns Ire, is a vertu that suffreth swetely every mannes goodnesse, and is nat wrooth for noon harm that is doon to him. / The philosopre seith, that 'pacience is thilke vertu that suffreth debonairely alle the outrages of adversitee and every wikked word.' / This 660 vertu maketh a man lyk to god, and maketh him goddes owene dere child, as seith Crist. This vertu disconfiteth thyn enemy. And therefore seith the wyse man, 'if thou wolt venquise thyn enemy, lerne to suffra.' / And thou shalt understonde, that man suffreth foure manere of grevances in outward thinges, agayns the whiche foure he moot have foure manere of paciencens. /

§ 51. The firste grevance is of wikkede wordes; thilke suffrede Jesu Crist withouten gruoching, ful paciently, whan the Jewes despyssed and reprevd him ful ofte. / Suffre thou therfore paciently; for the wyse man seith: 'if thou stryve with a fool, though the fool be wrooth or though he laughe, algate thou shalt have no reste.' / That other grevance outward (590) is to have damage of thy catel. Ther-agayns suffred Crist ful paciently, whan he was despoyled of al that he hadde in this lyf, and that nas but hise clothes. / 665 The thridd grevance is a man to have harm in his body. That suffred Crist ful paciently in al his passioun. / The fourthe grevance is in outrageous labour in werkes. Wherefore I seye, that folk that maken hir servants to travaillen to greuously, or out of tyme, as on halydayes, soothly they do greet sinne. / Heer-agayns suffred Crist ful paciently, and taughte us pacience, whan he bar up-on his blissed shulder the croys, up-on which he sholde suffren despitous deeth. / Heer may men lerne to be pacient; for certes, nocht only Cristen men been pacient for love of Jesu Crist, and for guerdoun of the blisful lyf that is perdurable; but certes, the olde payens, that nevere were Cristene, commended and useden the vertu of pacience. /

§ 52. A philosopre up-on a tyme, that wolde have beten his disciple for his grete trespass, for which he was greatly amoved, 670 and broghte a yerde to scourge the child; / and whan this child saugh the yerde, he seyde to his maister, 'what thenke ye to do?' 'I wol bete thee,' quod the maister, 'for thy correccion.' / 'For sothe,' quod the child, 'ye oghten first correcte youre-self, that han lost al youre pacience for the gilt of a child.' / 'For sothe,' quod the maister al wepinge, 'thou seyst sooth; have thou the yerde, my dere sone, and correcte me for myn incpacience.' / Of Pacience comth Obedience, thurgh which a man is obedient to Crist and to alle hem to whiche he (600) oghte to been obedient in Crist. / And understond wel that obedience is perfit, whan that a man doth gladly and hastily, with good herte entierly, al that he 675 sholde do. / Obedience generally, is to perfourne the doctrine of god and of his sovereyns, to whiche him oghte to been obeissaunt in alle rightwysnesse. /

Sequitur de Accidia.

§ 53. After the sinnes of Envie and of Ire, now wol I speken of the sinne of Accidia. For Envye blindeth the herte of a man, and Ire troubleth a man; and Accidia maketh him hevry, thoughtful, and wrawe. / Envye and Ire maken bitterness in herte; which bitterness is moder of Accidie, and binimeth him the love of alle goodnesse. Thanne is Accidie the anguish of a trouble herte; and seint

Augustin seith: 'it is any of goodnesse and joye of harm.' / Certes, this is a dampnable sinne; for it doth wrong to Jesu Crist, in-as-muche as it binimeth the service that men oghte doon to Crist with alle diligence, as seith Salomon. / But Accidie dooth no swich diligence; he dooth alle thing with any, and with wrawnesse, slaknesse, and excusacioun, and with ydelnesse and unlust; for which the book seith: 'acursed be he that doth the service of god necligently.' / Thanne 680 is Accidie enemy to everich estaat of man; for certes, the estaat of man is in three maneres. / Outher it is th'estaat of innocence, as was th'estaat of Adam bifrom that he fl into sinne; in which estaat he was holden to wirche, as in herynge and adouringe of god. / Another estaat is the estaat of sinful men, in which estaat men been holden to laboure in preyinge to god for amendement of hir sinnes, and that he wole graunte hem to arysen out of hir sinnes. / Another estaat is th'estaat of grace, in which estaat he is holden to werkes of penitence; and certes, to alle these thinges is Accidie enemy and contraria. For he loveth no bisinesse at al. / Now certes, this foule (610) sinne Accidie is eek a ful greet enemy to the lyfode of the body; for it ne hath no purveaunce agayn temporel necessitee; for it forsloweth and forsluggeth, and destroyeth alle goodes temporeles by recchelesnesse. / 685

§ 54. The fourthethinge is, that Accidie is lyk to hem that been in the peyne of helle, by-cause of hir slouth and of hir hevynesse; for they that been dampned been so bounde, that they ne may neither wel do ne wel think. / Of Accidie comth first, that a man is anyed and encombred for to doon any goodnesse, and maketh that god hath abhominacion of swich Accidie, as seith seint Johan. /

§ 55. Now comth Slouth, that wol nat suffre noon hardnesse ne no penaunce. For soothly, Slouth is so tendre, and so delicat, as seith Salomon, that he wol nat suffre noon hardnesse ne penaunce, and therefore he shendeth al that he dooth. / Agayns this roten-herted sinne of Accidie and Slouthe sholde men exercise hem-self to doon gode werkes, and manly and vertuouly cacohen courage wel to doon; thinkinge that oure lord Jesu Crist quytteth every good deda, be it never so lyte. / Usage of labour is a greet thing; for it maketh, as seith saint Bernard, the laborer to have stronge armes and harde sinwes; and Slouthe maketh hem feble and tendra. / Thanne comth drede to biginne to werke any gode werkes; for certes, he that is enclyned to sinne, him thinketh it is so greet an empyrse for to undertake to doon werkes of goodnesse, / and casteth in his herte that the circumstaunces of goodnesse been so grevous and so chargesaunt for to suffre, that he dar nat undertake to do werkes of goodnesse, as seith saint Gregorie. /

§ 56. Now comth wanhope, that is despeir of the mercy of god, that comth somtyme of to muche outrageous sorwe, and somtyme of to muche drede: imagin- inge that he hath doon so muche sinne, that it wol nat availen him, though he wolde repenten him and forsake sinne: / thurgh which despeir or drede he abaundoneth al his herte to every maner sinne, (620) as seith saint Augustin. / Which dampnable sinne, if that it continue un-to his ende, it is cleped sinning in the holy gost. / 695 This horrible sinne is so perilous, that he that is despeired, ther nis no felonye ne no sinne that he douteth for to do; as shewed wel by Judas. / Certes, aboven alle sinnes thanne is this sinne most displeasnt to Crist, and most adversarie. / Soothly, he that despeireth him is lyk the coward champion recreant, that seith creant withoute neda. Allas! allas! nedeles is he recreant and nedeles despeired. / Certes, the mercy of god is evere redy to every penitent, and is aboven alle hise werkes. / Allas! can nat a man bithinke him on the gospel of saint Luk, 15., where-as Crist seith that 'as wel shal ther be joye in hevenc upon a sinful man that doth penitence, as up-on nynty and nyne rightful men that neden no penitence?' / Loke further, 700 in the same gospel, the joye and the feste of the gode man that hadde lost his sone, whan his sone with repentaunce was returned to his fader. / Can they nat remembren hem eek, that, as seith saint Luk xxiii^o capitulo, how that the theef that was hanged biyde Jesu Crist, seyde: 'Lord, remembre of me, whan thou comest in-to thy regne?' / 'For sothe,' seyde Crist, 'I seye to thee, to-day shaltow been with me in Paradys.' / Certes, ther is noon so horrible sinne of man, that it ne may, in his lyf, be destroyed by penitence, thurgh vertu of the passion and of the deeth of Crist. / (630) Allas! what nedeth man thanne to been despeired, sith that his mercy so redy is and large? Axe and have. / Thanne cometh 705 Sompnolence, that is, sluggy slombringe, which maketh a man be hevy and dul, in body and in soule; and this sinne comth of Slouthe. / And certes, the tyme that, by way of resoun, men sholde nat slepe, that is by the morwe; but-if ther were cause reasonable. / For soothly, the morwetyde is most covenable, a man to seye his preyeres, and for to thinken on god, and for to honoure god, and to yeven almese to the povre, that first cometh in the name of Crist. / Lo! what seith Salomon: 'who-so wolde by the morwe awaken and seke me, he shal finde.' / Thanne cometh Negligence, or recchalesnesse, that reketh of no-thing. And how that ignorance be moder of alle harm, certes, Negligence is the norice. / Negligence 710 ne doth no fors, whan he shal doon a thing, whether he do it weel or baddely. /

§ 57. Of the remedie of these two sinnes, as seith the wyse man, that 'he that dredeth god, he spareth nat to doon that him oghte doon.' / And he that loveth god, he wol doon diligence to plesse god by his werkes, and abandone him-self, with al his might, wel for to doon. / Thanne comth ydelnesse, that is the yate of alle harmes. An ydel man is lyk to a place that hath no walles; the develes may entre on every syde and sheten at him at discover, by temptacion on every

(640) syde. / This ydelnesse is the thurrok of alle wikked and vileyns thoghtes, and of 715 alle jangles, trufles, and of alle ordure. / Certes, the hevене is yeven to hem that wol labouren, and nat to ydel folk. Eek David seith: that 'they ne been nat in the labour of men, ne they shul nat been whipped with mon,' that is to seyn, in purgatorie. / Certes, thanne semeth it, they shul be tormented with the devel in helle, but-if they doon penitence. /

§ 58. Thanne comth the sinne that men clepen Tarditas, as whan a man is to latrede or tarynge, er he wole turne to god; and certes, that is a greet folye. He is lyk to him that falleth in the dich, and wol nat aryse. / And this vyce comth of a fals hope, that he thinketh that he shal live longe; but that hope failleth ful ofte. /

§ 59. Thanne comth Lachesse; that is he, that whan he biginneth any good werk, anon he shal forleten it and stinten; as doon they that han any wight to governe, and ne taken of him na-more kepe, anon as they finden any contrarie
720 or any any. / These been the newe shepherdes, that leten hir sheep witingly go renne to the wolf that is in the breres, or do no fors of hir owene governaunce. / Of this comth poverte and destrucioun, bothe of spiritual and temporel thinges. Thanne comth a manere coldnesse, that freseth al the herte of man. / Thanne comth undevoicioun, thurgh which a man is so blent, as seith saint Bernard, and hath swiche langour in soule, that he may neither rede ne singe in holy chirche, ne here ne thinke of no devocioun, ne travaille with hise handes in no good werk, that it nis him unsavory and al apalled. / Thanne wexeth he slow and slombry, and some wol be wrooth, and
(650) some is enclyned to hate and to envye. / Thanne comth the sinne of worldly sorwe, swich as is cleped tristitia, that sleeth 725 man, as saint Paul seith. / For certes, swich sorwe werketh to the death of the soule and of the body also; for ther-of comth, that a man is anoyed of his owene lyf. / Wherefore swich sorwe short-eth ful ofte the lyf of a man, er that his tyme be come by way of kinde. /

Remedium contra peccatum Accidie.

§ 60. Agayns this horrible sinne of Accidie, and the branches of the same, ther is a vertu that is called Fortitudo or Strengthe; that is, an affeccioun thurgh which a man despyseth anyouns thinges. / This vertu is so mighty and so vigorous, that it dar withstonde mightily and wysely kepen him-self fro perils that been wikked, and wrastle agayn the assantes of the devel. / For it enhaunceth and enforeth the soule, right as Accidie abateth it and maketh it feble. For this Fortitudo may endure by long suffraunce the travailles that been covenable. /

§ 61. This vertu hath manye spes; and the firste is cleped Magnanimitie, that is to seyn, greet courage. For certes, ther bihoveth greet courage agains Accidie, lest that it ne swolwe the soule by the sinne of sorwe, or destroye it by wan-hope. / This vertu maketh folk to undertake harde thinges and grevous thinges, by hir owene wil, wysely and reasonably. / And for as muchel as the devel fighteth agayns a man more by queyntise and by sleighte than by strengthe, therfore men shal withstonden him by wit and by resound and by discrecioun. / Thanne arn ther the vertues of feith, and hope in god and in hise seintes, to acheve and acomplise the gode werkes in the whiche he purposeth fermely to continue. / (660) Thanne comth seuretee or sikernes; and that is, whan a man ne douteth no travaille in tyme cominge of the gode werkes that a man hath bigonne. / 735 Thanne comth Magnificence, that is to seyn, whan a man dooth and perfourneth grete werkes of goodnesse that he hath bigonne; and that is the ende why that men sholde do gode werkes; for in the acomplissinge of grete goode werkes lyth the grete guerdoun. / Thanne is ther Constaunce, that is, stableness of courage; and this sholde been in herte by stedefast feith, and in mouth, and in beringe, and in chere and in dede. / Eke ther been mo speciale remedies agains Accidie, in diverse werkes, and in consideracioun of the paynes of helle, and of the joyes of hevens, and in trust of the grace of the holy goost, that wole yeve him might to perfourne his gode entente. /

Sequitur de Avaricia.

§ 62. After Accidie wol I speke of Avarice and of Coveitise, of which sinne seith seint Paule, that 'the rote of alle harmes is Coveitise': Ad Timotheum, sexto capitulo. / For soothly, whan the herte of a man is confounded in it-self and troubled, and that the soule hath lost the confort of god, thanne seketh he an ydel 740 solas of worldly things. /

§ 63. Avarice, after the descripcion of seint Augustin, is likerousnesse in herte to have erthely thinges. / Som other folk seyn, that Avarice is, for to purchaen manye erthely thinges, and no-thing yeve to hem that han nede. / And understand, that Avarice ne stant nat only in lond ne catel, but somtyme in science and in glorie, and in every manere of outrageous thing is Avarice and Coveitise. / And the difference bitwixe Avarice and Coveitise is this. Coveitise is for to coveite swiche thinges as thou hast nat; and Avarice is for to withholde and kepe swiche thinges as thou hast, (170) with-oute rightful nede. / Soothly, this Avarice is a sinne that is ful dampnable; for al holy writ curseth it, and speketh agayns that vyce; for it dooth wrong to

745 Jesu Crist. / For it bireveth him the love that men to him owen, and turneth it bakward agayns alle resoun; / and maketh that the avaricious man hath more hope in his catel than in Jesu Crist, and dooth more observance in kepinge of his tresor than he dooth to service of Jesu Crist. / And therfore seith seint Paul ad Ephesios, quinto, that 'an avaricious man is in the thraldom of ydolastrie. /

§ 64. What difference is bitwixe an ydolastre and an avaricious man, but that an ydolastre, per aventure, ne hath but o mawmet or two, and the avaricious man hath manye? For certes, every florin in his cofre is his mawmet. / And certes, the sinne of Mawmetrye is the firste thing that God defended in the ten comaundments, as bereth witnesse Exodi, capitulo xx^o: / 'Thou shalt have no false 750 goddes bifore me, ne thou shalt make to thee no grave thing.' Thus is an avaricious man, that loveth his tresor biforn god, an ydolastre, / thurgh this cursed sinne of Avarice. Of Coveitise comen thise harde lordshipes, thurgh whiche men been distreynd by tailages, custumes, and cariages, more than hir duetee or resoun is. And eek they taken of hir bonde-men amerciments, whiche mighten more resonably ben cleped extorcions than amerciments. / Of whiche amerciments and raunsoninge of bonde-men, somme lordes stywardes seyn, that it is rightful; for-as-muche as a cherl hath no temporel thing that it ne is his lordes, as they seyn. / But certes, thise lordshipes doon wrong, that bireven hir bonde-folk thinges that they nevere yave hem: Augustinus de Civitate, libro nono. / (680) Sooth is, that the condicioun of thraldom and the firste cause of thraldom is for sinne; Genesis, quinto. / 755

§ 65. Thus may ye seen that the gilt disserveth thraldom, but nat nature. / Wherefore thise lordes ne sholde nat muche glorifyen hem in hir lordshipes, sith that by naturel condicion they been nat lordes of thralles; but for that thraldom comth first by the desert of sinne. / And forther-over, ther-as the lawe seith, that temporel godes of bonde-folk been the godes of hir lordshipes, ye, that is for to understonde, the godes of the emperour, to deffenden hem in hir right, but nat for to robben hem ne reven hem. / And therfore seith Seneca: 'thy prudence sholde live benignely with thy thralles.' / Thiike that thou clepest thy thralles been goddes peple; for humble folk been Cristes freendes; they been contubernial with the lord. / 760

§ 66. Think eek, that of swich seed as cherles springeth, of swich seed springen lordes. As wel may the cherl be saved as the lord. / The same deeth that taketh the cherl, swich deeth taketh the lord. Wherefore I rede, do right so with thy cherl, as thou woldest that thy lord dide with thee, if thou were in his plyt. / Every sinful man is a cherl to sinne. I rede thee, certes, that thou, lord, werke in swiche wyse with thy cherles, that they rather love thee than drede. / I woot wel ther is degree above degree, as reson is; and skile it is, that men do hir devoir ther-as it is due; but certes, extorcions and despit of youre underlinges is dampnable. /

(690) § 87. And forther-over understand wel, that thise conquerours or tiraunts maken ful ofte thralles of hem, that been born of as royal blood as been they that hem conqueren. / This name of thraldom was nevere erst outh, til that Noe seyde, that his sone Canaan sholde be thral to hise bretheren for his sinne. / What seye we thanne of hem that pilen and doon extorcions to holy chirche? Certes, the swerd, that men yeven first to a knight whan he is newe dubbed, signifyeth that he sholde defenden holy chirche, and nat robben it ne pilen it; and who so dooth, is traitour to Crist. / And, as seith saint Augustin, 'they been the develes wolves, that stranglen the sheep of Jesu Crist'; and doon worse than wolves. / For soothly, whan the wolf hath ful his wombe, he stinteth to strangle sheep. But soothly, the pilours and destroyours of goddes holy chirche ne do nat so; for they ne stinte nevere to pile. / Now, as I have seyde, sith so is that sinne was first cause of thraldom, thanne is it thus; that thilke tyme that al this world was in sinne, thanne was al this world in thraldom and subjeccioun. /

770 But certes, sith the tyme of grace cam, god ordeyned that som folk sholde be more heigh in estaat and in degree, and som folk more lowe, and that everich sholde be served in his estaat and in his degree. / And therefore, in somme contrees ther they byen thralles, whan they han turned hem to the feith, they maken

hir thralles free out of thraldom. And therefore, certes, the lord oweth to his man that the man oweth to his lord. / The Pope calleth him-self servant of the servaunts of god; but for-as-muche as the estaat of holy chirche ne mighte nat han be, ne the commune profit mighte nat han be kept, ne pees and reste in erthe, but-if god hadde ordeyned that som men hadde hyer degree and som men lower: / therefore was sovereyntee ordeyned to kepe and mayntene and defenden hir underlinges or hir subget in reson, as ferforth as it lyth in hir power; and nat to destroyen hem ne confounde. / Wherefore I seye, that thilke (700) lordes that been lyk wolves, that devouren the possessions or the catel of povre folk wrongfully, with-outan mercy or mesure, / 775 they shul receyven by the same mesure that they han mesured to povre folk the mercy of Jesu Crist, but-if it be amended. / Now comth deceite bitwixe marchant and marchant. And thou shalt understande, that marchandyse is in two maneres; that oon is bodily, and that other is goostly. That oon is honeste and levelful, and that other is deshoneste and unlevelful. / Of thilke bodily marchandyse, that is levelful and honeste, is this; that, there-as god hath ordeyned that a regne or a contree is suffisaunt to him-self, thanne is it honeste and levelful, that of habundance of this contree, that men helpe another contree that is more nedy. / And therefore, ther mote been marchants to bringen fro that o contree to that other hire marchandyses. / That other marchandise, that men haunten with fraude and trecherie and deceite, with lesinges and false othes, is cursed and dampnable. / 780

Espirituel marchandyse is properly Symonye, that is, ententif desyr to byen thing espirituel, that is, thing that aperteneth to the seintuarie of god and to cure of the soule. / This desyr, if so be that a man do his diligence to parfournen it, al-be-it that his desyr ne take noon effect, yet is it to him a deedly sinne; and if he be ordred, he is irregular. / Certes, Symonye is cleped of Symon

Magus, that wolde han boght, for temporel catel, the yifte that god hadde yeven, by the holy goost, to saint Peter and to the apostles. / And therefore understand, that bothe he that selleth and he that byeth thinges espirituels, been cleped Symonials; be it by catel, be it by procuringe, or by fleshly preyere of hise freendes, fleshly freendes, or (710) espirituel freendes. / Fleshly, in two maneres; as by kinrede or others freendes. Soothly, if they praye for him that is nat worthy and able, it is Symonye if he take the benefice; and if he be worthy and able, ther nis noon. / That other manere is, when a man or womman preyen for folk to avauncen hem, only for wikked fleshly affeccoun that they have un-to the persone; and that is foul Symonye. / But certes, in service, for which men yeven thinges espirituels un-to hir servants, it moot been understande that the service moot been honeste, and elles nat; and eek that it be with-outen bargayninge, and that the persone be able. / For, as seith saint Damascie, 'alle the sinnes of the world, at regard of this sinne, arn as thing of noght'; for it is the gretteste sinne that may be, after the sinne of Lucifer and Antecrist. / For, by this sinne, god forleseth the chirche, and the soule that he boghte with his precious blood, by hem that yeven chirches to hem that been nat digne. / For they putten in theves, that stelen the soules of Jesu Christ and destroyen his (720) patrimoine. / By swiche undigne preestes and curates han lewed men the lasse reverence of the sacraments of holy chirche; and swiche yeveres of chirches putten out the children of Crist, and putten in-to the chirche the develes owene sone. / They sellen the soules that lambes sholde kepen to the wolf that strangeth hem. And therefore shul they nevere han part of the pasture of lambes, that is, the blisse of hevenc. / Now comth hasardrye with hise apurtenaunces, as tables and rafes; of which comth deceite, false othes, chydinges, and alle ravines, blaspheminge and reneyinge of god, and hate of hise neighebores, wast of godes, misspendinge of tyme, and somtyme manalaughtre. / Certes, hasardours ne mowe nat been with-outen greet sinne whyles they haunte that craft. / Of (720) avarice comen eek lesinges, theftes, fals witnesses, and false othes. And ye shul understande that thise been grete sinnes, and expres agayn the comaundements of god, as I have seyde. / Fals witnesses is in 725 word and eek in dede. In word, as for to bireve thy neighebores goode name by thy fals witnessinge, or bireven him his catel or his heritage by thy fals witnessinge; whan thou, for ire or for mede, or for envye, berest fals witnesses, or accusest him or excusest him by thy fals witnesses, or elles excusest thy-self falsly. / Ware yow, questemongerers and notaries! Certes, for fals witnessinge was Susanna in ful gret sorwe and peyne, and many another mo. / The sinne of theftes is eek expres agayns goddes heste, and that in two maneres, corporel and espirituel. / Corporel, as for to take thy neighebores catel agayn his wil, be it by force or by sleighte, be it by met or by mesura. / By steling eek of false enditements upon him, and in borwinge of thy neighebores catel, in entente nevere to payen it agayn, and semblable thinges. / Espirituel theftes is 800 Sacrilege, that is to seyn, hurtinge of holy thinges, or of thinges sacred to Crist, in two maneres; by reason of the holy place, as chirches or chirche-hawes, / for which every vileyns sinne that men doon in swiche places may be cleped sacrilege, or every violence in the semblable places. Also, they that withdrawen falsly the rightes that longen to holy chirche. / And pleynly and generally, sacrilege is to reven holy thing fro holy place, or unholy thing out of holy place, or holy thing out of unholy place. /

Relevacio contra peccatum Avaricie.

§ 88. Now shul ye understande, that the revelinge of Avaricie is misericorde, and pitee largely taken. And men mighten axe, why that misericorde and pitee is relevinge of Avaricie? / Certes, (730)

the avaricious man sheweth no pitee ne misericorde to the nedeful man; for he delyteth him in the kepinge of his tresor, and nat in the rescowinge ne relevinge of his evene-cristene. And therefore speke 805 I first of misericorde. / Thanne is misericorde, as saith the philosophre, a vertu, by which the corage of man is stired by the misese of him that is mised. / Up-on which misericorde folweth pitee, in parfourninge of charitable werkes of misericorde. / And certes, these things moeven a man to misericorde of Jesu Crist, that he yaf him-self for oure gilt, and suffred deeth for misericorde, and forgaf us oure originale sinnes; / and therby released us fro the peynes of helle, and amenedus the peynes of purgatorie by penitence, and yeveth grace wel to do, and atte laste the blisse of hevене. / The speses of misericorde been, as for to lene and for to yeve and to foryeven and relese, and for to han pitee in herte, and compassioun of the meschief of his evene-cristene, and eek to chastyse there as 810 nede is. / Another manere of remedie agayns Avarice is resonable largesse; but soothly, here bihoveth the consideracioun of the grace of Jesu Crist, and of hise temporel goodes, and eek of the goodes perdurables that Crist yaf to us; / and to han remembrance of the deeth that he shal receyve, he noot whanne, where, ne how; and eek that he shal forgon al that he hath, save only that he hath despended in gode werkes. /

§ 69. But for-as-muche as som folk been unmesurable, men oghten eschue fool-largesse, that men clepen wast. / Certes, he that is fool-large ne yeveth nat his catel, but he leseth his catel. Soothly, what thing that he yeveth for veyne glorie, as to ministrals and to folk, for to beren his renoun in the world, he hath
(740) sinne ther-of and noon almesse. / Certes, he leseth foule his good, that ne seketh with the yifte of his good no-thing but 815 sinne. / He is lyk to an hors that seketh rather to drinken drovy or trouble water than for to drinken water of the clere wells. / And for-as-muchel as they yeven ther as they sholde nat yeven, to hem aperteneth thilke malisoun that Crist shal yeven at the day of dome to hem that shullen been dampned. /

Sequitur de Gula.

§ 70. After Avarice comth Glotonye, which is expres eek agayn the comandement of god. Glotonye is unmesurable appetyt to ete or to drinke, or elles to doon y-nogh to the unmesurable appetyt and desordeyne covaityse to eten or to drinke. / This sinne corrupted al this world, as is wel shewed in the sinne of Adam and of Eve. Loke eek, what seith saint Paul of Glotonye. / 'Manye,' seith saint Paul, 'goon, of whiche I have ofte seyde to yow, and now I seye it wepinge, that they been the enemys of the croys of Crist; of whiche the ende is deeth, and of whiche hir wombe is hir god, and hir glorie in confusioun of hem that so savenen ertlyhe thinges.' / He that is 820 usant to this sinne of Glotonye, he ne may no sinne withstonde. He moot been in servage of alle vyces, for it is the develes hord ther he hydeth him and resteth. / This sinne hath manye speses. The firste is dronkenesse, that is the horrible sepulture of mannes resoun; and therefore, whan a man is dronken, he hath lost his resoun; and this is deedly sinne. / But soothly, whan that a man is nat wont to strong drinke, and peraventure ne knoweth nat the strengthe of the drinke, or hath feblesse in his heed, or hath travailed, thurgh which he drinketh the more, al be he sodeynly caught with drinke, it is no deedly sinne, but venial. / The seconde spece of Glotonye is, that the spirit of a man wexeth al trouble; for dronkenesse hireveth him the discrecioun of his wit. / The thridde spece of
(750) Glotonye is, whan a man devoureth his mete, and hath no rightful manere of etinge. / The fourthe is whan, thurgh
825 the grete habundaunce of his mete, the humours in his body been destempred. / The fifthe is, foryetalnesse by to muchel drinkinge; for which somtyme a man

foryeteth er the morwe what he hided at even or on the night biforn. /

§ 71. In other manere been distinct the speses of Glotonye, after seint Gregoria. The firste is, for to ete biforn tyme to eta. The seconde is, whan a man get him to delicat mete or drinke. / The thridde is, whan men taken to muche over mesure. The fourthe is curiositee, with greet entente to maken and apparailen his mete. The fifthe is, for to eten to gredily. / These been the fyve fingres of the develes hand, by whiche he draweth 830 folk to sinne. /

Remedium contra peccatum Gula.

§ 72. Agayns Glotonye is the remedie Abstinence, as seith Galien; but that holde I nat meritorie, if he do it only for the hele of his body. Seint Augustin wole, that Abstinence be doon for vertu and with pacience. / Abstinence, he seith, is lital worth, but-if a man have good wil ther-to, and but it be enforced by pacience and by charitee, and that men doon it for godes sake, and in hope to have the blisse of hevenc. /

§ 73. The felawes of Abstinence been Attemperance, that holdeth the mene in alle thinges: eek Shame, that eschueth alle deahonestee: Suffisance, that seeketh no riche metes ne drinks, ne dooth no fors of to outrageous apparailinge of mete. / Mesure also, that restreyneth by resoun the deslavee appetyt of etinge: Sobrenesse also, that restreyneth the
(760) outrage of drinke: / Sparinge also, that restreyneth the delicat ese to sitte longe at his mete and softly; wherfore som folk stonden of hir owene wil, to eten at 835 the lasse leysar. /

Sequitur de Luxuria.

§ 74. After Glotonye, thanne comth Lecherie; for these two sinnes been so ny cosins, that ofte tyme they wol nat departe. / God woot, this sinne is ful displeasunt thing to god; for he seyde himself, 'do no lecherie.' And therefore he putte grete peynes agayns this sinne in the olde lawe. / If womman thral were taken in this sinne, she sholde be beten with staves to the deeth. And if she were a gentil womman, she sholde be slayn with stones. And if she were a bissoppes doghter, she sholde been brent, by goddes comandement. / Forther over, by the sinne of Lecherie, god dreynthe al the world at the diluge. And after that, he brente fyve citees with thonder-leyt, and sank hem in-to helle. /

§ 75. Now lat us speke thanne of thilke stinkinge sinne of Lecherie that men clepe Avoutrie of wedded folk, that is to seyn, if that oon of hem be wedded, or elles bothe. / Seint John seith, that 840 avoutiers shullen been in helle in a stank brenninge of fyr and of brimston; in fyr, for the lecherie; in brimston, for the stink of hir ordure. / Certes, the brekinge of this sacrament is an horrible thing; it was makid of god him-self in paradys, and confermed by Jesu Crist, as witnesseth seint Mathew in the gospel: 'A man shal lete fader and moder, and taken him to his wyf, and they shullen be two in o flesh.' / This sacrament bitokneth the knittinge togidre of Crist and of holy chirche. / And nat only that god forbad avoutrie in dede, but eek he comanded that thou sholdest nat coveite thy neighebores wyf. / In this (770) heeste, seith seint Augustin, is forboden alle manere coveitise to doon lecherie. Lo what seith seint Mathew in the gospel: that 'who-so seeth a womman to coveitise of his lust, he hath doon lecherie with hir in his herte.' / Here may ye seen that 845 nat only the dede of this sinne is forboden, but eek the deyrt to doon that sinne. / This cursed sinne anoyeth grevousliche hem that it haunten. And first, to hir soule; for he oblygeth it to sinne and to peyne of deeth that is perdurable. / Un-to the body anoyeth it grevously also, for it dreyeth him, and wasteth, and shent him, and of his blood he maketh sacrifice to the feend of helle; it wasteth his catel and his substaunce. / And certes, if it be a foul thing, a man to waste his catel on wommen, yet is it a fouler thing whan that, for swich ordure, wommen dispenden up-on men hir catel and substaunce. / This sinne, as seith the prophete, bireveth man and womman hir gode fame, and al hir honour; and it is ful pleasaunt to the devel; for ther-by winneth he the moste partie of this 830 world. / And right as a marchant delyteth him most in chaffare that he hath most advantage of, right so delyteth the feend in this ordure. /

§ 76. This is that other hand of the devel, with fyve fyngrs, to cacche the peple to his vileinye. / The firste finger is the fool lookinge of the fool womman and of the fool man, that sleeth, right as the basilicok sleeth folk by the venom of his sighte; for the covetise of eyen folweth the covetise of the herte. / The seconde finger is the vileyns touchinge in wikkede manere; and ther-fore seith Salomon, that who-so toucheth and handleth a womman, he fareth lyk him that handleth the scorpion that stingeth and sodeynly sleeth thurgh his envenyminge; as who-so toucheth warm pich, it shent
(780) his fyngrs. / The thridde, is foule wordes, that fareth lyk fyr, that right anon brenneth the herte. / The fourthe finger is the kissinge; and trewely he were a greet fool that wolde kisse the mouth of a brenninge owene or of a fourneys. / And more fooles been they that kissen in vileinye; for that mouth is the mouth of helle: and namely, these olde dotardes holours, yet wol they kisse, though they may nat do, and smatre hem. / Certes, they been lyk to houndes; for an hound, whan he comth by the roser or by othere †busshes, though he may nat pisse, yet wole he heve up his leg and make a contenance to pisse. / And for that many man weneth that he may nat sinne, for no likerounesse that he doth with his wyf; certes, that opinion is fals. God woot, a man may sleen him-self with his owene knyf, and make him-selven dronken of his owene tonne. / Certes, be it wyf, be it child, or any worldly thing that he loveth biforn god, it is his maumet, and 860 he is an ydolastre. / Man sholde loven his wyf by discrecioun, paciently and atemprely; and thanne is she as though it were his suster. / The fiftthe finger of the develes hand is the stynkinge dede of Lecherie. / Certes, the fyve fyngrs of Glotonie the feend put in the wombe of a man, and with hise fyve fyngrs of Lecherie he gripeth him by the reynes, for to throwen him in-to the fourneys of helle; / ther-as they shul han the fyr and the wormes that evere shul lasten and wepinge and wailinge, sharp hunger and thurst, and grimnesse of develes that shullen al to-trede hem, with-outen respit and with-outen ende. / Of Lecherie, as

(790) I seyde, sourden diverse spesces; as fornicacioun, that is bitwixe man and womman that been nat maried; and this is deedly sinne and agayns nature. / Al that is 865 enemy and destruccioun to nature is agayns nature. / Parfay, the rescoun of a man tolleth eek him wel that it is deedly sinne, for-as-muche as god forbad Lecherie. And seint Paul yeveth hem the regne, that nis dewe to no wight but to hem that doon deedly sinne. / Another sinne of Lecherie is to bireve a mayden of hir maydenhede; for he that so dooth, certes, he casteth a mayden out of the hyeste degree that is in this present lyf, / and bireveth hir thilke precious fruit that the book clepeth 'the hundred fruit.' I ne can seye it noon other weyes in English, but in Latin it highte Centesimus fructus. Certes, he that so dooth is cause of manye damages and vileinyes, mo than any man can rekene; right as he somtyme is cause of alle damages that bestes don in the feeld, that breketh the hegge or the closure; thurgh which he destroyeth that may nat been restored. /
870 For certes, na-more may maydenhede be restored than an arm that is smiten fro the body may retourne agayn to waxe. / She may have mercy, this woot I wel, if she do penitence; but nevere shal it be that she nas corrupt. / And al-be-it so that I have spoken somwhat of Avoutrie, it is good to shewen mo perils that longen to Avoutrie, for to eschue that foule sinne. / Avoutrie in Latin is for to seyn, approachinge of other mannes bed, thurgh

which tho that whylom weren o flesh
 (800) abandone hir bodyes to othere persones./
 Of this sinne, as seith the wyse man, folwen manye harmes. First, brekinge of feith; and certes, in feith is the keye 875 of Cristendom./ And whan that feith is broken and lorn, soothly Cristendom stant veyn and with-uten fruit./ This sinne is eek a thefte; for thefte generally is for to reve a wright his thing agayns his wille./ Certes, this is the fouleste thefte that may be, whan a womman steleth hir body from hir housebonde and yeveth it to hire honour to defoulen hir; and steleth hir soule fro Crist, and yeveth it to the devel./ This is a fouler thefte, than for to breke a chirche and stele the chalice;
 for these avoutiers broken the temple of god spiritually, and stelen the vessel of grace, that is, the body and the soule, for which Crist shal destroyeden hem, as seith seint Paul./ Soothly of this thefte doubted gretly Joseph, whan that his lordes wyf preyed him of vileinye, whan he seyde, 'lo, my lady, how my lord hath take to me under my warde al that he hath in this world; ne no-thing of hise thinges is out of my power, but only ye 880 that been his wyf./ And how sholde
 I thanne do this wikkednesse, and sinne so horribly agayns god, and agayns my lord? God it forbode.' Allas! al to lital is swich trouthe now y-founde!./ The thridde harm is the filthe thurgh which they breken the comandement of god, and defoulen the suctour of matrimoine, that is Crist./ For certes, in-so-muche as the sacrament of mariage is so noble and so digne, so muche is it gretter sinne for to breken it; for god made mariage in paradyse, in the estat of innocence, to multiplie man-kinde to the service of god./ And therefore is the brekinge ther-of more grevous. Of which brekinge comen false heires ofte tyme, that wrongfully occupyen folkes heritages. And therefore wol Crist putte hem out of the regne of hevене, that is heritage to gode (810) folk./ Of this brekinge comth eek ofte tyme, that folk unwar wedden or sinnen with hir owene kinrede; and namely thilke harlottes that haunten bordels of thise fool wommen, that mowe be lykned to a commune gonge, where-as men purgen hir ordure./ What seye we eek of putours 885 that liven by the horrible sinne of puterie, and constreynne wommen to yelden to hem a certeyn rente of hir bodily puterie, ye, somtyme of his owene wyf or his child; as doon this baudes? Certes, thise been cursede sinnes./ Understonde eek, that avoutrie is set gladly in the ten comandements bitwixe thefte and manslaughtre; for it is the gretteste thefte that may be; for it is thefte of body and of soule./ And it is lyk to homicide;

 for it kerveth a-two and breketh a-two hem that first were makid o flesh, and therfore, by the olde lawe of god, they sholde be slayn./ But natheles, by the lawe of Jesu Crist, that is lawe of pitee, whan he seyde to the womman that was founden in avoutrie, and sholde han been slayn with stones, after the wil of the Jewes, as was hir lawe: 'Go,' quod Jesu
 Crist, 'and have na-more wil to sinne';
 or, 'wille na-more to do sinne'./ Soothly, the vengeance of avoutrie is awarded to the peynes of helle, but-if so be that it be destourbed by penitence./ Yet been ther 890 mo spesces of this cursed sinne; as whan that oon of hem is religious, or elles bothe; or of folk that been entred in-to ordre, as subdekne or dekne, or preest, or hospitaliers. And evere the hyer that he is in ordre, the gretter is the sinne./
 The thinges that gretly agreggen hir sinne is the brekinge of hir avow of chastitee, whan they receyved the ordre./
 And farther-over, sooth is, that holy ordre is chief of al the tresorie of god, and his especial signe and mark of chastitee; to shewe that they been joynd to chastitee, which that is most precious lyf that is./ And thise ordred folk been specially tytled to god, and of the special meynes of god; for which, whan they doon deedly sinne, they been the special traytours of god and of his peple; for they liven of the peple, to preyre for the peple, and whyle they been suche traitours, hir prayers availen nat to the peple./ Preestes (821)

been aungeles, as by the dignitee of hir misterye; but for sothe, saint Paul seith, that 'Sathanas transformeth him in an 895 aungel of light.' / Soothly, the preest that haunteth deedly sinne, he may be lykned to the aungel of derknesse transformed in the aungel of light; he semeth aungel of light, but for sothe he is aungel of derknesse. / Swiche preestes been the sones of Helie, as sheweth in the book of Kinges, that they weren the sones of Belial, that is, the deval. / Belial is to seyn 'with-outen juge'; and so faren they; hem thinketh they been free, and han no juge, na-more than hath a free bole that taketh which cow that him lyketh in the toun. / So faren they by wommen. For right as a free bole is y-nough for al a toun, right so is a wikked preest corrupcioun y-nough for al a parishe, or for al a contree. / Thise preestes, as seith the book, ne conne nat the misterie of preesthode to the peple, na god ne knowe they nat; they ne helde hem nat apayd, as seith the book, of soden 900 flesh that was to hem offred, but they toke by force the flesh that is rawe. / Certes, so thise shrewes ne holden hem nat apayd of roasted flesh and sode flesh, with which the peple fedden hem in greet reverence, but they wole have raw flesh of folkes wyves and hir doghtres. / And certes, thise women that consenten to hir harlotrie doon greet wrong to Crist and to holy chirche and alle halwes, and to alle soules; for they bireven alle thise him that sholde worshipe Crist and holy chirche, and preye for Cristene soules. / And therefore han swiche preestes, and hir lemmanes eek that consenten to hir lecherie, the malisoun of al the court Cristen, til they come to amendement. / The thriddespece of avoutrie is som-tyme bitwixe a man and his wyf; and that is whan they take no reward in hir assemblinge, but only to hire fleshly delyt, as
 (830) seint Jerome; / and ne rekkan of no-thing but that they been assembled; by-cause that they been married, al is 905 good y-nough, as thinketh to hem. / But in swich folk hath the devel power, as seyde the aungel Raphael to Thobie; for in hir assemblinge they putten Jesu Crist out of hir herte, and yeven hem-self to alle ordure. / The fourthe spece is, the assemblee of hem that been of hire kinrede, or of hem that been of oon affinitee, or elles with hem with whiche hir fadres or hir kinrede han deled in the sinne of lecherie; this sinne maketh hem lyk to houndes, that taken no kepe to kinrede. / And certes, parentele is in two maneres, outhur goostly or fleshly; goostly, as for to delen with hise god-sibbes. / For right so as he that engendredh a child is his fleshly fader, right so is his godfader his fader espirituel. For which a womman may in no lasse sinne assemblen with hir godsib than with hir owene fleshly brother. / The ffithespece is thilke abhominable sinne, of which that no man unnethe oghte speke ne wryte, natheles it is openly rehersed in holy writ. / This cursednesse doon men 910 and wommen in diverse entente and in diverse manere; but though that holy writ speke of horrible sinne, certes, holy writ may nat been defouled, na-more than the sonne that ahyneth on the mixen. / Another sinne sperteneth to lecherie, that comth in sleeping; and this sinne cometh ofte to hem that been maydenes, and eek to hem that been corrupt; and this sinne men clepen pollucioun, that comth in foure maneres. / Somtyme, of languissinge of body; for the humours been to ranke and habundaunt in the body of man. Somtyme of infermetee; for the feblesse of the vertu retentif, as phisik maketh mencion. Somtyme, for surfeit of mete and drinke. / And somtyme of vileyns thoghtes, that been enclosed in mannes minde whan he goth to slepe; which may nat been with-oute sinne. For which men moste kepen hem wysely, or elles may men sinnen ful grevously. /

Remedium contra peccatum Luxurie.

§ 77. Now comth the remedie agayns Lecherie, and that is, generally, Chastitee and Contynence, that restreyneth alle the desordeyne moevinges that comen of 915 fleschly talentes. / And evere the gretter merite shal he han, that most restreyneth

 the wikkede eschaufinges of the ordure of this sinne. And this is in two maneres, that is to seyn, chastitee in mariage, and chastitee in widwehede. / Now shaltow understonde, that matrimoine is leefful assemblinge of man and of womman, that receyven by vertu of the sacrament the bond, thurgh which they may nat be departed in al hir lyf, that is to seyn, whyl that they live bothe. / This, as seith the book, is a ful greet sacrament.
 God maketh it, as I have seyde, in paradys,
 and wolde him-self be born in mariage. /
 And for to halven mariage, he was at a weddinge, where-as he turned water in-to wyn; which was the firste miracle that he wroughte in erthe biforn hise disciples. / Trewe effect of mariage clenseth fornicacioun and replenisseth holy chirche of good linage; for that is the ende of mariage; and it chaungeth deadly sinne in-to venial sinne bitwixe hem that been y-wedded, and maketh the hertes al oon of hem that been y-wedded, as wel as the 920 bodies. / This is verray mariage, that was established by god or that sinne bigan, whan naturel lawe was in his right point in paradys; and it was ordeyned that o man sholde have but o womman, and o womman but o man, as seith seint
 Augustin, by manye resouns. /

§ 78. First, for mariage is figured bi-twixe Crist and holy chirche. And that other is, for a man is heved of a womman;
 algate, by ordinaunce it sholde be so. /
 For if a womman had mo men than oon, thanne sholde she have mo hevedes than oon, and that were an horrible thing biforn god; and eek a womman ne mighte nat plesse to many folk at ones. And also ther ne sholde nevere be pees ne reste amonges hem; for everich wolde axen his owene thing. / And farther-over, no man ne sholde knowe his owene engen-drure, ne who sholde have his heritage;
 and the womman sholde been the lasse biloved, fro the time that she were con-
 (850) joynt to many men. /

§ 79. Now comth, how that a man sholde bere him with his wyf; and namely, in two thinges, that is to seyn in suffraunce and reverence, as shewed Crist whan he made first womman. / For he 925
 ne made hir nat of the heved of Adam,
 for she sholde nat clayme to greet lordshipe. / For ther-as the womman hath the maistrie, she maketh to muche desray; ther nedon none ensamples of this. The experience of day by day oghte suffyse. / Also certes, god ne made nat womman of the foot of Adam, for she ne sholde nat been holden to lowe; for she can nat paciently suffre: but god made womman of the rib of Adam, for womman sholde be felawe un-to man. / Man sholde bere him to his wyf in feith, in trouthe, and in love, as seith seint Paul: that 'a man sholde loven his wyf as Crist loved holy chirche, that loved it so wel that he deyde for it.' So sholde a man for his wyf, if it were nede. /

§ 80. Now how that a womman sholde be subget to hir housbonde, that telleth seint Peter. First, in obedience. / And 930 eek, as seith the decree, a womman that is a wyf, as long as she is a wyf, she hath noon auctoritee to swere ne bere witnessse with-oute leve of hir housbonde, that is hir lord; algate, he sholde be so by resoun. / She sholde eek serve him in alle honestee, and been attempree of hir array. I wot wel that they sholde setten hir entente to plesen hir housbonde, but nat by hir queyntise of array. / Seint Jerome seith, that wyves that been ap-parailled in silk and in precious purpre
 ne mowe nat clothen hem in Jesu Crist.
 What seith seint John eek in this matere? / Seint Gregorie eek seith, that no wight seketh precious array but only for veyne glorie, to been honoured the more biforn
 the peple. / It is a greet folye, a womman (860) to have a fair array outward and in hirself be foul inward. / A wyf sholde eek 935 be mesurable in lokinge and in beringe and in laughinge, and discreet in alle hir wordes and hir dedes. / And aboven alle worldly thing she sholde loven hir hous-bonde with al hir herte, and to him be trewe of hir body; / so sholde an housbonde eek be to his wyf. For sith that al the body is the housbondes, so sholde hir herte been, or elles ther is bitwixe hem two, as in that, no parfit mariage. / Thanne shal men understonde that for three thinges a man and his wyf fleshly mowen assemble. The firste is in entente of engendrure of children to the service of god, for certes that is the cause fynal of matrimoine. / Another cause is, to yelden everich of hem to other the dette of hir bodies, for neither of hem hath power over his owene body. The thridde is, for to eschewe lecherie and vileinye. 940 The ferthe is for sothe deedly sinne. / As to the firste, it is meritorie; the seconde also; for, as seith the decree, that she hath merite of chastitee that yeldeth to hir housbonde the dette of hir body, ye, though it be agayn hir lykinge and the lust of hir herte. / The thridde manere is venial sinne, and trewely scarcely may ther any of thise be with-oute venial sinne, for the corrupcion and for the delyt. / The fourthe manere is for to understonde, if they assemble only for amorous love and for noon of the forseyde causes, but for to accompyce thilke brenninge delyt, they rekke nevere how ofte, sothly it is deedly sinne; and yet, with sorwe, somme folk wol peynen hem more to doon than to hir appetyt suffyseth. /

§ 81. The seconde manere of chastitee is for to been a clene widewe, and eschue the embracings of man, and desyren the (870) embracinge of Jesu Crist. / These been tho that han been wyves and han forgoon hir housbondes, and eek women that han doon lecherie and been releved by 945 Penitence. / And certes, if that a wyf coude kepen hir al chaast by licence of hir housbonde, so that she yeve nevere noon occasion that he agilte, it were to hire a greet merite. / These manere women that observen chastitee moste be clene in herte as well as in body and in thocht, and mesurable in clothinge and in contenance; and been abstinent in etinge and drinkinge, in spekinge, and in dede. They been the vessel or the boyste of the blessed Magdalene, that fulfilleth holy chirche of good odour. / The thridde manere of chastitee is virginitee, and it bihoveth that she be holy in herte and clene of body; thanne is she spouse to Jesu Crist, and she is the lyf of angeles. / She is the preisinge of this world, and she is as thise martirs in egalitee; she hath in hir that tonge may nat telle ne herte thinka. Virginitee bearoure lord Jesu Crist, and virgine was him-selve. / 950

§ 82. Another remedie agayns Lecherie is, specially to withdrawen swiche thinges as yeve occasion to thilke vileinye; as ese, etinge and drinkinge; for certes, whan the pot boyleth strongly, the beste remedie is to withdrawe the fyr. / Sleepinge longe in greet quiete is eek a greet norice to Lecherie. /

§ 83. Another remedie agayns Lecherie is, that a man or a womman eschue the companie of hem by whiche he douteth to be tempted; for al-be-it so that the dede is withstonden, yet is ther greet temptacioun. / Soothly a whyt wal, although it ne brenne noght fully by stikinge of a candele, yet is the wal blak of the leyt. / Ful ofte tyme I rede, that (880) no man truste in his owene perfeccioun, but he be stronger than Sampson, and holier than † David, and wyser than Salomon. / 955

§ 84. Now after that I have declared yow, as I can, the sevene deedly synnes, and somme of hir braunches and hir remedies, soothly, if I coude, I wolde telle yow the ten comandements. / But so heigh a doctrine I lete to divines. Natheless, I hope to god they been touched in this tretise, everich of hem alle. /

De Confessione.

§ 85. Now for-as-muche as the second partie of Penitence stant in Confessioun of mouth, as I bigan in the firste chapitre, I seye, seint Augustin seith: / sinne is every word and every dede, and al that men coveiten agayn the lawe of Jesu

Crist; and this is for to sinne in herte, in mouth, and in dede, by thy fyve wittes, that been sighte, heringe, smellinge, tastinge or savouringe, and felinge. / Now is it good to understonde that that 960 aggreggeth muchel every sinne. / Thou shalt considere what thou art that doost the sinne, whether thou be male or femele, yong or old, gentil or thral, free or servant, hool or syk, wedded or sengle, ordred or unordred, wys or fool, clerk or secular; / if she be of thy kinrede, bodily or gostly, or noon; if any of thy kinrede have sinned with hir or noon, and manye mo thinges. /

§ 86. Another circumstaunce is this; whether it be doon in fornicacioun, or in avoutrie, or noon; incest, or noon; mayden, or noon; in manere of homicyde, or noon; horrible grete sinnes, or smale; and how longe thou hast continued in sinne. / The thridde circumstaunce is the place ther thou hast do sinne; whether in other mennes hous or in thyn owene; in feild or in chirche, or in chirche-hawe;
(890) in chirche dedicat, or noon. / For if the chirche be halwed, and man or womman spille his kinde in-with that place by wey of sinne, or by wikked temptacion, the chirche is entredited til it be reconciled
965 by the bishop; / and the preest that dide swich a vileinye, to terme of al his lyf, he sholde na-more singe masse; and if he dide, he sholde doon deedly sinne at every tyme that he so songe masse. / The fourthe circumstaunce is, by whiche mediatours or by whiche messengers, as for entycement, or for consentement to bere companye with felaweshipe; for many a wrecche, for to bere companye, wil go to the deval of helle. / Wherfore they that eggen or consenten to the sinne been parteners of the sinne, and of the dampnacioun of the sinner. / The fifthe circumstaunce is, how manye tymes that he hath sinned, if it be in his minde, and how ofte that he hath falle. / For he that ofte falleth in sinne, he despiseth the mercy of god, and encreaseth his sinne, and is unkinde to Crist; and he wexeth the more feble to withstonde

sinne, and sinneth the more lightly, / 970 and the latter aryseth, and is the more eschew for to shryven him, namely, to him that is his confessour. / For which that folk, when they falle agayn in hir olde folies, outhen they foreleten hir olde confessours al outhraly, or elles they departen hir shrift in diverse places; but soothly, swich departed shrift deserveth no mercy of god of hise sinnes. / The sixte circumstaunce is, why that a man sinneth, as by whiche temptacioun; and if him-self procure thilke temptacioun, or by the excytinge of other folk; or if he sinne with a womman by force, or by hir owene assent; / or if the womman, mangree hir heed, hath been afforded, or noon; this shal she telle; for covetise, or for poverte, and if it was hir procuringe, or noon; and swiche manere harneys. / (900) The seventhe circumstaunce is, in what manere he hath doon his sinne, or how that she hath suffred that folk han doon to hir. / And the same shal the man 975 telle pleynly, with alle circumstaunces; and whether he hath sinned with comune bordel-wommen, or noon; / or doon his sinne in holy tymes, or noon; in fasting-tymes, or noon; or biforn his shrifte, or after his latter shrifte; / and hath, peraventure, broken therfore his penance enjoyned; by whos help and whos conseil; by sorcerie or craft; al moste be told. / Alle these thinges, after that they been grete or smale, engreggen the conscience of man. And eek the preest that is thy juge, may the bettre been avyved of his judgement in yevinge of thy penaunce, and that is after thy contricioun. / For understond wel, that after tyme that a man hath defouled his baptesme by sinne, if he wole come to salvacioun, ther is noon other wey but by penitence and shrifte and satisfaccioun; / and namely
980 by the two, if ther be a confessour to which he may shryven him; and the thridde, if he have lyf to parfournen it. /

§ 87. Thanne shal man looke and considere, that if he wole maken a trewe and a profitable confessioun, ther moste be fourre condicions. / First, it moot been in sorweful bitternesse of herte, as seyde the king Esekias to god: 'I wol remembre me alle the yeres of my lyf in bitternesse of myn herte.' / This condicioun of bitternesse hath fyve signes. The firste is, that confessioun mooste be shamefast, nat for to covere ne hyden his sinne, for he hath agilt his god and defouled his soule. / And her-of seith seint Augustin: (910) 'the herte travailleth for shame of his sinne'; and for he hath greet shamefastnesse, he is digne to have greet mercy of god. / Swich was the confession of the publican, that wolde nat heven up hise eyen to hevене, for he hadde offended god of hevене; for which shamefastnesse he hadde anon the mercy of god. / And ther-of seith seint Augustin, that swich shamefast folk been next foryevēnesse and remission. / Another signe is humilitee in confessioun; of which seith seint Peter, 'Humbleth yow under the might of god.' The hond of god is mighty in confession, for ther-by god foryeveth thee thy sinnes; for he allone hath the power. / And this humilitee shal been in herte, and in signe outward; for right as he hath humilitee to god in his herte, right so sholde he humble his body outward to the preest that sit in goddes place. / For which in no manere, sith that Crist is sovereyn and the preest mene and mediatour bitwixe Crist and the sinner, and the sinner is the laste by way of resoun, / 990 thanne sholde nat the sinnere sitte as heighe as his confessour, but knele bifrom him or at his feet, but-if maladie destourbe it. For he shal nat taken kepe who sit there, but in whos place that he sitteth. / A man that hath trespassed to a lord, and comth for to axe mercy and maken his accord, and set him down anon by the lord, men wolde holden him outrageous, and nat worthy so sone for to have remission ne mercy. / The thridde signe is, how that thy shrift sholde be ful of teres, if man may; and if man may nat wepe with hise bodily eyen, lat him wepe in herte. / Swich was the confession of seint Peter; for after that he hadde forsake Jesu Crist, he wente out and weep ful bitterly. / The fourthe signe is, (920) that he ne lette nat for shame to shewen his confessioun. / Swich was the confessioun of the Magdelene, that ne spared, for no shame of hem that weren atte feste, for to go to cure lord Jesu Crist and biknowe to him hir sinnes. / The fifthe signe is, that a man or a womman be obeisant to receyven the penaunce that him is enjoyned for hise sinnes; for certes Jesu Crist, for the giltes of a man, was obedient to the deeth. /

§ 88. The seconde condicion of verray confession is, that it be hastily doon; for certes, if a man hadde a deadly wounde, evere the lenger that he tarieth warisshē him-self, the more wolde it corrupte and haste him to his deeth; and eek the wounde wolde be the wors for to hela. / And right so fareth sinne, that longe tyme is in a man unshewed. / Certes, a man oghte hastily shewen hise sinnes for manye causes; as for drede of deeth, that cometh ofte sodenly, and is in no certeyn what tyme it shal be, ne in what place; and eek the dreochinge of o synne draweth in another; / and eek the lenger that he 1000 tarieth, the ferther he is fro Crist. And if he abyde to his laste day, scarcely may he shryven him or remembre him of hise sinnes, or repenten him, for the grevous maladie of his deeth. / And for-as-muche as he ne hath nat in his lyf herkned Jesu Crist, whanne he hath spoken, he shal crye to Jesu Crist at his laste day, and scarcely wol he herkne him. / And understond that this condicioun mooste han fourre thinges. Thy shrift mooste be purveyed bifore and avysed; for wikked haste doth no profit; and that a man conne shryve him of hise sinnes, be it of pryde, or of envye, and so forth of the speses and circumstances; / and that he have comprehended in his minde the nombre and the greetnesse of hise sinnes, and how longe that he hath leyn in sinne; / and eek that he be contrit of (930) hise sinnes, and in stedefast purpos, by the grace of god, nevere eft to falle in sinne; and eek that he drede and countre-

waite him-self, that he flee the occasiouns 1005 of sinne to whiche he is enyolned. / Also thou shalt shryve thee of alle thy sinnes to o man, and nat a parcel to o man and a parcel to another; that is to under-stonde, in entente to departe thy confessioun as for shame or drede; for it nis but stranglinge of thy soule. / For certes, Jesu Crist is entierly al good; in him nis noon imperfeccioun; and therefore outhere
 he foryeveth al partlyly or never a deel. /
 I seye nat that if thou be assigned to the penitaunder for certein sinne, that thou art bounde to shewen him al the remenant of thy sinnes, of whiche thou hast be shriven to thy curat, but-if it lyke to thee of thyn humilitee; this is no de-partinge of shrifte. / Ne I seye nat, ther-as I speke of divisoun of confessioun,
 that if thou have lycence for to shryve thee to a discret and an honeste preest, where thee lyketh, and by lycence of thy curat, that thou ne mayst wel shryve thee to him of alle thy sinnes. / But lat no blotte be bihinde; lat no sinne been untold, as fer as thou hast remem-1010 braunce. / And when thou shalt be shriven to thy curat, telle him eek alle
 the sinnes that thou hast doon sin thou were last y-shriven; this is no wikked entente of divisoun of shrifte. /

§ 89. Also the verray shrifte axeth certeine condiciouns. First, that thou shryve thee by thy free wil, nocht con-streyned, ne for shame of folk, ne for maladie, ne swiche thinges; for it is reson that he that trespasseth by his free wil, that by his free wil he confesse his trespas; / and that noon other man telle his sinne but he him-self, ne he shal nat mayte ne denye his sinne, ne wratthe him agayn the preest for his amonestinge to leve sinna. / The seconde condicioun is, that thy shrift be lawful; that is to seyn, that thou that shryvest thee, and eek the preest that hereth thy confessioun, (940) been verraily in the feith of holy chirche; / and that a man ne be nat despaired of the 1015 mercy of Jesu Crist, as Caym or Judas. / And eek a man moot accusen him-self of his owene trespas, and nat another; but he shal blame and wyten him-self and his owene malice of his sinne, and noon other; / but natheless, if that another man be occasioun or entycer of his sinne, or the estaat of a persone be swich thurgh which his sinne is agregged, or elles that he may nat pleylnly shryven him but he telle the persone with which he hath sinned; thanne may he telle; / so that his entente ne be nat to bakbyte the persone, but only to declaren his con-fessioun. /

§ 90. Thou ne shalt nat eek make no lesinges in thy confessioun; for humilitee, per-aventure, to seyn that thou hast doon sinnes of whiche that thou were nevere giltly. / For saint Augustin seith: if thou, by cause of thyn humilitee, makest lesinges on thy-self, though thou ne were nat in sinne biforn, yet artow thanne in sinne thurgh thy lesinges. / Thou most 1020 eek shewe thy sinne by thyn owene propre mouth, but thou be wexe doubt, and nat by no lettre; for thou that hast doon the sinne, thou shalt have the shame therfore. / Thou shalt nat eek peynte thy confessioun by faire subtille wordes, to coveere the more thy sinne; for thanne bigylestow thy-self and nat the preest; thou most tellen it pleylnly, be it nevere so foul ne so horrible. / Thou shalt eek shryve thee to a preest that is discret to conselle thee, and eek thou shalt nat shryve thee for veyne glorie, ne for ypoocrysey, ne for no cause, but only for the doute of Jesu Crist and the hele of thy soule. / Thou shalt nat eek renne to the preest sodeynly, to tellen him lightly thy sinne, as who-so telleth a jape or a tale, but avysely and with greet devocioun. / And generally, (950) shryve thee ofte. If thou ofte falle, ofte thou aryse by confessioun. / And though 1025 thou shryve thee oft than ones of sinne, of which thou hast be shriven, it is the more merite. And, as seith saint Augustin, thou shalt have the more lightly releasing and grace of god, bothe of sinne and of peyna. / And certes, ones a yere atte leeste wey it is lawful for to been houled; for certes ones a yere alle thinges renovellen. /

Explicit secunda pars Penitencie; et sequitur tertia pars eiusdem, de Satisfaccione.

§ 91. Now have I told you of verray Confessioun, that is the seconde partie of Penitence. /

The thridde partie of Penitence is Satisfaccioun; and that stant most generally in almesse and in bodily peyne. / Now been ther three manere of almesses; contricion of herte, where a man offreth himself to god; another is, to han pitee of defaute of hise neighebores; and the thridde is, in yevinge of good conseil goostly and bodily, where men han nede, and namely in sustenance of mannes 1030 fode. / And tak keep, that a man hath need of these things generally; he hath need of fode, he hath nede of clothing, and herberwe, he hath nede of charitable conseil, and visitinge in prisone and in maladie, and sepulture of his dede body. / And if thou mayst nat visite the nedeful with thy persone, visite him by thy message and by thy yiftes. / These been generally almesses or werkes of charitee of hem that han temporel riches or discrecioun in conselling. Of these werkes shaltow heren at the day of dome. /

§ 92. These almesses shaltow doon of thyne owene propre thinges, and hastily, (960) and prively if thou mayst; / but natheless, if thou mayst nat doon it prively, thou shalt nat forbere to doon almesse though men seen it; so that it be nat doon for thank of the world, but only for thank of Jesu Crist. / For as witnesseth
1053 seint Mathew, capitulo quinto, 'A citee may nat been hid that is set on a montayne; ne men lighte nat a lanterne and put it under a busshel; but men sette it on a candle-stikke, to yeve light to the men in the hous. / Right so shal youre light lighten bifore men, that they may seen youre gode werkes, and glorifie youre fader that is in hevене.' /

§ 93. Now as to spoken of bodily peyne, it stant in preyeres, in wakinges, in fastinges, in vertuose techinges of orisouns. / And ye shul understonde, that orisounns or

preyeres is for to seyn a pitous wil of herte, that redresseth it in god and expresseth it by word outward, to removen harmes and to han thinges espiritual and durable, and somtyme temporel thinges; of whiche orisounns, certes, in the orisoun of the Pater-noster, hath Jesu Crist enclosed most thinges. / Certes, it is privileged of three thinges in his dignitee, for which it is more digne than any other preyer; for that Jesu Crist him-self maketh it; / and it is short, for it
1040 sholde be coud the more lightly, and for to withholden it the more esily in herte, and helpen him-self the ofter with the orisoun; / and for a man sholde be the lasse wery to seyen it, and for a man may nat excusen him to lerne it, it is so short and so esy; and for it comprehendeth in it-self alle gode preyeres. / The exposicioun of this holy preyer, that is so excellent and digne, I bitake to these maistres of theologie; save thus muchel wol I seyn: that, whan thou prayest that god sholde foryeve thee thy giltes as thou foryevest hem that agilten to thee, be ful wel war that thou be nat out of charitee. / This holy orisoun amenuseth eek venial sinne; and therefore it aperteneth specially to penitence. / (970)

§ 94. This preyer moste be trewely seyde and in verray feith, and that men preye to god ordinatly and discreetly and devoutly; and alwey a man shal putten his wil to be subget to the wille of god. /
1045 This orisoun moste eek been seyde with greet humblesse and ful pure; honestly, and nat to the anoyauce of any man or womman. It moste eek been continued with the werkes of charitee. / It avayleth eek agayn the vyces of the soule; for, as seith seint Jerome, 'By fastinge been saved the vyces of the flesh, and by preyer the vyces of the soule.' /

§ 95. After this, thou shalt understonde, that bodily peyne stant in wakinge; for Jesu Crist seith, 'waketh, and preyeth that ye ne entre in wikked temptacioun.' / Ye shul understanden also, that fastinge stant in three thinges; in forberinge of bodily mete and drinke, and in forberinge of worldly jolitee, and in forberinge of deedly sinne; this is to seyn, that a man shal kepen him for deedly sinne with al his might. /

§ 96. And thou shalt understanden eek, that god ordeyned fastinge; and to fastinge
1050 appertenen foure thinges. / Largenesse to povre folk, gladnesse of herte espirituel, nat to been angry ne anoyed, ne gruoche for he fasteth; and also reasonable houre for to ete by mesure; that is for to seyn, a man shal nat ete in untyme, ne sitte the lenger at his table to ete for he fasteth. /

§ 97. Thanne shaltow understonde, that bodily peyne stant in disciplyne or techinge, by word or by wrytinge, or in ensample. Also in weringe of heyres or of stamin, or of haubergeons on hir naked flesh, for Cristes sake, and swiche manere penances. / But war thee wel that swiche manere penances on thy flesh ne make nat thyn herte bitter or angry or anoyed of thy-self; for better is to caste away thyn heyre, than for to caste away the sikernesse of Jesu Crist. / And therefore seith seint Paul: 'Clothe yow, as they that been chosen of god, in herte of misericorde, debonairetee, suffraunce, and swich manere of clothinge'; of whiche Jesu Crist is more apayed than of heyres,
(980) or haubergeons, or hauberkes. /

§ 98. Thanne is disciplyne eek in knockinge of thy brest, in scourginge with 1055 yerdes, in knelinges, in tribulacions; / in suffringe patiently wronges that been doon to thee, and eek in pacient suffraunce of maladies, or lesinge of worldly catel, or of wyf, or of child, or othere freendes. /

§ 99. Thanne shaltow understonde, whiche thinges destourben penaunce; and this is in four maneres, that is, drede, shame, hope, and wanhope, that is, desperation. / And for to speke first of drede; for which he weneth that he may suffre no penaunce; / ther-agayns is remedie for to thinke, that bodily penaunce is but short and litel at regard of the peyne of helle, that is so cruel and so long, that it lasteth with-outen ende. /

§ 100. Now again the shame that a man hath to shryven him, and namely, thise

ypocrites that wolden been holden so parfite that they han no nede to shryven hem; / agayns that shame, sholde a man 1060 thinke that, by wey of resoun, that he that hath nat been ashamed to doom foule thinges, certes him oghte nat been ashamed to do faire thinges, and that is confessiouns. / A man sholde eek thinke, that god seeth and woot alle hise thoghtes and alle hise werkes; to him may no thing been hid ne covered. / Men sholden eek remembren hem of the shame that is to come at the day of dome, to hem that been nat penitent and shriven in this present lyf. / For alle the creatures in erthe and in helle shullen seen apertly al that they hyden in this world. / (990)

§ 101. Now for to speken of the hope of hem that been negligent and slowe to shryven hem, that stant in two maneres. /
1065 That oon is, that he hopeth for to live longe and for to purchacen muche richesse for his delyt, and thanne he wol shryven him; and, as he seith, him semeth thanne tymely y-nough to come to shrifte. / Another is, surquidrie that he hath in Cristes mercy. / Agayns the firste vyce, he shal thinke, that oure lyf is in no sikernesse; and eek that alle the richesces in this world ben in aventure, and passen as a shadwe on the wal. / And, as seith seint Gregorie, that it aperteneth to the grete rightwinesse of god, that nevere shal the peyne stinte of hem that nevere wolde withdrawn hem fro sinne, hir thankes, but ay continue in sinne; for thilke perpetual wil to do sinne shul they han perpetual peyne. /

§ 102. Wanhope is in two maneres: the firste wanhope is in the mercy of Crist; that other is that they thinke, that they ne mighte nat longe persevere in goodnesse. / The firste wanhope comth 1070 of that he demeth that he hath sinned so greetly and so ofte, and so longe leyn in sinne, that he shal nat be saved. / Certes, agayns that cursed wanhope sholde he thinke, that the passion of Jesu Crist is more strong for to unbinde than sinne is strong for to binde. / Agayns the seconde wanhope, he shal thinke, that as ofte as he falleth he may aryse agayn by penitence. And though he never so longe have leyn in sinne, the mercy of Crist is alwey redy to receiven him to mercy. / Agayns the wanhope, that he demeth that he sholde nat longe persevere in goodnesse, he shal thinke, that the feblesse of the devel may no-thing doon (1000) but-if men wol suffren him; / and eek he shal han strengthe of the help of god, and of al holy chirche, and of the proteccioun of aungels, if him list. /

§ 108. Thanne shal men understonde what is the fruit of penaunce; and, after the word of Jesu Crist, it is the endeless blisse of hevене, / ther joye hath no contrarioustees of wo ne grevaunce, ther alle harmes been passed of this present lyf; ther-as is the sikernesse fro the peyne of helle; ther-as is the blisful companye that rejoysen hem everemo, overich of otheres joye; / ther-as the body of man, that whylom was foul and derk, is more clear than the sonne; ther-as the body, that whylom was syk, freele, and feble, and mortal, is inmortal, and so strong and so hool that ther may no-thing apeyren it; / ther-as ne is neither hunger, thurst, ne cold, but every soule replenished with the sighte of the parfit knowinge of god. / This blisful regne may men purchase by poverte espirituel, and the glorie by lowenesse; the plantee of joye by hunger and thurst, and the reste by travaille; and the lyf by deeth and 1080 mortificacion of sinne. /

Here taketh the makere of this book
his leve.

§ 104. Now preye I to hem alle that herkne this lital tretis or rede, that if ther be any thing in it that lyketh hem, that ther-of they thanken oure lord Jesu

Crist, of whom procedeth al wit and al goodnesse. / And if ther be any thing that displese hem, I preye hem also that they arrette it to the defaute of myn unconninge, and nat to my wil, that wolde ful fayn have seyde bettere if I hadde had conninge. / For oure boke seith, 'al that is writen is writen for oure doctrine'; and that is myn entente. / Wherfore I biseke yow mekely for the mercy of god, that ye preye for me, that Crist have mercy on me and forgyve me my giltes: / (1010) —and namely, of my translacions and endytinges of worldly vanitees, the whiche I revoke in my retracciouns: / as is the 1085 book of Troilus; The book also of Fame; The book of the nynetene Ladies; The book of the Duchesse; The book of seint Valentynes day of the Parlement of Briddes; The tales of Caunterbury, thilke that sounen in-to sinne; / The book of the Leoun; and many another book, if they were in my remembrance; and many a song and many a lecherous lay; that Crist for his grete mercy forgyve me the sinne. / But of the translacion of Boece de Consolacione, and othere bokes of Legendes of seintes, and omelies, and moralitee, and devocioun, / that thanke I oure lord Jesu Crist and his blisful moder, and alle the seintes of hevене; / bisekinge hem that they from henneforth, un-to my lyves ende, sende me grace to biwayle my giltes, and to studie to the salvacioun of my soule:—and graunte me grace of verray penitence, confessioun and satisfaccioun to doon in this present lyf; / thurgh the benigne 1090 grace of him that is king of kinges and preest over alle preestes, that boghte us with the precious blood of his herte; / so that I may been oon of hem at the day of dome that shulle be saved: Qui cum patre, &c. 1092

Here is ended the book of the Tales of Caunterbury, compiled by Geoffrey Chaucer, of whos soule Jesu Crist have mercy. Amen.

APPENDIX.

VARIATIONS AND EMENDATIONS.

THE text of Chaucer is, in some places, corrupt, and in others can be much improved by some emendation, usually of a slight character.

The text of the best authorities, as improved by collation with other good authorities, is here given. Variations from these are denoted by an obelus (†) in the text, which may be considered as marking a reading as to which there is some doubt. These are most numerous in the Romaunt of the Rose, the Book of the Duchesse, and the House of Fame. There are very few doubtful readings in the Canterbury Tales, for which there are better authorities than in other cases. In the following Appendix all the doubtful readings and editorial emendations are accounted for. I do not, however, notice words which are placed between square brackets, such as the word 'a' on p. 1, l. 12. It will be understood, once for all, that all such words are supplied, and are missing in the originals, though often necessary for the sense or the metre, or for both.

ROMAUNT OF THE ROSE.

The authorities are G. (the Glasgow MS.); and Th. (Thynne's edition of 1532). Also, from the nature of the case, F. (the original French text, here quoted from the edition by Méon, Paris, 1813). No other authorities exist. Many lines are wholly missing in G.; and when it is not cited, this must be understood. Thus, it has lost lines 1-44.

THE MINOR POEMS.

I. AN A. B. C.

The MSS. used to form this text are: C. = MS. Ff. 5. 30 in the Camb. Univ. Library; Jo. = MS. G. 21, in St. John's College, Cambridge; Gl. = Glasgow MS. Q. 2. 25; L. = MS. Laud 740, in the Bodleian Library; Gg. = MS. Gg. 4. 27, in the Camb. Univ. Library; F. = Fairfax 16, in the Bodleian; B. = Bodley 638; Sion = Sion Coll. MS. The text follows closely the first of these; but is corrected by collation with the others.

Page 81. 163. All the MSS. insert suffred after eek; probably caught from the line above. Or perhaps his herte was caught from the line below; in which case, read And suffred eek, that Longius him pighte. And note, that pighte should surely be prighte, i. e. pricked, as in Cant. Tales, F 418. Pighte properly means pitched. Hence read: And suffred eek, that Longius him prighte.

II. THE COMPLEYNT UNTO PITE.

The MSS. are: Tn. (Tanner 346); F. (Fairfax 16); B. (Bodley 638); Sh. (Shirley's MS., Harl. 78); Ff. (Ff. 1. 6, in the Camb. Univ. Library); T., here put for Trin. (Trin. Coll. Camb. R. 3. 19); also Ha. (Harl. 7578). The text follows F. mainly.

III. THE BOOK OF THE DUCHESE.

The authorities are only Th. (Thynne's edition, 1532); and three MSS., viz. F. (Fairfax 16); Tn. (Tanner 346); B. (Bodley 638). I follow F. mainly. B. and F. are much alike.

GLOSSARIAL INDEX.

THE references in this Index are given according to the following scheme.

Poems denoted by Arabic numerals are Minor Poems. Thus, under 'Abaved,' the reference '3. 614' means Minor Poem no. 3, line 614, or l. 614 of the Book of the Duchesse. The letter 'R.' refers to the Romaunt of the Rose, Fragment A, in pp. 1-18; the rest of the Poem, not being Chaucer's, is indexed separately. Thus 'R. 163' means l. 163 of the Romaunt.

The five books of Boethius are denoted by B 1, B 2, B 3, B 4, B 5, respectively; and the 'prose' and 'metrical' sections are denoted by 'p' and 'm.' Thus, under 'Abaiszen,' the reference 'B 4. p 7. 81' means 'Boethius, bk. iv. prose 7, line 81.' The five books of Troilus are denoted by T. i., T. ii., T. iii., T. iv., and T. v. Thus 'T. iii. 1233' means 'Troilus, bk. iii., line 1233.'

The House of Fame and the Legend of Good Women are denoted by 'HF.' and 'L.' respectively. If, in the latter case, the italic letter 'a' follows the number of the line, the reference is to the earlier (or A-text) of the Prologue to the Legend. Thus 'HF. 865' means 'House of Fame, line 865.' Again, 'L. 2075' means 'Legend of Good Women, line 2075;' and 'L. 200 a' means 'Legend, &c., line 200 of the text in the left-hand column.'

The Prologue and the two books of the Treatise on the Astrolabe are denoted, respectively, by 'A. pr.', 'A. i.', and 'A. ii.' Thus the reference 'A. ii. 10. 8' means 'Astrolabe, bk. ii. § 10, line 8;' and 'A. pr. 10' means 'Astrolabe, prologue, line 10.'

References to the Canterbury Tales are known by the use of the letters A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, and I, which are used to denote the various Groups into which the Tales are divided. In this case, 'A' is never followed by a full stop or by Roman numerals, as when the 'Astrolabe' is referred to; and such a reference as 'B 5,' meaning line 5 of Group B, is quite distinct from 'B 5. p 1. 1,' where 'B 5' means bk. v. of Boethius, and is invariably accompanied by the 'p' or 'm' denoting the 'prose' or 'metre.'

Summary of the Minor Poems. The Minor Poems are all numbered, viz. 1 (ABC); 2 (Compleynthe unto Pite); 3 (Book of the Duchesse); 4 (Mars); 5 (Parlement of Foules); 6 (Complaint to his Lady); 7 (Anelida); 8 (Wordes to Adam); 9 (Former Age); 10 (Fortune); 11 (Merciless Beauty); 12 (To Rosemounde); 13 (Truth); 14 (Gentillesse); 15 (Lak of Stedfastnesse); 16 (Envoy to Scogan); 17 (Envoy to Bukton); 18 (Venus); 19 (To his Purse); 20 (Proverbs); 21 (Against Women Unconstant); 22 (Amorous Complaint); 23 (Balade of Compleynt); 24 (Womanly Noblesse).

Alphabetically, the references are to A (Group A of Cant. Tales); A. (Astrolabe); B (Group B of C. T.); B 1 . . . B 5 (Boethius, books 1 to 5); C, D, E, F, G, H, I (Groups C to I of C. T.); HF. (House of Fame); L. (Legend of Good Women); R. (Romaunt of the Rose); T. i. . . T. v (Troilus, books 1 to 5). The Minor Poems, numbered 1 to 24, are given above.

N.B. Words containing ay, ey, aw, ew, ow, are sometimes entered as if spelt with ai, ei, oi, au, eu, ou, respectively.

Abbreviations. Besides s., adj., and adv., for substantive, adjective, adverb, the following are used in a special sense:—v., a verb in the infinitive mood; ger., gerund; pr. s., present tense, 3rd person singular; pr. pl., present tense, 3rd person plural. Other persons are denoted by the figures 1 or 2.

Fragments B and C of the 'Romaunt' are glossed in a separate Index.
